Beta Phi . . . Extensive plans have been made this year for the social activities of the Beta Phi fraternity . . . Among the first events is a picnic to be held down at Searsville Lake honoring the pledges for this semester . . . Following the picnic will be a formal initiation and banquet which will take place at the Rex Restaurant . . . September 26 is the important day for this event . . . Plans have been completed for the semi-formal dance to be given October 14 at the Century Club . . . Attractive bids have been purchased in the fraternity's colors . . . cardinal and gold . . . These bids will soon be in the hands of all the members . . . "The results of the football game played between the college and Pasadena Junior College will be telegraphed to us at the dance by our yell leader, Hugh Waite," said Howard Cloud, president. Pledges of this semester are Ray Dani, low freshman president, Art McClain, Alan Baker, and Richard Mallon.

Foresters . . . will meet tonight at the Galileo High School in Room 250 . . . It is hoped that all students interested in forestry will attend . . . interesting moving pictures on forestry were shown at the last meeting of the Forestry Club . . . Meetings will be held on every other Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Tri Epsilon . . . The Tri Epsilons joined the Alpha Phi Omega sorority last Friday evening for the purpose of bidding their pledges Merv Weiner and Jerry Flamm. Weiner received a scholarship at Fresno State College and Flamm will be studying at Cornell College in Iowa . . . Many activities have been planned by each organization for the coming semester.

"We have started the pledging which will last until the middle of October," announced Dick Holmes, president of the Tri Epsilon fraternity, which met on Monday night.

Alpha Phi Omega gave its pledges a tea last Saturday and there were twenty new pledges reported present . . . President and Miss Archibald of Cloud, Dean and Mrs. Edwin Browne, Mary Jane Learnard, and Margaret Dougherty, of the faculty were among the honored guests . . . After the tea, a meeting was called to order to discuss the possibilities of obtaining a state charter.

Radio Engineers . . . During a meeting of the Society of Radio Engineers last Tuesday at the Samuel Gompers Trade School, new officers were elected for the club, and future activities of the group were discussed. . . . It was deemed advisable to elect new officers because of the inroads upon the board by work and graduation. Barney Viner was elected president, Lee Bollinger, vice president; Clay Robinson, secretary; Vic Krakow, treasurer; and Vince Sherman was appointed publicity agent by the retiring president. . . . Among other things discussed at the meeting was the forthcoming general meeting of all the radio engineers at Lowell Hollingsworth's home.

Peace Society . . . has affiliated with the San Francisco Peace Council. . . . Plans for an Armistice Day program are under way and will be held in the lecture hall at Powell Street on November 10 . . . Tentative plans for a picnic are also under way and will be announced later . . . At the next meeting of the group the topic for discussion will be the Ockinic amendment . . . Barry Leach will speak for the amendment and Margo Skinner will argue against it . . . Meeting will be Thursday, October 6, at the home of Ruth Healy . . . 1164 Filbert Street . . . "I would like, again, to urge those of our fellow students who are interested in the cause of peace to attend our next meeting," said Robert Porter, president.

Camera Club . . . Sam Galstaun, president, urges everyone to attend the next meeting . . . room 406 . . . between 3:20 and 3:30 p. m., Monday, September 26, at the Galileo High School . . . Plans for a constitution will be discussed at this meeting.

Chinese Club . . . will hold a roller skating party at the Oakland Skating Rink . . . October 7 . . . Tentative plans are being made for a "weinie bake," said Ruth Chin, secretary.

French Club . . . meeting was postponed until the following Thursday because of finals this week . . . All members are urged to come to the next meeting to vote on the revised constitution.

Army and Navy . . . the following men were formally installed last Friday night in the Army and Navy Club . . . Robert McGuire, Howard Cloud, Albert Floyed, Glenn Mueller, Richard Lepper, William Blake, Howard Markovits, Rogers Black, Allen Sanborn, Clifford Mooche, Lodin Gladstone and Bob Miller . . . Captain James Hughes, Commander Grant Marsh, Captain Frederick McFarland, and Carl Stough, faculty sponsors of the organization, were also present.

Italian Club . . . met last Friday and decided to have an onion-and-garlic picnic in the future. All the members are cordially invited and students interested in Italian art, literature, and music as well as the language students are urged to come to meetings . . . Florence and Rome (cities, please!) will be discussed . . . Watch the bulletin board in the Powell Street building for announcement of time and place of the next meeting.

Astronomical . . . Look at Jupiter through a 36-inch telescope and see the two new satellites on this planet. The group will go to the Lick Observatory within three weeks to see these new wonders. All members are invited and it will be well if they have a car. Louis Berman, sponsor, planned the trip for the meeting.

Pi Mu Gamma . . . Dr. Julius Zelman, House Chief of University of California Medical School of the San Francisco County Hospital Tuberculosis Division, attended the University of California with Glenn Noble, sponsor of the group.

Dr. Zelman gave a lecture and showed X-rays on the different stages of tuberculosis and also the cures and methods of prevention. "It was very educational and made us realize the value of study in tuberculosis and answered our questions," said Ruth Chin, new member.

Initiation will be held September 24, followed by a wienie roast at Lands End. Bring flashlights.

Winding up pledge week with a dinner at Shorty Roberts' Beach Restaurant, the Iota Chi, local college fraternity, is looking forward to another successful year. The dinner, which was preceded by a party at the home of John Dispmeyer, was attended by active members and their pledges. The pledges entertained were Ian Stoddard, Joseph Q. DePatta, Elwood Bernstein and Charles Martin.

With the election of new officers, the A Cappella Choir and the Music Club are setting plans for their present semester activities. The election held last week placed Bill Jackson as president of the A Cappella Choir with Marie Soloman as vice-president and Ruth Pauli, secretary.

At the election meeting held at the apartment of Flossita Badger, instructor, the Music Club elected Bob Scott as president and Arnold Chaplin, Dorothy Gilburg and Katie Warner in the other official positions.

Marksmen Dance

"We are starting the Rifle Club social season this semester with a Roller Skate at the New Mission Roller Skating Rink, Roller Derby, on September 30. The group will meet afterwards at the homes of the club members for refreshments, games, and dancing," said Jane Mitchell, vice-president of the organization.

Contact Alumni: Barbara Ainsworth, chairman; Don Clark, Teddo Kasch, Helen Dubois. General chairman is Howard Markovitz, president of the club.

Ticket committee: Bob Darr, chairman; Charles North, Arthur Templeton.

Refreshments: Gordon Soliman, chairman; Bill Franklin, and Glen Mueller.

Arrangements committee: John Engle, Chairman; Virginia Hinds, and Leopold Weiss.

Alumni Invitations committee: Barbara Ainsworth, chairman; Don Clark, Tedda Kosch and Helen Dubois.

Miss Mitchell also said that anyone interested in shooting is cordially invited to join the group.

Forum . . . will meet Friday night September 23, at the home of Helen Garbe, 1972 - 21st Avenue, near Pacheco . . . accessible by cars 17 and L . . . "A third term for Roosevelt" will be discussed . . . talks will be given by Venedict Ostetinsky and Bob Blackwell . . . note that the meeting place has been changed.

Physical Education Club . . . President Virginia Hinds announces that the group is planning a luncheon for September 30 . . . all women P.E. majors are invited to attend and become members of the organization.

Meeting For Dance

In order to make final arrangements for their dance to be held this Saturday, Rifle Club President Howard Markovits has called a meeting of the club for tomorrow afternoon, 4:30 in the rifle range.

PLACER GAME

(Continued from page 3)

two tacklers and spun over the goal line. This ended the scoring for the evening by making it 19 to 6.

A considerable number of fumbles marred the game, possibly because of the battery of new lights which illuminated the playing field.

The local team's passing attack was noticeably weak and which will undoubtedly be improved. Several considerable gains could have been made if the passer had passed instead of running the ball.

Few Good Plays

Coach Sweet had quite a few good plays worked out. The reverses were most effective with Connors or Harrahan carrying the ball.

Fumbles, dead-man plays, passing in the end zone, blocked punts, intercepted passes, long runs and deceptive plays made the game thrilling from the view point of the spectator.

Peterson, number 39, playing center and boosting the Fair, intercepted several passes and played a fine game. Bierwith, Mullins, Connors, Regan and Burke showed up well and will probably be heard from a great deal this season.

Bad Yell-Leading

Hoff, Sexton, McLellan and Cook, played for Placer, and did a good job of it. McLellan was the fastest man on the field and kept getting in the Ram's wool.

Lack of protection for the college punters was shown as one kick was blocked and most of the kicks came dangerously close to being blocked.

A main event at the field was the duel between the yell leaders of both colleges. Characteristics of the Placer yell leader were amusing to the crowd and lack of spirit by the attending students of the local college was most distressing to Hugh Waite, unsuccessful yell-leader.

MARSH'S INSURANCE COURSES RECOGNIZED BY SALES SERVICE BUREAU

Recognition of William W. C. Marsh's insurance courses in the college was given recently by the Life Insurance Sales Research Bureau. The letter addressed to President Cloud is as follows:

Mr. A. J. Cloud, President,
San Francisco Junior College,
San Francisco, Calif.
Dear Mr. Cloud:

I have just heard from Nelson F. Davis, Manager of the Guardian Life at San Francisco, of the work which the San Francisco Junior College is proposing to do in regard to teaching life insurance, and wish to express my best wishes for this movement.

Certainly, it is fair to say that in the United States the teaching of insurance has not been pushed with the vigor such as in the case of some other countries. This seems surprising because the United States owns more insurance than any other country, but in the educational field we are certainly behind and I congratulate you upon the step which has been taken.

Yours very sincerely,
Signed
JOHN MARSHALL HOLCOMBE, Jr.
Manager.

Further recognition of the value of the college's insurance courses is the invitation of Marsh to address the College of Life Underwriters at their annual election, October 3. The C.L.U. is composed of the big producers in the insurance field and gives courses in higher education in insurance and its economic background. A degree from this institution is one of the highest honors in the insurance business. Marsh's topic is: Life Insurance —A Career for Modern Youth.

Today Last Chance For Graduating Students To File Grad Petitions

Today is the last day for graduating students to file their petitions for graduation. All fourth semester students expecting to graduate are required to file their petitions at this early date because the registrar's office has to check up on their records.

"The reason for this," explains Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar, "is the fact that some students fail to file their petitions and upon examination of their records, we find that they have not the required subjects which are needed for graduation. We do this at this time because we can correct these errors and put them in their respective classes before it is too late for them to sign up for these courses."

The last day to change classes is next Wednesday, Miss Learnard said.

Department Store Strike Subject of Economics Honor Society Debate

San Francisco's department store strike will furnish discussion for the meeting of Alpha Gamma Phi Pi, college economics honor society, on Friday evening, October 7, Charles Vaughn, president, announced at the meeting held last Friday night.

Margo Skinner will present the employers' side of the question, and Edwin Cassady the employees' viewpoint. Following the two speeches, members of the society will participate in a round-table discussion.

New officers to aid President Vaughn in the semester's activities were chosen Friday night at the home of Dr. Zarchin, faculty adviser of the organization. Robert Porter was elected vice-president, Margo Skinner, secretary-treasurer, and Albert Graves, head of publicity.

"Students who have completed three units of economics with a grade of "A" and who pass the mid-term examination of a three unit course in ecenomics with a grade of "B" are eligible for membership in the society," declared President Vaughn. Students who have already completed six units of economics with a grade average of "B" may also become candidates, he said.

Plans for the society's semi-annual dinner were discussed at the meeting. Definite arrangements for the banquet will be made at the latter. . . .

COMPLETE YOUR SOCIAL EDUCATION . . .
Be proficient in the game of Contract Bridge
You will enjoy classes in the popular Culbertson system as conducted at the
NORTHERN CALIFORNIA BRIDGE STUDIO
520 MASON STREET, SAN FRANCISCO
Arthur Waterman SUtter 9558

PARK NAMED CHAIRMAN OF BOOK COMMITTEE TO NVESTIGATE PRICE REDUCTION POSSIBILITIES

Student resentment against the high prices of books took official form at the meeting of the Executive Council last week. When Bob Fex, student president, announced his selection of a committee to investigate all possible methods of reducing the expenses incurred by the students at the beginning of each semester.

Margaret Parks was named chairman of the committee to investigate the reduction of book costs. Of the members, Betty Nelson has written to Sacramento Junior College, Tom McGuire to San Mateo Junior College, Jimmy Preovolos to Modesto, and Marie Louise McNutt to Marin.

Committee Acts

With little delay, the committee went into action by writing the nearby colleges to find out how they were handling the situation. After a thorough investigation of the situation, the committee will present its findings and suggestions for approval by the Executive Council.

With the college "Housing" campaign, the '39 exposition, dances, rallies, and clubs the Executive Council has been overloaded with business.

According to Hugh Waite, the yell-leaders will soon be wearing the insignia of the Pageant of the Pacific. The Exposition is going to give blocks bearing their insignia to each of the yell-leaders, he explained.

Bob Fex told the council that the University of San Francisco had invited him to its rally last Friday, at which rally he presented a speech on the campaign for No. 4.

Council Rule Meets Test

Barbara Randall informed the council of the plans for the high frosh dance at the War Memorial Auditorium, Friday night, September 23. Miss Randall said, "there are two things of note about this dance. One is the bid, which will bear out the theme of the campaign for 'housing the college. The motif will be a football player wearing Number '4'. Of equal importance, is the fact that students will be scrutinized as they enter the dance; and anyone presenting a student body card not belonging to them will have the card taken up and will not be allowed to enter."

Radio Programs To Plug Number 4

Students are warned to keep their ears open and their radios on, for the college is on the air! Under the leadership of Bill Parsons, programs are being arranged to inform "Mister and Missus San Francisco" that the San Francisco Junior College wants a home. Various sponsors of broacasts have been approached, and plugs for our campaign are to be given on their programs. A student program will probably be given over KSAN, Monday, September 26. Spots for students have been obtained on several programs.

Chicago Hotel Manager, Greefer's Association President Visit College

Since its organization at the college, the hotel and restaurant division has acted as host to many personages from civic life and to officials from hotels and restaurants from all parts of the country. Last week A. P. Anderson, manager of the Stevens Hotel in Chicago, world's largest hotel, visited the hotel division. He spent two hours having luncheon and inspecting the division's modern plant which he commended highly.

Edmond Flynn, international president of the Hotel Greeters Association, also was a visitor to the division. He inspected the plant with

News Behind the News On Czech Crisis

Joseph Williams, geography instructor, will speak on the Czechoslovakian crisis tomorrow at 11 o'clock in the Powell Street lecture hall, it was learned late yesterday.

Students interested in attending the lecture should speak to their instructors to be excused from their classes. Scheduled as a regular part of Williams' course, college authorities decided to move the class to the lecture hall for the particular lecture.

This will enable interested persons to become more familiarly acquainted with Europe's latest "hot spot". Williams will discuss the geography of the tiny republic, explaining the background for the present dispute.

Flash! Late Bulletin—

All students interested in playing in the band for football games are invited to try out tomorrow in the Galileo auditorium at 3:30 o'clock.

No source of lighting will be visible to the eye at the 1939 World's Fair in San Francisco.

CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS ENDORSE BOND ISSUE IN NEXT TUESDAY'S SPECIAL ELECTION

The proposed $2,800,000 public schools housing program to be voted on at the special election to be held on Tuesday, September 27, has thus far been voluntarily endorsed by the following organizations:

1. Apartment House Industry of S. F.; 2. Aptos Junior High P.T.A.; 3. Balboa Parlor No. 249, N.D.G.W.; 4. Bret Harte Unit P.T.A.; 5. Cabrillo Memorial Society; 6. Central Council of Civic Clubs; 7. Chinese American Citizens Alliance; 8. Civic League of Improvement Clubs & Associations; 9. Cleveland School P.T.A.; 10. Crocker Amazon Park Improvement Association; 11. Federation of Teachers, Local 61; 12. Federation of Women's Clubs; 13. Fremont School P.T.A.; 14. Greater Excelsior Improvement Club, Inc.; 15. Haight-Fillmore, Inc.; 16. Ingleside Boosters Association; 17. Lafayette School P.T.A.; 18. Longfellow School P.T.A.; 19. Madison School P.T.A.; 20. Marina District Home Owners Protective Association; 21. Parent-Presidio Improvement Association; 22. Parkside Improvement Club; 23. Presidio Junior High P.T.A.; 24. Public Welfare Council; 25. Redding School P.T.A.; 26. San Francisco Chamber of Commerce; 27. S.F. Public Schools Week General Committee; 28. Second District P.T.A.; 29. Southern Council of Civic Clubs; 30. Twenty-ninth and Castro District Improvement Club; 31. Visitacion Valley Improvement Association; 32. Visitacion Valley School P.T.A.; 33. Glen Park Community Center; 34. Glen Park P.T.A.; 35. Polytechnic High School P.T.A.; 36. Winfield Scott P.T.A.; 37. George Peabody P.T.A.; 38. Real Estate Board; 39. Jr. Chamber of Commerce; 40. Building Owners & Managers; 41. Downtown Assn.; 42. Fairmount School P.T.A.; 43. Fairmount Improvement Assn.; 44. Bryant School Mothers' Club; 45. Emerson School P.T.A.; 46. Galileo High School P.T.A.; 47. Raphael Weill P.T.A.; 48. Sate Kennedy P.T.A.; 49. Farragut School P.T.A.; 50. Fillmore Merchants and Improvement Association; 51. Bayview-Burnett Association:

NEED A TYPEWRITER? . . .
Rent REMINGTON NOISELESS TYPEWRITERS at same cost as noisy machines . . . All carriage widths, type styles, keyboards . . . Also standards, portables . . . Rental from manufacturer guarantees QUALITY.
Remington Typewriter Division
Remington Rand, Inc.
509 Market Street Phone: DOuglas 8600

STUDENTS URGED TO JOIN ALPHA GAMMA SIGMA; ACTIVITY BEGINS SOON

Students who are eligible for membership in Alpha Gamma Sigma, state-wide scholarship society, are again asked to make contact as soon as possible with Alice Cooper, faculty adviser, or with Thomas O'Neill at the Powell Street office. Activity is scheduled to start at the next meeting, notice of which will appear on the bulletin board at the Extension building.

Requirements for membership include the possession of 30 honor points from last semester, with no grade lower than "C".

Present officers are: Phyllis Learned, vice-president and acting president; and Frank Scofield, secretary-treasurer. An election will be held at the next meeting to select a president to succeed Jerry Flamm, last semester's leader, who is now attending college in Iowa. Arrangements will be made at the next meeting for securing membership pins.

Honor pins, given to students who have made 30 or more honor points for three semesters, were awarded last year to George Barden, Max Chenoweth, Ida Bess Church, Frances Glogone, Karing Kencheliar, Mitsue Kono, Lena Leong, Norma Lee Parent, Charles Schardin, and Amy Swift.

Low freshmen are eligible to the Alpha Gamma Sigma if they were members of the California Gold Seal Honor Society on graduation from high school.

BOND CAMPAIGN

(Continued from page 1)

Dick Simpers, Ray Berns, Adele Kuhn, Harry Tong, Virginia Pearson.

Radio Publicity: Jim Parsons, Marge Wright, Janet Ball, Bob Blackwell, Pedro Hirshman.

Distribution of special edition of Guardsman: Louis Conlan, Bill Blake, Hugh Ryan, Jack Schmale, Ray Diehl, Bob Owen, Jack Gross, Dan Mulholland, Hubert O'Neill.

Stickers: Treacy Slattery and the Block SF boys.

Art: Bob Owen.

Music: Paul Fechtner.

Pledge Cards: Bob Fex and Barbara Randall.

These groups have already met and taken steps to get their various activities under way.

CINCH NOTICE TIME HERE; NOT SO QUICK MINDS THINK FAST AS POSTMAN APPROACHES MAIL BOX

By Isadore Maloff

Those students who bemoan the fact that they never get any mail may be somewhat surprised the latter part of this week or during the early part of the next, for those delightfully quaint, so neatly folded, missiles of misfortune, the cinch note will be sent on its eventful journey through the mails at some time in the latter part of the week.

Hearts will beat tremulously and groping fingers will clutch toward the mailman as he delivers those letters. Minds that were not so nimble at college will hurriedly and wittingly think up plausible excuses for the older folk.

Yes, it's cinch time. To the average college student, there are five seasons in the year. Springtime, Summertime, Fallitime, Wintertime, and Cinchtime, are the seasons he knows. If you're fortunate enough to be an upperclassman, the bearer of bad news will deliver the letter to you in your own name, for it will be addressed to you personally. However, if you are so unlikely as to be a low freshman or a newcomer to the college, the note will be addressed to your parents or your guardian.

Cinches, in case you don't know it by this time, are simply things you are looking forward to but don't want to arrive, for once they arrive you have nothing to look forward to. Just in case you didn't get the explanation, don't worry, you may get to see one in the seclusion of your home. Grades of "D" or "F" merit a cinch.

Perhaps you're thinking of dropping a course so that you won't get a cinch. We wouldn't exactly recommend this procedure, but since you really want to know, the last day to drop courses is October 7.

Talent Tryouts Tomorrow In Galileo Auditorium, 2,P.M.

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS
The Guardsman
SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Crush The Dons Next Saturday Night At Seals Stadium

Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1938 No. 6

SCHOOL BONDS PASS

College Campaign Ends With Victory

Voters Approve Proposition No. 4 Overwhelmingly In City Election; Students Responsible For Triumph

By DICK SIMPERS

San Francisco Junior College was assured of a permanent plant of its own yesterday when the voters of San Francisco, in a special election placed their stamp of approval upon Proposition Number 4, providing for the appropriation of $2,800,000 for the public schools of the city. Of this sum approximately half a million dollars will be devoted to the completion of the junior college buildings.

Final results, received late last night, gave the school bond issue more than the two-thirds majority required. Out of a total vote of more than 149,000 votes cast, semi-official returns showed that Number 4 had received the approval of more than two-thirds of the voters.

Only Issue Passed

Of the nine propositions submitted to the voters, the school bond issue was the only one which received the required majority. All other propositions failed to secure the necessary margin. . .

Votes cast in favor of the bond totaled 95,072, while only 49,303 were registered against it. Passage of the issue by this majority made almost certain the appropriation of federal funds for the project, although final decision on the awarding of this sum rests with WPA Administrator Harold Ickes at Washington. Ickes, however, has already shown that his attitude toward school improvements is definitely favorable, to the securing of funds from this source is almost assured.

George G. Mullany, Director of Publications in the public schools of the city, stated his belief that, "Passage of this issue is important to an expression by the people of San Francisco of their confidence in the work being done by the public school system."

Archibald J. Cloud, President of the College, and Paul M. Pitman, his assistant, expressed themselves as being of the opinion that the campaign carried on during recent weeks by the students and faculty of the college was in large part responsible for the success of the issue.

Campaign Successful

President of the Board of Education Richard E. Doyle was also enthusiastic in his praise of the efforts of the members of the student body and faculty of the college in convincing voters of the vital importance of the bonds to the school system.

A conservative estimate by Doyle places the date of completion of the entire plant at no later than August, 1939. Construction should begin in December of this year, and will probably finish within eight months.

AWS GIVES FIRST TEA OF SEMESTER AT CENTURY CLUB

Miriam Dunne Invites All Women To Attend; Thursday, October 13

First in the series of teas to be given this semester by the Associated Women Students, will be held Thursday afternoon, October 13, at the Century Club, Sutter and Jackson Streets, from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

"All of the women in the college are invited to come," Miriam Dunne, AWS president, announced. "This should be a good opportunity for the freshmen women to become better acquainted with the functions of the organization," she continued, "for in a few semesters they will be leading the Associated Women Students in similar affairs."

Speakers Listed

Speakers have been invited to talk on the vocational opportunities for women. Those scheduled to speak are Barbara Mayer from the Junior Counseling Agency, Dr. Agnes Jay Morgan from the University of California Home Economics Department, Dr. Roslyn Cassidy of the Physical Education Department at Mills College, and Mrs. William J. O'Donnell, president of the Women's Chamber of Commerce. Clare Cuneo, of the college Home Economics Department, is inviting a speaker to talk on Fashion and Costume Design.

Informality Stressed

During past semesters the AWS teas have been outstanding for their large attendance and, in the words of those who have attended them, the entertainment and speeches. The gathering is informal, the students tending to collect in groups and circles. Everyone is introduced to every one else, in an attempt to acquaint the new women with the sophomores. Former speeches have proved informative, according to concensus of opinion, in enlightening the woman student of her chance to procure a job once she has graduated from the junior college. Featured at one of the previous teas was a talk given by a stylist, who lectured on the type and color of clothing worn by the college woman. The applause she received indicated the appreciation of the coeds.

Hostesses Named

Hostesses at the tea will be Janet Ball, Helen Chernovich, Barbara Curryer, Miriam Dunne, Marie Hoerger, Ruth Graham, Adele Kuhn, Lorraine Johnson, Jane Mitchell, Barbara Randall, Margaret Meader, Marie Heiser, Ruth Alexander, Helen Barteils, Frances Herndon, Margaret Park, Annette Schmick, Barbara Crespi, Ruth Healy, Rita Bann, Betty McAllister, Jacklyn Davis, Lorraine McGill, Dorothy Trood, Kay Lloyd, Jean Collins, Patricia Rogers, Nancy Ross, Janet O'Leary, Joy Anna Mack, Helen Hickey, Tekla Regoli, Dorothy Kreller, Mary Sutherland.

Julius Warns Clubs To Fill In Blanks

Advisory Board Meets Tomorrow At 12 O'Clock

All college clubs must have charter-sustaining blanks in the hands of the Club Advisory Board officers tomorrow, warned John Julius, president of that group.

Since the next regular meeting of the Club Advisory Board is scheduled for tomorrow at 12 noon, organizations are expected to turn in their blanks by that time, said Julius.

All clubs are urged to send representatives to tomorrow's meeting. Charters which were granted up to the end of last semester will be given out.

There is also some other very important business to be brought up.

Those groups which do not turn in their blanks completely filled out are liable to have their charters revoked by Club Advisory Board action according to membership regulations of the board.

At present the following organizations are members of the Club Advisory Board and have a vote in that body:

Pi Mu Gamma, Hotel and Restaurant Society, Physical Education Club, Home Economics Society, Der Deutcher Verein, Le Cercle Francais, Alpha Delta Epsilon, Pick and Hammer Society, Society of Radio Engineers.

Forestry Club, Chinese Club, Filipino Club, Orchesis Club, Newman Club, Beta Phi Fraternity, Iota Chi Fraternity, Phi Beta Rho Sorority, Alpha Phi Omega Sorority, Lambda Chi Sorority, Tri Epsilon Fraternity.

Women's Service Society, Economics Honor Society, Alpha Gamma Sigma, Rifle and Pistol Club, Forum Club, Army-Navy Club, Peace Society, and the Chess Club.

Music Club Meets To Discuss Semester Activities Tonight

To plan the semester activities, the Music Club will meet tonight at 7:45 o'clock, at the home of Bob Scott, president, 2447-19th Avenue.

The newly elected officers were: Scott, president; Dorothy Gilberg, secretary, and Kay Warner, treasurer.

The club, with the assistance of the A Cappella Choir, will play a entertaining part in the college campaign.

"I would like to urge all those students who have an appreciation of music to join our club, and all new members are cordially welcome," said Scott.

DOING THEIR PART FOR NUMBER 4

Students were active yesterday in garnering votes for the school bonds. Upper left, Treacy Slattery, Block SF Society president, was caught by the camera entwining his vote after taking a leading role in the moments campaign for Proposition No. 4's passage. Other scenes show electioneering activity at the polls. Upper right, Marion MacKillop, right, and Dorothy Trood hand a cab driver a card reminding him of the bond issue's benefits. Lower left, a street car conductor receives votes number 8. Lower right, Miss Trood's story about the scattered campus draws a laugh from this voter.

Dean Browne Points Out Associated Student Card Advantages

In an interview with a Guardsman reporter, Dean Edwin C. Browne deplored the fact that a good many college students do not fully realize the many privileges to which their Associated Students card entitles them.

"Describing the benefits enjoyed by the card, Dean Browne set forth the following advantages:

The owners of student body cards are entitled to free admission to all Associated Students athletic contests and social events held under the auspices of the college.

If the student body card is presented at high school games held in the city, it entitles the owner to a reduced price. The card serves as a means of identification and entitles the owner to reduced rates at football games held outside of San Francisco in the regular Northern California Junior College Conference. It further entitles the owner to a free copy of The Guardsman every week.

"The card also serves as a means of identification for the use of the college library," declared Dean Browne. "College students who carg to, may attend all dances held by the Social Committee, Associated Men Students Block Society, and Associated Women Students free of charge."

Browne warned that under no circumstances should student body cards be loaned out, since they are subject to forfeiture unless used by the rightful owner. This last provision is made to prevent overcrowding at social affairs and to protect gate receipts at athletic events.

The Executive Council recently reaffirmed this ruling when it decided that any violators of the "not-transferable" clause would be brought before the Judicial Committee.

STUDENTS, FACULTY COVER PRECINCTS INFORMING CITIZENS OF CITY'S HOMELESS JUNIOR COLLEGE

Covering 107 precincts, the students of the college yesterday did their last bit to insure passage of Proposition No. 4, vital to the erection of a complete campus.

The area covered was the 27th Assembly District which is bounded by Pine Street on the south, Bay Street on the north, Van Ness Avenue on the east, and the Presidio and Arguello Boulevard on the west.

Students were on duty 100 feet from the polls during the hours of 1 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Between the hours of 7 a.m. and 9 a.m., and 4 p.m. to 8 p.m., two students at each poll were busy distributing cards which urged passage of the bonds at each precinct, while one student was on duty at each precinct between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Louis "Dutch" Conlan, physical education and law instructor, organized a "flying squadron" composed of instructors and students. Travelling in an automobile, the squadron was active the entire day rushing from precinct to precinct replenishing the supply of cards, encouraging the electioneers and offering help in general.

Especially gratifying to Bob Fex, Associated Students President and head of the student campaign, was the support offered by the various organizations of the college in volunteering their entire memberships for the coverage of the many precincts.

Organizations which were represented, and the number of precincts patrolled by each follow: Men's Club —four; Women's Athletic Association —four; Women's Service Society— four; Rifle and Pistol Club—two; Army and Navy Club—four; Home Economics Association—two; Radio Club—three; Chess Club—two; Block Society—sixteen; Forum Club—five; Peace Society—three; Newman Club —ten; Beta Phi—two; Tri Epsilon— one; Omicron Phi Pi—two; French Club—one; Italian Club—one; Geology Club—one, and the Low Freshman class—four.

"The response yesterday by the students toward aiding passage of the bonds was but an indication of the fine spirit that can be generated in the college," said Paul Pitman, assistant to President Cloud.

Willingly giving their time and energy toward furthering the campaign, the patrollers are to be complimented for their work.

Hotel Proprietor To Address Hotel and Restaurant Division

Tuesday lectures in the hotel division are open to interested students from other departments of the college and are held in Room 152 at the Galileo Building. Next Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock in Room 152, Galileo, Harvey Toy, manager of the Manx Hotel and prominent business man of San Francisco, will speak before the division. His topic will be Honesty in Business.

Development of a practical program of apprentice training for American youth is one of the major considerations now engaging the attention of both industry and labor, according to Herbert J. Williamson, secretary and personnel manager of the Hotel Employers Association in an address before students of the hotel division last Tuesday.

An example of an outmoded law governing apprenticeship, now existing on the statute books of the country is the obsolete California law which provides that at the completion of his training, an apprentice is entitled to "$50.00 in cash and two suits of clothes worth $60.00."

Williamson discussed as his general topic, The Labor Code of California, giving to the students an outline of the functions of the State Labor Commission.

Students of the elementary food class were addressed by Beatrice Campbell, of the California Dairy Council last Thursday. Her topic was Nutrition and the Diet. Valuable pointers on food values and care in baking menus were given to the assembly by Miss Carpenter.

The first meeting of the year of the automotive mechanics division society was held in Room 152 last Wednesday. Greetings to new members were tendered by Collins Oberlin, last year's president of the organization and now employed at the Palace Hotel. A short business meeting was held after which the following officers for this semester were elected: Carl Rotledge, president; Clark Chittick, vice-president, and Waldo MacDermitt, secretary.

Rifle Club Begins Social Activities With Roller Skating Party

The social as well as celebrating the initial opening of the new roller skating rink at Burke's gymnasium with a skating party Friday night, the Rifle and Pistol Club will be celebrating the opening of its fall semester's social activities, said Howard Markovits, president of the organization.

Meeting at 7:30 o'clock at the gymnasium, members of the club and their guests, whether they are proficient skaters or not, are assured of a good time with plenty of entertainment for several hours at the roller derby, according to Jane Mitchell, vice-president and head of the club's social functions.

"Following the skating party, the group will seek further amusement at the beach and climax the evening there," said Miss Mitchell.

"Each member of the organization may invite a guest to the party," she added, "and judging from past events, there will be about 100 people representing the Rifle and Pistol Club at the party."

"Tickets are twenty-five cents," announced Bob Darr, chairman of the ticket committee," and may be procured from Charles North, Arthur Templeton or me, or at the Galileo Rifle Range tomorrow afternoon. Tomorrow is the last day that tickets may be purchased."

Located at Geary Street, between Baker and Broderick, Burke's gymnasium is accessible by all Geary B and C street cars and Sutter 1 and 2 cars.

"This semester's calendar of social affairs," Miss Mitchell explained will offer sufficient variety of activities to enable every member to find some event which will particularly appeal to him.

"The Rifle and Pistol Club, under faculty adviser James Hughes, was one of the first clubs of the college to be organized, and has always been one of the most popular," she added, "and aside from the popularity and attraction of the sport of shooting, one of the reasons that the Rifle and Pistol Club has always been a prominent and active group is because

(Continued on page 4, column 3)

Waite Promises Reserved Seats For College Rooters

Reserved seats for college football rooters who desire to represent their college as a whole unit when attending games at local stadiums, have been promised by head yell leader, Hugh Waite.

A special roped off section in Seal's Stadium will be provided to accommodate college rooters during the game with the University of San Francisco. Waite hopes that seating college rooters as a unit instead of having them scattered throughout the stadium, will enable his staff to lead the rooters as a whole, thus registering real spirit. Mimeographed sheets of yells will be passed to the rooting section. A student body card is all that is needed to gain admission to the special section.

Victory Smile

— Bob Fex
"My Happiest Moment"

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1938 No. 6

FRED VAST .... EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser .... Business Adviser
Joan Nourse .... Edward H. Redford

Dick Simpers .... Assistant Editor
Bill Franks .... News Editor
John Julius .... Sports Editor
Carol Pickering .... Women's Editor
Dorothy Trood .... Club Editor
Sam Galstaun .... Staff Photographer
Fred Bentley .... Business Manager

REPORTERS

Ray Berns, Bob Fex, Ethan Bernstein, Bob Blackwell, Ed Gamble, Dave Johnson, George Hoffman, Adele Kuhn, Isadore Maloff, Charles Martin, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Ed Van der Veen, Sylvia Wall, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Courts Have No Right To Infringe Upon U. S. Constitution

THE duty of the judicial system is to safeguard and interpret the Constitution, but not to supersede it. The decision of a Los Angeles court in convicting a newspaper of that city is a direct infringement upon the rights of the publisher and editor as guaranteed by the first amendment, which among other things provides for freedom of the press.

According to the court, the Los Angeles Times was guilty of contempt of court because it editorially discussed a case being contested in the Hall of Justice, and because The Times later discussed its own case. To avoid any misunderstanding, it should be known that it is rather seldom that we find ourselves in agreement with the policy of The Times. What interests us in this case is the principle involved, not any particular newspaper.

What happens in the courts is of immense interest to the public, because it represents the conflicts of individuals and groups, and the decisions indicate how far one can pursue a given activity. Some decisions are of great importance and affect the lives of many people. It is essential that the community be permitted to discuss the situation thoroughly, for that is the essence of democracy.

One of the most important methods of conveying opinions is through the newspaper. The written word is but another form of expressing one's thoughts, of speaking. It is an essential right that cannot be sacrificed. A move by anyone, be it the courts or some other agency, to limit the right of expression is unconstitutional and undemocratic. It is a violation of fundamental American principles.

Therefore, any decision such as that made in Southern California can only be viewed with apprehension. It signifies a danger point and testifies to the necessity of being ever watchful. If the first act of muzzling freedom of expression succeeds, others will follow more easily. If the press is not permitted to comment on a case in court, soon people will not even have an opportunity to express themselves verbally on judicial cases. Perhaps other limitations will follow later.

The case is being appealed, of course, and it is to be hoped that the higher court will reverse the decision. Violations of civil liberties are constantly occurring. Wherever and whenever there are such violations they should be exposed and the offenders made responsible for their actions. "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."

The AMA Begins To See The Light

RECENTLY an investigation of the opposition of the American Medical Association to cooperative medical care and hospital groups was announced in Washington by Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold. It seems that the AMA had gone so far in its opposition to the extension of medical treatment that the government had to intervene to enforce the nation's anti-trust laws.

That a great portion of the country's population is in need of adequate doctors' services is well known. But when groups were organized to make possible service at a cheaper rate, thus giving an opportunity to more people to maintain their health, an organization (AMA) that should be interested in the welfare of the people opposed the movement.

Scientifically the AMA has been a boon to the medical profession, but its activity in the sociological field has had the opposite effect and has tended to nullify much of its good work. As one doctor put it, "scientifically they are ahead of the times (referring to last summer's convention in San Francisco) but socially they are a century behind."

It is difficult to believe reports in the press which relate how far the association went in impeding medical treatment to patients merely because they were a part of a socialized medicine movement. Many members of the association have become aroused and indignant. Last year more than 400 doctors declared themselves openly in favor of socialized medicine. This, together with the move on the part of the Federal Government toward prosecuting the organization, seem to have awakened it to get in step with the times.

Two weeks ago a committee of the AMA submitted a favorable report on group medicine. A resolution has been submitted which if passed would commit the powerful doctors' group to encourage state and local medical societies to promote low cost health care. These societies would also be permitted to advertise their services.

Where cooperative societies for the promotion of medical treatment have been established they have succeeded in saving their members money and have procured good physicians. The system works both ways, aiding the layman and the professional. The California delegation, incidentally, introduced the resolution for a change in policy.

If and when the association adopts the proposals it will be doing a great service to the American people. It's about time something of this nature was done, for health is one of our main concerns. If this country is to live and prosper it must adopt methods that enhance the opportunity for healthy lives for its inhabitants.

Just another example of the old axiom that co-operation is a much more successful means of accomplishing an end than each person looking out for himself.

Cinch Notices Should Serve As An Injected Serum

THIS week, slips notifying students of their deficiency in their studies will arrive at homes as a grim reminder that the college exists for educational purposes. The first midterm period is over, and the little cards will inform you as to where you stand with one-third of the semester completed. The "cinch notice" will let you know that your work is not satisfactory in the subjects listed.

The warning can be taken in one of two ways: either that you are a cinch to flunk or that you had better begin to study, and study hard, to avoid flunking; or, in other words, "It's no cinch."

There may be an excuse for some students who were too busy in activities to permit getting too good grades; perhaps others have not been able to adjust themselves as readily as some students. Whatever the cause or the excuse may be, the notices should serve warning to the recipients that it is time to study.

With the semester in full swing now, and with the bond issue campaign out of the way, educational activity should play the dominant role. It wouldn't hurt to remember that no matter what one may think of grades and the marking system, nevertheless, the system exists and the record is what counts in the end.

Any discussion on the improvement of one's scholastic achievements must also include consideration of the conditions prevailing in the process of striving toward better grades. Three or four midterm examinations in one day are certainly not conducive toward raising one's average. We wonder if something couldn't be done to eliminate such a condition.

THIS PUZZLING WORLD

Edited by Milton J. Puzzletsar and Henry J. Riddleston

Today's problems are really too simple, requiring nothing more than a stout heart, an agile mind, and a profound knowledge of mathematics, including arithmetic.

No. 7. A certain whole number, containing six digits, when multiplied by 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6, in each case yields a new whole number of six digits, the digits being the same as in the original number, and in the same succession. Needless to say, of course, the initial digit of each of the numbers is different from the initial digit of all the other numbers. What is the original number?

No. 8. A certain number a, to the power b, when multiplied by a number c to the power d, gives the number (not the product) abcd. The numbers a, b, c, d, are all digits. Determine the values of the four digits.

ANSWERS TO LAST WEEK'S PROBLEMS

PROFESSOR THERMAL

Since the professor's reactions to heat and cold are the opposite to those of a normal person's, at first sight one might suppose that he would bundle up on a hot day, and doff his clothes on a cold day. However, putting on extra clothes on a hot day would make him feel still colder, and therefore more uncomfortable, while, conversely, taking off clothes on a cold day would make him feel still hotter. Consequently, he would behave, with respect to dress, just like anyone else. Just how he would behave when his students weren't watching him is another matter.

ON THE ROAD TO SAN JOSE

Mr. Smith, traveling at the even clip of 30 miles per hour, will cover the 100 miles in 3 hours and 20 minutes. Mr. Jones, traveling to San Jose at 15 miles per hour, will require the same amount of time, just to complete one-half of the journey. That is to say, Jones will have to come back to San Francisco in zero flat, in order to equal Smith's time for the entire trip. In other words, he will have to travel with infinite velocity on the way home. That is pretty fast, even in a 24-cylinder Speedex. Nick Nickel, who fell down in his first chemistry quizzes, was in the same fix when he tried to make up the necessary average in later quizzes.

Readers are invited to contribute puzzles or posers of the logical type. Address M. J. P. or H. J. R., care of the Guardsman. Please give your name and address.

Blue Pencil Bill

Judging from the box office receipts of "Pins and Needles," the International Garment Workers Union revue, we figure that the department store strikers should have postponed their walkout until they had received a few singing and dancing lessons. Maybe then they would be more successful in getting the sympathy of the San Francisco shoppers. At present all they do is walk around in a circle and sing off-key from a sheet of paper to the tune of "Organ Grinder's Swing."

• • •

Last week we visited one of the San Francisco dailies. We were very disappointed because we didn't see a swarm of wild-eyed reporters banging out "scoops" on the typewriter, nor did we see any Lee Tracy-looking fellows noisily entering the city editor's office yelling "Hi, Chief!" and getting thrown out on their ears. Furthermore, no one came in to horsewhip the editor and there were no empty bottles lying on the star reporter's desk. Maybe the movies are all wrong.

• • •

JOBS WE'D LIKE TO HAVE

The organist's at the Palace of the Legion of Honor. Rain or shine, he gets paid $75 for three hours' playing on Sunday afternoon. Working from those figures, we discover he gets 40 cents a minute and collects about a dime for turning over a sheet of music. At least that's what George Murphy tells us. And we'd like to have any other job that pays a dime for turning over a sheet of paper.

• • •

Len Gross was just telling us about the Legionnaires who walked into The Emporium last week and shopped around for a while. That is, they shopped until one of them discovered the escalators. He let out a howl of delight: "Hey, boys, look at this—the stairs move by themselves!" A half-hour later they were still riding on the "stairs that move by themselves."

• • •

AND ABOUT GOODMAN . . .

Although our neighboring columnist has dwelt upon the ecstasies of what, in his opinion, is known as "good" music, we take the stand for the great mass of American college students and advocate that "good" music is not limited to symphonies and opera. We believe that there is the same artistic ability in Benny Goodman's use of the "licorice stick" as there is in a more dignified, elderly musician's use of the violin or piano.

Furthermore, Raymond Scott, who wrote Toy Trumpet, The Happy Farmer, and many other swing pieces, has been asked this year to write for symphony, proving that even the great classical musicians recognize real artistry—even if it is "jitterbug" music.

• • •

And who were the two Low Freshmen who thought that the Blue Books piled up high in the Powell Street bookstore were samples to be given away free, same as the binder indexes, and so they helped themselves to a handful a couple of times until they found out it costs money to take them out of the Bookstore.

365 Days Ago

A Japanese Tea, the first in a series of world household studies, was given by the Household Art's Association members at the home of Miss Clare Cuneo, the association's adviser.

• • •

To discuss the opportunities open to women in the field of dental hygiene, Harriet Fitzgerald, Berkeley dental hygienist and instructor at the University of California, spoke in the Galileo little theatre.

• • •

Twelve new cases of library shelves were added to the Extension Building division of the library for the convenience of students using the reading room for reference work.

• • •

The volleyball club formed two teams, and captains were selected. Marie Rossi was captain of the white team and Anita Washington captained the "reds". Rivalry ran high as the two teams were evenly matched and both were eager to win.

• • •

Coach Jack Gaddy's Flying Lambs kept their unbeaten record against the local high school teams clean when they defeated Mission High School with a convincing 15 to 0 victory.

CINCHED! By MacKillop

RAM'S HORN

Pitman Comments On Campaign; Spirit Lashed

Letters to this department are welcome. All contributions must be signed by the writer. If the author desires, his identity will be kept confidential. Refrain from lengthy dissertions; short letters will be given preference. Leave contributions in the Powell Street office, the mail box office at Galileo, or in The Guardsman office, W. J. (opposite room 261, Galileo). Deadline for Wednesday's paper is the preceding Friday.

Editor, The Guardsman:

When this is published, we shall all know the outcome of the election. But win or lose, we win. Through the united efforts of students and faculty this city has been made aware as never before of the existence of the college and of its pressing building needs.

At the risk of writer's cramp hundreds of students wrote 20,700 personal letters which were posted with over $400 worth of stamps provided by friends of the college. These letters called attention to our need of a permanent home.

Through the schools and through regular commercial distributing agencies 140,000 copies of The Guardsman were placed in San Francisco houses. These deliveries were financed by voluntary contributions of the faculty.

On election day the 107 precincts of the 27th Assembly District were effectively patrolled by a small army of devoted students and faculty.

To name all those who helped would require a special edition of The Guardsman and such a roll of honor would have to begin with Ye Editor and with President Fex. But no such praise is needed. Each of you must have a deep sense of satisfaction in having shared in so tremendous an undertaking.

Sincerely,
Paul M. Pitman

• • •

Editor, The Guardsman:

It looks as if all the "moaning" about outsiders at our dances has finally accomplished something. The High Freshman dance at the War Memorial was perfect. No crowds, no perspiring faces, no pushing, and—everyone knew everyone else.

It gave most of us the impression that the dance was sponsored by an exclusive, friendly club, especially when we remembered the previous junior college dances, with a lot of insolent strangers poking us in the neck while we were on the dance floor.

Congratulations to The Guardsman for giving the "no outsiders campaign" all the publicity, to the Executive Council for thinking up the Identification Committee, to Dean Browne, Joe Amori, Barbara Randall, Miss Dougherty and the rest of the people who were the Identification Committee, and to the Judicial Committee for putting a "scare" into the student body card lenders.

Veteran of Former Dances

• • •

Editor, The Guardsman:

As one student from Berkeley who appreciates his food on time, I'd like to know just why we commuters having 2:30 labs couldn't be dismissed from said classes at 5:00 o'clock, thus permitting students from transbay points to enjoy their suppers with their families and at the usual dinner hour.

After attending classes all afternoon, one rather looks forward to a piping hot dinner among the congenial surroundings of one's own family. Instead, most of us arrive home at about 6:30 p.m. to be fed a warmed over dinner of left overs to be eaten without any companionship, whatsoever.

If we were dismissed in time to catch the 5:20 boat at the ferry building, most of us could arrive home in time for a real dinner. There are only a mere handful of transbay students having such late classes. Why can't they on proper identification be dismissed a few minutes earlier?

Please consider this matter with an empty stomach, as only then can you fully realize our plight.

Starved Scientist

• • •

Editor, The Guardsman:

In reference to the articles that appeared in last week's Guardsman on the subject of the ability of Head Yell Leader Hugh Waite, let me make a few observations.

At the Placer Junior College game last Saturday night Hugh Waite received no cooperation whatever from the 600 or 800 students who attended the game. Whether it was a lack of interest or the fact that the students didn't know the yells cannot be determined. Nevertheless, those students that did yell, did so with very little enthusiasm. The only solution to the problem, as I see it, is that the students must wake up and act like there is at least one spark of life in them that doesn't come out of a bottle, or put the student on the field and let the Block Lettermen do the yelling. Much has been said about the noise the Block Men make in assemblies, but if future rallies and games continue as in the past, then give me rallies where the students are inspired by the noise the Lettermen make.

Howard Cloud

Presidential Notes

By Bob Fex

Midterms are over, the bond election campaign is over, gone are two of our dances, two of our football games have passed, the fall semester is really under way.

True, all of these pleasant, or maybe unpleasant, functions are past, but let's forget these and look to the future.

We are into the second midterm period and those of us who were behind will get a chance to catch up before the next examinations.

To those of you who missed the first two dances, make up your minds to attend one in the near future, as Barbara Randall and her social committee have been giving some very outstanding affairs and you will not be disappointed if you attend.

Football season has started and the Rams have one of the finest teams in the short history of the school. The team has been doing great things, but the support of the general student body has been anything but gratifying.

Students, you have not been giving your football team the support it has been used to in the past. This semester we have the largest enrollment and the smallest rooting sections. Your yell leader, Hughie Waite, is ready, willing, and able to lead you, but he can do nothing without your support and cooperation.

So let's all go to the games, sit in the rooting section, and cheer the 1938 edition of the Ram Varsity on to many victories.

AFTER DARK

By John Ward

Come October and the opera will be upon us in no mean terms. With 21 operas to be presented in 27 days, San Franciscans ought to have an excellent, though rushed, repast of that foolish branch of the musical family—to put it familiarly. And the coming season is sure to bring with it that old, old argument about having opera in or out of the English language. This ancient babble began about the year 1707 in the town of London, where the English were having trouble digesting the imported inanities of Italy.

This may be a later day, but the argument is still the same, and so is opera, needless to say. Shall we have our absurdities in the language we know, or shall we go on in that lovely blue funk that knows not its own brother?

STUPIDITY OF ARGUMENT

To our way of thinking, the whole argument is stupid, an argument as to whether right shall be right or right shall be wrong. Few people actually care what language the singers use. The ones to yell are those who are so ignorant that they do not know beforehand what is to happen upon the stage, or they can't imagine what the whole thing is about (we'll admit this is difficult at times); or, more possibly, they are so anxious to follow the pseudo-drama word for word that they give little attention to and care less for the music. One must decide whether one is to concentrate on musical meaning or literary meaning.

Unfortunately, nine times out of ten the literary meaning of an opera libretto isn't worth the paper its printed on. And just as likely, if American audiences could understand the words of most operas the common sense of Americans would keep them from taking such opera seriously.

Again, there is a certain unity between, for instance, a French opera's language and music. That is, the French language, having certain characteristics and personal eccentricities, becomes a definite part of and with the music, itself definitely French in nature, and both produce an entirely personal thing together. To distort this unity is to distort the words or the music and the result can never be the same.

ADD ITALIAN AND GERMAN

So with Italian or German opera. It is true that in Europe all opera produced in Germany, for instance, is sung in German. One needs only to have heard "La Traviata" in German or "Boris Godonov" in Italian to realize how ridiculous the whole procedure can be. A German Traviata makes Verdi appear to be a conglomerate mess of triviality and heaving bombast—whereas, in Italian, Verdi has created a subtle, exquisite picture typical of Italy and of Italian art. So Italy takes the strength out of Boris when translating the Russian work into Italian.

To cry for good translations, meanwhile claiming all previous translations to be examples of bad scholarship, is to cry fire, not after your house has burned down, but before it has been built. Any translation, whether by a Guest or an Eliot is doomed to failure because the English language is not so flexible that it may make up for the color of foreign tongues by giving us a meaning instead. Opera in English will be realized only when opera is written in English, not when it is a translation of a foreign work.

FUNNY? Some Thought So

I love my girl though she ain't much—
She's homely in a way.
But she lives three houses down the block,
And drives to school each day.
—Foghorn

• • •

They laughed when I walked over to the piano—but they were right; I couldn't lift it.
—Foghorn

• • •

Romance — When a young man chases a young girl until the girl catches up with him.
—"Doc" Sewell

It's Ram vs. U.S.F. Saturday Nite; Powells Try Comeback After Loss

Sweet's Footballers Meet Don Babes In Grid "Natural"

Hanrahan, Mullins, Ex-Don Stars, Will Compete With Locals In Coming Classic; Hilltoppers Expected To Field Classy Aggregation

By RAY BERNS

Coach Russ Sweet's high-stepping Ram footballers will clash with Bob Kleckner's University of San Francisco yearlings under the arc-lights at Seals Stadium at 8:15 p.m. next Saturday evening.

Seeking to avenge last year's 6 to 0 defeat, the Rams will probably enter the contest an even bet to defeat the Don frosh.

The winning touchdown for the young Dons last year was scored by Mike Hanrahan, now one of the stellar Ram halfbacks, while Mush Mullins is also a USF transfer.

Two former Mission High lads, Pete Franceschi, all-city half, and Walter Crombie, will open at left half, and quarter, respectively, for USF.

Warford, Cima in Backfield

The Dons' backfield will be rounded out by Cliff Warford, Castlemont star, and brother of Lyn Warford, former USF great, at fullback, and Leo Cima, a product of the Christian Brother's High School in Sacramento, at right half.

Another San Francisco boy, Cliff Simmons, former Balboa star, will probably open at one of the tackle spots for the hilltoppers, while Joe DeGrazia of Santa Rosa, or Ray Carlson, all-city tackle from Commerce will take over the other tackle post.

Two rugged Petaluma youths, Russ Kynock, and George Burtner, will handle the end assignments.

Center, Guards Named

Bellarmine Prep of San Jose contributes Bob Smith, sterling center, with the guard positions being taken over by Wilbur Roscha, Manteca prep ace, and Joe Van Der Linden, who hails from Loyola High, Los Angeles.

Tom Canepa, scrappy all-city guard from Galileo High, has been on the injured list, but is expected to see action.

Starting Lineup

S.F.J.C.		U.S.F. Frosh
Dan Weichers	LER	George Burtner
Stan Beirwith	LTR	Cliff Simmons
Jim Hickson	LGR	Wilbur Roscha
Mel Peterson	C	Bob Smith
Tom Burke	RGL	Joe Der Linden
George Jones	RTL	Joe Di Grazia
Frank Davenport	REL	Russ Kynoch
John Verducci	Q	Walter Crombie
Jim Connors	LHR	Joe Cima
Mike Hanrahan	RHL	Pete Francheschi
Joe Laughlin	F	Cliff Warford

Not very much is known about the actual ability of the frosh as this is their first game of the season, but they are expected to field a formidable aggregation.

California Frosh Trounce Locals

By Dave Johnson

Making a successful debut for the 1939 season by capitalizing on the old St. Mary's "fumble play", and by taking advantage of a very tired San Francisco Junior College team for a quick 23 yard dash to payoff territory late in the fourth quarter, the University of California frosh eleven tamed the Rambling Rams to the tune of 12 to 0 in California Memorial Stadium last Saturday morning.

Immediately after the kickoff the Rams took possession of the ball by forcing Paul Holmes, giant Bear frosh half, to punt poorly out of bounds on his own 43 yard line. First it was Left Half Bob Fex over his own right side, then it was Fullback Mike Hanrahan back to the other side. Thus it was with Fex and Hanrahan alternating that the Rambling Rams rambled to the Bear 1 yard line, where the Cubs tightened up and took the ball on downs.

Cal Parade Begins

Still fired up and determined not to be stopped, the stalwart Ram forward wall again broke through and forced the same Mr. Paul Holmes once more to get off a poor kick. The march of the Rams started again but this time bogged down on the 12 yard line.

After an exchange of kicks, the California frosh began a parade of their own. Featuring Youdall, McQuary and Holmes the Bear Cubs worked their way down to the San Francisco 2 yard stripe. With fourth

(Continued on page 4, column 3)

RAMblings

By Dick Simpers

Gaddymen Display Razzle-Dazzle Attack; Renewal Wiechers-Stepp Feud Off

Several members of the reserve football squad found themselves in danger to life and limb at last week's Petaluma encounter, when tackle Urban Mason began to recover from the effects of a blow on the noggin which had rendered him unconscious for some minutes. As he began to come out of his trance, "Mase" started throwing rights and lefts in all directions, and narrowly missed annihilating several of his team-mates with his terrific swings. Hereafter, he will be left to recover in solitude.

• • • •

Fancy Gaddy Play

Incidentally, the Gaddymen really put on quite a show in downing the representatives of the egg metropolis. They unleashed a razzle-dazzle attack which caught their opponents flat-footed more than once, and their passing attack places them in a class with Southern Methodist. Delayed spinners, laterals, and similar stratagems employed by the Lambs provided the spectators with an exciting afternoon. The sumptuous meal provided after the game for all members of the squad was a fitting reward for such a stellar performance, and a climax to the goofs' one and only "trip" of the season, although Shipley "City Slicker" Prugh is still moaning because he was unsuccessful in chiseling the management out of an extra helping of dessert.

• • • •

During the fourth quarter of the Placer game, Frank Verducci turned on the bench and motioned to Yell-leader Hugh Waite. "Hey, Hughie," he inquired, "where's the dance after the game?" Upon being informed that no social event was planned to follow the encounter, he turned very red indeed.

"In that case," he bellowed, " will you please walk down to the other end of the bench and ask Sweet what the HELL he's saving me for!"

• • • •

To the intense disappointment of Bud Wiechers, it has been learned that Frank Stepp is not eligible to play for Pasadena this year, having already used up the three years of eligibility which are allowed at that institution. This news comes as a blow to Wiechers and to those of his followers who had been anticipating a duel between the two chums in the Armistice Day game, but we hear that there is a likelihood that Stepp will be present on the side-lines to root for the Panthers, so maybe San Francisco fans will be treated to a view of the famous star after all.

• • • •

Rabid Rooter Raves

San Francisco could use a few rooters as rabid as the old boy who was at the throat of your correspondent during the Petaluma game. Every gain by the rurals was greeted by him with wild shouts of glee, while the Ram players were accused of all sorts of foul and vicious tactics. Even after the Lambs had the game sewed up, he insisted that "his boys" would have won if only they had had "good ol' Duke" in there, but the coach didn't want to take any chances with him. Duke, according to him, was quite the player. After the somewhat dismal show of spirit by this college's rooters a few days before, his vehemence was almost refreshing. It might not be a bad idea for all players to bring their parents to games hereafter.

• • • •

Russ Sweet is reported to have been a trifle put out last week when he reprimanded one of his varsity men for missing practice. The lad pleaded an injured leg as an excuse, although there was obviously nothing the matter with it, so Russ immediately pounced on him. "You guys use every little thing as an excuse to keep from work," he bellowed, "why don't you be like me. Why when I was playing, I went through an entire game with a smashed finger, and never uttered a groan!"

"Yeah," muttered the varsity man, "but you don't run with your fingers." (Ed's Note: You don't have to laugh.)

RAM CHOPS

By Jack Schmale

Schmale Sees All; Knows All; Tells Nothing—Inside "Dope" By Ace Columnist

J. Russell Sweet, intrepid mentor of Ram football, is a worried individual these days. Injuries, failure to report for practice and lack of team spirit, collectively, is sufficient grounds for divorce from anything victorious, but the latest fad adopted by the varsity boys is the payoff.

The contemporary fashion, it seems, is dropping from the squad. First it was Barber, then Andy Moore. Now comes another pair to oust themselves, namely Tom "Moon" Burke and Art Ringholm. Burke, a regular guard last year, withdrew because football interfered with his heavy academic program. Ringholm, according to last rumor, was dropping out of school.

• • • •

Lambs Going After Lowell

Optimism, however, reigns over the camp of Jack Gaddy and his Lamb reserves. The Lambs clicked like a professional outfit in their 20-13 conquest of Petaluma High last Thursday. Among the standouts were Molich, Aleo, Davies and Mattson, all showing remarkable improvement. Tentatively they're set to match touchdowns with the Lowell powerhouse in the Oct. 8 preliminary to the Ram vs. San Mateo night tilt at Seals Stadium.

• • • •

This item, we hope, will settle the jersey problem once and for all. On his brilliant play for the Lambs against Petaluma, Urban "Shacklefoot" Mason, 185 pound end, was awarded number 65, lately possessed by Tom Burke. Tony Manuel, squat flankman, grabbed off Moore's 43, and bright, shiny 55 was captured by still another end, big Fred Bitgood, 196 pounder who stands six feet, five inches.

• • • •

This is plain downright editorializing, but it seems to us that some of our "lusty rooters" might do a little more yelling at football games instead of condemning Hughie Waite for the dead silence in the Ram stands against Placer. It might be remembered that the team is playing for you and you and you, and the least you could do should be a few vocal pats on the back during the games. If you won't support the team at the games, please don't brag about anything it achieves—'cause you had nothing to do with it!

• • • •

New Pin Emporium

FOR THE BOWLERS: Recommend yourselves a trip to Bagdad Recreation, and inspect its new upstairs addition for a worthwhile few minutes. Golden Gate Recreation is undergoing repairs at present and will have its face lifted before long. When palatial Hollywood Rec opened last December, it was said to be the swankiest setup possible. Now a guy is erecting a super-super 28 alley spot at Wilshire and La Brea, not far away.

• • • •

The U. S. F. Frosh tilt, billed this Saturday evening at Seals, bids you attendance. The Don yearlings were handed the toughest game of their undefeated season last year by the Rams in a tight 6-0 contest. Temptation tells us to reverse the score this time and announce the Rams as 6 to 0 victors.

• • • •

The first week of November will see all freshmen activities classes undergoing a series of posture tests. The tests will not have any effect on the grades, but are designed to show each woman her particular posture fault.

Hold That Coach!

Coach Russ Sweet encounters two packages of dynamite when he collides with flashy Jim Connors (left), and elusive Mush Mullins. Both will see action against U.S.F. frosh squad Saturday night.

Lambs Emerge Victorious After Hard-Fought Battle With Petaluma Panthers

Ability to come through when the pressure was on last Thursday brought Jack Gaddy's Flying Lamb gridders a well-earned 20 to 13 triumph over the Petaluma High School varsity in a contest played at the latter's home field.

Trailing by seven points going into the last period of play, the Lambs struck twice within a few minutes to snatch victory from defeat and emerge with their third consecutive win. A profusion of tricky plays and well-executed forward passes clicked flawlessly to bring the San Franciscans three touchdowns, much to the amazement of most of the rooters, to whom this revelation of Gaddy's trickery came as a complete surprise.

Lambs Score First

The first tally came as the climax to a 60 yard march in the first quarter, when the Ramlets sent Hal Mattson over from five yards out. Jim Molich's attempted place kick for the extra point was wide, and the count stood at six to nothing until the second period, when a Petaluma pass clicked for 40 yards and six points to tie up the ball game. The conversion attempt failed, and the half ended with the teams deadlocked.

Interception of a San Francisco pass early in the third quarter proved disastrous when the Petaluma safety man managed to elude the entire Red squad and ramble 40 yards into pay dirt to give the egg merchants a 12 to 6 advantage, which was increased when the place kick for the extra point sailed squarely between the uprights.

Unwilling to admit defeat, even after Mattson, one of its mainstays, was forced out by an injury, the Powell Street aggregation drove back again to the 1 yard stripe, only to lose the ball at this crucial point on a fumble. A poor Petaluma punt out of the hole gave the locals another chance from the 20. A line smash gained three, up to the 17, and from here Temple Davies shook loose off tackle to the goal line. A pass from Harry Aleo to Davies was good for the conversion, and the score was tied.

Fumble Recovered

Another break for the locals was the recovery by Al Huffnagel, two plays after the kick-off, of a Petaluma fumble on the latter's 35 yard stripe. From here the Gaddylads drove down field on line smashes to the 10, where they were stopped for three downs by a stubborn defense. Taking to the air on last down, Molich dropped back and flipped one to Davies for the decisive score, and then proceeded to make sure of victory by booting a perfect placement for the extra point.

The final gun found the Lambs again threatening to score, in possession of the ball on their rivals' 20, but this threat was ended by the irresistible march of the second-hand on the time-keeper's watch.

To the credit of the Lambs, their opponents succeeded in making no first downs at all during the battle, a fact which speaks well for the defensive training of Coach Jack Gaddy, who went on record as being very pleased and satisfied with the whole affair.

Coach Series

Meet Coach No. 3, 'Dutch' Conlan, Casaba Mentor

By RAY BERNS

Louis "Dutch" Conlan is the college's varsity basketball coach during the spring and handles the linemen during the football season.

Although born in Berkeley, Conlan was raised in San Francisco and is a product of Commerce High School.

"Dutch" then went to St. Mary's College at Moraga where he gained fame as being one of the greatest of all Gael quarterbacks.

Upon graduation in 1926, he was appointed frosh football, and varsity basketball mentor at St. Mary's

After coaching at the Catholic institution for a period of three years, Conlan returned to his prep alma-mater, Commerce, in the role of football and basketball coach.

CASABA COACH

LOUIS "DUTCH" CONLAN
Quarterbacked for Gaels

While at Commerce, Dutch coached three out of four 130 pound basketball squads into the championship and had fair success with his football teams.

Conlan came to the college in 1935, and produced a championship basketball outfit in the first year of the college's history.

Several of the casaba stars that Dutch turned out at the college have completed and are completing successful basketball careers at four-year colleges and universities.

Numbered among these are Ralph Hillsman, member of Conlan's first squad, who proved a sensation at California; Chubby Kotta, high-scorer of the 1937 team, and Ernie Loustalot, all-junior-college conference selection in 1937, who competed last year with St. Mary's

The dynamic fight talks given by "Dutch" to his teams before they have taken the floor for an encounter, have enabled many of his squads to rise to the heights of competition.

Amori's Pinsmashers Meet Prison Guards' Team At Alcatraz Alleys Next Week

Officially but not under guard as the case generally is, the college bowlers will journey to Alcatraz Prison to engage in a bowling match with a team composed of prison guards within the next two weeks.

Walter Gardner, college student, whose father is a guard at the Prison has arranged negotiations with Warden Johnston whereby the college bowling team will be allowed to travel to the island to play in this match.

As there are two bowling alleys on the island, the guards have formed a bowling squad and are anxious to compete with the men of the college. Gardner, who lives on the Island, will bowl for the guards although he is on the college bowling team.

Simpers Nosed Out

Joe Amori, instructor, will take along a team of five men, probably composed of Manfredi, Papapietro, Cloud, Rienthaler and one other high score bowler. These positions are not final and the team may be changed at any time.

The individual scores of the men in the gym class which holds sessions at the Golden Gate Recreational Center, 115 Jones Street, have been improving with every ball rolled. These improved scores will no doubt be attributed to the fact that it is an honor to visit Alcatraz singularly instead of being handcuffed to an escort and the men of the college are doing their best to gain a place in the group which will go there to smash pins.

Following the meet with the Alcatraz guards, the next match probably will be with San Mateo Junior College.

Amori Known

Instructor Joe Amori, who is well known in the local bowling circles, gave a talk at the celebration of the opening of the new Bagdad Bowling Alleys last Friday night along with many other bigwigs of the city. Bagdad is now the finest bowling alley in the west, bar none. Bagdad, with its 21 alleys ranks with the best and it is pleasing to note that Amori had a hand in the opening of the bowling quarters.

Water Polo Squad Scores Victory Over Experienced Community Center Team

In a practice game, the newly organized Ram Water Polo team made its debut in a mannerly fashion by severely thumping the experienced Jewish Community Center team, 4-2, giving proof that water polo is on the upswing in the college. The game was played at the Jewish pool last week.

Numerous goals on the part of both teams thrilled the onlookers who got their first taste of water polo in its early season form. The game seesawed back and forth, with first the college making a goal and then with the Jewish lads coming back to tie it up.

Mitch and Marcus Hoffman proved themselves first string material by their all-around ability. Mitch Hoffman, with his sterling back-hand shots proved to be a big factor in the

(Continued on page 4, column 4)

GRIEF FOR WILSON'S SOCCER LADS; SHOTWELL FRACTURES NOSE; LATZ DECLARED INELIGIBLE

Championship aspirations of Tom Wilson's soccer outfit were dealt a serious blow as Sandy Shotwell, capable center half, was lost to the team for an indefinite period because of a broken nose, while Wilton Latz, veteran fullback, was declared ineligible.

The accident occurred in the second half of the Mission Bears game at Beach Chalet field last week which the Rams won, 3-1. Shotwell tried to "head" a ball and was kicked in the nose by one of the opposing players.

Latz is ineligible because of scholastic difficulties and will be lost to the team for the remainder of the season.

Bob Nicco, center forward, led the Ram attack against the Bears, scoring two of the three goals made by the college team.

Nicco scored the first bucket in the first quarter, and the second, in the third quarter. Both were made during a scuffle in front of the Bear goal with Nicco taking advantage of the confusion to score on each occasion.

Mission's lone bucket was made early in the second quarter as their inside right sent a ball flying past Cliesa, college goalie.

The final Ram tally was made by Hal Stoltze as the gun went off ending the game. Stoltze kicked the goal in from 30 yards out with the aid of a strong wind.

WOMEN'S SPORTS PARADE

By Carol Pickering

Female Sports Back In Full Swing; WAA Council Will Meet Tomorrow

With the excitement of WAA elections and midterms well in the past we now have time to settle back into the usual groove, which isn't so dull in itself. The Hockey field was so wet last week that the players finally resorted to tiddly winks rather than slide sidelong in the slimy slush. Last reports were that Lorraine Bergin, instructor, is in the lead.

• • • •

Beginners in golf have been promoted to the driving range where they tee'd off in style last Saturday. We might remind the general public of another grand advantage offered to WAA members. The golf clubs are furnished by the college, and those women wishing to do so may take the course for credit.

• • • •

FLASH! The WAA council is meeting tomorrow at 11 o'clock in the lobby at Powell Street. Will all council members please be present, by order of Peg Park, WAA president.

• • • •

The tennis doubles tournament will start this Saturday. It is an elimination tournament and the final game will be played during Tourney week. The singles tournament will start next month.

Construction of the new courts at the Palace of Fine Arts has reached the point of levelling. The students deserve a pat on the scapula for consistent attendance and good will in spite of the handicap. Some of the players come from Richmond every Saturday morning.

Club Slants --- Organizations Continue Varied Activity; Field Trips, Speakers, Initiations

Ralston's Team To Enter League

Chess Club . . . will meet Friday at 2887 Green Street, Apartment 4 . . . Henry J. Ralston, club sponsor made the following statement: "We are planning to enter into the Northern California Chess League. The League is composed of expert players, and it will offer our members an excellent opportunity to gain some valuable experience."

Vote On Constitution Tomorrow Night

French Club . . . It is important that all members of the French Club attend the meeting tomorrow night to vote on the constitution and to discuss plans for the semester's activities," said Helen Garbe, president . . . All those who wish to join the group must be in attendance tomorrow night as it is essential to attend two-thirds of the meetings held during the year . . . The group will meet at the home of Viola Gibson . . . 2407 Lincoln Way . . . near 25th Avenue. Listed on the social calendar for the semester will be a dance for members exclusively.

Elect President, Plan Theater Party

Household Economics . . . The election for president of the Household Economics Association will be held this Friday . . . Tucker Regoli and Jane Collins are the respective candidates . . . After the new president is installed, the women will discuss a theatre party to be held at the Alcazar.

Initiates Wait On Tables, Wash Dishes

Army and Navy . . . With plans made for several excursions to various military and naval bases in the bay area, the Army and Navy Club which meets again October 7, is anticipating a very successful term . . . Dean Edwin C. Browne gave a stirring talk on national defense at the recent initiation of the organization . . . Initiates of the group were made to wait on the table and then wash the dishes . . . Bob McGuire, one of the new members, was recently discharged from the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis because of illness.

Physiotherapy Lecture By Guest Physician

Pi Mu Gamma . . . will hold their next meeting tonight at 2857 Divisadero Street . . . 7:30 p.m. . . . Dr. Robert Silverman will lecture on Physiotherapy . . .

Need New Members To Make Field Trips

Pek and Hammer Club . . . President Dolmont Dunann has planned several interesting hikes and field trips, but through lack of membership, he has been unable to carry out his plans . . . Everyone that has had one semester of college geology is cordially invited to join' . . . Get in touch with George Green, sponsor, or Delmont Dunann . . . The next meeting date will be posted on the bulletin board at Powell Street.

Songsters To Entertain At Mt. View School

A Cappella Choir . . . Plans for a tentative trip for Friday, November 4 are now under way according to Bill Jackman, newly elected president of the organization . . .

"The choir will probably go by bus," said Jackman, "and we intend to stop at Mountain View and sing for the high school and possibly others along our route."

Flossita Badger, choir instructor, expressed the hope that the more difficult choir will be mastered by the latter part of October.

Sorority Meets Tonite To Discuss Banquet

Alpha Phi Sorority . . . will meet tonight at the home of Betty Roth. This will be the first meeting with the new pledges and plans will be discussed for a banquet . . . New pledges are Muriel Nolan, Dorothy Trood, Ruby Kieslolt, Irene Williams, Mildred Grey, Kay Lloyd, Margaret Gaddy, Marion MacKellop, Virginia Bulmore, Barbara Oracle, Vera Herndon, and Phyllis Roberts.

Debaters To Compete With Other Chapters

Phi Rho Pi . . . meets every Tuesday . . . Room 462 . . . 2:30 p.m. . . . Galileo High School . . . This semester the debating society will compete with other chapters of the Phi Rho Pi.

Scholarship Raised By Japanese Students

Japanese Club . . . All Japanese students are urged to attend the next meeting . . . Friday, October 7 . . . 1516 Post Street . . . Officers for the semester are Fred Hoshiyama, president; Kiyoshi Kimoto, men's vice president; Hatsune Arita, women's vice president; Toyoko Hidekawa, recording secretary; Makoto Noa, corresponding secretary, and Shoji Suzuki, treasurer . . . The club recently initiated twenty-one new members.

A scholarship fund has been established to award $25 at the beginning of each semester to a deserving Japanese freshman who will be chosen by a scholarship committee of five Japanese business men . . . For all those interested in attending the wienie roast see Kiyoshi Kimoto.

Store Strike Interests Omicrons

To discuss both sides of the San Francisco department store strike, the Omicron Phi Pi, Economics Honor Society, will meet at the home of Dr. Michael Zarchin, faculty adviser, October 7 at eight o'clock in the evening.

The date for initiation of new members has been set as October 12, details to be arranged later. This is the second initiation of the semester, the first being held September 8 at Galileo High School. Eligible for entrance into the society are Alfred Plaw, Russ Pritchard, and Fred Vast.

Tentative plans for a dinner on Wednesday, October 19 will be completed.

Birth Control To Be Discussed

Announcing the topic of discussion for the next meeting to be a Symposium on Birth Control, the Forum Club will gather at Venedict Osetinsky's home, 582-11th Avenue, next October 14. Speakers will be Tom Tillberry, Henry Evans, Pat Healy, and John Wood. All interested students are invited to attend.

Discussion last Friday evening was on a third term for Roosevelt. Nearly half a dozen students present were graduated last June but returned to the old stamping ground.

Fraternity Leader Boosts Coming Dance

Oldest fraternity of the college, Beta Phi, will hold its semi-annual dance on October 14, at the Century Club. According to Howard Cloud, president of Beta Phi, this dance will be one of the outstanding social affairs of the semester.

"The Beta Phi is the foremost fraternity, and we naturally enough want this dance to live up to the general excellence of the fraternity itself. So the committe has gone to a lot of pains, and their efforts," Cloud believes, "assure us all a memorable evening. We expect more than 250 guests emulating the strains of 'Cheek to Cheek' played by Tiny Magarde, drums, and his orchestra. Magardo has a few novelties that are really clever, one being a take-off on a night club floor show. Although we can't have a Bank Night, (because of copyright laws) we are going to serve refreshments—free! As a special added attraction (since double bills are the vogue now) the committe has received the promise of the weatherman that there will be a moon!

"Dancing will be from nine to one, and the bids are only one dollar. Practically a play-by-play report of the game with Los Angeles City College will be relayed, via Western Union, by Hugh Waite, next Vell Leader, from the scene of the crime (the massacre of Los Angeles)."

So the invitation to this dance is extended, in particular, to those who live in a radio. Since there are no other college activities that night, and because of the excellent program, the committee feels that the non-radio-owning students will have plenty of company.

Bids may be procured from the dance committee composed of Cloud, Stan Tobiason, vice-president of Beta Phi and president of the high Soph's; Bob Kantner, secretary and treasurer, and Carl de Rego, pledge master.

"If you don't know any of these fellows you can obtain your bid from any pledge," Cloud said. "The pledges are easily recognized by their harrassed look and the cardinal and gold ribbons on their manly chests."

The foreman of one of the WPA projects found that due to breakage and wear and tear he had run short of shovels, so he wired to Mr. Hopkins in Washington, requesting that more shovels be sent him.

The next day he received a reply, which read: "Have no more shovels. Tell the men to lean on each other."

ASTRONOMERS INVITE COLLEGE TO VISIT LICK OBSERVATORY SATURDAY

Astronomy students and their friends are invited to attend the college astronomy club visit to the Lick Observatory, atop Mt. Hamilton, next Saturday, October 1, 1938.

The trip will be made by means of automobiles, groups of students riding in a given car sharing expenses. As there are no eating facilities on the mountain, each person making the trip should be supplied with his supper.

Those persons going on the excursion will meet in front of the main branch of the public library, McAllister and Larkin Streets, at 3:30 o'clock, club officers said. The distance to the observatory is about 70 miles. Arrival will be made in time to view the extraordinary sunset discernible from the summit.

After dark, opportunity will be presented to view interesting celestial objects through the great 36-inch refracting telescope and a 12-inch instrument.

Students wishing to take part in this excursion may do so by telephoning Louis Berman, astronomy club adviser, FIllmore. 8277.

Berman said the excursion will leave the observatory for home at about 10:30 o'clock. If the weather on Mt. Hamilton is adverse on the day of the trip, you will be notified and the excursion postponed.

Children's Agency Asks Co-operation of AWS in Aiding Kids With Lessons

Catherine Felton, Children's Agency head, has requested the co-operation of the Associated Women's Students in aiding children with their studies, according to Miriam Dunne, AWS president.

The college women will assist grammar and high school pupils in their studying and help in supervision of their homework.

"I think it is a good idea," declared Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser, "the cause is extremely worthwhile and will give women an opportunity to study child psychology."

Women who would like to engage in this activity should contact Miriam Dunne.

Registration of Students Failing To Pay Dues To Be Cancelled

Four students are emphatically requested by Ward Nichols, Comptroller, to get in touch with him immediately. These students have yet to pay their student body dues. Students failing to see Nichols will be excused from their classes and their registration canceled.

They are: J. Leo Ashtena, Tully Cornick, Myron Martin, David Sullivan.

CAL-FROSH GAME

(Continued from page 3)

down and two yards to go for a touchdown, Halfback Zacharias, who had replaced McQuary, attempted to plunge over for the desired six points. Hitting his own left guard Zacharias was met by the entire right side of the California line, thus spoiling the goal went the ball where, Mr. Rosenberg, a guard by trade, tenderly embraced it for a big six points.

Jones and Swanson blocked the attempted conversion.

The second half was offensively all Cal-Frosh. The Rams were continually being pushed back but would manage to take over the ball deep in their own territory and punt it out of danger. This was repeated until with about five minutes still remaining in the game the Cal Cubs reached the San Francisco 23 yard marker. On third down, McQuary, No. 4 back, or left half in the California system, went around his own right tackle, and after eluding four would-be Junior College tacklers scampered down the sideline to the promised land.

The attempted conversion was again frustrated.

Late in the second quarter, Urban Mason, Ram tackle who had been in the game for two plays previous, was carried from the field with a cleat wound in his leg that necessitated eleven stitches.

Peterson Sensational

Outstanding for the Junior Collegians were Fex, Baber, and Hanrahan in the backfield and Mel (Ol'Lad) Peterson in the line. Peterson was far and away the most sensational player on the field. His vicious tackles and his uncanny ability to diagnose plays put him head and shoulders above any center that we have seen in freshman or Junior College games in quite some time.

California frosh players who stood out were Reinhard at tackle, Nicholau at guard, and Tucker at end. In the backfield, Youdall, Holmes and McQuary did some scintillating work.

The Clock That Man Built

This is the clock that Man built. This is the clock that rules the Man who crosses the bay to get to work. This is the clock who rules the student who crosses bay to get to class. This is the l:X@*xed clock.

When a commuter has an 8 o'clock class and is just passing Yerba Buena on a ferryboat, he has the thrill of watching the clock race the ferry—if it isn't foggy.

When the boat nears the dock, the commuter can plainly see the minute hand move back a little, then spring up to the next minute mark. If the clock is ahead of the boat, the college-bound Cashander feels his nerves contract each time the hand moves forward. Nightmares of an East Bay student attending the college frequently feature a picture of the minute hand of the Ferry clock moving ahead at each of the sleeper's breaths.

Many commuting students do their homework on the ferryboats and when they look up from their books into the face of the giant time-piece, terror strikes at them—they get the urge to jump overboard and swim toward the dock in an effort to beat the boat. Some student commuters picture themselves tieing a rope on the hands of the clock to hold the time back until they have landed in San Francisco.

Coming home from a 2:30 to 5:20 lab at Galileo, thoughts of dinner run through the commuter's mind—he sees the clock and drums nervously on his books each time the street car stops and keeps saying "Ding, ding" to himself in an attempt to make the conductor pull the bell cord.

The Ferry Building clock to most student commuters is a terrifying, man-made monster searing at each commuter's nerves. What it does to humans doesn't bother the Clock in the least; this inhuman pestl has sent the pulse-rates of commuters up so many times that a cinch notice means nothing.

WATER POLO

(Continued from page 3)

Ram scoring machine, while brother Marcus proved the bulwark in the college defense by staving off attempted rallies made by the Center team. Norwood Forte, Olympic Club, and college player, made a fine showing at right forward by fine offensive play at the door of the opponent's goal.

New candidates, who for the first time played the sport ,adapted themselves immediately to its fast and rollicking play.

The starting line-up for the game was: right forward, Mitchell Hoffman; left forward, Norwood Forte; center back, Gene Carricker; center forward, Ian Stoddard; left guard, Don DuBlain; right guard, Norman Lozarus, and goalie, Captain Marcus Hoffman. Martin, Mandell, and McManus, Eiselman saw action in the skirmish.

RIFLE CLUB

(Continued from page 1)

there are other activities to keep the members interested."

Bearing this in mind, the fall semester's calendar has been planned to meet a variety of interests, according to club officers.

"Next month when the full moon rolls around there will be a weenie roast, later an ice-skating party, then a dance and as a climax to the term's social activities an end of finals party!" Miss Mitchell promised.

LEARN "CONTRACT BRIDGE" . . .
— A Social Necessity —
Beginners class opens Monday Evening, October 10, 7:30-9:00
NORTHERN CALIFORNIA BRIDGE STUDIO
520 MASON STREET near Sutter
ARTHUR WATERMAN, Culbertson Associate GUtter 5558

LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE COURSE ESTABLISHED BY ADMINISTRATION

As a result of the efforts of the educational advisory committee in the field of floriculture, and through cooperation by the college administration, the college has established and is conducting a course called Landscape Architecture.

Because of the newness of this course, the college administration is sending a survey to all members of the educational advisory committee asking the members' advice and opinions as to curriculum construction, subject content, teaching procedure, and other problems which arise when undertaking such a training program.

The college administration is also seeking information from members of the committee, because of their familiarity with the field and its opportunities. The field, wage scale, and how the course should be taught, are vital factors the administration is attempting to become acquainted with.

By appealing to outside aid in this matter, the college hopes to present to its students a complete and thorough course in the field of floriculture.

Pity the Poor Sophs! Stale Grid Tussle Causes Dance Problem

Scheduling of the San Francisco State game Friday, October 28, means that the Low Sophomores will be compelled to change the date of their dance, Barbara Randall, chairman of the social committee, announced.

"The problem of selecting a date for the dance presents difficulties to the social committee," declared Miss Randall, "as the only other alternative date, Friday, November 11, is taken by the Block SF Society dance, which is scheduled to follow the game with Pasadena."

Some decision as to the date will be reached this week when the social committee together with the Low Sophomore class officers meet with Dean Edwin C. Browne.

Members of the social committee who will decide the issue are: Bob Fex, Associated Students President; Stan Tobiason, High Sophomore president; Frank Verduzel, president of Low Sophomores; Dan Baker, High Freshman president; Ray Diehl, Low Freshman leader, and Muriel Mills of the High Sophomore class.

Friday, November 2, the date of the High Sophomore formal dance, was recently approved by the social committee, Miss Randall disclosed.

Football Band On Way To Organization

Organizers and members of the band for football games, under the leadership of Lilburn Erb, will hold a second meeting tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Galileo auditorium.

Describing the turn-out of 17 men last Thursday afternoon as "very encouraging," Erb expects to see enough men to make a full-sized band worthy of representing the college at the meeting tomorrow.

All students wishing to join the band are urged to attend the meeting or if that is impossible to contact Erb immediately.

Part of the curriculum of San Jose State College's Police School of Public Service, designed for the purpose of training students in various branches of public service, including social and foreign service and public administration.

Statistics
California Freshman–SFJC Game

SFJC		CALIF.
98	Yards gained, scrimmage	205	534
67	Yards lost, scrimmage	17	37.11
8	Passes attempted	8	3.75
2	Passes completed	2
2	Passes intercepted	6	49
1	Passes had intercepted	0	15.35
21	Yards gained, punts	16	4
72	Total net yards gained, passes and scrimmage	202	2
5	First downs, scrimmage	8	1
2	First downs, passes	0	1
7	Total first downs	10	0
9	Punts	8	0

INDIVIDUAL STATISTICS
SFJC	Tch	Tyg	Tkl	Tyl	Nrs	Avg.
Laughlin, f	2	6	0	0	6	3.00
Hanrahan, f-rh	9	45	2	19	26	2.89
Connors, lh	6	14	3	4	10	1.67
Fex, lh	7	20	1	11	9	1.29
Mullins, rh	6	12	2	8	4	.67
Verduzel, f-q	1	0	1	1	-1	-1.00
Baer, q	2	1	1	4	-3	-1.50
Totals	33	98	10	47	51	1.55
CAL FROSH
Youdall, f	8	37	1	1	36	4.50
Arnold, lh	2	9	0	0	9	4.50
Derian, rh	8	34	0	0	34	4.25
McQuary, lh	22	91	5	4	87	3.95
Zacharias, lh	6	19	1	0	19	3.17
Eagleton, rh	1	1	0	0	1	1.00
Holmes, rh	4	12	2	12	0	xx
Totals	51	202	9	17	186	3.65

Low Freshmen Rally Spurs Housing Program

Ray Diehl Leads Smooth Clicking Galileo Assembly

Climaxing the campaign to enlist student support in the college housing program, the low freshman class sponsored a rally last Thursday in the Galileo auditorium at two o'clock.

Headed by Ray Diehl, president of the low frosh, who acted as master of ceremonies, the speakers of the day challenged the students to put this proposition over in the election. Rita Bann, vice president, and Pat Healy, secretary, asked for a united student effort in behalf of a campus. J. Paul Mohr, registrar, pictured to the students the beauties of the buildings and their surroundings. Verrel Weber, freshman women's adviser, asked the assembled student body to give its attention and co-operation to the other speakers.

Nelson Wells, freshman adviser, told the freshmen, in particular, that they would be the main ones to profit by the new campus and should be the most active in the campaign.

Bob Blackwell, low freshman active in the campaign, sounded the key note of the theme of the rally when he stated, "The committee have been working very hard, and although they are the spearhead of the campaign, you (the students) are the ones who can make the campus an actuality; so ask every voter: 'You've got a home, why not give the college one?'"

The program was climaxed by Louis Conlan, physical education and jurisprudence instructor, in his Demosthenesian appeal, "We can't count on anything yet, we've got to get out and GET IT!"

Talent Hunt Tryouts Tomorrow At Galileo; Waite Expects Turnouts

Tryouts for aspiring college entertainers in connection with the talent hunt being staged by head yell leader Hugh Waite will take place in the Galileo auditorium tomorrow at 2 o'clock. Some five or six students have already announced their intentions to compete for the two valuable prizes, but Waite is looking forward to a big turnout tomorrow. Any student not able to appear at this time should see Waite and arrange a convenient time for his tryout.

"The prizes we are offering to winners of this contest are well worth competing for," said Waite. "First prize will be a round trip ticket on the Ram Special to Sacramento. Second prize is a free bid to the Sophomore Prom. I am confident that there is worthwhile talent among members of the student body. Come out to Galileo tomorrow and have a trial rendition. There will be no audience and I will be the sole judge of the talent."

Redford Wants Top 10 On NYA Waiting-List

The first ten students on the waiting list for jobs under the NYA are requested by Edward Redford, assistant chief at the college, to see him immediately. He may be able to put a few students to work.

KSAN Clinches Bid To Fame; Broadcasts College Radio Program

KSAN clinched its bid to fame Monday night at 8:15 o'clock with a program from the college in the housing campaign.

Following an introduction by the A Cappella Choir, Bill Parsons came on to explain the nature of the broadcast. Paul M. Pitman, assistant to the president of the college, was introduced and presented the salient points of the campaign, stressing the need for a campus and the work the students were doing to acquire one.

Bob Blackwell followed with a conversational interview of two mythical figures representing a composite picture of the average man and woman student, briefly outlining the inconveniences that the students undergo for an education. The manner in which the bonds would be liquidated was explained by Parsons. The program closed with a final appeal to "... let the junior college come in out of the cold!"

The committee earned the commendation of the college by its efforts to make the broadcast worthy of the college. Margie Wright was the "power behind the throne" at the broadcast, stating that the speakers "caught" their cues and that everyone had their script.

Ram Mermen To Meet YMCA Team Tonight

Tonight the Ram mermen meet the strong YMCA team at the "Y" pool. Eugene Carricker and Ian Stoddard of the Olympic Club team will be absent from the college lineup as they will play for the clubmen tonight. Either two of the following will take their places: Kahn, Martin, Mandell or Eiselmann. In meeting the YMCA tonight, the college will take on a team that has the edge in experience, the Y men having been together in competition for several seasons while the Rams are playing together for the first time.

Colligan Announces Library Locations For Fall Semester

Francis Colligan, college librarian, recently announced that almost all the books in the junior college library are in the same place as last semester.

The college has four libraries. The library in the A. & E. building contains old issues of magazines, and reference books. Books may not be taken from this building, but may be used there by any student.

There are two libraries in the book store on Powell Street. The one down stairs has books numbered from 0-300, these are mostly biographies. The library up stairs has books numbered from 300-990. These books are language, history, English, and physics. The latest magazines are also located here.

The other library is located down stairs in the Extension building. The call numbers for all books are kept in the files there. Reserve books are also kept there.

No Classes—No Paper Next Wednesday, A Legal Holiday

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS
The Guardsman
SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

See Ultimatum In This Puzzling World On Second Page

Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1938 No. 7

ICKES GRANTS SCHOOL MONEY

PLANTING SEEDLINGS—IN ONE LESSON

Funds Assure College Buildings

Completion Of First Building, Gym Planned For 1939; To Accommodate Anticipated 5000 Enrollment?

Absolute assurance of the construction of a complete new junior college plant came last week when Harold Ickes, federal PWA administrator, approved the application of the city of San Francisco for a total grant of $2,218,000 to be used in school improvements.

Guarantee of the securing of federal funds followed on the heels of the passage by the voters of the city of the bond proposition calling for the appropriation of $2,800,000. The use of this money was contingent upon the approval by Ickes of the application on file with him at the time. His approval brought the total sum available for use to $4,931,105, to which the actual contribution by local taxpayers will be only $2,692,108.

Enrollment Increase Hints Early Completion

The junior college's share of the grant was originally $500,000, but it is believed that both of the gymnasiums planned can be constructed at a cost of no more than $400,000. In this case, the additional $100,000 can be used in construction of other needed buildings. The rapid growth of the college so far has led officials of the Board of Education to believe that the enrollment will probably reach 5000 by the time the new plant is ready to open, and such an enrollment will demand every available facility for its accommodation.

The first unit of the new plant, the science building, will be the first to be completed, with the men's and women's gymnasiums following closely. Plans for the science building are now complete and bids for contracts for its construction are under consideration. Advance bids for the additional buildings will be in within 35 days, and the contract will be let within 21 days after their reception.

Other Units To Follow Soon

Actual work on the latter units of the plant is scheduled to begin late this year, or, at the very latest, in January of 1939. Foundation work for the first building, which is to contain classrooms and lecture halls, is already complete, and work on the erection of the building can start at any time.

Separate grants were secured for the two gymnasiums, each of which will contain completely modern athletic equipment. It is not planned, however, to wait for their completion before occupying the plant. The first unit will be in readiness before the athletic fields are finished, and students will be able to attend classes there by next fall.

Also benefiting by Ickes' decision are a number of other San Francisco schools, among which are Marina and Portola Junior High Schools, George Washington High, and Francis Scott Key Elementary School. A portion of the funds will also be used in the construction of the first unit of the new Abraham Lincoln High School.

The federal grant, which provided for 45 per cent of the total cost, was originally $2,450,000, but reductions in the amount of building projects since applications for PWA aid were first filed have brought the sum down to its present amount, $2,218,000.

Promptness of action on the grant following the election results paved the way for the start of activity in the near future, and removed all possible doubt concerning the eventual completion of the college.

San Mateo J. C. Entertainers At Special Rally Slated Tomorrow

BUDGET APPROVED BY COUNCIL; ALLOTMENT FOR AMS STILL IN DOUBT

Holding its regular meeting last Thursday at Galileo, the Executive Council approved this semester's budget of the Associated Students in all but one minor point.

The factor which remains to be approved is the budget of the Associated Men Students, which reads $152.60; the original budget called for $307.60. The difference in the sums is to cover expenses of a Hallowe'en Dance to be given by the AMS.

This point was an oversight which will be remedied by the Administration, and the Executive Council will probably pass judgment on the question at the next meeting. The budget as submitted to the council and approved with the stated exception is:

EXPENSES
Administrative:
Supplies	$ 300.00
Programs	550.00
Registrar	400.00
Miscellaneous	175.00
Medical	200.00
Gowns	75.00
Rentals	700.00
	$ 2,400.00
Student Body:
Guardsman	$ 2,222.00
Social Committee	692.50
Soccer	276.00
Football	5,300.00
Comptroller's Office	350.00
Basketball	26.40
Baseball	83.50
Tennis	25.00
Orchestra	35.00
145-lb. Basketball	175.00
Music	305.90
W. A. A.	400.00
A. M. S.	152.60
Dean's Funds	200.00
Reserve Fund	18.81
Awards	300.00
Sophomore Week	364.00
Rifle Team	149.50
Rally Committee	110.00
Publicity	460.10
Debate	82.50
Forum	45.00
Band	25.00
	$11,880.01
Grand Total	$14,280.01
INCOME
Registration	$10,700.00
Social	150.00
Fines	50.00
Miscellaneous	100.00
Football Income	1,900.00
Discounts	15.00
Profit on Car Tickets	110.00
Prev. Balance in General Fund	1,255.01
	$14,280.01

The seemingly large budget of the football team covers traveling expenses to Los Angeles for the Los Angeles City College game and the trip to Utah to play Weber College.

(Continued on page 4, column 3)

Waite Will Return Favor At Peninsula Rally Friday

Tommorow at 2 o'clock, San Mateo Junior College will bring its talent to entertain the Associated Students of this college in a special rally in the Galileo auditorium. Hugh Waite, who arranged the rally with San Mateo, will return the favor at a rally there Friday, with selected talent from his "Talent Hunt".

William Silva, president of the San Mateo student body, will introduce his singing and dancing talent. The football coach of San Mateo will speak, followed by Coach Russ Sweet, popular mentor of this college, who will discuss the team's chances for a victory over its traditional rival.

Specialties Indefinite

As a special attraction, Waite is attempting to bring Jerry Benidon, vocalist and specialty man of Paul Pendarvis' orchestra to the rally. Although he is not sure whether Reardon will definitely appear, Waite is arranging a program of yells and possibly some other college entertainment in addition to that donated by the San Mateo college. A large turnout is expected for this rally as Waite wants to show San Mateo some real spirit.

"San Mateo Junior College has some exceptional talent in the entertainment field," said Waite. "They have graciously consented to share this entertainment with us. Please show your appreciation of their acts and above all, let's show them some real yelling. Yelling that is representative of this college and what it really can produce!"

The rally is scheduled for 45 minutes, hence 2:30 o'clock classes may be delayed for a few minutes.

Waite Explains

"Possibly students who attended the game with U.S.F. last Saturday night are wondering why there was no special roped off section for college rooters," declared Waite. "Although the Rally Committee had previously promised this section, nothing could be done, for the seating was arranged by U.S.F.

"However, Seals Stadium's best seats will be specially roped off for college rooters in the San Mateo game and all other games in which we participate in Seals Stadium."

Twenty members of the Rally Committee and the Blocks Society will act as ushers to see that college rooters are seated in the proper section.

Allman Comes To Aid Of Harassed Painters With New Stream-Lined Palette

Bane of all painters has been the difficulty created by the running of water colors on the mixing palette. To the rescue of all such artists comes Richard M. Allman, art instructor, with an improved palette which allows the artist to mix any number of colors on the same plate without fear of running. The new palette was patented by the United State Patent Office on July 26, 1938.

This new palette is a mechanical color mixing device which overcomes several of the handicaps presented with ordinary mixing plate. One of the chief advantages is that the new palette contains washable containers which can be cleaned without disturbing any of the other containers. Another advantage is that the various colors can be mixed in the palette without them combining in the central mixing dish.

Mechanical construction of this improved palette is done by the aid of a huge press. The finished product is nine inches in diameter and is considered a vast improvement over the previous ones used. A model of the new palette is on display in the Powell Street Book Store for any students who might be interested in seeing it.

New Students Urged To Contact Faculty Advisers

Urging all new students to get in touch with their faculty advisers, Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar, said that letters are being sent to the parents of all new students, naming their advisers and telling of their scholastic progress in the first six weeks of college.

Advisers may be reached by consulting the program board at Powell Street. Verrel A. Weber, gymnasium instructor, announced her office hours as follows:

Monday—by appointment; Tuesday-Thursday—3:30-4:10 p.m., Room 214, Galileo; Wednesday—10:00-11:00 a.m., Faculty Table, Friday—3:30-4:00 p.m., Office, North Gym.

Miss Learnard once again cautioned all students that October 7 was absolutely the last day to drop courses.

AWS Tea October 13 At Century Club To Feature Clubwomen As Speakers

To promote further interest in the first affair of the semester, the Associated Women Students have invited many prominent San Francisco clubwomen to be guests at their tea to be held from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock, October 13, at the Century Club, Sutter and Franklin Streets.

"Anne De Gruchy Treadwell, director of the National Youth Administration for California, has been asked to say a few words," said Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser. "I am confident that there is worthwhile talent among members of the student body. Come out to Galileo tomorrow and have a trial rendition. There will be no audience and I will be the sole judge of the talent."

Hallawell's Green House at 22rd and Quintara Streets has been the scene of great activity recently, as the college floriculture classes have been busily engaged in various horticultural pursuits.

John R. Herman, floriculture instructor, comments "that the floriculture classes have made remarkable progress this semester."

Plans are being made where the classes will exhibit the products of their labors at forthcoming garden exhibitions in the vicinity of the bay region.

Industrious budding botanists are shown working at the Green House in the above photographs.

Picture No. 1 (reading from left to right) includes Mary Camaches Harry Johnston, Dorothy Crangle and Dorothy Krieder, who are preparing the soil for the planting of perennials. No. 2 pictures Mary Camaches, Dorothy Crangle, James Crew, Dorothy Krieder, Fred Maggi, Leonard Finigan, Bert Bertolera and Harry Johnston as they divide violets (some fun, eh kid?). In No. 3, Akiri Hata, Dorothy Crangle, Dorothy Krieder and Harry Johnston are dividing and planting corral bells, while in No. 4 Bert Bertolero transplants calendulas —marigolds to you.

Beta Phi Sponsors Dance At Century Club Next Friday, October 14

Beta Phi, holding its semi-annual dance October 14 at the Century Club is promising the student body one of the outstanding social affairs of the semester, according to Howard Cloud, president of the fraternity.

In the picturesque setting of the Century Club, with an October moon ... ing from above, more than 250 guests will dance from nine to one o'clock to the strains of Tiny Magardo's drums and orchestra," said Cloud.

"Added attractions at the semi-formal dance will be novelty numbers by Magardo's orchestra, including a take-off on a night club floor show, and a play-by-play report of the game with Los Angeles City College," disclosed Cloud. "The game will be relayed via Western Union by Hugh Waite, head yell-leader."

Bids are one dollar and may be procured from Cloud, Stanley Tobiason, vice-president of Beta Phi, Bob Kantner, secretary-treasurer, Carl de Rego, pledge master, or any of the pledges, Cloud announced.

Placement Possibilities For Insurance Students Revealed By W. C. Marsh

Although insurance courses were introduced in the college only this semester, there is a possibility of placement for some of the more able students in local insurance houses, was the claim made by William C. Marsh, business instructor, early this week.

Marsh addressed the Life Insurance Commission of the Chamber of Commerce last week. His views on "modern youth's" ability to carry on in the insurance field brought offers of practical assistance in the form of placements by members of the commission.

Early this week, Marsh discussed the possibilities in the life insurance business for college students before the Chartered Life Underwriters, life insurance honor society.

Marsh has had many years of experience as an executive and district manager of large insurance companies in northern California. His insurance class at present contains 23 students.

That the college has also received widespread publicity through its insurance course, established in cooperation with the California Insurance Agents, is evidenced in a letter from Jacksonville, Fla., recently received by Marsh.

The letter, from L. P. McCord of the McCord Insurance Agency, and chairman of the Educational Committee of Jacksonville, said in part that he had read of the insurance course offered by the college in a newspaper. The article aroused his interest because two short courses had been given in connection with the McCord agency, running four days each, approximately 300 agents in attendance. He added that the McCord Agency was interested in an educational program for agents, and therefore requested suggestions as to methods of giving the course and literature pertaining to the organization.

Columbus Day Holiday; No School—No Guardsman

From the registrar's office has come the glad tidings that Wednesday, October 12, is Columbus Day and a college holiday.

A suggestions was made to Editor Fred Vast that an eight page paper be published the following week to make up for the missed issue. Vast's reply was, "You can read the paper twice the following week if you wish—that ought to make up for the lost issue."

Mayor Rossi Acknowledges Gratitude For Part Played By College In Bond Issue Campaign

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR
San Francisco September 30, 1938

Mr. Robert Fex,
President—Associated Students,
San Francisco Junior College,
San Francisco, California.

Dear Mr. Fex:

In the victory of the School Bonds last Tuesday, I gratefully acknowledge the unselfish and influential help given by your Student Body.

I was amazed, on several occasions, during the campaign, to learn of the well-directed barrage of solicitations put forth by over one thousand students, over the telephone. The writing of twenty thousand personal letters from the students to their friends added to the realization, by our loyal voters, that something must be done, to house our youth at San Francisco Junior College. I know also, of the intelligent advantage your Press Committee took, of all opportunities to get your message over the radio.

In short, I believe the alert, able and unceasing help of the Students put the School Bonds over, with such a safe margin.

Kindly extend to all who joined in this effort, my thanks and congratulations, as Mayor, as well as personally.

Sincerely,
(Signed) ANGELO J. ROSSI,
Mayor

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1938 No. 7

FRED VAST........EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser — Joan Nourse
Business Adviser — Edward H. Redford

Dick Simpers........Assistant Editor
Bill Frantz........News Editor
John Julius........Sports Editor
Carol Pickering........Women's Editor
Dorothy Trood........Club Editor
Sam Galstaun........Staff Photographer
Fred Bentley........Business Manager

REPORTERS

Ray Berns, Bob Fex, Ethan Bernstein, Bob Blackwell, Ed Gamble, Dave Johnson, George Hoffman, Adele Kuhn, Isadore Maloff, Charles Martin, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Ed Van der Veen, Sylvia Wall, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Construction of Complete Campus Must Be Hastened

PASSAGE of the School Bond issue in last weeks' election furnished conclusive proof of the fact that the people of San Francisco have finally become fully aware of the importance of a junior college to the city's educational system. The vast majority of the 95,072 "yes" votes cast on the proposition were cast for the junior college, rather than for any of the other school projects provided for by the bond.

There can be no doubt of the fact that the success of the bond issue was due in large part to the campaign carried on by members of the student body and faculty of the college, and their activity in bringing the voters to a realization of the importance of a junior college cannot be praised too highly. Upon being informed as to existing conditions, the voters showed unmistakably that they would no longer tolerate the haphazard conditions under which the college has been existing.

Also welcome was the news that the cost of the gymnasiums to be constructed with the newly-acquired funds will not exceed $400,000, thus leaving $100,000 to be used for other buildings which will be needed sooner than was expected.

Considering the steady increase in enrollment here during the past thre years, it appears probable that, when the college has a complete and unified plant of its own, the number of students will reach 5000, more than twice the present figure.

In view of this fact, the construction of all units of the new plant must be hastened as much as possible in order to provide for the accommodation of an increased enrollment, and any move toward achieving such an end is to be welcomed enthusiastically.

One thing, at least, is certain; an end has come to the air of suspense and indecision which has hung over the college since its inception. There WILL be a complete junior college in San Francisco.

— D. S.

'Ostrich Tactics' A Good Name For An Old Argument

THE earth is degenerating in these latter days. There are signs that the world is speedily coming to an end. Bribery and corruption abound. The children no longer obey their parents. Every man wants to write a book, and it is evident that the end of the world is speedily approaching."

President Frederick C. Perry of Hamilton College, expressing duties of "gloomsters who view the world with alarm," has cited these writings taken from an Assyrian tablet dated 2800 B.C. as proof that political prophecy for a dismal future has always been prevalent.

In this way Dr. Perry implies that there is no reason to be concerned with contemporary conditions. Although war is imminent, although the old concepts of the state are being formulated, although the old social evils still exist, his argument would seem to be that these conditions have always been; consequently, why should we try to solve them?

The attitude of passive acceptance of things as they are, backed by the reasoning expressed by the Indian in Maxwell Anderson's "High Tor" that "Men's monuments make good ruins," has become evident on both courthouse square and campus. A parallel argument would be that since the rosebuds of Richardson's poem will ultimately be gathered, why should they bother to bloom. Yet there is the survival of the race to consider.

Editorials advise perspective and the broad view; they condemn what they think of as much ado about practically nothing. But in and out of school, the undercurrent of ultimate acceptance or compromise tends to create a sort of intellectual backwash that coats over any practical desire for immediate reform.

—The Dartmouth

Two Types of Spirit Illustrated In Past Week

COLLEGE spirit is the perennial subject for editorials and student crusaders. Last Tuesday a real spirit manifested itself which, if contrasted with usual type of spirit of merely yelling, puts the latter to shame. The common conception of college spirit is making noise at athletic events and rallies. But there is a deeper and more important spirit, a more genuine feeling. That spirit was shown last week when students electioneered at the polls. The campaign as a whole showed the spirit of the college but the crowning point was the day of the election, when the chips were down.

Standing all day long in front of polls were students who will never have an opportunity to enjoy the benefits of the new campus. On their feet for nine and ten hours were students residing in the East Bay, electioneering for something that directly concerned San Francisco, and not Oakland or Berkeley. They have often been accused of lacking interest in this institution but Tuesday told a different story. The entire student body was just recently berated for not having any spirit because it failed to cheer lustily enough at a football game. How insignificant and unimportant the attitude was toward a game as compared with obtaining a campus.

It is true that spirit in the form of yelling is important at a game, and it is to be hoped that the spirit will improve at future contests. Though a large part of the fault for silence of a rooting section lies with the spectators, not all of the trouble is with them. Undoubtedly a little improvement on the part of the yell leaders would also help to let the players know that the college is with them.

American Schools Can Learn From Czecho-Slovakia

BY ironic coincidence, the U. S. Office of Education has just issued a bulletin on "Education in Czecho-Slovakia." In it we read:

"The Ministry of Education requires all secondary and lower schools to give definite instruction on universal peace. The outlines of the course in civics for secondary and elementary schools include the following topics: national culture, the League of Nations, civilization of all nations, general progress of humankind, equality among the races and nationalities, the World Court, international treaties and guarantees, war and peace, international pacifism, natural laws, man and world, fraternity, humanity and conditions of happy peaceful life," etc.

It does the heart no good to dwell on the picture of Czecho-Slovakia's children boning up on good will toward men at the very moment her wolfish neighbors were planning to tear her apart.

Lucky are the 33 million young Americans who returned this month to school. And may their luck last!

—The San Francisco News

THIS PUZZLING WORLD

Edited by Milton J. Puzzletsar and Henry J. Riddleston

PUZZLE NO. 0.00 DOES ANYBODY CARE?

Ever since the first issue of this column, the editors wondered whether anybody besides themselves was interested in it. Repeated requests for puzzles from readers brought no results. It occurred to the editors that they could save an awful lot of time and printer's ink if they entertained each other with puzzles direct, instead of through the columns of The Guardsman.

If there are some interested in seeing the column continued in The Guardsman, they are requested to drop a word, a line, or a whole letter to the editors, care of The Guardsman.

ULTIMATUM

WHEREAS, the editors feel that the kind of a Puzzling World they have to offer is more crazy than any other cock-eyed Puzzling World; and

WHEREAS, the editors do not give a damn what happens to This Puzzling World if their honor is affected ever so slightly; and

WHEREAS, the editors have a passionate belief in the sacredness of the principles of self-righteousness and of self-interest; be it known, therefore:

That, unless the concessions demanded above are not granted within a period of two weeks, the editors will march their column off the face of The Guardsman, taking This Puzzling World with them.

Because of their passionate confidence in the purity of their hearts, the justness of their cause, and the sacredness of their ultimate aims, the editors reserve the right to decide whether the concessions granted within the specified period are sufficient to satisfy their honor.

Since the editors yearn for peace, they will offer This Puzzling World another poser. The next issue of this publication, independently of the reaction to the present ultimatum. This ultimatum expires on Wednesday, October 19, 1938.

Dated: Two days prior to October 1, 1938.

ANSWERS TO LAST WEEK'S PROBLEMS

PROBLEM 7. THE SIX-DIGIT NUMBER

Since the number, when multiplied by six, is still a six digit number, it is evident that it cannot be greater than 166,666 nor less than 100,000. The first digit of the original number must be 1. This same digit must appear as the last digit of one of the five products. This can only be the result of multiplying 7 by 3. Hence 7 must be the last digit of the original number. Multiplying 7 by 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6, we see that the original number must contain the digits 4, 1, 8, 5, and 2, besides 7, but not necessarily in the same order. A little experimentation proves that the original number was 142,857. Check it!

PROBLEM 8. THE FOUR DIGITS

The answer is: 25 x 92 equals 2592. Don't ask us how we found it! It is a long, long story!

Cabbages & Kings

By Blue Pencil Bill

During the past few weeks ye scribe has been operating a column without a legitimate name, so in order to keep peace with the Column Writers Union we have asked Dick Simpers for the deed to the title he had in his possession. Dick, having no further use for the above title signed it over to us for a slight consideration. Ain't it a cute title? No comments required.

• • •

We came out to Playland at the Beach last week in time to see the Pi Mu Gamma initiation. One of the feminine initiates was standing on a soapbox pleading for voluntary finances to build the college buildings, while a few of the male initiates circulated in the crowd for donations. This is what they got: a piece of chewing gum, some matches, assorted cigarette ashes, and seventeen cents! We forgot, they also got kicked off the Midway.

• • •

One of the most sensible methods of settling the troubles over in Europe comes from our printer, Ed Strehl. He suggests that the three dictators be put in a boxing ring, outfit them with brass knuckles, blackjacks, and rocks—and let THEM fight it out.

• • •

It's bouquet-handing time on Powell Street, now that "No. 4" has passed, so first we hand a great, big, enormous bouquet of American Beauty roses to our dear, hard-working prexy, Box Fex. It is rumored that he and Harold Ickes finally cleared up all the details of the new college building finances last week via U. S. mail.

We should give Bob Blackwell and the Radio Committee some posies, too, especially since Bob asked us for the applause. His committee stayed up until 4 a.m. one morning writing scripts for the broadcast. Another wee-hour worker is Dick Simpers, who wrote the election story after midnight Wednesday morning so that the students of the college could read the results of the election.

• • •

The city fathers got a glimpse of the SFJC spirit the night of the election when Treacy Slattery, Bob Fex, Robert Smith, and a gang of fellows shot off firecrackers on the City Hall steps when they received the news of the passage of Number 4.

• • •

Further celebration took place the next morning when several unidentified students shot off more firecrackers. These students had more ingenuity than the night-shift celebrators—they set off the explosives with milk bottles over them (the firecrackers). The explosion caused the bottles to describe an arc in mid-air and sail over into our Powell Street neighbors' yards. At present San Francisco's finest would like to meet up with San Francisco Junior College's explosives experts.

Presidential Notes

By Bob Fex

I wish to take the opportunity at this time to thank all of the students who cooperated so generously in putting over the bond issue.

It is the opinion of the higher-ups of the city that it was the work of the general student body of San Francisco Junior College which was responsible for the passage of the school bonds.

The letter writing campaign, the distribution of 140,000 of the special bond edition of The Guardsman, and the coverage of the 107 precincts of the 27th Assembly District were considered the deciding factors in the overwhelming success of our student campaign.

Those I especially want to thank for their hard work on the various committees in putting over our share of the campaign are Treacy Slattery, Jane Mitchell, Bob Blackwell, Ray Diehl, Bob Owen, Hugh Ryan, Marge Wright, Coach "Dutch" Conlan, Fred Vast, Jack Schmale, Dick Simpers, and others too numerous to mention here.

It was the untiring work of these student committees and their fine leadership that put us over the top in a crucial period.

While the farmers are solely engaged in the business of feeding the world, many of them do not know how to properly feed themselves or their families, according to a paper presented by Edna Miller, extension nutritionist of the Utah State Agricultural College, at a recent meeting of western agricultural extension executives at the University of California at Berkeley. Failure of some farm families to properly feed themselves has had a definitely bad effect on child health, she said.

'COLLEGE SPIRIT' By MacKillop

AFTER DARK

By John Ward

Max Reinhardt's production of Goethe's Faust was probably one of the biggest bores ever produced in San Francisco. Lasting somewhat more than three hours, the play took one hour to get started, one hour to digress, and one hour to end. All in all, a perfectly good evening wasted. Someone must have told Reinhardt that Americans like to think they can understand a profound play. What they forgot to say, however, is that Americans do not like to have said profundities given in the form of lectures every half hour or so. Like the Elizabethans, A m e r i c a n audiences like a little action.

To begin with, Reinhardt used a translation of the German play that either did a great injustice to a great writer or presented us with some very indigestible stuff from a much over-rated scribbler. Unfortunately, we are not in a position to compare the translation with the original. However, in the present version one finds all of the disheartening banalities of Longfellow & Co. Even Shakespeare would sound awful if translated into such trite verse.

Reinhardt's set was either too large for the players or too small for the play. We're not sure which it was. But rarely did one feel Reinhardt's Bavarian village—with its church, prison, houses, streets—to be an integral part of the proceedings. It made the actors appear to be pygmies, not in the sense of reality, but in the discrepancy that lies between a ten-year-old and a rather large doll house. All of Reinhardt's efforts toward realism resulted in only a more obvious type of unrealism.

Again, the music was some of the feebiest our ears ever encountered. Certainly it was a match of bad verse for bad melody. Even the lighting, so long an art with Reinhardt, was ordinary and at times not too well handled.

Of the whole evening there could not have been more than four or five good moments: the spectre scene on the porch of the church, the death of Valentine, which so much resembled a painting by Bruegel the Elder; the whole characterization of Martha as played by Lenore Ulric. Very little for three hours of what was advertised as entertainment. But it did show one rather interesting fact.

For once in his career, Reinhardt did not have a play that could survive moments of faulty direction. When Reinhardt failed Faust the whole work gave way in the middle. Thus one can explain the unnecessarily clumsy scene in Auerbach's Cellar—a scene that neither detracted nor added to the play, but rather tended to confuse and slow the pace. Unfortunately, there were just enough of these aimless bits to make the whole play ponderous and slow moving. Perhaps it proves that Reinhardt is a spotty director, giving relief to certain moments of a play and being unable to fit the other sections into focus with the high points.

RAM'S HORN

Plague Proposed For Posterity; System Rapped

Editor, The Guardsman:

I think a plaque should be procured and inscribed with some well chosen words of praise for the present students of the college. Each semester hereafter the names of students (man or woman) who have contributed most to the welfare of the college should be engraved under the verbal award to this present student body.

If possible, a medal or something of the sort might also be given the two chosen students.

This plaque might be hung somewhere in our new building or placed in a prominent niche on the campus, and we who are starting tradition might leave this memento of our endeavors for the inspiration of future students.

Bob Blackwell

Editor, The Guardsman:

To my mind, the present system of education in existence in the public schools today is outdated and obsolete.

During the course of a semester, a student takes five or six different subjects.

The student attends each subject perhaps two or three times a week, and as far as I can ascertain, most of the lectures go in one ear and out the other, as he learns a little something about all of the courses, and not much about each.

At the present time, a new system is being tried in the eastern part of the country whereby a student takes just one subject for an entire semester. Certainly, this idea is better than the one in vogue now. Anything would be!

A Progressive

News From Other Colleges

An organization of San Jose State College, the Twenty Flying Club, for student aviators, recently purchased a $1750 airplane to use for instructing future pilots.

• • •

Pasadena Junior College has recently constructed a new west wing building which will house a complete college of business.

• • •

Theta Kappa Nu and Phi Delta Theta, University of California fraternities recently played the first organized football game between six-man teams ever held on the Pacific Coast. Theta Kappa Nu won, 19 to 12.

• • •

In a recent poll conducted at Pasadena Junior College, the fair coeds of the college almost unanimously voted in favor of marriage, rather than a career, declaring that "a happy home was preferable to a hectic business life".

San Jose State College is the recipient of a federal grant of $225,000 for a new music hall and a library to supersede the former out of date buildings.

• • •

Names of players on the University of Idaho football team are so hard to pronounce that pamphlets giving name pronunciations have been issued.

• • •

Manual Arts High School of Los Angeles has a non-gossip club in which all the members pledge themselves to say nothing detrimental to anyone.

• • •

The oldest and first intercollegiate football contest was that between Princeton and Rutgers. Rutgers won the first game in 1869, 6 to 4, but since then Princeton has won 31 out of 31.

. . . while thinking . . .

By Leonard Gross

Since the daily newspapers have been continually harping on the situation in Europe, we have decided to be different and mention something a little closer to home.

It is about time some state official acted intelligently (for a change) and proposed a few improvements that will decrease the number of automobile accidents.

We are referring especially to the official representative of the grim reaper in the bay area—the Bayshore Highway, upon which more serious accidents occur than on any other highway in the bay region. Hardly a day passes but what someone is killed or maimed because of carelessness combined with inadequate protection for the motorist.

By constructing a curb through the center of the highway the danger of automobile accidents would be cut in half. The danger of head-on collisions and side-swiping would be almost completely eliminated.

This method has been proved successful in the east bay and other parts of the state. Because of these dividing curbs, the death rate from automobiles has decreased considerably.

With motorists ignoring speed laws to such an extent that they speed along Bayshore Highway at 75 miles per hour, it is plain to see that unless something is done the death toll will continue to increase.

It does not say much for the men who first proposed the highway, to have consented to its being built in such a haphazard manner, and it certainly demonstrates to the country at large the laxity of our state government to have allowed the highway to remain that way.

Since the men who were placed in positions of trust and honor have failed, it is now up to the individual citizen.

The people of San Francisco and the peninsula as a whole and individually should demand protection for themselves.

This is a problem close to each and every person residing in or near the city, for one never knows who may be killed or injured in an automobile accident. No matter who it may be, friend or foe, it is a human life; a human life that was not put on this earth to be destroyed by a machine of iron and steel.

FUNNY? Some Thought So

Hitler wants peace—piece by piece.
—Via John Horowitz

• • •

A Scotsman from Aberdeen is putting off buying an atlas until world affairs look a little more settled.
—Painter and Decorator

• • •

Then you've all heard of the guy who studied six languages at Penn, then married a wife who never gave him a chance to get a word in edgeways.
—Puppet

• • •

I think it uncouth
To lounge in a booth
From ten o'clock on until two.
I try and I try
But leisurely I
Can find nothing nicer to do.
—Pelican

• • •

Worm;
Him dummy,
Him got no mummy,
Him got no legs;
Him crawl on his tummy,
Worm.
—Spartan

• • •

1st Father—Your son an undertaker? I thought he was a doctor.
2nd—I said he follows the medical profession.
—Painter & Decorator

Hilltoppers Deal Defeat; Bowlers Go Peninsula

Big Prizes In Contest! Name Sweet Says Schmale And Win Free Ducats To 1936 Tufts vs. Colby Big Game

Ram - Bulldog Sat. Nite; S.F. Goes South In Week

Powell St. Lads Take Terrific Beating From Dons

By Ray Berns

It's painful to relate, lads and lassies, but Coach Russ Sweet's Ram footballers were the recipients of a 26-2 beating from Bob Kleckner's University of San Francisco Freshmen at Seals Stadium Saturday night.

Sparked by Pete Franceschi, former all-city halfback at Mission High, the Don Babes ran rampant over an outclassed but fighting Ram squad.

The Hilltoppers' first touchdown was scored five minutes after the opening kickoff by Franceschi who rambled 10 yards around left end. Franceschi also place kicked the extra point.

The score was set up when a pass by Bob Fex, stellar left half, intended for Frank Davenport, was intercepted by a Don on the Rams' 30 yard line.

Another break in the form of pass interference gave the Dons a first down on the Ram 14. Warford, USF full, made 4, and then Franceschi made his touchdown dash.

Four minutes later, "Mush" Mullins, taking a reverse from Hanrahan, fumbled, and the ball was recovered by DiGrazia, USF tackle, on the Ram 30 yard line.

Three plays later, a pass from Cima to Franceschi was good for 10 yards and the second touchdown.

Sweet's men threatened to score early in the second quarter, when Franceschi fumbled one of Hanrahan's punts, and Bud Weichers recovered on the USF 40 yard line.

The threat ended, however, as two passes fell incomplete, and USF took over on their 12 yard line.

The biggest thrill of the night from the spectators' standpoint came at this juncture, when Franceschi, standing in punt-formation behind his own goal-line, broke through the center of the line, into the clear, and got away for a 102 yard gallop only to have the play called back because of a clipping penalty.

Balaam, Don half, spurted 49 yards just before the end of the first half for the third touchdown, while Franceschi gained partial revenge for the nullification of his other dash by rambling 63 yards early in the fourth quarter for the Dons' final tally.

Manfredi, Simpers, Cloud To Start

Competition for the college's bowling team begins next Friday night when the Ram pin-smashers travel to San Mateo to collide with the strong Bulldog outfit in the first match of a home-and-home series.

The local delegation will be handled by Coach Joe Amori, who is optimistic as to the chances of his charges. Averages of the bowlers for the past six weeks have been high, and the jovial mentor, although hesitating to predict a victory, smiled contentedly when questioned as to the prospects of his alley cats.

Probable members of the first-string team are Dominic Manfredi, Dick Simpers, John Julius, Walt Leporsky, and Lou Reinthaler. Also available if needed will be Howard Cloud, Petrie McManus, Hugh Waite, and Benjamin Papapietro.

The match will be divided into three games, and the total score of both teams will be tabulated in order to decide the winner. Flinging the balls for the Bulldogs will be Don Burke, Pat Gilbride, John O'Neill, Victor Celotti, and Hack Canzion. Five men will represent each school.

A rumor has been circulated that the opposing squad is planning to use "ringers," but Amori states that precautions are being taken to insure against any such misrepresentation.

Splashers Debut

Proving that their debut which ended in victory over the Jewish Community Center two weeks ago was no fluke, the Ram water-poloists scored their second victory of the season last Wednesday night by trouncing a favored YMCA seven by the score of 14 to 9.

The Rams picked up their lone two points in the third quarter when Tony Manuel, reserve end, smother Franceschi behind the USF goal-line for a safety.

Hanrahan, Fex, Connors, and Baber were outstanding for the Rams in the backfield, while Peterson and Regan were the stalwarts in an unusually weak line.

Wilson Announces Men's Tournament

Women's Social Calendar Approved By Council

Tennis Tournament

Tom Wilson, tennis instructor, announces that a tournament will be held in the near future, with the male members of the college eligible to participate.

Competition will be held in both singles and doubles divisions of play, according to Wilson.

"We should like to have every male tennister in the college enter," said Wilson, who looks for a large entry. "Cups are being donated by jewelry companies," he continued, "and we expect to be able to give prizes to the winners and runners-up in each of the events."

Wagner Defending

"All those wishing to enter should sign up with me as soon as possible," declared Wilson.

Last year's champion in the singles event, Hal Wagner, will be on hand to defend his title, while the doubles event was not contested last year.

Pre-tournament favorites in the singles include Wagner, Ed Amark, Bob Kun, Ray Berns, and Bill Canning, all members of the varsity tennis team.

Amark and Wagner loom as the team to beat in doubles play while their chief opposition will probably come from a combine of Berns and Canning, or Berns and Kun.

Ladder Starts

The results of the tourney will determine the positions of the college's tennis squad on the varsity ladder, which will be started immediately upon completion of tournament play.

The player winning the college championship will be awarded top spot in the ladder, while the runner-up will hold down the No. 2 position.

The other two racketeers who reach the semi-finals along with the finalists will be awarded the next spots and this procedure will be continued until a complete ladder has been assembled.

Play will be held at the Palace of Fine Arts courts, and the genial tennis mentor may be found there Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday mornings from 10 to 12 o'clock.

Women's Sport Parade

During a meeting of the Ex-council held recently, the Women's Athletic Association social calendar was approved, which means that fun, feasting, and friendly sports competition will soon be in session.

Outstanding among activities are play days with other junior colleges. Last semester local coeds traveled to State, San Mateo, and Marin County and Sacramento Junior Colleges, as well as conducting playdays of their own, to which various junior colleges sent representatives.

New members in the Association are warned to watch the bulletin boards in the Galileo gym, where announcements of coming events will be posted. Every WAA member is eligible, in fact urged by the officers of the Association, to attend playdays and take part in all of the activities.

• • •

The social dancing class has a text book, small we will admit, but containing a store of wisdom, as the students have discovered. The men buy GOOD MANNERS FOR YOUNG MEN and the coeds get GOOD MANNERS FOR THE YOUNG WOMAN. The books are obtainable to any student who wishes to buy one, the price being only fifteen cents. Among the contents is information on how to act while on a date, stag line etiquette, and solutions to many problems confronting the average college student.

• • •

For a bang up sport many students prefer ping pong. Two tables, excellently marked off like real tennis courts, may be found in use nearly every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon during the badminton period, from 2:30 to 4:30. Instruction is given to any student requesting it.

• • •

Winning their first match of the season over the Tuesday-Thursday 3:30 o'clock volley ball class, WAA netsters marched to victory with a score of 34-23, last Thursday, September 29. The game was, for the most part, fast and furious, though intercepted occasionally with a lull when the players batted the ball about on one side of the net.

Meet Coach No. 4 Jack Gaddy, Crew, Lambs' Mentor

Jack Gaddy, Flying Lambs and crew coach, has been a member of the physical education department since the establishment of the college in 1935.

The beginnings of an outstanding athletic career blossomed forth at

Admiral

JACK GADDY
Former All-Coast Star

Kelseyville in Lake County, where Jack attended high school.

He next put in an appearance at the University of San Francisco, where he competed in football, baseball, and basketball and achieved fame as a three-letter-man.

In football, Gaddy received recognition as an all-coast end in 1932 and starred in the East vs. West football classic in 1933.

On the baseball diamond, Jack was especially brilliant in that he was an all-American right fielder in 1932, with a batting average of .440.

Gaddy also starred in basketball and was a member of the famous Don Pacific Coast Championship basketball team of 1932.

In 1937, Gaddy's crewmen were co-champions of the rowing league together with his former alma-mater, the University of San Francisco, while in 1938, the Ram oarsmen finished third.

The Flying Lambs had a particularly good season last year, dropping very few games, while this year, the Lambs, after a bad start, have hit the comeback trail and have won four games in a row.

USF Transfer Pair Bolster Wilson's Soccer Hopes

Two University of San Francisco transfers, Jan Blomquist, a center-forward, and Mario Georgian, a full-back, have been added to the Ram soccer squad and will be eligible for league competition this semester.

Both boys having had a great deal of experience, they are expected to bolster the starting lineup when play starts this week in the Northern California Intercollegiate League.

Wilson's shinkickers meet California today, and Stanford this Saturday at the Beach Chalet field.

Kansas anticipates spending $35,000 on a State exhibit at the 1939 World's Fair on San Francisco Bay.

RAM CHOPS

By Jack Schmale

Plagiarism! Schmale Starts 'Name Sweet' Contest Idea Of Local Columnist

An ace columnist on one of our metropolitan dailies is having great sport these days, conducting a "Name Malley" contest, the results of which he hopes will bestow a suitable nickname on George Malley, coach of the U.S.F. Dons.

Malley, it seems, has two and-a-half strikes on him for lack of a moniker such as "Buck" Shaw, "Slip" Madigan, etc., and this columnist is crusading for the cause to eliminate this disgraceful situation.

Meanwhile, we San Francisco Junior College students sit idly by and permit our mentor, Russ Sweet, to suffer the fate of the unnamed. Sacramento J. C. has achieved success with "Hack" Applequist. Marin is beyond reproach with "Scoop" identifying Coach Carlson. But San Francisco, alas, all we have is just plain Russ.

It's Just Oodles of Fun

No use trying to be subtle. Sure, we're using a second hand idea, but isn't it just oodles of fun? This column hereby announces two tickets to the 1936 Colby vs. Tufts contest for the winner of the "Name Sweet" contest. There are no ties attached, no subscriptions to get, no Wheaties box tops or wrappers from cans of syrup. Just send your suggestions to The Guardsman office. Vote early and vote often, but let's give poor Russ a nickname.

Just for a starter, maybe "Bitter" Sweet might be in line. Then, if you wanted your football team to have a tough reputation, maybe "Slug" Sweet might inspire fear and terror in the hearts of trembling opponents. No, "Toots" will never do.

• • • • • •

Will Dolman, star 1937 tackle, is in town again, after starting at Oregon University. Sims "Tip" Hamilton, another tackle, is remaining there, however. Preston "Duke" Worsham, center, did not go to Fresno State, as intended, and is still in town. Jerry Flamm, honor student gridder, who rooms over a Mt. Vernon, Iowa, funeral parlor, is first string tackle at Cornell College, even if the Cornellies did lose their opener, 20-0.

• • • • • •

BOWLERS ATTENTION: The Bowler and Sports Review, Los Angeles ten-pin publication, this month contains a story of a team which rolled a series total of over 3700. Pretty fair, eh? Low man of the quintet had a 706 series, and the low game of the 15 was 217. When Joe Amori takes you guys to Alcatraz, don't forget to come back, or—well, skip it.

"Extraordinary" Officiating

It's very unethical for a sports scribbler to criticize football officials. However it's also very unethical for football officials to produce a brand of officiating that warrants criticism. All of which leads to the suggestion: Wasn't the officiating at the Cal Frosh game just a trifle, er,—"extraordinary"? Yeah, we agree.

• • • • • •

If you've a spare quarter, a student body card and a couple of hours, two Ram opponents are trying to throw touchdowns at each other this Friday evening at Roberts Field. Its Sacramento J. C. vs S. F. State, and if you want a look-see, go and get it.

While on the topic of excursions, in case anyone is desirous of accompanying the Rams to Los Angeles for the October 14 tussle, the round trip fare is $10.30, leaving Friday morning on the Daylight, returning on the same train Sunday. The rate to Ogden, Utah, Thanksgiving Day is around $20, leaving Tuesday night, returning Saturday. Incidentally, arrangements are being attempted through Barney Harvey, S. P. Passenger Agent, to have a radio installed in the observation car on the Sacramento trip so the Stanford vs. U.S.C. game can be heard en route to the lair of the Panthers.

Gaddy's Flying Lambs In Scorless Tie With S.P.

Jack Gaddy's Lamb gridders were still batting .500 this week, after playing a 6 to 6 tie contest with the erratic Southern Pacific Streamliners last Wednesday evening at Roberts Field.

The Lambs showed a let-down, and annexed the deadlock only after a touchdown pass, Molich to Davies for 46 yards, late in the third quarter. Molich's placement offering went wide.

The Streamliners, composed of former high school and club gridders, staged a drive from midfield shortly after the opening kickoff and sent Kendall, star halfback, into the end zone on a five yard gallop.

Weakly Joke

"Be careful of my sunburn!"

Roos Bros. Trophy At Stake Oct. 14

Three wins over the Cubs in three years!

That's the record the Rams aim for along with the Roos Trophy a week from Saturday when they meet Los Angeles City College in the southern city.

The game will be played in the opponent's campus stadium which has recently been equipped with illumination for evening contests.

Glenn Ackerman's Los Angeles outfit does not stack up as formidably as in former years, the Cubs having lost their first game to a comparatively weak Riverside Junior College, 21-7.

The Angelenos, last year's champions of the Western Division of the Southern California Junior College Conference, are touted to finish no higher than fourth this year, behind Pasadena, Compton and Long Beach.

Ackerman's main trouble is a lack of capable reserves to back up his veteran first string, which includes nine lettermen. In spite of having the second-largest junior college enrollment in the state, Ackerman was greeted by no more than eighty candidates when practice opened Sept. 9, and as a result, has some very weak spots, namely, center and tackles.

Lloyd Tutor, star center of last year's outfit, was declared ineligible because of scholastic difficulties, and his understudy, Jack Levy, transferred to Santa Monica J. C., leaving the Cub mentor only a transplanted guard, Hal Ferguson, and the weighty but slow and inexperienced Walt Atkins to fill in.

At the tackles, Jim Pena was the only experienced men to show up, suffering from a hurt back, which kept him from the Riverside game. Rollin Brown, letterman at guard, has been shifted to fill the spot, but lacks experience at that position.

On the credit side of the Cub ledger can be found Balfour Gland, speedy Negro all-conference end, around whom the Cubs have built a strong passing attack. The powerful Negro is also outstanding on defense, and will be teamed with Art McHolland, veteran pass-snagger, at the left-wing spot.

A vast "scintillating screen" of metal bangles will add a symphony of sound and shimmering light to the Golden Gate International Exposition in 1939.

Very Little Dope Available On San Mateo Eleven

Rolling into town as an unknown quantity, the San Mateo Bulldogs will engage the local footballers on Saturday night, at the Rams' home grounds, Seals Stadium.

At this writing, the Blue and White eleven from San Mateo, have yet to get the feel of a regular game under their belts. In spite of the fact that the Bulldogs have yet to open up, and in spite of the fact that the local eleven is the strongest in the short history of the college, a close, hard fought contest is anticipated.

The incentive is there for the San Mateo eleven as last year Ray Egelhofer's educated toe, was responsible for a 13-12 Ram victory.

McFadden's Starters

Coach Murius McFadden is expected to start the following team: at ends Ed Watson and Johnny Bojokovich; at tackles Carl Albers and Bill White; at the guard spots Hen Gasper and Joe Stireman. The center position is a tossup between Bob Delancy and Steve Miasnik, with the latter probably getting the call.

In the backfield will be Noah Curti and Archie Bogart at halves, fullback will be Ed Huss and at quarter will be Willie Silva.

The most interesting encounter of the evening will no doubt be between the students presidents of both colleges. Willie Silva, when not quarter-backing the Bulldog eleven, takes over the responsibilities of leading the Associated Students while Bob Fex, ace passer who played a whale of a game against California Frosh, will see plenty of action and no doubt he and Willie Silva will discuss the relative merits of the form of student governments employed by their respective colleges.

Sweet's Choices

For the Rambling Rams, "Sink-or-Swim" Davenport and Bub Weichers will start at the flanks, Stan Bierwith and Tom Regan, a couple of giants, at the tackle spots, George Jones and "Chubby" Swanson at guards and the sensational Mel (Ol' Lad) Peterson will be the pivot man.

The backfield will be composed of Francis "Mike" Hanrahan, Jim Connors, Johnny Verducci and Les Mullins.

Walt Boitano, a sensation last season will no doubt see some action. Leg injuries have kept Walt out of the lineup thus far this season.

RAMblings

By Dick Simpers

Orchids For Mike Hanrahan Blocker De Luxe; Letter Society Lauded For Work

Since everyone is patting everyone else on the back about the outcome of last week's election, there's no sense our starting to shovel out compliments; we would, however, like to commend all members of the Block Society, who covered more precincts than any other organization, and covered them well. For an organization that was almost defunct a year ago, the society has been doing pretty well for itself this semester. Keep up the good work, men.

The Thankless Job

On almost every football squad there is one player who never does come in for his just share of applause, although, in reality, he may be the mainstay of the team. One such under-publicized fellow, we believe, is Mike Hanrahan. Although not a particularly flashy player, Mike never yet failed to turn in a smashing performance on both defense and offense.

Besides being a clever ball-carrier, he stands out in a department where ability really counts for plenty, that of blocking. When he hits a man, that man stays hit; on one play in the Placer game he took out two of the opposition, and in subsequent games he has consistently cleared the path for his running backs. Blocking is usually rather a thankless job, but its importance cannot be overestimated; without blockers, the fastest back on earth would never get to the line of scrimmage.

• • • • •

The soccer folks seem to be in for a busy season, being entered in two separate conferences, and in the thick of the fight in each. Despite the loss of several of his best men, Coach Tom Wilson is still in hopes that his ankle-maulers will repeat last year's performance and retain that shiny trophy now in their possession.

Getting Around

Around and about: Russ Sweet boasts of the two slickest water-boys in the conference in Mick Berman and Frank Nilan . . . both are seasoned veterans . . . It is rumored that Paul Fechtner is a javelin prospect for next spring . . . we understand he can sling it further than anyone in the school . . . Mel Peterson is reported to be a multiplication expert . . . The City Hall looked like a junior college classroom last Friday . . . about half the males in the college were seen trying to pass the civil service test for policemen . . . McGovern looked like a cinch until he dropped one of the dumb-bells on the sergeant's foot . . . Since "Red" Burrowes mended his cords last week, a tape shortage has been reported from the gym . . . Fex says he's first string again . . . The squad lost its best linesman when Tom Burke quit . . . On the Lambs, Davies and Alco look like real varsity material . . . Ed Amark is the big gun of the tennis team . . . Slattery asks why Fischer is like a turkey . . . we dunno.

LEARN "CONTRACT BRIDGE" . . .
— A Social Necessity —
Beginners class opens Monday Evening, October 10, 7:30-9:00
NORTHERN CALIFORNIA BRIDGE STUDIO
530 MASON STREET near Sutter
ARTHUR WATERMAN, Culbertson Associate SUtter 9558

Club Slants . . . Advisory Board Meets Thursday

Club Advisory Board . . . will meet a week from tomorrow at Powell Street . . . Room 206 . . . 12 o'clock. John Julius, president of the board, urges all club presidents to have a representative at each meeting as different things arise and if the group wishes to vote on it, it is necessary that a representative be present.

• • •

Chess Club . . . will meet Friday night at the home of Henry J. Ralston, sponsor of the group . . . The address will be posted on the bulletin board at the Powell Street building. Everyone is invited to join the Chess Club and the members will assist in teaching those who are not adept in the game.

• • •

Camera Club . . . San Galstaun, president, requests that all those interested in photography attend one of the two meetings to be held next Monday at 3:30 and Tuesday at 2:30 at Galileo.

• • •

Peace Society . . . Collective action against aggressor nations will be the topic of discussion at the next meeting of the Peace Society at the home of Ruth Healy, 1164 Filbert Street, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Robert Forster, president announced, "Because of the intensely serious menace to world peace precipitated by certain fascistic nations of Europe, it was decided to postpone discussion of the O'Connell Peace Amendment and to deal with the immediate situation which confronts us."

Barry Leach and Margo Skinner will lead the discussion which will center around the Czecho-Slovakian crisis. Leach will support the policy of concerted action by democratic nations to aid countries which are invaded by aggressor nations. Miss Skinner will speak against the policy.

• • •

Economic Arts . . . met last Friday and elected Tecla Regoli, president; Dixie McCormick, vice president; Helen Hickey, secretary, and Violet Burgess, treasurer. It was decided that a barbecue be given at Sigmund Stern Grove, October 11.

Seventeen members are now enrolled in the club and all new home economics majors are urged to join. Members of the social committee will be introduced at the meeting today, 2:15, in Room 317.

• • •

Pick and Hammer . . . plans for a dinner meeting tonight were announced by President Delmont Dunann. Members of the club will meet at the Shanghai Low Restaurant at 6 p.m. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss plans for future field trips and excursions. Also in attendance will be George Green, sponsor of the group.

• • •

Italian Club . . . members will be the guests of honor at a banquet to be given for them by the Italian Family Club at its club house on Friday night, October 14.

Newly elected president, Robert Ridolfi, has called a meeting of the club for Friday, October 7. He urges all students interested in Italian art, literature, or customs to come to the meeting and join the group.

• • •

French Club . . . this Friday night the members of the French Club will go ice skating and afterwards have a weenie roast, announced Helen Garbe, president. "All those who wish to attend must see either Helen Garbe, Jean Miller, Herb Crow, or Irene Varguin by Thursday. It will cost each person twenty-five cents. Members are invited to bring their guests if they wish to do so."

Those who are planning to go will meet at eight o'clock in front of the San Francisco Ice Rink.

• • •

Arrangements for next Saturday night's weenie bake at Lands End will be completed at the meeting of the Japanese Club . . . 8 p.m. . . . next Friday, October 7, at 1316 Post Street.

Main feature of the bake will be amateur night, with prizes for the winners, according to Kiyoshi Kimoto, general arrangements chairman. "I certainly hope there will be a clear sky," he said because there is to be a full moon that night, and we have some romantic 'moon-songs' to sing underneath it," said Kimoto.

• • •

Der Deutcher Verein . . . held its first meeting at the home of Annemarie Delfs, adviser. The activities of the group in the future were the chief topics of discussion . . . Discussions in the foreign languages will be held so that the members will have a chance to use the knowledge which they derived from their various German classes," said Miss Delfs. The time and place of future meetings will be decided upon at each meeting of the group.

ELECTION AMUSING IN RETROSPECT; MANY JOLLY OCCURRENCES RECALLED BY OBSERVING REPORTER

Now that the election is safely won for our side, it's nice to sit back and muse over the various pathetic, humorous and funny incidents which occurred during those long hours in which students passed out cards before the polls.

As a friend of ours would say, "You were perfectly peachy personalities peddling pecks of propositional propaganda to pupils' parents, prominent pollcement, and phony politicians to permanently predispose passing promoters."

Did you hear about the student who handed a card to a man outside of a voting place? When the gentleman replied that he had already voted, the student demanded back the card. Real economy, that. The man happened to be Richard Doyle, president of the Board of Education.

Perhaps you've heard about the student who handed a woman a card, only to have her drop a full milk bottle in the act. Probably one vote we didn't get.

The best story is the one of the student who handed a card to President Archibald Cloud. Knowing it was he, and was deliberately led into an argument over the election issue. What a burn-up for that student.

After the election we heard one co-ed say that she'd like to go up to each of the 40,000 odd people who didn't vote "yes" on No. 4 and to find out why they didn't. Who cares about them? There are lots of ornery people in this world.

Some students really put in a hard day's labor, but rather than single out a few we won't mention any names. Everyone did a swell job in letting San Francisco know of our need.

Why don't you shake your own hand? You deserve to; you've earned it . . . the privilege, not the hand.

WOMEN TO TAKE POSTURE TESTS THIS WEEK AT GALILEO; DON'T SLOUCH!

Posture tests will be conducted this week and next at Galileo High School for all women enrolled in freshman activities classes. Regular class meetings will be held and roll call will be taken as usual, but one gym will be devoted to the tests and the other to classes. Part of the department guidance program, this is the fourth semester during which the series of tests has been given.

"The project is being given earlier this semester so we will have more time to devote to it," Laurine Bergin, chairman of the undertaking, announced. "At the end of the test-period each woman will have a conference with her instructor, and will then discover her faults and how to correct them," she continued. "There are ten tests in the series and each will be analyzed, giving the student a sure picture of how she appears to other people. The test will be rated, not graded, and has nothing to do with the final grade."

Physical Education Majors have been asked to assist in the actual giving of the tests, along with the four instructors and Dr. Potter. On the last day of the tests, the instructors will explain the common defects discovered and the best exercises to correct them. Students will then give advice as to the best activities to take next semester, and recommend exercises for home practice.

Bertha Keller, instructor, explained that if a visitor should enter the gym and find a co-ed seriously supporting her weight by hanging from the stall bars, don't be surprised. She will only be correcting her spinal curve, a common defect in college women. Hunched shoulders and lop-sidedness are caused by continual writing on the one armed desks, by carrying books in the same arm, and standing on one foot.

Names of the tests are as follows: Posture Silhouette, Footprints on the Sands of Time, Pedal Tarzans, Plumb Line Test, Pass for Speed and Accuracy—Lo You're a Dead-eye, A Lady Moves with Ease and Grace, Know She Sits!, Up and Down—She descended the stairs like a welcome zephyr (or heifer?), and Housewives' Daily Dozen.

The feats required are jumping over, then under a rope, in and around stools, the changing of various positions to different positions, and a number of other obstacles, all of which is timed. The co-ed must then climb stairs until the instructors are satisfied, have her foot print taken, her silhouette reflected, lift weights, stand straight by a plumb line, and various other unmentionable. But, as former freshmen have agreed, it is for the students' own good.

Alpha Gamma Sigma . . . has not held any meetings this semester because students eligible for membership in the honor society have not filled out blanks. Students are urged to get in touch with Alice Cooper, faculty adviser, or Phyllis Leonard, president, this month.

• • •

Phi Rho Pi . . . participated in its first debate of the fall semester yesterday afternoon in room 462, at the Galileo building. The rival was San Francisco State College, and the subject was the $30 Weekly Pension Plan. The Ram debaters were John Ellis and Russell Henry.

• • •

Radio Engineers . . . reorganization was foremost in the plans of the Radio Engineers last week. The drawing up and discussion of a constitution for the club occupied the members' attention on Thursday and Friday, according to Vincent Sherman, publicity agent for the group.

At the Society's meeting on Wednesday night, held at the home of the club sponsor, L. M. Hollingsworth, Radio Engineering instructor of the college, the personal thanks of Paul Pitman, assistant to President Cloud, were expressed by the club president, Barney Viner, for the aid given by the Engineers in putting over Bond Issue No. 4 on September 27.

• • •

Music Club . . . under its faculty adviser, Flossita Badger, announced that numerous activities are listed on the social calendar of affairs for the fall semesters.

"A Hallowe'en party is planned for the end of the month," said Bob Scott, president. "The club is planning during the festival season, to give a Christmas concert."

Arnold Chapin, vice president, is program manager and arranges diverse and interesting programs for each meeting. The group will meet next Wednesday evening, October 12.

• • •

Physical Education Major Club . . . to launch its first outdoor activity of the semester with a barbecue October 20, at Sigmund Stern Grove, announced Virginia Hein, president of the club.

The barbecue will honor alumni women of the college now attending the University of California . . . Verrel Weber will be guest of honor.

• • •

Pi Mu Gamma Gamma . . . premedical society, attended the Symposium of the Affiliated Chiropractors of California Incorporated. Sound pictures on the digestive and nervous system were shown.

Harold Hoffman, president of the Employment Agency For Graduates Started By Hotel Management Division

Endeavoring to keep in touch with graduates of the division, the Hotel and Restaurant Society has installed an employment agency for its graduates. The agency, soon to be established, will consider the applicant's problem, and through its excellent contacts with the leading hotels and restaurants in this city will seek a job suiting the applicant. In this way, the society intends to keep in touch with its members no matter how long they have been graduated from the division.

"We have organized this agency under a revision of the group's constitution," said Clark Chittick, vice-president of the organization. "Besides the employment feature, we have guaranteed the alumni more freedom in the organization than they previously enjoyed."

The organization thus hopes successfully to keep its members many years after they have graduated from the college.

BUDGET

(Continued from page 1)

It also includes the new suits which the team is sporting this season.

The original WAA budget was not granted, as certain supplies which were included in the requested budget will be supplied by the Board of Education.

Estimation of the income was based on the income of previous semesters and the percentage guarantee of the gate receipts made to the college by the opponents of the football squad.

• • •

club announced the next meeting will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Helen Galli, 2263-27th Avenue. Dr. Karl Koeper will speak on Diseases of the Kidneys.

• • •

All the De Molays, Rainbow Girls, and Jobs Daughters and anyone whose parents belong to any of the Masonic Lodges or to the Eastern Star are eligible to join the Junior Masonic Club this Friday at 2 p.m. in 203 at Galileo. This club will be similar to the University Chapter at California, according to Gordon Sollman and Frank Hospodarsky, who have charge of organizing the club.

Store Strike Debate Features Omicron Phi Pi Meeting Friday Nite

Presenting both sides of the San Francisco department store strike, Margo Skinner and Edwin Cassady will feature Friday evening's meeting of the Omicron Phi Pi, college economics honor society at Dr. Michael Zarchin's home, faculty sponsor of the organization, announced President Charles Vaughn.

"Upholding the cause of approximately 4000 retail store clerks, Margo Skinner will give the employees' viewpoint, followed by Edwin Cassady's talk in defense of the 35 major department stores," declared Vaughn.

Following the speeches members of the society will participate in a lively round-table discussion, Vaughn said.

One of the aims of the Omicron Phi Pi this term is to increase membership in the organization. Albert Graves, publicity director, disclosed.

"The first step in the drive will be to make it easier for students of the college to meet the requirements for admission to the society," he said.

"In the past students wishing to join the organization must have completed six units of economics with a grade average of 'B' or better. Many of the economic courses are not offered to freshmen students and thus it has been almost impossible for a student to gain admission to the group until he is in his sophomore year.

"The plan recently adopted and now in effect," Graves said, "will allow students who have completed three units of economics and three units of any other social science with 'B' averages to become candidates for admission into the society.

"Included in the new plan," he added, "are all courses numbered above 50 and which have been completed with a grade of 'A.' These courses will be subject to approval by the executive committee."

11 Students Respond To Waite's Appeal For Talent; More Try-Outs Today

Because Galileo students were using the auditorium at the same time that Hugh Waite was holding his talent tryouts, such confusion resulted that Waite and the entertainers were forced to abandon the auditorium for the Little Theater.

Consequently, several aspirants could not locate Waite and missed the tryouts, therefore making it necessary to hold another tryout today at 2:05 o'clock in the Galileo auditorium.

Those students who have already tried out are not required to reappear, but Waite is looking forward to a much larger turnout than was had in the first tryout.

"Come on out, and make an attempt at it if you possess any talent," Waite announced. "I know there is more talent in this college than those who came out for the first tryout."

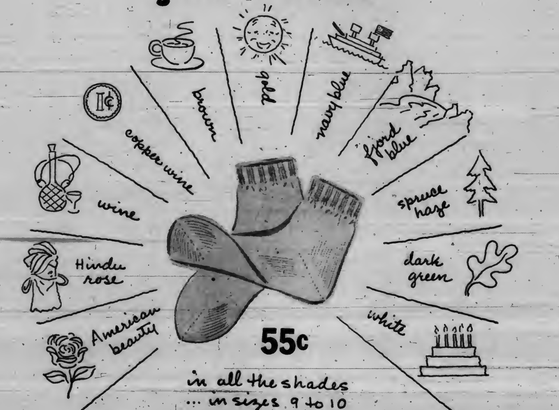
Those who tried out are: Herbert Lear, Ray Sherman, Seymour Mouber, Bob Kahn, Mark Hoffman, Marion MacKillop, Lucille Wills, Ralph Roller, Bill Franklin, Jeri Thane, and Eddie Baes.

Waite hopes to add many more names to his list after today's tryouts.

Hotel Proprietor—Do you want the porter to call you?

Guest—No thanks, I awaken every morning at seven?

Prop.—Then would you mind calling the porter?



—Painter & Decorator.

Wednesday, November 19 is the date set for the society's semi-annual dinner, according to President Vaughn. Plans for entertainment at the banquet, which will include speeches and stunts by members will be discussed at the meeting Friday evening, said Vaughn.

ROOS SHOP

AROUND THE COLOR WHEEL WITH

"jan socks"

55c

in all the shades
... in sizes 9 to 10

Roos Bros

MARKET AT STOCKTON

Sacramento Trip Oct 22; Ram Special Leaves Early

The mob of Ram rooters accompanying the football team to Sacramento on the second annual rall excursion two weeks hence will have two more hours to revel, it was announced several days ago by Jack Schmale and Hughie Waite, in charge of arrangements for the trip.

Athletic officials were notified last week that the Ram vs. Panther conference tussle was moved ahead one day, from Friday, October 21 to Saturday night, October 22. In accordance, plans for the trip were immediately changed.

Instead of leaving from the Ferry Building at 4 o'clock, as planned originally, the Ram Special will leave the Oakland Mole on arrival of the 2 o'clock boat from the Ferry. The train arrives in Sacramento at 4:20 p.m.

The travelers will have three and a half hours of leisure time in the valley town, during which an anticipated 400 dinners will be devoured. For the sum of seven cents a street car will bear you half way to the Sacramento Municipal Stadium, where a free transfer entitles its holder to transportation on a bus for the other half of the trek.

After the game special buses will be waiting outside the stadium, and for another seven cents the return trip to downtown Sacramento is guaranteed. Another free hour between 10:30 and 11:30, and proceed to Sacramento shortly before midnight. Arrival home is set for around 2 o'clock.

The train will stop at Oakland and Berkeley to entrain and detrain east-bay students, although no reduction in the rate is offered the Oaklanders or Berkeleyites.

This jaunt will surpass last year's successful excursion by far, according to Waite and Schmale. Besides the dance car which proved so popular last year, an observation-lounge car has been obtained, in addition to seven standard coaches, and more if needed. The rear platform of the observation car will bear the train insignia: "S.F.J.C. 'Ram Football Special'".

Tickets will be out this week, selling at the rate of $1.80 round trip. Schmale and Waite plan making reservations immediately, charging a 25 cent deposit.

"At least 200 tickets must be sold before Wednesday, October 19, in order to obtain the train," Schmale said, "make your reservations early and invade Sacramento in 'big time' style with the football team!"

everything possible to find them Jobs."

Pay checks for the first pay period have already been mailed. The next pay period ends October 17.

Library Service Started To Acquaint Students With Research Facilities

Editor's note:

Inaugurating a new library service through the suggestion of Francis Colligan, college librarian, this column appears for the purpose of acquainting the students with library facilities in connection with current events, plays, motion pictures, books, and the musical world.

According to Colligan, "each week a list of helpful references will be compiled by Ruth Brogger of the college library service. It is hoped that the students will take advantage of this opportunity to acquaint themselves better with the conditions surrounding them."

Those persons who saw the motion picture Drums, might be interested in knowing some of the background surrounding the story. This information may be obtained in the book by N. D. Harris, Europe and the East. Further information can be found in the January, 1938 issue of the magazine Foreign Affairs under the title "Unity of India."

Two articles appearing in the Summer 1938 edition of the Yale Review concerning the Czecho - Slovakian crisis are also available for everyone interested. They are entitled If World War Comes Again by Leon Trotsky, and When German Dreams Come True by W. L. Langar.

Considerable material on other events occurring currently is also available.

NYA Positions Gradually Decreasing Waiting-List Redford Announces

Edward H. Redford, director of the National Youth Administration, announced that jobs are gradually being found for NYA students, and that the waiting list has decreased considerably.

Redford said, "those students who have not yet been put to work should not give up hope since we are doing only to have her drop a full milk bottle in the act. Probably one vote we didn't get.

The best story is the one of the student who handed a card to President Archibald Cloud. Knowing it was he, and was deliberately led into an argument over the election issue. What a burn-up for that student.

After the election we heard one co-ed say that she'd like to go up to each of the 40,000 odd people who didn't vote "yes" on No. 4 and to find out why they didn't. Who cares about them? There are lots of ornery people in this world.

Some students really put in a hard day's labor, but rather than single out a few we won't mention any names. Everyone did a swell job in letting San Francisco know of our need.

Why don't you shake your own hand? You deserve to; you've earned it . . . the privilege, not the hand.

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

The Guardsman

SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1938 No. 8

On To Sacramento! Buy Your Ticket Now For Excursion

College Navy Day Radio Program KYA 8:45 P.M., Oct. 25

Waite Rewards Students With Rally Tomorrow

Wolohan's Band Will Appear At Pep Meeting For Sacramento Trip; 'Amateur' Benny Walker Invited

As a reward for the excellent spirit shown at the San Mateo game, Hugh Waite, head yell leader, has slated a rally for tomorrow afternoon "to uphuild school spirit and to put the student body in the proper frame of mind for the Ram invasion of Sacramento." Scheduled for 2 o'clock tomorrow in the Galileo Auditorium, Waite has secured talent from particularly gifted personages.

Highlighting what he announces as one of the best rallies of the semester will be the appearance of Wolohan's Orchestra, well known local swingsters. Members of this band will furnish the entire music for the rally.

Hoping further to enlarge upon the spirit that students have already shown in small quantities at recent games, Waite and members of his committee will distribute sheets of new novelty yells which he intends introducing at this rally.

Benny Walker Invited

At the time of the writing, Waite was negotiating with Benny Walker, local radio personality to appear at the rally. If Waite is successful in securing his services for the rally, Walker may appear with several of his amateurs.

Commenting on the excellent play of the varsity team during the San Mateo game will be Coach Russ Sweet, who will discuss possibilities for a Ram victory over the Panthers of Sacramento. Mel Peterson, capable captain of the Rams, will briefly elaborate on the fate of the Panthers after his team meets up with them.

Talent Hunt Produces

If time permits, Waite will produce more talent derived from his recent talent hunt. Tap dance and harmonica acts will be presented which are guaranteed to be as excellent as was the college talent during the last rally.

Waite really desires to have a large turnout for this rally, as he wants to send the "Ram Special" on its invasion of Sacramento with a proper send-off from the students who are not able to journey to Sacramento with the team this Saturday.

Youth Survey Reveals One Fourth Lack High School Education

For every college student of the present generation, there's a young man or woman in the "outside" world who hasn't finished high school, the Federal Youth Survey announced last week.

From preliminary findings of a survey, which, when completed, will include 8,000 San Francisco youths aged 18 to 24, Philip C. Davis, director of the San Francisco office of the national survey, announced:

Half of the "depression children" of San Francisco had the standard twelve-year education offered by the state.

One quarter had at least one year of college or junior college.

One quarter failed to finish high school.

Those included in the survey are the grammar school graduates of 1929, 1931 and 1933. The survey is recording their experiences in achieving educations and finding jobs.

Those who drop out of school are likely never to return, the survey found. Only one-sixth of those who left school prematurely — whether high school or college—ever returned again.

Badger Recital Slated Tomorrow Afternoon

Flossita Badger, instructor, will give a voice recital to her solo voice class tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock in the Powell Street lecture hall. The recital is open to any student of the college.

Miss Badger, who has had concert hall experience, will sing from her repertoire of music by Bach, Strauss, Wagner, Dubussy, and modern American composers. She will be accompanied by Gladys Steele at the piano.

Students desiring to attend the recital are requested by Miss Badger to make arrangements immediately in order that adequate accommodations may be made.

Social Committee Sets Date For Low Sophomore Dance; Scene Undecided

Following the debate of possible evenings for the Low Sophomore dance, the Social Committee late last week decided on November 5 as the date, Chairman Barbara Randall announced.

Negotiations are pending for a place to hold the dance but it will be either on Treasure Island or in the St. Francis Hotel, according to the committee's report.

"The low-sophomore dance," declared Miss Randall, "was originally scheduled for October 28, but as the athletic department also decided on that date for the game with San Francisco State College, the Social Committee was compelled to rearrange its calendar.

"Friday, November 11, seemed to be the only alternative date, but the Social Committee had already approved it for the Block SF Society dance, so that was out of the question," Miss Randall said.

JUNIOR COLLEGE INSTRUCTORS TO MEET AT STANFORD; ADDRESS, LUNCHEON INCLUDED IN PROGRAM

Saturday, November 5 Fall meeting of the Northern California Junior College Association will be held at Stanford University in the auditorium of the Education Building, according to Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar.

Registration at 9 o'clock will open the morning program. Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford University, will greet the members. An address will be given concerning the place of the junior college in relation to higher than junior college education, technical training, business and trade, general education for social intelligence, community life, and adult education.

Dr. Dwayne Orton, principal of the Stockton Junior College will present a topic, in which the audience will participate under the leadership of Harry Tyler of Sacramento Junior College.

The luncheon program will be held in the main dining hall of the Stanford Union with Dr. Grayson Kefauver presiding. Music from Frederic Roehr, instructor in music of San Mateo Junior College, will accompany the luncheon.

Dr. George W. Dowrie of Stanford University will conclude the program with an address on private enterprise in the future.

ROOTERS INVADE CAPITOL

WAA PLAYDAY AT SAN JOSE STATE SCHEDULED SATURDAY, OCTOBER 22

Ready to participate in the first event of their social calendar, members of the Women's Athletic Association will travel to San Jose State College next Saturday, October 22 to attend a playday. All members of the Association and women interested in sports are urged to go. A notice of the event is posted on the bulletin board at Powell Street and contains a list of names of the women intending to visit the southern college.

It is hoped that transportation facilities will be provided in the form of a truck, which will cut the cost of transportation in half, according to Margaret Park, WAA president. If the truck is not obtainable, either a bus or several cars will be on hand to carry the members down the peninsula.

The price for lunch will be 35 cents. Further details about the excursion will be posted on the bulletin board.

Starting at 10 a.m. the local co-eds will demonstrate their athletic powers until lunch time, and resume competitions again after satisfying their hunger. The association is sending six teams to the rival campus. They are hockey, singles and doubles tennis, golf, badminton, archery and volleyball. Later in the day the women will swim.

Banquet Tomorrow

A banquet sponsored by the Physical Education Majors Club, will be held at Sigmund Stern Recreation Grove, 19th Avenue and Sloat Boulevard, tomorrow night. Forty members now attending the University of California will attend the affair.

Junior College Friends Meet Thursday Night

Group Will Convene At Powell Street; San Franciscans Invited

Parents are urged to join the Friends of San Francisco Junior College, an organization composed of faculty members, parents, and prominent citizens of the city who are interested in the college. The organization meets for the first time tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Powell Street lecture hall.

President pro-tem is Dr. Joseph Williams. He was elected last semester when the association was organized. At present there are about 25 members, college administration officers, faculty, and certain interested parties and friends who have helped with the recent bond campaign.

The association is affiliated with the California PTA, but it is not in itself, a PTA chapter. The San Francisco president of the PTA, Mrs. Joseph Garry, is a member of the association and has been one of its most active members.

"Mrs. Garry has been an invaluable aid in helping the establishment of our college in Balboa Park. She is a staunch friend of the college and her assistance in the bond issue work was one of the factors that insured its success," said Paul Pitman, assistant to President Cloud.

"About the organization of this association it will be more inclusive than a parent-teachers association. It will contain a third section, a group of San Franciscans who are, and have been interested in hastening the erection of our permanent buildings. These people are interested in the college from a standpoint of desiring to assist the students in their prospective vocations and from a standpoint of helping us, as a new institution, to get on our feet," Pitman continued.

"We are issuing a general call to the parents of our students to attend the meeting in order that they may be better acquainted with the problems of the college and with the friends of the college," Pitman concluded.

President Cloud has a program featuring the heads of the various departments in the college as speakers. There will be a discussion of names for the organization as the present name is only temporary. By-laws for the group will also be discussed.

EX-COUNCIL APPROVES ADDITIONAL AMS SUM FOR DANCE EXPENSES

At a meeting of the Associated Students' Executive Council held last week at Galileo, final approval was given to the budget of the Associated Men's Students calling for an additional $150 to cover expenses of a dance to be given by the organization. The total sum now alloted to the AMS is $302.60.

Fifty dollars was also voted to the Alumni Association for the continuation of its work. The council felt that the post graduate friendship of the students should be encouraged and therefore approved the allotment as a worthy one.

The $200 which was added to the expense account was balanced by adding the same sum to the expected football income bringing that amount to $2100.00, thereby balancing the student body budget.

It was recommended by the Council that a letter of good will and friendship be sent to Urban Mason, injured college gridder, enjoining his speedy recovery and return to college activities.

A small sum was also appropriated by the Council for a suitable gift for Mason, which will be presented to him in the near future.

Golden Gate Exposition Essay Contest Outlined; Scripbooks, Cash Prizes

Students of California in Junior High Schols, Senior High Schols and Junior Colleges are invited to participate in a statewide essay contest sponsored by the Women's Board, Golden Gate International Exposition Contest Committee.

The essays, not to exceed 1000 words are to be written on the general subject heading of contributions of pacific cultures and resources to contemporary civilization. Any topic under the general heading, discussing some notable contribution from the Pacific Area to world civilization, may be chosen.

San Francisco Junior College students may compete for two prizes, a county prize of a scrip book of admissions to the Exposition, and a state cash prize of 25 dollars. Students of the college may submit essays to one of the following instructors: Miriam Gatley, Joseph Williams, or Robert Parker. Any additional information regarding subjects may be secured from them.

Entries of the essays must be completed by midnight, Thursday, December 1, 1938.

FORTY ACRES OF BEAUTIFUL BALBOA WILL BE OCCUPIED BY COLLEGE

Work At Site Scheduled To Be Resumed Soon

Balboa Park, the sweeping expanse of terrain pictures at the left, will soon become the scene of activity as work gets under way on the junior college plant to be erected on this site.

Now definitely assured of completion by the passage of the School Bond issue and the guarantee of federal aid on the project, the first unit of the plant will be under construction by the end of this year. Occupation of the new site by students is slated for next fall, when enough facilities will have been completed to accommodate them.

The first building, for which foundation work has already been completed, will be the science building, containing class rooms, lecture halls, and laboratories. Since so much work has been done on this unit, it will be ready to house students before the rest of the plant is finished, and it is planned to occupy it while waiting for the other units to reach completion.

The two gymnasiums, construction of which was insured in the recent election, will not be ready for use as soon as the plant is occupied, but will be finished shortly after the first building. Athletic fields, however, will be at the disposal of physical education classes from the outset.

Work will commence as soon as the bids of the contractors have been called in and one of them accepted.

Local Contingent Journeys To Sacramento For Grid Classic

Ram Special Leaves Ferry Building Early Saturday Afternoon; Padded Jive-Car For College Jitterbugs

Along about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, San Francisco's picturesque Ferry Building will swallow over 300 lads and lassies of the Ram banner, who'll be waving and wheeling their way to Sacramento and the conference football tilt aboard the famed Ram Special, the mile-a-minute luxury rattler.

With dinner money in their jeans and purses, a dollar and eighty cents worth of transportation in their hands and tremendous voice-power packed potentially in their throats, the 300 will unleash 600 dance crazed feet in a mad rush for the bulging dancing car, which will allow those fortunate enough to pierce its select portals to trip the light fantastic as the special roars past Richmond, Fairfield, Davis, West Sacramento and way points.

As a second choice, for those sophisticated souls who are bored with jitterbugs, trotting foxes and the like, a comfortable observation-lounge car will adorn the rear of the train, with the "big time" marking drum tacked on the back of the rear platform bearing the insignia: "Southern Pacific S. F. J. C. Ram Special".

Bizzer, Better Pians

"Bigger and better than last year," is the co-cry of Jack Schmale and Hughie Waite, who are running the show in conjunction with Barney Viner, S. P. Passenger Agent. "We know all those who made the trip last year will be back with us again," was their statement.

Besides the great number of students now enrolled in the college, many members of the alumni will join the party this time. The Southern Pacific mailed 500 letters to former students about the trip last week.

Leave Oakland Mole

The train will leave from the Oakland mole on arrival of the 2 o'clock boat from San Francisco, and stop at the Sixteenth Station (16th St.) at 2:30, and also halts at Berkeley at 2:35. It arrives in Sacramento at 4:20, to await departure again around midnight.

In Sacramento, the party will have more than three hours of leisure time. After dinner a street car line will take the visitors to the stadium for seven cents. Game time is 8 o'clock, and it is advisable to leave down town Sacramento no later than 7:30 to be on hand for the kickoff.

11:45 Departure

Following the game, either street cars or buses will be available for the return trip to town, with again about an hour of spare time before the train wheels away. Although the exact time of departure was not known as we went to press, all students should be at the Southern Pacific station no later than 11:45 o'clock.

Arrival back in San Francisco will be around 2:30 a.m. with the stop at Berkeley somewhere near 1:45 and Oakland five minutes later.

In response to many inquiries, it might be stated that there will be at least seven cars, or at any rate, sufficient room to accommodate everyone. If necessary, the train can carry 14 or 15 coaches, and the cars will be added as needed.

Redford, Amori Appointed Editors of Educational Publications

Edward H. Redford was appointed editor of the California Journal of Secondary Education last week at the School Superintendents' convention at Pasadena.

Redford was appointed to fill the vacancy left by the death of its former editor. However, he was editor of the Journal last year for a period of several months. Redford will also edit the California School Directory which has a circulation of more than three thousand.

The Journal is the official publication of the California Society of Secondary Education of which Frederick A. J. Cloud is one of the founders.

Joseph A. Amori, hygiene and business instructor, was appointed editor of the Lambda Chapter News Letter, last week. The Lambda chapter is the bay region division of the Phi Beta Kappa, educational honor society.

Amori received the news of his appointment in a letter from Arthur P. Selleck, principal of Richmond High School, president of the chapter. The editorship of the chapter paper is a newly created office.

Army-Navy Club Assembly Planned October 26

Celebrating Navy Day and at the same time feting the birthday of former president, Theodore Roosevelt, one time Assistant Secretary of the Navy, the Army and Navy Club will hold an assembly on Wednesday, October 26.

Pastures of the rally will be speeches by prominent naval authorities and members of the group. Commander F. G. Marsh, co-sponsor of the organization has made arrangements to have a speaker from the 12th Naval District address the rally.

Initiation of four new members and discussion of two trips to Sunnyvale and Mare Island will be the main theme of the group's next meeting.

CIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

Guardsman

FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

W.DNESDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1938 No. 8

College Navy Day Radio Program KYA 8:45 P.M., Oct. 25

ROOTERS INVADE CAPITOL

PLAYDAY AT SAN STATE SCHEDULED RDAY, OCTOBER 22

Junior College Friends Meet Thursday Night

W.ll Convene ... Street; San ... ns Invited

o join the Junior Col- omposed of and promi- who are in- he organiza- ne tomorrow Powell Street

Dr. Joseph l last semes- was organ- re about 25 stration offi- an interested have helped npaign tiliated with t it is not in he San Fran- PTA Mrs mber of the n one of its n an invalu- establishment Park. She is e college and d issue work. p at resented ...

on of this as- ore inclusive ssociation ction, a group are and have ing the erec- ... buildings ...sted in the ... of desiring ... their pros- ... om a stand- ... new institu- Pitman con-general call to ...ents to attend ... they may be the problems the friend of ...cluded program fea- he various de- ...as speakers ...on of names the present ...x By-law for d. cussed

...O MEET AT STANFORD ...IN PROGRAM

EX-COUNCIL APPROVES ADDITIONAL AMS SUM FOR DANCE EXPENSES

At a meeting of the Associated Students' Executive Council held last week at Galileo, final approval was given to the budget of the Associated Men's Students calling for an additional $150 to cover expenses of a dance to be given by the organization. The total sum now alloted to the AMS is $302.60.

Fifty dollars was also voted to the Alumni Association for the continuation of its work. The council felt that the post graduate friendship of the students should be encouraged and therefore approved the allotment as a worthy one.

The $200 which was added to the expense account was balanced by adding the same sum to the expected football income bringing that amount to $2100.00, thereby balancing the student body budget.

It was recommended by the Council that a letter of good will and friendship be sent to Urban Mason, injured college gridder, enjoining his speedy recovery and return to college activities.

A small sum was also appropriated by the Council for a suitable gift for Mason which will be presented to him in the near future.

Golden Gate Exposition Essay Contest Outlined; Scripbooks, Cash Prizes

Students of California in Junior High Schols, Senior High Schols and Junior Colleges are invited to participate in a statewide essay contest sponsored by the Women's Board, Golden Gate International Exposition Contest Committee.

The essays, not to exceed 1000 words, are to be written on the general subject heading of contributions of pacific culture and resources to contemporary civilization. Any topic under the general heading, discussing some notable contribution from the Pacific Area to world civilization, may be chosen.

San Francisco Junior College students may compete for two prizes, a county prize of a scrip book of admissions to the Exposition, and a state cash prize of 25 dollars. Students of the college may submit essays to one of the following instructors: Miriam Gatley, Joseph Williams, or Robert Parker. Any additional information regarding subjects may be secured from them.

Entries of the essays must be completed by midnight, Thursday, December 1, 1938.

Local Contingent Journeys To Sacramento For Grid Classic

Ram Special Leaves Ferry Building Early Saturday Afternoon; Padded Jive-Car For College Jitterbugs

Along about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, San Francisco's picturesque Ferry Building will swallow over 300 lads and lassies of the Ram banner, who'll be waving and wheeling their way to Sacramento and the conference football tilt aboard the famed Ram Special, the mile-a-minute luxury rattler.

With dinner money in their jeans and purses, a dollar and eighty cents worth of transportation in their hands and tremendous volume packed potentially in their throats, the 300 will unleash 600 dance crazed feet in a mad rush for the bulging dancing car, which will allow those fortunate enough to pierce its select portals to trip the light fantastic as the special roars past Richmond, Fairfield, Davis, West Sacramento and way points.

As a second choice, for those sophisticated souls who are bored with jitterbugs, trotting foxes and the like, a comfortable observation-lounge car will adorn the rear of the train, with the "big time"-marking drum tacked on the back of the rear platform bearing the insignia, "Southern Pacific S. F. J. C. Ram Special".

Bigger, Better Plans

"Bigger and better than last year," is the co-cry of Jack Schmale and Hughie Waite, who are running the excursion in conjunction with Barney Harvey, S. P. Passenger Agent. "We know all those who made the trip last year will be back with us again," was their statement.

Besides the great number of students now enrolled in the college, many members of the alumni will join the party this time. The Southern Pacific mailed 500 letters to former students about the trip last week.

Leave Oakland Mole

The train will leave from the Oakland mole on arrival of the 2 o'clock boat from San Francisco, and stop at Oakland Station (16th St.) at 2:30, and also halts at Berkeley at 2:35. It arrives in Sacramento at 4:20, to await departure again around midnight.

In Sacramento, the party will have more than three hours of leisure time. After dinner a street car line will take the visitors to the stadium for seven cents. Game time is 8 o'clock, and it is advisable to leave down town Sacramento no later than 7:30 to be on hand for the kickoff.

11:45 Departure

Following the game, either street cars or buses will be available for the return trip to town, with again about an hour of spare time before the train wheels away. Although the exact time of departure was not known as we went to press, all students should be at the Southern Pacific station no later than 11:45 o'clock.

Arrival back in San Francisco will be around 2:30 a.m. with the stop at Berkeley somewhere near 1:45 and Oakland five minutes later.

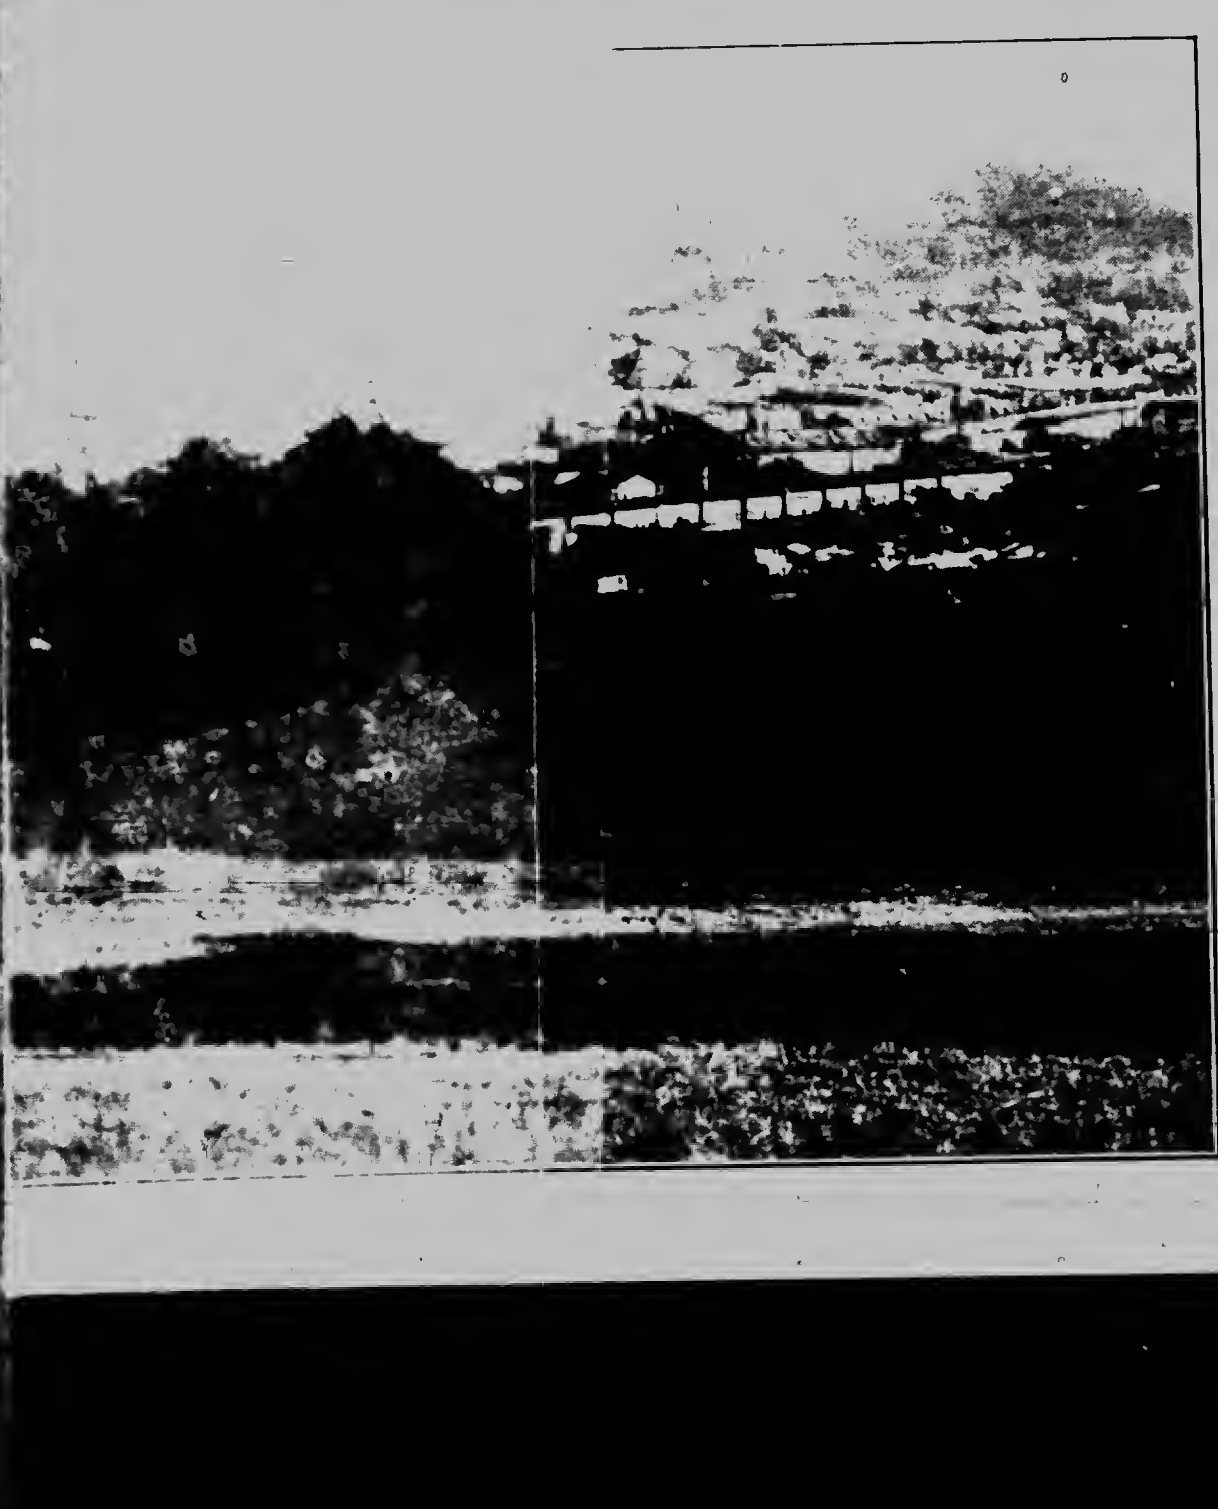
In response to many inquiries, it might be stated that there will be at least seven cars, or at any rate, sufficient room to accommodate everyone. If necessary, the train can carry 14 or 15 coaches and the cars will be added as needed.

Redford, Amori Appointed Editors of Educational Publications

Edward H. Redford was appointed editor of the California Journal of Secondary Education last week at the School Superintendents' convention at Pasadena.

Redford was appointed to fill the vacancy left by the death of its former editor. However, he was editor of the Journal last year for a period of several months. Redford will also edit the California School Directory which has a circulation of more than three thousand.

The Journal is the official publication of the California Society of Secondary Education of which President A. J. Cloud is one of the founders.



Joseph A. Amori, hygiene and business instructor, was appointed editor of the Lambda Chapter News Letter, last week. The Lambda chapter is the bay region division of the Phi Beta Kappa, educational honor society.

Amori received the news of his appointment in a letter from Arthur P. Selleck, principal of Richmond High School, president of the chapter. The editorship of the chapter paper carries with it a membership in the executive council of the fraternity.

Dean W. W. Kemp of the School of Education at the University of California, and adviser to the chapter, recommended Amori.

The Phi Beta Kappa is the only organization that brings together outstanding men in the education field. Other members of the college faculty in the society include Dean Edwin C. Browne, Alden W. Smith, and Harold W. Leuenberger.

...OF BEAUTIFUL BALBOA WILL BE OCCUPIED BY COLLEGE

Work At Site Scheduled To Be Resumed Soon

Balboa Park, the sweeping expanse of terrain pictured at the left, will soon become the scene of activity as work gets under way on the junior college plant to be erected on the site.

Now definitely assured of completion by the passage of the School Board issue and the guarantee of federal aid on the project, the first unit of the plant will be under construction by the end of this year. Occupation of the new site by students is slated for next fall, when enough facilities will have been completed to accommodate them.

The first building, for which foundation work has already been completed, will be the science building, containing class rooms, lecture halls, and laboratories. Since so much work has been done on this unit, it will be ready to house students before the rest of the plant is finished, and it is planned to occupy it while waiting for the other units to reach completion.

The two gymnasiums, construction of which was insured in the recent election, will not be ready for use as soon as the plant is occupied, but will be finished shortly after the first building. Athletic fields, however, will be at the disposal of physical education classes from the outset.

Work will commence as soon as the bids of the contractors have been called in and one of them accepted.

Army-Navy Club Assembly Planned October 26

Celebrating Navy Day and at the same time feting the birthday of former president Theodore Roosevelt, one time Assistant Secretary of the Navy, the Army and Navy club will hold an assembly on Wednesday, October 26.

Features of the rally will be speeches by prominent naval authorities and members of the group. Commander F. G. Marsh, co-sponsor of the organization has made ararngements to have a speaker from the 12th Naval District address the rally.

Initiation of four new members and discussion of two trips to Sunnyvale and Mare Island will be the main theme of the group's next meeting.

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1938 No. 8

FRED VAST .... EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser .... Business Adviser
Joan Nourse .... Edward H. Redford

Dick Simpers .... Assistant Editor
Bill Frantz .... News Editor
John Julius .... Sports Editor
Carol Pickering .... Women's Editor
Dorothy Trood .... Club Editor
Sam Galstaun .... Staff Photographer
Fred Bentley .... Business Manager

REPORTERS

Ray Berns, Bob Fex, Ethan Bernstein, Bob Blackwell, Ed Gamble, Dave Johnson, George Hoffman, Adele Kuhn, Isadore Maloff, Charles Martin, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Ed Van der Veen, Sylvia Wall, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Santa Barbara Strikes At Racial Discrimination

OFFICIALS of Santa Barbara State College deserve the commendation of every person who believes in the principles contained in the United State Constitution. The California institution canceled an intersectional football contest with Texas College of Mines of El Paso because two colored athletes were not allowed to play.

Discrimination against members of the Negro race is one of the most shameful spots of American life. Although President Abraham Lincoln issue the Emancipation Proclamation more than 70 years ago and equality for people with dark skins has been incorporated in the fundamental law of the land for a similar period, the South refuses to take cognizance of that fact.

The football field is but another place where this practice of discrimination has been carried on. It has been the accepted custom for northern schools playing southern colleges to withdraw colored players from the game. It is only lately that the ban on athletes possessing a dark skin has been relaxed. In every sport Negroes have sprung to the fore and proven themselves equal and in many cases to be the superiors of the whites.

Such is the case in other sports and other fields of endeavor. Given a fair chance the Negro is rapidly proving his ability and breaking down the prejudices and misconceptions spread for generations by the landed gentry of the South.

The false beliefs about non-Caucasians are gradually being broken down by association between the various races. More and more whites are beginning to realize that color is but a difference in the amount of pigmentation in one's skin. They know that members of other races are also human beings and that they have valuable qualities to contribute to society and increase its wealth materially and culturally.

It is a shame that a great portion of the South has not awakened to the realization that the Negro is as much human as is the white. It is a discredit to this country that there are people who do not want to recognize these facts.

Therefore, it is with the utmost satisfaction that we read of the Santa Barbara action. It deserves the commendation of every thinking individual because Santa Barbara has contributed immeasurably to awakening Texas to modern times. They have taken a step toward applying the constitution to practice, toward making those words, which stand for everything that is progressive and intelligent, mean what they say.

Congratulations, Santa Barbara! Other schools and individuals take note!"

Open Forum Valuable In Settling Industrial Disputes

AN interesting meeting was held in Dreamland Auditorium recently. Purpose of the gathering was to discuss the department store strike. The conclave was sponsored by the Citizens' Committee for a Forum on Labor Problems.

Both sides of the controversy had been invited to present their cases. Only the union accepted. The employers maintained that their position had been made clear through advertisements in the newspapers. They said that they considered it inopportune to attend the meeting. That such was the case is unfortunate, for people attending the forum could only hear one side of the dispute.

The workers assert that what they are striving for is job security, mutual aid and protection and a quick and just settlement of the strike by renewing last year's agreement. Both sides claim that one wants to smash the other.

The town meeting as an American institution began in New England centuries ago. It embodies the principle of open and free discussion as a method of reaching an amicable settlement of arguments concerning the whole community. The town meeting has been revived here in San Francisco as one method of obtaining a solution of the pressing problem of capital-labor relations. Two meetings have been held thus far and both have proved to be tremendously popular with the citizens.

A group of San Franciscans is championing these forums on labor problems with the object of bringing an understanding to the participants in a dispute and also to the public. The committee hopes that by clarifying the issues and by discussing them before, and in a sense, with the public, true democracy can be employed in settlement of industrial controversies. We have achieved democracy in our politics; now we have to extend that democracy to our economics.

Fascism Degrades German Educational System

ERIKA MANN, daughter of the famous German novelist, has just published a book under the title School for Barbarians. Her latest work deals with German's children and the educational system.

The degradation of what was once a great system of learning is recorded vividly with documentary evidence. The incidents Miss Mann reports are almost unbelievable of a country that was once a leader in the educational field. They show clearly, however, what Fascism does when it ascends to power and indicate what can be expected to happen in this nation if that ideology should ever gain the upper hand.

In its October 10 issue, Time publishes a digest of facts contained in School of Barbarians.

"Arithmetic pupils in Nazi schools calculate problems in bombing; art pupils draw pictures of air raids. History pupils are told that Austria's late Chancellor Dolfuss was murdered not by Nazis but in a Marxist uprising.

"The few Jewish children remaining in Nazi schools are used as object lessons. A teacher calls a little Jewish girl to the front of a class, asks other pupils: 'What do you see in this face?' They answer obediently: 'A gigantic nose, Negroid lips, inferior frizzy hair.' The teacher adds: 'You see, besides a cowardly and disloyal facial expression.'

"Obscenity, with which Nazis smear Jews and priests, is part of the curriculum. 'The Sturmer,' which writes almost exclusively about outrages, bed room gossip and scandal, is read in the schools to children between 6 and 14.' Copies hang on classroom walls. Result: 'Pupils have become possessed by pathological sexual aberrations.

"For military training, children begin long marches at the age of 10, and 15-year-olds are expected to march 13½ miles a day with an eleven-pound load. Result: an abnormal increase in the prevalence of flat feet, a trait Nazis attribute to non-Aryans. Of youths, conscripted in 1936 some 38% were found unfit for military service for this reason.

"Minister of Education Bernard Rust has frequently been confined in a sanitorium during violent attacks of insanity."

If that is the type of a man that is the head of education, one can't help but wonder how advanced cases are the leaders of the Nazi State.

These facts lucidly illustrate conditions under fascist rule. They show the danger of the spread of fascism holds for the world in general and the United States in particular. That there is a barbaric menace is known. What must be made clear to everyone is the extent of the peril and the necessity of vigilance and united effort to halt any inroads that may be made by the fascist plague.

THIS PUZZLING WORLD

Edited by Milton J. Puzzletsar and Henry J. Riddleston

WHO KILLED JACK DONOVAN?

Jack Donovan was killed on a lonely road, two miles from Trenton, at 3:30 a.m., March 17, 1933. "Shorty" Malone, Tony Verelli, Hank Rogers, Joey Freiberg, and "Red" Johnson were arrested a week later, in Philadelphia, and questioned.

Each of the five made a simple statement, each containing four sentences, three of which were true, and one of which was false. One of these men killed Donovan. Who was it? The statements are given below. You are to determine which single statement in each group is false, and thus discover the murderer.

1. "Shorty" said: a. "I was in Chicago when Donovan was murdered." b. "I never killed anyone." c. "Red is the guilty man." d. "Joey and I are friends."

2. Hank said: a. "I did not kill Donovan." b. "I never owned a revolver in my life." c. "Red knows me." d. "I was in Philadelphia the night of March 17."

3. Toney said: a. "Hank lied when he said he never owned a revolver." b. "The murder was committed on St. Patrick's day." c. "'Shorty' was in Chicago at that time." d. "One of us is guilty."

4. Joey said: a. "I did not kill Donovan." b. "Red has never been in Trenton." c. "I never saw 'Shorty' before." d. "Hank was in Philadelphia with me the night of March 17."

5. Red said: a. "I did not kill Donovan." b. "I have never been in Trenton." c. "I never saw Hank before now." d. "'Shorty' lied when he said I am guilty."

EDITOR'S NOTE

In the last edition of The Guardsman the editor's "Puzzle 0.00 Does Anybody Care?" appeared but has not yet ... completely ... The question was directed at the readers of this newspaper as to whether they wanted this column continued. To date no affirmative replies have been received. In a sensational ultimatum the editors threatened that if no one gives a damn they will discontinue this department.

Interested persons have until Friday, October 21 to express their desire. If this is not done This Puzzling World will cease "riddling" next Wednesday. For a thorough answer to Puzzle 0.00 see this space in next week's Guardsman.

Cabbages & Kings

By Blue Pencil Bill

TO our illustrious student body president Bob Fex, go our humblest apologies for the misspelling of his "foine Irish monicker" in the previous issue of The Guardsman. It was a printer's error that made "Box" out of Fex's name.

It is a coincidence that in the Columbus Day prep game, Fex was the guardian of the "Down Box." Yep, there he was, in his big Block SF sweater, smiling at the crowd. And he handled the box with such dexterity—"Whatcha say, Blackwell? Fex ought to be glad his name wasn't misspelled 'Boob'? You're right!"

• • •

ABOUT SWING IN S. F.

It certainly is moving ahead in this town. The first evidence was the new terms, "cat," "ickle," "gate," and other crazy names. Then came the "Swingtime" serials in the San Francisco dailies—and now the "Jitterbug Contests" sponsored by Bert Cody's cousin, Bill and the organization known as the Swing Ring.

The first contest, held at Dreamland Auditorium, was so popular that the red-hot steppers didn't have room to "shine." Now they are taking over the Civic Auditorium to accommodate the jitterbugs. The Golden Gate Theater will feature the winners of the contests in their stage shows. The finals, anyway, will be held in the theater. All of which proves that swing is the dominating music in San Francisco.

• • •

ON OUR WAY TO SCHOOL

Up California Street to Sansome where we see a light gray Lincoln sport roadster driving down the street. At the wheel sits an elderly man sporting a Van Dyke beard—he has the most intellectual face we have seen in many years. He wears a black derby. The passenger in the car is a young man wearing a chauffeur's uniform—he just gazes at the pedestrians with practically nothing on his mind. The car comes to a stop in the middle of the block, the derbied financial genius steps out of the auto, the chauffeur moves over into the driver's seat and drives off. This has been happening at 9:30 every morning for the past few years. The man must be a rugged individualist.

Then on the corner of Montgomery and Clay Streets is a small barber shop. It doesn't look unusual from the outside, but inside is one of the few collections of individual shaving mugs in San Francisco.

The shaving mugs are lettered in gold and have an insignia identifying the owner and his business. A majority of the cups are decorated with steer heads to signify that the owner is a cattleman, a butcher, or even a sausage manufacturer. One of the most interesting in the collection is one owned by a shipping clerk depicting a fleet of schooners in full sail. Although the cupboard is filled with shaving mugs, few contain brushes, perhaps meaning their owners are still living.

The barbers in this shop are old men, soft-spoken and fatherly, probably the last of the old time razor artists. Whoa—that's the November Esquire on the table—they're not so old-fashioned after all.

• • •

And guess what!!—Stuart Hamblen of the "Covered Wagon Jubilee" on KLX is running for Congress on the Democratic ticket. At least the coming campaign has promise of a lot of free entertainment of the musical type.

By the way—who is "Fashion Fanny?"

Presidential Notes

By Bob Fex

ON TO SACRAMENTO! At last it is here; the trip we have all waited for. We hope that everyone who can possibly do so will make the trip and enjoy himself to the utmost, but we must remember that wherever we go we carry the good name of San Francisco Junior College.

The team will be trying hard to win its second conference game and obtain another leg on the conference championship. It will need every bit of support that you can give it. The spirit at the last game was greatly improved, but your correspondent would appreciate it if certain persons would refrain from heckling him while he is trying to concentrate on the game.

Be prepared, all you dance-goers, for three hectic week-ends in the near future. First will be the AMS barn dance on October 29, then will follow in quick succession the Social Committee's dance at the St. Francis on November 5, and the Block SF dance at the Galileo Gym on November 11. Every student should make it his business to attend at least one of the scintillating functions. Don't miss them!

ALL ABOARD! By MacKillop

RAM'S HORN

Former Editor Praises Spirit; Ward Blasted

Editor, The Guardsman:

Speaking as just another alumni, let me say that I and others of my unfortunate class, who no longer may enjoy the congenial carefree atmosphere of the finest junior college in the country, wish to extend a hearty mess of congratulations on the showing of damfine spirit that hoisted this bond issue fight into the seat of victory!

Often, in the past existence of San Francisco Junior College, has the doleful wail, "No Spirit" been heard to float dismally over the scattered campi, but this display of "firing it up" has forever laid by the heels all such criticism.

It also may interest you to know that you weren't the only ones who "fired it up." Over here at the great "No man's land" California, there were many of us who fought just as hard, some in spirit, some in actual campaign for votes.

Although the pioneering days are not yet over, already the college is beginning to reap the benefits of some of the things that others, who went before despaired of ever seeing in effect, and clicking.

The old-timers salute the neophytes. She's on her way, keep her rolling!

Bob MacArthur, June '38.

Editor, The Guardsman:

There is a great deal of indignation being aroused among the students of the college who like good music and the higher forms of theatrical presentation by the pessimistic malcontent who writes the column "After Dark."

Instead of giving us intelligent reviews or even good constructive criticism, week after week he fills his columns with sarcastic and derogatory statements, with seldom a good word for anybody or anything.

You ought to toss that kind out on his ear and tell him to give some material we could enjoy reading.

Vic "Long Hair" Cero

Sartorial Modes

By Fashion Fanny

Faced with the prospect of dressing like an old woman or a college girl, Louise Mulligan, not so long out of Columbia University, decided to design dresses for herself. So successful was she that both she and her sister started to design dresses for the smaller women of the United States.

Both the young women are definite types and model each dress before it goes on the market. If the dress doesn't suit either one of them, out it goes.

Miss Mulligan got her first inspiration from the elevator girls. They looked rather shabby, she thought, so she decided to design chic little outfits for them and they went over so well that she became well known.

So quick thinking and always ready for new ideas Miss Mulligan thought it would be a novelty to name each of the costumes she made.

For instance, there is the "Joy of Living" a smart two piece velveteen, coming in many colors. Ideal for afternoon teas and dining in town.

Another velveteen is "Baby Talk" a charming afternoon dress trimmed daintily with lace and blue velvet bows. "Couldn't Be Cuter" is a slenderizing wool dirndl and it really is slenderizing.

But ladies, the dress that would make any college woman swoon is Miss Mulligan's "Lucky Stripe." Oh! would it make the date's eyes roll round in double amazement. A black velvet formal, held up by two petite velvet straps and around the top trimmed in three contrasting velvets, aqua, blue and American beauty. And if you don't want to be daring there is an adorable little jacket to match, with puff sleeves and the same contrasting velvet strips around the bottom of it. If that isn't a success story for any young woman find me one that is. Miss Mulligan has started the road for ambitious young designers, so go on out and try your skill. There is always a place for the ambitious one.

By Charming Charlie

Introducing: to the gentlemen of the college—a column for you, and you alone, on the most recent trends in men's dress, speech, manners, and the like (Ladies, keep out!)

While walking along Market Street window-shopping the other day, our eyes came to rest on the most adorable green-checked sport coat these eyes have ever seen. This gorgeous creation lay in the window of Roos Brothers. It was done in two shades of green with a faint white stripe, had padded shoulders, a pleat down the back, the cutest green buttons you've ever seen, and all for the nominal sum of $22.50.

Men, it is our duty to protect the college women of today, and lead them out of the abysmal pit of degradation into which they are rapidly descending.

In the old days, a gentleman used to walk up to a young lady, and say, "May I have the next dance?" Today, the female of the species sidles up to the male, and says, "Come on worm, let's wiggle." Positively revolting, is it not? Yes, it is. We call upon the chivalrous qualities of you men, as the knighthood of today, to join us in leading the poor misguided female onto the straight and narrow path.

We feel that there is something else going on at the present time that not one of you men who ever expects to better himself can afford to miss. We just know that when we divulge the nature of this little enterprise, you are all going to clap your hands, and shout "goody, goody."

A few of the neighborhood theatres in the city are giving a matinee with a complete show, and, here is the important part, an excellent cook is instructress on the stage. Anyone who misses attending one of the lectures should certainly be ashamed, for in addition to a delightful and informative talk on the culinary art, you also receive a piece of ovenware.

AFTER DARK

By John Ward

A FEW observances on a season of opera that promises to be the finest of recent years:

NOT AIDA THIS YEAR—

When the San Francisco Opera Association chose Andrea Chenier to open the 1938 season, it took a lusterless work by a distinct nonentity of musical thought. However, since tradition decrees that an opera season open with a blast, no matter how hopelessly poor the horn be, and said blast must be good and loud, Giordano's work was adequate.

For us the season actually got underway with a performance of Mozart's Don Giovanni, a masterpiece if there ever was one. The three and a half hours given over to it were just three and a half hours too few. From beginning to end Mozart feasted one's auditory organs with some of the most enticing music ever written. The cast that sang this very "comical tragical" work did so with great care and great success. If there were faulty moments, the excellent were too numerous to make one aware of the faults. Certainly, any music lovers who missed the first performance and miss the second on October 20 will have doubtful right to their title.

A PEERLESS TENOR

In Martha we had our first opportunity to hear—Gigli—in Andrea Chenier he had been over-shadowed not only by the poor music but by Merola's inferior conducting with its eternal tripple forte. It was in Martha that Gigli gave a San Francisco audience its first chance in many, many disheartening years to hear an actually great tenor.

Such is Gigli's mastery of tone and such is his natural voice that one had the distinct desire to applaud each separate phrase so perfect were they all. And, like another great singer of the day, Gigli acts with his voice rather than with his body. One is aware of a beautiful tone and a great interpreter, forgetting the while that Gigli is not acting. He is merely singing. But, what singing.

TRADITION BROKEN

And to Gigli we pay this tribute: he has broken a stupid tradition, that of no encores permitted during the performance of an opera. So exquisite was his singing of an aria in Martha that he could do little else but repeat it. And, if this is a blow to the authorities that be, the organizations that seek to make music run according to the formulae of other, less-flexible professions—good! It is time to stop the apparent regimentation that is taking place in music, which, once established, will spell ruin for most artistic production.

AUDIENCE MISBEHAVES

We have heard of a dress rehearsal for Martha that was attended by members of the Opera Guild, a comparatively new organization, which, for certain donations to the opera's proverbial deficit, receives a few privileges not extended to the mob. From reports it would appear that not all went well at this affair.

In the first place, singers of the stature of Gigli dislike correction, which is right in its place, to be given before a crowd of greedy gossip-mongers and tired business-men. And, when in the course of some correction, that audience breaks forth in a loud derisive laugh, that, to our way of seeing things, is a distinctly vulgar act. If our information has not played us false, we tentatively draw the conclusion that the rehearsal audience will be a short-lived experiment, or said audience will receive some lessons in courtesy and discretion.

CORRECTION IF YOU PLEASE

Last but not least, as the saying goes, one of the most annoying of errors prevalent in San Francisco at this time is the ridiculous pronunciation of Beniamino Gigli's name. For those who care to bother about such matters, we attempt to approximate how it should be spoken: Jeel-yee. And speak it softly.

News From Other Colleges

Pasadena junior college has started a club attendance contest. The contest is open to all school organizations. Each group will be judged by the average number of absences per member, the winner in each club group receiving a substantial monetary award.

• • •

Michigan state college is sponsoring a series of radio broadcasts, telling prospective entrants to the college all about registration, payment of fees, and other formalities necessary for enrollment.

• • •

Enrollment in the University of California, on all its campuses, has increased more than 10 per cent over last year. The total registration is 25,639 so far this year, compared to 23,218 a year ago. Late registrations may bring the figure to 25,750.

The centennial of the express business will be celebrated at the 1939 World's Fair on San Francisco Bay.

Cubs Hand Rams 13-6 Set-Back At Los Angeles

Locals' Last-Period Drive Falls Short; Boitano Makes Score

Ram of San Francisco made a 500 mile trek last Friday, to take a 13 to 7 scoreboard beating from the Los Angeles City College Cub.

An 8:15 kick-off which followed a 6 o'clock detrainment sent a travel-groggy Ram on the dimly-lighted campus field.

The invaders took the kick-off and manifested an early threat, pushing on for two consecutive first downs and then were held.

Penalties Aid Cubs

It was then that a series of penalties inflicted on the Northerners put the Cubs in scoring position.

The first occurred when the officialdom decreed a 15 yard set-back for clipping on Mike Hanrahan who had just completed a frontal block.

The second was called on interference with the receiver by Jim Connors who had just made an attempt at interception.

Thirty yards in penalties inflicted in three plays put the Southerners on the San Francisco 7 yard line where left half Lloyd Hoisch went around left end for a touchdown. Hoisch also converted.

The second Cub tally come in the third period after a 30 yard pass from Hoisch to Balfour Gland, negro end, who was brought down by Frank Verducci on the Ram 4 yard line. Fullback Therone Bush then plunged through guard for a score. Bush's attempt at conversion failed.

Fex Sparks Rams

The Ram attack opened up in the third period putting the visitors within scoring distance several times, only to lose the ball on interceptions.

However, Sweet's substitution — Bob Fex for Connors at the left half spot — permitted San Francisco to push the Cubs back and resulted in a last period score for the Sweetmen.

Potent flipper Fex unleashed a series of passes starting from his own 14 yard line and ended at the Los Angeles goal, 86 yards in five plays. 46 and then 14 yards to Gray, 11 yards to Baker put the Rams on the Cub 13. Fex then went off tackle for eleven yards to the two yard stripe where Walt Boitano took the ball over for the initial San Francisco score.

A chance for victory came after Fex was taken from the game with an injured right wing but the opportunity was lost on an interception.

Line Improves

Jim Connors excelled in broken field work along with Mike Hanrahan who tallied several long runs.

The entire line showed big improvement, Captain Mel Peterson being the mainstay as usual and ends Bud Wiechers and Frannie Gray clicking well with Fex's flips. Wiechers also kicked "par excellence" although he was slow in getting them off.

SOCCERMEN IN 1-1 TIE WITH STANFORD; LOSE TO BEARS, 5-0

Tom Wilson's soccer squad received for a 5 to 0 lacing from the University of California Golden Bears, and was forced to be content with a 1 to 1 tie with Stanford in the opening games of the Northern California Intercollegiate Soccer League at Beach Chalet field last week.

For three quarters in the California fray, a fighting Ram team held a superior university outfit to a lone tally. At this point, however, Lady Luck smiled on California, when a Bear forward slipped a goal past Chiesa, college goalie, who busily engaged in an argument with the referee over an alleged foul.

In the last five minutes of the game, the Ram backfield defense folded, and the Bears scored three more buckets.

Georgian and Salacone at fullbacks, and Campbell at center-half weakened, and gave California clear shots at the Ram goal which Chiesa was unable to stop.

Bob Nicco at inside right gave a creditable performance, while Jan Blomquist, center forward, also shone for the Rams.

In the Stanford fracas, action was nearly at a standstill, with both teams playing listless ball.

Stanford's lone goal was scored late in the second quarter, when an Indian forward tallied during a mixup in front of the Ram bucket, while Jan Blomquist was the hero of the day for the college, dribbling down the field in a solo dash and scoring unassisted to give the Rams a tie with but three minutes to play.

Eads, usually reliable inside left, missed many easy chances at the Indian goal.

The Ram backfield defense was once again woefully weak as the fullbacks allowed the Indian forward wall to penetrate almost at will.

Jan Blomquist, USF transfer, was outstanding for the Rams, but the offense was hampered by the absence of Bob Nicco, sterling inside right.

San Mateo Bowlers Here To Avenge Defeat

Seeking to avenge last week's defeat on their home alleys, San Mateo Junior College's Alumi Bowling squad will meet the Ram pin-smashers in a return-engagement at the Golden Gate alleys, 115 Jones Street, tomorrow night at 7 p.m.

Coach Joe Amori's bowlers amassed a total of 2375 pins, as against 2224 for the peninsula team.

Going into the last game of the three-game series, the Ram keglers were trailing, but Amori's lads applied the pressure, and came out 151 pins ahead.

Howard Cloud, southpaw ace, Dominic Manfredi, Ben Papapietro, Jack Schmale, and Walt Gardner comprised the Ram squad.

Manfredi carried off high-series honors for the evening with a 525, with Gardner having a 199 that went for high game, while Cloud turned in a 189 as his best effort.

A home and home agreement with the Alcatraz Prison Guards team has been tentatively set for the near future, and needs but confirmation from Warden Johnson who is on a speaking tour at the present time.

AMS Fights To Be Held At Local Club On November 7

Sponsored by the Associated Men Students, the semi-annual college boxing championships will be held at the Italian Athletic Club, Wednesday, November 2, at 8 o'clock.

Preparations for the bouts are being made by AMS President Mickey Berman, and faculty adviser, Joseph A. Amori.

"The championships this semester will be better than ever," promises Amori, "as we have a great many returning veterans and expect to put on a real show."

Titles will be decided as usual in the 119, 129, 139, 149, 159, 169, 179, and heavy-weight divisions.

Amori announces that both preliminaries and finals will be held on the same evening, with Golden Gloves being given the winners.

Defending champions who are expected to repeat in their respective divisions are Lionel Cade, colored flash, in the 139 pound class, and Ray Greenwood, hard-hitting veteran, in the 169 and 179 pound classes.

The following prospects, working out daily under Amori's tutelage at the Galileo gymnasium, are expected to give a good account of themselves in the forthcoming fistic encounters: Marty Calestini, 159; Eddie Romley, 159; Nick Quirarte, 149; Ray Peterson, 169; Joseph Magnola, 179; Eddie Baca, 129; Nick Minitsky, heavy-weight, and "Slim" Raine, a Washington State transfer, who is expected to furnish Greenwood with plenty of opposition in the 169 and 179 pound divisions.

Anyone wishing to participate in the bouts may sign up with Amori at the Galileo gymnasium any afternoon.

Merman Whipped By Cal Frosh In Thrilling Game

After leading the California Frosh water-polo team for two periods, the Ram mermen finally gave way in the second half of the game to give California victory by the score of 9 to 7. The game was played at the California pool last Tuesday.

The game started off with the Rams scoring two goals in the first three minutes while California was held to none. Two more goals by Bob Kahn and Norwood Forte gave the locals more points while their opponents were limited to one tally. For the remainder of the first half the Rams were held scoreless. A determined Frosh team took advantage of the momentary idleness of the junior college team and quickly shoved in two goals which brought the score up to 4 to 3 as the first half ended with the Rams out in front by a single point.

A tired Ram team took to the water in the second half and with a "hot" Bear team on the rampage, the score quickly reversed itself, finding the hosts on top this time as the third quarter ended, the score 8 to 4. For a time the game remained scoreless, until Mitch Hoffman and Forte came through with two more scores, their first in the second half. With a few minutes left to play, the Bears salted the game away with a barrage of goals to bring the score up to 9 to 6. With enough time for one more play, Kahn scored for the locals by virtue of a Frosh error.

Automobiles and ferry boats will carry millions to the Treasure Island site of the Western World's Fair in 1939.

GUARDSMAN SPORTS

WILSON'S SHIN-KICKING BRIGADE

Photographs above depict various scenes of Coach Tom Wilson and his soccer lads at work (and play) at Funston field. Upper left pictures "Atlas" Wilson displaying abnormal strength; upper right—Al Stoltze, Wilton Latz, and Larry Cameron (reading from left to right) going up for ball; lower left—Stoltze "heads" ball, while Jim Chiesa (background) and Larry Cameron look on; lower right—Cameron rises to the heights, while Chiesa imitates Karloff; Inset—"Atlas" Wilson bellows orders.

RAM CHOPS

By Jack Schmale

When seven or eight carloads of Rams hit the rails for Sacramento Saturday, it won't be the second section of a cattle train. The Rams are Capitol bound to settle an old score with the Sacs. It seems that the locals and the Panthers wound up in a tie for the conference grid title last year, and had it not been for a 24-6 shellacking by Sacramento between halves of the trip last season, Russ Sweet's gang would still be enjoying the crown. Climb aboard, kiddo—a buck eighty lets you in on the fun!

• • •

SOME FUN: What's this talk about Barney Bourke singing at a future rally? Why are they calling Ed McGovern "Mackie boy?" Return trip from Sacramento for football players (strictly on their own) is $1.25. Joe Amori promises lotsa action at the Men's Club fights next month.

The Ex Council passed a resolution last week asking for the State game to be played at Seals Stadium instead of Roberts. Memo to O'Brien and Bolger: Don't try to grab a hot freight for Sacramento, 'cause they don't have dance ears on that division.

• • •

Mr. Urban "Shacklefoot" Mason: We guess by this time you've heard that the football team won the San Mateo game for you. Did you know that number 65, your jersey, was hanging out in front of the bench for an inspiration during the game? We guess you received the telegram in the hospital before the game, and the phone message after it. And we'll wager you almost heard the lusty yell the rooting section gave for you during the second quarter, huh? It's too bad you weren't in shape to make the Los Angeles trip, because every man on the squad voted to chip in four bits to take you along with them. Anyway, Mace, the whole school is wishing you a speedy recovery, and we hope to see you back with us in the very near future.

Signed—Us.

• • •

Our good friend Bobbie Stevens, who scribbles for a local daily, inserted a story in his sporting section that Lowell High School, obviously weary, had things its own way more or less in trimming the Lambs, 13 to 0, in the San Mateo preliminary. It so happened, however, that the spirited Lambs outgained the prep eleven by a goodly margin, and had the latter's ace, Milt V[illegible], in check all evening!

RECOMMENDATIONS: Don't miss tomorrow's rally. Hughie Waite has some new yells that should get results. Get yourself a tin can and make the Ogden trip. Sophomore Week will be something around these parts this term, wait and see. So long, gotta get my Sacramento ticket!

Meet Coach No. 5, Lee Eisan, Former Bear Quarterback

By RAY BERNS

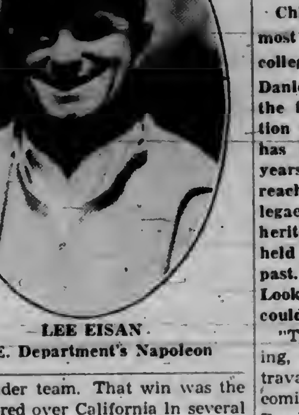
Lee Eisan, little Napoleon of the physical education department, is the varsity baseball coach, and spends his time in the fall assisting Russ Sweet with the Ram gridmen.

Elsan is a Polytechnic graduate, and was a member of the football squad at that institution.

In 1924 and 1925, Lee was a star quarterback for the San Francisco Olympic Club.

He figured prominently in the Club's win over the famous California wonder team. That win was the first scored over California in several seasons.

In 1926, Lee enrolled at California. He played four years of football there, and was named on the all-American third team in both '28 and '29.



Eisan was well-qualified for a position in the physical education department when he came to the college in 1935. He had previously been coach of football and basketball at La Verne College in Southern California for a period of five years.

Although his baseball clubs have never won a championship, several have finished near the top, and Lee has turned out some excellent ball-players.

On a barn-storming tour in Southern California last semester, the ball club won two games while losing one.

Eisan has charge of the backs on the football squad.

All-American

LEE EISAN
P. E. Department's Napoleon

Adams In Big Time

Stan Adams, last semester's head yell leader, and Ty Barre, former junior college student, won positions as assistant yell leaders at the University of California. They were victorious over six other contestants for the positions. The elections were held recently.

RAMblings

By Dick Simpers

Russ Sweet swings his Ram gridiron machine into high gear this week for the crucial game with Sacramento which will determine whether or not San Francisco is to be considered in the running for the conference title. Should the locals drop this encounter, their chances of retaining the title will be mighty slim, so one and all are primed to put up a real battle Saturday night. Old-timers on the squad are aching to avenge last year's 24-6 drubbing, and the new men are hopeful of bringing back a championship in their first season. It looks like a nip-and-tuck battle is on tap for this week-end, with the edge, if any, going to the Panthers.

• • •

Chief claimant for the title of "the most eligible young man in junior college" is now none other than Daniel "Bud" Wiechers, star end on the football squad. Inside information revealed to your correspondent has disclosed that Bud will be 21 years old next month, and upon reaching that age will come into a legacy of no less than $50,000, inherited from a wealthy relative and held in trust for him for some years past. There's your chance, girls! Looks AND money . . . what more could you ask?

"Tremendous, colossal, epoch-making, stupendous, gigantic, and extravaganzical" . . . thus is the forthcoming Block SF dance described by President Treacy Slattery. To be held the night after the Pasadena game, the affair will undoubtedly eclipse in magnitude any other social event in the history of the college, and go down in the records as the high spot of 1938.

• • •

The jitter-bug contests being sponsored locally of late have been well-attended by certain rhythmical representatives of this institution, notably "Red" Burrowes, Louie Rouspil, Neil Swanson, Bobby Owens, and Paul LeBaron. It has been rumored that the near-riot at Dreamland was caused by the response of the mob to LeBaron's version of the "Varsity Drag," which he is now offering to teach in three easy lessons for a reasonable fee.

• • •

Small-time stuff: Why did Boitano come back from Los Angeles Saturday morning? . . . Whatever became of Joe Laughlin? . . . George "Doc" Bedrosian is official rubber-downer over at the gym . . . Floyd Lawrence says his Ford runs better since he took out some of the parts and threw them away . . . Jerry Flamm, former Ram footballer, is reported to be going great guns on the team at Cornell College, Iowa.

Sweetmen Battle Sacramento in Conference Crucial Saturday Night

POWELL STREETERS SCORE 6-0 VICTORY OVER SAN MATEANS

San Francisco Junior College successfully defended its conference football championship by walloping a stubborn Bulldog eleven from San Mateo Junior College by a 6-0 count on Saturday night, October 8.

The lone score came about midway in the second quarter when, with the ball on their own 44 yard line, the Rams began to ramble. Right Half Les Mullins reversed to Left Half Jim Connors who, in turn, tossed a pass to End Franny Gray; net gain 34 yards.

On the next play Jim Connors flipped a prayerful pass in the general direction of Quarterback Johnny Verducci, the ball bounced off of his small but sturdy frame, hit a San Mateo gridder and caromed into the waiting arms of Les Mullins, who was brought down on the 4 yard marker; net gain 18 yards. Three plays later giant fullback Walt Boitano smacked over for the winning touchdown.

Bud Wiechers' attempted conversion was wide.

Willie Silva, San Mateo quarter, was the outstanding man on the field, offensively and defensively. Willie easily overshadowed any other player on the San Mateo eleven and earned recognition for his brilliant efforts.

Ram guards Jones and Swanson stood out for their work in the line. Mel (Ol' Lad) Peterson played his usually brilliant game.

In the backfield, Johnny Verducci, Jimmy Conners, Mush Mullins, and Walt Boitano were outstanding.

The contest was marked by the rugged play of both teams, with the action see-sawing back and forth.

Amark, Wagner Nearly Upset World Champions

Ed Amark, Hal Wagner, Bill Canning, and Ray Berns, members of the varsity tennis squad made a creditable showing in the Pacific Coast Tennis Championships at Berkeley last week.

Amark went to the quarter-final round of the men's singles event, only to lose to Gene Smith, giant Alameda school-teacher, who upset Adrian Quist, Australian ace, 6-4, 6-3, while Wagner advanced to the finals of both the junior boy's singles and doubles.

In the singles, Wagner lost to Larry Dee, Western United States junior champ, 6-4, 2-6 6-3, 6-2, while the Ram star paired with Howard Morehouse of San Mateo in the junior doubles. Dee teamed with Chris Larsen, once again proved Wagner's nemesis.

Teamed together in the men's doubles, Amark and Wagner forced the world's greatest doubles duo, Jack Bromwich and Adrian Quist of Australia, to a 10-8, 6-4 battle before bowing out.

Berns and Canning went to the quarter-finals of the junior doubles, while Canning was eliminated by Browich in the men's singles event, 6-4, 6-0.

Panthers To Present Strong Line-Up For Decisive Encounter

By DICK SIMPERS

Football championship of the Northern California Junior College will probably be decided next Saturday night when Coach Russ Sweet's gridders, co-holders of the championship, collide with the team which holds the other leg on the coveted title, the Panthers of Sacramento Junior College.

Since San Mateo has been defeated and Modesto is still more or less of an unknown quantity, the field in the conference is narrowed down to the two squads which meet this week end, so that the contest assumes almost the significance of a championship tussle. The Panther line-up contains a bevy of stars from last season's eleven which humbled the Rams by a score of 24 to 6, as well as a wealth of new material, and the Sacramentans may rule slight favorites at game-time, although it is believed that the Sweetmen will be at full strength for the contest.

In beating San Francisco State by a score of 7 to 0 the Panthers flashed a powerful running attack in their one sustained drive to a touchdown. Big guns of their attack in this encounter were Mel Reid, speedy halfback who went over for the tally, and Al Reginato, who cleared the way for him with some terrific blocking. Veterans on the Ram team will remember Reginato as the chap who caused so much trouble in last year's tilt. Also back to bother the locals is big Mack Woerner, crashing fullback, who made the all-conference team at the close of last season and has been outstanding so far this fall.

Sac Line Strong

The forward wall of the Solons will present Art Camara, huge veteran tackle, assisted by Vernon Schmidt, place-kicking end, Jack Dorr and Jim Fischer at guards, and Willard and Hall at end and tackle respectively. Coach "Hack" Applequist has also a rugged second team to insert if the going becomes too tough for his starters. Calling the plays and doing the kicking will be Bob Wai, veteran Hawaiian quarterback, while Phil Ritchie will perform at right half. Other backs likely to see action are Len Campbell and Glenn Cross, while the veteran Art Spielman may crash the starting line-up at tackle.

Boitano Starts for Rams

The San Francisco line-up will remain practically unchanged, and will find Walt Boitano, Les Mullins, Johnny Verducci, and Ed Baber in the backfield, and Frank Davenport and Bud Weichers at ends, Stan Beirwith and Tom Regan at tackles, Neil Swanson and George Jones at guards, and Mel Peterson at center.

Also ready to step into the fray at a moment's notice are Bob Fex, spectacular passing half-back, Frank Verducci, alternate quarter, and Fran Gray, end, who was so successful in snagging Fex's tosses in last week's Los Angeles game, and will go in if the Rams are forced to take to the air.

Playday Next Saturday At San Jose State College; Posture Tests Completed

WOMEN'S SPORTS PARADE

By Carol Pickering

"Ready and rarin' to go," members of the Women's Athletic Association are waiting eagerly, after a week's postponement, to attend their first playday of the semester, Saturday, October 22 at San Jose State College. An all day affair, the sportswomen will play games, have lunch, and enter more competition in the afternoon. Any woman interested in sports is invited to the playday.

• • •

Page from a WAA Manager's Journal

The badminton club is small this year, taking up only one gym and providing enough rackets and birdies for everyone.

Nevertheless it has produced a girl-wonder, a child-prodigy, and a budding genius in the form of Virginia Matson. Miss Matson on her first day, whacked a mean bird, and on her second dared to challenge champion Miriam Frazier.

It has its share of male players also, the two mighty heroes in the red sweaters who have defied the combined threats of the other players and continue to appear in shoes without rubber soles.

• • •

From our own portfolio we pull announcements of Tourney Week tournaments which started, in Badminton, last October 14. Tennis singles and doubles tournaments are well under way. Swimmers still have time for plenty of practice, the meet beginning November 16.

• • •

Completed last week, the posture tests in Freshmen Activities classes have proved to be of interest and value to the new women students. Dr. Potter and the other PE instructors are busy holding conferences this week in an endeavor to point out faulty habits and incorrect posture to each individual in the class. A mimeographed sheaf of papers has been prepared for the women, containing hints for correct posture and listing many corrective exercises.

• • •

Sport: Volley Ball
Place: Galileo Gym
Time: Who cares?

Shouts of victory and groans of defeat may have been loud, but Dorothy Sanderson and Helen Culp wore shirts that were louder.

• • •

Modern dance interpreters have already created and completed one dance. This sport loosens nearly every muscle in the body, as the members of the group are well aware after the first two or three lessons. Leaps and bounds carry the individual from one end of the gym to the other, healthfully exhausting the dancer.

• • •

Having receded to 40 yards from the target, Leo Horton, Alfred Mabey, Elgin Rowe, Walter Scott, Melville Harvey, and William Lawrence now stand at the head of their class in beginners archery. This co-educational sport has as many women enrolled as men. How can we write about the so-called weaker sex if they are too weak to make the first team?

St. Peter Speaks To Hotel Division

In connection with the guest speakers appearing every Tuesday before the students of the Hotel and Restaurant Division, John A. St. Peter, president of Culinary Worker's Union Local 44, addressed the students of the division yesterday speaking on "Organized Labor's Attitude Toward Vocational Training."

Opportunities offered to young people with vocational training were discussed by the speaker, who has been head of the local for many years and recently represented the unions in arbitrations between the Unions and the Hotel Employers.

Hans Ullendorf, manager of Essex House in New York, spoke briefly before the division last Friday on "The Comparative Drawing Power Between The New York Fair And The San Francisco World's Fairs." Ullendorf emphasized the value of promotion regarding hotel and restaurant procedure pertaining to the coming fair in San Francisco.

Five members from the Hotel and Restaurant Society attended the State Hotel Men's Association Convention at Coronado last week, accompanied by Dean Edwin C. Browne, and Graham Sullivan. Those attending were Carl Rutledge, president of the organization, Bill Devoy, Trevitt Wilson, and Bill and Clark Chittick.

Information concerning the division was distributed to the men attending the convention by the college representatives.

At a recent meeting of the society, two new officers were added. They are: secretary, Harley Johnson, and historian, Donald Sands. The society is contemplating several social events for the near future.

Tobiason Discloses Plans For Initial Sophomore Week Next Month

High Sophomores this semester will introduce for the first time in the history of the college a Sophomore Week, Stanley Tobiason, class president, disclosed at a recent meeting of the Sophomore class officers.

Tobiason, with vice-president Ben Papapietro, secretary-treasurer Ruth Graham, faculty advisers George Green and Annamarie Dells, and a committee of seven high sophomores have discussed plans for the week.

"Sophomore Week," announced Tobiason, "beginning Tuesday, November 29 will extend through Friday, December 2. A rally on Tuesday, sponsored by the high sophomores will open the week."

Tentative plans provide a Costume Day Wednesday of that week, the Associated Women's Students will honor sophomores with a tea dansant at the Century Club on Thursday, and Friday evening the week of events will be climaxed with the High-Sophomore formal dance.

High Sophomores comprising the committee to help plan the week of events, are: Betty Nelson, Barbara Randall, Marjory Pomeroy, Sylvester McAtee, Dick Simpers, Treacy Slattery, and Ed Canepa.

College Students To Sing In East Bay Festival

Under the auspices of the East Bay Federation of Churches a special all music Thanksgiving service, directed by Glen H. Woods will be held in the Oakland Auditorium Arena, Tuesday, November 22, at 8:00 p.m., according to Franklin Cornhouse, chairman of the Oakland Board of Education.

"It has been requested," said Woods, superintendent of music in Oakland public schools, "that our thousand voice chorus repeat Handel's Hallelujah Chorus, and Stoart's Gloria from the Twelfth Mass. In addition to full chorus numbers," he continued, "each participating choir will render one or two numbers by themselves."

Charles Truman, committee chairman for the event declared that rehearsals for these difficult songs will begin in the near future, and plans for the remainder of the program are well under way.

Among the participating choruses is Wood's Saturday Morning Choir, of which several of the college's students are choir members.

Army engineers are building highways across Yerba Buena Island to connect the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition with the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge.

Careful estimates indicate that 4,000,000 tourists will come to California in 1939 for the Golden Gate International Exposition.

Club Slants - Social Activities Prevail; Banquets Planned

French Club . . . will hold its next meeting Thursday, October 20. Further details of the meeting will be posted on the bulletin board at Powell Street.

* * *

Pick and Hammer . . . social event of the season will take place tomorrow night with a dinner meeting at the Shanghai-Low Restaurant. All members are bringing guests, and will be entertained by Francis J. Sperisen, president of the Northern California Mineralogical Society.

Sperisen, who is an authority on precious stones, will talk on "Gems Through the Ages."

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Green and Jennet Henderson will also attend this important meeting. Anyone who is interested is urged to see Green.

It was decided at the last meeting that the members of the club would compile material on geology, and this research work would go to form a permanent record for the club.

* * *

Chess Club . . . held its usual Friday night meeting at the home of Henry J. Ralston, sponsor. Bob Switzer was elected president of the group for this semester . . . There are still a few vacancies for recruits who are interested in playing chess . . . At present, the players are diligently preparing themselves for the Chess League in which they will participate. Announcement of the meetings will always be posted on the bulletin board at Powell Street.

* * *

Hallau Club . . . elected the rest of the club officers at their last meeting. Vice-president, Paula Rossi; secretary, Norma Hoffman; treasurer, Robert Porter; social director, Viola Gibson . . . There will be another meeting Friday night, October 21, at President Ridolfi's home . . . 260 Cornery Street . . . Plans for a bafiquet will be discussed . . . A banquet committee has been appointed, consisting of: Paula Rossi, Elizabeth Porter, Claudia Mattuci, Julius Spector, Robert Parker, Norma Hoffman, and Viola Gibson.

* * *

Harold Hoffman, president of Pi Mu Gamma, pre-medical club, announced that the next meeting will be held Wednesday, October 26. The place of meeting will be posted on the Powell Street bulletin board . . . at 7:30 a.m. A dinner dance will be given Thursday, November 10 at Club Lido. All biological students are urged to attend . . . All those who were unable to join the organization previously have time to join the group now. All that is required is a biological science, pre-medical, pre-nursing, pre-dental, or pre-pharmacy major.

* * *

Alpha Gamma Sigma . . . will hold the first meeting of the semester Wednesday, October 26, at 2 p.m. in the Little Theatre at Galileo . . . All students interested are urged to attend.

* * *

Initiation of the Tri Epsilon fraternity pledges was held Saturday night, October 8, and ended Monday, October 10.

New members are Tom Emery, Bud Ennis, Eddie Murphy, Harold Lund, Harvey Boutin, Lowry Bowman, Scott Witmouth, Malcolm Jacobs, Frank Hospodarsky, and Bud Engeman.

Alpha Phi Omega . . . is planning a skating party with the Tri Epsilon and the date will be announced later . . . New pledges were initiated at a banquet held at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel . . . Pledges are: Dorothy Trood, Barbara Orack, Muriel Nelson, Virginia Bulmore, Mildred Grey, Margaret Gaddy, Phyllis Roberts, Irene Williams, Kay Lloyd, Vera Herridon, Marion McKillop, and Ruby Klistoff.

* * *

Music Club . . . will meet this evening at the home of Kay Warner . . . 640- 29th Avenue . . . 8 p.m. . . . The group meets fortnightly at one of the members homes . . . Plans for the forthcoming semester's activities will be discussed tonight, announced Bob Scott, president. Various activities already dated on the social calendar include the Halloween party scheduled for the end of October . . . The Music Club is planning a Christmas Concert to be given at the end of the semester.

* * *

Home Economics Association . . . Old and new members will get together at the initiation dinner to be held on Friday, October 21, at Sigmund Stern Grove. An Italian dinner, the cost of which will be 35 cents, will be followed by the initiation and games. Students who have already taken a home economics course in this college, or who are at present in a home economics class are invited to attend. The members on the various committees are: Food Committee: Nancy Ross, Beverley Cooper, Violet Burgess, Helen Hicky. Initiation Committee: All old members. Social Committee: Jean Collins, Dixie McCormick, Mary Scatterbol, Teckla Regoli, Helen Hicky, and Violet Burgess.

* * *

Next event on the social calendar of the Rifle and Pistol Club will be a barn dance, November 10, at Cordonices Park in Berkeley. Howard Markovits announced.

According to Jane Mitchell, head of the club's social functions, It will be a costume affair with games as well as dancing.

Omicron Phi Pi . . . initiation last Monday, preceding a reception held at the home of Michael Zarchin, faculty member in charge of the organization. Those initiated were Albert Plau, John Ellis, Fred Vast, and Russell Pritchard. A partial list of those eligible for Omicron Phi Pi membership are Louis Clisbee, Geo. Barden, Ruth Brogger, Leonard Holmboe, Tom Parkinson, Richard Wagner, Richard Holmes, Ray Healy, and Elliot Ball.

A semi-annual banquet will be held tonight at St. Germain Restaurant at 60 Ellis Street. Dinner will be served at 8 p.m. A program has been outlined to follow the dinner. A few faculty members have already signified their intention of attending the affair. For reservations members should see Ed Casady, Charles Vaughn, or Albert Graves.

The next meeting of the Omicrons will probably be held on Friday, October 28. The groups topic for discussions will be the "California $30 Every Thursday Pension Plan."

* * *

Announcement of the annual Iota Chi dance which will take place on October 28 at Milligan's, Arguello at Geary, was received today. The dance, which is by invitation only, will follow the initiation of the fraternity's ten pledges.

This will be the first of a number of social affairs to be sponsored by Iota Chi during the semester. Other affairs being planned are a skating party, a hay ride and a formal dance which will be given at the close of the year.

The newly organized Drama Club held its first regular meeting two weeks ago. Bob Blackwell was elected president; Seymour Mouber, vice-president, and Rema Corbit, secretary. Mrs. Ruth Somers, is faculty adviser for the society.

The second meeting of the club will convene at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in room 207 at Galileo.

Masonic Club . . . all junior Masonics are urged to attend this meeting . . . Friday, October 21, room 205, 2:07 p.m., Galileo High School. The group will discuss plans for a dance and also pins for the organization . . . Gordon Sollman was elected president, and the other officers are: Doris Schlacks, vice-president; recording secretary, Charlotte Nield; corresponding secretary; Joy Anna Mack; treasurer, Frank Hospadarsky, and historian, Ray Witt.

* * *

Next regular meeting of the Newman Club will take place on Monday night October 24th, in the clubrooms at St. Mary's Cathedral, according to Newman Club Prexy Dave Johnson. Plans for numerous activities which are to take place in the near future, will be discussed.

Purposes of the Newman Club are identical with the activities: Religious, Educational, and Social, in that order of importance. Activities of the club range from Corporate Communions, Discussion of Study Clubs, Retreats, Lectures and Debates to Parties, Dances, Picnics, Dramatics, Card Parties. Each Newman Club has a Chaplain for the Spiritual guidance and assistance of the members.

* * *

Telephone bridge and rummy sale will probably be given by the Women's Service Society as a means of raising money for next year's scholarship, according to Marjorie Wright, WSS president.

Tentative plans were discussed at the last meeting at the home of Betty McAliter. Pledges, Annette Schunick, Virginia Moreau, Claire Presley, Gyta Anderson, Gloria Miller, Dolly Bernthol, and Norma Hoffman, were honored at the meeting.

Tomorrow the Lambda Chi sorority will initiate eight pledges at the Western Women's Club. The sorority, under the advisership of Margaret Brennan, held its rush tea at which a number of the women of the college were invited.

The meetings are held in the clubrooms of the American Association of the University for Women.

Eileen Rae, of the registrar's office, will succeed Helen Kelly as adviser of the Phi Beta Rho, according to Betty Nelson, sorority member.

A meeting was held last Sunday for the pledges at Lorraine Haffmayer's home. Ruth Graham, Betty Nelson, Barbara Carryer, Jerry Fisher, Barbara Randall, Louise Jamison, Mary Louise McNutt, Jean Collins, Marian Androvich, Marian Delano, Marge Pomeroy, and Muriel Mills, comprised the active members of the sorority.

* * *

A meeting of students interested in organizing a Jewish Student Club will be held next Friday evening under the leadership of David Breman. The meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock at the home of Dr. Michael Zarchin.

COLLEGE CAMPUS LOCATION

Arrow points to white space, but now the foundation of the first academic unit of the future junior college campus occupies that location. The site is at Ocean and Phelan Avenues, accessible by the K and L2 street cars.

WANTED—MEN STENOGRAPHERS! BUSINESS DEPARTMENT RECEIVES REQUEST FOR COLLEGE-EDUCATED CLERK

"We need men stenographers! Highly remunerative positions are open to young men completing the Business Course offered by the college." Thus did F. G. Marsh voice an appeal to a group of the male members of the college, urging more men to enroll in business classes.

In substantiation of his statement, Marsh told of a request received by the Business Department, for a young man with a knowledge of shorthand and bookkeeping, to fill an out-of-town position with a salary starting at $125.00, and with a chance for advancement. Unfortunately, there were no men available at the time.

All students who complete the course are assured of a position as they are placed by the Business Department, which receives a steady demand for available students. At present, women students enrolled in the business classes are given actual experience by working in business offices at frequent intervals.

The business course, second only to the Hotel and Restaurant Division, offers a curriculum of 38 subjects pertaining to the training of a student preparing for a business career. Among the various subjects offered is a course on Office Machinery, which trains operators in the use of the Dictaphone, Ediphone, and the Duplicating machines, and a course on the operation of the various calculating machines.

The finishing touch is added by the Personal Development course, established to answer the students' questions on how the business man or woman should dress in an office and what his personal appearance, his manners and his attitude should be.

RETRACTION

The Guardsman takes this means of stating that the article appearing in the issue of September 28 under the caption: "Registration of Students Failing to Pay Dues to be Cancelled" is erroneous and that the paper regrets its publication.

It was intended that the article in question be considered merely a notice, to those students named therein, to appear before the comptroller to complete their registration, records of which have been lost.

It is not the policy of the college nor The Guardsman to embarrass any student by publicizing matters pertaining to his personal or financial conditions.

CENTURY CLUB SCENE OF SUCCESSFUL AWS TEA; 400 PRESENT

Some 400 women attended the first Associated Women Students tea, held last Thursday at the Century club, which, according to Margaret Dougherty, sponsor, was a decided success.

"In addition to our own guests," said Miss Dougherty, "we had representatives from Lowell High School, Balboa, Commerce, Washington, Galileo, Polytechnic, Mission, Miss Burkes, Hamlin, St. Rose, Notre Dame, St. Brigid, Presentation, and St. Paul."

From the five speakers the women learned something of vocational opportunities, and what is expected of a business woman.

Much color was added to the affair by the Japanese and Chinese students who helped serve dressed in complete oriental attire.

"I want to extend my thanks to all women who worked on the tea committees and to those who, by attending helped to make the occasion so enjoyable," declared Miriam Dunne, AWS president.

Plans for the next AWS event are now under way, according to Miss Dunne. It is to be a tea dance, and will be one of the features of Sophomore week. This too will take place at the Century club.

Peace Society Widens Activity Scope; To Publish Bulletin, Sponsor Socials

Enlargement of its scope of activity to include social affairs and publication of a bulletin to develop its purpose of stimulating interest in current world affairs as related to peace, are the aims of the Peace Society this semester, according to Robert Porter president of the organization.

"A wiener roast Saturday, November 29 at Lend's End will be the first social function of the semester," announced Porter. "Preceding each meeting of the Peace Society there will be a bulletin published for the benefit of college students interested in the preservation of world peace," he continued. "Members of the society will contribute articles pertaining to the general subject of preserving peace."

"Can the Have-Not Nations Be Appeased?" will be the topic of discussion at the next meeting, Monday evening, October 31 at the home of Carol Pickering. Dorothy Pilgrim will uphold the affirmative, stating that the nations can be appeased, and Enforcement of President Roosevelt in the controversy over the proposed $30 Per Week Pension Plan has caused considerable comment in many of the periodical monthlies available in the college library. Among the better articles available in the college library are those appearing in the September 12 issue of Time and the September issue of the Magazine of the Pacific. The first article mentioned is entitled California - Funny Money Man and contains excellent material for debating this question. The other article considers Hot Money For California.

Bing Crosby's latest production, 'Sing You Sinners,' is another current topic among the magazines available. Interesting comment on this latest hit may be found in the New Republic for August 31, and in Time for August 29.

Music majors and opera enthusiasts will be interested in knowing that several of the operas to be presented here in the city are reviewed quite adequately in the reserve room book, The Standard Operas by G. Upton. Among those contained in this book which will be presented soon are: Don Pasquale, La Forza del Destino, and Wagner's Maestersingers of Nurnberg.

Students are urged by Frances Colligan, librarian, to take advantage of the college library service and to watch this column for informative articles which are appearing currently in magazines and books.

Library Lists New Books, Periodicals

A Norwegian-American auxiliary has been formed in San Francisco to promote Norwegian representation at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

Harry Becker, the negative, contending that they cannot.

"Plans now under way for an Armistice Day Program, November 10 in the lecture hall at the Education Building, will be discussed at the meeting," Porter announced.

PASS YOUR EXAMS!
Coaching of Daily Work
Help with Special Problems
French, Spanish, Italian, German
ROBERT de NIVELLE
DElaware 9987

LEARN "CONTRACT BRIDGE" . . .
— A Social Necessity —
Beginners class opens Monday Evening, October 10, 7:30-9:00
NORTHERN CALIFORNIA BRIDGE STUDIO
530 MASON STREET near Sutter
ARTHUR WATERMAN, Culbertson Associate SUter 9558

NEED A TYPEWRITER? . . .
Rent REMINGTON NOISELESS TYPEWRITERS at same cost as noisy machines . . . All carriage widths, type styles, keyboards . . . Also standards, portables . . . Rental from manufacturer guarantees QUALITY.
Remington Typewriter Division
Remington Rand, Inc.
509 Market Street Phone: DOuglas 8600

shoes, socks, studs and all the other accessories that are correct for your—
MIDNIGHT BLUE DOUBLE BREASTED TUXEDO $30
MIDNIGHT BLUE TAILCOAT - $30
Roos Bros
MARKET AT STOCKTON

Valuable Prizes Offered In Fair Contest See Story Below

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

The Guardsman

SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Skin The Gators At Roberts Field Next Friday, Oct. 28

Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1938 No. 9

Navy Assembly Feting Fleet Begins At Noon

Commander Colin Campbell To Speak At Powell Meet

Under the auspices of the Army and Navy club, a Navy Day assembly will be held today in the Powell street lecture hall at 12 noon. All classes are invited and urged to attend.

The assembly, which is the first of its kind, promises to be "one of the most enjoyable and entertaining ever held at the college," according to Commander F. G. Marsh, co-sponsor of the club. Marsh has been successful in obtaining Commander Colin Campbell, personnel officer of the 12th naval district as the guest speaker. Campbell will discuss various naval activities. President Archibald J. Cloud and Dean Edwin C. Browne will also speak.

Music for the occasion will be provided by the Lowell High School band which will play The Star Spangled Banner, American Patrol, Don't Give Up the Ship, and Anchors Aweigh.

In conjunction with the assembly, a Navy Day program was broadcast over radio station KYA last night at 8:45 p.m. Two students of the college, Walter Gardner, recently a musician in the navy, and Bob McGuire, recently a midshipman at the United States Naval Academy, spoke. Commander Marsh expressed his appreciation of the work done by these two students, Gordon Sollman, president of the Army and Navy Club, and Bill Gibson, secretary in connection with the navy day program.

The 12th Naval District has graciously extended the invitation to all college students to visit the warships at anchor in San Francisco bay during the coming week-end.

Scripbooks, Cash Prizes Offered In Golden Gate Exposition Essay Contest

For the purpose of stimulating interest in the fair approaching 1939 Golden Gate international Exposition, the Women's Board of the Exposition Contest Committee is announcing a nationwide essay contest for students in Junior High Schools, High Schools and Junior Colleges of California.

The essays, not to exceed 1000 words, are to be written on the general subject heading of contributions of Pacific cultures and represent contemporary civilization. Any topic under the general heading, discussing some notable contribution from the Pacific Area to world civilization, may be chosen.

Choices Offered

The subject may be limited to some one item, such as a natural resource or the work of man; it may be the total contribution of some particular people; it may be the contribution of one people to one field of human advance.

According to Miriam Gatley of the English department it will be better to choose for treatment a relatively small topic and to gather information about it from a number of sources than to cover briefly a very large subject.

The awards committee, she said, will be more impressed with evidences of original search for information than with any near restatement of a whole book. Particularly, value will be attached to evidence showing that, apart from reading, the essay writer has also taken advantage of local opportunities to secure first-hand information (as, for example, by interviewing people who have traveled; by inquiring about the origins of articles sold or found in use; or about the origin of the materials that go into industries, or the origin of designs used by the like.)

Headings Listed

The following headings are given merely by suggestions of subjects under which some suitable topic may be found. They do not include the whole field; they are in almost every case too large to form the topic for

(Continued on page 4, column 6)

AMS BARN DANCE SCHEDULED FOR OCTOBER 29

Amori, Artists Decorate Scottish Rite Hall In True Halloween Style

Offering an added attraction of "free apple-cider," the Associated Men Students will hold their third annual Halloween Dance at the Scottish Rite Hall, Sutter at Van Ness, October 29. Dancing will be from 9 till 12.

President Mickey Berman, AMS leader, promises "free apples and maybe Yum-Yum" along with the apple cider. The dance hall will take on the atmosphere of a real "hayloft jighouse" with batches of fall corn and genuine pumpkins and a few bales of hay strewn at strategic spots throughout the room.

Music will be provided by a popular ten-piece orchestra with a vocalist; all musicians will dress in keeping with the occasion.

Joseph A. Amori, faculty adviser, said "Farm clothes and masks are necessary for admission to the dance. Admission, as usual, is by student body card only, and we will have an identification committee at the door."

The committee handling the affair is composed of Berman, Hal Fischer, AMS vice-president; Howard Cloud, and Amori.

Richard Allman and his art department have designed appropriate Halloween decorations to add to the atmosphere of the dance.

"We are expecting a large gathering, and there will be plenty of room for everyone in the college. We realize that some of the students will go to the dance by street-car, so we are not making costumes compulsory. This is a barn dance and everyone is expected to wear a mask," said Mickey Berman, Men's Club president.

Low-Soph Dance Will Be Held In Colonial Room Of St. Francis, November 5

Low Sophomores on Saturday night, November 5, in the Colonial Room of the Hotel St. Francis will sponsor the third class dance in a series of four, Barbara Randall, chairman of the Social Committee announced last week.

"The Low Sophomore class officers, Frank Verducci, president, Marie Hieser, vice president and Mike Hanrahan, secretary-treasurer, with the social committee, have planned the evening of dancing. The dance promises to more than meet the standard set by the last two dances," Miss Randall declared.

"As yet," Miss Randall said, "the social committee has not reached a decision as to whether the dance will be informal or street. Ed Murphy's orchestra has been secured and will play from 9 o'clock until 12. The admission price as in the last two class dances will be one student body card per couple."

A Cappella Choir Presents Program Next Thursday In Powell Lecture Hall

Unsung at home but lauded wherever they have appeared elsewhere, members of the college A Cappella Choir will present a program at 11 o'clock on Thursday morning, November 3, in the assembly hall at Powell Street.

Last year the choir sang at Marquette and was so well received that Claudio Badger, music instructor, is presenting the choir to the college on Thursday, as a preview to the program which will be presented on the following day, November 4. On that date the choir will travel down the peninsula and appear before the high schools at Mountain View, Sunnyvale and Palo Alto.

The program to be presented will include a group of four numbers by the entire ensemble which will be: Junior College Alma Mater, Tenebrae Factse Sunt by Palestrina, from III Do Thou Defend Me by Bach, and Hodie Christus Natus Est by Willan. Following these numbers, Bob Scott, Arnold Chapin, Everett Wallace and William Jackman will sing Shortnin' Bread by Wolf. Baritone solos by Charles Piper, and a duet by Bob Scott and Patricia Keefer will precede the final sections by the group. Silent Night by Brahms, Christmas Pie, Old English, Music When Soft Voices Die by Dickinson, and Wassail, Old English are the final numbers of the program.

"I would like to invite every man and woman in the college," said Miss Badger, "to come and bring their friends to hear this concert by the choir. It is not only the largest group we have had, it is also the best."

Miss Badger To Appear In Stockton Concert Next Month

Appearing in the first of the College of the Pacific's fall concert series on Tuesday evening, November 1, at Stockton, will be Flossita Badger, college music director.

Miss Badger's colorful career includes five seasons with the San Francisco Opera Company for which she appeared in many roles; one season with the famous Royal Opera San Carlo in Naples, Italy, and several appearances as a concert artist in Paris.

She has now been invited by Pi Kappa Lambs, international honor music fraternity of which Miss Badger is a member, to represent them before the faculty, students and friends of the College of the Pacific.

Miss Badger's program will be divided into three parts. Part one will include: Aria from the Contata, I Had Great Heaviness of Heart, by Bach; Feldeinsamkeit by Brahms; Morgen by Richard Strauss; Elfinlied by Wolf. The second part of the concert will be Dich Theure Halle from Tannhauser by Wagner.

Concluding the program Miss Badger will sing: Il Pleure dans Mon Coeur by Debussy; Mandoline, also by Debussy; and three early American folk tunes, He's Gone Away, arranged by Lee Sowerby; Little Mohee, arranged by Ernst Bacon; and Happiness, arranged by Richard Hageman.

FUTURE MARCONIS WORK HARD

That they do work diligently is shown above. At Gompers School, where radio engineering classes are under the direction of instructor Lovell Hollingsworth, students learn the fundamental lessons of inventions contributed by Marconi. Someday they too may enlarge an ever-growing field.

In picture 1, Anghoon-Warren and Lawrence Lipke test their Public Address System. Next to them, in picture 2, George Young and Dempster Bollinger perfect their radio set. In the background are Clay Robinson and Vincent Sherman.

Before a complicated switch-board, Jack Foman pulls one in picture 3. Again with the radio set in picture 4, instructor Hollingsworth explains technical details to Clay Robinson, Victor Krakow, Anthony Sato and James Beck.

GOMPERS TRADE SCHOOL SCENE OF RADIO ENGINEER COURSES; CONSTRUCTION, THEORY STUDIED

By walking and taking a 20 minute street car ride, one may journey from Powell Street to Gomper's Trade School, where the Radio Engineers learn the theory of radio construction and how to apply that theory.

In an atmosphere of squealing loud-speakers, swing, opera, "1,2,1,2" whistling, and static, the 26 students work on public-address systems, and long and short wave radios.

There are three classes in all, Radio Engineering 51A, 51B, and 52D.

The students in 51A, which is the first semester's course, work on elementary receiving sets and public-address systems, while the more advanced students work on more complicated amplifiers and radios, repairing them and putting them together.

Visitors may be shown a small public-address system which gives tremendous volume to a recording of "A Tisket, A Tasket" with about half the power required to run the smallest home radio's loud-speaker. L. M. Hollingsworth, instructor of the class, also showed a portable public-address system which was adapted to the use of a microphone, and several machines used for testing all kinds of amplifiers.

Bill Williams, a former student of radio in the college, who left last semester to join the Coast Guard, recently visited the college plant. Williams will soon be a radio operator on his ship. He said, "Radio Engineering is the most practical course taught in the college. I've already had a chance to practice what I learned there."

Williams' opinion is shared by every radio student and by many faculty members. Like other students the engineers are looking forward to the erection of the college buildings and the better facilities they will offer.

Chamber of Commerce Endorses Course

The following resolution was approved by the Board of Directors of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce on October 6th, 1938:

RESOLVED, That the Life Insurance Committee of the San Francisco Junior College, as it is the sense of this committee that there is urgent need for such education, and the cooperation of this committee is pledged, assuming approval of this resolution which is recommended to the Board of Directors of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

College Business Student Listed Eighth Highest In Civil Service Exam

In competition with 200 other applicants in a Civil Service examination for Duplicating Machine operators, in and around the vicinity of San Francisco, Lily Meyer, a student of the college business department was listed in eighth place. Her score was 84.03.

Among those who graduated from the business department and who now hold responsible positions are: Lillian Pelletier, Boy Scout Headquarters, San Francisco; Marcia Scobey, stenographer, Hancock Life Insurance Co.; Norma Lee Parent, stenographer in Personnel Department, Bank of America; Lou Hagerman, California Packing Corporation; Grace Cecchi, McCann Furniture Co., Oakland; Bob Ife, stenographer-secretary, Matson Steamship Company; Doug Dowd, stenographer, Columbia Steel.

School Officials Approve Architect's Original Building Plans For Campus

Complete modernization of the new junior college plant scheduled to go under construction in the near future was insured last week by the decision of the Board of Education to have the architects adhere to the original plans.

Alterations in the plans for the first unit had been considered, but were not adopted, so the building will be constructed as planned. This unit, the science building, will exemplify the most up-to-date architectural designs and will be built of Indiana limestone, with the front inlaid with ceramic tile.

The inside of the plant will also be strictly modern in every way, and the laboratories and science rooms will be equipped with the newest facilities for research. In addition to these rooms, the building will also contain some lecture halls and study rooms, and it is possible that provisions may be made for a library.

This unit will be the first to be occupied by students of the college when they move to the new site next year, as it will be completed before the other parts of the plant. Foundation work is complete for this unit, and has not yet begun on the other buildings.

Cost of the science building is estimated at $900,000, according to school officials, and $400,000 will go toward the completion of the gymnasium and athletic fields. Little work will have to be done on the fields, as there is already a large tract of land on the site equipped with drainage facilities and suitable for use by athletes.

State Joins In Pep Rally Tomorrow Night At Galileo

College Will Play Host To Golden Tide Supporters; Talent From Both Institutions To Be Presented

With co-operation from San Francisco State College, Hugh Waite, head yell leader, has announced the staging of a double-sized joint rally with that institution tomorrow night in the Galileo Auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Students from San Francisco State will occupy one-half of the Galileo Auditorium, while the local rooters will be given the remainder of the hall. Students attending from this college will be seated in the proper section by members of the Rally Committee.

Each college will present a separate program for the enjoyment of its own students and those of the opposite faction.

Student Leaders Speak

Verne Ouillette, head yell leader of San Francisco State, will present the various entertaining features representing his institution. Four or five acts will be introduced by Ouillette, after which Waite will present selected talent from his recent talent hunt.

Student body presidents from both institutions will speak to the assemblage on the football game to be played Friday night between the two traditional rivals. At the conclusion of the speeches, the visitors will be led in several of their college yells by their respective yell leaders, to be followed immediately by competition from the local forces.

Waite Urges Co-operation

"This will be the largest rally we have attempted in some time," declared Waite. "It must be remembered that we are acting as hosts to San Francisco State and it is our duty to treat our guests accordingly. The college desires to retain the good impression we now have with our local rivals. To have a successful rally there must be friendly spirit between the two factions. Please act accordingly."

This rally, really to be successful, must be packed to the rafters with both San Francisco State and college students so that neither faction can outdo the other. Waite urges all students to attend as he desires to show State rooters with what spirit the students of this college regard their football battle with State the following evening.

Debaters Meet State Next Week To Discuss Single Tax Amendment

Subject of the debate between San Francisco Junior College and San Francisco State College on November 2, announced Joseph Meeko, chairman of the Phi Rho Pi, college debate society, will be, Resolved: That the single tax amendment should be adopted by the voters of California. The debate, to be held in room 462 at Galileo High School at 3:30 p.m., is open to all those interested in debating.

San Francisco State will uphold the affirmative, declaring that the amendment should be adopted in California, and Rema Corbit and William Switzer will present the negative viewpoint.

"Saturday, October 29," announced Meeko, "the Phi Rho Pi plans to participate in 'a non-competitive day' at Stockton Junior College. The trip to Stockton will mark the first in a series of jaunts away from the college to participate in discussions. Last semester, under faculty adviser Lloyd E. Luckmann, the debate team travelled almost 1800 miles."

Of great interest to the college society, said Meeko, will be a speech conference in Bakersfield Junior College on November 10, 11, 12. All junior colleges of northern California are invited to attend the conference. Debating, oratory, and extemporaneous speeches will be features of the conference.

Early in November, the debate team of Modesto Junior College will be the guests of the college Phi Rho Pi. More than fifteen challenges have been sent out by the organization to junior colleges of northern California.

NYA Checks To Come October 28; New Time Sheet System Started

National Youth Administration students will receive their pay checks not later than Friday, October 28 . . . Edward H. Redford, director of NYA announced the inauguration of a new type of time sheet which makes it more simple to check hours worked. The time sheet requires the supervisor's signature once a week to avoid any doubt as to whether the student has worked that week. "This is the first month we have tried this new system and I would greatly appreciate any suggestions or criticisms," Redford said.

Good Will Speeches To High School Students Begin November 1

To acquaint high school seniors with the opportunities of this college from the student's point of view, good will speeches will begin November 1 at George Washington High School, according to James S. Hughes, speech instructor.

The past speeches have been very successful and we are sure that many students have had their attention directed to the opportunities of this college," stated Hughes.

The speakers will emphasize the extra class activities, the vocational courses, radio engineering, insurance, and restaurant management.

Paul Mohr, registrar, has made the contacts with the high schools. Speakers will be Herbert Crow, Pamela Wright, Floyd Laurence, Carol Blumenberg, Irvin Silberstein, Jim Beaury, Peg Park, and Stanford Jurvig.

The good will speeches were first introduced into the college two years ago.

Faculty Association To Hear Coffey At Meeting

Meeting this afternoon at 3:30 p.m. at Galileo High School in Room 362, the Faculty Association of San Francisco Junior College will hear a discussion by Walter B. Coffey on the plan of Health Insurance.

Faculty Association President, Edward Sandys declared, "I wish to urge the entire faculty to come and hear Dr. Coffey. He has made an extensive study of this problem and his views will be of interest to all."

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1938 No. 9

FRED VAST....EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser — Joan Nourse
Business Adviser — Edward H. Redford

Dick Simpers....Assistant Editor
Bill Frantz....News Editor
John Julius....Sports Editor
Ray Berns....Ass't Sports Editor
Carol Pickering....Women's Editor
Dorothy Trood....Club Editor
Sam Galstaun....Staff Photographer
Fred Bentley....Business Manager
Paul Judson....Advertising Manager

REPORTERS

Ethan Bernstein, Bob Fex, Lois Gipson, Leonard Gross, George Hoffman, Dave Johnson, Adele Kuhn, Isadore Maloff, Charles Martin, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Ed Van der Veen, Sylvia Wall, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Publications Council Necessary At This College

NEED for a publications council in the college was recognized last week when Associated Students President Robert Fex appointed a committee to investigate the possibilities of establishing a board to coordinate activities of publications.

For a long time proponents of a body to supervise the publications field at the college have attempted to convince the student executive of its necessity. Justly, opponents of the proposal have argued that there are not enough publications to warrant organizing a committee to direct the activities.

However, the college is growing rapidly, and the need for a publications council is becoming increasingly evident each semester. Since we are building for the future and also meeting today's problems, it is logical that a board of publications be organized now.

At present there is The Guardsman, official organ of the Associated Students of San Francisco Junior College and Forum, literary magazine of the college issued and edited by the Forum Club. Organizations and individuals of the institution have expressed a desire to distribute bulletins and some have done so.

A publications council, if organized would have to be a part of the Associated Students organization, becoming a semi-independent body responsible to the executive council. Its position would be similar to the Club Advisory Board or the Social Committee. To become a legalized council an amendment would have to be made to the constitution. Article V of the constitution, which is concerned with amendments, requires a petition signed by ten per cent of the student body and then ratified at a meeting of the association by two-thirds of the members present.

Functions of the publications should include

1. Determination of what shall be the official publications of the Associated Students.
2. Outline of the general policies of each publication.
3. Granting of permission for distribution of literature other than official publications.
4. Knowledge of the financing and advertising methods of each publication, both official and unofficial.

Membership on the council should consist of the editors and business managers of the various official publications which will probably be determined as the year book, as soon as it is published, the Forum, and the Guardsman. Assistance of the various advisers to the different publications to the council would undoubtedly be a great help. We believe consideration of these factors by those who are interested in establishing a publications council should be made before final action is taken. Members of the committee formulating plans would be interested to hear any proposals that any student or faculty member may have.

Executive Council Meetings Open To Everybody

COMPLAINTS are often made about the executive council to the effect that it is not representative of the entire Associated Students and that it is only concerned with the problems of only a certain section of the student body.

Whatever truth may be attached to these accusations is the fault of those who are complaining. If they would attend the meetings of the Executive Council and let their wishes be known, then the ruling body would become aware of other problems and contrary opinions on various issues.

Only when you let yourself be heard will your wish be carried through. Executive Council meetings are held every Thursday, at 2:30 p.m. in Room 257 at Galileo High School. The confabs are open to all members of the Associated Students.

Then—As Now: Let The Man Speak

Editor's Note: Usually time at least seems to be marching on. Occasionally one has the feeling that things are the same today as they were yesterday. Nothing fosters such a sensation more than re-reading "yesterday's newspaper".

The following editorial was written and published in 1936 by former editor of The Guardsman, William Rawson. It speaks of all time, though the terminology may be changed. Because it embodies an ideal toward which all editors strive, it is reprinted here in full. 1936 or 1938,—indeed in 2038 it might well preserve itself in an editor's memorandum book.

Speech is the light, the morning of the mind;
It spreads the beauteous images abroad,
Which else lie furl'd and shrouded in the soul.
—Dryden.

FREEDOM of speech and press is written in, and implied by, the constitution of the United States of America.

There can be little doubt that much freedom and liberality is taken in some instances by those who control various presses. On the other hand, some of these same men endeavor to suppress speech and to make open statements that they deem contrary to their policies fit reason for incarcerating the ostensible offenders on charges of high treason against the State.

The average American, consciously or unconsciously, supports this attempted suppression of the right to discuss one's sincere beliefs.

Let a man even speak tolerantly of communism, socialism, or allied-isms, and his erstwhile friends shy from him, look upon him as though he were in the throes of degeneration.

Flat, bigoted condemnation of that which one considers adverse can never quell the imagined, or real, menace. Sensible, level headed consideration combined with cool, unbiased discussion, can serve better than suppression in taking a short cut to the solution of problems.

Although it is doubtful that any form of government other than that cherished by this country since its organization as an independent State would be more suitable to its people, consideration, attempted logical thoughts about others is not amiss when so many men and women are certain in their own hearts that a change is desirable.

Suppression of their ideas cannot and will not work! History has proved that the iron fist invites and causes hatred and bloodshed.

Those so-called 100 per cent Americans who see the red flag waving at every street corner gathering and immediately cry, "Away with the traitors!" are the real menaces to the peace of the citizenry. They are the iron fist in its embryonic stage.

Unless they broaden their minds, substitute brotherly love and consideration for bigotry and hypocrisy, their iron fist will, in time, find itself soaked in the blood of the American people.

THIS PUZZLING WORLD

Edited by
Milton J. Puzzletsar and Henry J. Riddleston

FLASH! Late Bulletin . . .

At the dead line several letters and a petition signed by a group of readers requested the continuance of This Puzzling World. In accordance with reader sentiment this column will be continued.

Analysis of last week's puzzle:

WHO KILLED JACK DONOVAN?

(Suggestion: Get two pencils of different colors. Underscore all true statements with one color; all false statements with the other.)

The following statements are definitely true: Tony, 3b: "The murder was committed on St. Patrick's Day." 3d: "One of us is guilty."

The following statements must be true: Red, 5a: "I did not kill Donovan.". Red, 5d: "Shorty lied when he said I was guilty." Reason: If one of these statements were wrong, the other would have been wrong also, and each person made only ONE wrong statement.

Since 5a is true, 1c must be false.
Since 1c is false, Shorty's remaining three statements must be true.
Since 1a is true, 3e must be true.
Since 1d is true, 4c must be false.
Since 3b, 3c, 3d are true, 3a must be false.
Since 3a is false, 2b must be true.
Since 4c is false, 4a, 4b, 4d must be true.
Since 4b is true, 5b must be true.
Since 4d is true, 2d must be true.
Since 5a, 5b, 5d are true, 5c must be false.
Since 5c is false, 3c is true.
~~Since 2b, 2c~~, 2d are true, 2a is false, and

HANK IS THE GUILTY MAN.

Trenton is 30 miles N. E. of Philadelphia, and statement 2d can be true, even though Hank is the guilty man. Hank did not have to OWN a revolver to kill Jack Donovan.

* * * *

Answer to puzzle No. 0.00 DOES ANYBODY CARE?

At the beginning of the semester the two editors started with the assumption that amongst a college population of 2000 there ought to be a reasonable number with enough curiosity to be interested in puzzles of the logical kind. The editors are not willing, as yet, to admit that they were entirely wrong. They cheerfully admit this however: The number of readers interested enough to drop a line to that effect was 0.00. To meet the tremendous demand, this column will henceforth be expanded to 0.00 puzzles per week. To the editors, at least, it was fun while it lasted!

And as for you, puzzle fans! We shall meet you at the next gigantic S.F.J.C. Puzzle Fan Convention, in the telephone booth, around the corner from room 211, Galileo Building!

Cabbages & Kings

By Blue Pencil Bill

LOU KORAS came up with one of the classiest comebacks we've heard in a long time regarding the similarity of answers in midterm papers when he replied to Mr. Horowitz's query "Well you asked all of us the same questions so how can you help it if you get the same answers?"

* * *

TURN BACK THE CLOCK

Remember when you were a little tyke and you always went to the Saturday matinees with the rest of the kids on the block and romped up and down the aisles of the theater until the picture started? And remember the din and commotion when the lights went out and the title of the beginning picture flashed on the screen, and how you stamped your feet in appreciation of Tom Mix's thrilling capture of the bandit chief?

Those were the good old days when the theater seats were made of plywood and the pictures were without sound. The organist used to play the same music every time the hero and the villain wrestled at the edge of the cliff or chased one another on horseback over the flatlands.

Those were the good old days when the kids had snappy phrases on the tip of their tongues, like: "Wanna do sumpin' big?—Go wash an elaphunt." Those were the days when the best marble player was the neighborhood hero.

There were never any small bets made in kid days. It was always "I betcha a hundred skillion dillion dollars that ya can't do this" or "I betcha all the money in the world that I kin give ya a bloody nose." How funny it is to find now that we've gotten older; how conservative the same kids are when it comes to making a two-bit wager.

OH make us a child till the midterms are over! Bring us back to the happy days when Dad paid all the bills, and the mailman was just another government employee. Amen.

Seen on the train going to Sacramento—Hugh Waite found eight fellows who didn't like each other's looks and were ready to fight at the drop of a hat. Hughie introduced them to one another and when we passed them later, they were eight buddies . . . In the crowded dance car a group of "big applers" went to town . . . "Slim" Thorogood had a thoroughly good time—ask anyone who went on the trip.

Seen in Sacramento—The whole gang of SFJC rooters were met at the station by the Sacramento J.C. rally committee in their "Pioneer" car, containing a complete public address system in the back seat. The "Pioneer" car is a Ford of 1913 vintage, but Chuck Ehmann, one of the Sacramento yell leaders explained that the reason it runs is because they installed a 1919 motor in it. Lining up behind the Pioneer car, our gang marched through the main streets, the Sacramento police car clearing the way.

Seen at the game—Mahoney and Fex got their pants torn. The referee stopped the game until repairs were made. That wasn't the end of the wardrobe destruction. A Sacramento player lost his pants during a play, his teammates kept him covered until the water boy brought a blanket to

(Continued on page 4, column 7)

Presidential Notes

By Bob Fex

Three stupendous nights of activity are on tap for local students, starting with the huge pep rally that is being held jointly with San Francisco State College. This rally promises to be one of the outstanding affairs of the semester, with talent being furnished by both schools, and many unusual specialties by students of both institutions are planned.

Friday night the annual game with State and a great game will be played, as both teams are evenly matched and spirit is higher this year than ever before. Be sure and get to the game early, as it will be an overcrowded affair and we want our rooting section to be full, not only of students, but of spirit.

Saturday night brings the semi-annual AMS barn dance, always one of the outstanding affairs in the past. President "Mickey" Berman and Joe Amori have bigger plans than ever. So get your old clothes together, get your gal or boy friend, your student body card, hop in the family car and come to the big event of the fall season, THE BARN DANCE, held at the Scottish Rite Auditorium, Van Ness Avenue and Sutter Street.

Try to attend all three events and get into the swing of things and you will not be disappointed with the time you have.

(If our "Friend" and "Anonymous Uplifter" would contact us personally, we might be able to straighten out a few of our difficulties.)

RAM THE GATOR!

By MacKillop

Sartorial Modes

By Fashion Fanny

MEN of science and the weather have looked into the magic ball and predicted a rainy season for San Franciscans this winter.

But don't let it worry you, fair ladies. You can laugh right back into the faces of these scholarly men by blossoming out in one of the new rain coats seen in many of the smart shops 'round the town.

The Scotch plaid, lined with beige gabardine for the wet weather, is going to be one of the topnotchers of the season. As it is reversible, you can wear the plaid as a top coat over your college clothes, and even when you're shopping in town.

When the rains come and you're dashing from one campus to the other, just reverse your coat and we'll guarantee that when you arrive at your destination, you'll be as snug as a bug in the rug and not the least bit damp. These coats aren't awkward like some of the old-fashioned rain coats of days gone by.

One smart sport shoppe makes hats and berets to go with its plaid-gabardine coats.

If you belong to one of the old and famous Scotch clans, there's bound to be a coat in your special plaid. These coats also come in many plain colors, but there's something bright and warm about plaids that is very outstanding over the plain ones. The cost? Very inexpensive for two coats in one.

This same shoppe that makes up plaid hats to go with the new rain coats, also makes up chic little velveteens to go with the velveteen afternoon dresses.

This new lavender lipstick that all the women are going wild about, isn't getting a very good reception from the men. One out of ten women look well with it. Another thing that many men like to see in the evening is a woman with gardenias in her hair.

If you like the new, old-fashioned jewelry go up to the old family trunk and I am sure you will find plenty that your grandmother wore some fifty years ago. It's quite the thing to have at least one piece of this chunky jewelry on an afternoon or evening costume.

By Charming Charlie

GENTLEMEN, culture is something that can be acquired. We know, for we ourselves have risen from the slums of New York's Park Avenue to the point where we are now equipped to face life's struggle with a refinement and enlightenment of taste acquired by intellectual and aesthetic training.

Do not be a deceiver, one of those artificial creatures veneered with culture who is simply abhorred by any intelligent person. Instead adopt to yourself a culture of the mind that will stand you in good stead throughout your mortal existence.

One of the college's outstanding organizations is the Block Letter Society.

The society consists of fine, clean-living, athletically-inclined lads who have won a letter for participating in a sport.

Therefore, feeling that these young men deserve some commendation, we have written a little poem entitled "Ode To Sportsmanship," and we dedicate it to you, Treacy Slattery, and your little family of Monogram Men.

Never was there a virtue so strong and fine,
As the one to which I dedicate this ode of mine.
So enduring, courageous, loyal, and true,
It has lived through the ages, and it will do
The work of wars and other things too.
What gives more fun than to play the game square
And to emerge the victor after having fought fair.
Perhaps you were defeated, it is bitter we know,
To leave the field having bowed to the foe
And being enmeshed in a state of woe.
Keep your chin up in the air,
Although having lost, you should not care,
For you played the game the right way.
In future time, you'll be able to say,
"I lost the game, but I carried the day."

AFTER DARK

By John Ward

MORE OPERA NOTES

TO the average business man in the audience, Pelleas et Melisande must have resembled the nightmare of a repressed stenographer. Certainly it took a keen and receptive ear to understand and enjoy the Debussy score. And there were many who found Pelleas a work of genius, pregnant with a beauty rarely to be discovered in as false and as stereotyped a form as opera.

To be sure, there were some we spoke with who found Pelleas utterly incomprehensible—"the ravings of a madman" one particularly bright chap said. Now this might have amused a Victorian but it failed to amuse us. Rather, it appeared a tragedy that there could be so little intellectual curiosity among audiences today (and probably many other days as well). This inability to receive a challenge, readily accept it, and see it to a finish is a sad case.

* * *

HORRIBLE EXAMPLE . . .

If our bright boy had had the background and the necessary acquaintance with Pelleas that makes for an authoritative opinion this discussion would not be necessary. But he, admitting complete ignorance of the whole work, became, for us, a wonderful example of the horribly opinionated know-nothings. Without so much as the batting of an eye he settled for all time (and himself) a question more well-informed minds would be long in debating.

Of course you can do little about such a pigmy mind. But you can keep yourself from allowing such stagnation to take place in your mind. Nothing in the whole world of art can be championed more deservedly than tolerance and an open mind.

* * *

STANDEES INDICATE POPULARITY

Die Meistersinger and the Wagnerian popularity was again observed in these parts, there being a great number of standees for this five solid hour's entertainment. And to stand five hours for even a parade is not exactly an American practice. All of which seconds a theory propounded by one critic that this is the age of the epic in America. Witness the extraordinary popularity for those tomes Anthony Adverse and Gone with the Wind, for O'Neill's nine-act Strange Interlude and three-plays-for-the-price-of-one Mourning Becomes Electra. Witness the popularity of the six day bicycle races.

Especially witness the popularity of Wagner's four hour music-drama Tristan und Isolde which was claimed to be the biggest financial success on New York's Broadway last year. But even after this list of seven day wonders it still amazes us that some music lovers (and do they deserve that title!) are willing to stand for Wagner.

* * *

NEXT YEAR

The great La Scala soprano Stignani proved to be a singer of great quantity and little quality. Vocally and theatrically her husband, Zilani, was far, far superior. It is a definite crime to bring such an excellent singer all the way from Italy to sing but one small role in a season of four weeks. But, then, there are so many actually good singers for this screen that the whole season should be repeated. Still, Mr. Merola probably knows the financial end of opera much better than we could hope, and we want opera next year, so—

"Barkers" must use their lungs on the Midway of the 1939 World's Fair on San Francisco Bay, for no public-address systems will be allowed them.

Plans for summer ski-jumping on 400-acre Treasure Island are being formulated by the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

The 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition will be the first World's Fair to maintain indirect lighting throughout.

. . . while thinking . . .

By Leonard Gross

DURING our rather hectic career we have run across many unusual statements and opinions, but we believe the most outstanding of them all is one which was a headline in one of the daily papers about a week ago. It ran as follows: "Nazi Press Denounces U.S. For New Defense Plans".

Although we have always understood that the German government was at least semi-intelligent, never in our wildest dreams did we expect it to have the colossal nerve to print a statement like that. For a nation that has been building and arming for years, until she now has the greatest war machine the world has ever seen, actually to object when another nation does something similar, is, to say the least, the most ridiculous thing we have ever heard of. Incidentally, our war machine will be used only for defense, while that of the Germans was and is used wholly for aggression.

The German press, in its roaring onslaught, possibly calculated to instill fear into our government, continued its attack by viciously assailing Bernard Baruch, American financier and originator of the proposed expansion of America's naval and military defenses, and gearing up of its industries. Baruch was denounced as a war monger and classified as another of those men who would involve the world in another war to further their own financial interests. The eminent financier, who was chairman of the War Industries Board during the World War, was grouped with other of Germany's enemies; Alfred Duff Cooper, who resigned as Britain's first lord of the admiralty after the Munich accord; Leslie Hore-Belisha, British war secretary who also opposed capitulation to Adolf Hitler; and Sir Norman Angell, British Nobel prize winner.

We would like to point out that all the statesmen Germany condemns are men who refuse to bow to Adolf Hitler and his policies. Evidently the Nazies are unable to stand criticism for fear that the faults in their form of government will be discovered.

The Hitler government also declared that certain groups in America are attempting to create a feeling of hatred between the United States and Germany, but neglected to mention the fact that the German press is continually denouncing the United States as "A horrible democracy" to the people of Germany. Since we are on the subject of hatred, it might be well to mention that if any hatred exists, it is the fault of the Nazi government.

VARSITY MEETS STATE ON GRIDIRON

RAMblings

By Dick Simpers

Verducci Is Scholarly Member of Grid Squad; McManus Goes Over Big

Since the column has already made it its business to "plug" football players who haven't been very much in the spotlight but who have been outstanding, although not spectacular, we take this opportunity to insert a word of praise for a lad who has more than earned it; namely, Frankie Verducci.

A dependable and smashing type of player, Frank has turned in some very nice jobs of work in the games in which he has seen action, and has been a driving force during practice sessions as well as on the gridiron. His field generalship has been above reproach and he ranks among the top-notchers in the scholastic field; nice going, Frank.

* * *

Some of the baseball buddies who shone for the Rams last season have been keeping themselves in shape by playing a little ball in the local Sunday leagues which have been getting under way recently here and in the East Bay. Among the Ram horsehiders now performing for such teams are "Big Ed" Curcio, Arnie Banta, Mickey Berman, Kent Baird, Weaver Galbraith, Frankie Nilan, and Paul Hjort. With the exceptions of Berman and Hjort, all these lads will be back again next spring to gladden the heart of coach Lee Eisan.

* * *

The water polo squad is coming along swimmingly, we are given to understand. It has been greatly strengthened by the addition to the line-up of Bill McManus, Oakland Romeo, who has been churning up the tank like a wild man in recent workouts.

* * *

Sims "Tip" Hamilton, former gridder and oarsman from this institution, has succeeded in making the squad this year at the University of Oregon, and made the trip to New York last week for the Fordham game.

* * *

Random shots: Another blow to the team was the withdrawal from football of Tom Regan . . . Dan "Rythmical" Baker, halfback, is said to have reached the semi-finals in last week's jitter-bug contest . . . both left halfbacks have sworn not to buy any raffle tickets . . McManus has eight already . . . Fex is still bragging about the Buck he bagged on his trip last summer . . . Paul Fechtner is trying to organize a polo team . . . The loss of Eddie Amark was a terrific blow to the tennis team . . . We wonder who the phoney is who's been sending those anonymous letters to our Student Body Prexy . . . We'd never do such a thing . . . Walt Boitano has also been receiving fan mail . . . uncomplimentary . . . Bob Norton, State halfback who will oppose the Rams Friday, played for Lowell in 1931 . . . That's enough.

* * *

"Dutch" Conlan's basketballers are really going into the "big time" next season, having scheduled games with the two most powerful club teams in this vicinity, the Olympics and the Y.M.I. The "Y" team was the one which stopped the Rams after their conquest of St. Mary's in the last P.A. tournament, and the lads will be gunning for them this year. Both tilts will be played on double-header bills, and should prove interesting.

RAM CHOPS

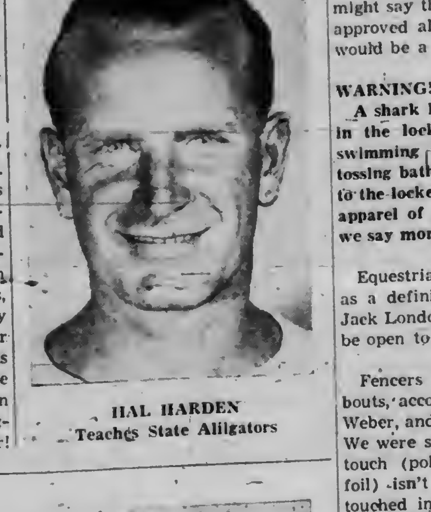
By Jack Schmale

Schmale's Impressions Of Mythical Meeting; Other Athletic Data

A committee, named by nobody, and called the Minus Quantity Organization, had a mythical meeting the other day, and without much argument or deliberation, officially dedicated these present six days, four gone, one here, and two to come, as "Beat State Week."

Because the spirited period was called by the Invisible Man and his colleagues, however, is no reason that its response must, in corresponding terms, go unrecognized or unnoticed. It's Beat State Week, frosh, so get into the spirit of things!

* * *



In four games, excluding last Friday night's assault by Cal Poly, State has scored six points. Its opponents have crossed the Gator goal line for 40. All of which sets the stage for a beautiful upset, with the Rams slated as the goats. State always plays its best game against the locals, an odd, but faithful habit. San Francisco recognizes this game as a real big one. Let's be real San Franciscans.

The Flyin' Lambs are organizing a three or four car caravan to form a rooting section for the Weber game in Ogden Thanksgiving Day. Some of the Lambs, however, may make the jaunt in a Pullman, 'cause there's some varsity suits open. As we went to press a rumor was being launched that Tom Regan, ace varsity tackle was terminating his career here.

* * *

U. S. C., 'tis rumored, has a pretty neat little gadget for place kickers. It's a rubber attachment which goes on front of the kicking foot and guarantees amazing accuracy for field goals and adding points after touchdowns. Although he's conceding an awful lot of pay-dirt excursions, "Bud" Wiechers, who occasionally puts one through the cross bars for the Rams, is considering raising his average by acquiring one of the little handies. "It'll make me an even greater place kicker," modestly exclaims Wiechers—according to rumor!

Co-Coach

HAL HARDEN
Teaches State Alligators

Gator Goes Over Top

Bob Kelnhoffer, ace left halfback of the San Francisco State eleven which collides with Russ Sweet's Ram gridders next Friday night, is shown in action during a recent scrimmage, as he adroitly sidesteps a couple of would-be tacklers. An elusive back and a passing threat, it is believed that Kelnhoffer will be a major factor in the Gators' attack this weekend.

SOCCER SQUAD IN 6-1 VICTORY OVER MENLO

Tom Wilson's soccermen chalked up their first league victory of the season last week when they scored a decisive 6 to 1 victory over Menlo Junior College in a Northern California Intercollegiate soccer game at Beach Chalet field.

Bob Nicco, the Ram's prospective all-league inside right, played center forward in the absence of Jan Blomquist, and personally accounted for four of the local's tallies, while Al Stoltze, inside right, and Mario Georgian, fullback, each scored one.

Nicco "Hot"

Nicco got "hot" early in the first half, and before the game was a few minutes old, he had scored three buckets, all from close in. Stoltze completed the scoring in the first half by booting a goal during the closing minutes of the half.

Menlo took advantage of a momentary lapse on the part of the Ram squad in the first minute of the second half, and scored its lone bucket. Chiesa, college goalie, apparently thought that the ball was going outside the goal-posts as he watched it go by, but got a rude awakening when it slipped inside for a Menlo score.

Georgian made his bucket with a kick from about 40 yards out, while Nicco came through again with another close-in shot for San Francisco's final score.

Backfield Improved

The backfield defense of the San Francisco squad was 100 per cent improved over previous performances, while the offense functioned so brilliantly that Menlo was on the defense most of the game.

Although the team was without the services of Blomquist, center forward, Eads, inside left, and Campbell, center half, the teamwork displayed in passing was excellent.

'Meet the Coaches' No. 5—Joe Amori, Bowling - Boxing

Joseph (jack of all trades) Amori is the college's boxing and bowling mentor, and in addition, teaches typing, mathematics, and hygiene classes.

Amori was born in San Jose and attended San Jose High School, and then went to San Jose State College.

A four-letter man, Joe holds letters for basketball, football, track, and baseball, and was also a member of the soccer squad at San Jose State.

At the age of 21, Amori graduated from San Jose State, and took up a position as a physical education instructor at an Oakland junior high for a period of two years, at the same time holding down a job with the Oakland Recreation Commission as a playground director.

Next, Joe went to the University of California for two years where he received his Masters Degree.

While at California, Amori assisted in the physical education department, having charge of the diet for the college training table for the athletic squads, and also teaching swimming, basketball, and track to the physical education classes.

In 1933, Amori went to San Mateo Junior College where he became co-coach of a championship football squad with Murius McFadden, and coached the casaba outfit into a championship.

Amori came to the college in 1935, and since then has engaged in numerous extra-curricular activities, the most important of which, is his position as adviser to the Associated Men Students.

WOMEN'S SPORTS PARADE

By Carol Pickering

Tourney Week rears its head with the election of a Tourney Week committee. Badminton and tennis have already started tournaments, the finals of which will be played off during a hilarious week.

Chairman of the committee is Marlan Dickie; arrangements, Ladona Callahan; decorations, Muriel Grincll; program, Silvia Wall; entertainment, Mary June Schendel; invitation and hostess, Kathryn Lloyd; and re-arrangements, Rema Corbit.

* * *

To prove that women are about as good as men when it comes to handling guns, more women turned out for Rifle this semester than in any preceding one. A crack team of eight women will soon be defending the laurels of the weaker sex.

* * *

Social Dancers are looking forward to the last class of the semester, when a real orchestra will give the new jitter-bugs their debut. Only members of the class, however, will be admitted to the dance. In an aside we might say the class has gallantly disapproved all rumors that the course would be a flop.

* * *

WARNING!!

A shark in poly-wogs skin is loose in the locker room of the YWCA swimming pool. Her pet menace is tossing bathing caps full of water into the lockers, drenching the wearing apparel of her closest friends. Need we say more? It is Marlon Dickie.

* * *

Equestrians have set November 19 as a definite date for their ride at Jack London's ranch. The event will be open to both men and women.

* * *

Fencers have started informal bouts, according to instructor Verryl Weber, and are working on technique. We were surprised to discover that a touch (poke, stab, whamed with a foil) isn't a touch unless you are touched in the right place, which is on the pad covering the front of every fencer. The pad (to give a feeble explanation), extending vertically from his neck to his midriff and horizontally straight across his chest, protects him from the vigorous touches of his opponent. To protect his face he wears a helmet with a wire covered front. Beginners often have difficulty in seeing through the mesh work.

A touch on the arm, neck, or any part of the body not covered with the padding, isn't counted. The winner, of course, makes more touches than his adversary.

We are not cranks about signs. We usually take them where we find them. But after much thought on the matter we have decided that the one proper place for a Post No Bills sign is a mail box.

—Worm

Kegglers Take Initial Intercollegiate Match In San Francisco

Ram bowlers last Friday night earned the distinction of capturing the first intercollegiate pin match ever held in San Francisco, when they shellacked San Mateo, 2388 to 1882, on the Golden Gate Recreation drives.

The Rams took all three games without difficulty, pouring in the strikes and spares for respective totals of 797, 814 and 777. The Bulldogs' best offering came in the second start, when they amassed a total of 677.

Southpaw Howard Cloud led the attack for the victors with a sparkling 538 series, followed by Dom Manfredi's 508. Manfredi rolled a big 202 game in the finale, while his teammates were relaxing in the 150's.

Slattery Plans Block SF Dance For Next Month

Blockmen, under the direction of President Treacy Slattery, met last night to lay plans for the Block SF Society "Suppressed Desire" dance to be held on November 11 in the Galileo Women's Gym.

The dance will be held the night of the Pasadena football game, and will afford all the students a chance to celebrate.

After the success of last semester's dance, with its novelty dance numbers and contests, it was mentioned that perhaps a miniature "Jitterbug" contest will be held that night.

Admission will be by student body card and dress is to be decidedly informal.

You can lose your money and make more; you can lose your love and find another, you can lose your name and restore it, but if you lose your sense of humor you are ruined forever.

—Painter & Decorator

Rams Clash With Alligators In 'Traditional' Game, Friday Night, 8:15 P.M., At Roberts Field

Emotional Factor Causes 'Toss-Up' Prediction; Duel of Hanrahans, Rival Halfbacks, Features Tilt

By DAVE JOHNSON

San Francisco State's non-victorious eleven will endeavor to break into the win column Friday night at Roberts Field when they clash with the Rambling Rams of San Francisco Junior College.

The contest, rapidly developing into a 'traditional', will be a highly emotional game because of the intense desire to win on the part of students and players of each college.

Because it is an emotional game, records and abilities can be put into the discard. Chalk this fracas down as a toss-up.

State will probably start Captain Al Thompson and Hal Meller at the flanks, Bill Plutte, a six foot four inch two hundred thirty pounder at one tackle and Claude "Ike" Hanrahan at the other. Bill Stein and Bud Werner will start at guards and Dan Givens, another big, strong lad hailing from Tracy, at the pivot spot, in the backfield will be Dave Schiller, Chad Reade, Homer Irwin, and Bud Chandler.

Thompson In At End

Captain Al Thompson started the season as a quarterback and has since been moved to a wing position where he has been turning in a good job. Likewise, was Dave Schiller, a big, crashing fullback at the outset of the season been switched to half and Chad Reade, former Lowell boy, moved into his position at full. The quarterbacking will be taken care of by Homer Irwin, kicker and passer de-luxe. Irwin averaged 43 yards per punt against Sacramento Junior College and had the Panthers in the hole all evening. Bud Chandler, veteran from last season's team, will handle the blocking duties at the right half post.

Outstanding in the State line are Claude "IKE" Hanrahan, who, by the way, will be in the thick of things trying to smear his namesake Francis "Mike" Hanrahan of the junior college team, and Dan Givens, six feet two inches tall and weighing in at 190 pounds, a swell center who will make Mel (Ol' Lad) Peterson look to his laurels when it comes to defending the middle of the line.

"Old-Timer" Norton Reserve

As reserves, will be Bob Kelnhofer, a left halfback by trade and Bob Norton formerly of Lowell High and of Pop Warner's Temple team. These boys will no doubt cause Coach Russ Sweet many moments of anguish when inserted into the game.

Gigantic Frank Jackson, 217 pounds of tackle, Ralph Kauer and Paul Bloom will be sent into the skirmish at some time during the evening. Because of the overflow crowd at last season's game, extra bleachers have been constructed and are expected to take care of an anticipated capacity crowd.

The game will in all probability be broadcast over one of the local radio stations, but don't let that keep you from coming out to the game. Be there early and get a choice seat as the stands are not very high and seats at midfield are at a premium.

A "Temple of Security," in which insurance companies will show the benefits of life, fire and accident coverage, is planned for the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

Coach

DAN FARMER
Mentor for SF Staters

Sweetmen Take 25-7 Trouncing From Panthers As Champion Hopes Fade

By DICK SIMPERS

San Francisco Junior College's football team saw its chances of winning the conference championship for the second year in a row go glimmering last Saturday night when the powerful Panthers of Sacramento unleashed a smashing attack to overpower the Rams by a score of 25 to 7.

Playing under the lights of the Municipal Stadium in Sacramento, the gridders from the Powell Street slope found themselves unable to make headway against the heavy, veteran line of their opponents, and were forced to take to the air for their lone tally. This score came in the third period as the results of a pass play from Jim Connors to Johnny Verducci which was good for 67 yards.

Panthers Powerhouse

The Capital City pigskinners scored their first touchdown in the first quarter after a penalty for interference with the receiver on a pass gave them a first down on the Ram 17 yard stripe. From this point Mel Reid, colored left half, passed to End Martin Plocher on the three for another first down, and on the following play Reid went over for six points.

Although held scoreless for the remainder of the first half, the Panthers outgained their opponents overwhelmingly, and were at no time in danger. Major factor in keeping them from pushing over another score was Ram fullback Walt Boitano, whose tremendous boots got the Sweetmen out of several uncomfortable situations.

Punt Blocked

A blocked punt early in the third quarter was recovered by Art Camara, Sacramento tackle, for another touchdown, and shortly afterward a Panther drive was climaxed when Fullback Mack Woerner went over from seven yards out to make the score 18 to 0.

Upon receiving the kick-off and reaching their own 33 yard line, the Sweetmen pulled the most spectacular play of the evening. Connors dropped back and passed to Verducci in the flat, and the slippery little fellow fought his way past half a dozen tacklers and into the end zone to save the San Franciscans from the humiliation of a complete shut-out. Bud Wiechers, who had been removed from the game earlier with a badly smashed nose, came back in to try the conversion and succeeded in adding the extra point with a beautiful placement squarely between the uprights.

Sacramento put the game on ice in the fourth period with another scoring drive and a conversion which made the final total 25 to 7; last year it was 24 to 6.

Rifle Team Wins Match Against Alumni

With but two veterans returning from last season, the first rifle match of the current season was won by the college rifle men last Friday night.

Opponents were the X-Rifleers, an organization of San Francisco alumni and former members of the Rifle and Pistol Club here.

The local sharpshooters were at the long end of pre-match odds, the X-Rifleers being favored because their membership includes the best shooters since the beginning of the college.

College team was coached by William H. Hancock, national champion; the X-Rifleers were coached and captained by Mack Garr, present shooter on the U. S. Infantry Team, national pistol champions of 1938.

SFJC		X-RIFLEERS
*Gibson	175	*Garr	185
North	173	*Benlon	171
*Cavagnola	169	*Smith	160
Morris	166	*Carrol	160
Stewart	165	*Delser	159
Total	848	Total	835

*Indicates veteran of other shooting seasons.

State Ace Goes Through

Don McDonald, stalwart State halfback, is brought to stop by team-mate Jack Quinn in this photo of State's backfield stars in action. McDonald is considered the principal running and passing threat of the Gator offense, while Quinn is touted as a blocking back par excellence.

Club Activities Feature Social Events, Contests

Initiates Alfred Flaw, William Hoppe, Fred Vast, John Ellis, James Carlson, and Fred West, will become pledge members Saturday, November 5, when the Omicron Phi Pi will hold its initiation.

The club's last function was held Wednesday evening when the Omicrons held their semi-annual banquet at the St. Germain Restaurant. John N. Thalberg, economics professor at the University of Pennsylvania, spoke on the Munich Four-Power Peace Plan and its significance.

The next meeting of the group will be held on October 28 at the home of Cecilia Elliot, 120 Franklin Street. The topic for discussion will be the $30 Every Thursday Pension Plan. John Ellis, of the Forensic Society, will speak on the affirmative side of the question, while Russel Pritchard will take the negative side of the topic in discussion.

* * *

Japanese Club . . . will meet tonight at the Sturge Memorial Hall at 1516 Post Street at 7:30 p.m.

At the previous meeting an election was held and Tomoe Hata was elected vice-president of the women. "Various social events are being planned and will be discussed at the meeting tonight," said President Hoshiyama.

Among the events already dated on the social calendar is a party which will be held at the end of the month. During the holidays, a turkey raffle is planned.

* * *

Pick and Hammer . . . was entertained at their meeting last Thursday night by a very enlightening talk on gems and the art of stone-cutting. The talk was given by Francis J. Sperisen, president of the Northern California Mineralogical Society. Sperisen is a prominent lapidary. The talk was preceded by a native Chinese dinner at the Shanghai-Low Restaurant. Precious stones were passed among the members and their guests.

* * *

Harold Hoffman, president of Pi Mu Gamma, announced that the premedical society will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Eva Tramboley . . . 216 Dublin Street . . . take cars 12 or 14. All members are asked to attend the next meeting as plans for a change of date of the dinner is to be discussed.

"Please bring your money for the dinner at this meeting as we must have the exact amount of money and know the number of people planning to attend," Hoffman announced.

* * *

Der Deutcher Verein . . . which no longer holds a charter as a college club "hopes to have better and more informal German discussions by meeting at intervals with those who are interested," said Annamarie Delfs, club adviser.

The last meeting was held at the home of Alyce Adams, a former student of the college. Miss Adams, after completion of one semester of German here, journeyed to Germany with Miss Delfs and entered the University of Heidelberg. On the return trip to this country, Miss Adams proceeded by way of the Netherlands, and made the trip around the world.

The group had as its guest a young man from Germany who has been in this country for two months. The entire meeting was carried on in German.

* * *

Italian Club . . . plans to invite delegates from bay region colleges to discuss proposals for the annual Italian Club Convention which will be held next semester at the college are under way with Claudia Martucci in charge of the invitations.

"Italian-English entertainment will be provided at the banquet," said Viola Gibson, social director. Assisting her are Tina Accietta, Julia Speetor, and Elizabeth Parker.

President Bob Ridolfi has announced that all students interested may attend the banquet. Tickets may be secured from committee members. He also urges students to come to attend the next Italian Club meeting at 200 Chenery Street. The date will be posted on the Powell Street bulletin board.

* * *

Newman Club . . . will hold a roller skate at Burke's Rollatorium on Geary Street near Broderick Street, the second Monday in November . . . Plans for the semester dance are being made with much discussion about holding it in conjunction with other Newman Clubs in the bay area. The place and date will be announced soon.

* * *

Rifle and Pistol Club . . . Cordornices Park in Berkeley will be the background, on Thursday, November 10, for an informal Barn Dance with students dressed as farmers and farmerettes. From 8 to 12 o'clock there will be dancing and novel games, the winners of which will receive prizes. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

If the weather permits, a barbecue pit will be available from 6 to 10 o'clock. General chairman of the affair is Howard Markovits; food chairman is Bill Gibson; games chairman is John Engl, Margaret Tolan, Gordon Morris and Walter Voight. Round trip by ferry will cost 50c plus 20c carfare.

Tickets and other information can be obtained from Bob Darr, Bill Franklin, Henry Cavagnalo, Barbara Ainsworth, Louis Gladstone, Walter McDermott, Don Clark, Charles North, Gerald Cardoza, Tedda Koch, and Art McLain.

* * *

The official name of the Masonic group was adopted at its last meeting as The Masonic Club of the San Francisco Junior College.

The club meets every first and third Friday of the month at 2:30 o'clock in room 205 at Galileo. All persons who are interested in joining the club are asked to leave their name and address in the mail box of James Hughes at the Powell Street office. Plans were made at the last meeting of the club, for a dance.

The dance will be held Wednesday, November 23, the day before Thanksgiving, in a hall on 18th Ave. between Geary and Clement Streets.

Only a few bids to the dance will be issued, and these will be for members of the club and their friends. All those who intend to attend the dance are expected to wear Frontier costumes.

* * *

Alpha Delta Epsilon college sketch club, moves this week to the Palace of Fine Arts where its 25 members will continue their work in oils, modeling and water coloring. The club, whose members are all students in the landscape class, meets every Tuesday and Thursday from nine o'clock in the morning until two in the afternoon.

According to President Fred Hammerly, the group has already completed two week's work at Fort Mason, three weeks at the Japanese Tea Garden and Stowe Lake, and another two weeks at Fisherman's Wharf. Within the next week the club will start additional work every other Sunday at Balboa Park, site of the new junior college buildings.

Officers directing the work of the club other than Hammerly are: first vice-president Marjorie Ilg; Lois DeFort, second vice-president; Barbara Rose, secretary; Ruth Millinger, corresponding secretary; and Sakaye Kawashiri, treasurer.

* * *

Held at the Western Women's Club, the formal initiation of the Lambda Chi, was pronounced a great success by all the members.

In a very solemn ceremony, five new members were initiated. They are June Dunnigan, Nancy Ross, Alice Cavanaugh, Helen Galli, and Marie Georginos.

At the next meeting, to be held at the Western Women's Club, Margaret Dougherty of the college faculty will speak to the group.

* * *

French Club . . . did not plan any further social activities at their last meeting. Notice of the next meeting, November 4, will be in the following issue of The Guardsman and on the bulletin board at Powell Street next week.

* * *

Chess Club . . . presided over by club president Bill Switzer, held its Friday night meeting at the home of Adviser Henry J. Ralston . . . Following several hard but interesting games, the members laid future plans for their entrance into the Chess League.

* * *

Beta Phi Fraternity . . . encouraged by the success of its dance which was "swung" at the Century Club on October 14, is going to hold its semi-annual Bridge Whist the 16th of next month—the third Wednesday of November.

"Although we may be biting off more than we can chew," proclaimed Howard Cloud, president of Beta Phi, "we plan on presenting an even more enjoyable evening at our party than at the dance. Of course, it almost goes without saying that there will be refreshments; for it is the college-old custom that when Beta Phi entertains, you can at least be sure of being fed. We are opening a new pledge season, hence there will be plenty of service with a smile for all who attend."

* * *

Alpha Phi Omega . . . will meet November 1 at the home of Mary Serratt, 339 Warwiack Avenue, Oakland. Directions as how to get there will be posted on the bulletin board at Powell Street.

"All girls be sure to make it. We are going to discuss some very important business," requested Marie Heiser, president.

* * *

Tri Epsilon . . . held its installation of officers, and formal initiation of pledges last Wednesday night at the home of Don Mix, former Associated Students' president, and Guardsman editor.

Presentation of pins was made, and Lewis Conlan, the sponsor, was presented with his pin.

* * *

Monday afternoon a Women's Service Society meeting was held at Galileo to make plans for the telephone bridge, according to Marjorie Wright, WSS president. This will be one of the sources of raising money for next year's WSS scholarship.

* * *

Phi Beta Rho . . . has climaxed three teas this semester in honor of new pledges with Marion Androvich as hostess, according to Ruth Graham, sorority president. Margie Pomeroy sang and the pledges performed for the entertainment.

Evelyn Lacey, Louise Kiddie, Janet Ball, Virginia Peterson, Claire Dugan, Dorothy Obernasser, Betty Chrysler, Helen Culp, Margaret Jack, Lois Colman, and Adele Kuhn comprise the list of new pledges.

EXECUTIVES IN ACTION

Bob Fox, Associated Students president, presides (above) over the meeting, while Margaret Park, WAA president, explains to the rest of the Executive Council, her views of one of the argumentative problems confronting the college. Seated in the front row are from left to right: Miriam Dunne, AWS president; Hugh Waite, yell-leader; Jane Mitchell, secretary. In the second row are: Dick Simpers, proxying for Treacy Slattery, Block SF president; John Julius, Club Advisory Board president; Mickey Berman, AMS president. Absent was Vice-president Barbara Randall.

WOMEN'S HAIR-UP FASHION TRACED TO 'SLITZI', CIRCUS FREAK; WILL WINTER FORCE CO-ED'S HAIR DOWN!

At the risk of bringing down the fury of the fair women of our college, and despite the fact that The Guardsman appears to be changing into a fashion sheet, we present today an answer to Fashion Fanny's column on the women's style modes of the day.

This department feels that it must congratulate the women of this college for their refusal to capitulate to the current hair style modes.

For some reason whenever we see a woman wearing her hirsute adornment atop her perfectly contoured head, we are always reminded of Slitzi, the only survival of the original Amazonian woman, currently appearing with the Al. G. Barnes circus. When we first gazed at Slitzi, some five or six years ago, her hair was draped sprightly over her head in much the same manner as our stylish women now see fit to wear it. Problably she originated the style—we understand that all women's fashions originate from primitive sources.

It is indeed a shock to most men when they feast their eyes on the unadorned necks and protruding ears of their favorite dates.

The small wisps of hair that refuse to stay put look similar to a dry patch of lawn on the edge of particularly green and fertile one. We can't figure out what this modern generation is coming to. Maybe it's just a novelty though, this displaying of the smooth contours of the neck, for the key word in modern women's dress seems to be "display."

Just wait until the frost sets in, and then watch those beautiful curley locks come tumbling down to their rightful position and once more keep warm the ample sized ears and not-so-beautiful necks of our women.

News From Other Colleges

The San Diego alligator lizard is a perfect control for the black widow spider, according to Dr. Raymond C. Cowles, zoologist on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California. The lizard, however is preyed upon by cats so that it ordinarily is exterminated before it can kill its spider enemy.

* * *

The ordinary stable fly may be responsible for the spread of infantile paralysis, in the opinion of Dr. L. L. Lumsden, director of the United States Public Health Service for the New Orleans area, who is on the Berkeley campus of the University of California to deliver a series of lectures.

* * *

Establishment of a placement bureau for graduates of the University of California's College of Commerce is being considered, since both Stanford and Harvard have placement bureaus for graduates of their schools of business.

* * *

In a recent poll conducted at the University of California, swing music was rated about one-third more popular than sweet music, with Benny Goodman voted best swing leader.

* * *

San Mateo Junior College is soon to have its own radio station. Programs will be broadcast on an ultra short-wave band of about seven megacycles.

* * *

Coach Clint Evans of the Bear Frosh is having a tough time selecting a starting lineup due to the wealth of material available.

Students from various parts of the United States are attending a school for would-be police officers at San Jose State College...

* * *

Santa Rosa junior college will soon hold an election to amend the school constitution. Twenty per cent of the students in the college signed a petition asking for five amendments to the constitution.

* * *

Long Beach junior college has inaugurated a novel contest. The idea of the contest is to see how long a beard can be grown within a certain length of time. Eighty men and one woman have entered the contest. Prizes will be donated to the winners by various Long Beach merchants.

* * *

For the purpose of training women to be good wives and mothers, a course called "Social Arts" has been added to the curriculum of Long Beach Junior College.

* * *

Education seems to be a favorite subject with the prisoners of San Quentin and Alcatraz prisons, since approximately 150 inmates of these institutions are taking university extension correspondence courses.

Prisoners of San Quentin seem to favor journalism courses, with English and engineering ranking second and third in popularity.

Alcatraz federal penitentiary correspondence students rate Spanish, mathematics, and English as the most popular courses.

BUILDING NEARS REALITY!

Moving toward the time of actual construction, the first unit of permanent college buildings retains its lines of simplicity and complementary material following school department action last week. With Indiana limestone and ceramic tile inlaid, San Francisco can soon boast of its college as housed in a building of modern beauty. Foundation work, already completed, leads to optimism concerning speedy completion. Set high on a now wind-swept hill in Balboa Park, the above pictured building commands a view of outlying San Francisco. Designed by Architect Timothy Pflueger, the unit is planned as the center of a campus upon which will be gymnasiums, a library, an auditorium, hotel division facilities, and class-rooms. Interiors also will reflect the modern in architectural visualization and education.

SHORTAGE OF TRAINED CHEFS CREATES FUTURE FOR DIVISION GRADUATES

Present shortage of thoroughly trained chefs, even in the great kitchens of Europe, gives ample opportunity for the future in this profession, according to Alfred Schnepp, chef of the famed Pacific Union Club of San Francisco.

Whereas the European youth acquires this skill through the apprentice system, the American youth is offered training through the vocational educational courses, in lieu of apprenticeship.

Schnepp, whose duties entail catering to one of the most fastidious groups of epicures to be found in any city on the globe, talked to the class in hotel and restaurant management on his experiences as a boy apprentice in the famed kitchens in Wiesbaden.

A pattern of kitchen behavior, based on the Golden Rule, was urged by the speaker as a precept to the young student going out to work in a large kitchen, where, without a spirit of cooperation, all chances of successful production is lost.

Tuesday's lecture was one of the series of talks which are offered to the students of the hotel division by men prominent in the hotel and restaurant industry.

George T. Thompson, president of the California Northern Hotel Association addressed the division yesterday on opportunities for graduates of the Hotel Division.

Several members of the division are now carrying out their training in hotels of San Francisco as a result of cooperation between the hotel owners and the labor unions. Tom Caswell is at the front desk of the Drake Wilshire Hotel. Lester Asbury is at the Gaylord Hotel, Bill Chittick receives his training at the Saint Francis Hotel, while Carl Rutledge is at the Mark Hopkins Hotel. Tully Cormick has been placed in a part time position at the Palace Hotel.

At a meeting of the Hotel and Restaurant Division Society held last Friday, extensive plans were formulated for diversified social activities in the near future.

* * *

The 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition on San Francisco Bay is 10 minutes by auto from the heart of San Francisco.

* * *

The largest first mailing in the history of the West was recently made from Treasure Island, site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

* * *

Héiser, president.

* * *

QUEEN CONTEST FEATURES HI SOPH WEEK CELEBRATION ANNOUNCES TOBIASON

With the introduction of High Sophomore Week this semester will come the selection of a queen to reign over events scheduled during the week, Stanley Tobiasou, class president, announced last week.

"Clubs of the college," Tobiason disclosed, "will cooperate with the High Sophomore Committee in choosing candidates. Each club will be expected to sponsor one aspirant from the sophomore class.

"As there are about 35 clubs in the college, including the mens clubs, the competition among the bevy of young maids will probably be keen," he continued.

"As a further enticement to winning the election," Tobiason said, "the sweetheart will have the honor of reigning at the tea dansant at the Century Club. Sponsored by the Associated Women's Students, the tea will honor high sophomores.

At the rally on Tuesday, November 29, which will open the week of events, the sophomore sweetheart will be introduced to the student body.

Following the rally, Tobiason announced, the high sophomores will sponsor a charity dance at which the sweetheart will reign. Admission to the dance will be by canned goods.

Flags Lowered To Half-Mast For Ira W. Coburn, Former Board President

Flags on all public school buildings were at half-mast early this week in memory of Ira W. Coburn, former Commissioner of Education who died Saturday.

Although not a member of the Board of Education when the college was open in 1935, Commissioner Coburn was instrumental in building toward its success.

Appointed to the Board in 1925, Commissioner Coburn later was its president in 1930, 1931 and 1932. He retired in 1934 because of ill health. Funeral services were held Monday.

ESSAY CONTEST

(Continued from page 1)

a short essay. The choice of subjects includes:

1. Rape and Migration.
2. Crafts and Industries and Their Products.
3. Design.
4. Architecteure.
5. Flora.
6. Fauna.
7. History.
8. Communications and Trade.
9. Literature and Thought.
10. Music.
11. Drama, Dance, and Public Games.
12. Science.

San Francisco Junior College students may compete for two prizes, a county prize of a scrip book of admissions to the Exposition, and a state cash prize of 25 dollars. Ten dollars will be awarded the Junior High School winner and 15 dollars to the Senior High School winner. The county winners in both classifications will receive scrip books.

Students of the college may submit essays to one of the following instructors: Miriam Gusley, Joseph Williams, or Robert Parker. Any additional information regarding subjects, suggested bibliographies, or illustrative mounts may be secured from them.

Entries must be completed by midnight, Thursday, December 1, 1938. Final awards will be announced not later than February 1, 1939.

NEED A TYPEWRITER? . . .

Rent REMINGTON NOISELESS TYPEWRITERS at same cost as noisy machines . . . All carriage widths, type styles, keyboards . . . Also standards, portables . . . Rental from manufacturer guarantees QUALITY.

Remington Typewriter Division
Remington Rand, Inc.
509 Market Street Phone: DOuglas 8600

College Unit Of Parent Teachers Group Organized

Organization of the San Francisco Junior College Council as a unit of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers was completed Thursday evening, October 20, when parents, faculty members, instructors, associated students, alumni, and others interested, met at 540 Powell Street for the purpose of adopting by-laws and electing officers.

The council starts its existence with 74 charter members, that number having paid the one dollar annual dues of the organization. Meetings are to be held bimonthly during the college semester. The date of the next meeting is to be announced later.

Officers chosen were: D. Joseph Williams, president; A. J. Cloud, honorary vice president; Dr. Percival Dolman, vice president; Miss Winnie Stoupe, secretary; Mrs. Milton DeLano, treasurer; Ward Nichols, historian. Dr. Lew Wallace acted as chairman of the nominating committee. The by-laws committee was headed by Alex Sherriffs, prominent attorney and brother-in-law of Marion Turner, psychology instructor.

"The council is an integral part of the San Francisco Second District of the California Congress of the PTA. Membership, however, is very broad. It will contain representatives of the Faculty Association, Alumni Association, and the Associated Students," Paul Pitman, assistant to President Cloud, said.

"The council is open to the parents of students attending the college, and the friends of the college who believe in public education and particularly in the college level and feel that San Francisco Junior College is destined to be one of the leading higher educational institutions in San Francisco," he continued. "Members of the college Vocational Advisory Committee, for example, George Sanfilo of the Hotel and Restaurant board and John McLaren of the Floriculture advisory board, are members of the council."

Officers of San Francisco Second District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, who assisted in the organization included Mrs. Joseph A. Garry, president; Mrs. Harold Seiler, vice president and director of extension; Mrs. C. H. Schnacke, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. B. Cumming, financial secretary; Mrs. Ernest Grant, parliamentarian; Mrs. J. B. Mitchell, secondary school extension chairman.

College President A. J. Cloud welcomed those in attendance and expressed the thanks of the college for their interest in the new organization, and for their work in behalf of the school bonds. Mrs. Garry, Second District president, gave a word of greeting and predicted success for the future activities of the council.

CABBAGES & KINGS

(Continued from page 2)

drape around his bare shanks and the referee personally escorted the pantiless player to the bench. He got a big hand from the stands when a pair were found to fit him.

After the game—Not satisfied with beating us 25 to 7, the Sacramento bloekmen caught Hugh Waite alone, wrested the "Rams" banner, the rally committee hats, and a megaphone away from him and drove off in a couple of cars, true gangster fashion. Hugh phoned the cops—results unknown.

ADVERTISING RATE:

1-59 inches	70c an inch
51-150 inches	60c an inch
151-up inches	50c an inch

Joe Amori Plans College Bowling Tourney See Sports Page

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

The Guardsman

SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

AMS Fights Tonite At Italian Club, Green And Stockton Sts.

Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1938 No. 10

Board Proposed To Supervise All Publications

Ex-Council Acts To Create New Body; Petition Circulated

Formation of a Publications Board to supervise all college publications was recommended by the Executive Council at its meeting last Thursday. The Board as proposed, will have a role on the Executive Council and will have jurisdiction over all printed matter distributed on the campus.

To provide for the formation of such a body, with a vote on the Council, the constitution of the Associated Students will have to amended. The necessary amendments will be presented at an assembly to be held in the near future. An amendment, to be considered must be introduced by a petition signed by ten per cent of the student body. Early this week a petition being circulated, providing for a change in the method of introducing amendments, received the necessary 200 signatures.

Amendment's Purpose

The amendment would allow the Executive Council to propose changes in the constitution after a two-thirds vote by that body. If the amendment is approved at the forthcoming meeting of the Associated Students it will permit the Executive Council to introduce the changes necessary for the establishment of the Publications Board—without going through the process of circulating a petition.

If the recommendations, carried by unanimous vote of the Executive Council, are approved by the Associated Students by a two-thirds vote in meeting, the new board would:

Board's Functions

1. Determine officially recognized publications other than the Associated Students publications. The Guardsman would constitutionally become an official publication of the Associated Students. At present there is no such provision.
2. Grant or deny permission for campus distribution of any publication.

Student membership of the board would consist of the editor, managing editor, and business manager of Associated Students Publications and one representative from each official publication (such as literary and humor).

Faculty membership would consist of one representative appointed by the president of the college and editorial advisers of the Associated Students publications.

Amendment's Provisions

The petition for changing the method of amendment reads:

Constitutional Changes Advised

Amend Article V, "Amendments" by striking out the entire article and substituting the following:

An Amendment to this Constitution shall become effective if proposed in one of the following two ways:

1. The proposed amendment be be signed by ten per cent of the members of this association and approved by a two-thirds majority vote of those present and voting at an official meeting of this association.
2. The proposed amendment to be

(Continued on page 4, column 3)

WAA 'SWING AND SWIM' CARNIVAL SLATED FOR FRIDAY NIGHT, NOV. 4

Swimming and Swing enthusiasts will be entertained Friday evening, November 4, at a swimming carnival and dance given by the Women's Athletic Association swimming club at the Y M C A, 220 Golden Avenue. The festivities will begin at 9 o'clock and will include both men and women.

"The men's swimming club is especially invited to attend," Polly Trenk, swimming manager, declared. "Anyone else interested in swimming and dancing is cordially invited to come." The price is twenty-five cents, and students must bring their own bathing suits.

Relay races, stunts, and stunt revays will feature the evening, with the guests participating. The races will include a three-legged swim, tandem, and a nightgown race which, according to those in the know, promises to be "extra-super-special". The pool and dance floor will remain open until twelve o'clock, making possible the alternation of swims and dances. Previous water carnivals, WAA officials say, have been big successes. Lewd swimming stars may be present to give diving exhibitions.

"We expect a big turnout for the carnival," Miss Trenk said. "This is the first time a combination swim and dance has been attempted. Students who want to dance only, may watch the swimming events from the balcony."

AWS Works In Youth Welfare Experiment; Volunteers Requested

Under the guidance of the Board of Associated Women Students an experiment in youth welfare has been undertaken, according to Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser.

"Several women students are volunteering to give their services to social agencies interested in the feeding and general welfare of small children," Miss Dougherty said.

"The work is most interesting," she continued, "and is required only on certain afternoons of the week."

Miriam Dunne, AWS president, declared that she would be glad to add to the list any other student who would care to take advantage of the opportunity offered.

Among those now active in the work are: Joy Mack, Miriam Dunne, Barbara Currier, Marie Hoeger, and Lurraine Johnson.

NYA Positions Open, Announces Redford

Edward H. Redford, director of the National Youth Administration has requested that the top few on the waiting list report to him immediately, as there are several positions available. "We are gradually finding positions for students, and expect to be able to place more students at frequent intervals," Redford said.

The schedule of Redford's office hours, as announced earlier in the semester, is as follows:

Monday and Wednesday — Room 726, P.G.E. Building—10 to 12 o'clock.

Thursday and Friday—Room 726, P.G.E. Building—8:30 to 10:30 o'clock.

Friday—Room 726, P.G.E. Building —10:30 to 1:30 o'clock.

Wednesday—Galileo—1 to 5 o'clock.

College Awarded Funds Covering Entire Cost Of First Campus Plant; Work Starts In December

Christmas came exactly two months early last week for 2,000 students of the college, when school authorities voted to grant the college a total of $1,072,065 to cover the entire cost of the first unit of the new plant to be constructed at Balboa Park.

This sum covers the outside estimate of the cost of the complete college building, and does not include an additional $400,000 to be used in the construction of gymnasiums. This money was obtained by the passage of the school bond issue—the September 27 election, as was $100,000 of the larger sum.

Bids Next Step

Next step in getting work under way is the letting of the bid for construction of the building. This phase of the process is in the hands of the Board of Public Works. Bids will be called for in the near future, and then a period of two or three weeks will probably elapse before they are all in. The Board will then consider them, and award the contract to the lowest bidder.

The contract as a whole will be let to a master contractor, who will sublet minor contracts to specialized craftsmen.

The sum voted last week includes the total cost of the building itself and much of its equipment. This unit is fundamentally the science building, and will contain a number of laboratories.

Hope For Fall Occupation

It is believed by college officials that the plant will be ready for occupation in the fall of next year, when the first three buildings will be complete. These will be the science building and the two gymnasiums; also complete will be fields for the use of athletes.

Units to be completed later will include a Students' Union building, a library, an auditorium, and two buildings with classrooms and lecture halls. Occupation of the plant by students, however, will take place before these are finished, as the initial building will be large enough to accommodate the anticipated enrollment.

President Cloud Appreciative

Archibald J. Cloud, president of the college, expressed his appreciation of the work done by the Board of Education at last week's faculty association meeting.

"All of us," said President Cloud, "owe a debt of gratitude to the members of the Board, who have made it possible for work on the junior college to begin with a minimum of delay. To Superintendent of Schools Joseph F. Nourse and to all members of the Board, I extend the sincere appreciation and gratitude of all of us here for their unselfish action in assuring the construction of our much-needed plant."

At the present rate of progress, it appears certain that actual erection of the first unit will begin about the first week in December, and work on the gymnasiums slightly later.

Occupation of the first unit is anticipated for August, 1939. However, the date for the completion of the gymnasiums is still indefinite.

Registrar J. Paul Mohr (left) and President Archibald J. Cloud have ed last week for completion of the science building by the Board of Education. The foundation has already been completed.

Administrators Happily View Blue Prints

P. G. & E. STUDY HALL OVERFLOWS

Inadequate facilities to accommodate students was evidenced last week when the P. G. & E. Study Hall was filled to capacity and the overflow crowd congregated in the hallway and on the stairway. Photo depicts crowded condition wherein students attempt to find quiet place to prepare for midterms which were held last week. Scene at right shows interior of study room; all available space is taken. Left, students are compelled to use hallway in preparation for class work.

Peace Society Armistice Day Program Features Clark Eichelberger

Featuring the Peace Society's annual Armistice Day program, thursday, November 10, will be an address by Clark M. Eichelberger, representative of the International Goodwill Congress. The program is to be in the Powell Street lecture hall at 11 o'clock.

The society has received financial and moral assistance from President Cloud and other members of the administration as evidenced in the acquisition of Eichelberger as guest speaker.

Eichelberger has just returned from Geneva, Switzerland, where he attended the International Goodwill Conference.

In addition to Eichelberger's address, there will be two short talks by student speakers dealing with a student peace organization and the Youth Model Legislature.

"Twenty years have elapsed since the termination of the World War, and now we are on the verge of another such crisis," said Robert Porter, president of the society. "The possibilities of helping America out of this type of entanglement lie largely in the hands of the youth of the United States. For this purpose the San Francisco Junior College Peace Society is commemorating Armistice Day.

"By putting on this program, we, the members of the society," he continued, "feel that we are doing our part toward educating our fellow students to the methods of maintaining peace. As president of the society I urge all faculty members having classes at this hour to bring them, if possible to our program. All students free at 11 o'clock are welcome to attend."

Faculty To Gather At Stanford, Attend Grid Game Rumor Says

After the Junior College Conference at Stanford University November 5, the faculty will receive complimentary tickets to the Stanford-Washington football game, it was rumored. This gathering is the Fall meeting of the Northern California Junior College Association, held each year.

Registration will be at 9 o'clock, after which Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford University will greet the members of the association.

Dr. Grayson Kefauver will preside over the luncheon program to be held in the main dining hall of the Stanford Union Building. Dr. George W. Dowrie of Stanford University will conclude the program with an address on private enterprise in the future.

Army-Navy Club Toy, Book Drive Begins Monday

Under the sponsorship of the Army and Navy Club, a toy and book drive for the benefit of invalids and needy children will begin on Monday, November 7.

All students are asked to contribute any toys or children's books that they may have. Contributions should be placed in a box for this purpose in the lobby of the Powell Street building.

Many San Francisco department stores have been asked to donate any broken toys to the drive.

All contributions received will be distributed through regularly established, reliable social service agencies, club officers said.

Cloud, Leuenberger Write College Journal Article

President Archibald J. Cloud and Harold W. Leuenberger, instructor of psychology, have collaborated in the writing of an article entitled "Problems of Junior College Education" which appears in the October issue of the Junior College Journal. The article is based on the results of an inquiry sent to the heads of numerous junior colleges throughout the United States.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR GIVES INITIAL RECITAL TOMORROW MORNING

Under the direction of Flossita Badger, college music instructor, the A Cappella Choir will appear in a recital for the students of the college tomorrow morning. The program will be held in the third floor assembly hall in the Powell Street building, and will start promptly at 11 o'clock.

"I would sincerely like to invite all of the students and faculty and any friends to be present at this, our first program of the season," Miss Badger said. "This year's choir is by far the best we have ever had, and owing to the demand by students we are appearing tomorrow in what will serve as a debut for the 1938-39 season. The program will also serve as a preview to the program which will be presented to the peninsula high schools on Friday, November 4, when the choir will travel on its annual concert tour."

The program to be presented will include a group of four numbers by the entire ensemble which will include: Junior College Alma Mater; Tenebrae Factae Sunt, by Palestrina, from Ill Do Thair Defend Me, by Bach, and Bodie Christus Natus Est, by Willan. Following these numbers Bob Scott, Arnold Chapin, Everett Wallace and William Jackman will sing Shortnin' Bread, by Wolf.

Baritone solos by Charles Piper and a duet by Bob Scott and Patricia Keefer will proceed the final selections by the group, Silent Night, by Brahms; Christmas Pie, Old English; Music When Soft Voices Die, by Dickinson; and Wassail, Old English are the final numbers of the program.

Hotel Division Makes Field Trip To Cannery, Observes Modern Methods

Hotel and restaurant division students spent on their first field trip since the warehouse tie-up last Saturday, when they inspected and were guests of the S & W Cannery Company at Fourth and Berry Streets.

Students were shown how syrups are made and tested, the various steps in fruit and vegetable canning, and were shown the entire modern equipment which enables the plant to turn out perfected goods.

The Hotel and Restaurant Division Society met last night at the Bellevue Hotel, Geary and Taylor Streets, for its third meeting of the semester. J. J. Schlaepfer, a member of the advisory staff, spoke to the members on his recent trip to Switzerland and conditions in that country pertaining to hotels.

Purchasing agents, Tom Duffey and Janet Toter, were guests of the Langendorf Baking Company last Thursday. They were shown the various processes in the baking of bread, from its mixing to the final wrapping and shipping.

The division announces that two dance bottles of milk will now be served instead of the old style eight-ounce containers. The five cent price will prevail with the division shouldering the added cost. Football team members as well as all students should take note of this added increase.

Waite Plans Rally For Armistice Day Pasadena J. C. Tilt

With the season's most successful rally already tucked under his belt, Hugh Waite, yell leader extraordinary, is already contemplating a bigger and still more successful rally to be held at some time before the football struggle with Pasadena Junior College on Armistice Day.

Commenting on last Thursday night's highly successful joint rally with State, Waite declared it could have been more successful had certain noisy factions from both colleges quieted down at the proper times. However, he expressed his thanks to all student body members who attended this rally and made it as successful as it was.

Although the date of the next rally, is not definitely set and though the entertainment is still to be provided, Waite has already secured the services of the Lowell High School Band to appear at whatever time the next rally occurs.

Low Soph Dance Saturday Night At St. Francis

Jig Starts 9 P.M. In Colonial Room; Murphy's Band Plays

Saturday night the Colonial Room of the Hotel St. Francis will be for the second time this semester the scene of a class dance as the low sophomores sponsor an informal dance, Barbara Randell, chairman of the Social Committee, announced.

"Intent to celebrate the erection of new campus buildings on the Balboa Park site, students will find Ed Murphy's 10-piece orchestra entering with full enthusiasm into the occasion," declared Miss Randell. "Five members of Murphy's orchestra, including vocalist Harvey Boutin, belong to the student body and intend to show plenty of school spirit as they render their musical abilities."

The orchestra includes two pianos and will play from nine o'clock until twelve. Street clothes will be worn. Miss Randall said. Admission to the dance is one student body card per couple.

"Dressed by Dick Templeton," Miss Randall continued, "the fabrics run by one of the modernistic buildings on the campus."

To insure complete success of the dance the identification committee will be seen in action, announced Miss Randall. Headed by Edwin C. Browne the committee promises to prevent all outsiders from gaining admission to the affair.

Faculty members who will probably serve on the identification committee are requested by the registrar's office to do so immediately.

The men will report to Room 201 in the Galileo Building, and the women to the north gym, any day between the hours of 3 and 5 p.m.

Miss Leonard also reminded all members of the faculty that the conference for junior college instructors will be held on Saturday, November 5, at Stanford University.

Formation of Advisory Council For Insurance Department Announced

Confirming an earlier report, President Archibald J. Cloud announced Friday that plans were under way for the formation of an Advisory Council for the Insurance Department.

Members of the proposed council will be chosen from a list of approximately 30 prominent insurance company executives, who have been invited by President Cloud to attend a dinner at Galileo High School, Wednesday, November 2, at 6 o'clock.

Purpose of the Council will be, according to President Cloud, to formulate a program stressing the needs that will lead to definite placement of the young people in the college who wish to enter insurance as a life career.

Faculty members attending will be Paul Pitman, F. Grant Marsh, W. C. Marsh, J. Paul Mohr, and Franklin C. Sewell.

The dinner is to be prepared and served under the management of J. Graham Sullivan and his Hotel and Restaurant Management classes.

Physical Exam Laggards Requested To Hurry

All freshmen men and women who have not, as yet, taken their physical examinations are requested by the registrar's office to do so immediately.

The men will report to Room 201 in the Galileo Building, and the women to the north gym, any day between the hours of 3 and 5 p.m.

Miss Leonard also reminded all members of the faculty that the conference for junior college instructors will be held on Saturday, November 5, at Stanford University.

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1938 No. 10

FRED VAST .... EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser .... Business Adviser
Joan Nourse .... Edward H. Redford

Dick Simpers .... Assistant Editor
Bill Frantz .... News Editor
John Julius .... Sports Editor
Ray Berns .... Ass't Sports Editor
Carol Pickering .... Women's Editor
Dorothy Trood .... Club Editor
Sam Galstaun .... Staff Photographer
Fred Bentley .... Business Manager
Paul Judson .... Advertising Manager

REPORTERS

Ethan Bernstein, Bob Fex, Lois Gipson, Leonard Gross, George Hoffman, Dave Johnson, Adele Kuhn, Isadore Maloff, Charles Martin, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sellman, Ed van der Veen, Sylvia Wall, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Important Issues Face California Electorate

NEXT Tuesday California voters will go to the polls to elect state and local officials. They will also cast their ballots on 25 propositions which would amend or add to the present laws. This year's election is undoubtedly one of the most important that has been held for a long time.

In almost every contest be it for office or proposition, the issue is clear cut. The Guardsman is of necessity impartial to political races and therefore will not comment on candidates. It is interesting to note, however, that office seekers in almost every instance have been forced to come out and state their position clearly on the social and economic questions of the day. Where they have not done so they have suffered considerable loss of support.

These candidates have been compelled to declare themselves because of the very nature of the propositions before the state's voters. An examination of these proposals should prove of interest for they directly affect various phases of everyday life.

Observations on these initiatives are made only after examining the proposed laws. Because of their importance, comment is certainly appropriate. Statements made herein are made for purposes of clarification and not in the interests of any particular group.

Although the avowed intent of the initiators of Proposition No. 1 is to curb labor abuses and to bring industrial peace, the wording of the law is such that it might easily be interpreted in such a manner that it would actually curb, if not eliminate, the civil liberties guaranteed by both the constitutions of the United States and the State of California.

The whole law is centered around the words "coercion" and "intimidation" which when defined in specific detail can be enlarged to mean much more than set forth by the words " 'intimidation' shall mean and include, but not be limited to . . . "

Further on, the law says in section 9 "it shall be unlawful . . . by any means, or combination of means of notifying, requesting, influencing, inducting or coercing any person or persons . . . " A clear case of muzzling the press. There are similar restrictions on freedom of speech if one should simply attempt to inform a person about strike conditions or the benefits of a union.

Penalty for attempting to apply the freedom of the press (prohibited in section 9) would be from $50 to $5,000 or state penetentiary from one month to two years or both imprisonment and fine. Maximum punishment if the "crime" had only been committed once would be $5,000 fine and two years imprisonment.

The second initiative measure on the ballot is called the State Humane Pound Act. Proponents of Proposition No. 2 are attempting to be kind to animals and undoubtedly are trying to do the best for household pets. Some of the ideas set forth in the act are worthy and certainly there are abuses to animals under present conditions.

But in their desire to protect pets and to treat them with kindness and appreciation they have inserted a clause that has raised the wrath of scientists. It is unfortunate that an act that might otherwise have accomplished something arouses condemnation. As the wording now stands, science believes the law would be a hindrance to medical progress, and would seriously impair research, experimentation, and demonstration.

Perhaps as opponents of the bill charge, it is a camouflage for anti-vivisection. Maybe one clause was slipped in and animal lovers are being used as a tool of anti-vivisectionists.

As section 10 of the law now reads, "it is unlawful for any poundmaster . . . to turn over . . . any dog, cat, or other animal . . . to any person, school, university, research laboratory or experimental station to be used for educational demonstration, medical, scientific and/or experimental purposes of any nature . . . "

It is an established fact that experiments on animals have brought contagious diseases under control and that many human lives have been saved. The problem centers on one point. Voters must decide whether or not, Proposition No. 2 will hinder medical progress.

It is interesting to note that both Propositions No. 1 and 2 claim to do one thing but include provisions which can be interpreted to serve an entirely different purpose. Hidden behind lengthy clauses and legal phraseology they thus foster measures that might turn the clock back several hundred years and halt the march of progress.

Perhaps the sponsors of these initiatives in their desire to rectify conditions were overzealous in their desire to set California right. To us it looks more than unintentional. Apparently, measures are being utilized by certain individuals and groups who can't influence the voters anyway but by camouflage.

If such is the case, it is clear, then, that there are people trying to nullify what progress we have made politically and educationally. It is heartening to see that the electorate is being made aware of these propositions and their clauses by alert individuals and groups as to the real content and the intent of these measures.

Colleges Meet Resistance In Discussing Social Problems

"THE growing seriousness" that has supposedly descended on American universities in the last few years is all too true—but all too frequently suppressed in college newspapers throughout the nation.

Today's college dailies are extremely interesting indicators of undergraduate thought, and are moving ahead with a vitality that is surprising to one not acquainted with university journalism.

They are actually taking the lead in typographical improvements and page appearance. College papers in many instances are pointing the way for professional dailies with a much wider circulation.

But underneath all this vitality and briskness there exists a suppression of thought that is occasionally startling. A keen student of university journalism will point out the forward editorial stands of several college dailies—but he will also have to admit that the junior prom and the football squad still play the largest role on most college editorial pages.

It might be considered odd that censorship and suppression should be practiced in an institution devoted to the search for truth and the defense of freedom of thought, yet every year brings cases of university authorities "clamping down" on some newspaper, or tales of a brave fight for press freedom . . .

The Daily Cardinal has always been proud to boast that it is uncensored, almost in a class by itself among college dailies. We believe that one of Wisconsin's great claims should be that it has maintained an unfettered college press—with all its vagaries, mistakes, and wild enthusiasms—through all these years. The ups and downs of the Cardinal have been worth accepting because they were part of a free newspaper.

It is thus with some degree of interest that the Cardinal views the struggling American college press of today. Student editors are beginning to strike out vigorously on problems of pressing concern: race discrimination, NYA, housing, curriculum, academic freedom, student democracy.

And because they are starting to hit hard, the leaders are meeting with stiff opposition. But it is our hope that the small group of forthright college papers will increase steadily, clarifying and liberating "the growing seriousness" of the American undergraduate.

Theirs is a hard fight, but all progressive forces are siding today with papers which insist, like The Daily Californian, The Texan, and others, on bringing to the fore issues which they know are vital—whether the editor gets expelled or not.

May there be more of them.

—Wisconsin Daily Cardinal

THIS PUZZLING WORLD

Edited by
Milton J. Puzzletsar and Henry J. Riddleston

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING?

If Proposition No. 25 is carried, the state will have to pay every person over fifty $30 every week. Obviously, the rest of us will have to share the cost of the program. The population of California is, in round numbers, 6,150,000.

a. Prove that if there are 500,000 people more than fifty, then every man, woman, and child will have to pay, on the average, $137 per year, or $548 per family of four.

b. Prove that if the number of people more than fifty is nearer a million, then every man, woman, and child less than fifty will have to pay, on the average, $305 per year, or $1220 per family of four.

c. Prove that if the cost of the program is to amount to, say, 10 per cent of the average per capita income, every man, woman, and child, will have to earn $3050 per year; or $12,200 per year, per family of four.

d. Prove that if the program could work for more than a few weeks, the State of California would be licking 81,000,000,000 two-cent tax stamps per year (on a basis of a million people more than fifty) or, on the average, 13,100 stamps per person per year.

Cabbages & Kings
By Blue Pencil Bill

NEWS from a junior college where they really care about class elections. "Because of stuffing of the ballot box in the sophomore election last Wednesday, the election committee decided to hold a second election today if possible. It is definitely known that some sophomores voted more than once."—Salinas Junior College Battery, October 21.

Imagine a class election in this college where any student voted more than once for a class officer—no such luck, they don't vote at all.

• • •

Introducing to the readers of The Guardsman the first page of the Oxford Students' Dictionary of Modern American Song Titles.

"A Number of Infinitesimal Divisions of Time Congregated."

"I Say, May I Exchange Ladies With You During This Terpsichorean Endeavor?"

"Please Discontinue Your Frantic Circular Motions About The Shrubbery."

"In My Opinion This Venerable Gentleman Has Overturned A Tin Liquid Container With His Pedal Extremity."

Answers at the end of the column.

• • •

ABOUT DICK TOM

This is not a paid advertisement or anything but for a good change of atmosphere we suggest eating lunch some afternoon at the Far East Cafe in Chinatown. And above all—have Dick Tom serve you. Dick is a young Chinese in his early twenties, combs his hair straight back, and has a smile that beats any politician's during a stiff campaign.

Although Dick's English doesn't compare with George Jean Nathan's, his good nature and enthusiastic praise for everyone makes it easy to understand what he says. Dick Tom has a philosophy. It is nothing new, modern, or sophisticated—it is the philosophy of Confucius, and Dick quotes it whenever requested.

We were in a diplomatic entanglement caused by "shooting off our mouth" when a longing for Chinese food brought us to Dick Tom's. The food was good but the anxiety caused by our mistake didn't help the flavor very much. Dick, observing our plight, quoted from his philosophy: "Words not said need never be remembered. — Confucius." Truer words were never spoke.

• • •

Don McPherson, who made the Sacramento trip this year, tells his friends he never did see the football game because he fell asleep and didn't wake up when the train stopped at Sacramento.

• • •

American versions of the song titles. "Sixty Seconds Got Together", "Change Partners", "Stop Beating Around The Mulberry Bush", "Old Man Mose".

RAM'S HORN

Editor, The Guardsman:

I wish to congratulate you and your staff for the splendid publicity you have issued on behalf of the school bonds. Your special edition was distributed in all evening schools by the evening school faculties. I have enjoyed reading each issue of your paper.

Robert F. Gray
Deputy Superintendent of Schools

• • •

Editor, The Guardsman:

We, the undersigned, are employed by the Key System Ferries, dining room department.

We have read your article "Santa Barbara Strikes at Racial Discrimination" in the last issue of The Guardsman which was distributed among us by one of our co-workers, Matthew Parker, who is a student at the junior college.

We wish to extend our sincere appreciation for your broadmindedness and fair thinking along the lines of racial discrimination. We sincerely trust that more such articles will appear in The Guardsman.

Dining room employees of the Key System Ferries.

• • •

Editor, The Guardsman:

It's about time Hughie Waite received some recognition of his efforts as head of the rally committee. During the earlier part of the semester some of the sideliners remarked about his lack of ability in promoting a good, entertainment rally, basing their judgment on one single example of Hugh's work. Whether that rally turned out good or bad there should have been some praise for the time and work Hugh put into it. Well; Hugh gave us one of the finest rallies we've attended in a long time last week for the State game. He also discovered talent that would remain unseen but for his ability to look for it. You know Hugh doesn't receive a pay check for his work so why not pay him a few compliments—he deserves them!

W. E. Appreciate

• • •

Editor's note: This department was omitted last week because there were no letters submitted. Remember, the Ram's Horn is for you. Have you bouquets or brickbats? Send 'em in! Don't let the Ram's Horn blow for you, blow it yourself!

TONIGHT AT 8
By MacKillop

Sartorial Modes
By Fashion Fanny

ALTHOUGH San Franciscans are still enjoying warm weather and sunshine, department stores are featuring winter-wearing apparel. During the holidays you may go to some fashionable winter playgrounds and you'll need the right sports clothes.

The new ice skating costumes are delectable. Plaid, velvet, lined with jersey, and ski satin, jersey lined skirts are some of the newest. The flare begins at the knees and is very full. Tyrolean sweathers in many bright colors and in new and different styles go to complete the skating costume.

Another winter item is the new cotton quilted house coat. It's just the thing to take on week-end trips and is slowly taking the place of the flannel robe.

If you are one who likes to lounge around in your spare time, you'll delight in the new lounging pajamas. Seen in one of the department stores was one of these new pajama sets, comprised of an adorable cotton quilted jacket, with elbow length sleeves, and blue silk trousers.

What is the smart college woman wearing to classes this semester? The answer is one of the new and smart jackets with either a wool dress or a skirt to match. The new button-up collarless type and the new fitted jacket in hip length style. These jackets with your skirts or vice versa. Color is the thing this year and one should wear plenty of it.

Button-up angora sweaters in pastels are very popular with the college set, and many are wearing the small bolero type with formals.

One of the best dressed young women seen around the college campus at Powell Street this week is Helen Hansen. Miss Hansen was seen wearing one of the new tweed suits, the jacket being one of the new button-up collarless types. The suit was a black and white tweed and with this Miss Hansen wore a royal blue linen blouse with heart shaped buttons.

Watch out ladies. Fashion Fanny is keeping her eyes open for one of the best dressed women for each issue.

By Charming Charlie

TO our mind, the type of dancing most popular in this day and age is not for the well-bred young lady and young man.

In the present day, the swing-craze, as exemplified by "truckin'," the Suzie Q, and the Jitterbug, causes the dancers to revert to the primitive and barbaric urges of the bygone age.

In a line of succession came the Charleston and others, leading up to the "truckin'," and "shagging" that will be associated in the future with the present generation.

With the unchecked velocity of this mad world of ours undoubtedly going to continue, the number of new steps will increase by leaps and bounds, probably, in the year 2,000, the American public will be doing "Air-plane Wobble," or the "Rocket Slide," or some such creation.

Dances will come, and dances will go, but throughout all of this mad succession of weird steps, the Fox Trot, originated in the early part of the century and "daddy" of the new style, will remain.

The blame, however, for this style of dancing, does not rest so much on the dancers, as it does on the composers of the music necessary for these steps. Perhaps, in the future, musicians will restrict themselves to a more refined type of harmony. We hope so!

Our nomination for the best-dressed man of the week—Joseph A. Amori, hygiene and physical education instructor. Yes sir, Instructor Amori looks like a fashion plate out of Esquire. Orchids to you, sir, and may you continue to garb yourself in the height of fashion.

International Correspondence Schools is the latest exhibitor to take space in the Business Efficiency Building if the 1939 World's Fair on San Francisco Bay.

The Golden Gate International Exposition, now building for 1939, will use about 30,000,000 board feet of lumber.

Presidential Notes
By Bob Fex

Midterms have again left us, and everyone looks forward to catching up on his work before finals. Be sure and start right in, as finals will be here in no time at all, and the sooner one starts getting ready the better. Bear down on the books, but don't forget to enjoy the social life of college.

Remember that on next Saturday night the Social Committee is giving the Low Sophomore Dance in the Colonial room of the St. Francis Hotel. The dance is informal. Music is by Eddy Murphy, and novelty bids are to be given to all attending. Orchids to Barbara Randall for all of the fine dances given so far this semester, they have far surpassed the dances of the past.

Be sure and keep Friday night, November 11, open for the gigantic extravaganza of the year, given by Treacy Slattery and the Block Letter Society. It is going to be another of those popular "Suppressed Desire" affairs that have been so successful in the past.

Tonight's Men's Club fights at the Italian Athletic Club should be attended by everyone who loves to see a good battle fought fairly. It will be an opportunity to see some of the campus boxers in action.

A meeting of the Associated Students will be called in the near future to discuss and approve or disapprove the Executive Council's recommendations for the establishment of a Board of Publications. A new method of amendment will also be discussed and acted upon.

The session will be purely a business one to discuss constitutional changes. Be sure to attend (the date is not definite yet) and vote. Participate in your student government!

A couple of wilted orchids to Paul Fechtner for the fine work he has done in organizing the POLO team!

AFTER DARK
By John Ward

An Observation On An Opera:

SOME critics claim that art reflects the age in which it is created. Disregarding the debatable side of this question, we find that this formula fits exceedingly well to Richard Strauss' one-act opera Eleckt[r]a. When this work was presented to S F audiences for the first time two weeks ago it appeared to us that Strauss had given a wonderful illustration of pre-war decadence. Certainly some writers have vouched for Germany's unforunate state of mental health prior to 1914, and equally certain does it seem to us that Strauss' work correlates to that recorded mental condition.

At a time (1905 approx.) when the German literary taste was clinging exultantly to Oscar Wilde's strange thesis on necrophilism, Salome, it was certainly ripe to present the blood-blind, dehumanized Eleckt[r]a. And the fact that Eleckt[r]a enjoyed—with Salome—enormous popular success gives one a fine example of pre-war psychology.

As to whether Strauss took the play for its literary qualities or its financial promise—that is anybody's guess. But, let it be remembered, Strauss is one of the few composers of serious music ever to retire on what remuneration his published music brought him.

SERIOUSNESS DIFFICULT

The literary value of Hugo von Hoffmansthal's libretto for Elecktra, modeled on Sophocles and injected with all of the Freudian abnormalities, is quite questionable. It is full of high sentence, great monologues, and regrettable anti-climaxes. The whole thing is so punctuated by forced and obsolete gruesomeness that it is quite difficult to take the play seriously when it is divorced from the music.

Of the music, itself, that is indeed another thing. It is almost universally conceded that Strauss is a master of the technique of music—and especially is he known as a phenomenal genius of orchestration. The actual musical material, the inspirations with which he fills his technically perfect works, however, may be questioned quite closely. For Strauss is so close to the charlatan in most of his work that one fears placing much faith in him lest he befuddle the senses and forsake the mind.

HORROR PLAY SUPERB

Of the music to Elecktra—it is wonderful theatre music. Married to the text the work has the push and pull of the greatest horror play ever penned. Why talk of Dracula or Frankenstein? In one hundred and ten minutes Strauss can pour more blood, revenge and horror than Bela Lugosi ever imagined possible.

Take, for instance, the scene where the queen appears. First one hears screams and much whip cracking from off stage, then the tortured cries of many animals. Follows a procession of dull red torches and a flock of slaves being beaten across the stage. Then enters the queen, heavy eyed and a leprous looking woman, who asks her daughter why one should dream of blood and strangulation. All this, mind you, to one gigantic screech from an orchestra of more than a hundred players. (But of course one must see this to realize how delightfully terrifying it is.)

AIR OF MURDER

When the opera is over there is such a fine air of murder in the house that one laughs loud and promptly forgets the whole business. For Strauss has not written a masterpiece. Neither did whatshisname? who wrote Dracula. And, after all, what can be more amusing—if your nerves are healthy and you don't indulge in the same mental states after the performance—than a good old thriller. All Strauss has done is to elevate a noto... comparatively respectable surroundings and insert his chill-getters in a new manner. And, since we don't take it as seriously as the pre-war Germans—toujours gai! When it all boils down the art is in the manner, not the matter—and here's no great matter!

CORRECTION:

We wish to clear up a little matter that has much troubled a few of our readers, though we're not sure why. Ziliani is not the husband of Stignani, as was printed last week.

In keeping with the swing craze that is sweeping the nation, San Jose State college recently staged a jitterbug night. A 15 cent admission was charged, the proceeds of the jam session going to the community chest.

RAMblings
By Dick Simpers

Slattery Named Hardest Working Guy In College; McGovern In Aviation

Ability does not go unrewarded on the football field, as evidenced by the recent promotion to the varsity of two erstwhile members of Jack Gaddy's Flying Lambs. Boosted into the upper bracket because of their heroic labors on the goofs are Temple Davies, halfback, and Hal Corbett, end, both of whom made the squad "the hard way". Both will be back next year, and look like good bets to annex first string berths.

* * * * *

Ed McGovern asks us to insert a plug for the aviation club he is organizing. Here it is, Ed.

* * * * *

College bowlers are busily limbering up their arms in preparation for Joe Amori's intramural tournament which gets under way this week. A record number of pin-smashing enthusiasts will be battling for the title, and some hot competition is anticipated.

* * * * *

Nomination for the hardest-working guy in the college: Treacy Slattery. Ever since taking over the presidency of the Block SF Society, Slats has been going around in circles trying to keep the organization clicking, and so far he turned in a good job. The Blockmen are staging a dance next week which promises to be one of the highlights of the semester, and big doin's are reported to be on tap for Block SF week at the end of the semester.

* * * * *

Lots of nothing: Stan Bierwith, tackle, is said to have enjoyed chuting the chutes in a Los Angeles amusement park . . .

Contrary to a current report, crew will not be dropped from the athletic field next spring . . . In the opinion of a couple of girls we know, Bob Fex is the best-dressed man in junior college . . . Tom Regan is still waiting for that long-shot to come in at Pimlico . . .

Where did Johnny Verducci get that pin he's wearing? . . . Jack DuFosse is said to be really going to town on that ferryboat every morning . . . Here's your name, Davenport . . . Now are you satisfied? . . . McAtee is really an expert at smashing glassware . . . Since Bud Wiechers got his new nose, he has been going over bigger than ever . . .

George Jones is gaining recognition as the most accomplished clown on the football squad . . . Stan Tobiason enjoyed himself on "B" Street in Sacramento . . . so did Art Rosenbrock . . . Bob Schoenstein and Neil Swanson are the domestically-inclined members of the team . . . both are ace chefs.

Intramural Tennis This Week At Fine Arts Palace

Intramural tennis goes to the fore this week at the Palace of Fine Arts, with the Rams' leading racketeers competing with gymnasium "dark horses" for the singles and doubles championships of the college.

The list of seeded favorites in the singles event which boasts an entry of over 40, include chubby Hal Wagner, defending champion, Bill Canning, Bob Kun, and Ray Berns.

Berkeley Threat

Newcomers expected to give the favorites a run are John Garton, former Poly star, Ray Kline, Berkeley threat, and Carl Christianson, holdover from last semester's championship outfit, and it is not unlikely that out of the mass of unknowns entered, one may rise to give serious challenge to the reigning stars.

The No. 1 spot in the doubles event goes to the heavily-favored combine of Wagner and Canning, while Berns and Kun, returning duo of a championship squad, draw the second-seeded position.

Mutual Agreement

According to Tom Wilson, tennis coach and instructor, a mutual agreement between players must be reached in regard to balls and the time of matches. "The college will furnish balls and set the time for the semi-final and final matches," Wilson said, "but it is up to the players to furnish their own balls in the early rounds. As far as the time of the matches goes, the opponents will have to get together and arrange the time, so that it will be convenient for both of them."

Cups will be given for the first time in the history of the college, replacing the medals given in former years.

RAM CHOPS
By Jack Schmale

Because our Rams will figure in an Armistice Day football game November 11 against some junior collegians from the land of the Rose Bowl, we tune up for this week's "tripe-writorial" concert with a news item:

. . . Los Angeles Junior College gridders in moral victory; hold Pasadena to 16 to 0 score in Rose Bowl skirmish; "Colorful" Robinsons star . .

The Pasadenans have a pretty fair ball club this season. In six games they have registered just 195 points while their opponents were nibbling 51 digits at the expense of second and third stringers.

The Robinsons are colorful because Jack, quarterback, is super-dynamic, stupendous, colossal, and, well, a darned good back. His color is black. He's a negro. The fullback, color, white, is nicknamed "Red". Aren't the Robinsons colorful?

• • •

It won't be long before Louis "Dutch" Conlan's casaba artists begin firing basketballs around Kezar pavilion. In fact the schedule is almost completed, and lists such respected rivals as Olympic Club, Young Men's Institute, S. F. State and others. The conference, as you probably know, has been revised geographically and Sacramento and Modesto are no longer official league rivals. Ram sked will list Marin, Santa Rosa, San Mateo, Menlo and Salinas in the Coast division.

A two game series will be played against each of the aforementioned institutions, which indicates that the cage season will offer some choice excursions. Winners of the respective valley and coast divisions will collide in the grand finale to decide THE conference champ.

Strictly for the enlightenment and general information of those who were not among us last semester, a brief summary of the hoop roster may not be amiss here. Ten of twelve squad members return from the 1938 season. Gone but not forgotten are Treacy "Slats" Slattery, veteran forward, and Bill Phelan, the latter's understudy. Back are the Ram all-conference sensations Alex Opalinski, center, and Ed Curcio, lanky guard. Also with us is even lankier Hal Fischer, whose guarding was effective in the hectic upset of St. Mary's varsity in the P.A. tourney, and diminutive Willie Blackfield, forward who finished the season with an overabundance of baskets to his credit.

• • •

It's about time to ask for suggestions on the real reason why the brave bold army of Sacramento pranksters stole Hughie Waite's game banner in the Capital City. Could it be that the valley school is considering changing its colors to red and white because they now possess a banner bearing the letters S F J C? Or the society [illegible] by the "borrowers" might change its title to Sacramento's Foolish Junior Clowns. If so, and it sounds reasonable enough, Hughie should permit them to keep the banner.

Dr. J. Kose, deputy general director of the Czechoslovak Export Institute, will recommend a commercial and tourist exhibit from Czechoslovakia upon his return to Prague.

Southerner

TOM MALLORY
Coaches Undefeated Bulldogs

Rams To Rest After Three Successive Beatings; Prep For Pasadena Bulldogs

By ED VAN DER VEEN

Bruised and battered after absorbing three beatings in a row, Russ Sweet's Rams are taking a week's lay-off prior to taking on the formidable and to date, unbeaten, Pasadena Bulldogs, this Armistice Day at Kezar.

Coach Tom Mallory will exhibit a veteran outfit to local fans when he trots his crimson-clad Crown City cohorts out to face the Rams.

Tom numbers no less than ten lettermen on his starting lineup, including the entire line.

Single Newcomer

Only "Red" Robinson, sophomore fullback, is a new-comer to the squad, coming up from last year's Pasadena freshman squad.

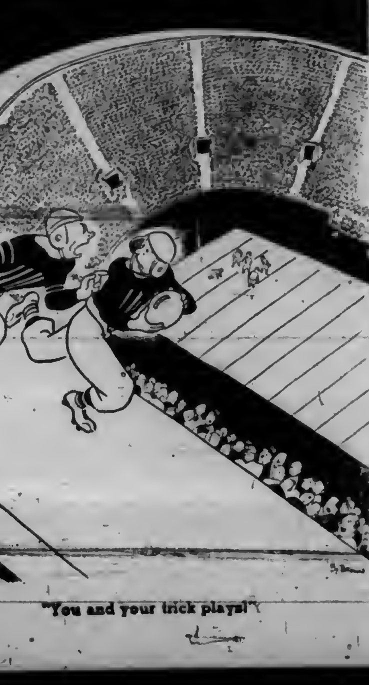
Outstanding in the Pasadena aggregation is the highly touted dusky flash, Jackie Robinson, the Bulldog's great all-round athlete, who besides composing about half the Pasadena offense, contributes no little to the defense.

Robinson not only goes in for football, but is also the National Junior College broad-jump champion, was awarded the palm for being the most valuable junior college baseball player in Southern California last year, and was the second-highest scorer in the Southern California Junior College basketball loop last year.

Good Record

Pasadena presents an outstanding California Junior College record this year, possessing victories over Santa Ana and San Bernardino, defending co-champions of the Eastern Division of the Southern California Conference, and over Visalia in practice encounters.

In Western Division games, Pasadena has defeated Ventura, Taft, Los Angeles and Compton. Only the Cubs of Los Angeles have been able to hold them to as low as 16 points, bowing, 16 to 0.



"You've taught Jenks to be so elusive, he's finally disappeared — ball and all!"

FOOTBALL TERMS

OFFSIDE—Starting before the ball.
BUM—Losing coach or quarterback.
STATISTICS—Figures showing that your team really deserved to win.
COMEBACK—Part of popular air, "Come back to Erin."
RAZZLE-DAZZLE — Calling same play and losing another 24 yards.
OFFENSIVE (NOUN) — Ability of your opponents to gain ground at will through your line.
OFFENSIVE (ADJECTIVE) — Their attitude as they keep on gaining ground at will.
QUARTERBACK — Nitwit who couldn't hear the instructions you shouted to him during the game.
QUAGMIRE—A muddy field which bogs down your attack.
FIRM FOOTING—Same field, if it bogs down your opponent's attack.
QUICK-KICK—Something which a quarterback pulls out of his bag of tricks, or a fan gets out of a glass container.
SPIN—Queer sensation following a quick-kick.

Reprinted courtesy Strebl & Olivier—No part may be copied without permission

"You and your trick plays!"

Alligator Bites Off Ram's Tail In 19-0 Debacle Last Friday

Reed, Verducci Outstanding In Game; State Had Too Much Power, Speed

By DAVE JOHNSON

San Francisco State's gridders, until this time supposedly weak and lacking scoring punch, pulled a complete metamorphosis and ran roughshod over a pitiful looking college eleven, scoring 19 points to none for the non-Rambling Rams. This complete annihilation took place last Friday night at Roberts Field under the electroliers.

The Staters scored more points in the first half than they totaled in their first five games.

Now for the gory details: the game started with Captain Al Thompson of State kicking out of bounds. From this point the Rams led by Mike Hanrahan, moved up field to a first down, and were apparently on their way, when the above mentioned Mr. Hanrahan fumbled, the ball being recovered by deGhetaldi of State, who played a whale of a game.

Gators March

Failing to advance, the Staters kicked, Hanrahan in turn punted a beauty, 41 yards, to Reade who returned 14 to his own 43. It was at this point that things really started to happen. First, it was Reade for 16, then Schiller for 8, Reade again, this time for 24 yards and a first down on the Rams 9 yard stripe.

Tightening up, the Junior Collegians took possession on their 2 foot line, just as the quarter ended. On the first play of the second quarter with Mike Hanrahan deep in the end zone deGhetaldi knifed through and blocked Mike's attempted kick which was taken by Schiller on the 7 from where he walked over for the initial tally. Thompson's attempted conversion failed.

Midway in the second quarter State took over on their own 22 yard line. First it was Reade to Chandler for 1, Reade for 6, Junior College offside and a 5 yard penalty, State getting a first down. Reade then passed incomplete to Chandler, Reade went for 16 yards over his own left tackle. A double reverse Reade to Chandler to Schiller netted an even 20 yards and then, miracle of miracles, the Rams actually held for two successive downs.

Not being able to stand prosperity, the Junior Collegians weakened, if that was possible, and McDonald went for 8 yards over his left tackle, with McDonald again over left guard for 17 yards and a first down on the Jaysee 5. McDonald for 4 more to the 1 yard line. Reade bucked it over for the second score. Thompson converted and the score read 13-0 as the half ended a few plays later.

With two minutes left in the game, Mel (Ol' Lad) Peterson, who had been dropping back to kick, punted out to Reade who was downed on the Jaysee 47. Reade then gained 13 yards and on the next play threw a 15 yard pass to Chandler, who scampered the remaining 19 yards down the sideline for the third and final tally. The conversion failed. Score 19-0.

Outstanding for victors were deGhetaldi, Givens and Claude Hanrahan in the line while Reade, who was the outstanding man on the field, was aided and abetted by Schiller and Chandler in the backfield.

Berns Observes Beauty of State's Female Yell-Leaders; Gives Lowdown On Game

By RAY BERNS

Approximately one half of State's rally committee is of the female gender; and in addition, the Gators boast two female yell-leaders . . . feminine pulchritude—plus. 'Nuff said.

It was Verducci night at Roberts Field last Saturday with Joe, former California quarterback and present Poly High grid mentor, taking over the duties of head linesman, while brother Frank, and cousin Johnnie were performing in the Ram backfield. Incidentally, Johnny was the local's outstanding back carrying the apple six times for a total gain of 26 yards. Johnnie lost nine yards on a bad pass from center, and his average was lowered.

Only Two Subs

State sent in but two substitutes in the first half, McDonald for Schiller, and Lowele for Irwin. Both Schiller and Irwin had been injured. Otherwise, the Gators might have played the entire half without a replacement.

In case anyone's interested, the four [illegible] who put on the exhibition during the half time on the [illegible] track, were all State [illegible], and the winner, Bob Kline, [illegible] the distance in 4:4[illegible].2.

At [illegible] in the ball game, the Rams [illegible] with down and 32 yards [illegible] with the ball resting on their own one yard line. Sweet's [illegible] three successive plays [illegible] own 23 yard line [illegible] way, fellers.

Waite Joined

Hughie Waite and his yell-leaders were joined by a fourth at the game, none other than Bill Kennedy, former Ram yell-leader. One of the best yell-leaders that this institution ever had, Kennedy proved that he hasn't lost any of his old-time pep.

Mel Petersen, Ram all-league center, played his usual good game, but credit for the outstanding line performance of the night must go to Frank Davenport, college end, who played with a bandaged hand, but nevertheless, was in there fighting all the time.

Block SF Dance To Feature Jitterbugs Contest; College Students Invited

Promising his Block SF Society "Suppressed Desire" dance to be even more fun than the very successful one held last semester, Society President Treacy Slattery said, "We are going to have a 'Phoney Phoo' return for another engagement on the night of the dance and are going to have a 'gigantic Jitterbug contest'.

"Prizes will be given, and by the way we will have the 'Grand March'," continued Slattery. "In short, I'll guarantee this dance to be more fun than any yet staged by students of the college, and hope that everyone who possibly can will join in the fun on the night of November 11."

Men's Club Fisticuff Festival Tonight At Italian A. C.

Featuring 138 pounds of dynamite, the Associated Men Students under the direction of President Mickey Berman, and faculty adviser Joseph A. Amori, will hold its semi-annual fisticuffs festival at the Italian Athletic Club, Stockton and Green Streets, at 8 o'clock tonight.

Lionel Cade, colored flash and defending champion in the 139 pound division, will not only seek to retain his title, but will step up into the 149 pound class and make an attempt to gain that crown. Exceptionally tricky and fast, Cade throws leather from all angles, and is expected to make life miserable for his ring opponents.

Ray Greenwood, 169 pound titleholder, will be the other champion seeking to repeat tonight, and will also step out of his weight class and do battle with the lads in the 179 pound brigade.

Other leather-pushers expected to show favorably tonight are "Slim" Raine in the 179 pound division, Nick Minitsky in the heavy-weights, and Eddie Baca in the 129 pounders.

Both preliminaries and finals will be held tonight, so unless the reigning favorites are upset in an early fracas, they will be seen in action two or three times throughout the evening.

WOMEN'S SPORTS PARADE
By Carol Pickering

Tourney Week announcements are increasing in number as the eventful week draws nigh. Peggy Starr, volleyball manager, informs us of her invitation to Washington Hi volleyballers to visit the college November 15, Tourney Week, and play a competitive game with the WAA team. Refreshments will be served.

• • •

While on the subject of volleyball we hope all of you saw the dashing WAA-faculty game held recently. (SH! Of course we know you didn't but—flattery in the right place—you know. On an inside tip we reveal the fact that they had to oogle part of Verrel Weber's Fencing class into acting as spectators.) Anyway the score was 20 to 9 in favor of the students. Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar blossomed forth in beautiful Christmas green bloomers and a dazzling red, white, and blue figured blouse.

• • •

We had to take a chair the other day when Verrel Weber, archery coach, pointed out a mistake we printed. Our most humble apologies to the men in the co-educational archery class. Printed here were the names of the sharp shooters at the head of their class, and they all happened to be men. Because it was printed in this column and because of the crack we made at the end of the story, it was assumed that the sport is listed in the Women's Athletic Association. It isn't. We hope the atmosphere will have cleared a little by the time this paper is issued, but you never can tell, so we won't be seen on the archery green these next few weeks.

Sweet Devotes Full Coaching Time To Track

By DAVE JOHNSON

Bursting with the suddeness and unexpectedness of a deadly missile dropped upon the stillness of a quiet countryside, came the announcement that head football coach, Russ Sweet, was vacating his position as mentor of the Rambling Ram gridders, to devote more time to to the development of a powerful track team at the college.

Lee Eisan, baseball coach at the college until this time, will immediately take over the responsibilities as head football coach, Jack Gaddy, formerly crew coach, will in turn replace Eisan as chief of the horsehiders.

Much Thought

The move was not one made on the spur of the moment, nor did the unsuccessful showing of the junior college eleven so far this season have anything to do with the change.

As a matter of fact, the new setup was discussed by Coaches Conlan, Eisan Sweet, Gaddy and Wilson at the beginning of the present semester and unanimously decided upon, by them.

Break For Track

It was thought that since both Eisan and Sweet are football men and since Sweet was also an outstanding trackman, and the only man connected with the college coaching staff who possibly could develop a track team of any repute, that by being made track coach, he would be able to devote all of his time to a sadly neglected sport. Eisan, then would be able to concentrate on football entirely, and Jack Gaddy, a former star, college and semi-pro baseballer, would be the right man to guide the destinies of the horsehiders.

All of these changes were brought about in order to insure a better balanced sports program for the new junior college and in no way reflect upon the abilities of anyone connected with the changes that have been made.

Promoter Amori Plans Bowling Tournament

By JACK SCHMALE

Bowling, America's number one reducing medium, preventative against appendicitis, and the country's leading indoor pastime, walks into the Ram portals soon for purposes of initiating various and sundry students into its fascinating competitive department.

Translation: Joe Amori's planning a big bowling tournament. Every student in the school, beginner, first termer, lifer, champion or novice is eligible. There'll be team events, singles, and doubles, both all-male and mixed. There'll be prizes and medals, lots of fun.

Conducted under American Bowling Congress rules, the tournament will be held at Golden Gate Recreation, 115 Jones Street, beginning Monday, November 7. Competition will be held every afternoon except Wednesday, at the rate of 15 cents per game. There will be no elimination system, rather, scores standing against other scores.

Team event will be limited to 700 or 625 average. Doubles events will be listed as open, 250, 240 in the men's, and 240 and 220 in the two classes of mixed twosomes. Singles competition will be governed by eligibility average marks of 125 and open.

Entry blanks may be procured elsewhere in this issue of The Guardsman. Clip them out and fill in properly. Then present to Joe Amori.

Remember, the Executive Council, Block Society and other organizations are entering teams. Experience is not necessary. Just grab your entry blank and see Joe if there's any doubt on the rules and regulations. Don't miss the fun of competing in this first major intramural competition in the history of the college!

Wilson's Shinkickers Come Back After Defeats By San Jose, USF; Beat Bulldogs

After suffering two successive defeats by the University of San Francisco and San Jose State College soccer squads, Tom Wilson's Ram shinkickers came back to defeat the San Mateo Bulldogs in Northern California Intercollegiate League games at the Beach Chalet field last week.

The scores were 2-1 in favor of USF, 6-2 for San Jose, and 2-0 for the Rams in the Bulldog clash.

Nicco Outstanding

Bob Nicco, sterling inside right, once again proved the oustanding Ram soccerite, starring in the trio of games. Nicco chalked up the Ram's lone tally in the Don game, scored both of the local's goals in the San Jose affair, and contributed one of the two buckets made by the Rams against San Mateo.

Jan Blomquist, center forward, also played good ball in the games, as did Bob Campbell, veteran center half.

Although allowing a few goals to slither by him, Chiesa, college goalie, made up for it by making super saves on numerous occasions.

Weak Backfield

Downfall of the Ram squad in the USF and San Jose games may be directly attributed to a weak backfield defense. On three or four occasions in each of those games, the college fullbacks allowed opposing forwards to dribble right around them. In the San Mateo fray, the defensive work picked up, and consequently, the locals emerged victorious.

Wilson may derive one consolation, however, in the fact that the Rams are the unofficial and uncrowned champions of the non-existent junior college league, having knocked over San Mateo, and previously defeating Menlo by a score of 6-0.

Five-Men Event	Av.	Team Name	Av.	Captain	Av.
1.		3.		5.
2.		4.		Alt.

Doubles Event	Av.		Av.
1.		1.
2.		2.

Singles Event	Av.		Av.
1.		3.
2.		4.

Note: Be sure and enter team name and captain. Contact Joe Amori for reservations of alleys and other information. Entries close November 7.

Advisory Board Meets Tommorow; Clubs Continue Varied Activity

All clubs are requested to have a representative of their group at the meeting of the Club Advisory Board tomorrow at Powell Street. The group will meet in Room 103 at 12 noon.

"We are counting on a 100 per cent attendance at this meeting as it is imperative that all clubs are represented. Important business will be discussed so if the official representative cannot attend, please send a substitute," requested John Julius, president of the board.

* * *

Home Economics Association . . . Regular meeting of the club will be held on Wednesday, November 2, at 2:10 in Room 217 at Galileo. At this meeting membership cards will be given to all members, who are especially urged to attend to discuss plans for coming social activities. The initiation dinner, which was to have been held at Sigmund Stern Grove on October 21, will be held in the near future. The club's program includes the folowin activities: A trip to Treasure Island where members will participate in a picnic, and visit the various buildings; a theatre party to be held at the Wayfarer's Theatre; a foreign dinner, and a Christmas party, which is one of the traditions of the Home Economics Association, will climax this semester's social calendar.

* * *

Iota Chi . . . rejuvenated college fraternity, successfully completed the initiation of its neophytes on Friday, October 28, at a formal dinner and dance held at Milligan's Cafe, here in San Francisco.

This initiation has been the awakening of one of the college's oldest but least active fraternities. Among the new members of the group are Joseph DePutra, Elwood Bernstein, Phil Whaley, Charles Bowman, Harold Lanis and Jean Carriker.

* * *

Italian Club . . . Outstanding Italian students have been chosen to represent the college at the reception to be given by the Italian Chamber of Commerce in its quarters at 604 Montgomery Street, on Friday, November 4. Also attending the reception will be Italian students from the University of San Francisco and from Stanford University.

* * *

Pi Mu Gamma . . . Next meeting is to be held in the group's new permanent club house at Faxon Street and Ocean Avenue. The new club has facilities for badminton, ping pong, basketball and dancing, as it is also a gymnasium. The date of the next meeting is Wednesday, November 9, at 7:30 p.m. A dinner dance will be held Thursday, November 10, at 8 p.m. at Club Lido. Price is $1.25 per person. Harold Hoffman, president said, "We must have the definite number of persons with their money before Monday, November 7, or that person will have no reservation." In the near future the club plans a trip to Treasure Island.

* * *

Forestry . . . Has been very busy assembling a herbarium for the college. On Columbus Day the members of the club and T. R. Porter, sponsor of the club, hiked through Muir Woods and to the top of Mt. Tamalpais. Along the way they gathered interesting specimens of plants for the herbarium. The group will hold a meeting today and the guest speaker will be Mani Joy of the California Department of Fish and Game.

The organization has planned to take a trip through the University of California Botanical Gardens and also hold a weiner roast. Further discussion of these plans will be made at the meeting.

* * *

Radio Engineers . . . Will hold a business meeting Thursday at Gompers. Time is 10 a.m. As this is a rather important meeting, all members are urged, by Vincent Sherman, publicity agent for the group, to attend.

With a widely varied program prepared for the near future, the Tarbuth Club, a Jewish organization last week held its meeting at the home of sponsor Michael Zarchin.

The purpose of the club was decided upon as being cultural and social. Temporary officers of the group are: David Breman, president; Jacqueline Kramer, vice-president; Jean Paskin, secretary; Daniel Rosenblatt, treasurer, and Leonard Gross, publicity.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held on Thursday night, November 3, at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of David Breman, 1555 Vallejo Street (Cars 19, D, E, H).

* * *

Japanese Club . . . Will hold an informal dance on November 10 at the Japanese Y M C A located at 1530 Buchanan Street. The dance will be for members of the club only. Kiyoshi Kimoto, vice-president, said.

The group will also hold a turkey raffle, November 18. Tickets will be on sale for all members this week, announced Kimoto.

Plans are being made for the organization to give a $25 scholarship at the end of the semester, for all around social activities.

* * *

Chess Club . . . Meeting was cancelled last Friday because of the football game. The next meeting, according to club President Bill Switzer, will be held this Friday at Henry J. Ralston's home. Six of the members who will compete in the Chess League have already been chosen. There still remains one vacancy which will be filled by any competent person who is interested in the game.

* * *

Pick and Hammer . . . Held a meeting Monday night to discuss plans for the field trip which was held yesterday. Club members and students of the economic geology class travelled by auto to Nortonville, California, a ghost town, to study sand deposits.

From there they went to Mt. Diablo to see a mercury mine. The trip extended throughout the day, and much information was gathered by those who attended.

* * *

Chinese Club . . . Is planning a basketball game with Y M C A at the Salvation Army building, November 4. Ruth Chin, secretary of the club, said that the group is planning a party to be held after the game.

* * *

To make final plans for the telephone-bridge and other methods of raising money for next year's scholarship, the Women's Service Society will hold a meeting Monday, November 7 at 7:30 p.m. at Phyllis Learnard's home, according to Verral Weber, WSS sponsor.

* * *

Newman Club . . . A semester dance will be held the night of the last day of school, December 16, in the Girls' Gymnasium at Galileo. A student body card is the only admission.

Two tickets to the Santa Clara-St. Mary's football game will be raffled off at a dime a chance to take care of the finances. The school orchestra will provide the music.

There will be a special meeting, Monday night, November 7 to discuss the roller skate to be held November 14 at Burke's Gymnasium.

* * *

Alpha Phi Omega . . . Had a meeting last night at the home of Mary Sarrati, in Oakland. Final plans were made for a roller skating party with the Tri Epsilon Fraternity, to be held at Pacific City on Thursday evening, November 10.

* * *

Sunday, November 6, at the home of Muriel Mills the last formal meeting of the Phi Beta Rho will be held before the pledges are initiated, according to Ruth Graham, sorority president. Mrs. Rue has been fulfilling her position capably as our faculty adviser," Miss Graham announced, "and the women are delighted with their new adviser."

* * *

Lambda Chi . . . Is anxiously looking forward to Sunday, November 6, when the charter members of the Lambda Chi will hold a weenie-roast at the beach.

In the meantime, the pledges, who were initiated last Thursday, are expected to entertain the other members with a program.

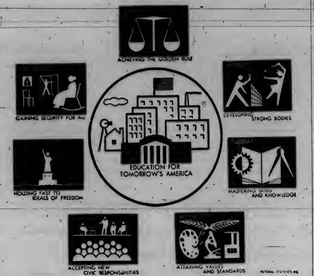
The next meeting will be on Thursday, November 17, to be held at the club rooms of the American Association of the University for Women.

* * *

Alice C. Cooper, adviser to Alpha Gamma Sigma, announced that the next meeting will be a tea to be held at Galileo High School some Thursday in November. The date will be announced later. Albert Graves was elected president at a meeting Wednesday, October 26. There have been several committees organized and the group promises to be one of the college's best. Students are asked to go to the bank to secure a club pin this week.

* * *

Rifle and Pistol Club . . . Regular meeting will be held on Thursday, November 3, at 4 o'clock in the Armory. An informal dance will be held at Codornices Community House in Berkeley from 8 to 12 on Thursday, November 10. All students may attend, provided they are vouched for by a club member. Those attending are requested to come as farmers or farmerettes, as the case may be. Refreshments will be served, and if the weather permits, a barbecue pit will be available for those desiring it from 6 to 10. All cars will meet at the Ferry Building, and from there will go to Codornices together. Tickets per couple will be 25 cents.



General Chairman of the affair is Howard Markovits. Food Chairman is Bill Gibson, aided by Lucretia Angioncella, Howard Markovits, and Barbara Stratton. Games Chairman is Margaret Park, aided by Virginia Hinds, Robert Tomich, Ann Bertolucci, Barbara Cooper, and Gerry Stewart. Transportation Chairman is John Engel, aided by Margaret Toban, Gordon Morris, Walt Voight. For all other information contact Bill Gibson, Howard Markovits, or Bill Franklin.

* * *

French Club . . . Meeting for tomorrow night will be postponed because the advisory board will not be able to attend. Notice of the new date will be posted on the bulletin board in the Powell Street building, announced Helen Garbe, president.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK

NOVEMBER 6-12 1938

Board of Supervisors Resolves That City Observe Education Week

Calling for the community observance of American Education Week, November 6 to 12, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors passed a resolution introduced by Adolph Uhl to that effect last week.

An integral part of the college participation in the observation will be the Armistice Day Rally sponsored by the college Peace Society, Thursday, November 10. The rally will be in keeping with the theme of the day: Holding Fast to Our Ideals of Freedom.

The week will begin Sunday, November 6, with the dedication of the boys' gymnasium now being completed as an addition to Lowell, California's oldest high school. The afternoon ceremony will be the first of a daily program in honor of American Education throughout the country.

Observance of the educational program week is the joint responsibility of the American Legion, the United States Office of Education and the National Education Association. Immediately after his recent election as commander of the San Francisco Council, American Legion, Dr. J. P. O'Brien announced that his unit would lend full cooperation in the San Francisco program during American Education Week. .

Education for Tomorrow's America is the general theme of the 1938 observance. The theme by days is as follows:

Sunday, Nov. 6—Achieving the Golden Rule.

Monday, Nov. 7—Developing Strong Bodies and Able Minds.

Tuesday, Nov. 8—Mastering Skills and Knowledge.

Wednesday, Nov. 9 — Attaining Values and Standards.

Thursday, Nov. 10—Accepting New Civic Responsibilities.

Friday, Nov. 11—Holding Fast to Our Ideals of Freedom.

Saturday, Nov. 12—Gaining Security For All.

As an added feature of American Education Week, an Exhibition of Shine For '39 posters designed by junior and senior high school pupils, has been arranged for the four days of Friday, November 11, to Monday, November 14.

Forum Discusses Proposition No. 1 Next Friday

Discussion of Proposition No. 1, the anti-picketing initiative, will occupy the Forum Club Friday night at eight o'clock at the home of William Goss, 1495-7th Avenue, accessible by cars 6 and N.

Leading the discussion will be Ruth Healy and Ray Valdez. Following presentation of arguments for both sides of the question, members present will join in the debate.

"Students interested are invited to attend," emphasized John Ward, Forum chairman, "and present their views on the topic, Proposition No. 1 is one of the most controversial issues facing the voters on November 8."

Marion Yager Receives Full-Time Position

Again, the college Business Department comes forth with a success story. Marion Yager, a high Sophomore, early this week received a full-time position as a stenographer, with the Guardian Life Insurance Company of San Francisco.

Miss Yager, who was to have graduated in December of this year was sent to fill a half-time position, but her work was so competent that her employers have decided to keep her on with a full-time position.

LOW SOPH DANCE

(Continued from page 1)

more class officers and their committee.

Patrons and patronesses of the dance will include President and Mrs. A. J. Cloud, Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Mohr, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Browne, Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Pitman, Mary Jane Learnard, and faculty advisers Marion Turner and Joseph E. Williams.

News From Other Colleges

Ventura junior college, following in the wake of Douglas Corrigan, is going to hold a "Corrigan Hop" at which everything will be done backwards. Refreshments will be served during the playing of "Home Sweet Home" at the beginning of the evening.

* * *

In keeping with swing craze that is sweeping the nation, the Ventura junior college student paper now includes a column in which the words of several popular tunes are printed.

* * *

In an attempt to keep pace with modern trends, the San Bernardino junior college students paper is experimenting with a new streamlined formation. The new idea is being enthusiastically received by the college.

* * *

San Jose State College students may be forced to attend Saturday classes and classes running through the noon hour next year to relieve the congestion that now exists.

* * *

Bakersfield junior college is having a new, super-streamlined time-clock and scoreboard installed in its football stadium. The college feels that these new structures will create an increased interest in football.

LEARN "CONTRACT BRIDGE" . . .
— A Social Necessity —
Beginners class opens Monday Evening, October 10, 7:30-9:00
NORTHERN CALIFORNIA BRIDGE STUDIO
530 MASON STREET near Sutter
ARTHUR WATERMAN, Culbertson Associate SUtter 9558

MAKE THOSE FINALS
— EASY —
College Outline Series
For All Courses
SAN FRANCISCO J. C. STUDENTS STORE

LIBRARY FEATURES MOTION PICTURE REVIEWS; NEW ISSUES OF PERIODICALS

Generally speaking, motion picture reviews are very uninteresting. However, the review in the September 12 issue of the Time magazine offers an extremely interesting background for persons who are planning to see the Spencer Tracy, Mickey Rooney smash hit, Boy's Town. This is one of the few pictures concerning the American youth which has actual happenings as a foundation.

Appearing currently in San Francisco is the well received Having A Wonderful Time. This play has been the recipient of considerable comment. Reviews may be found in the college library at 518 Powell Street in the March 6, 1937 edition of the Literary Digest and the Nation magazines.

Although the war scare has quieted down considerably, a great deal is still being said concerning any such catastrophe which the world is likely to face. Suitable material for discussion or themes may be found in the November issues of Forum and Scribners. The respective titles are Our Yes-Man Navy by William Oliver Stevens and Half A Mile From Hell by R. Owens.

Discussing national politics in Washington, J. McAfee states, I Won't Write My Congressman in the November issue of Forum. This article, along with one by Rogers, From State Rights to State Autarchy, appearing in the current Harpers edition, are two very fine exposes of the present political set-up.

F. J. Gilligan, college library director states that, "If you don't ask the editor to place these titles in bold-face, we won't have to build that new extension on the library as I had hoped this column would necessitate."

Students, Instructor Represent College At Navy Day Program

Four women students and one instructor represented the college at the Women's Navy Day program, held last Thursday in the San Francisco Ferry building.

The program attended by the four, Marion Turner, psychology instructor, Miriam Dunne, Janet O'Leary, Joy Mack, and Betty Roth, was sponsored by the Women's Chamber of Commerce, and consisted of musical selections, and short addresses by Fire, and Harbor Commissioners.

The entertainment was followed by a tour of the Ferry Building.

PUBLICATIONS BOARD

(Continued from page 1)

presented to the Executive Council and accepted by that body by a two-thirds majority vote of its members and approved by a two-thirds majority vote of those present and voting at an official meeting of this association.

The president shall call a meeting of this association for either or both of these purposes within two weeks after the amendment has been properly signed or has been accepted by the executive council. Such amendment shall be published in the college paper or posted in a public place at least one week previous to the meeting it is voted on.

* * *

Arrangements are being made for the appearance of the Proart Quartet, famous European music group, at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

LEARN TO FLY FOR $45.00
Or As Little as $1.50 per Lesson
HAWK FLYING SERVICE
Phone after 6 P.M.
WEst 6261 B. JOSEPH

Sophomore Sweetheart Contest Opens, Ambitious Beauties Sought

By ISADORE MALOFF

Girls! Would you like to be crowned queen and sweetheart of this college? Would you like to reign supreme as the officially chosen sweetheart of the college during the entire Sophomore Week and at the Hi Jinks to be held on November 30? You would? Then get into the swing of things and enter the sweetheart contest being staged by the high sophomore class. If you have attended this college for at least two semesters, have personality, and think you have some semblance of beauty, turn in your entry together with your most flattering picture to any member of the following Sophomore Week committee on or before November 10: Betty Nelson, Barbara Rudall, Margery Pomeroy, Sylvester McAtee, Dick Simpers, Treacy Slattery and Ed Canepa.

Pictures! Ballots!

In future issues of The Guardsman the pictures of the entire field of entries may be published, thereby enlightening and adding color to this paper. In the issue of November 22, ballots will be provided so that student body members can vote for their favorite candidates of feminine publicitude.

Jack Schmale, chairman of High Sophomore Week, has set the night of November 30 for his class' Hi Jinks. Outside talent is being arranged for by Schmale who intends putting on a gigantic show. Besides all necessary outside talent Schmale is arranging for prominent campus characters to appear in a short burlesque, the type of which cannot be divulged at the present time.

Tobiason Acts As Maestro

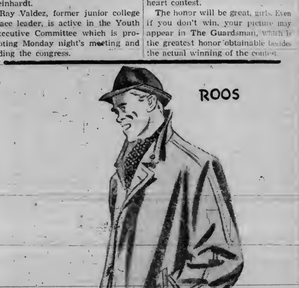
Stanley Tobiason, high sophomore president, will act as master of ceremonies at the Hi Jinks and in an attempt to make the affair as successful as possible will eliminate all rowdy element.

Until further plans are formulated, the committee is looking for a large turnout of aspirants for the sweetheart contest.

The honor will be great, girls. Even if you don't win, your picture may appear in The Guardsman, which is the greatest honor obtainable besides the actual winning of the contest.

Goodwill Congress' Youth Meeting Will Be Held Monday At Palace Hotel

An international Goodwill Congress will convene in San Francisco next Monday, November 6 to 11, at the Palace Hotel to discuss methods of spreading the message of peace.



A youth meeting will be held next Monday, November 7, 7:30 p.m. in the Palace Hotel's Gold Ballroom in conjunction with the Congress. Prominent youth leaders will address the gathering. They include Joseph Cadden, World Youth Congress leader; Jack Spitzer, international president of the A.Z.A. of B'Nai B'rith, and Richard M. Fagley, educational secretary of the Church Peace Union.

Besides speakers the youth convelave's program will also have music and Norwegian dances. The assembly will be greeted by Henry K. Norton of the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches, which is sponsoring the congress.

Students will have an opportunity to discuss various phases of the peace question at round table luncheons in the Palace Hotel which will be held on Wednesday, November 9, from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

Prominent educators are serving on the sponsoring committee which includes Archibald J. Cloud, Ray Lyman Wilbur, Robert Gordon Sproul, Rufus von Kleinsmid, and Aurelia H. Reinhardt.

Ray Valdez, former junior college peace leader, is active in the Youth Executive Committee which is promoting Monday night's meeting and aiding the congress.

Suppressed Desires Will Be Revealed Friday Night At Galileo

The Guardsman

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS
SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Trip The Bulldog Next Friday At Kezar Stadium, 2:30 P.M.

Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1938 No. 11

EICHELBERGER SPEAKS TOMORROW AT ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVANCE

Featuring Dr. Clark M. Eichelberger, the Peace Society will hold its annual Armistice Day program tomorrow at 11 o'clock in the Powell Street lecture hall. The program is a part of the college participation in American Education Week.

Dr. Eichelberger has just returned from a European tour and is a recognized authority on European affairs. He is the National Director of the League of Nations Association and editor of The Chronicle of World Affairs. At present Dr. Eichelberger is in San Francisco to attend the International Goodwill Congress which is convening here during this week.

Pilgrim, Porter To Speak

In addition to Dr. Eichelberger's address, the program will feature two student speakers, Dorothy Pilgrim, secretary of the Peace Society, and Robert Porter, chairman. Miss Pilgrim will speak on the student peace movement and the value of peace education. Porter's remarks will deal with the Youth Model Legislature and will urge student participation in the San Francisco Peace Council's nonmilitary unit which is to march in the Armistice Day parade. President Archibald J. Cloud has been asked to open the program as honorary chairman.

Porter, president of the society, explained the importance of the program. "I feel that the twentieth anniversary of Armistice Day should be celebrated; celebrated not completely with a display of militarism as is customary, but with an educational program such as our society is sponsoring." Porter said. "We are endeavoring to do our part as an organization toward educating the youth of America in the causes of war so that they may be able to think constructively for the furtherance of peace.

Appropriate Observance

"At present the eyes of the world are on the brink of a great war," he continued, "and I feel strongly that the destiny of the United States lies in the hands of the youth. I therefore would like to see the lecture hall filled tomorrow morning — where there is indeed the problem of preserving world peace, there's hope!"

Miss Pilgrim declared, "there is no more an appropriate way of observing the armistice than by discussing the reasons for war so that solution may be found to avoid another disaster as the one of 1914. It is fitting that on Armistice Day youth declare its intention of refusing to participate in another massacre."

Student Branch Pacific Relations Institute To Meet Tomorrow

To promote interest in its annual Thanksgiving conference a meeting of the Student Institute of Pacific Relations will be held tomorrow at one o'clock in the lobby of the Powell Street building.

Students interested in Pacific problems are urged to attend the gathering by Bella-Lao Edidin, campus chairman of the group. An explanation of the nature of the organization and the 13th annual conference will be the business of the meeting.

"The Student Institute of Pacific Relations," Gertrude Bolton, history instructor, expounded, "is an organization of college students. The group meets once yearly for a Thanksgiving conference at which problems of the Pacific area are discussed in round table groups. Thus a thorough study of the problem discussed is ensured."

Students interested in the organization who are unable to attend tomorrow's confab should notify either Miss Edidin or Miss Bolton.

Orientation Students Hear Hotel Division Head Tomorrow

For students in college orientation courses, a lecture will be held tomorrow at 11 a.m. in Room 104, announced Marion Turner, psychology instructor.

Speaker will be Graham Sullivan, coordinator for the hotel and restaurant division of the college.

"We would like all students who are taking Psychology 20 to attend the lecture. However if you have a class at 11 a.m. you must report to it. Unfortunately, we have been unable to obtain a lecture hall for the occasion, so we will have to limit attendance only to orientation students," Miss Turner said.

Guest Speaker

Courtesy S. F. Chronicle

CLARK EICHELBERGER Will Address Armistice Assembly

'Suppressed Desire' To Be Theme of Block SF Dance Friday Evening

As an aftermath to the Pasadena vs. Ram gridiron tussle at Kezar Stadium on Armistice Day, the Block SF Society will stage its semi-annual "Suppressed Desire" dance. The jig is to be held in the Women's Gymnasium of Galileo High School on that night. Dancing will be to the melodic strains of a softly swinging, All-Junior Collegian Orchestra, beginning at 9 o'clock and concluding at midnight.

Society President Treacy Slattery, has announced that novelty dances and comedy contests are to prevail.

Slattery said, "All who attended the dance last semester went away saying, 'What a swell time they had', this time it is going to be even better. I have arranged for prizes for the Grand March, 'Phoney Phoo Contest,' and for the 'Miniature Jitterbug Contest.'

"I hope all who possibly can, will attend," he continued, "as everyone knows that this dance will, without doubt, be the most outstandingly humorous social event on the college calendar."

Admission will be by Associated Student Body card. Special permission has been granted to the Society by Dean Edwin C. Browne, to honor all Athletic Passes that have been issued to all lettermen, but without either one of the two, no one will be able to gain admission.

Sophomore President Stan Tobiason has generously given two bids to the Soph Formal, which will be awarded as prizes for the best male and female costumes.

Two cups have been made for the winners of the "Phoney Phoo Contest" and other suitable prizes will be given to the victorious couple in the "Miniature Jitterbug Contest".

Tobiason Calls For Sophomore Sweetheart Entries Tomorrow

By Sylvia Wall

Flash! Sophomores of the fall 1938 class are seeking a sweetheart.

Why? So that they may have someone to play the part of sovereign supreme during her super-colossal High Sophomore Week coming up on November 29 and lasting through December 2.

How? Through clubs of the college who will select among the students successful in securing sophomore standing a candidate with personality plus and who will sponsor said candidate during the election.

When? Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock all entries must be in to one of the six members of the High Sophomore Committee.

What will the sweetheart be, a petite blonde, or a tall sophisticated brunette or will she be the dark and seductive type? That's for the college to decide declared Stanley Tobiason, president of the high sophomore class.

"As there are about 35 clubs in the college and each club is expected to enter a candidate, approximately that number will enter into the competition," Tobiason said.

Sponsored by the Associated Women Students, the tea dansant to be held during High Sophomore Week will feature the newly chosen sweetheart as well as honor the high sophomores.

At the sophomore Hi Jinks to be held on the evening of November 30, the sweetheart will be introduced to the student body, according to Jack Schmale, chairman of the show.

Aspiring sweethearts, there is only one more day for clubs to recognize your sweetheartship ability! Get them to contact one of the following immediately: Betty Nelson, Margery Pomeroy, Sylvester McAtee, Dick Simpers, Treacy Slattery or Ed Canepa.

DEBATERS LEAVE FOR BAKERSFIELD; COMPETE IN COLLEGIATE TOURNEY

Tomorrow morning ten varsity debaters will leave for Bakersfield to participate in an intercollegiate forensics tournament, November 10, 11, and 12.

The contest will consist of three forms of speech: debating, extempore, and oratory. Entered in the debate division will be three teams composed of Lorraine Johnson and Rema Corbit, Joe Meeko and Charles Vaughn, Russell and Charles Henry. William Jackman will serve in the capacity of alternate.

Topic to be debated is: Resolved, that the federal government cease using public funds for the stimulation of private business. In the extempore division the college will enter Bill Switzer, Russell Henry, and Bob Blackwell. They will discuss a specific phase of the United States' Foreign Policy which will be submitted to them 30 minutes before they begin to speak.

In the oratory division of the competition, Meeko, Charles Henry, Blackwell, and John Haffey will deliver prepared speeches for 12 minute durations.

"The trip and participation in the tournament," Lloyd Luckmann, college forensics director, explained, "will afford a splendid opportunity for our students to improve their ability in the art of public speaking. It is the debating group's first important function this semester and should be very educational. We will have one of the largest delegations and should show up well in the competition. Our participation should also do much to spread the name of the college."

Hotel Division To Appear On Brain-Twister Radio Broadcast Soon

Competing for a cash prize of twenty-five dollars, and all honor obtainable, a team to be composed of members of the Hotel and Restaurant division will appear on the Spreckel's Russell Benin Twister program on Station KFRC, Monday evening, November 21, opposing a team that is yet unknown. Besides the first prize, a five dollar prize is to be awarded the captain of the winning team. Members of the college team, its opponents, and its captain will be announced later.

John O'Connell, secretary of the San Francisco Labor Council presided at a Round Table discussion of the 2:30 o'clock class in Hotel Administration yesterday afternoon. A discussion of current problems in hotel administrating was successfully held.

The division has succeeded in obtaining ten ounce milk bottles instead of the old style eight ounce containers at a price given only to schools, thereby enabling the division to furnish a large bottle, containing two extra ounces of milk at the prevailing price of five cents.

The Hotel and Restaurant Society has organized a bowling and basketball team to compete in the near future against other teams. The bowling team practiced recently at the Jones Street Bowling Alleys, and some excellent scores were obtained. The basketball team has not been fully organized as yet.

Final Rally Tomorrow For Pasadena Tilt

Because of a new ruling prohibiting orchestra leaders from appearing at high school and college rallies," Hugh Waite, head yell leader, was unsuccessful in his attempt to bring a well known orchestra leader to the rally to be held in the Galileo auditorium tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

Scheduled as the last rally of the semester sponsored by Waite and the Rally Committee, an effort to make this rally better than all previous ones is being made. Purpose of the rally is to arouse spirit for the football tussle with Pasadena Junior College on Friday. In as much as this game will probably be the deciding factor of the crisis in the hopes of the football team, Waite is looking forward to the biggest turnout of the semester. He really wants to send the football team members into the struggle with Pasadena with the knowledge that the student body is really behind its efforts.

New Entertainers Selected

On the entertainment side, Waite is planning on presenting some of the best entertainers from his recent talent hunt. These are entertainers who have not appeared at any previous rally. There are still several extremely worth while acts yet to be presented; Waite has been saving some of the best for this last rally of the semester. Additional talent may be secured through the courtesy of several local high schools that are planning to send some of their best entertainers to enliven the college rally. In addition to the talent already outlined, Benny Walker, local radio personality, may appear to present a few acts.

Surprise Planned

As a complete surprise which cannot be divulged at the present time, Waite is negotiating to present his outstanding triumph of the semester. It will suffice to say that if Waite is successful in securing the services of this personage the rally cannot miss being successful.

Regardless of the talent secured, however, Waite wants every student to attend so that the spirits of the football game will be bolstered for its deciding struggle with Pasadena Junior College.

Board Advertises For Bids On Construction Of New College Plant

Latest reports from the Board of Public Works concerning construction of the college plant state that bids will be advertised today, and will be in three weeks from this date. After they are in, the Board will take two weeks to consider before awarding the contract. As soon as it has been awarded, work will start within a week, which places the date of the actual start of construction at no later than December 21.

Present estimates place the duration of the job at 11 months, which will bring completion of the unit about November, 1939, in time for occupation in the spring semester of 1940. The gymnasiums will be started in April of that year, and will take about eight months to finish.

The Science Building will be the first of the plant to undergo construction, and will be followed by the gymnasiums. The other buildings planned, the Library, Students' Union, and auditorium, will follow, but no definite plans have been made yet for these units.

College Registrars Will Attend Hollywood Meet Next Week, November 14

Permission has been received from school authorities for J. Paul Mohr, registrar, and Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar, to journey to Hollywood for the Pacific Coast Registrar's meet next week.

"The meeting will be on November 14 and 15, during which time there will be visits to Los Angeles City College, Pasadena Junior College, U. C. L. A., and the National Broadcasting Studios," Miss Learnard said.

The registrars, who also announced that Friday, November 11, is a legal holiday and that there will be no classes.

Galileo Assembly Today Will Consider Changes

A CAPPELLA CHOIR HAS SUCCESSFUL CONCERTS; REWARDED AT VENETO'S

After enjoying a highly successful and well received concert trip Flossita Badger, choir director, Dean Edwin C. Browne, and members of the college A Cappella Choir returned early Friday evening to be treated to an Italian supper at Veneto's Restaurant.

Departing from San Francisco at 8 o'clock Friday morning the choir, transported by bus and private automobiles, made their first stop at Mountain View High School. The choristers were served lunch at Fremont High School, Sunnyvale, their next stop.

While at Sunnyvale an excursion was made to the dirigible hangar. The singers were thrilled to hear the reverberation of their voices as they experimented by singing two numbers in the immense hangar.

Palo Alto was the last stop and a visit was made to the Stanford Chapel.

The songs rendered by the choir were: Tenebrae Factae Sung, by Palestrina; from Ill Do Thou Defend Me, by Bach; Hodie Christus Natus Est, by Willan; Silent Night, by Brahms; Christmas Pie, Old English Song; Music When Soft Voices Die, by Pickenson; Wassail, Old English, and The Lord Bless You and Keep You, by Luthin. The program included two duets by Bob Scott and Patricia Keefer, also by Charles Piper and Bill Jackman, and a quartette selection by Bob Scott, Arnold Chapin, Jackman and Everett Wallace.

Alpha Gamma Sigmas To Receive Coaching Jobs From Local Schools

Alpha Gamma Sigma, college honor society, will officially get under way this semester with an informal get together on Thursday, November 17, at Galileo. The meeting will be held at 3:30 o'clock. Further activities for the remainder of the semester and for next semester will be discussed by the group. There will be refreshments and entertainment and all Alpha Gamma Sigmas are invited, officers said.

Al Graves, president of the organization said that there has been a call for the college students to coach junior high school students in French Reading and Mathematics.

"Any member who is interested in coaching work, or who is planning a teaching career will probably find this type of work very interesting. The work is for a few afternoons a week. The coaching is not limited to members of the Alpha Gamma Sigma. Any student interested in this work should see me or leave his name and the subject which he would like to coach in my box at Powell Street," Alice Cooper, adviser of the group, said.

Rifle Club Dances Tomorrow Night At Berkeley

Would-be farmers and farmerettes will have a jolly time tomorrow evening from 8 to 12 o'clock at Codornices Community House in Berkeley when members of the Rifle and Pistol Club and their friends get together for an all around good time, Howard Markovits, club president promised.

Refreshments will be served, and if the weather permits, a barbecue pit will be available from 6 to 10 o'clock for those desiring it. Peggy Park, chairman of the Games Committee promises thrills and hysteria with Waltzing and Broomstick, Musical Chair, Transporting the Bean, and Twentieth Century. Afterwards students will find the Wading Pool a great help in cooling off.

Students going in cars, requests Markovits, should meet at the Ferry Building and go to Codornices together. A map will be posted on the bulletin board at Powell Street, which shows the route to be taken to reach Codornices. Anyone not able to find Codornices once in Berkeley, is advised to telephone Berkeley 2332.

Tickets are 25 cents a couple, and can be purchased in the Armory today until 4 o'clock from Bob Darr. Everyone is welcome, the more, the merrier," Markovits said.

Faculty Association Organizes To Regulate College Curriculum

At a meeting held Tuesday, October 8, the Faculty Association of the college under the direction of Edward E. Sandys, president, definitely got under way its examination of college study curriculum.

The purpose of the examination of curriculum by the various committees is to regulate courses in general fields. The committees are interested chiefly in recommendations providing students with an opportunity to program courses in the three fields of general college, semi-professional and vocational, and university.

A first group, which will study the curriculur of Biological Science, Physical Education and Health majors, will be headed by Kenneth L. Roberts. Leading fields will be Glenn A. Noble, Verrel A. Weber, and Leland G. Elsan.

Research in the Physical Sciences will be done by a committee consisting of Thomas J. Bass, Louis Berman, Glen D. Camp, George L. Green, William K. Mayo, and Milton J. Polinar.

Another group will consist of Margaret Flournoy, chairman, J. Grahlan Sullivan, Ward M. Nichols, Lenard H. Hollingsworth, John R. Herman, and Claire Cuneo.

Completing the study will be a fourth committee which will center its interests with the curriculum of students majoring in social sciences and arts. Miriam Galley will serve as chairman.

Proposed Board Of Publications To Be Voted

New Revision Would Decrease Tedious Amending Procedure

To present for the approval of the student body the new amendments to the constitution of the Associated Students, an assembly will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Galileo auditorium.

In accordance with the present constitution, an amendment must receive the approval of two-thirds of the student body in a general assembly before it can be officially accepted. As the ruling regarding amendments stands now, they must be called for by a petition containing the signatures of 10 per cent of the student body, but if the proposed amendment carries, it will be possible for the Executive Council to originate amendments.

Publications Board Foremost

Contingent upon passage of this amendment is the presentation of three amendments to the student assembly, all of them dealing with the formation of a Publications Board. This board, proposed at a recent meeting of the Executive Council, would have authority over the distribution of all printed matter on the campus and would have a representative on the Executive Council.

The membership of this body, provided that it meets with the approval of the assembly, will consist of three representatives of the Associated Students publication (The Guardsman), and one student from each officially recognized publication.

Also hinging upon the acceptance of the initial amendment is another, which would finally name The Guardsman as the official publication of the Associated Students.

Also necessary will be a minor amendment changing the title of Article I to read "Name, Membership, and Publications."

Change Shortens Procedure

If the first amendment meets with the approval of the assembly, the necessity of having a petition for each forthcoming amendment will be done away with, and the following amendments, dealing with the Publications Board, will be presented immediately. Should the initial amendment fail to pass, it will be necessary to circulate a petition for each of these.

Bob Fox, Associated Students' president, was emphatic in urging that all students be in attendance at the assembly. "This matter is one which should be of interest to every holder of a student body card," said Fox. "and I sincerely hope that each member of the association will do his best to attend. After all, the student body is run by the students, and we want them to participate actively in its government."

A petition containing 200 signatures was presented calling for the introduction of the amendment changing the process of amendment, and is directly responsible for the calling of today's assembly.

WAA Semi-Annual Tourney Week Opens With Playday Saturday Morning

By Carol Pickering

Climaxing a strenuous semester of varied sports, the Women's Athletic Association will wind up its tournaments, hold swim meets, archery and rifle matches, a horse show, and a dozen and one other activities during Tourney Week which begins Saturday, November 12.

To usher in the festivities, the WAA Tennis Club is holding a playday Saturday morning from 9:30 to 12 o'clock at the Palace of Fine Arts. Each junior college woman will be hostess to a Galileo High School student. The hostesses and guests will mix together during the sets, keeping competition on a friendly basis, following which the women will lunch together. Jackie Kramer is the manager; Bertha Keller of the faculty, is the coach.

Tuesday, November 15, will see Golf, Hockey, and Volleyball tournaments. The Hockey club will meet on Funston Field at 11 o'clock in the morning to play off its final tournament. Coaching the teams, named Red, and White, is instructor Laurine Bergin, and the manager's office is filled by Alice O'Hanneslan.

Funston, field will be the scene of activity again at 1 o'clock, when the Golfers give the final stroke to their tourney. Instructor Mrs. Bergin is the instructor, Frances Herndon, the manager.

The Volleyball teams, Rams and Senator Ball play their last game on the 3:45 o'clock in the gym at Galileo High School. Peggy Starr, manager,

(Continued on page 4, column 7)

NYA Applicants Urged To See Redford Immediately To Fill 10 Vacancies

Edward H. Redford, director of NYA, once again requested the top few on the waiting list to contact him immediately, as there are eight or ten vacancies which should be filled.

Upon questioning, Redford seemed very hopeful regarding the chances for placement of students.

"This is the second time within two weeks that students have been called upon to fill vacancies, indicating that more jobs are being found for the students of the college," Redford said.

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VII • WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1938 No. 11

FRED VAST.......EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser ... Business Adviser
Joan Nourse ... Edward H. Redford

Dick Simpers.......Assistant Editor
Bill Frantz.......News Editor
John Julius.......Sports Editor
Ray Berns.......Ass't Sports Editor
Carol Pickering.......Women's Editor
Dorothy Trood.......Club Editor
Sam Galstaun.......Staff Photographer
Fred Bentley.......Business Manager
Paul Judson.......Advertising Manager

REPORTERS

Ethan Bernstein, Bob Fex, Lois Gipson, Leonard Gross, George Hoffman, Dave Johnson, Adele Kuhn, Isadore Maloff, Charles Martin, Jack Schmale, Gordon Soliman, Ed van der Veen, Sylvia Wall, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Education Should Prevent Necessity of Armistices

ON November 11, 1918, an armistice was signed ending "the war to end wars". In 1928 the Kellogg-Briand peace pact was endorsed by the nations of the world to end all war for all time. Each country denounced war as a national policy. Today all those treaties are mere words in the face of gunfire on the battlefields of Europe and Asia.

Today, as never before, is there need for intelligent understanding of the forces that make for war. Today, more than ever, there is necessity to achieve and maintain peace. How can there be peace when men are still slaughtering each other in Spain and in China? How can there be peace when the world is furiously arming for a showdown? How can there be peace when the militaristic fascist nations are appeased so that they may grow only stronger to make the next conflagration a bigger, more disastrous, more terrible one?

It is clear that unless the peace forces of this nation, and every other nation, unite to compel their respective governments to realize the futility of war and to stop the marching men of Asia and Europe, the Earth in a few years will be reduced to shambles.

At present it looks as though collective security, world cooperation to halt the war-making dictators in their program of slaughter, has failed. It seems that it is just a matter of time until another universal clash will occur. We hope that such is not the case but the last year in international developments and particularly the past few months tends to dispel that hope.

When the war breaks, can America keep out? All indications are that once again this nation will be drawn in to protect economic advantages that vested interests hold abroad. We are still paying dearly for the last holocaust twenty years ago.

Now the United States is preparing for the next battle. Recent announcements are to the effect that the armed forces and equipment will be increased in the near future. According to military authorities this country's defenses are sufficient to ward off any invader. Why then the billion dollar expenditures?

There are many domestic problems that must be solved. It has been said time and again that a way must be found to reclaim our dust bowl and resettle its victims, that youth should be given an opportunity to learn with increased federal aid, to operate an effective system of public health services and clinics, to alleviate the bitter sufferings of widespread unemployment, to provide pensions for the old people. But the claim is that the cost is too high. Yet we prepare to enter a potential war whose costs are so immeasurably greater that they make expenses for the foregoing seem insignificant.

Probably the best method to avoid war is systematic education for peace.

When asked, college students unequivocally declare their desire for peace. However, a great portion of them remains passive and does nothing. They profess to wish for international amity but they do not study the causes of war or attempt to find a solution to the problem.

To assure genuine peace, the people of this and other countries must be educated to the causes of armed conflict, its peril and means of avoiding and preventing it. The populace must be made thoroughly aware of all aspects of this problem of disputes between powers.

Propaganda has proved to be very effective in promoting wars, there is no reason why the message of peace should not be spread by propaganda too. and the time to spread it is during a period of peace.

An educational institution is one of the best places for a long-time program of making the citizenry aware of the dangers of war and the advantages of peace. By this method a new generation is bred to understand and investigate the problem and to spread its findings.

San Francisco Junior College is aiding in this program of education. It is doing so through the initiative of the students themselves. Such is the case in other colleges throughout the land. Students are aware of the dangers of war. Their activity is a fine example and inspiration to the rest of the nation. Through such determination and action as displayed by the student peace movement can constructive results be achieved.

Tomorrow's assembly in the lecture hall affords the student an opportunity to learn about international problems. The organization sponsoring tomorrow's Armistice observance, the Peace Society, is another channel whereby education can be spread. Finally, Sociology 55, the course which studies the problems of war and peace, is another means of becoming educated on the pressing question.

We speak of a civilized and progressive humanity, but how can one speak of these conditions as long as the monster of war is at large?

Peace is not hopeless, nor is war inevitable. It is not human nature to destroy in a short period of time what has taken generations to build.

Man makes war; man can make peace, a permanent, lasting peace. There is no more appropriate slogan than: IN TIME OF PEACE PREPARE FOR PEACE!

Spread The Name of the College Through Academic Endeavors

LAST Thursday, the A Cappella Choir gave a concert in the Powell Street lecture hall. The following day the group made a tour of nearby cities. Judging by the success of the local concert and by the reports of the trip the choir did much to further the name of the college.

Too often there is a tendency to overemphasize athletic activity as the only means of spreading the name of this institution and making it well known to the community and other districts. Undoubtedly there is value in athletics as an advertising medium. It must be remembered, however, that primarily the college is an educational institution.

Publicity of the academic activity through representation at various functions is, we believe, more lasting in the impression and results that are achieved. It is the educational endeavors, in the final analysis, that are important. Since this is an institution of learning let it become known as such by its academic achievements.

There has not been enough of the educational value of the college brought to the attention of the public. Whenever attention has been centered on academic projects, the college has received praise. The hotel division, insurance course, and the A Cappella Choir are but examples of these accomplishments.

How much more important it is to have the college known for its good academic facilities than by whether it has a good athletic team or not! In the final analysis, what a difference it makes to a school when it compares the value of each reputation. A college, strange as it may seem, is for distributing knowledge, for developing a person's mental capacity first and his physical capacity second.

May there be more outside presentation of our educational activities!

Freedom is Absolute In the Mind

IN the field of behavior and action freedom is a relative term, but as applied to the mind it is an absolute.

If man is not free to search for the truth; if he is not free to disagree with those in political power; if he is not free to read the books of his choice; if he is not free to investigate social and economic assumptions; if he is not free to form his own beliefs, he is no longer a free man but a slave.

How such freedom, and the institutions for such freedom, can be made secure is the most important problem of our time.

—President Rufus C. Harris, Tulane Univ.

THIS PUZZLING WORLD

Edited by
Milton J. Puzzletsar and Henry J. Riddleston

PROBLEM NO. 10. THE TRAMP OF A BANKER

Mr. I. Jingle, the well known San Francisco banker, lives in Mill Valley, and commutes daily to San Francisco. Jingle likes to ride on the ferry boats, so his practice is to have his chauffeur drive him to Sausalito every morning, whence he takes the boat across the bay, rather than driving across the bridge. Coming home in the afternoon, he catches the four o'clock boat, and arrives in Sausalito in time to meet his chauffeur who has just arrived from Mill Valley.

On a certain bright November day, Jingle knocks off work a little early, and catches the three o'clock boat home. Arriving in Sausalito, he decides to start walking to Mill Valley, instead of waiting a whole hour for the chauffeur to pick him up. (Who would want to spend an hour in Sausalito?) Jingle steps along briskly for a time, and finally spots his car coming toward him. He hails the chauffeur, who picks him up, and immediately turns around and goes back home. They get home one-half hour earlier than they do ordinarily.

The question is: How long had Jingle been walking before he was picked up?

Cabbages & Kings
By Blue Pencil Bill

ELECTIONS for Associated Students offices are coming off in a couple of weeks—now is the time for all good men and women to dig themselves up a party to aid. And speaking about elections, how many men know that the AMS officers are elected.

• • •

Page two of the Oxford student dictionary of American Song titles:

"A Pair of Morpheus-Influenced Individuals," "Therefore I Ask Your Assistance," "Please, I Say, Do Not Make Possible the Escape of That Satellite," "The Circulatory Organ Combined With the Spiritual and Immortal Part In Man." Answers at the end of the column.

• • •

Last week when the fire chief came in and called a fire drill he stood around and watched the students of the college traipse down the stairs in their usual orderly fashion. Soon the performance lost its excitement and interest for the official and he lit a cigarette and chucked it on the ground. Len Gross, one of The Guardsman's alert reporters observed the lighted cigarette on the ground, looked at the chief, shook his head and stepped on the glowing weed.

• • •

It was 5:30 and the "B" car was loaded beyond capacity. It labored on its way up to Arguello Boulevard when a Hindu, turban and everything, turned to the conductor and asked: "Will you let me off at Presidio Avenue?"

The conductor replied: "We passed Presidio Avenue, it's about ten blocks back."

"Why didn't you tell me?" asked the Hindu.

The conductor answered angrily, "What do you think I am—a mind reader?"

The Hindu replied suavely: "Well, I am."—and got off.

And as Mark Twain once said:

"It might have happened, then again it might not have happened, but it could have happened."

• • •

The WPA workers near Washington High School are successful men if we accept the definition of Dr. William Marston, eminent psychiatrist who says: "A successful man is one who enjoys his work, and who considers it as a pleasant game." The WPA boys enjoy their work immensely—they make off they are in the Olympic Games and throw their shovels, javelin fashion, near the east windows of the school. The record toss is something over thirty yards.

• • •

Special Notice: Bob Blackwell, speaker and debating student extraordinary announces the loss of his binder. "It's not so much the binder but the semester's work that makes me so sad—and a majority of the notes I took were academic." So if anyone finds a binder with a lot of scribblings like "B. B. loves M. W." scattered throughout the pages, please return it to Blackwell, you might be rewarded.

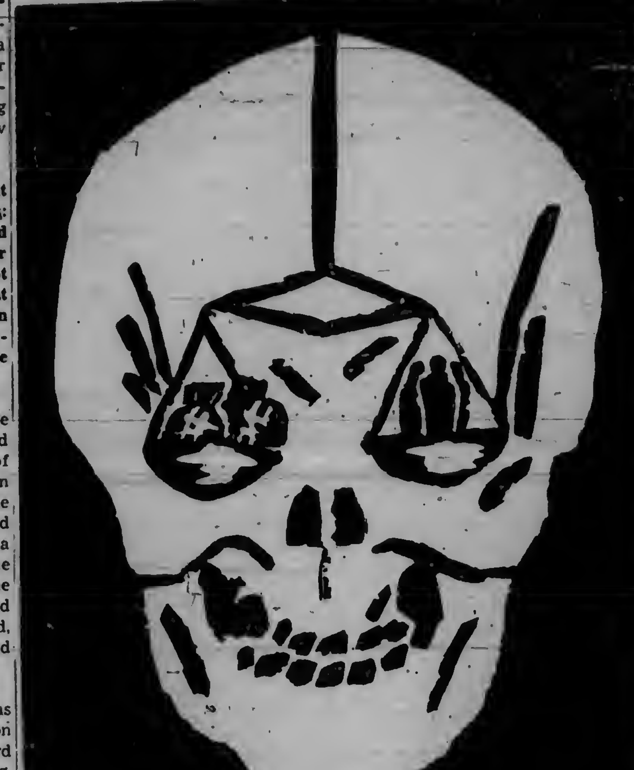
• • •

The song titles: "Two Sleepy People," "So Help Me," "Don't Let That Moon Get Away," "Heart and Soul."

Presidential Notes
By Bob Fex

TODAY at 2 o'clock a special Associated Students' assembly is being held to amend the present college constitution. Every student of the college should attend and take his part in student government. The various changes being made are of vital interest to everyone, so come one, come all, and help us put over some very fine legislation.

Also plan to attend the pep rally for the Pasadena tilt. The rally will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. in the Galileo auditorium, and a fine program is being arranged by the committee in charge.



Friday brings the Pasadena football game that everyone should attend, not only to support the team, and to see a very fine game, but to witness the between the halves pageant planned by the American Legion.

In the evening, the event that you have all been waiting for, the Block Letter Society's semi-annual Suppressed Desire Dance. Treacy Slattery, president of the Society, and the committee in charge have planned an outstanding event, having many of the novelty dances and contests that proved so popular last semester. Be sure and wear a costume, as prizes are being given for the best "Suppressed Desires".

This week's orchid must go to Treacy Slattery for the fine work he has done with the Block Society, and also for his always being ready to lend a hand in assistance to anyone needing help.

An international dental congress is expected to attract 4,500 dentists to San Francisco during the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

WAR—WHAT FOR? By Healy

AFTER DARK
By John Ward

OPERA IN RESUME

Andrea Chenier: the equal of Carmen as regards local color, but without Carmen's musical excellencies. Done to a turn—but with no return (pardon).

Don Giovanni: an evening of the finest champagne with an astonishing kick. If music could speak volumes (literally) Don Giovanni would be another Encyclopedia Brittanica. (Ezio Pinza can sing more consistently beautiful tones than any other singer here for the season. And his acting in the title role of Don Giovanni was the most refreshing characterization seen here in years and years).

Martha: an English story set to Italian words by a German composer, resulting in one of those nice operas that amuse.

Meistersinger: a masterpiece just one and half hours too long—wonderfully sung (Bravo Jessner).

Cavalleria Rusticana: tripe of the first Italian water. (Contrary to the silver spoon legend, we believe Ebi Stignani was born with a complete loud speaker system in her mouth.) Certainly when she sings, the very walls must shake in their boots and the blessed chandelier contemplate a descent from the heavens.

Don Pasquale: a charming trifle, light, and quite a waste of time.

Pelleas et Meilsande: one of those amazing fabrications that leave one suddenly and completely as a dream. A perfect production—as we remember.

Lucia: we presume that every opera season must have its low point. This was it.

Elektra: on second hearing Elektra seemed to have less horror and more Viennese waltz about it. Along with Pelleas and Don Giovanni, Elektra was one of the best performances of the year.

La Forza del Destino: aside from having the worst first act in all opera, a lovely and thrilling work of the old school. And with the best cast of the season La Forza was easily the best "operatic" evening of the season. Salvatore Baccigalupi is a combination of Falstaff and the great Don Juan and there is never an instant when he isn't making his audience laugh. But the funniest parts of his whole equipment are his lugubrious, "loop-the-loop" eyes. And he is a very great singer to boot—so encore, encore? Next year, Mr. Merola.

La Boheme: Broma Favero! Broma Favero! To you S. F. owes a profound "thanks you very much" for a believable and delightful Mimi. Bis! Bis!

Barber of Seville: still one of the most substantial of operatic amusements. (It is time someone told Dino Borgioli that he cannot sing any more. He was a fine tenor once, but he just can't sing these days. And why should people be expected to pay good money to hear him butcher good music?

Le Coq D'Or: liking sweets, we liked this—and who doesn't? It's thin stuff but it wears surprisingly well. Pons actually displayed good singing for the first time this year. (Why is it that the minute an artist hits in Hollywood he or she thinks he has arrived and that he doesn't have to develop any further? It's at that moment that he begins to deteriorate!)

RAM'S HORN
Paper, Advisory Board Target Of Letters

Letters to this department are welcome. They must contain the author's name which will be kept confidential on request. Please keep your contributions as brief as possible.

• • •

BOXERS GRIPED

Editor, The Guardsman:

Something is rotten in this college. Else, why the puny write-up of the Men's Club Fights? Maybe there's a feud between the Men's Club and the Sports Editor of The Guardsman, that would explain the woeful lack of adequate publicity. However, it's a deplorable situation when the Men's Club paid for the use of a boxing hall, only to have a disappointing crowd show up.

Joe Amori and Mickey Berman worked hard to put the show over, and the participants gave a lot of fight to please the crowd(?). But what's the use of working so hard for a half-filled house? Your editors should recognize real color and events of good news value. These fights are as colorful an event as any held by the college. Don't let it happen again, or you'll have half the boxing class on your neck. Shame.

—Disgusted

• • •

Editor's note: Don't draw hasty conclusions as to feuds and such. An examination of last week's paper reveals that the AMS fights were announced on Page 1, drew a cartoon on Page 2 concerning the event, and a news story on Page 3. Sorry, we overlooked the fourth page. If you're still infuriated, the staff will take the blame, not an individual whom you see fit to attack.

• • •

CLUB-ER COMPLAINS

Editor, The Guardsman:

Last semester it was written into the constitution of the college that a Club Advisory Board should be formed. This board to be composed of one representative from each of the clubs in the school. This was to be the students' way of reaching the ears of the executive council. The board itself was to have one vote in the council.

This term the prospects for a successful season were heartened by an almost 100 per cent turnout of representatives at the first meeting. The second and third meetings also had excellent attendance. Then came the fourth meeting which wasn't. Why? Well, the president was sick. The vice-president? Well———. The fifth meeting was scheduled for last Thursday in Room 103. The result was that the door of 103 opened and closed rapidly in the face of glances from the instructor and students. After a careful investigation in search of a

(Continued on page 4, column 5)

. . . while thinking . . .
By Leonard Gross

HAVING noticed the recent fire drill from a technical point of view, we thought that it might be of interest to students of the college to read a few pertinent facts regarding it.

It seems that congratulations are in order, for officials of the fire department declared that on the whole the entire drill was successful. The halls were cleared in the fast time of three minutes and 45 seconds, although there were still some students going down the alley fire escape. The approximate time taken to completely clear the building was four minutes and 15 seconds.

LETHARGIC ATTITUDE

We wish to point out that although the fire drill was successful, there were several things that could have been corrected or avoided. One thing that was commented upon by several of the bystanders was the generally lethargic attitude of the students. This applies especially to those coming down the side fire escape. They resembled a funeral procession, rather than persons escaping from a burning building.

Of course, the excuse for this, if it may be called such, is that everyone was notified beforehand and realized that there was no real danger. No doubt the situation would change somewhat if a real blaze were in progress.

NARROW ESCAPES

Another thing that was noticed was the extreme narrowness of the iron fire escapes in the alley. These structures were so constructed that only one person could go down them at a time, thus greatly slowing the whole procedure.

To a person not connected in any way with the college, the drill must have appeared to be a rather cramped affair. As a matter of fact, the sidewalk in front of the Powell building, and the alleyway on the side were so jammed, that the mass of humanity overflowed into the street, much to the obvious disgust and annoyance of motorists and cable car motormen.

MORE DRILLS

No doubt many new students of the college have wondered why there are so few fire drills, since most of them are accustomed to several during a semester at high school. We believe that there should be more fire drills. Here it is, near the end of the semester and there has been but one drill.

Although the recent drill was very good, we should not be content to let it go at that. The college should slowly but surely increase the number of fire drills per semester until we have a smooth working, efficient organization.

Sartorial Modes
By Fashion Fanny

WHILE looking around the town this week for something new and different, we found a new type of dress called "Monastic Mode", a stunning model for the slim young woman. Very plain and very, very full. A dubonnet leather belt gathered the vast amount of material in and made the dress look full from the waist down. The material found in this dress is something new too. It is called "Stroock Ankara". The South American Llama, the Australian lap wool, and selected fibres of the Angora family are all combined in this soft, beautiful wool.

There are some very definite rules to help the person with the angular figure dress well. The first and most important is to avoid straight lines. You need all the curves possible.

Wear clothes fitted at the waist and hips and wrists. A tiny waist, slender hips and wrists are your best points. You should wear fabrics with body. Velvets, taffetas, brocades, broadcloths, all are kind to the person with the angular figure. Don't wear sweaters or clinging fabrics.

Avoid tailored hats. You might as well wear a Salvation Army bonnet as a severely straight sailor. Stress soft little caps trimmed with flowers or fur or a provocative little veil.

Avoid tailored accessories. Choose every accessory with an eye to femininity.

• • •

It's new and it's radical—the shoe with the hooded heel. The seamless heel-covering is all of a piece with the counter, and the ends knot over the instep. The name of the shoe is Panuela; they come in evening wear, street, and for the resorts.

Lentheric's amusing "Golden Monkey" vanity is something every college woman will want. It's finished in dull gold, and the transparent rim around the case keeps any flecks of powder from sifting out. This delightful bit of nonsense holds rouge, a deep powder compartment and a down puff.

Chic Betty McAllister is chosen this week as the best dressed woman of the college. Miss McAllister is always so fastidious and refreshed looking that it is a joy to watch her go from one class to the next with nary a hair out of place and a bright smile to greet everyone.

Hancock Selects Red, Blue Rifle Squads; Initial Matches This Week

Gibson, Schrick Head Respective Squads In Same League

From a large list of competing candidates, two shooting teams were tentatively chosen early this week by William "Wild Bill" Hancock, Rifle coach and range officer of the college.

"However," pointed out Hancock, "these selections are all tentative, depending upon the performance of the selected individuals in the first of the league matches which will be this week."

Because of the fact that both teams will be firing in the same league, there will be no "First Team and Second Team" classifications. Instead the two squads will be known as the "Reds and the Blues," neither one ranking above the other.

Captains Also

Along with the nine members for each group, Hancock chose Bill Gibson to captain the Red team and Marion Shrick for the Blues.

The present bulk of the Red team consists of Gibson, George Humphrey, Gordon Morris, Charles North, Geary Stewart, Henry Cavagnola, John Julius, Art Templeton, and Vernon Humber.

Besides Marion Shrick, captain, the Blue team has as its personnel Tedda Kosch, Howard Markovits, Nell Riley, Walter Voigt, Jean Wilkin, Bob Darr, Will Eichel, and Richard Wilson.

But Three Vets

In both squads there are but three veterans, all the rest being "Tyros" or beginners. The veterans are Gibson, Cavagnola, and Julius, all members of the Red division.

This is the first time in the history of shooting at the college that more than two women have shot side by side on the same team. At present there are four girls on the Blues. "This indicates," opined Hancock, "that the local co-eds are manifesting a greater interest in rifle marksmanship."

BLUES WIN!

First rifle match of the season was won by the college "Blue" team 760 to 653 last Monday night. San Francisco Surf Club were the victims. "Red" squad has its first match tomorrow night against the Sunnyside Sportsmen.

Ramblings
Johnson Pinch-Hits For Columnist Simpers While Latter Relaxes

By Dave Johnson

Pinch-hitting for Dick Simpers who has earned a weeks respite from his columnistic duties.

Cracks: Complimentary & Uncomplimentary . . . Les Mullins hardest player on the Ram squad. If the rest of the team had the GUTS and FIGHT, that Les has displayed, the team would be unbeaten and untied. George Jones . . . You've slipped since the season started. Let's get going again. Mel Peterson . . . outstanding in every game, but played his poorest against State, tried too hard to diagnose the plays.

Unimportant Item . . . Bierwith, Regan, and McCollough have turned in their suits.

Fight Scenes . . . Eddie Baca making the most courageous stand of the night. To him we award this week's Badge of Courage. Jack Weickers winning by a TKO as Bud Weichers urges him on to great things.

Floyd Lawrence & Mel Chicazola fighting better fights in the corners between rounds, than the fighters in the ring. They are giving "their boys" the lowdown on how easy it is to win.

Oddity . . . Bob Fex has played 3 minutes in the Placer and San Mateo games and the team won both contests. He has played from half to nearly a whole game against the other opposition and the team lost, yet while he is in the game the Ram attack seems to function better than at any other time.

Odds in the Betting World . . . Ed van der Veen, fellow sports scrivener, offering to take Pasadena and give 25 points.

Practice Slant . . . Overheard from a bystander, "Say this looks like a Stanford practice." Yes, we have the "Laughing Boys" and they are even playing games the same as the Palo Alto Redskins.

• • •

Prediction . . . Pasadena over the Rams, at Kezar. The Rams over Pasadena at the Block SF "Suppressed Desire" dance on the same night.

Mystery . . . Who was the middle aged woman, gray haired and without doubt a Ram rooter, who after the State debacle, walked up to Referee Ras Johnson and shaking her fist in his face shouted "Phooey on you!" It actually happened.

Personal Note to Bob Schoenstein, Varsity No. 69. You've got the size, intestinal fortitude and intelligence to be a great tackle. Why not get mad and quit being so nice and bring out your potentialities. Get tough and forget the feelings of your opponents. Let the chips (or opponents) fall where you make 'em fall. We know that when quiet guys like you get riled they are Hell on wheels, so try getting sore. It'll do you good and will aid the eleven immeasurably.

Joe Amori Stages Intramural Bowling Tourney For College

College pin smashers are busily engaged in knocking down the pins in the intramural bowling championships being held this week at the Golden Gate alleys at 115 Jones Street.

Competition began last Monday, November 7, and matches are being bowled every afternoon throughout the week with the exception of today and Friday.

Teams are bowling in either the 625 or 700 class in the five-man event, while there are three classes in the men's doubles, open, 250, and 240.

The college keglers are bowling in either one of two divisions, the 125 or the open, in the singles event, while a rather novel type of contest also puts in an appearance in the form of mixed doubles, the competition being limited to the open class.

Organizations sponsoring teams in the five-man event include the Hotel and Restaurant Division, the Block SF Society, and The Weekly Guardsman.

Joe "Seabiscuit" Amori, bowling instructor, announces that a medal will be given to the all-events winner. That is, the college pin-smasher having the highest total pinnage after competing in team, doubles, and singles events, will be recognized as the all-events champion and will receive a medal as such.

According to Amori, the victors in the rest of the events will receive bowling shirts, shoes, balls, and other equipment.

WOMEN'S SPORTS PARADE
By Carol Pickering

Tourney Week, it's Hustle and bustle, busy officers, busier managers, plans, interrruptions, and changes is upon us at last. To every woman of the Women's Athletic Association it marks the beginning of the end; brings home the fact that the semester is drawing to a close, and final exams overshadow the immediate future. As usual the Tourney Week officials have planned a fun-packed week with events moving in fast order. The week's activities will culminate in the long awaited banquet when first team awards will be presented and the new term officials announced.

Each semester the banquet committee chooses a theme. Previous themes have been Embarkation, The Hunt, Time Marches On, International Friendship, and Co-educational Sports. The committee has appropriately chosen as their theme this semester, the New College Building.

• • •

San Mateo Junior College has invited four advanced and two intermediate horsewomen from our own institution to attend their horse show next Saturday, November 12. The local co-eds will compete with their guests for honor places.

• • •

So they will know what a real golf course is like, instructor Bergin has divided her golf class into small groups and on Saturday escorts each group of girls to the golfing green.

• • •

All tennis matches, according to Miss Kelly, instructor, must be played off before November 12 when Tourney Week starts. The women must ar-

(Continued on page 4, column 7)

Netsters Will Meet Bulldogs 2 P.M. Today
Test Scheduled For Palace of Fine Arts

Ram racketeers meet their first test of the season at the Palace of Fine Arts courts at 2 p.m. today, when they encounter a strong San Mateo Junior College net squad.

Defending champions of the junior college league, Coach Tom Wilson's local tennisers are heavy favorites to overwhelm their peninsula rivals.

Well-Balanced Team

Coach Sy Bayshore, Bulldog mentor, will present a well-balanced aggregation replete with returning veterans, however, and an upset is not unlikely.

Bayshore is bringing a squad of from six to ten men to the city for the match so that a total of approximately eight singles and four doubles matches will be played.

The feature match of the afternoon will bring forth a renewal of the Wagner-Morehouse feud.

Wagner Top-man

Hal Wagner handles the No. 1 position for the locals, while Howard Morehouse is the top-ranking star on the invader's list.

The pair have met approximately six times in court-warfare in the past few years with Morehouse emerging victorious but once.

Teamed together in tournament junior doubles play around the bay-region the past year, the Wagner-Morehouse duo has created an enviable record, holding the Northern California Indoor title, and being runners-up in both the California State and Pacific tennis tourneys.

Junior Stars

The next two positions for the Bulldogs will be taken over by Tom Daly and Carl Joost, well-known bay-region junior stars who were held out of league competition by Bayshore last year in order to save their eligibility, while the Ram opponents who will face them will be Bill Canning, Northern California Junior Davis cupper, and either Ray Berns or Bob Kun, members of last semester's championship outfit.

The San Francisco team will probably be rounded out by Ray Kline, Carl Christianson, and John Garton.

First-round matches in the college championships were run off at the Palace courts last week with all of the favorites still in the running, and ready to take the court for the second-round battles which will be held this week.

Wilson announces that all students are invited to attend the San Mateo match today, and also the matches for the college championship which are held every week day.

Colored Scrapper Features College Boxing Bouts

By Ray Berns

Lionel Cade, colored flash, became the first boxer in the history of the college to win a title three semesters running when he annexed the crown in the 139 pound division of the college boxing championships at the Italian Athletic Club last Wednesday night.

Cade's performance in the bouts which were sponsored by the Associated Men's Students, was the main feature on the evening's program which saw seven of the college boxers go down to defeat via the technical knock-out route.

Two TKO's

The colored lad accounted for two of the TKO's, belting Bobby Wallace into submission in the second round of the semi-final bout, and coming back to score another TKO over a game Eddie Baca in the finals.

The final bout was Cade all the way with the dark scraper starting the slaughter by sending Baca to the canvas for a nine-count in the first round.

In the second round, Cade came out of his corner swinging like a windmill and backed his smaller opponent to the ropes. Baca fought gamely, and for a second, it appeared that Baca might get the best of an exchange of blows.

Cade really pummelled Baca at this point, however, and sent him spinning to the canvas four times before Referee Joe "Seabiscuit" Amori stepped in, and awarded the verdict to Cade.

Only double winner of the evening was "Slim" Raine, Washington State transfer, who won his spurs by a TKO victory over Joe Mignola in the second round of the final bout of the 169 pound class, and a three-round decision over Nick Minitsky in the heavyweight final.

Outpoints Rival

After suffering a knock-down in the first round of the heavy-weight fracas by a slugging Minitsky, the lanky Washington battler came back to outpoint his rival in the final two rounds with the aid of a left jab, and superior boxing.

Eddie Romley, round-house swinger, bit off more than he could chew, when he entered both the 149 and 159 pound classes.

Romley entered the finals of both events, winning two bouts in the lighter class, and one in the 159 division.

Eddie was forced to default both finals, quitting in the second round of the 149 pound fight with Ozzie Torrecelli because of an inability to go the route and not making an appearance at all in the 159 final handing the crown to Jack Weickers.

Clown Bout

The Verduccis, Frank and Johnnie, Ray Diehl, Hugh Waite, and Ed McGovern, clowns all, participated in a "Battle Royal", affording approximately 300 spectators present, a brief comic respite from the rather gory championship struggles.

"Seabiscuit" Amori proved the ultimate victor in his fray as he lambasted the lads with blows from a jousting stick which had a boxing glove on the end of it.

New Suit

Color in the corners was provided by Mel Chickazola, Floyd Lawrence, Hal Mahoney, and Frankie Nilan, who seconded the battlers, while Mickey Berman, AMS prexy, added to the dignity of the occasion by appearing in a brand-new suit and handling the annoucer's duties.

The proposed grudge-bout between Dick Simpers, ace columnist, and Paul Fechtner, the "literary giant's" outstanding javelin prospect, did not come off because Fechtner failed to make weight.

Results—AMS Bouts

129 pounds (Finals)
Andy Sciordia over Oliver Harris, default.
139 pounds (Semi-finals)
Eddie Baca over Dick Lepper, decision.
Lionel Cade over Bob Wallace, TKO.
(Finals)
Lionel Cade over Eddie Baca, TKO.
149 (quarter-finals)
George Stevenson over Cedric Shearer, default.
Eddie Romley over Edgar Nash, decision.
Ozzie Torrecelli over Julius Glassman, TKO.
Bob Engerman over Ray Petersen, decision.
(Semi-finals)
Eddie Romley over Bob Engerman, decision.
Ozzie Torrecelli over George Stevenson, TKO.
(Finals)
Ozzie Torrecelli over Eddie Romley, TKO.
159 (Semi-finals)
Jack Weickers over Ernest Simi, TKO.
Eddie Romley over Bill Stockwell, decision.
(Finals)
Jack Weickers over Eddie Romley, TKO.
169 (Finals)
"Slim" Raine over Joe Mignola, TKO.
Heavy-weight (Finals)
"Slim" Raine over Nick Minitsky, decision.

Lack of Funds Cancels Utah Grid Game
Turkey Day Contest At Ogden Called Off

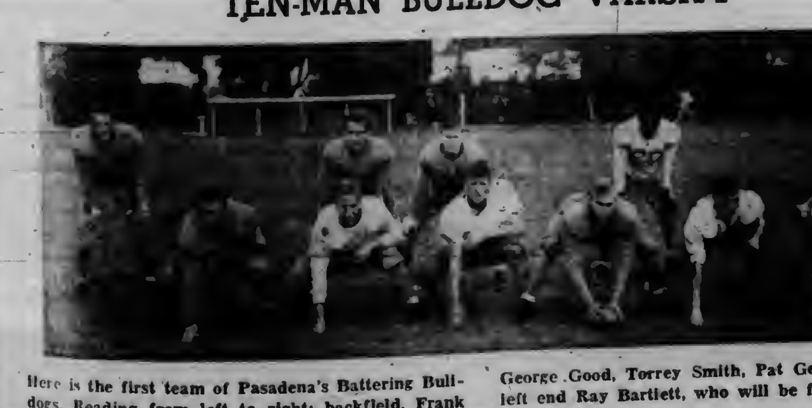
By Dick Simpers

For the third consecutive year, members of the Ram football squad saw their hopes of participating in an intersectional tilt smashed as announcement was made of the cancellation of the game scheduled to be played against Weber College of Ogden on Thanksgiving Day.

The game was called off last week because of fear of a shortage of funds. Expenses of sending the team to Utah would have cut deeply into the college's financial resources, so under the circumstances, college authorities deemed it advisable to keep the team at home and allow the season to close with the Modesto game on November 18.

A vote was taken last week from the members of the squad, who, after they had been informed of the existing situation, were unanimous in their decision to abandon the trip.

Last year's scheduled Turkey Day tilt with Ricks College of Idaho met a similar fate when the athletic department of that institution called off the game at a late date because of fear that it would not draw enough to make expenses.



This year, the shoe is on the other foot. As far as is known, the authorities at Weber are perfectly willing to go through with the arrangement this year, but the junior college must back out.

End

Ray Bartlett
Ebony End for Pasadena

TEN-MAN BULLDOG VARSITY

Here is the first team of Pasadena's Battering Bulldogs. Reading from left to right: backfield, Frank Spratt, Dick Sieber, Red Robinson, Black Jack Robinson; line, Bob Hammond, Don Winder, Pete Pappas, George Good, Torrey Smith, Pat Geyer. Missing is left end Ray Bartlett, who will be found elsewhere on the page.

Lineup, Dope Sheet On Friday Tilt

S.F.J.C. ... P.J.C.

46 FRANK DAVENPORT.......LER.......BOB HAMMOND *36
Davenport, all-city in Oakland last year. Been on injured list as has Hammond. Steady. Hammond fine on defense and offense but weak on passes.
Edge—Even.

71 STAN BIERWITH.......LTR.......PAT GEYER *58
Bierwith, biggest man on starting line-up. Good defensive man, indifferent on offense. Geyer also squad's largest. Brittle but good all-round.
Edge—Geyer

60 GOMER JONES.......LGR.......PETE PAPPAS *40
Jones, sixty-minute man. All-city from Lowell. Pappas short and squat, tough as they come and immovable. Marvelous defensive player.
Edge—Pappas

'39* MEL PETERSON.......C.......GEORGE GOOD *47
Peterson, veteran. Steady on offense and tower of strength on defense. Good, improving all the time, but still not quite up to Peterson. Both lettermen.
Edge—Peterson

72 NEIL SWANSON.......RGL.......TORREY SMITH *45
Swanson, big but slow, Smith, touted as best running guard in Southern California. Shines on both defense and offense.
Edge—Smith

74 TOM REGAN.......RTL.......DON WINDER *44
Regan, Galileo player. Pretty fair all-rounder. Winder, big and good veteran from Covina. Better tackle than mate Geyer.
Edge—Winder

47* DAN WEICHERS.......REL.......RAY BARTLETT *31
Wiechers, suffering from broken nose. Specialist at place-kicking. Bartlett, spectacular player. Glue-fingered pass receiver. Inclined to be over-confident.
Edge—Bartlett

40* JOHNNY VERDUCCI.......Q.......JACK ROBINSON *55
Verducci, short, snappy, intelligent field-general. Great blocker. Robinson, triple-threater, running, passing and kicking. Best player on Bulldog squad.
Edge—Robinson

44* BOB FEX.......LHR.......FRANK SPRATT *61
Fex, marvelous passer, good blocker, fine defensive half. Spratt, very dependable, great pass receiver, can also run.
Edge—Fex

45 LES MULLINS.......RHL.......DICK SIEBER *30
Mullins, most overlooked man on Ram outfit. Fine blocker and can run when given support. Sieber, former end now at blocking half. Pepplest man on squad.
Edge—Even

56 MIKE HANRAHAN.......F.......RED ROBINSON 34
Hanrahan, powerful runner, fine kicker. Robinson, only member of first team not a letterman. Only 165 lbs., but hard to stop.
Edge—Hanrahan

TEAM EDGE—PASADENA

*Letterman

Pasadena 'Wonder Team' Favored Over Rams In Friday Encounter

Ram Chops
Schmale Takes Sneak Preview of Bulldogs' 49-0 Win Over Phoenix

By Jack Schmale

ROSE BOWL, PASADENA, Nov. 5—Here for a sneak preview of the battering butchers slated to slaughter our Rams in Kezar Stadium next Friday, we're frankly amazed as the great Pasadena squad turns to mass production of touchdowns in annihilating the game but outclassed Phoenix Junior College eleven, 49 to 0.

We're one of 15,000 fans sitting by wondering why Phoenix can't get past its 40 yard line. We watch the parade of Bulldog ball carriers, "Red" Robinson, Jack Robinson, Reed and lots of others—four strings of 'em—each taking his respective shot at the Arizona end zone. Eight times success is achieved, and eight times the colorful Pasadena rooting section and band blare forth with an unmerciful howl.

The Bulldogs are respected down this way. This evening they look better by far than did California this afternoon in the Coliseum. In the chilly atmosphere and ghostly light of this New Year's Day hot spot, we wonder how our Rams can begin to stop this red and white powerhouse. These Pasadena boys are precise, fast, strong, confident and clock-like.

Their shift took some time to figure. Before they hike into position they resemble a Boy Scout troop in a Columbus Day parade, with some of the places definitely vacant. In a flash the three lines scoot into formation, always to the right. Tackles jump into the line from the backfield. Halfbacks shift in reverse. It's a pretty good imitation of a drill team in a school for mentally retarded boys. The center is the only guy who isn't crazy. He hops over the ball and stays put while his teammates scoot aimlessly to and fro.

Meanwhile all these gyrations are causing no end of worry and consternation to the invaders, who we notice, show a right tackle measuring six feet, nine from cleats to helmet. The very few occasions on offense find the Phoenix boys completely bewildered by the many unorthodox variations of the 6-2-2-1 they're bucking.

There's the gun. We make a mental note that tonight's score, 49 points hung up by the Bulldogs, is just eight more digits than our Rams have gathered in seven games this season.

Southerners Point For Ninth Straight Win; Face Weak Squad

By Ed van der Veen

Color plus should be the rule Friday afternoon at Kezar when Russ Sweet's five-times beaten Rams take the field against the unbeaten and untied Pasadena Bulldogs in an attempt to break the Southerners' spotless record and, incidentally, to take revenge for a 13-7 beating suffered in Pasadena's famed Rose Bowl last year.

Leading the Bulldog outfit in quest of their ninth straight win of the season will be a dusky young gentleman named Jackie Robinson, brother of the Olympic star, Mack Robinson, and quite an athlete in his own right.

Robinson Backing

Backing him in the Crown City backfield will be another Robinson, "Red" by name, who, although the only non-letterman on the team, more than holds up his share from the fullback spot.

If this isn't enough color, we present the opposing uniforms, both featuring a flaming scarlet as their base. Pasadena adds some gaudy gold silk pants to complete the color scheme.

Bear Brunt

Flanking the two Robinson's in the Bulldog backfield, which, according to Coach Tom Mallory's system, has the quarterback and fullback bear the brunt of the ball-carrying, will be two veteran halves, Frank Spratt and Dick Sieber.

Spratt will be the target for many of Jack Robinson's passes and will also be the second man on reverse plays. Sieber, almost purely a blocking half, holds a unique record.

Last year he carried the ball but once from scrimmage, and although gaining less than a yard, scored a touchdown. He started as an end; but was converted when the Southerners had a plethora of ends last year.

Impregnable Line

Pasadena's line, entirely veteran, is said to be well nigh impregnable. Although fairly light, probably the only even comparatively weak spot may be said to be the tackles. The Bulldogs were weakened here at the first of the year when veteran Merton Kilgore broke his leg.

At the center of the line, behind center George Good and guards Pete Pappas and Torrey Smith, Mallory has three lettermen as replacements in Charley Gibson, Al Donnell and Kendall Stanger. Gibson is sure death on passes from his defensive spot behind the line.

PAGEANT TIME

As a preliminary to the Pasadena tilt at Kezar Stadium this Friday, an American Legion-sponsored military pageant will begin at 1:30 p.m. The kick-off is scheduled for 2:30.

Holders of Associated Student cards, Block SF passes, faculty passes and all other passes must enter the stadium through gate 12.

Second Consecutive Loss Handed Water Poloists

In its fourth game of the season the Ram water polo team suffered its second consecutive setback of the season by dropping a close game to the second team of the Olympic Club by the close score of 14 to 10. The score at half time favored the Olympians by the margin of 9 to 1.

The first half of the contest saw the Olympic Club team, spurred on by Norwood Forte, college star.

In the second half a complete reversal took place with the Rams staging a great comeback only to have the game end when they had tallied eight rapid points. The clubmen made but a scant four points in this period.

The Hoffman brothers, Mitchell and Marcus bore the brunt of the Ram attack. Mitchell scored a total of six while Marcus garnered three. Ian Stoddart was responsible for the other point.

Upset!—Modesto Takes Sacramento, 13 to 7

Russ Sweet's Ram football squad found itself back in the thick of the conference race last Friday night when the powerful Panthers of Sacramento, leaders in the race for the title, were upset 13 to 6 by a fighting band of gridders from Modesto Junior College. The Rams meet Modesto on November 18, and a victory in this game will give them a tie for the championship.

The Modestans had been conceded but little chance against the Sacramentans, who beat San Francisco 25 to 7 two weeks ago, but played inspired ball to down their highly-favored opponents.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS ENUMERATED

In order that students may vote intelligently on proposed amendments to the constitution and by-laws of the Associated Students of San Francisco Junior College complete texts of the suggested changes are printed below. To understand the revisions clearly, readers should consult the constitution and by-laws, also printed below.

Amend the preamble to Article IV of the by-laws by striking out the word "Seven" and substituting for it the word "eight".

Amend Article IV of the By-laws by adding section number 8 to read "The Publications Board, whose composition and functions shall be as follows:

a—The Publications Board shall determine officially recognized publications other than the Associated Students' publications.

b—It shall grant or deny permission for campus distribution of any publication.

c—Its student membership shall include the Editor, Business Manager, and the Managing Editor of the Associated Students' Publications, one student from each officially recognized publication.

d—Its faculty membership shall include one representative from the administration appointed by the President of the College, and the Editorial Advisers of the Associated Students' publications.

Amend Article I for title to read "Name, Membership, and Publications."

Amend Article I by adding Section Number 2 to read "The Guardsman" shall be the official publication of the Associated Students of San Francisco Junior College.

The petition for changing the method of amendment reads:

Amend Article V, "Amendments", by striking out the entire article and substituting the following:

An Amendment to the Constitution shall become effective if proposed in one of the following two ways:

1. The proposed amendment to be signed by ten per cent of the members of this association and approved by a two-thirds majority vote of those present and voting at an official meeting of this association.

2. The proposed amendments to be presented to the Executive Council and accepted by that body by a two-thirds majority vote of its members and approved by a two-thirds majority vote of those present and voting at an official meeting of this association.

The president shall call a meeting of this association for either or both of these purposes within two weeks after the amendment has been properly signed or has been accepted by the executive council. Such amendment shall be published in the college paper or posted in a public place at least one week previous to the meeting at which it is voted on.

Amend Article III Section 1 by adding sub-point number 10 to read "A representative of the Publications Board."

News From Other Colleges

For their annual football game with Marin Junior College, the Salinas Junior College students held a radio rally to arouse pep and interest in the game.

• • •

Construction was begun this week on a new building for Santa Rosa Junior College. The building will house a museum and several shops.

• • •

For the benefit of those who would like to know the names and addresses of their fellow students, a book entitled "Who'zit" will soon be published at Salinas Junior College. The book will contain the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of all students and faculty members.

During the half-time period of a Santa Rosa Junior College night football game, flares were used by the college band to illuminate various formations and maneuvers that the marching unit performed.

• • •

Students of Chaffey Junior College, after two years of work, completed a reconstruction of the 1917 airplane. The plane actually flies and has been leased for a period of time to a motion picture company in Hollywood.

FAIR COMMITTEE COMPILES BIBLIOGRAPHY TO AID STUDENTS IN COMPETITION

Recently compiled by the Golden Gate International Exposition to aid students in gathering information for the contest about essay contest, is a bibliography entitled Our Debt To The Pacific.

All students interested in entering the competition, sponsored by the Women's Board of the Exposition Committee, should see Miriam Gatley, English instructor, to obtain a copy of the bibliography from the reference library in the Extension Building.

Prizes in the contest are a county award of a scrip book of admissions to the Exposition and state cash prize of 25 dollars.

The essays, not to exceed 1000 words, are to be written on the general subject heading of contributions of Pacific cultures and resources to contemporary civilization. Any topic under the general heading, discussing some notable contribution from the Pacific Area to world civilization, may be chosen.

"Suggestions for obtaining material, other than supplementary reading may be found in the following: talks by persons who have traveled in the Pacific Area; visits to museums or private collections; inquiry into the origins of goods sold in local stores or of the designs in articles of common use; inquiry also into the sources of materials used in local industries and into the markets of local trades, study of maps, and showing of motion pictures; a tracing of the historic origins of local fauna and flora or of designs and decorations used in local architecture; a tracing also of the local economic stakes in present happenings in the Pacific Area.

Students of the college may submit essays to one of the following instructors: Miriam Gatley, Joseph Williams, or Robert Parker. Any additional information regarding subjects, suggested bibliographies, or illustrative mounts may be secured from them.

Entries must be completed by midnight, Thursday, December 1, 1938. Final awards will be announced not later than February 1, 1938.

• • •

China will participate officially as an exhibitor at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition in spite of war.

FAHN SPARKS SPARTANS

San Francisco Junior College is rapidly earning a reputation as a prep school for yell leaders. Jim Fahn, above, is now chief spirit-whipper-upper at San Jose State College. He was chosen to lead the Spartan rooting section after he exhibited his jumping-jack ability at which he excelled in these parts. Jimmy cheers both the team and spectators by his antics, somersaulting in mid-air and similar stunts as the students tumbling aets, somersaulting in mid-air and similar stunts as the students cheer their athletic representatives onward. Other alumni performing yell leading chores are Stan Adams and Ty Barre, who hold positions at the University of California.

Motion Pictures, European Crisis Discussed In Magazines At Library

Rescued from oblivion by small supporting roles in There Goes My Heart, Nancy Carroll, pert redhead of early talkies, and Harry Langdon, famed silent comedian, are two of the members of Producer Hal Roach's cast in this picture now being shown locally. Reviews of this picture may be found in the October 17 issue of Newsweek and the October 10 issue of Time.

In answer to the recent demonstrations in England during the Czechoslovakian scare, Christine H. Sturgeon explains Fear Flies Over England in the November issue for 1938 of Forum magazine. He asks if it is true, "that the mass mind, which has been taught to fear and can be taught to hate, can also be worked up into flooding gratitude toward a government which has kept it out of war and will give that government unqualified support when, if ever, that government is forced to defend itself against a general election?" Sturgeon tells the reader that he fears the present party control in England. The result of the dominating force placed upon the English people by the present party is such that few men realize the extent of danger which might result from it.

The above mentioned article is one more that might be added to a suitable bibliography for a study of the recent crisis. It may be located, along with others mentioned by this column previously, at the college library at 518 Powell Street.

Francis Colligan, library director, wishes that students would call for their registration and student body cards now being held at the Extension building library. "We have had as many as 80 or 90 cards belonging to students on our hands for some time, and they should be called for within a very short time," Colligan warned.

RAM'S HORN

(Continued from page 2)

postponement notice, all hope of a meeting was given up. Upon questioning the president he said he had placed a notice. Perhaps it was in the room, but who am I to break up a lecture? The reason for postponement is still a mystery to me.

What politicians do the many students get who are supposed to be kept up to date on the weekly meetings of the executive council; through the board, if for four weeks no news reaches the ears of its representatives? There is no good reason why the great number of students who may want to offer opinions and suggestions to the council should not be able to do so.

I close with the hope of myself and the rest of the representatives, that an understanding may be reached, and a situation such as this may never rise again.

An optimistic member

Editor's note: If you wish to be informed of activities of the Ex-Council, try attending a meeting . . . not much more stimulating than the Club Advisory Board. The C.A.B. officers say there is no business for the group to consider. Which means, as you contend, that something should be done about the Club Advisory Board.

Executive Council representative of the Rally Committee.

ARTICLE V.

Allotment of Funds

1. The Music, Forensic, and Publication departments shall be allotted funds from the Associated Students' budget.

2. The Alumni Association of the San Francisco Junior College shall be eligible to receive funds from the Associated Students.

LEARN "CONTRACT BRIDGE" . . .
— A Social Necessity —
Beginners class opens Monday Evening, October 10, 7:30-9:00
NORTHERN CALIFORNIA BRIDGE STUDIO
530 MASON STREET near Sutter
ARTHUR WATERMAN, Culbertson Associate SUtter 9558

Club Slants---Meetings Feature Social Events

Chess Club . . . sends out an unrestricted challenge to all pawn-pushers who wish to compete in a simultaneous match, said Bill Switzer, president. Frank Boal, Cal Christiansen and Everette Wallace are the nucleus for the group's team which will compete in the California Chess League. "Our chance," Switzer said, "of winning the Chess League is very great. One of our men beat California's third board player." The group is planning to have a match with San Francisco State College in the future.

• • •

Pick and Hammer . . . will hold a meeting next Monday night at the home of George L. Green, sponsor of the club. The address is 805 Bush Street, and the meeting will be called to order at 7:30 p.m. There will be a discussion on club pins, the coming field trip, and the club publication.

• • •

Pi Mu Gamma . . . Harold Hoffman, president announced that the next meeting will be held Wednesday, November 9, at 7:30 p.m. at the new permanent club house at Paxon Street and Ocean Avenue. Corn 12 or K. Dr. Charlotte Boehm will speak on Pediatrics. A dinner dance will be given Thursday, November 10, at 8 p.m. at Club Lido. Price is $1.25 per person. A trip to Treasure Island will be made Sunday, November 13 by the group. Meet at Ferry Building at 10 a.m. A large turnout is expected at the new club house because of its fine facilities.

• • •

At the second meeting of the Tarbuth Society a constitution was drawn up and approved of by the members.

There was also an election of permanent officers who were as follows: Daniel Rosenblatt, president; Jacqueline Kramer, vice-president; Rose Davis, secretary; David Arnon, treasurer, and Leonard Grob, historian.

The next meeting of the group will be held on November 17, at which time there will be a discussion in which each member will take part. All students interested are invited to attend.

• • •

All Masonic Club members are urged to attend the meeting tomorrow to vote on the new name for their organization. The name to be voted on is the George Washington Society.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the Frontier Dance to be held by the society November 23 at the YMCA Hall on 18th Avenue between Geary and Clement Streets.

• • •

Radio Engineers . . . have reorganized in a big way. In addition to a new constitution now up for approval by the Executive Council, a new list of members has been drawn up. Vince Sherman, publicity agent of the society, explained, "The original purpose of the club to furnish some social benefits for its members, had been forgotten. Members were disinterested, and social events were at a standstill. Hence, a 'house-cleaning' became necessary, and was done."

• • •

Students are asked by officials of the Army-Navy Club to donate any children's toys or books for the club's Christmas drive.

The articles should be placed in a box on the lower floor, near the bulletin board. All contributions received will be given to needy children for Christmas presents," James S. Hughes, club sponsor, said.

• • •

At the last meeting of the Omicron Phi Pi, Economics Society, Saturday, November 5, the following were initiated into the organization; William Haeple, Al Flaw, John Ellis, Carlson Evans, Joseph Meeko, and Fred Vast. This meeting was for the sole purpose of initiation of the new members.

Next meeting of the Omicron Society will be held at 900 Spruce Street in Berkeley at the home of Bob Johnson on Monday, November 14. The topic for discussion will be "What Will Germany Do With Europe?". Russell Pritchard and Andrew Eggum of Berkeley will speak on the subject.

ADVERTISING RATE:
1-50 inches ..... 70c an inch
51-150 inches ..... 60c an inch
151-up inches ..... 50c an inch

Newman Club . . . will hold its annual communion and breakfast next Sunday at the 9:30 o'clock mass at St. Mary's Cathedral, according to President Dave Johnson, who requests that all members planning to attend get in touch with him some time this week.

Next Monday night the members will attend a roller skating party at Burke's rink on Geary Street between Baker and Broderick.

• • •

Order of Nathaniel Bennett

"invites all pre-legal students to attend an organization meeting Thursday, November 9, which will be held in Room 1401 at 9 a.m. on Powell Street," said President Hod el Ghot. "Plans will be made for the remainder of the semester to provide for discussion of problems of the pre-legal students such as curriculum, pre-law schools, and vocation.

"The club aims to be of definite assistance to those individuals who want the best preparation for the professional law schools. It is my desire," said the club adviser, Earl Lackmann, "that every student interested in this field cooperate to make the pre-legal work of this college the most effective in the state."

All pre-legal students, freshmen or sophomores, are urgently requested to attend. If this is not convenient, another meeting will be called Tuesday, November 22, at 10 a.m.

TOURNEY WEEK

(Continued from page 1)

revealed that the games this semester have been unusually fast and interesting to watch. "The teams are well matched," she said, "and have earned their scores." Miss Keller is the instructor.

Introduced this semester was the system of inviting high schools to attend playdays during Tourney Week and, in some instances, to witness the final play-offs of tournaments. The inclusion of high school students into the semester's activities is a part of the organization's program to present possible junior college students with the opportunities offered by the college.

Schedule for the remainder of the week's festivities is as follows: November 12—9:30, Tennis Singles Tournament at Palace of Fine Arts; November 13—10:30, Tennis Singles Tournament at Palace of Fine Arts; 11:00, Hockey at Funston Field; 1:00, Golf at Funston Field; 3:30, Indoor at Galileo Armory; 3:45, Volleyball at Galileo Gym.

November 16—12:30, Swim Meet (beginners) at YWCA; 3:30, Archery at Fort Mason; 8:15 p.m., Horse Show at St. Francis Riding Academy.

November 17 — 10:30, Tennis Doubles Tournament at Palace of Fine Arts; 12:30, Swim Meet (diving) at YWCA; 1:00, Golf Playday at Funston Field.

SPORTS PARADE

(Continued from page 3)

range their own matches, and they may use the Tuesday-Thursday class periods if no other time is available.

• • •

Unable to hold a dance recently this semester, the Modern Dancers will invite parents and friends to their first class period, when they will demonstrate the term's activities.

Members of the Social Dancing group have been learning "The Lambeth Walk", as have the Folk dancers.

Two members of the tap group will perform at the Sophomore rally.

• • •

Not easily forgotten is the outstanding carnival held last Friday night by the WAA Swimming Club. Weren't the nightgown races a scream? Every one seemed to enjoy themselves to the utmost. Here's hoping this sport will sponsor another such event next semester.

• • •

The "talking tooth" will tell the story of decay of molars and bicuspids in the Hall of Science at the 1939 California World's Fair.

Celebrate Before The Game
J. C. NIGHT
THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10
PALACE HOTEL
Rose Room Bowl
PAUL PENDARVIS
and His Orchestra
Thursday is Always Derby Night at The Palace
For Reservations . . .
HUGH WAITE — GArland 0907

Associated Students Constitution

Cooperating with the Executive Council, The Guardsman publishes, below, the complete text of the constitution and by-laws of the Associated Students of San Francisco Junior College.

Students are expected, by the Council, to read this document carefully so that they will be able to vote intelligently at this afternoon's assembly on proposed amendments (printed above) in the Galileo Auditorium at 2 o'clock.

CONSTITUTION
of
The Associated Students
of
SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

PREAMBLE

We, the students of San Francisco Junior College, in order to promote and control student activities delegated by the President of the College, do hereby establish this constitution.

ARTICLE I.

Name and Membership

1. The name of this Association shall be The Associated Students of San Francisco Junior College.

2. All registered students of San Francisco Junior College who have paid their Incidental student body fee shall be active members of the Associated Students of San Francisco Junior College.

ARTICLE II.

Officers

1. The officers of this Association shall be a president, vice-president and a secretary.

2. President: The president shall be a member of the High Sophomore class. He shall be the executive officer and official representative of the organization. He shall preside at all meetings of the Association and shall be chairman of the Executive Council and ex-officio member of all other committees and councils. Unless appointments are otherwise provided for by this constitution.

3. Vice-President: The vice-president shall be a member of the Sophomore class. The vice-president shall assume the duties of the president during his absence. The vice-president shall be chairman of the Social Committee.

4. Secretary: The secretary shall be a member of the Sophomore class. The secretary shall keep a record of the proceedings of the Association and Executive Council and perform such duties as may be allotted by the Executive Council.

ARTICLE III.

Executive Council

1. Composition:
The Executive Council shall be composed of:
1. The President of the Associated Students
2. The Secretary of the Associated Students
3. A representative of the Social Committee
4. A representative of the Rally Committee
5. A representative of the Associated Men Students
6. A representative of the Associated Women Students
7. A representative of the Women's Athletic Association
8. A representative of the Men's Athletic Council
9. A representative of the Club Advisory Board

2. Powers and Duties:
The Executive Council is the Administrative and Legislative body of this Association and it shall be responsible for, and shall have final authority in, the supervision of the affairs, policies, properties and conduct of the Association.

3. Meetings:
Regular meetings of the Executive Council shall be held once a week and seven, members shall constitute a quorum.

ARTICLE IV.

Elections

1. The Associated Student officers shall be elected on a date selected by the Executive Council.

2. In order to be nominated, candidates must present a petition signed by no less than seventy-five members of the Association.

3. A student must be enrolled for a minimum of twelve units and must have maintained a "C" average in all work during the semester in which he is a candidate.

4. Officers of the Freshman and Sophomore classes shall be elected at a date set by the Executive Council.

ARTICLE V.

Amendments

An amendment to this constitution shall become effective if proposed in writing and signed by 10 per cent of the members of this Association and approved by a two-thirds vote of those present and voting at a meeting of this Association. The president shall call a meeting of this Association for this purpose within two weeks after receiving the proposed amendment properly signed. Such amendment shall be published in the college paper or posted in a public place at least one week previous to the meeting at which it is voted on.

BY-LAWS

ARTICLE I.

Parliamentary Authority

1. Robert's Rules of Order shall be the parliamentary authority of this Association, subject to special rules that have been or will be adopted.

2. Visitors will be privileged to speak upon receiving recognition from the chairman.

ARTICLE II.

Order of Meeting Procedure

1. The order of business shall be as follows:
a. Call to order
b. Reading of the minutes
c. Communications from the President
d. Reports of standing committees
e. Reports of special committees
f. Unfinished business
g. New business
h. Adjournment

ARTICLE III.

Referendum

1. A petition to review an official act of the Executive Council shall be submitted by the president of the Associated Students to the members of the Association at a meeting to be called within two weeks after such a petition (signed by at least 10 per cent of the active members of the Association) has been presented to the president.

2. A majority of negative votes cast at a general meeting shall be sufficient to rescind an act of the Executive Council.

ARTICLE IV.

Councils

There shall be seven representative groups to carry on and supervise the major activities of the Association. In general, each shall be independent within its own sphere and shall formulate its own policies, subject to the approval of the Executive Council of the Associated Students.

These groups shall be as follows:

Sec. 1. The Associated Men Students, which shall function according to the constitution of the Associated Men Students.

Sec. 2. The Associated Women Students, which shall function according to the constitution of the Associated Women Students.

Sec. 3. The Women's Athletic Association which shall function according to the constitution of the Women's Athletic Association.

Sec. 4 a. The Men's Athletic Council shall be composed of two faculty members appointed by the president of the college, the president of the Associated Students, one representative from the Major award winners and one representative from the Minor award winners.

b. The Men's Athletic Council shall be empowered to make recommendations on all athletic awards, subject to the approval of the Executive Council.

c. The Men's Athletic Council shall be empowered to make recommendations to the Executive Council for the awarding of life athletic passes to all major award winners.

Sec. 5. a. The Social Committee shall be composed of the vice-president of the Associated Students, as chairman, the presidents of the four classes, two members-at-large, selected by the chairman, and at least two faculty members appointed by the president of the college.

b. The function of the Social Committee shall be to regulate all social activities of the Association.

c. The vice-president shall represent the Social Committee on the Executive Council.

Sec. 6. a. The Club Advisory Board shall be composed of one representative from every duly chartered organization in the college.

b. The Club Advisory Board shall be empowered to make recommendations on all organizations represented within the Board.

c. There shall be no petition from the action of the Club Advisory Board on a proposed organization charter.

d. The officers of the Club Advisory Board shall be a president, a vice-president and a secretary.

e. The president of the Club Advisory Board shall be the group's representative to the Executive Council.

f. The Club Advisory Board shall hold at least two meetings a semester. Meetings may be called at the discretion of the president.

g. Fifty per cent of the members shall constitute a quorum.

Sec. 7. a. The Rally Committee which shall be appointed by the head yell leader.

b. The head yell leader shall be the Community Chest's Annual Drive Has Begun, Have You Given!

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS
The Guardsman
SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE
Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1938 No. 12

Stop The Pirates Next Friday Night, 8 P.M. At Seals Stadium

Queen Contest Nears; Waite Plans Reception

Modesto Rooters Will Be Greeted At Depot By Welcoming Group

Head Yell Leader Hugh Waite is concentrating his efforts toward a giant reception for the visiting football rooters from Modesto.

Scheduled to arrive at the Southern Pacific depot at Third and Townsend Streets, 6:30 p.m. this Friday, to attend the Pirate-Ram grid clash Waite is planning for an enormous welcoming delegation to meet the visitors upon their arrival and to extend them a hearty welcome.

Co-operation Necessary

Before he can successfully accomplish such an undertaking, it is essential that he be aided by, and have the full co-operation of the student body, Waite said.

All men or women possessing cars of any make or vintage are urged by Waite to see him immediately and sign up for a place in the automobile parade.

Immediately upon their arrival at the Southern Pacific depot the visiting rooters from Modesto will be escorted through the city by gayly decorated automobiles lined up to form a mass parade.

Cars Needed

The automobile parade will terminate at Seals Stadium, where both students and San Francisco rooters will be seated for the ensuing football tussle between the two colleges.

All students possessing cars or anxious to participate in some way on the welcoming committee should see Waite immediately.

Glamor Girls Compete For Title; Soph Formal Plans Now Under Way

Serving as an innovation to the High Sophomore Week of Events is the Sweetheart Contest which will come to a climax next Wednesday when ballots and pictures of the contestants will appear in The Guardsman, Stanley Tobiason, president of the High Sophomore class announced.

"Deadline for entries into the contest was originally scheduled for last Thursday, but was extended until tomorrow at 3:30 p.m., Tobiason declared.

As The Guardsman went to press seven organizations of the college had entered candidates. Beta Phi and Phi Beta Rho are sponsoring Barbara Randall; the Army and Navy Club, Dixie McCormick; Alpha Phi Omega, Frances Herndon; Lambda Chi, Margaret Meador; the Newman Club, Marie Hohan.

Ill Jinks Planned

"Two weeks from today on the evening of November 30," Tobiason said, "the sophomore Ill Jinks will officially open High Sophomore Week. The newly chosen sweetheart will be introduced to the Associated Students at that time. Jack Schmale, chairman of the rally is arranging a burlesque of prominent campus characters, as well as outside talent from the college."

Included in the program will be an accordian solo by an accomplished musician, a sing and dance number, a tap chorus and several specialty numbers. Ernie Smith, noted sports columnist and radio commentator, and Arthur McCrystal, sports director of the Golden Gate International Exposition, will be present at the rally.

Tea, Dance Scheduled

Following the rally on Thursday will be the tea dansant at the Century Club which will fete the sweetheart as well as honor high sophomores.

"Friday night in the Francisan Room of the Sir Francis Drake, Sophomore Week will be climaxed with the sophomore formal," Tobiason disclosed. Music will be provided by Bob Saunders and his orchestra, which enjoys tremendous popularity in the bay region.

Membership of 90 Reached By Junior College Council

Charter membership in the Junior College Council has now reached 90 members, and new members are being added daily according to reports received by The Guardsman. Headed by the Faculty Association, interest in the broad purposes and plans of the new organization have gone beyond the expectations of the sponsors. Although 25 faculty members are already participating, the Faculty Association has voted a membership of seven elected members.

In addition to members from the Faculty Association, the Associated Students of the college has voted a membership of three persons to be selected from the student body plus one more from the Alumni Association. Representing the student body will be President Robert Fex, Vice-president Barbara Randall, and Secretary Jane Mitchell.

At present, plans are being formed for a Christmas dinner and program to be held on December 6. The dinner will be held under the supervision of J. Graham Sullivan, co-ordinator of the Hotel and Restaurant Division. Assisting Sullivan will be John R. Herman, horticulture instructor, Flosaita Badger, music instructor, and Evans Ecke, art instructor.

Amori Commended For Work As Editor Of Local Chapter Publication

Joseph A. Amori, college physical education instructor, was commended last week for his excellent work as editor of the Lambda Chapter News Letter by Dean W. W. Kemp of the University of California School of Education.

"It was the best News Letter we have ever had since the beginning of the organization at the University of California," declared Kemp who is the faculty sponsor of the chapter.

Amori was appointed editor of the Phi Delta Kappa chapter's publication early this semester. The fraternity is a national educational honor society.

Amori is scheduled to appear on the program of the American Student Health Association conference which is to be held at Stockton on November 25 and 26 at the College of Pacific where he will present a paper on "A Study and Evaluation of Hygiene Instruction in Junior Colleges With Special Reference to California."

Students Accept Establishment Of Publications Board

Body Will Supervise Campus Distribution Of All Literature

Formation of a Publications Board to supervise all printed matter distributed on the campus was assured last Thursday at a meeting of the Associated Students when approval was given to the constitutional amendment providing for its existence.

Students at the assembly also voted to accept an amendment changing the process of amending the constitution, so that it will no longer be necessary for a petition to be circulated before an amendment can be introduced. Under the terms of this new amendment, future amendments can originate in the Executive Council, after which they must be approved by a student body assembly. This eliminates the necessity of having a petition presented for each new amendment.

Fex Satisfied

In addition to these two amendments, the assembly also approved two minor amendments, one of which provided for officially naming of The Guardsman as the publication of the Associated Students, and another changing the title of Article I to read "Name, Membership, and Publications".

Student President Robert Fex, who presided at the meeting, expressed himself as being well satisfied with the attendance and the conduct of the assembly. "The turnout was gratifying," said Fex, "and I was pleased with the cooperative spirit displayed. All the changes made were for the good of the student body, and I am glad that many members realize the importance of taking part in student legislation."

Interest Greater

Fex explained a few points to interested members of the audience, and, when everyone had been made aware of the exact terms of the amendments, they were voted upon, and passed by large majorities.

Discussion and questions by the students at the assembly signified greater interest in student government than has been the case in previous semesters, observers believed.

Should it be necessary at any time further to amend the constitution, students will be notified by publication of the proposed amendments in The Guardsman at least one week before it is to be presented to an assembly.

A Cappella Choir Sings At Civic Center Ceremony

Answering the invitation extended it by Richard E. Doyle, chairman of the Torch Lighting Ceremony Committee of the Community Chest, the college A Cappella Choir appeared in concert last evening in the Civic Center.

The program presented included Chorale by Bach, Hodie Christus Natus Est by Willan, and The Lord Bless You by Lutkin. The choir was directed by Flossita Badger, music instructor.

This ceremony, which took place at 7:30 p.m., was the first event opening the present drive for funds to fill the Community Chest. This year's goal has been set at $2,100,000 and of this sum a quota of $23,900 has been assigned to be raised by the Public Schools division. Dates for collecting during the drive have been set for the period from November 16 to December 2.

"In the light of our previous experience of three years, I can say that I am sure that the faculty of San Francisco Junior College will easily pass the sum assigned to it," stated Paul M. Pitman, assistant to President Cloud.

Heading the Public School division will be C. Harold Caulfield, Commissioner of Education here in San Francisco. The college committee in charge will consist of Chairman Carl F. Stough, Thomas O'Neill and Edna Denhard.

Italian Club Sponsors Dinner Dance Next Week At Broadway Hall

Sponsored by the Italian Club a barn dance and spaghetti dinner will be held on Tuesday night, November 22, at the Italian Family Club, 526 Broadway.

Talented Italian entertainment is promised by Bob Ridolfi, president of the group. "The affair," Rudolfi stressed, "is not limited to members of the Italian Club; all students of the college are invited to attend. The price for the evening's fun will be nominal; tickets are selling for 15 cents each."

Tickets may be obtained from Ubaldo Magetti, Dora Garibaldi, sponsors of the organization, and Thomas O'Neill in the Powell Street office of the college. Members of the club are also selling tickets for the dance, dinner and program.

Ridolfi urges all students planning to attend to purchase their tickets early as there is but a limited number. Farm clothing will be the popular mode of attire for the night but is not essential to gain admission.

Horse Show, Banquet Climax Tourney Week

Woman Athletes Close Semester With Feast Tomorrow At Galileo

Bringing to a close another semester of women's athletics, the Women's Athletic Association will give a banquet tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Galileo faculty cafe. Theme of the dinner this year is Shine for '39, meaning the new college buildings, not the Golden Gate International Exposition.

Election returns for WAA officers for the following semester will be disclosed, the results having been kept a secret until this time. It is the customary ceremony for the out-going officers to leave her place at the banquet table, walk over to the woman who will succeed her in office, and introduce the surprised officer-elect to the rest of the association. First team awards and Block awards, if any, are also presented.

Advance Sale

"Tickets will be 50 cents a piece and must be purchased in advance," Margaret Park, WAA president, stressed. "No tickets will be sold at the door at the last moment. If enough tickets are sold the large cafeteria will be used, but the final decision will depend on the sale of tickets. Because of overcrowding at previous banquets and luncheons WAA officers decided that places must be reserved."

Marion Dickie, general chairman of the banquet committee, will be toast-mistress. Muriel Grenelle has charge of the decorations, Mary-Jane Schendel, entertainment, Kathryn Lloyd, hostess committee, Silvia Wall, program committee, Ladonna Callahan, arrangements, and Rema Corbitt, re-arrangements.

Dancers Entertain

Faculty guests will be Verrel Weber, also guest faculty speaker, Dean Edwin C. Browne, Paul Pitman, Dean Edwin C. Browne, Paul Pitman, Dr. Alice Potter, Bertha Keller, and Laurine Bergin.

The entertainment includes tap dancing, folk dancing, a Russian dance and a Hawaiian dance. The entertainers will be in costume. Participants in the dances are members of the regular WAA terpsichorean groups.

Pat Jenks, according to riding instructor Laurine Bergin, has ably managed even the smallest details of the show. Assisting Miss Jenks with the arrangements were Robert Burn, Robert Dodd, Nick Varzuin, and Leon Kalimos. Ushers have been provided by the women's Block SF Association.

Riders Listed

Student riders to appear in the show are: beginners, Laurence Allen, Robert Bourne, Catherine Chan, Robert Dodd, Virginia Howell, Evelyn Keller, and Margaret McCormick; intermediates, Jack Campbell, Kenneth Fisher, Jerome Flax, Lorraine Hall, James McNeil, Meriam Moore, Lorraine Nash, Yvonne Trauger, and Albert Wheeler; advanced, Carol Hunemberg, Patricia Jenks, Phyllis Learned, Donn Norden, Janet O'Leary, Mildred Orendorff, Ruth Paule, Marilyn Pinner, Herbert Raynaud, Sylvia Rogenes, Betty Sanchez, Mary Sarratt, Jean Steward, Nick Vargulin, Betty McKenzie, Sue Muthier, Leon Kalimos, Clare Mason, Murial Mills, and Carolyn Jorgenson.

Equestrians, Horses Perform Tonight At St. Francis Academy

College equestrians will hold their semi-annual Horse Show tonight at the St. Francis Riding Academy, 744-8th Avenue at 8 p.m. Participants will include both men and women students, three members of the faculty, and a group of high school students, among which will be a representative from each high school in the city.

The program will include the following events:

1. Beginners: Walk, Trot, Canter.
2. Intermediate: Walk, Trot, Canter.
3. Beginners-Intermediate: Walk, Trot, Canter in pairs.
4. Beginners-Intermediates: Competitive Game.
5. High School Class: Walk, Trot, Canter.
6. Advanced: Drill. Walk, Trot, Canter. Walk, Trot, Canter in pairs. Walk, Trot, Canter in fours. Jumping.

Trophies Donated

Trophies have been donated by the WAA, sponsors of the affair, Spiro's Sporting Goods Store, St. Francis Riding Academy, and the San Francisco Riding School.

Margaret Park, president of WAA, and Dorothy Sanderson, vice-president, will act as hostesses to the high school women. The guests will not compete with the college coeds, but will hold a class of their own, and the winners will be awarded ribbons.

Winner of the first place will receive a blue ribbon, second place, red, and third place white. Judges for the evening will be Mrs. J. C. Geiger, wife of Dr. J. C. Geiger, head of the San Francisco Department of Health. George Cronin, and Miss Sally Reed. Robert Vandenburg will act as ringmaster. The St. Francis Riding Academy has loaned the college its large ring, in which the show will be held.

Faculty To Participate

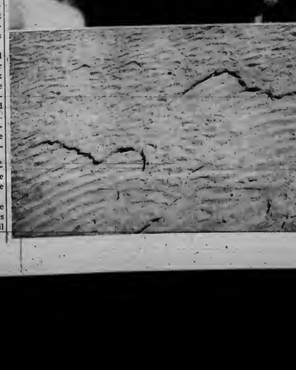
Faculty members participating in the events are Flossita Badger, of the music department, Edna Denhard, secretary to President Cloud, and Eilleen Rue, assistant in the registrar's office.

Pat Jenks, according to riding instructor Laurine Bergin, has ably managed even the smallest details of the show. Assisting Miss Jenks with the arrangements were Robert Burn, Robert Dodd, Nick Varzuin, and Leon Kalimos. Ushers have been provided by the women's Block SF Association.

Geology Students Take Field Trips, Observe Earth's Crust

Young Scientists Obtain Information First Hand

Students in George Green's geology classes have been obtaining first hand information about what they learn in the classroom by taking field trips to observe geologic formations.



Staff photographer Sam Gaulstaun took the trip to observe the Hayward Fault, which is a shifting of the earth in the region east of Oakland. This Fault was the cause of the formation of San Francisco Bay.

Upper left photo shows the interior of the bus which was used in transporting the college geologists about the countryside. Green can be seen checking off the name of a student who has just paid his share of the trip's expenses.

Ripple marks, lower left, are graphically shown in this unusual picture. This phenomenon is the result of rain and wind beating against the rock when it was still in the mud stage. As a result, ridges formed in the mud which subsequently hardened and became rock, the ripple marks remaining.

Upper right: young scientists, outside the bus, examine and discuss various geologic formations.

A closer view of Green as he studies a rock is shown in the lower picture. Note magnifying glass in his right hand. The large boulder in the remaining snapshot is a concretion. In the middle of it (the boulder) is usually a fossil about which has grown a rock.

Police Department Foils Ticket Tearer-Uppers! Issues Foolproof Slips

Lieutenant Arthur Garret of the San Francisco Police Department warned those who have been accustomed to tearing up traffic tags, that the Police Department is issuing foolproof tickets to replace the blue ones now in use.

If a student parks in the Powell Street Alley or violates any other traffic law, he will receive a pink ticket on the car. Failure to pay the fine will result in a notice to the registered owner, which if not answered will cause an additional assessment. This a notice of the charge and unpaid assessment is kept on file in the Motor Vehicle Department in Sacramento.

When the student attempts to secure his 1939 license plates, the notice is checked and until the fines are paid, the plates are withheld.

Ownership of the car cannot be transferred, and new driver's licenses will be refused to the violator until all fines are paid.

Institute Of Pacific Relations Meets Friday; Convenes In Napa Soon

Students interested in the Student Institute of Pacific Relations are urged to attend the group's next meeting on Friday, November 18, at one o'clock, at the faculty table in the Powell building's lobby.

The organization is completely student controlled and administered. It receives financial support from interested individuals. These funds provide scholarships for those persons who wish to attend the conferences, but cannot do so because of lack of funds.

Once again members of the Institute will hold their annual conference. This year the conference is being held from November 24 to 27 at Lokoya Mountain Lodge, in Napa county," according to Bella-Lao Ediidin, campus chairman.

The institute was founded in 1926 and its purpose is to encourage clear

(Continued on page 4, column 3)

The Guardsman
The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College
Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1938 No. 12

FRED VAST....EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser — Business Adviser
Joan Nourse — Edward H. Redford
Dick Simpers....Assistant Editor
Bill Frantz....News Editor
John Julius....Sports Editor
Ray Berns....Ass't Sports Editor
Carol Pickering....Women's Editor
Dorothy Trood....Club Editor
Sam Galstaun....Staff Photographer
Fred Bentley....Business Manager
Paul Judson....Advertising Manager

REPORTERS
Ethan Bernstein, Bob Fex, Lois Gipson, Leonard Gross, George Hoffman, Dave Johnson, Adele Kuhn, Isadore Maloff, Charles Martin, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Ed van der Veen, Sylvia Wall, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Something Wrong Somewhere In Club Advisory Board

FOR some time there have been continual complaints about the Club Advisory Board's inactivity. In the last issue of The Guardsman, the Ram's Horn contained a letter asking why the body does not meet.

Officers of the group claim that there is no business to be discussed and acted upon and therefore there have been no meetings of late.

An examination of the reasons advanced when the organization was formed last semester would not be amiss in a discussion of the Board. With these facts understood, a better evaluation of the body can be made and its functions outlined.

When first conceived last spring in the reorganization of student government, it was agreed that an organ for club expression and exchange of ideas and experiences would greatly enhance the extra-curricular activity of the college. It was further argued that the Club Advisory Board would serve in an advisory capacity to the Executive Council in matters of importance where the Council wanted an expression of student opinion. The Board might also recommend legislation to the Ex Council.

At the beginning of the semester, the advisory group to the clubs met quite often, chartering new organizations, aiding clubs where necessary, and checking on the life of each component part. The Board also did fine work in aiding the bond campaign by mobilizing the club membership for electioneering duty at the polls.

In the middle of the semester the Board suddenly bogged down. Responsibility lies directly at the door of the officers who are empowered to carry on all functions of the Board between meetings and also call the meetings. It is the officers who must keep the organization alive and healthy.

As outlined above, there is plenty of room for the board to continue activity and function properly. If not only the officers, but the members too, feel that further meetings are unnecessary and there is no activity to carry on, then there is but one thing to do—disband. It seems, however, that the membership wishes to attend the gatherings and to continue to function. If such is the case, it is up to the officers to do something, or else resign and have the Executive Council reorganize the Club Advisory Board.

Student Interest In Self-Government

LAST Wednesday's assembly of the Associated Students, besides adopting amendments to the constitution and by-laws, was important in that the audience participated in the business of the meeting.

Generally, at least it has been so in the past, the business is presented, there is very little discussion, and the students do not fully understand what they are voting upon. Last week, however, the members present took an active part in the meeting. Various rank and filers arose and demanded an explanation of the reason for the amendments, and then went on to express their views on the subject.

There are two valid criticisms of the student body meetings which to date still hold true. The first problem is the lack of attendance and the general disinterest in student government. The second objection is the tendency of students to support any person who in the slightest degree shows any opposition to the group in charge of the program. Usually the opposition gets approval of its arguments because it is challenging the ruling group, not because of the value of the arguments, for frequently the assembled students do not know or understand what the question is about.

As long as these attitudes prevail student government can not be a success. Only when more students take a greater interest in their government and weight arguments on merit rather than on sentiment will student government really become a true self government and only then can it be a success—when it becomes what it professes.

Nominate Worthy Candidates, Then Vote In Elections

ALTHOUGH the state elections are now over, those of the college are just beginning.

Elections always feature the disgusting exhibition of the many people who go around constantly moaning and complaining of existing evils that should be changed, and yet are too lazy to do anything about it. Those people who spend a great deal of their time complaining, and then completely ignore their chance to rectify the difficulty, can only be described in such harsh language.

This is exactly the situation existing in this college today. The majority of the students absolutely fails to vote in student body elections. It is conceded by most sensible persons that is is the duty of every good citizen to vote for his president, governor, senators, and in short, everyone who is likely to have a hand in controlling the destinies of the United States. Although many do not, the fact still remains that they should, for their own personal welfare depends upon the men they elect to office.

The college is no different from any other institution. There is a democratic form of government existing here and to obtain the best results, the best possible men and women must be put in charge, yet how can this be done if the majority of the students do not interest themselves enough to cast a ballot?

A few figures may serve to show just how serious the situation is. In the Associated Student election last semester, out of an approximate 1800 students, only 500 took the trouble to vote. Everyone wants successful rallies, dances and other social functions, and the only way to get them is to get out and vote for intelligent, competent people who can put them over.

Election of Associated Students officers for the coming semester will soon take place. If you fail to vote, you are hurting only yourself, and at the same time hindering the progress of the college.

* * *

Another thing to remember in the coming elections is the quality of candidates who will apply for next semester's offices. It is not only important to vote in the elections but to vote for worthy aspirants.

Elections will be held on December 2, with presentation of candidates occurring the previous day. To be nominated one must have a petition signed by 75 members of the Associated Students.

In past election campaigns there has been a dearth of aspiring politicians and many times the field has been rather poor. There is no reason why the most capable people should not occupy the important positions of student government. The only time this will happen is when the entire student body is made conscious of the necessity of participation in the formulation and administration of student affairs by the students themselves.

It is then that student government will truly be a success—when the students are interested and when more capable people take an active part.

—L. G.

Cry Of The Aged Must Be Answered

THE relative success of various old age pension movements shows that there is a need for some adequate aid to the aged.

Although the Townsend plan and the $30-every-Thursday proposition have never gained the support of the majority of the population they have gained almost the unanimous approval of the aged and considerable support from other elements.

Many youths have favored the schemes in the hope that their adoption would result in more jobs for young people.

If the proposals for old age pensions have done nothing more than to bring the plight of a generation to the attention of the country they have accomplished a great deal.

The plans have been widely endorsed because they have chronicled a burning need. They have been rejected because they failed to provide an adequate system of financing. They asked for too great sum of money and suggested in effect a sales tax, thereby placing the burden upon themselves and the masses who can not afford the additional expense.

That there is a need for liberalized old age pensions is quite obvious. That need can be satisfied when a more moderate sum than proposed in the various plans is suggested and when the revenue is obtained from those most able to pay, from those men who possess wealth and power. An increase in their tax rate would provide sufficient funds and would still permit them to live in comfort.

A bill formulated with these factors taken into consideration should win the approval of the legislature in its next session.

Cabbages & Kings
By Blue Pencil Bill

Scoop! Seen jitterbugging (in a way) at the St. Francis to the lively music of our own Ed Murphy and his swing-dings was John Ward. Time marches on!

* * *

It has been rumored that some of the brighter lights of this noble institution will make an attempt to get a ringer in the Sophomore Sweetheart contest. Names of certain Freshman females have been bandied about. We won't say anything more on the subject because we all know, don't we, how unreliable and scurrilous rumors are?

* * *

MYSTERY IN THE PRINT SHOP

What has become of Charming Charlie? It's a mystery which thus far no one has been able to solve. There are suspicions to the effect that Fashion Fanny is implicated in the disappearance of the popular Guardsman columnist. The question now is —where is Fashion Fanny?

While we are asking questions we would like to know—

Who originated "So's your old man" —we'll give you a tip: it wasn't the men from Mars.

Who is "Scarlett" O'Hara?—she lives in Oakland.

Who killed Cock Robbin?—still one of the major unsolved murder cases of the age.

* * *

George, the printer's devil, has a philosophy all of his own—it's nothing new or modern or sophisticated. It's simple: if you wish to be happy and remain sane, don't make up The Guardsman for the press.

* * *

Page three of the Oxford Student's Dictionary of American Song Titles:

Diminutive Example of a Trifling Individual, I Possess a Textile Cavity Containing So Many Trains of Thought Passing Through the Mind In Sleep So As To Leave Said Cavity Without Vacant Space. Gyrating Mohammedan Fakir's Female Companion. I've a Pressing Engagement With One of An Order of Spiritual Beings Endowed With Immortal Life.

Answers at the end of the column.

* * *

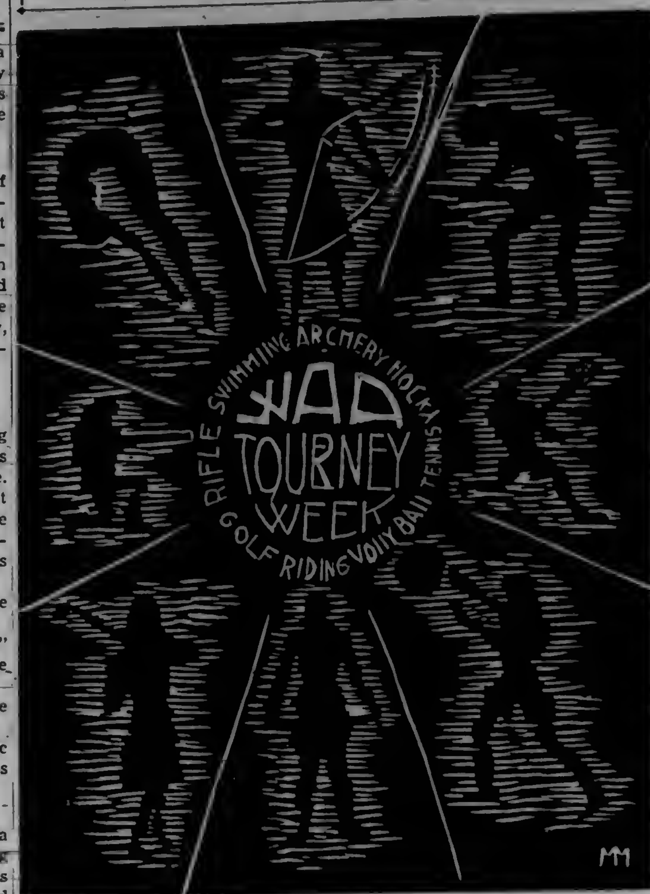
SWEEPSTAKES DE LUXE

Every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 2 o'clock four assorted automobiles pull out of Powell Street and try to out-maneuver each other to Galileo.

The owners of the autos are Joe Telesmanic with a 1930 Ford, Bill Osborne plus a 1927 Chevrolet, Alan Quinn of the 1937 Oldsmobile, and Frank Murai, owner of a 1937 Buick.

The boys don't speed to Galileo—the Ford and the Chevy couldn't compete that way, but what they do is make short cuts through gas stations, beat "Stop" signals, and hog the road.

When they first started they gave an advantage of a block to a contestant having a girl in his car because they figured it would be a hindrance to the driver and prevent him from keeping his mind on the wheel, but later it was changed to a handicap of two blocks because of the added inspiration. Further rules of the "SFJC Sweepstakes" state that a banged fender or a traffic tag is automatic disqualification for that day.



"With a little publicity," said Osborne, last week's winner, "this race would be greater than the Kentucky Derby (pronounced 'darby')" — well here's your publicity, Bill.

* * *

Answers to Oxford Student's Dictionary:

Small Fry, I've Got a Pocket Full of Dreams, Girl Friend of the Whirling Dervish, Got a Date With An Angel.

'WEAKER' SEX
By MacKillop

AFTER DARK
By John Ward

There are three good reasons why we aren't patronizing the limpid tripe that Hollywood is fishing up these days. One reason is that, until Hollywood finds something worth the saying, a precarious endangering of our better senses is hardly a form of seduction for our purse. The other two reasons are, Alpha, the Wayfarers; Beta, the meaty, stimulating films of European studios.

The Wayfarers are an intelligent band of thespians who represent the most dependable and interesting of the local little theatres. Every two months throughout the year they present two or more plays, usually from the best drama to be found. This summer they presented several of the works of Ibsen; early next year they will produce a dramatization of Voltaire's Candide, and during this month they are doing a Shakespearean repertoire, presenting Othello and Macbeth on alternating weeks.

Their production of Macbeth is quite in keeping with their artistic policy; it is well acted, well set, and exceedingly well lighted. The whole production has life (hardly a compliment one would hurl at any of the late products of Hollywood!) One criticism so true of most little theatre work could never be applied to the Wayfarers' shows—they never drag. Once the pace is set in Macbeth it is sustained in a fine exciting rush.

The first thing that strikes one about their Macbeth, however, is the staging. They have an ideal small theatre that lends itself to interesting experimentation—especially in the quick change of scene, so frequent in Shakespeare. Instead of keeping the audience waiting while they rush a set into place, they play many scenes in front of the curtain. And their stage sets themselves are simple to the point of pure symbolism—hence a newness and a freshness that always interest (would Hollywood could learn the art of simplicity!)

The weakest point in their performance of Macbeth was the choppiness of some of the characterizations. Throughout, one had the occasional feeling that they were not always quite sure what they were doing. On the whole the cast acted with skill and excellent ensemble. The finest thing about the entire evening, perhaps, was the feeling that they had neither the weaknesses of amateurs nor the brisk, work-a-day attitude of a typically professional roadshow company.

The French film, Grand Illusion, is far and away the best French film we've seen. For once the director, in this case Jean Renoir, caught that smooth continuity that is one of the technical achievements of American cinema. One did not feel lost every time the scene changed. This was due in part to the excellent scenario. Frankly an anti-war document, Grand Illusion has a rare punch and a surprisingly telling reality.

It is a film that takes the glory off an army uniform and suggests what makes officers tick during war time. It shows what dull militaristic propaganda Hollywood manufacturers in a film like Blockade. Instead of presenting the audience a pink-edged valentine dedicated to that hollow kind of war, patriotism that cries "my country, right or wrong, my country!" they hand one a bit of bloody straight talk.

This is one of the primary differences between Hollywood and French or Russian films or a group like the Wayfarers. Hollywood is either afraid or unable to produce anything but a hot-house type of artificial life that has absolutely nothing to say. Macbeth is a production with life in its veins and thoughts on its tongue. Grand Illusion says things that you can sink your teeth into. And why patronize dullness and sheer artistic waste when it is just as simple to patronize art that is both entertaining and significant?

. . . while thinking . . .
By Leonard Gross

CURRENT reports state that King George VI of England will visit the United States next summer. This will be the first time in history that this country ever welcomed a British monarch.

It is hoped that great things will come of this meeting between the leaders of two great nations. Many people point out that it is a highly diplomatic and intelligent move on the part of the English to become more closely allied with the American government. This idea seems feasible in view of the recent European crisis. Great Britain, in giving way to Adolf Hitler, undoubtedly lost a great deal of prestige, which can only be regained through strengthening alliances with other nations. As far as actual treaties go, however, it is doubtful if the United States will go so far as to commit herself to such a degree. In all probability she will only lend her moral support for the time being.

Rumor has it that Neville Chamberlain, British Prime Minister, will accompany the royal party. This in itself should be enough to show that there is a more important purpose lying behind this visit than an ordinary social meeting. Chamberlain would not be leaving London unless he were needed for a serious reason elsewhere.

We have always advocated a closer relationship between the United States and Great Britain, for we believe that the two English speaking countries should stay closer together. Because of its geographical position in the world, America has always refrained from any foreign entanglements. This is as it should be, but nevertheless, recent affairs have made it imperative that the United States do more than remain quietly passive.

We are not advocating a treaty between the United States and Great Britain, but we do think that the world is fast approaching a state wherein the democratic nations will have to take their choice between joining hands and succumbing to Fascism.

Since England also realizes this, what could be more likely than an attempt on the part of the British government to secure an alliance, either actual, or moral, with the United States?

This Puzzling World
Edited by Milton J. Puzzletsar and Henry J. Riddleston

YOU may have heard the statement made, that under our system of presidential elections the candidate who polls a majority of popular votes may still lose the election to a weaker candidates. This is because of the fact that the number of electors from each state is not proportional to the population of the state. To understand how this comes about, consider the following oversimplified problem.

PUZZLE NO. 12. THE LOSER WINS!

Consider an imaginary federal union consisting of 10 states, 7,500,000 in each, and 40 states, 1,500,000 citizens in each. Every state elects two senators, every state elects one representative for each 300,000 population. Every state elects as many presidential electors as it has senators and representatives combined. Thus, each of the populous states elects 27 electors. Each of the smaller states elects 7 electors. All the electors of a given state vote for the candidate who carries their state.

Assume that in a given presidential election exactly 50 per cent of the population in each state votes. Assume that there are only two candidates, A, and B. The total number of votes cast is 67,500,000.

Show that it is possible for A to pull 52,499,920 votes, yet to lose to B, who pulls only 15,000,080 votes.

ANSWER TO PROBLEM NO. 10. THE TRAMP OF A BANKER

The banker and the chauffeur arrived home 30 minutes early. This means that the chauffeur met the banker 15 minutes before the time at which he usually arrives at Sausalito (thus saving 15 minutes to Sausalito plus 15 minutes going back to the place of meeting.) Since on this day the banker arrived at Sausalito 60 minutes before the scheduled arrival of his chauffeur at Sausalito, and since he met him on the road 15 minutes before the scheduled arrival at Sausalito, the banker must have walked 45 minutes.

RAM'S HORN

Student Urges Musicians To Organize Band

Editor, The Guardsman:

Our junior college has been in existence for some seven semesters but as yet we have no school band to entertain us at football games and the like. I have been told that such has been attempted without much success, but obviously there must be a reason.

At the last football game, namely the contest with Pasadena, we had to resort to Lowell High School to satisfy our yearnings. To me this seems a shame and a disgrace that this has to happen at an institution of more than 2000 students.

Success can be attained only by ambition. If the persons to whom this letter is intended do actually happen to read this, maybe it might stimulate a renewed interest. As the old adage says, if at first you don't succeed, try, try again.

—Jitterbug

* * *

Editor, The Guardsman:

The interest shown by the men and women of this college in student government is nothing short of miraculous.

At the assembly at Galileo last week which was called by Bob Fex, Associated Students president, for the purpose of amending the college constitution, the magnificent total of between 75 and 100 students attended, and how many were from Galileo?

Had it been a rally for a football game with promises of entertainment, you may rest assured that turnout would have been far greater, as was the case the following day.

It certainly is a sorry state of affairs when only five per cent of the college students are interested enough to appear for such an assembly.

The amendment, an excellent one, I think, was passed, but not very many may say that they had a hand in it.

—Loyalist

Presidential Notes
By Bob Fex

FRIDAY night, believe it or not, the college will entertain Modesto Junior College in a championship football game. The game will bring to a close the Rams' grid season and they will be defending the Northern California Junior College Conference championship, of which they are co-holders with Sacramento Junior College at the present time. Be sure and attend this game and root the team on to another championship!

We wish to inform all prospective basketball players who intend to play for the Rams next semester, that practice is now being held and you should get in touch with Coach "Dutch" Conlan at once.

Another item, the students of the college should start considering candidates for next semester's student officers. This is the most important matter that comes before the members of the student association. Make sure that all qualified student leaders are placed on the ballot by helping them fill out their petitions.

The executive council has set Friday, December 2, as the date for student elections, with the rally presenting the candidates being held on the previous day.

We are hoping that this semester will be the most enthusiastic and most closely contested of any elections held in the past.

It is up to you to be sure and have your student body card on the day of the elections and VOTE for your favorite candidates. The important item is to be sure and vote as we want to have the largest number of ballots cast this semester that have ever been cast.

Cloud Annexes Bowling Title, All-Events Class

Ace Pin-Smasher Finishes With 180 Average In Series

Howard Cloud, Ram bowling ace, gained the all-events title in the intramural championships which were completed last week at the newly-renovated Golden Gate Alleys.

Cloud was the winner of the open singles class with a 544, hit 575 in the doubles, and 500 in the team event for a total pinnage of 1619 pins and a 180 average for the nine games.

For his efforts, Cloud will receive a gold medal as the reward for his all-events crown and probably a pair of bowling shoes for winning the singles championship.

The doubles crown was won by Ben Papapietro and George Maslach who amassed 1026 pins to become easy victors.

Julius Victor

In the 126 class of the singles, John Julius emerged victorious, bowled games of 164, 168, and 163 for a 495 total.

The Sophomore team, captained by Ben Papapietro and manned by George Maslach, Shirl McCormack, Robert Archbold, John Gillmore, and Papapietro, eked out a 2110-2087 victory over Howard Cloud's Beta Phi Fraternity team who finished in second place.

Joe Grateful

Papapietro's lads will be awarded a medal and will also have their names inscribed on a perpetual trophy.

Joe Amori, Bowling instructor, said, "I would like to thank all those who participated in the championships. The event was a huge success because of the hotly-contested matches, the large turnout, and the interest and enthusiasm shown by both the bowlers and the spectators. I would also like to thank the firms that donated the prizes."

Bowling Results
SINGLES (Open Class)

Cloud	194	177	173	544
Julius	164	168	163	495
Schmale	186	151	142	479
Papapietro	171	170	128	469
Manfredi	161	160	136	457
Baciagalupi	161	153	122	436
Maslach	185	173	153	411
Stone	135	127	107	369
Smith	129	116	86	331
Waste	132	112	87	331

Water Poloists Handed Second O. C. Drubbing

Ram water poloists lost another tilt last week to the Olympic Club fourth team by the score of 11 to 4. Two weeks ago the second team thumped the Rams by a 14 to 9 score.

Without the services of Gene Carricker and Ian Stoddart, the Rams lost much of their scoring power and had to be content to score but two points in each half while their opponents held a wide margin at half time by a score of 7 to 2.

Norwood Forte, college left forward, led the scoring for the Rams by tallying three of the four goals. Mitchell Hoffman, off his game, was limited to but one scant field goal during the entire contest.

The switching of Marcus Hoffman, captain and goalie, to a forward position proved to be a distinctive error and the clubmen took advantage of the change and scored almost at will.

The Rams plan another invasion of the Olympic Club some time next week, the game to be played with the third team at the club pool.

Ram basketballers will go big time this winter. They're engaging the Young Men's Institute and Olympic Club on local doubleheader programs. The Y. M. I. and Winged "O" outfits are not exactly breathers, rating among the outstanding teams on the Pacific Coast.

SPORT Parade

Competition Runs High In WAA Tourney Week; Schedule Given

Competition runs high as mid-week Tourney events take their place in the initial program. The following program will be carried out today and tomorrow:

Wednesday, November 16
3:30 Archery, Fort Mason
8:15 p.m. Horse Show, St. Francis Riding Academy, 701-7th Ave.

Thursday, November 17
10:30 Tennis Doubles Finals, Palace of Fine Arts
11:00 Hockey Game, Funston Field
12:30 Swimming Meet, YWCA Pool
1:00 Golf Putting Tournament, Funston Field
4:30 Volleyball, Galileo B Gym
4:30 Badminton Games, Galileo A Gym
6:30 Tourney Week Banquet, Galileo Cafeteria

* * *

Because of the huge enrollment in swimming classes this semester the Swim Meet tomorrow ought to present enough variation and skill to satisfy any spectator. Freshmen and Sophomore teams have been organized, and a third team of Mission High School students will be present to provide further competition. The list of events includes a variety of strokes and dives such as, free style, crawl (form), spelling bee relay, racing back-stroke, side stroke (form), crew race, drill (lifesaving technique and form), diving (standing front, running front, back, jack, two optionals), and in conclusion a medley relay.

It is rumored that Polly Trenk, manager of the swimming club, will have refreshments served after the meet. Spectators are invited to come, there being a fairly large balcony at the pool.

* * *

Archers will meet this afternoon at Fort Mason range to play off their final tournaments. Movies in technicolor of the class in action will feature the day. Verril Weber, archery coach, took the pictures herself. Both the story of William Tell, to be reenacted with a stuffed head and the perennial apple, and novelty shoots with balloons as targets, should afford a popping good time. (Ha, ha, ha!) Climaxing the fracas the performers, hosts, and guests (Balboa High School students) will indulge in refreshments.

* * *

Unofficial Badminton matches will be played in the south gym at Galileo tomorrow afternoon. The club did not hold tournaments this semester but will take an active part in Tourney Week. Girls' High School students have been invited to the fun fest. It will be a social affair with an exhibition mixed doubles match and refreshments.

* * *

Tennis doubles finals will be completed tomorrow morning at the Palace of Fine Arts. Tillie Huddleson and Ann Bertolucci will vie with Betty Crysler and Jackie Kramer. Referees will be Bob Kuhn and Hal Wagner.

* * *

Freshmen and sophomore women are invited to come to the north gym at Galileo tomorrow afternoon and take part in the Frosh vs Soph game to be held there at 4 o'clock.

"The game will be purely competitive and refreshments served to the players," Peggy Starr, volleyball manager, announced.

* * *

Both the Hockey club and the Golf club have invited Polytechnic High School students to attend their Tourney Week events, to be held at Funston Field.

More than one billion pieces of United States mail will bear the special San Francisco cancellation mark, "The Golden Gate International Exposition, 1939" before the World's Fair opens February 18.

Close The Grid Season, This Friday Nite, With Good Attendance, Good Spirit. After All, The Team Played a Long And Hard Season.

ARMISTICE DAY HIGH LIGHTS AT KEZAR STADIUM

Potential Champions Greet 'Dutch' . . . Title-Bound Netsters Lick Bulldogs

Two All-Conference Aces At Monday Afternoon Turnout

Greeted by a potential championship quintet, manned by veterans at all positions and by all-conference men at two of them, Coach Louis "Dutch" Conlan started his "Kasaba Kings" on their way Monday afternoon when he called the first official practice of the new season.

"Kasaba Kings" they should be, with such hoopsters as Alex Opalinski, Ed Curcio, Hal Fischer, Willie Blackfield and either George Bedrosian or Jack Woolf constituting a starting five.

Opalinski, center, and Curcio, guard, are both all-conference men.

"Opal", last season, was the outstanding basketballer in the conference, while Curcio is a good defensive man who gets hot every once in a while and really rings up the digits.

Show Improvement

Hal Fischer, lanky guard and Willie Blackfield, short, speedy forward, are both experienced men having aided in the Rams' conquest of the Galloping Gaels of St. Mary's in the recent P.A.A. Tournament. Both show marked improvement.

Jack Woolf, formerly of U. S. F., George Bedrosian, a big, rugged lad who performed for the Conlanmen two campaigns back, and Paul Le Baron are waging a hot and heavy battle for the other starting berth.

Conlan can't possibly leave such swell basketballers as "Red" Burrowes, by far the most improved man on the entire squad, Tony Manov, Lou Rouspil, Henry James, Ed Archer, ex Cal. Aggie performer, and "Tall Tom" Pauli, six foot seven inches of center, out in the cold. These boys are good, the others—well just a bit better at this writing.

Six Two Average

With Opalinski, Curcio, Fischer, Burrowes, and Bedrosian in the game, the Powell Street outfit will tower about six feet two inches above the hardwood. With Woolf, Blackfield or LeBaron participating, the average height will be brought down considerably but will by no means make the team less effective.

The first real test will come on December 16 and 17 at Modesto when the San Franciscans tangle with other outstanding Junior College aggregations in a pre-season, statewide tournament.

Excursion boats from Treasure Island will circle the site of the California World's Fair and Alcatraz Island, famed Federal prison.

Wilson's Stalwarts Display Unnoticed Weakness

Tom Wilson's championship-bound tennis squad overwhelmed a strong San Mateo Junior College team, nine matches to three, in a practice encounter at the Palace of Fine Arts courts last week.

Wilson's stalwarts lost but one of nine singles, but displayed a heretofore un-noticeable weakness in the doubles, dropping two of the three tandem matches.

Hal Wagner, Ram ace and San Francisco city junior champion, added another win to his string of victories over Howard Morehouse, Bulldog star, with a surprisingly easy 6-1, 6-1 triumph.

Held Control

The chubby San Franciscan held control throughout the entire match, sending booming forehands and overheads past his peninsula rival, and never allowing the lanky San Mateo lad to get started.

Bill Canning, former Alameda player, came through for the Rams in the No. 2 spot, knocking over Carl Joost, 6-2, 6-4.

Canning had too much power and experience for his San Mateo foe, and won as he pleased.

Ray Berns and Bob Kuhn continued the San Francisco victory parade by overcoming Tom Daly and Earl Alderman, respectively.

Berns Lets-up

In the Berns-Daly affair, the Ram player suffered a letdown after getting off to a good start, and was down 3-1 in the third set before he hit his stride and won the set, 6-3, and the match, 6-3, 9-6, 6-3.

Kuhn, stylist of the Ram outfit, managed to defeat Alderman, 6-3, 7-5, in an interesting set-to which saw Kuhn overcome a 4-1 deficit in the second set.

Wagner and Canning had little difficulty in knocking off Morehouse and Livesay of the peninsula team, 6-2, 6-1, but Berns and Kuhn were submitted to a rude awakening when they bowed before Joost and Alderman, 7-9, 6-3, 6-4.

Wilson expressed himself as being pleased with performance of the squad, but indicated that shifts in the doubles combinations will have to be made.

Henry Ford and other internationally famous personages are to attend the World Congress of the Society of Automotive Engineers on Treasure Island at the World's Fair of the West.

College Bowlers Set Record As Redwood City Goes Down

Ram bowlers set some sort of a new record last Thursday night, when they rung up a series total of just 2542 overturned maples while defeating the Heiberg Juniors by 225 pins in a return match at Dodge's Bowl in Redwood City.

The barrage came in games of 868, 852 and 822, and exceeded the Amori-coached quintet's previous high by over 200 pieces of hardwood. The losers, led by Jack North, turned in a creditable performance, but were no match for the sizzling Ram keglers. It marked the fifth straight victory for the locals.

Kegler

HOWARD CLOUD
Bowling Champ Poses

American Legion Posts Present Flag To College At Armistice Day Game

In a ceremony conducted at the Armistice Day football game at Kezar Stadium, last week, a flag was presented to the college by the American Legion posts of San Francisco.

As president of the Associated Students, Bob Fex accepted the colors, at the same time giving thanks to the American Legion units of San Francisco for their generous gift.

The flag was presented by Dr. J. P. O'Brien, president of the San Francisco Council of the Legion. The San Francisco Council is composed of the 7th and 8th American Legion districts.

Speeches of thanks were also made by Paul Pitman, assistant to President Cloud and Dean Edwin Browne, himself a Legionnaire.

In order to obtain funds and make plans for the presentation, a committee was appointed last spring. It was presided over by Ed Sharkey.

Presided over by C. A. Markley, president of the 7th Legion district, the ceremony took place during the half of the Pasadena grid game.

Rams Seek Championship Tie In Modesto Encounter

RAMblings

Believe It Or Not, Ram Footballers Now Contend For Title

Having won two games out of eight so far this season, the Ram football squad now finds itself in the somewhat unnatural role of a contender for the conference title. A victory over Modesto this Friday night will throw Russ Sweet's men into a triple tie for the championship, along with Sacramento and Modesto. In other words, of the four teams in the league, three will finish on top and San Mateo will annex second place without winning a game. That would really be the pay-off, but, somehow, we can't bring ourselves to believe that it's very likely.

* * *

With basketball just around the corner, it might not be amiss to devote a few lines to considering the Rams' prospects for next season. At present, it looks as though Coach "Dutch" Conlan should have the next thing to a "wonder team" this winter, but, after what we said about the football team at the beginning of this semester, we're not going to venture any more predictions.

Nevertheless, the return of such ace veterans as Ed Curcio, Alex Opalinski, Lou Rouspil, Henry James, Red Burrowes, Paul Lebaron, Tony Manov, Tom Pauli, Will Blackfield, and George Bedrosian, is by no means discouraging to Mr. Conlan's hopes for a banner season. Workouts have been going on for some time, and practice is due to start officially in another week or so. Judging by the vigor with which the lads have been battering one another about the court in practice sessions, competition is going to be mighty keen for places on the first five.

* * *

In answer to those who have been requesting that we discover the real age of the "Mystery Man" and basketball flash, Tony Manov, we present the following information: Tony inadvertently admitted the other night that he has spent over $1000 for commute books since leaving high school, to journey from his East Bay home to work or to school in San Francisco. At $6.50 a month, that's $78 a year—figure the rest of it out for yourself.

* * *

Anyone desiring to secure a tuxedo for the Soph Formal is advised to see Hal Fischer, so-called basketball player, who recently announced, in a fit of pride, that he possesses more of these garments than anyone else in the college, and that he is willing to bet money on it.

* * *

Keeping up with the times: The Block Dance will be long remembered by those who can remember it . . . Bob Kuhn and Hal Wagner, tennisers, have a novel wager on the outcome of their next match . . . Hugh Waite has been making his yell-leader's uniform do double duty on a couple of recent occasions . . . saves wear and tear on the pajamas . . . In what band is Ray Diehl playing second fiddle to Bill O'Neill? . . . Burrowes and the Weasel have pffft . . . Nate Wolf is said to be going into the cleaning and dyeing business on a large scale . . . Boitano is still hopping around on one foot to save his injured knee . . . It might have been worse, though; he might have been hit in the face . . . We wonder what Charlie O'Brien, Mel Chicazola, and Les Mullins were doing at Sixth and Mission last week . . . Probably none of our business, anyway.

Pirates Will Enter Fray Favorites To Defeat Local Lads

By Dick Simpers

In a last desperate effort to salvage some of the prestige they have lost during the past season, Coach Russ Sweet's Ram footballers collide with the Pirates of Modesto Junior College next Friday night under the lights at Seals Stadium. A win for the locals will throw them into a three-way tie for the championship of the Northern California Junior College Conference.

The Modestans will undoubtedly rule favorites, in view of their recent victory over Sacramento, a team which holds a 25 to 7 victory over the Rams. An upset, however, looms as by no means improbable, since the Pirates were unimpressive in beating San Mateo by a score of 6 to 0, the same count by which the Sweetmen downed the Bulldogs in their early-season encounter.

Triple Tie Possible

In the event that the Rams win, there will be a deadlock for the title between Sacramento, Modesto, and San Francisco. Should they lose, the crown will automatically go to Modesto, with three wins and no losses in conference competition.

Leading the offense of the invaders will be Jack Ramey, quarterback, and Gus Hildebrand, fullback, who sparked the Pirates to their victory over Sacramento. Veterans from last year's team, which lost to the Rams 14 to 0, are John Pranevicius and Manuel Rozario, tremendous guards, who are being prominently mentioned for all-conference berths.

Doing the punting will be Stan Cox, end, who drops back in punt formation, and Ramey, who attends to the chore when Cox is not in the game. Both are famous for their ability to drop the ball into "coffin corner".

Tackles Return

Opening for the Rams will be Bud Wiechers and Frank Davenport at ends, Bob Schoenstein and Adrian Carignani at tackles, Gomer Jones and Neil Swanson at guards, and Mel Peterson at center. In the backfield will be Frankie Verducci at quarter, Les Mullins at right half, Ed Baber or Bob Fex at left half, and Johnny Verducci at fullback.

Also expected to see plenty of action are Fran Gray, end, Jim Connors, half, Stan Bierwith and Jack McCullough, tackles, who have finally returned to the fold, and Jack DuFosse, versatile lineman who plays either center or guard.

Modesto Line-up

A tentative starting line-up for Modesto includes Stan Cox and Stew Cox, famous father-and-son combination, at ends, Willy Rickert and Pace Palleta at tackles, John Pranevicius and Manny Rozario at guards, and Douglas Maben at center. Backs will be Hildebrand, Ramey, Louis, Mazzuchelli, and Don Toland.

The Rams are expected to be greatly hindered by the absence from the line-up of Walt "Swordfish" Boitano, who is still suffering from a leg injury, and is not likely to see action. Much reliance is being placed on the powerful right arm of Bob Fex, ace passer, and the magic toe of Wiechers, deadly place kicker, who will attempt field goals if given the opportunity.

Contributions of Western States to the automotive industry will be depicted in the Ford Building at the 1939 California World's Fair.

San Francisco Generous Host; Guests From Pasadena Dish Out 33-0 Beating

Although the sun was brightly shining elsewhere in San Francisco last Friday, a dark cloud hovered over Kezar Stadium as Jackie Robinson, Pasadena Junior College's great "Midnight Express" led his Bulldog team-mates to a 33 to 0 victory over Russ Sweet's Rams.

Robinson personally scored two of the Southerners' five touchdowns, passed for a third, kicked [illegible] conversions, and occupied his spare time in running up a total of 150 yards gained in just 11 shots at carrying the oval. Altogether Pasadena rolled up 330 yards gained against the Rams' 73. First downs were split, 12 to 5, the Bulldogs maintaining the edge.

Little time was wasted by the Southern outfit in denting the scoring column. the board reading 6 to 0 before the game was two minutes old. After the Rams had received the kick-off and run a couple of plays which got nowhere, Hanrahan kicked to Jack Robinson, who fumbled and was finally stopped on the Bulldog 24.

Red Robinson made nothing at left guard and then Jack started around right end. When he finally stopped, he had rambled 76 yards and marked up the first tally. A bit breathless, perhaps, from his exertions, his try for the extra point was a bit wide.

Number two came with the first quarter a little more than half over. Jack kicked to Connors, who fumbled, Captain Frank Spratt recovering on the Ram 7 for the Pasadenans. The two Robinsons put the ball on the one, and left-half Dick Sieber contributed his bit of ball carrying for the day by crashing over right guard for the score. Jack made this one good.

(Continued on page 4, column 5)

Club Advisory Board To Elect New Officers At Noon Thursday

Meeting Called For Room 104 In Powell Building

All club organizations are urged to have a representative at the meeting of the Club Advisory Board tomorrow in Room 104 at the Powell Street Building. The purpose of the meeting is to hold elections for next semester's officers. The meeting will start promptly at 12 o'clock, said John Julius, president.

• • •

At a meeting held last Thursday of the Hotel and Restaurant Management Society, final preparations were made for securing future tilts for the organization's bowling and basketball teams.

The Society's bowling team is entered in the current college bowling tournament. Team members, Sterling Silver, Bill Dewey, Bob Klinger, Bill Chittick, Clark Chittick, and J. Graham Sullivan are making some enviable scores.

The group is planning on presenting a college rally, with the assistance of Hugh Waite, some time in the near future.

• • •

Alpha Gamma Sigma . . . college honor society, will hold an informal luncheon at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the social committee of the society said.

All members are asked to attend as plans for the remainder of the semester will be discussed. Sandwiches and cake will be served with coffee or tea to those who attend.

Entertainment for the meeting will be furnished by Virginia Keefer and Bob Scott in a vocal duet. A soprano solo will feature Agnes Koras. Kay Sadanaga will play a piano solo. The meeting will be an important one and all members are urged to attend by President Al Graves.

• • •

Beta Phi . . . everybody is cordially invited to attend the whist party given by the Beta Phi fraternity tomorrow night at the Park-Presidio Hall. "After the Big Game November 19, the fraternity will hold a dinner dance and anyone who is interested in attending will please see me," said Howard Cloud, president.

"We have challenged the other fraternities to an inter-fraternal bowling match," concluded Cloud.

• • •

Chinese Club . . . all Chinese students are invited to the "student rally" given by the University of California Chinese Club, November 23 at 9 p.m. The place for the meeting will be on the campus—the exact place to be announced later.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Yang Hui-Min, heroine of the "doom battalion" incident, and C. L. Peng, National Y.M.C.A. Chairman of China. Plans will be made also at the rally to organize a student conference for next year.

The basketball game between the college Chinese Club and the Y.M. C.A. Scouts last week was won by the college players. The final score was 33 to 27.

November 18 at the University of California, the Chinese men and women of both colleges will have two separate basketball games.

• • •

Le Cercle Francais . . . will meet at the home of Helen Hansen tomorrow at 8 p.m. . . . 1515-26th Avenue . . . Accessible by cars No. 7 and the N. "All members are urged to attend because final arrangements for the dance are to be made at this meeting," announced Helen Garbe, president.

• • •

Tri Epsilon . . . being the victorious winners of two basketball games this season, the Tri Epsilon fraternity has challenged the Beta Phi and the Iota Chi to games before the semester is over.

The men play basketball every Wednesday night in the gymnasium at Aptos Junior High, and upon a week's notice will play any basketball organization in or outside the college.

• • •

Pi Mu Gamma . . . next meeting will be on Wednesday, November 23, at 7:30 p.m. at the new permanent club house. Dr. Philip Levin will speak on dentistry and will show motion pictures. A hike to Treasure Island was enjoyed November 13, by club members and the dinner dance at Club Lido on Thursday, November 10, was a great success, according to members.

• • •

Forestry . . . will hold a meeting today. Members will be entertained with a talk given by Maxwell E. Beecher, government representative at Timberline Lodge, Mt. Hood, California. The club decided to change its name to the Foresters' Fraternity. A banquet to be held after finals is being planned.

• • •

Rifle and Pistol Club . . . after finals, election of club officers will take place with the newly elected president holding a Christmas party, which will bring to a close the social and shooting activities of the organization for the semester.

• • •

Home Economic Association . . . members are urged to attend the meeting to be held today in Room 317 at 2:15 p.m. to discuss plans for a German evening to be spent at the Civic Auditorium to hear Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, and later to enjoy a German dinner. Plans will also be discussed for a Christmas dinner to be given after finals. Members are requested to look at the bulletin board at Powell Street for further notices.

• • •

Phi Beta Rho . . . last Thursday night the ten Phi Beta Rho pledges were initiated into the sorority at the Palace Hotel, which was followed by a dinner dance.

The formal initiation ended the pledges' "Hell Week" of which Jerry Fisher and Janet Falconer were in charge.

Louise Kiddie, Betty Chrysler, Janet Ball, Virginia Pearson, Lois Coleman, Helen Culp, Dorothy Obernesser, Margaret Jack, Claire Dugan, and Adele Kuhn comprise the new sorority members.

• • •

As a means to raise money for their annual scholarship, the Women's Service Society met last Monday to discuss plans for a telephone bridge and whist party to be held November 25, at which prizes will be awarded, according to Marjorie Wright, WSS president.

Also discussed were the possibilities for the WSS to have a party for out of state women of the college. Claire Presley, Gloria Miller, Jackie Kramer, and Phyllis Learned comprise the committee for this party.

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

CLASSES	DAY	HOUR
8 o'clock MWF and Daily	Friday, Dec. 16	9 a.m. to 12 m.
8 o'clock T Th	Thursday, Dec. 15	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.*
9 o'clock MWF and Daily	Wednesday, Dec. 14	9 a.m. to 12 m.
9 o'clock T Th	Tuesday, Dec. 13	8 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.
10 o'clock MWF and Daily	Monday, Dec. 12	9 a.m. to 12 m.
10 o'clock T Th	Thursday, Dec. 15	11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.
11 o'clock MWF and Daily	Thursday, Dec. 8	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.*
11 o'clock T Th and Daily	Tuesday, Dec. 13	11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.
12 o'clock MWF and Daily	Friday, Dec. 9	9 a.m. to 12 m.
12 o'clock T Th	Thursday, Dec. 15	8 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.
1 o'clock MWF and Daily	Thursday, Dec. 8	9 a.m. to 12 m.
1 o'clock T Th	Friday, Dec. 9	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.*
2:30 o'clock MWF and Daily	Monday, Dec. 12	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
2:30 o'clock T Th	Tuesday, Dec. 13	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
3:30 o'clock MWF and Daily	Wednesday, Dec. 14	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
3:30 o'clock T Th	Friday, December 16	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
4:30 o'clock MWF, T Th, Daily	Friday, December 16	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

*Rooms at Galileo for these examinations will be assigned later.

SULLIVAN TO SPEAK ON HOTEL MANAGEMENT AT JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER

J. Graham Sullivan, co-ordinator of the Hotel and Restaurant Division, will speak tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. before an audience at the Jewish Community Center, Presidio Avenue and California Street.

Sullivan will discuss the hotel and restaurant industry as a field for young men tomorrow and will explain the functioning of the hotel division of the college.

The speeches presented to the division by leading men and women in the industry every Tuesday have been extremely successful. Students are showing a vast interest in the information these leaders have to offer them, according to Sullivan.

Harry Butler, manager of hotels, restaurants, dining room, and news service departments for the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, addressed the division yesterday. His detailing of conditions and operations in dining cars was of great interest to the students.

With the advent of the larger five cent milk bottle served by the cafeteria, has come a tremendous increase in sales. Students are urged to take opportunity of this increase in portion at the prevailing five cent price.

As a special feature, menus to be served in the cafeteria on specified days may be printed in future issues of The Guardsman.

PACIFIC RELATIONS

(Continued from page 1)

thinking on world affairs and to develop tolerance, understanding, and interest among the students of the various races and opinions represented. Conferences are held each year to give students an understanding of the problems that confront the Pacific area. Speakers on many interesting subjects attend the conferences and lead discussions.

Tarbuth Society . . . next meeting will be held on Thursday, November 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Daniel Rosenblat, 79 Casa Way. There will be a discussion on the "Treatment of the Jews in the United States as Compared With Europe". Harold Hoffman and Leonard Gross will be the speakers.

Plans have been made by the group for a social gathering on December 3.

• • •

Army and Navy Club . . . with a definite goal in view, the members of the Army and Navy Club are working zealously to make their newly launched toy and book drive a huge success. The drive has been extended to last until Christmas, when the toys will be distributed. Several members have obtained lists of needy children from the various social service organizations.

Gordon Soliman, president of the club, appealed to all students to aid in making the drive a success by contributing any toys or books that are in good condition. He also called for volunteers with automobiles to aid in distributing the Christmas presents.

The next meeting of the group will be held on November 30, at the home of Walter Thompson, 533-14th Avenue.

Ex Council Debates Awarding Passes For Circle Blocks

Whether or not winners of circle athletic awards should be entitled to life passes to athletic events of the college was the main topic of discussion at last week's meeting of the Executive Council.

Recommendation was made by the Athletic Council that all circle men, who have received awards for minor sports, receive the same passes as those issued to block men, who have won major sport awards. Under the present system all block men receive passes entitling them to admission to all Associated Students' athletic events, and these passes are good until revoked. A decision was not made. Further discussion of the question will be continued tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. in Room 257 at Galileo.

At present, major sports are listed as football, basketball, baseball, tennis and track, while soccer, crew, swimming, and junior varsity basketball are designated as minor sports. Soccer has been restored to the status of a major sport, by the Executive Council, since the team plays in what is considered a representative conference. This also came in the form of a recommendation from the Athletic Council.

Park Reports

Margaret Park, head of the committee appointed early in the semester to investigate the possibility of reducing book expenses, reported on the findings of the committee. Its recommendation, based upon information received from other colleges and junior colleges throughout the state, was that an attempt be made to establish a student book exchange, operated on a non-profit basis, where students could exchange books which they no longer needed for ones which were necessary to them.

According to Miss Park, the Women's Service Society will be asked to cooperate in the foundation of this exchange, and steps are being taken to get the movement under way with all possible speed.

Speeches To Seniors Will Be Continued

Having been successful at George Washington High School, the good will speeches will continue to be presented, according to James S. Hughes, speech instructor in the college.

The speakers will continue to emphasize the college's extra-curricular activities, vocational courses, radio engineering, insurance, and restaurant management.

The following speakers were selected from the speech classes: Floyd Laurence, Herbert Crow, Pamela Wright, Carol Blumenburg, Irvin Silberstein, Jim Henry, Peg Park and Stanford Jurvig.

The purpose of the speeches is to acquaint the high school seniors with the opportunities of this college from the student's point of view.

NEED A TYPEWRITER? . . .

Rent REMINGTON NOISELESS TYPEWRITERS at same cost as noisy machines . . . All carriage widths, type styles, keyboards . . . Also standards, portables . . . Rental from manufacturer guarantees QUALITY.

Remington Typewriter Division
Remington Rand, Inc.
509 Market Street Phone: DOuglas 8600

LEARN "CONTRACT BRIDGE" . . .
— A Social Necessity —
Beginners class opens Monday Evening, October 10, 7:30-9:00
NORTHERN CALIFORNIA BRIDGE STUDIO
530 MASON STREET near Sutter
ARTHUR WATERMAN, Culbertson Associate SUtter 9558

WAA ELECTIONS WIND UP TODAY AND TOMORROW AT POWELL AND GALILEO

Elections for officers of the Women's Athletic Association will be concluded today and tomorrow. The polls are situated at the check room at Powell Street from 9 o'clock until 2 and in the south gym at Galileo High School from 2:30 o'clock to 4:30 in the afternoon.

Nominated for president are Dorothy Sanderson and Pauline Trenk; vice-president, Annette Schunick and Virginia Hein; secretary, Muriel Grenelle and Elvira Oberti; treasurer, Thursa Scott and Phyllis Learned.

"Anyone can vote who belongs to the WAA this semester," president Margaret Park announced, "or if she was a member last semester."

Sports managers will be elected next semester in class periods a few weeks after the semester starts so that women will be better acquainted with the nominees. Results of the election will be announced tomorrow evening at the WAA Banquet.

Serving on the election committee are Lourine Calcazno, Marion Dickie, Lucille Jacke, Helen Garbe, Sylvia Wall, Viola Gibson, Helen Culp, Mary June Schendel, Marjorie Radke, Florence Brunink, Ladonna Callahan, Carol Pickering, Helen DuBois, Margaret Park, Peggy Starr, and Helen Godman.

Time Slips Due Tomorrow For NYA Compensation

Officials of the National Youth Administration have announced that the present pay period ends tomorrow November 17.

"The next pay period will begin on Friday, November 18, and pay checks will be issued approximately 10 days after the first period," said Edward H. Redford, college NYA director.

PASADENA GAME

(Continued from page 3)

At this point the Pasadena seconds came in and there was no further scoring in the half, frequent penalties nullifying the Pasadena attack, and the Rams being content to play a kicking game.

Dan Wiechers kicked off for San Francisco to start the third period, and Jack Robinson returned to the Pasadena 47. In seven plays Pasadena had tallied again, two passes, a 21-yard toss from Jack to Ray Bartlett and a 9-yard toss also from Jack to Bartlett doing the majority of the damage, the last scoring. Jack again kicked the extra point.

As soon as they got their hands on the ball again, the Bulldogs' machine powered down to a fourth score, the two Robinsons doing all of the ball carrying, Jack cutting over right tackle from the 14 for the score. He kicked the extra point and the second string went in.

The final score came late in the last period after George James, fourth-string half, had intercepted a pass by Dan Baker and been downed on the Ram 16. It was one of three passes intercepted by James in the fourth quarter.

Floriculture Education Committee Discusses Landscape Training

Election Forecasts, Play Review In Current Magazines At Library

Play of the week for San Franciscans is T. S. Eliot's poetic drama, Murder in The Cathedral, which re-examines the medieval conflict between Church and State in some of the finest verse in modern English literature. Most persons think of Eliot as being a lyric and reflective poet of intense force, however in the writing of this play he has proven himself capable of writing lines which are speakable.

The play itself concerns events of twelfth-century England, and students studying history of this period should be interested in reading the reviews of the play as they reveal highlights contemporary with the period. These reviews may be found in the April, 1938, edition of Theatre Arts Monthly and the April 8, 1936, edition of The Nation now available in the magazine section in the P. G. and E. study hall.

Pre-election comment found in Time and Newsweek for November 14 is extremely interesting in the light of the returns from the nation's polls. The seemingly unsuspected rise of G.O.P. forces in the election just past was in reality not so unexpected. However, the defeat of Frank Merriam by Culbert L. Olson was to the political observers very much of a surprise.

College students are once more urged to take advantage of the opportunities afforded them by their library. "This column has served to inform many students of our facilities, and I hope that more men and women of the college will take advantage of these facilities," Francis E. Colligan, library director, said.

Registrar Declares Holiday Rumor False

Wednesday, November 23, is not a college holiday as is commonly supposed, Teachers' Institute will be held on that day and it applies to instructors of elementary, junior high and high schools, and not to instructors of the college, therefore classes will be conducted as usual. However, Thursday and Friday of that week, Thanksgiving week, are holidays and the college classes will not convene.

Group Organized To Help Newest Practical Course

To train students to be able to enter the field as actual workers was declared the main purpose of courses in horticulture by the members of the Educational Advisory Committee in the field of Floriculture at a meeting last week in the Galileo Cafeteria.

The advisory committee is composed of the faculty and administration representatives of the nurserymen, florists, and garden clubs in Northern California. J. Graham Sullivan, coordinator of the Hotel and Restaurant Management Division, is also coordinator of the Floriculture courses.

Course Has Contacts

"The main objective in vocational training courses is industry need and industry acceptance," said Mozelle Milliken, instructor in the Hotel Division. "The Horticulture course has very good contacts with both the unions and employers and with outstanding persons in the flower and gardening field. Among the prominent persons in the field who have been very helpful in the work of the floriculture course is Anita Day Hubbard of the San Francisco Examiner. Miss Hubbard has publicized the floriculture courses in a manner calculated to create a favorable impression for students of the profession."

Members of the advisory committee were given questionnaires covering the following details: the number of new employees in the floriculture field; what practical value to the industry is the vocational training program in the college; would you employ students, acceptable to the industry, who were graduates of such a program; minimum age for employment; how long should the training program be. The results of the questionnaire are being used by Sullivan to improve the Floriculture course.

Notables Attend

Present at the meeting was Lovell Swisher, president of the Southern California Horticultural Society, who is working on a committee for floriculture courses in the schools of Los Angeles. Also present were President Archibald J. Cloud, Paul M. Pitman, assistant to President Cloud, P. H. Brydon of the Botanical Gardens at the University of California. Miss Hubbard, Jean Boyd of the San Francisco Garden Club, and several members of the florist's and nurserymen's associations.

Largest flying boats in the world, the new Boeing 72-passenger Clipper ships, which are military Flying Fortresses equipped as a commercial planes, will be on exhibit at the 1939 California World's Fair.

ROOS SHOP

It's nice (and practically necessary) to have a

CASHMERE SWEATER

And it's nicest to have one of these new square-necked ones . . . pure cashmere in swell-elegant colors . . . and not sky-high in price.

Roos Bros
MARKET AT STOCKTON

Community Chest's Annual Drive Has Begun, Have You Given!

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

The Guardsman

SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Essay Contest Deadline Nears; Prepare Your Paper Now

Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1938 No. 13

Bob Blackwell Chosen To Lead Advisory Board

Hoffman, Trood Elected To Posts; By-Laws Adopted

Election of Bob Blackwell as president of the Club Advisory Board was upheld at yesterday's meeting of the group following a report by an investigating committee chosen as a result of last week's election fiasco.

A set of by-laws governing qualifications for securing charters and membership in the Board were adopted. It is believed with the acceptance of the new code of laws a sound foundation for the Board has been established.

Also elected yesterday were Harold Hoffman, representing Pi Mu Gamma, vice-president; and Dorothy Trood, Alpha Phi Omega delegate, secretary.

Investigation was brought about by the confusion which developed during the election last week of a Board president for next semester. It was questioned then whether several organizations, apparently officially recognized by the Associated Students, were technically eligible for membership within the Board.

A committee, composed of Chairman John Julius, Dave Johnson, Bill Switzer, Dorothy Trood, and Fred Vast, was appointed to investigate the situation. The committee met Monday and made its report to the Club Advisory Board yesterday afternoon.

The problem confronting the investigating committee was the eligibility of the newly-elected Board president, Bob Blackwell representing the Chess Club. Blackwell was elected president, defeating Howard Markovitz, officially representing the George Washington Society. After the result had been announced, a question was raised as to Blackwell's eligibility with the claim that the Chess Club had not renewed its charter.

Argument immediately developed, when it was shown that technically all clubs should have renewed charters this semester to be eligible for membership within the Club Advisory Board. No charters, however, have been renewed by the Board.

Other business at Thursday's turbulent session was the adoption of a constitution, recommendation for the chartering of three organizations—Tarbuth Society, Music Club, and George Washington Society—to the Associated Students Executive Council, and the announcement of the selection of James Hughes as faculty adviser to the Board.

Hoshiyama, Pilgrim Named To Represent College At Pacific Institute

Fred Hoshiyama, member of the Japanese Students Club, and Dorothy Pilgrim, member of the Peace Society, will leave for Napa county tomorrow to take part in the thirteenth annual conference of the Student Institute of Pacific Relations.

The students were appointed to officially represent the college by Associated Students President Bob Fex.

The Institute is student controlled and administered, and convenes each year during the Thanksgiving holiday for the purpose of discussing problems of the Pacific area.

"Student direction assures the continued aliveness of the institute," Gertrude Bolton, chairman of the Education Committee of the Institute of Pacific Relations and college instructor, said. "The aim of the conference is the discussion of individual viewpoints regarding the social, racial, cultural, and political problems of the Pacific," she explained, "informality is the keynote of the discussion groups and 'bull sessions' which last far into the night."

Topics for the round table discussion will be: Conference Process led by Robart Young; Economic and Social Conflict in the Far East directed by John Oakie; European Influences in the Far East led by Robert Galletti; Americas Role in the Far East guided by George Gibbs; Racial Minorities in California under the leadership of Ted Ohashi, and Labor Scene on the Pacific Coast led by Frank Pestana.

Hi-Jinks Shatters Lid Off Sophomore Week's Festivities

Mass Entertainment With Local, Outside Talent Assures Variety

By Isadore Maloff

Shattering the lid off the already overflowing festivities of Sophomore Week, the Sophomore Hi Jinks, entertainment superb, is well destined to send to a flying start one of the biggest weeks of entertainment in the history of the college.

Set to open Sophomore Week just seven days from now, the Hi Jinks committee, in an effort to start things off with a bang, is promising and arranging for entertainment galore.

No ordinary Hi Jinks will this be. If committee members are successful in rounding up all the entertainment already provided for, it will be the biggest conglomeration of assorted entertainment ever presented by this college under the "big top" of the Galileo Auditorium.

Variety Promised

Mass entertainment will be provided to fulfill every taste for different amusement for those welcome individuals who come to the Hi Jinks at 8 p.m. next Wednesday night. Entertainment from every field of artistic endeavor has been arranged for, so intent is the committee on opening Sophomore Week with a BANG.

All students are invited to attend. Also invited are all the parents of the students of this college.

Burlesque Scheduled

One of the features of the Hi Jinks will be the presentation of another of those inimitable Schmale "burlesques". Prominent characters about the college, including such unsurpassed thespians as Bob Fex, the Verducci brothers, Hugh Waite, and Kenneth Pasquallete will emote. One of the short three acts in this skit will be a sequel to the highly successful Joe's J. C. drama of last semester.

Musical entertainment will be provided by the men's chorus, and the A Cappella Choir who will join in the singing of the Alma Mater.

Queen To Be Presented

The co-ed whom the college has chosen as queen, will then be presented to the audience in all her finery and attended by her maids of waiting.

Talent from outside sources will comprise the largest part of the evening's festivities. Song and dance teams, accordion solos, male quartet renditions, and a girl's tap dance routine will comprise some of this feature of the evening's entertainment.

McChrystal, Smith On Program

As sport feature of the evening, Art McChrystal, sport's director of the San Francisco World's Fair, will appear with Ernie Smith, popular commentator, in a short interview with the college coaches.

Biggest of the many attractions, will be the appearance of Bob Saunders, his orchestra, and his lovely vocalist Norine Folan. Saunders will also play at the Sophomore Formal later during the week.

WILL IT REIGN NEXT WEEK?

Here are the six seekers of the Sophomore Sweetheart title. It's a difficult proposition—because its up to you to designate which of the lovely ladies will reign over Sophomore Week. Reading from left to right they are: Dixie McCormick (inset), Peggy Park, Barbara Randall, Marie Hoeger, Margaret Meader, and Frances Herndon. See story below on directions for voting for your choice.

AWS Holds Tea Dance Honoring High Sophs Next Thursday At Century Club

Honoring high sophomores, and featuring the music of Warren Ringen and his orchestra, a tea-dance for men and women, sponsored by the Associated Women Students will be held December 1, from 4 to 6 p.m. in the Century Club, 1355 Franklin Street, according to Miriam Dunne, AWS president.

"Plans for the affair are as yet incomplete," Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser, announced, "but we have decided that the customary one student body card per couple will grant admission."

Special musical numbers selected from college talent are to be featured during intermissions, and for refreshments punch and cookies will be served buffet style.

"Although the dance is in honor of high sophomores, all classes are cordially invited to attend," Miss Dunne said.

Among the special guests to be invited are wives of faculty members.

Hostesses for the occasion will be as follows:

Lois Rasmussen, Evelyn Lacy, Marie Heiser, Helen Huber, Janet Ball, Rita Bann, Ruth Graham, Barbara Randall, Nancy Ross, Jane Mitchell, Barbara Curryer, Marie Hoeger, Lorraine Johnsen, Margaret Meader, Jean Collins, Tekla Rigoli, Marjorie Wright, Isabel Parker, Shirley Peterson, Nancy Ross, Helen Hickey, Norma Decker.

Marjorie Pomeroy, Hazel Boynton, Betty Roth, Marie Solomon, Janet O'Leary, Joy Anna Mack, Ruth Healy, Ruth Alexander, Helen Bartells, Margaret Park, Muriel Mills, Sue Muether, Carol Blumenberg, Mary Sarratt, Patricia Keefer, Lois Gipson, and Dorothy Gilberg.

Student Refugee Finds Difficulty Adjusting Herself To Ordinary Life

By Bill Frantz

Sitting in her Chemistry lab, Eva Smith (real name omitted for obvious reasons) was repairing her classmates' laboratory aprons. She looked the part of a typical junior college student. The first indication that she was not American born was her slight Luise Rainer accent.

Eva, a refugee from the German religious persecutions, has been in the United States about a year. However, her grammar is far more correct than that of the average college student.

"I have to get used to ordinary life again after living under a dictatorial government," she said. "You see, the entire aspect of life for the German people has altered since the government changed hands.

"The most noticeable change is in the attitudes of the people—there is a psychological factor, which is best seen in the youth of the country. This has been brought about by the propaganda taught in the schools. Psuedo-scientific theories are expounded to the children, with small bits of truth scattered through these theories, making the whole racial prejudice theory sound true.

"Education is controlled by the government, the press is controlled by the government, and almost every other form of expression is controlled by the government."

Throughout the interview Eva was trying hard to prevent the bitterness she felt from showing in her quiet voice. She succeeded quite well, the only indication of her feelings was the occasional rise of color in her face when she mentioned some of the incidents in her memories of school in Germany.

"Jewish children in Germany are not permitted to carry on normal cultural activities. While I was in school in Germany there was little personal insulting. The only really ardent supporters of the Hitler regime are the children of the civil service workers.

"Civil service includes all the important industries in the country. The railroad is the largest employer. It, too, is government controlled and quite a few of the employees had children in my school."

Voting For Sophomore Sweetheart Closes At 4 o'Clock This Afternoon

By Sylvia Wall

Sweetheart time is here! Step right up and cast your vote.

Sophomores today are inviting the entire student body to help them elect a sweetheart to reign over events scheduled during next week, which is their much-planned and long-awaited Sophomore Week. We know you're probably in a daze as you gaze on the dazzling array of prospective sweethearts.

But pull yourself together long enough to deposit a ballot either this morning in the ballot box placed downstairs in the checkroom of the Extension Building or this afternoon in the courtyard of Galileo High School.

Perhaps it's that girl looking so coy-like and demure who appeals to you or maybe it's the gal with the smile. Anyway why not help her win the election? Just think what it will mean to her!

Beauty Runs Rampant

The six college co-eds pictured above represent, in the estimation of the organizations sponsoring them, the essence of feminine glamour, attraction, and personality.

Alpha Pi Omega presents as its candidate Frances Herndon. The Newman Club is supporting Marie Hoeger. Dixie McCormick is being backed by the Army and Navy Club. Lambda Chi has entered Margaret Meader. The Women's Athletic Association is supporting Peggy Park. Beta Phi and Phi Rho are boosting Barbara Randall.

It takes something like a beauty contest or sweetheart contest to bring to the public eye the particular beauty assets that members of the fair sex possess.

Look and Notice!

Have you ever noticed that in Peg Park's natural wavy hair, brown is tinged with red? . . . that Margaret Meader blushes as prettily as she does easily? . . . that Frances Herndon's dimples and perfect teeth are a swell combination? . . . that Barbara Randall's eyes are sometimes green and at another time blue? . . . that Dixie McCormack, plus her once-heard-never-forgotten southern accent, has old-fashioned green eyes? . . . that Marie Hoeger has laughing Irish eyes?

Stanley Tobiason and his able High Sophomore committee will take charge of the election. As each student casts a ballot his student body card will be stamped so as to prevent any stuffing of the ballot box. Voting will close at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

NYA Pay Checks Will Be Issued Next Monday

Pay checks for the members of the NYA will be issued Monday, November 28, it has been reported by the organization official.

It was further announced that NYA students are not required to make out new blanks for the second semester.

Edward H. Redford, director of the administration, has requested all members of the faculty who wish student assignments changed, to contact him immediately. "If there are no requests for changes, the positions will remain as in the past," said Redford.

Fex Credits Judicial Body With Eliminating Crowded Dance Conditions

Convened for the fourth time since its formation, the Judicial Committee met last week to decide on the cases of several students found guilty of lending their student body cards to outsiders for the recent dances.

The offenders were deprived of their cards for varying periods of time, and those who failed to appear when summoned forfeited the cards altogether.

Headed by Bob Fex, the committee is composed of Betty McAllister, Margie Wright, Howard Cloud, and Dick Simpers, and has jurisdiction over all violators of student body rules or regulations.

Fex expressed his belief that the activity of the committee has been in a large part responsible for eliminating overcrowded conditions which formerly prevailed at student body social affairs, because of the practice of lending student body cards promiscuously.

"Thanks to the efforts of the Judicial Committee," Fex said, "the undesirable situation which formerly existed has been almost entirely abolished. The presence of a disciplinary body has brought the students to a realization of the seriousness of their offense, and has resulted in a marked improvement over last semester."

Cash Prize Awaits Winner Of Song Contest

Unidentified, a song writer of prize winning ability is at large on the campus.

A $3.00 cash prize for winning the recent bond election contest is still unclaimed because the student who submitted the winning song is unknown. Dean Edwin C. Browne said, "If the writers of songs which were entered into the contest will contact me I will be able to discover the identity of the winner."

The bond election contest which was held during the "Vote for 4" election, was instigated to obtain posters, songs and poetry to be used as "propaganda". Three $3.00 cash prizes and a ticket to the Sophomore Formal were offered by Dean Browne to the best contributions. All the winners have been selected with the exception of the unknown composer.

A wallet looks pretty fine stuffed with three dollar bills, so will the hidden artist please step up?

Council To Present New Amendment To Constitution

Revision Provides For Life-Time Passes To Minor-Sport Men

Another amendment to the constitution of the Associated Students was recommended last week at the meeting of the Executive Council, and will be presented to the student body in a general assembly on December 1, at the time the candidates for student body office are presented.

This amendment, if approved, will provide for the awarding of life-time passes to all winners of athletic awards, both major and minor. At present, only block men who have won letters in major sports receive the passes, but this amendment will entitle winners of circle blocks to the same privileges.

Athletes Recommend

The recommendation came from the Men's Athletic Council to the Executive Council in the form of a motion from Treacy Slattery, Block SF Society President and representative of the Athletic Council. The motion read as follows:

Amend Article IV of the by-laws, Section 4C, to read: The Men's Athletic Council which shall be empowered to make recommendations to the Executive Council for the awarding of life athletic passes to all major and minor award winners who are members of the Block Letter Society of the College.

Students To Attend Convention

Also voted during the session of the Executive Council was the sum of $20, this sum to be used to send two representatives of the college to the Student Institute of Pacific Relations conference tomorrow.

The Council decided that the flag presented to the college by the American Legion during the Armistice Day ceremonies at Kezar Stadium should be placed in the custody of the Army and Navy Club, at the request of the group's sponsor, James S. Hughes.

Recommendation of the Club Advisory Board that three new organizations be granted charters was considered, and the applications were approved. The societies to be chartered are the Music Club, the George Washington Society, a Masonic organization, and the Tarbuth Society, a Jewish club.

Students Desiring Work During Vacation Requested To File Applications

F. Grant Marsh, business department chairman, announced Thursday that students desiring to work during the Christmas vacation should file their applications with the California State Employment Agency immediately.

Students aged 21 and more, applying for jobs will be referred to the Senior division which is located at 155 Sansome Street; those less than 21 are to apply at the Junior division at 1690 Mission Street. It has been specified that the best time to call is before 3 p.m. on Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday, or in the morning.

Since Christmas is drawing near, the call for students, especially in package wrapping and delivery service will undoubtedly be great. Therefore, Marsh stresses the point that those desiring jobs should file their applications as early as possible.

New Psychology Course Introduced By Leuenberger

Psychology Z, a course corresponding to a new one to be introduced at the University of California, will also be given at this college next semester by Harold W. Luenberger, instructor.

This new class concerns the fields of general psychology, and its purpose is to give the social science majors another choice in psychology. Students may take it in place of psychology 1B, or they may include it between psychology 1A and 1B. It cannot be taken if psychology 1A and 1B have been completed.

Julius Appointed To Supervise College Elections

Novel Electoral System Proposed By Bill Switzer

With John Julius appointed chairman of the election committee, President Bob Fex announced early this week that candidates for Associated Student offices for the spring semester will be presented at a nomination rally next Thursday, December 1. Elections will be held the following day.

Appearing at the nomination rally will be candidates for the office of president, vice-president, secretary, and yell leader of the Associated Students, and for presidents of the Associated Men Students and Associated Women Students respectively.

At the time The Guardsman went to press Frank Verducci, football player and president of the Low Sophomore class, was the only announced candidate for the office of president.

Many Yell Leaders

For the office of vice-president, Miriam Dunne, Associated Women Students president, will compete with Frances Herndon, Alpha Gamma Sigma member, and Betty Crysler.

Jane Mitchell, at present, is unopposed for re-election to the office of secretary.

Competition in the yell leader field is keen, with Art Premarls, present assistant yell leader, Mel Chieazola, football player and last semester's assistant, Ray Berns, sports writer and tennis player, Bob Owens and Shipley Prugh, former assistant yell leaders having equal support.

Howard Cloud will again run for the office of AMS president. He will be opposed, it is said, by Ed Murphy, popular musician.

Aspiring to the leadership of the AWS are Marie Heiser, of the Alpha Phi Omega, and Barbara Currier, of the Women's Athletic Association.

Switzer Proposes System

Seeking to increase the number of votes cast, the "Committee of 200", headed by Bill Switzer, presented a new electoral system to be taken under consideration by the Executive Council. The system provides for voting in the classroom, using individual ballots, the filled out ballots being placed in an envelope and sealed by the instructor, and brought to a central office for count.

"It is expected that this new system will be carried on at the most populated class hours so that the entire student body will not be obliged to go out of their respective ways to cast a ballot," said Switzer.

Petitions for any student body office should be filed in Dean Browne's office by Wednesday afternoon, November 30.

11 Scholarship Offers Open To Students In Calif. Institutions

Eleven university and college scholarships are open to students of the college for the year 1938-39.

Local colleges included are the University of San Francisco, which is offering a one year tuition of $150, Mills College, which is giving a one year tuition of $400, and Dominican College of San Rafael, which is contributing a one year tuition of $200.

"Lists of scholarships will be in the registrar's office next week and all students interested may obtain a list," said Alice C. Cooper, of the English department and adviser to Alpha Gamma Sigma, scholarship honor society.

Many other institutions are presenting opportunities to students. The College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons in Los Angeles is offering a two year tuition of $825, while the College of the Pacific is presenting a scholarship which will allow for a one year tuition of $280. La Verne College is providing $50 each for four semesters, Occidental College, and Whittier College are also submitting scholarships of varying amounts of one year's duration.

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1938 No. 13

FRED VAST..........EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser — Joan Nourse
Business Adviser — Edward H. Redford

Dick Simpers..........Assistant Editor
Bill Frantz..........News Editor
John Julius..........Sports Editor
Ray Berns..........Ass't Sports Editor
Carol Pickering..........Women's Editor
Dorothy Trood..........Club Editor
Sam Galstaun..........Staff Photographer
Fred Bentley..........Business Manager
Paul Judson..........Advertising Manager

REPORTERS

Ethan Bernstein, Bob Fex, Lois Gipson, Leonard Gross, George Hoffman, Dave Johnson, Adele Kuhn, Isadore Maloff, Charles Martin, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Ed van der Veen, Sylvia Wall, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Thanksgiving, Yes— With Reservations

ONCE more the time for thanksgiving is with us. As the Pilgrim Fathers did more than 300 years ago, we do today—give thanks for the successes of the past year.

Tomorrow we can be thankful, as we were last year, that America still lives in peace, that democracy is still the code of the land. Although we can still pride ourselves with these attributes, reflection will reveal that our peace and democracy is much less secure than it was a year ago.

The advance of the forces of war and fascism in the past year both abroad and, to a certain extent, at home, means that this year thanks must be given with determination that the condition of peace and democracy shall not be forced to make any more retreats.

Besides the continuance of the Sino-Japanese and Spanish wars, Austria and Czechoslovakia have been sacrificed to tyranny and destruction — fascism. The Rome - Berlin - Tokio axis strengthened itself at the expense of vaccilating democracies. Fascism made signficant gains in central Europe. The arms race has been accelerated to an almost impossible speed.

In the United States civil liberties were flagrantly violated several times. Frank Hague's Jersey City is the outstanding example of dictatorship; it is the very antithesis of democracy and freedom. California has had its share of un-American incidents—the wholesale eviction of striking workers from the cities of Westwood and Nevada City and the accompanying terror promoted by vigilante bands. Two hundred per cent Americans in their pay-triotic endeavors have shown an amazing amount of bigotry and intolerance with groups with which they are in disagreement.

These are but examples to illustrate the retreat of democracy and with it peace. As war and dictatorship are inseparable so are peace and democracy, one goes with the other. Where peace is threatened there is also a danger to democracy.

The most vital concern of the Pilgrim Fathers when they gave thanks was their economic status. Their crops were successful and so they were satisfied. Economically, America cannot be thankful. There are still some ten million persons unemployed. There are millions more who have only the bare necessities of life—food, clothing, and shelter. But is that sufficient? How about the cultural aspects of life that a good portion of this country have no opportunity to enjoy?

Yes, America can be thankful for what it has, it is the richest country in the world, it has a comparatively high standard of living, and still has peace and democracy.

But America can never be genuinely and permanently thankful so long as poverty and riches live side by side, when a good portion of its population is in a miserable state of existence, when there is no security for the aged and little opportunity for youth, when its peace and democracy are threatened at every step, when freedom in many instances in many localities does not exist.

In short, America has the resources, the quality and the ability to solve these problems, so that it may become a country "of, for and by the people" in every sense of the world. That is the task now: to improve the United States, and no one will deny that there is room for improvement, until it becomes free and prosperous for all the people. When such a state can be reached, then we can approach happiness. Until then we must strive toward that goal.

Hitler Takes Germany On A Roman Holiday

PARTICIPATING in the greatest religious persecution since the days of the Romans, the followers of Nazi-ism have proved themselves to be either barbaric, uncivilized humans recognizing no God or creed and resorting to savagery as an outlet for suppressed emotions, or weak-minded individuals susceptible to the ravings of mad leaders clamoring for blood and power.

It is indeed a sad state of affairs when youths are banned from schools, marriages are dissolved because one of the parties is non-Aryan, men are forced to contribute entire fortunes to the government, songs and poems are banned because written by Jews, and "men of God" are dragged from their pulpits because they dare raise their voices in protest against a government controlled by narrow-minded despots.

The Nazis, after partaking in disgusting exhibitions of cruelty in the past few years, still have the NERVE to ask for colonies lost in the settlement of the World War.

Certainly, a government that has proved itself so stupid and ignorant as to be unable to control internal troubles without reverting to primitive measures, should not be allowed to govern half-"civilized" peoples in distant parts of the globe. Nazi "executioners" would run rampant, and have a "Roman Holiday" at the expense of terrified savages.

What the German scientists, writers, and philosophers have done throughout the years to develop a progressive Germanic civilization, has been torn down by the present regime with a few acts of folly and ignorance.

It is up to the free-thinking, free-speaking, peace-loving democracies of the world to band together against the Nazi state and prevent that country from expanding until it has proved itself capable of handling domestic affairs in a civilized manner.

—R. B.

Supporters of College Deserve Consideration

THE people of San Francisco were unquestionably very considerate of the needs of our San Francisco Junior College as shown by the splendid manner in which they turned out at the polls and cast some 95,000 votes in favor of the school bonds.

It is only right that we as a junior college should extend ourselves to cooperate with citizens of San Francisco and show them our appreciation. Although there are many ways in which this cooperation could be evidenced, we have an outstanding opportunity to establish ourselves in the hearts of our people by reducing to a minimum the sometimes confusing and troublesome parking problem around the Galileo high school.

Excess blowing of horns and unnecessary noises caused by over enthusiastic individuals have been cited by our friends in the immediate vicinity as disturbing influence. It is most unfortunate but inescapable that our afternoon campus is confined to the Francisco Street sidewalk.

It is hoped that the former extra cooperation of our student body will continue to the end that there will be no cause for unfavorable reactions from the community.

From various sources in this city and also from distant junior colleges we have received some very fine compliments on the excellent conduct of our thousands of students who have adjusted themselves so admirably to our present embarrassing physical set up.

Would it not be a splendid investment if the example of each student would not elicit unfriendly criticism from our good neighbors?

E. C. BROWNE,
Dean of Men

THIS PUZZLING WORLD

Edited by Milton J. Puzzletsar and Henry J. Riddleston

PROBLEM No. 13. A WORMY PROBLEM

BOOKWORMS, as you know, are worms that like to eat books—the more ponderous the better. A certain bookworm, browsing through the public library, spotted a particularly juicy morsel, the well-known three volume work on Jitterbugs by Professor Crabbe.

The bookworm, after a careful look up and down the corridor, to make sure the librarian wasn't around, dived into the first volume, and started eating. He began at page one, which is the usual place to start, and ate right through to the last page of volume three, always going in the same direction, in a straight line, and even eating through the cover of a book when he came to it.

These three books were each two and one-quarter inches thick, the covers themselves being one-eighth inch in thickness, therefore the pages of each book making up the other two inches.

How far did the bookworm travel from the time he started eating at page one of volume one until he arrived at the last page of volume three?

* * *

ANALYSIS OF PUZZLE No. 12. THE LOSER WINS!

The total number of electors is 550. The candidate who wins more than 275 electoral votes carries the election. This will happen if one candidate carries all the small states.

Assume that every voter in every populous state votes for A. That gives him 37,500,000 votes and 270 electoral votes. Assume that in every one of the smaller states B gets four more votes than A. That gives him 160 more popular votes than A gets in these 40 states. A gets 14,999,920 votes from these states, but no electors. B gets 15,000,080 votes and 280 electors.

Net result: A gets 52,499,920 votes and 270 electoral votes. B gets 15,000,080 votes and 280 electoral votes. B wins the election.

Cabbages & Kings
By Blue Pencil Bill

THE search for the best looking teeth in the college is ended—Hal Fischer, handsome basketballer, admitted to members of the team that he is the possessor of the college's prize bicuspids.

* * *

"COMMITTEE OF 200"

Remembering that the previous elections for student body officers received the votes of about seventeen per cent of the students enrolled at the college, a group, calling itself the "Committee of 200", has been formed to find a solution to this heretofore unsolved problem.

These lads and lassies have gone to work with a lot of vigor and dug up several new electoral systems. They also remembered that the main reason for the small number of votes cast was due to lack of voting facilities.

We think they are right in this respect. We are ashamed to admit that we did not vote last semester because we weren't going to wait at the end of the line to reach the voting machine. Well, the committee's plans call for a change in this system—and that's what we want!

The committee figures that through the new election system it will be easier to vote, that the elected officers will represent the college and not the seventeen per cent minority, and every student will feel that he has a voice in the student government.

The committee is unofficial and formed under its own initiative. We wish you luck, fellows and gals—you'll probably need it.

The above article is NOT a paid political advertisement.

* * *

BIG MACHINE

"Dutch" Conlan "took over" the football team a few weeks back. He made the following speech to the members of the squad. "Remember men that each of you is a cog in a great fighting machine. And every machine has to have nuts as well as cogs . . ." That probably explains the presence of Ed McGovern and Temple Davies on the team.

* * *

OXFORD MOVEMENT

Page four of The Oxford Students' Dictionary of American Songs:

"When A Jolly Noble Chap Gains The Acquaintance Of A Young Lady Whose Sobriquet Suggests A Thoroughly Charred Piece Of Wood."

"Dear Lady, I Observe A Distant Expression In Your Visual Organ."

"I Shall Shackle My Pulmonary Organ And Discard The Instrument By Which One Could Unshackle It."

* * *

ON THE "H" CAR

A prim old maid sitting on a seat all by her lonesome, reading a book. We paused a moment before sitting down to see what she was reading—the title of the volume was "How To Get Your Man and Hold Him"—she sensed that someone was gazing over her shoulder and looked up quickly at us. We nonchalantly seated ourself while she hurriedly closed the book and ditched it under a pile of packages on her lap. We wouldn't say that she blushed because she was much more crimson than the word "blush" covers.

* * *

ANSWERS TO SON TITLES:

"When A Prince Of A Fellow Meets A Cinderella."

"There's A Faraway Look In Your Eye."

"I'm Gonna Lock My Heart And Throw Away The Key."

Sartorial Modes
By Fashion Fanny

WHAT all the women are talking about at this particular time of the year are the clothes they will wear to all the holiday parties and festivities.

Holiday time features bright flowers and there's a crisp note of winter in the air. The designers of smart clothes have caught this theme and have designed some ideal costumes for the holidays.

COLOR, METALS PROMINENT

Bright color is the thing, and nothing could be smarter than a metallic top with a silk skirt that is full. Dubonnet-flecked with silver and a dubonnet skirt is very smart. One costume that a smart shop in town is showing and that is the metallic blouse that resembles a lumber jacket. Very chic and something a little bit different from the ordinary. The princess style in plain colors such as red, green, black, and American blue are going to be very prominent in this holiday fashion parade. One thing outstanding on this dress was the buttons which were fashioned to resemble grapes in clusters.

Latest in the form of evening wraps are the new bunny-fur boleros. They are especially chic with the high waisted formals.

GRECIAN FOR EVENING

Chiffon, slipper satin, and net play an important part in evening wear this winter and many of the stores are again featuring the Grecian type. The hoop skirt is also in the parade.

Christmas time, one sees people running around thinking of presents for their friends, and we came across an ideal one for a perfume connoisseur. Charbert was inspired by the thunder of hoof beats and the race track at Longchamps to create a new and exciting scent. Grand Rux, this delightfully new and refreshing perfume comes packaged in a stirruped leather boot.

One never has too many gloves and one store in town is featuring some exclusive models for oh, so very little.

WHO? By MacKillop

. . . while thinking . . .
By Leonard Gross

ONCE again the ever-working Community Chest has begun another and even greater drive. We consider it only fitting at this time to devote some space to this hard working organization.

A brief resume of the purpose of the Chest would not be amiss. The Community Chest was originally begun for the express purpose of providing sufficient funds to take care of needy cases. This includes orphans, cripples, invalids, the poverty stricken and the aged. The chest also provides hospital, clinic, and nursing care, child welfare, and in short, anything that can be termed as needy.

For several years the organization has been carrying on great work. There is a real need for the Community Chest. Various welfare agencies that have been helped by the chest had heretofore been living a hand-to-mouth existence.

CHEST PROVES EFFECTIVENESS

Many unfortunate persons will testify to the work of the chest in caring for them. Some of the most prominent citizens of San Francisco have always backed the Community Chest. Joseph P. Nourse, superintendent of public schools, in a recent letter said:

"Our government has determined that no one in this land of opportunity go hungry. Equally as important as substenance is the satisfaction of a human being's longing for that moment of spiritual uplift—that moment of personal betterment—that is his right. San Franciscans are willing that everyone should be afforded this opportunity, and have organized one of the most effective Community Chest's in the United States to administer such a program."

COLLEGE SHOULD MEET APPEAL

We of the college have been prone to disregard or ignore the importance of the Community Chest movement. This is entirely the wrong attitude to take. The cry for help from needy human beings is universal and should appeal as much to us as it should to anyone.

The drive to obtain more funds ends Friday, December 2. If you have not already done your part, do so now. Remember, when we needed more funds for a new junior college the citizens of San Francisco gave them to us. Now, many citizens, and even children, need our help.

Let's give it to them!

RAM'S HORN — Timepiece For Study Hall Requested

A GOOD IDEA

Editor, The Guardsman:

Possibly if officials of the P. G. and E. Building library realized how much the short-lived timepiece was appreciated by students during its one week stay, something might be done to obtain another.

Not only was it visible from one room, but during half-hour intermissions students from the adjoining room were given an opportunity to guess between which two hours it was, each time a mellow "bang" reverberated.

To request two clocks would probably be a little risky, but please may we have the old one back again?

Or approaching differently, it isn't just curiosity to know the hour that prompts this request. It isn't jealousy because our neighbor has a watch and we are not as fortunate. It is simply a horrible fear of arriving late to class.

Lois Gipson

* * *

MUSICIAN ANSWERS

Editor, The Guardsman:

An answer to the organization of a band for the football games may be vague to you as well as many of our students. May I offer you the correct explanation?

I have tried to organize a band. The first try was successful, our "Ram Swingsters" are the result. My second try the following year was unsuccessful, only 5 students were interested. Our third and last attempt to organize was held this semester. There were 20 students who were willing to take an active part.

A time to practice conflicted with too many schedules. No instructor was in charge of the class and the students who were trying to organize the group didn't have the time to put in the extra work.

If a definite time were set for band under a capable instructor in the next year's schedule, I am sure we could organize a college band. Yes, I'll try, try again.

Drum-major

* * *

BEAUTY DESIRED

Editor of The Guardsman:

Having recently returned from Continental Europe where beautiful ladies are abundant (quantity), I am appalled at the representation of beauty, or should I say lack of beauty in our institution?

With few exceptions I can say that beauty in women is absolutely lacking. (The gals that read this sentence will of course not be offended because they will consider themselves the exceptional).

Something must be done!

Granted that the "species of the muscle" are not Adonis'—we deserve a better fate than this.

As to the "Queen Contest"—As a famous connoisseur of beauty once said—quote, BAH, end of quote.

Sincerely, hoping for a remedy,

J. P. P.

P. S.

My name will not be furnished on request.

AFTER DARK
By John Ward

THE Wayfarers' production of Othello was far and away the best of their current Shakespearian repertoire. Being a play primarily concerned with talk, it is a better vehicle for Little Theatre work than the gigantic proportions involved in such a play as Macbeth.

OTHELLO SUPERIOR

The acting in Othello was, in many ways, superior to that displayed in the previously seen performance of Macbeth. There was not so much unevenness among the leads, not that insecure feeling that comes when an actor just misses fire. Iago was a stunning creation, a keen and artistic work, admirable throughout the evening. So was the Emilia of the play, and so, too, was Cassio at times. But the Othello of Jack Thomas seemed to be over-acted to the point of inarticulateness, giving over the impression that Mr. Thomas was a bit over-shadowed by the proportions of the part.

On the whole, Othello is the most finished and the most satisfying work we have seen the Wayfarers present.

* * *

PLEASE COMMUNICATE SURPRISES

One of those infrequent surprises came when we attended a performance of Please Communicate at the Green Street Theatre. The author, Ettore Rella, has written one of those significant—we borrow the phrase—modern plays—a combination of O'Neill, Dos Passos and Joyce. This is not to say that he has failed to be original. Hardly that. Please Communicate is full of new and very telling devices.

His use of the counterpointing of character—each person of the acted play has a counter-part on a second, lower stage; another person who tells what is either in the mind of the person on the stage, or what threatens that person, etc.—is the first sensible and artistic use we have ever discovered for what is literally the old aside. For one thing, it doesn't stop the action or falsify the play, and it also presents the author with a medium that is especially adaptable to rich, poetic symbolism, at least as used by Mr. Rella.

* * *

LOCAL TALENT IMPRESSIVE

As to the performance itself, we neither knew nor would have believed if we had been told that there were so many good actors in San Francisco. Casting a play that calls for some 30 or 40 actors, the San Francisco Theatre Union found one of the most adequate and distinguished casts we've ever seen. In any play hereabouts. Many of them were so good we marveled that they were still "local talent" so to speak and not of the better class of professionals.

To be sure, this group is primarily interested in the drama of the proletarian writers. They have done Bury the Dead, the Black Pit and Of Mice and Men in the recent past. Please Communicate is a study of social conditions in a small town. The emphasis is upon the inability or the non-desire of people in such a god-forsaken small water town actually to say what they think. They have, in the words of the play, forgotten how to communicate with one another.

(Continued on page 4, column 7)

Presidential Notes
By Bob Fex

THANKSGIVING! Let us all give thanks that we are lucky enough to have a two day holiday, so that we may use a little of this time to prepare ourselves for our finals. It will be to everyone's advantage to use this time and not wait to cram at the very last minute.

Congratulations to Margaret Park for a very successful termination of WAA activities.

We must again remind those who are intending to run for student body offices that they should immediately get their petitions for elections and have them filled. These petitions may be secured in Dean Browne's office. They must be turned in before the nomination rally that is being held Thursday, December 1.

The election committee for this semester is already chosen. John Julius, president of the Club Advisory Board, is chairman, and he will be assisted by Barbara Randall, Margaret Park, Stan Tobiason, and Ben Papapietro. The elections will again be run with the regular voting machines, with the polls open all morning at Powell Street and then again in the afternoon at the Galileo High School Building.

This should make it possible for everyone to vote, and we would like to see a record vote this semester. So everyone hunt up that student body card and bring it to school Friday, December 2 and VOTE.

This week instead of orchids we are giving the drumstick off of our turkey, and it goes to Miss Nourse for her patience in waiting for this copy.

GUARDSMAN SPORTS

Columnist Schmale Gives Highlights, Summary Of Sports Season

RAM CHOPS
By Jack Schmale

Now that Ram football, 1938 edition, has been placed away in the musty files, a few random comments on the recent season might not be amiss in these lines.

First of all, it is our honor to bestow those prized all-expense tours to the Island of Forgotten Souls (one way tickets of course) upon each of the cynics in this institution who persisted in doing nothing but criticize the Ram footballers, their play and their coaches all season.

Is it logical to believe that a guy goes out for football, or any other sport for that matter, with the idea that he won't even try his level darndest, here or at any other school? We don't think so. And since it seems evident that the local gridders actually did their level best, is there anything more that can be demanded of them? If you can think of anything else, just clip the coupon appearing in The Guardsman issue of July 32, 1999, and send with it 27 bottles of Coca Cola turned inside out, and a sponge rubber bowling ball will be mailed you free of all charge except a sales tax of $99.99. Prices slightly higher west of the Rockies.

* * *

That football attendance figures are mounting higher each year for the Ram grid showings is an encouraging sign. Despite the poor record of the team, which is usually a blow to the box office, just about 17,000 fans watched the six local Ram contests this season. This exceeds last year's onlookers by more than 5,000. Next season, with the World's Fair at its height, and the city overflowing with visitors, the mark should soar skyward, and pigskin prosperity should show up with it.

* * *

One of the more believable theories for the disappointing football season was the goodly build-up handed the Powell Street gridders before their initial appearance. Advocaters of this theory would have you conclude that the advance publicity placed too much pressure on the football boys, overconfidence thus setting in. Let us therefore not hamper the forthcoming casaba product of "Dutch" Conlan, except to enlighten anyone who gets this far that the cagers will get their first real test in the big Junior College tournament to be held at Modesto December 15 and 16.

* * *

Among the more potent propositions suggested at random campus bull sessions since the last issue were two bearing signs of definite merit. Stan Tobiason would have every able bodied male in the college enlisting in a gigantic intramural basketball tournament, with fraternities, classes and clubs sponsoring teams. The other, voiced by Joe Amori, who instructs in throwing bowling balls and lefts 'n' rights, is a proposal for a mammoth fisticuffs display.

Amori's idea would invite other institutions to send boxing teams to an impressive intercollegiate tournament, staged on the same order as the Golden Gloves, and other such amateur tourneys. This could really be a great thing. In time, if given a respectable send-off, it probably would be accepted as an outstanding annual attraction to boxing fans of San Francisco. Might be a fine field for developing and discovering some Olympic Games talent for 1940.

* * *

The final official matter of football importance is the annual all-conference eleven. More a matter of formality, and definitely political, the 1938 selections will be emulated from the Conference meeting within the next couple of weeks. Mel Peterson should get the center spot, and one other San Francisco gridder will be chosen. That's a prediction. It might be George Jones, Neil Swanson, "Bud" Weichers or Johnnie Verducci. But at any rate, all-conference teams are just that way. San Francisco will be entitled to two or three positions even if every other team in the league were stronger at those same positions. Politics, boys, just politics.

* * *

According to word received from Block SF Society Prexy, Treacy Slattery, the monogram men are to sponsor a gigantic program, featuring the initiation of new men into the organization.

On December 5th, the initiation of the neophytes is to take place. This will be an all day ceremony and will be followed by a banquet at one of the best down town eateries.

The following day, December 6, is to be "Block SF Day". On this day the athletes are to play the faculty in a game of softball, which will be immediately followed by a Block SF rally, which is to feature the presentation of awards and letters.

The committee in charge of initiation is composed of Mel Peterson, chairman, Dave Johnson, Frank Nilan, Art Nelson and Ray Berns.

Jack London will be honored during "Valley of the Moon Day" at the 1939 World's Fair of the West next August 13.

Rifle Teams In New Victories; Shoot High

Two consecutive victories opened the shooting season for the college Red rifle squad, while the Blues had less luck, winning their first match but dropping their second.

Coach Bill Hancock's Red team, captained by Bill Gibson, beat the Sunnyside Post, American Legion, 850-800, in the season opener, two weeks ago. This was followed by a decisive win over the San Francisco Surf Club, last week.

In their opener, the Blues, captained by Marion Schrick, had little trouble beating the weak Surf Club, 765-650. However, they couldn't boost their total fast enough and, consequently, were taken by the Sunnysides, 806-782, last week.

Outstanding shooters of the Reds have been Charlie North, Bill Gibson, and George Humphrey who consistently make the high five.

In practice, however, the other Reds; namely, Hart, Stewart, Cavagnolo, Templeton, and Julius have been hitting the 170 bracket and are expected to crash the high five in future matches.

The next league match will be December 1 between the college Reds and Blues, who oppose each other for the first time in college shooting history in a regular Small-Bore Association match.

SFJC Reds — 850		Sunnyside — 800
North	175	Dunne	173
Humphrey	173	Hayes	166
Gibson	169	Dyer	160
Cavagnola	167	Kunsl	151
Julius	166	Bopp	150
SFJC Reds — 885		Surf Club — 752
North	179	Reme	156
Templeton	178	Mingram	155
Humphrey	177	Brown	154
Stewart	176	Stevens	145
Gibson	175	Lincoln	142

Water Poloists Announce Retirement For Winter; To Compete In Springtime

Starting out brilliantly but ending up in reverse, the college's first water-polo team last week announced its retirement from competition for the winter season and its intention to hustle into condition for the spring swimming season.

The team ended its season last week by taking its third setback from the Olympic Club team. It was the second defeat handed to the Rams by the club. The other blotch on the record was made by the California Freshman team at the beginning of the season. Early season wins over the Jewish Community Center and the Y.M.C.A. made up the remainder of the schedule.

Hopes for a strong swimming team next season are high as six of the members of last year's team return for competition. Veterans expected back are: Mitchell Hoffman, Norwood Forte, Donald DuBain, Bill McManus, Norman Lazzerus, and Bob Kahn.

Two of San Francisco's finest high school swimmers may attend the college next semester, namely Henry Paris, Galileo and Crystal Palace star, and Horace Hosmer of George Washington and the Olympic Club.

TOURNEY WEEK—CLIMAX OF WOMEN'S SPORTS

Tourney Week, held recently by the Women's Athletic Association, saw a large number of co-eds competing in a varied list of sports. Basketball, Hockey, Archery, and Badminton, shown above, were but a few of the activities. Miriam Frazier, in the inset, is shown executing a jacknife dive.

Rams Victims of Breaks As Modesto Annexes Championship in 21-0 Defeat

Despite the fact that they played their best game of the season, the Ram footballers were unable to present retiring Coach Russ Sweet with a championship tie, as they went down to a heartbreaking 21-0 defeat before Modesto's Pirates at Seals Stadium last Friday night.

Believe it or don't, the statistics give San Francisco a decided edge, and had it not been for costly miscues, Sweet's lads could have had a tie and possibly a victory.

Outgain Pirates

The Rams outgained the Pirates on the ground and through the air, and accumulated eight first downs as against Modesto's six.

Modesto's only real show of power came early in the first quarter when the Pirates marched from their own 25 yard line to the Ram four, where the San Franciso defense stiffened and held for downs.

Eddie Baber supposedly kicked out of danger to the Ram 49, but on the first play with the Pirates in possession, Bradley, Modesto half, knifed through a relaxed San Francisco line, and went the distance for the first Pirate touchdown. The conversion was good, and the score, 7-0.

The second Pirate score was a gift, unwillingly contributed by Bobby Fex.

Ball Deflected

With but ten seconds in the first half, and the ball resting on the Modesto 20, Fex dropped back to pass. The Ram back was rushed by five Pirate linemen, one of whom deflected the ball as it left Fex's hand into the arms of a team-mate. Paletta, Pirate tackle, who rambled 70 yards for the score.

In the fourth quarter, San Francisco once again proved itself a good host.

Behind 14 points, the Rams elected to gamble, and Eddie Baber, local halfback, passed from behind his own goal line.

Toland, Modesto back, intercepted the pass, on the Ram 15 yard line, and dashed the distance without a hand being laid on him.

Two Chances

Twice, the San Francisco squad was within striking distance of the Modesto goal line, but on each occasion, failed to come through.

Johnny Verducci recovered a fumble by Bradley on the Pirate 11 yard line in the middle of the second quarter.

Fex hit for two, Baber—no gain, a pass, Verducci to Baber, good for two yards, a pass, Fex to Molich, incomplete. Pirates take over - threat stopped.

Through the virtue of recovered fumbles, and pass interference, the Rams were on the Modesto 10 yard line in the fourth quarter.

Bad Pass

In three plays, Johnny Verducci and Jim Conners advanced the pigskin to the three yard line where it was fourth down and three yards for a touchdown. At this point, however, Verducci fumbled a bad pass from center and was forced back to the San Francisco 18, where he was swarmed over by a multitude of Pirate cut-throats.

To single out any one player on the Ram squad individual mention is well-nigh impossible, for all were out their fighting as hard as they could. If any individual need be singled out, let it be lineman Frank Davenport, who played a heads-up game at end, and backfieldman, Johnny Verducci.

Razzle-Dazzle Attack Fails Gaddy's Lambs

Although featuring a razzle-dazzle passing attack rivaling that of the famed Texas teams, Coach Jack Gaddy's Flying Lambs dropped a 13-7 decision to the Mission High Bears at Galileo field last week.

During the first half of the ball game, the Lambs looked unstoppable, out-gaining their opponents and scoring a touchdown and conversion in the second quarter to take a 7-0 lead.

Mattson Intercepts

Hal Mattson, Lamb fullback, intercepted a Mission pass and ran it back to the Mission 20. Aleo, San Francisco halfback, passed to Temple Davies, sterling Lamb end, who was forced out of bounds on the Bear two yard line. Mattson required two downs to buck the ball over for the score, and then Aleo passed to Davies for the conversion.

In the third quarter, Marshall Leong, Mission's Chinese fullback, passed to Tony Klotovich, Bear halfback, for a gain of 25 yards to the Lamb 15. From that point, Klotovich and Leong alternated in cracking the line, until Leong carried it over for the tally. The Bears converted, and the score was 7-7.

Rams Gamble

With but three minutes in the game, rather than be content with a tie, the Lambs gambled, and practically presented a touchdown to the Bears.

The Lambs were in possession of the ball, fourth down and 10 yards to go on their own 40 yard line. Instead of kicking and playing safe, they elected to pass with the result that Leong intercepted the pass on his own 40 and ran it back 60 yards for the score.

Aleo, Davies, Mattson, Prugh, and Johnson were outstanding for the Lambs, while Klotovich and Leong did yeoman's work for the victors.

Junior Varsity Practice Started Last Monday

Coach Tom Wilson announced that practice for his Junior Varsity hoopsters will start Monday, November 21, at the Funston Field House.

"In announcing practice for the squad I would like all prospective players to understand that this team is open for all men in the college who consider themselves too small for varsity competition," stated the Jayvee mentor. "Practice is held daily from 1 until 2:30 p.m. in the afternoon. Those players who show sufficient promise are promoted on to the varsity squad."

Returning veterans around whom Coach Wilson expects to build his team include Hugh Ryan, center, forwards Bob Owen, and George Cohen, and guards Dan Van DeSant, Ethan Bernstein and Floyd Lawrence.

RAMblings
College Baseball Material Definitely Promising, Says Simpers
By Dick Simpers

With the football season over, and soccer a thing of the past, attention is now centered on basketball, while a few far-sighted individuals look forward to spring athletics, prospects for which have assumed a somewhat rosy tint.

The baseball squad, under Jack Gaddy, possesses some definitely promising material, with several sturdy veterans returning, while the tennis team appears to be headed for its third consecutive title.

Outlooks for crew and track are not quite so cheerful, but there is always the possibility that some good material may crop up unexpectedly. Anyway, it's far too early to venture a prediction now, so we'll let it go at that.

* * *

Probably one of the greatest potential players on the Ram grid squad is Eddie Baber, number 66. A left halfback, Baber was on the injured list much of the season and, consequently, did not see a great deal of action. On the few occasions that he did play, however, he flashed enough ability to warrant keeping an eye on him for next season. In our humble estimation, he looks like a cinch for all-conference.

Last week's WAA horse show was featured by the yeoman work of several members of the Block Society who undertook to act as ushers at the affair, which was one of the outstanding athletic and social events of the semester.

Decked out in white suits with cute red ribbons attached, the lads scurried busily about, passing out programs, saying "This way, please," and decorating the walls of the arena.

There was one breath-taking moment when it appeared that Fex was certain to go down beneath the flailing hooves of a young stampede, but the husky prexy, showing surprising agility for one of his bulk, managed to sidestep in the nick of time and make his escape.

* * *

Gym jottings: Frankie Nilan turned in a nice job of officiating at last week's game between the Lambs and Mission High . . . Floyd Lawrence is a much-improved basketballer . . . We understand there's to be a ski club in the near future . . . Jake Waxman promises to become one of the greatest basketeers in the history of the college; he's been running wild during practice sessions.

Soccer Team Goes Down; Defeated By Bulldogs

In a hard-fought contest, Tom Wilson's Ram soccer squad went down to a 1-0 defeat at the hands of the San Mateo Junior College Bulldogs in a Northern California Intercollegiate soccer game at the San Mateo field last week.

The lone tally was scored by a Bulldog forward from 20 yards out with but four minutes left in the game.

Possible Conference Change Next Season

Wrinkle of Sacramento Fathers New Plan; Would Abolish Present College Conference, Give 3-Year Eligibility

If a "new wrinkle" in Sacramento is accepted and adopted, the most drastic and prosperous athletic movement in the history of San Francisco Junior College will abolish the diminutive vest pocket northern California Junior College Conference next season. In its stead, if plans materialize, will rise a respectable, sizeable and coherent collegiate body of interscholastic competition, embracing seven member institutions and allowing a decent round robin schedule of six conference games in all sports.

New Set-up

Instigated by Harry H. Wrinkle, former Sacramento newspaperman, the new conference would include San Francisco, San Mateo, Modesto and Sacramento Junior Colleges, and California Aggies, Chico State and San Francisco State. The latter three schools are in somewhat the same situation as the former group, since their Far Western Conference was practically disbanded with the withdrawal of Fresno State and Nevada University last week.

Wrinkle's proposal would allow the junior colleges three year eligibility for competition against the four year schools, who in turn, would be confined to the same number of years, freshmen becoming ineligible for varsity participation in the new league.

Common Eligibility

The move would prove a beneficial one to the four junior colleges. Their teams would be greatly strengthened in all sports. The same may be said of the four year institutions. Meeting the junior colleges on a common eligibility basis, the State schools would no longer consider it disgraceful to lose contests to two-year opponents.

Wrinkle, who will stage a meeting of the various institutions invited to participate, has not yet mentioned what bearing the three year eligibility would have upon further participation at college. This, however, is a point more readily established by the larger colleges and universities themselves, and should certainly be no problem undertaken by the institutions potentially enlisting in the new circuit.

All Favorable

San Francisco Junior College, in all probability, will enter the new conference if it materializes. Sacramento, Modesto and San Mateo have been reported as favorable to the idea, as has Cal Aggies. Chico and San Francisco State officials are taking the matter under advisement.

Informally questioned as to whether they would return if another year of conference eligibility would be given them, practically every outstanding athlete contacted in the college, intimated that he would return next season if the new body is formed.

WOMEN'S SPORTS PARADE
By Carol Pickering

Super, Super, and Super-Plus was the verdict given on Tourney Week events this semester. The tournament results were a product of unusual skill and ability, displayed by freshmen and sophomores alike.

Competing with the college teams in many instances were several excellent teams composed of San Francisco High School students, some of which came out on top in the score.

Winning in class competition, the sophomores had a tough struggle against the freshmen women to keep on the long end of the score.

Showers of flowers and attention to next semester's WAA president Dorothy Sanderson; vice-president, Annette Schunick; secretary, Murial Grenelle, and treasurer, Phyllis Learned.

Miss Schunick is a high freshman and Miss Grenelle a low freshman. We have never studied sorcery or listened to the advice of an oracle, but advise you and you and you to keep an eye on these two young athletes. They're going places.

* * *

Not to be outdone and because they feel they have a winner in their own organization, the WAA executive council, headed by vice-president Dot Sanderson is sponsoring President Margaret Park in the Sophomore Sweetheart Contest. They are talking every woman in WAA to help in the campaign.

A native of Chicago, Miss Park is going home for the Christmas holidays, but will return to this state next semester to attend the University of California. Here's wishing you all our luck for the contest, Peg.

* * *

Every woman in the Athletic Association will receive a WAA membership card next year when the spring term opens. They are white with red print and in our opinion something nice to have. The council passed the motion unanimously.

* * *

With most of their work done and the pleasant aspect of finals looming ahead, both old and new members of the WAA council will be guests of Vera Spencer, WAA faculty adviser, on December 1 at 7:30 in the evening for a Christmas Sing. Miss Spencer lives at 37A Priest Street, accessible by the Washington cable car.

* * *

Trial and tribulation of Tourney Week was the mystery of the lost ballot box. After several days hard voting, Thursday morning, the last day, dawned and the election committee heaved a sigh of relief, but not for long. Came 5:30 p.m. and no ballot box. The banquet was scheduled to start at 6:30 and the big announcement of the evening was to be the election results. When the box was finally located it was discovered locked in Tom O'Neil's office at Powell Street. Dismayed, and not a little scared, WAA'ers appealed to President Cloud for help. Ladonna Callahan made a quick dash to the extension building and recovered the box, a trip that would have been impossible without the assistance of the President, keeper of the keys.

* * *

The Social Dancing class will sponsor a party for its members on December 2 from 3:30 to 5 in the south gym at Galileo High School. The Rhumba and the Lambeth Walk are two of the many modern steps taught to the students. Class periods now consist of informal dances.

* * *

Like little children who always save the icing on the cake till last because it is best, we are saving the best bit of news until the end. The Block Society of the San Francisco Junior College Women's Athletic Association has received two more members, Miss Sanderson and Miss Schu-

(Continued on page 4, column 4)

Victorious Netsters In Search For New Conquests; Maybe Stanford and Cal.

Having drunk deeply from the cup of victory as a result of their overwhelming victory over San Mateo last week, Coach Tom Wilson and his tennisers, Messrs. Hal Wagner, Bill Canning, Bob Kuhn, Ray Berns, and company, have set out in search of new conquests.

Wilson names the California and Stanford freshman squads as potential victims, arrangements being made to meet both of the university outfits in the next few weeks.

Meet Varsities

According to the genial tennis mentor, it is entirely possible that the local racketeers will meet university varsities next season.

The return of three veterans of last semester's championship outfit, Wagner, Kuhn, and Berns, plus the presence of Canning, junior Davis cupper, and the probable entrance of Bill Madamba, Commerce flash, and Eddie Amark, who has taken a leave of absence, will give the college the greatest team in its history.

Intramural Matches

Matches in the intramural championships are being played at the Palace of Fine Arts courts daily with the field being narrowed down.

Favorites have been emerging victorious in all matches, although many have received close calls.

Three tons of meat can be cooked at one time in the Oakwood Barbecue pit at the 1939 California World's Fair on Treasure Island.

Organizations Close Semester's Activities

Hotel and Restaurant Management Society . . . is planning a Thanksgiving dinner complete with turkey and home-time atmosphere, for all members of the Hotel and Restaurant division who will not be able to return to their individual homes during the short Thanksgiving vacations. Since students of the division come from widely scattered cities throughout the entire Pacific Coast and middle west, the society has planned this dinner partly to compensate for those who cannot enjoy their dinners at home.

• • •

Pi Mu Gamma . . . last meeting of the semester will be held tonight Wednesday, November 23, at 7:30 p.m. at the permanent clubhouse, Ashton and Ocean Avenues. Dr. Phillip Levin will speak on Dentistry and will also show motion pictures. All members are asked to attend because there is a surprise in store for everyone.

• • •

Rifle and Pistol Club . . . will hold final election of officers, by ballot, Thursday and Friday, December 1 and 2, in the Rifle Range during classes. Running for the various offices are the following candidates: president, William Gibson, Henry Cavagnola, and Charles North; vice-president, Jane Mitchell and Marion Schriet; secretary, Teresa Scott; treasurer, Bob Darr, Willard Eichel, and Walter Voigt; board of control, Howard Markovits, Louis Goldstone, George Humphry, and Art McSain. After finals, the newly elected president will give a Christmas party. "Tickets will be 50 cents, and everyone planning to attend should procure them from the club treasurer before the party," urged President Howard Markovits.

• • •

Members of the Alpha Lambda Chi met last Thursday to hear Margaret Dougherty speak on "Co-operation and Friendly Spirit in the College".

At the meeting plans were made for a barn-dance to be held on December 1, and a supper party to be arranged at the next meeting.

• • •

Japanese Club . . . will hold its next meeting on December 3 at the Sturge Memorial Hall located on Post and Octavia Streets, announced Kiyoshi Kimoto, president of the club. This meeting was specially called to discuss plans for the final banquet, which will be held on December 16 and will be the big social climax of the semester.

The club during the semester has been outstanding in its numerous social activities which have met with much success.

Members will give a party on November 26 at the Budhist's Hall located on Pine and Octavia. The affair will be strictly invitational announced Kimoto. There will be dancing, card games and refreshments.

• • •

Peace Society . . . will hold its next meeting Thursday night, December 1 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Helen Du Bois, 678-37th Avenue. The topic to be discussed will be the O'Connell Amendment to the present Neutrality Act. Gaylord Greenly, and Patricia Healy will lead the discussion, announced Robert Porter, president of the society.

Porter continued, "the society is tentatively planning to hold a meeting at 300 Page Street at the Emanuel Sisterhood Hall. This meeting will be open to all other school clubs that want to attend. We are featuring one of the Chinese delegates to the World Youth Congress as our guest speaker, C. L. Peng, who is the head of the National Y.M.C.A. of China. At this time such a meeting is very fitting in order to express student sympathy for the civilian sufferers of war-torn China. The date of this meeting will be posted on the bulletin board at Powell Street within the next week"

• • •

French Club . . . has decided definitely on going to Club Lido for its dinner-dance on December 17," announced Helen Garbe, president of the group. "All members who were not at the meeting, should see George Hoffman to make reservations. Reservations must be made by December 1," added Miss Garbe.

Tonight the French Club will attend the Clay Street Theatre to see "Grand Illusion. All those who are going will meet in front of the theatre at 8:15 p.m.

Tarbuth Society . . . next meeting will be held on Saturday, December 3, at which time a highly entertaining social event is being planned, announced Daniel Rosenblat, president of the society. "All members will be personally notified in regard to arrangements for the social," said Rosenblat.

At the meeting held last week the insignia of the group was decided upon.

The organization was recently granted a charter by the Associated Students of the college.

• • •

Omicron Phi Pi . . . has recently expanded by the addition of two new chapters to the society, one at Modesto Junior College, which is under the advisorship of Carrol E. Powers and consists of twenty members, and the other at Visalia Junior College.

Next meeting of Omricron Phi Pi will be held in Berkeley at the home of Bob Johnson, 900 Spruce Street on Friday, November 25, at 7:30 p.m. The speakers of the evening will be Russell Pritchard and Andrew Eggum, who will discuss What Will Germany Do With Europe?

All members who plan to make the trip over to Berkeley for this next meeting should see either Charles Vaughn, Margo Skinner, or Edwin Casady for information about a lower cost of transportation.

• • •

Discussion as to the plans for reducing the price of the college text books was held Monday at Galileo by the Women's Service Society, according to Marjorie Wright, WSS president.

Committees were appointed for the investigation to see if it is possible to obtain books at a lower price.

The tentative date, December 5, was planned for the initiation banquet to be held at the Western Women's Club, and a chairman for the banquet was appointed.

• • •

Army and Navy Club . . . there will be a special meeting of the Army and Navy Club, Saturday morning, November 26, at the home of Gordon Soliman, 1239-15th Avenue at 10:30 a.m., announced club officials.

The purpose of the meeting is to listen to the play by play description of the Army and Navy game.

"A regular meeting of the group will be held Wednesday, November 30, at the residence of Walter Thompson, 533-14th Avenue. Plans will be made for a blowout at the end of the semester. There will also be a discussion of the new rearmament and national defense program," said James S. Hughes, club sponsor.

Hughes once again announced that toys and books are still being received, and all students are asked to contribute to the cause.

• • •

Members of Iota Chi fraternity voted unanimously in their last meeting to accept all challenges issued by rival fraternities to athletic contests. "We have decided that since our brother societies have chosen to challenge us in athletic endeavor," said President Joe DePatta, "it is up to Iota Chi to show these men just who has the best teams. Therefore, I am proud to say that the challenges sent us by Howard Cloud and Beta Phi for a bowling match are accepted and we await the meeting."

• • •

Phi Beta Rho . . . Sunday a meeting was held at the home of Marion Delano for the purpose of discussing a tea, which is to be given for the mothers of the sorority members, said Ruth Graham, Phi Beta Rho president.

• • •

Radio Engineers . . . will wind up their social affairs with a roller skating party at Pacific City. The newly elected officers are Barney Viner, president; Lea Bollinger, vice-president; Clay Robinson, secretary; Victor Krakow, treasurer, and Jack Pomon, publicity man.

• • •

Newman Club . . . is planning to produce a French play that was revised and translated into English by the club adviser, Catherine Musante. Completion of the task of arranging and selecting the actors for the play will be the main functions at Monday night's meeting.

Club president, Dave Johnson said, "probably the lead roles will be played by Bob Fex, student body president, Frankie and Johnnie Verducci, and other popular members of the college.

To keep in the spirit with holiday festivities the group will hold a Christmas tree party. All persons who wish to attend should contact Johnson before the end of the semester.

For the enjoyment of the entire student body, the club has scheduled a dance on the last day of finals, December 16.

"All those students desirous of a 'finals' celebration," said Johnson, "are urged to attend our dance at Galileo."

• • •

Home Economics Association . . . will hold its annual Christmas party and initiation on the last Friday of the semester, December 16. All members on the Food and Social Committee are urged to attend the meeting to be held in Room 317 at 2:10 today.

• • •

Forestry . . . held a special meeting yesterday for the purpose of nominating new club officers. The next regular meeting will be held on November 30. A valuable door prize is to be given away during this meeting.

• • •

Pick and Hammer . . . decided at its last meeting to have club pins. The publication which is to form a permanent record for the group is now being compiled. The next meeting which will be announced later is for the purpose of electing officers.

• • •

Alpha Gamma Sigma . . . last meeting of the semester was held Thursday, November 17, at Galileo High School. There was music, and refreshments were served. Eleven scholarships are being offered to students of the college, and all permanent members of the club should sign up at once.

• • •

Chinese Club . . . will meet tomorrow at 10 p.m. at the Chinese Playground to go bicycling in Golden Gate Park. Tentative plans have been made to hold a picnic afterwards.

C. L. Peng will talk to students at the University of California's Chinese Students Club at 9 p.m. this evening.

Good news for children was announcement of Candy Day on May 11 at the California World's Fair.

Generous contributions to the Community Chest by the faculty allowed the college to go over the top in the first week of the 1938 campaign, announced Dean Edwin C. Browne.

"We fulfilled 60 per cent of our allotment the first day whereas the average is only 20 per cent," Dean Browne said. "I want to commend the faculty on its generous donations and help in pushing us over the top. Carl Stough deserves a great deal of the credit because of his fine work in the Community Chest Drive."

College Council Inaugurates Christmas Party

Inaugurating the first of what is to be an annual function of the newly formed and popular San Francisco Junior College Council, Joseph E. Williams, college instructor and president of the council, announces the First Annual Christmas party to be held on Tuesday evening, December 6.

"There will be a Christmas dinner served by the Hotel Division in the college dining hall at 6:30 p.m. The price will be 75 cents a plate. At 8:30 p.m. a program of Christmas music will be presented in the college auditorium," Williams said.

Invitations are extended to all instructors and their wives, all students and their parents, and all alumni and friends of the college.

Fex Demonstrates Wisdom In Sentencing Student Card Offender

King Solomon still rules—such is the expression used when referring to President Robert "Solomon" Fex of the Judicial Committee as he handed one of the wierdest sentences in the history of the committee.

When it was found out that a certain student of the college was lending his student body card to an outsider so he could attend a recent college dance, the owner of the card was immediately snatched and was slated to appear before the Judicial Committee.

When questioned as to his guilt the owner meekly replied that since he attended all the football games with his student body card and because he could not dance he thought it all right to lend the card to his friend who was in need of admission.

Carefully pondering out a possible punishment, President Fex at last came to a punitive conclusion, that the student report every Friday afternoon to the girl's gymnasium and enter the weekly dancing class.

SPORTS PARADE

(Continued from page 3)

nick. The only surviving member of the society is Miss Park, who will leave the college this fall. The small, round, red and white blocks are the highest awards any WAA woman may receive.

Scores of movie stars will be on parade before the public in the "Hollywood Boulevard" concession at the 1939 California World's Fair, where every step in making movies will be shown.

United States Steel will have a $250,000 exhibit at the 1939 World's Fair of the West on Treasure Island.

If you want to attract attention at the 1939 California World's Fair, just pick a pocket and police will give you a "personal appearance" before Treasure Island throngs.

TERM PAPER COVERS........2c to 90c
COLLEGE OUTLINE SERIES. 75c to $1.25
OXFORD OUTLINE SERIES........68c
Type Your Themes On Esquire Bond
SAN FRANCISCO J. C. STUDENTS STORE

LEARN "CONTRACT BRIDGE" . . .
— A Social Necessity —
SUPERVISED GROUPS DAILY
NORTHERN CALIFORNIA BRIDGE STUDIO
530 MASON STREET near Sutter
ARTHUR WATERMAN, Culbertson Associate SUtter 9558

Hotel Division Entertains Guest Speakers Weekly

Winning the traveling public back to the railroads by way of the dining car, has been one of the major objectives of the rail transportation companies during the past decade, according to Harry A. Butler, head of the Southern Pacific Catering Service. Butler was a guest speaker of the hotel division last Tuesday.

Addressing the students of restaurant management at the college, Butler stressed the careful training and the unlimited opportunities which are open to capable young men in the field of railway catering. According to statistics as quoted by the speaker, railways in this country are now serving some 50 to 60 million meals annually, of which six to seven million are served by the Southern Pacific Company.

Figures Impressive

Impressive figures quoted by the speaker on the quantities of food stuffs purchased daily to supply Southern Pacific dining cars included such items as a daily supply of 850 dozen fresh eggs, 570 pounds of coffee, and 2,087 pounds of potatoes. These single items when added to equally impressive lists of fresh meat and other daily menu selections, suggest the extent of responsibility entailed in the various branches of railway catering, one of the many fields open to students of the college hotel and restaurant division.

P. Tremaine Loud, manager of The Hotel California will be the next Tuesday speaker to address the division. His topic will be, "The Value of Personality in the Hotel Field."

Alert Students Seek Best

High School students are alert for good buys in their school luncheons. Increase of the amount of milk which may be purchased for a nickel has increased daily milk sales in the school cafeteria by 35 per cent according to Lee Scarlett, acting publicity director of the cafeteria.

Increase in the quantity of milk served to the individual purchaser is made possible by the increased size of the containers now furnished by the milk company. Whereas, the bottles sold at the counter formerly contained only eight ounces of milk for five cents, the new containers, which are commonly called thirds, being almost a third of a quart, contain ten ounces. Price of the milk service remains the same.

Chocolate milk is still served at the original quantity and price.

To demonstrate the methods of freezing food, special motion pictures were shown the purchasing class of the division. Students declared the pictures illuminating as well as constructive and entertaining.

A Cappella Choir Sings At Fairmont Today

Enjoying the success due an organization of its type, the college A Cappella Choir will appear once more in concert this afternoon at the Fairmont Hotel when the choir will give its program for the local Kiwanis Club. The program which is to begin at 1:45 p.m. will be the same given by the Choir on its concert tour of the Peninsula high schools.

Polychrome glass is being used as the media to create a huge, transparent trade route map of the Pacific area for exhibit at the World's Fair of the West.

A question box will be provided at the dental exhibit at the 1939 California World's Fair, and dental problems will be answered without charge.

GET YOUR DATE NOW
For "TRI-NITE" S.F.J.C.-U.S.F. S.F.S.C.
FRIDAY, NOV. 25
In The Mural Room
With TED WEEMS And His Orchestra
HOTEL ST. FRANCIS UNION SQUARE · SAN FRANCISCO
For reservations call
Harry Perkins, BA 3797
Al Gross, WA 4587

Band Leader

BOB SAUNDERS

Soph Formal Features Bob Saunders At St. Francis December 2

Highlight of the whirling social calendar of the Associated Students will be reached December 2 as High Sophomores, to the strains of Bob Saunders' orchestra, sponsor a formal dance in the Empire Room of Hotel St. Francis.

Bids for the dance, priced at $1.25, went on sale Monday at the Galileo High School bank, Stanley Tobiason, president of the High Sophomore class, disclosed.

"To prevent outsiders from attending the dance," Tobiason announced, "each student will have his student body card stamped as he purchases a bid." Before he gains admission to the dance he must present the same card to the identifying committee at the door.

"As there are only 300 bids to be sold, they should be purchased early," Tobiason warned.

College Forum Discusses Freedom of Press At Ward's Home Tonight

Freedom of the Press will be the topic of discussion at the meeting of the College Forum, eight o'clock tonight, at the home of John Ward, 533 Kenmore Avenue in Oakland.

Members of the group and interested students will meet below the Ferry Building clock at 7:15 p.m., take the Key System boat and then the 22nd Street-Broadway train to Wesley Station. Cars will then transport students to Ward's home.

The subject for debate will be presented in panel form. Don Emblen will present definitions of Freedom of the Press. Bill Switzer will contend that the press is free and will be opposed by Margo Skinner. Carol Pickering will explain the place of the press in college.

"Expression of opinions by persons present will follow the speeches," Ward, chairman of the group, said, "the talks are merely to provide an outline and a basis for the topic to be discussed. Interested students are invited to attend. If anyone is unable to catch an early boat they are welcome to arrive later in the evening."

Automobiles are now using the $600,000 causeway from the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge to drive onto Treasure Island and preview the 1939 California World's Fair.

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

CLASSES	DAY	HOUR
8 o'clock MWF and Daily	Friday, Dec. 16	9 a.m. to 12 m.
8 o'clock T Th	Thursday, Dec. 15	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.*
9 o'clock MWF and Daily	Wednesday, Dec. 14	9 a.m. to 12 m.
9 o'clock T Th	Tuesday, Dec. 13	8 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.
10 o'clock MWF and Daily	Monday, Dec. 12	9 a.m. to 12 m.
10 o'clock T Th	Thursday, Dec. 15	11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.
11 o'clock MWF and Daily	Thursday, Dec. 8	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.*
11 o'clock T Th and Daily	Tuesday, Dec. 13	11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.
12 o'clock MWF and Daily	Friday, Dec. 9	9 a.m. to 12 m.
12 o'clock T Th	Thursday, Dec. 15	8 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.
1 o'clock MWF and Daily	Thursday, Dec. 8	9 a.m. to 12 m.
1 o'clock T Th	Friday, Dec. 9	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.*
2:30 o'clock MWF and Daily	Monday, Dec. 12	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
2:30 o'clock T Th	Tuesday, Dec. 13	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
3:30 o'clock MWF and Daily	Wednesday, Dec. 14	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
3:30 o'clock T Th	Friday, December 16	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
4:30 o'clock MWF, T Th, Daily	Friday, December 16	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

*Rooms at Galileo for these examinations will be assigned later.

Essay Contest Ends Thursday, December First

Deadline for entries in the California statewide essay contest being sponsored for students in Junior High Schools, High Schools and Junior Colleges by the Women's Board of the Exposition Contest Committee is exactly nine days away.

Entries must be completed by midnight, Thursday, December 1. Students of the college may submit essays to instructors Miriam Gatley, Joseph Williams, or Robert Parker.

The essays, not to exceed 1000 words, are to be written on the general subject heading of contributions of Pacific cultures and resources to contemporary civilization. Any topic under the general subject heading, discussing some notable contribution from the Pacific Area to world civilization; may be chosen.

The subject may be limited to some single item, such as a natural resource or the work of man. It may be the total contribution of some particular people. It may be the contribution of one people to one field of human advancement.

Originality Stressed

According to Miriam Gatley of the English department it will be better to choose for treatment a relatively small topic and to gather information about it from a number of sources than to cover briefly a large subject.

The awards committee, she said, will be more impressed with evidences of original search for information than with any near restatement of a whole book.

San Francisco Junior College students may compete for two prizes, a county prize of a scrip book of admissions to the Exposition, and a state cash prize of 25 dollars. The county winners in both classifications will receive scrip books.

In answer to requests made by students concerning the contest, the Women's Board of the Exposition released a display of nine color plates. The plates, prepared by the San Francisco Museum of Art, serve as an introductory explanation to the Pacific Area of the 1939 Exposition, and were displayed at the college last week.

AFTER DARK

(Continued from page 2)

DRAMATIC VALUES MAGNIFICENT

For us, the real force of the drama came, not from its Utopian propaganda so much as from its magnificent dramatic values. There were scenes that we have rarely seen equaled in any other American play. Mr. Rella has, during some scenes, used his relatively new technique with extraordinary skill. The scene, for instance, where the three bums are mentally torturing a young Mexican girl, while her mother voices a fatalistic rehearsal of race-persecution, is one of the most impressive and terrifying moments we have ever experienced in the theatre.

We suggest, for a balanced diet of good art, that any who feel the urge see the Wayfarers' intelligent and interesting production of Othello next week. And follow that with a taste—really a whole six-course meal—of dramatic experimentation that occasionally touches genius as is to be found in Please Communicate.

Salute The Sophs! Attend Varied Events Of Sophomore Week

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS
The Guardsman
SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Limited Number Of Soph Formal Bids Left At Galileo Bank

Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1938 No. 14

FOUR CANDIDATES VIE FOR PRESIDENCY

AWS Tea Dance At Century Club Thursday

Warren Ringen's Orchestra Plays From 4 To 6 p.m.; Assoc. Student Cards To Admit Couple

Students are invited by Miriam Dunne, Associated Women Students president, to attend the tea dance, December 1 at the Century Club, and dance from 4 to 6 p.m. to the strains of Warren Ringen's orchestra.

One student body card per couple will grant admission to the affair, sponsored by the AWS, and held in honor of High Sophomores. Miss Dunne, in urging men and women to attend said, "We really want to make this one of the biggest events of High Sophomore Week."

Patricia Keefer, and Bob Scott, whose duets were enthusiastically applauded at the A Cappella Choir concert, will entertain during intermissions.

Entertainment Feature

In addition to the dance committee members, Miriam Dunne, Hugh Waite, Bob Fex, Barbara Curryer, Treacy Slattery, Loraine Johnson, Howard Cloud, Marie Hoeger, Milton Berman, and John Julius, there will be 39 hostesses to help in making the dansant a success.

Faculty members and their wives invited to attend are as follows:

President and Mrs. A. J. Cloud, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pitman, Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Mohr, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Browne, Margaret Dougherty, Mary Jane Learnard, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Agosti, Claire Cuneo, Mr. and Mrs. George Green, Annemarie Delfs, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Marsh, John Selig, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Soule, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Luckmann.

Final Function of AWS

"This will be the last function of the Associated Women Students this semester," Miss Dunne exclaimed, "and we would like to write finis to the year's activities with a glowing success. The turnout for the last tea was encouraging and showed the wide interest in affairs of this type.

"Don't forget that men are welcome to attend. Occasions indicate that teas are as popular with the men as they are with the women. Since this is true and widespread approval has been expressed for co-educational activities we are opening the affair to the participation of the entire student body."

Features Combined

Usually the AWS sponsors a dance each semester. In place of the semi-annual dance, Miss Dunne explained, the organization is combining the popular tea feature with the equally popular dance feature. This, in the opinion of the group's officers should make the affair doubly successful.

With the AWS tea dance this semester's leaders will terminate their activity in the association for the year. Besides President Dunne, they are: vice president, Barbara Curryer; secretary, Barbara Mills, and treasurer, Lorraine Johnson.

Block Society Sponsors Final Rally Of Semester Tuesday At Galileo High

Jointly pooling their resources, the Block SF Society, the Hotel and Restaurant Management Society, and Hugh Waite and the Rally Committee, have collaborated to present the final rally of the semester next Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock in the Galileo auditorium.

Main purpose of the rally will be the presentation of blocks, all conference certificates, and other awards earned by college men participating in sports during the present semester.

Every semester Block SF members present their award rally, but they have agreed to share their entertainment and facilities with the Hotel and Restaurant Management Society and the Rally Committee for this Tuesday's assembly.

Guest Speakers To Attend

At present the Block SF committee is arranging for several guest speakers from the world of sports as their share of the entertainment. In presenting the awards, the coaches of the college will introduce each man who has earned this coveted honor with a short description of his abilities.

The Hotel and Restaurant Management Society promises to furnish some excellent entertainment in the musical line. The society will present the bulk of its entertainment from the hotel division. As one of their features, the society will present "The Singing Cooks", a trio heralded as being outstanding in vocal abilities. The trio is composed of Lester Asbury, Neil Swanson, and Bob Klingner.

Belmont Orchestra Featured

Special feature of the society's part in the rally will be the appearance of Lee Scarlett and his eleven piece Belmont Club orchestra. This orchestra has been engaged at the Belmont Club for the entire season and is attracting large crowds nightly.

Hugh Waite and the Rally Committee are arranging for the presentation to the student body of the new Associated Student officers for the coming semester. All outgoing officers will turn their books, gavels, and official names to the representatives of the college for the spring semester.

LARGE FIELD INDICATES POLITICAL PROSPERITY

Howard Cloud

Bill Switzer

The Dark Horse
Will He Win? Neigh, Will He Run?

Carl Rutledge

Frank Verducci

ELECTION FACTS!

Polls open at 9 in the Morning
Voting at Powell Bldg. Mezzanine!
Bring Your Student Card!!
All College Offices on Ballot
Polls Close at Powell at 1:30 o'clock!
Polls Open at Girls High at 10 o'clock
Close at 2 o'clock
Bring Your Student Card!!
Reopen at 2 o'clock
At Galileo in Room 150
Balloting Ends at 4 o'clock!
Don't Forget Your Student Card!
Vote! Vote! Vote!

Nomination Assembly Scheduled Tomorrow; Elections On Friday

By Bill Frantz

Four splinters of presidential timber proved that the college has finally rounded the corner of political prosperity. Six strips of yell leader bark further advances this theory.

Nominations for student body offices will occur tomorrow afternoon at the Galileo Auditorium and an amendment to the constitution will be presented to the voters of the college. Friday is the date of final elections. Polls will open at 9 a.m. at Powell Street, 10 a.m. at Girl's High, and at 2 p.m. at Galileo.

The "Committee of 200" proposal for a new election system was voted down by the Executive Council. However, the council voted for the addition of a voting unit at Girl's High School for the one hundred and fifty business students attending classes there.

Amendment Proposed

The amendment to the constitution provides for the awarding of life-time passes to winners of circle blocks as well as major block men. The amendment reads:

Amend Article IV of the by-laws, Section 4C, to read: The Men's Athletic Council which shall be empowered to make recommendations to the Executive Council for the awarding of life athletic passes to all major and minor award winners who are members of the Block Letter Society of the College.

Record Vote Predicted

Leader Bob Fex, Associated Students president, expressed favorable opinion on the interest in the election. Fex said, "the Sophomore Sweetheart contest polled nearly five hundred ballots. Using that as a basis of judgment, the coming election should beat any former student body election in votes cast by a good margin. Every effort has been made to assure this claim. The rest is up to the students of the college."

Voters must present Associated Student cards in order to cast ballots, therefore the election committee, headed by John Julius, urges every student to bring his student body card with him to the polls.

Election booths close at 1:30 o'clock at Powell Street, 2 o'clock at Girl's High, and at 4 o'clock in Room 150, at Galileo.

Voting machines were secured late last week from the City Hall by Chairman Julius. Registrar of Voters Tom Collins granted the machines after urgent pleas to insure an honest election. Associated Students cards will be appropriately marked to prevent duplication of voting by over-enthusiastic voters.

Candidates Listed

A complete list of the candidates for Associated Students posts who will be introduced at tomorrow's rally, follows:

President — Howard Cloud, Carl Rutledge, Bill Switzer, Frank Verducci.

Vice President — Bette Chrysler, Miriam Dunne, Frances Herndon.

Secretary — Marion Falconer, Jane Mitchell (incumbent).

Head Yell Leader — Ray Berns, Bob Hunt, Bob Kuhn, Bob Owens, Art Pomares, Shipley Prugh.

Associated Women Students candidates:

President — Barbara Curryer, Lorraine Johnson, Dorothy Trood.

Vice President — Janet Ball, Carol Pickering.

Secretary — Louise Kiddie, Phyllis Learned.

Treasurer — Helen Kulp, Joyce Mack.

Associated Men Students candidates:

President — Ray Diehl, Dave Johnson.

Vice President — Frank Blauert, "Red" Burrowes, Felix McManus, Sam Galstaun.

Secretary — Willie Blackfield, John Engle, Bill Van Slyke.

Treasurer — Frank Nilan, Ben Papapietro, Izzy Maloff.

College's Insurance Course Will Be Expanded To Meet Business Demand

To meet the growing demand of the insurance companies for trained clerical and office employees, the insurance offerings of the junior college for the coming semester will be expanded.

The college will offer courses in general and in life insurance in the spring. In addition, students meeting special requirements will be accepted for cooperative work in downtown insurance offices.

To date, calls for policy workers, clerks, dictaphone operators, accountants, and stenographers have not been adequately filled because of the lack of graduating students with insurance training, according to F. Grant Marsh, business department director. "Furthermore," said Marsh, "many of the largest fire, casualty, and life insurance company offices have definitely stated their preference for beginners as replacements in their clerical and office staffs."

Men and women students who want permanent salaried positions will find the insurance business well worth their investigation and study. Beginning salaries are usually better than the average office scale and, in addition, hours and environment are attractive.

Insurance is largely a financial and legal business requiring a special vocabulary and a definite understanding of policy contracts. Consequently, those students who wish to meet the requirements of the insurance companies for employment should include insurance courses in their programs for next semester.

EXAMINATION BULLETIN!

Final examinations in all sections of Business 74 (Vocabulary and Spelling) will be held during the regular class periods on Friday, December 2.

Bertha Keller Chosen On Committee For National Co-Educational Study

Bertha Keller of the Women's Physical Education Department, has been chosen as a member of the committee of National Study of Co-Educational activities, which is being conducted by Women's College Directors of Physical Education. Reports will be made at a national meeting in July at Stanford University.

Object of the committee is to determine the significance and value of co-education in credit classes in Physical Education. Louise Cobb of the University of California is the chairman of the national study.

"We have had successful instruction in riding, archery, badminton, fencing, and social dancing," Miss Keller said, "and will open a co-ed tap dancing class next semester. We will study the beginners in particular to determine whether or not the men advance faster than the women."

Exposition Essay Contest Terminates Tomorrow, Galley Announces

Tomorrow at midnight all entries in the statewide essay contest being sponsored by the Women's Board of the Exposition Contest Committee for students in Junior High Schools, High Schools and Junior Colleges must be completed, Miriam Gatley of the English department announced.

The essays may be submitted to instructors Miss Gatley, Joseph Williams, or Robert Parker of the faculty.

Each contestant may compete for two prizes, a county prize of a scrip book of admissions to the Exposition, and a state cash prize. The Junior College winner will receive twenty-five dollars.

All district winning essays must be submitted to the county chairman for the county award on or before midnight, December 20. Final awards will be announced not later than February 1, 1939.

All essays submitted by authorized committees for judging by the final committee of award become the property of the Women's Board, Golden Gate International Exposition Contest Committee, and cannot be returned.

(Continued on page 4, column 4)

Soph Hi Jinks Tonight At Galileo Auditorium

Diversified Entertainment Promised By Tobiason; Side-Splitting Skit By Schmale To Be Featured

With "a little of everything" scheduled in the way of entertainment, Sophomore Week officially starts tonight at 8 p.m. with the staging of the highly touted Hi Jinks at the Galileo auditorium.

Such an abundancy of diversified entertainment has been provided that it is almost a certainty that all persons attending will find something in the evening's entertainment to suit their taste.

Issuing an invitation to all student body members, parents and friends of the students, Stanley Tobiason, High Sophomore President announced, "Admission to our High Jinks is absolutely free. Not only do we want all the students to attend, but the Sophomore Week committee urges them to bring their parents and friends also, as we shall have something to appeal to all who come."

Varied Entertainment

A special feature of the evening's entertainment will be the staging of another one of those inimitable Schmale "burlesques". Appropriately entitled, "A Little of Everything", the skit was written by Jack Schmale and Ed Canepa, and shows promises of living up to its name. Turning down hundreds of offers from Hollywood stars who wished to appear in the cast, the authors of this skit have chosen instead prominent thespians from the college campus.

Included in the all male chorus of twenty-five are such stars as Hugh Waite, Floyd Lawrence, Bud Welchers, Bob Blackwell, Ben Papapietro, Frank Nilan, Ed McGovern, Sylvester McAttee, Treacy Slattery, Bob Fex, the Verducci boys, Kenneth Pasqualette. Dean Browne has one of the bigger parts in the cast.

With Ed Canepa serving as master of ceremonies throughout the evening's entertainment, will appear some of the remaining attractions.

The A Cappella Choir will join with the men's chorus in singing the Alma Mater. Song and dance teams, accordion solos, male quartet renditions, and a girl's tap dance routine will provide more phases of the entertainment.

Sweetheart Revelation

The queen of Sophomore Week will be revealed for the first time, and will appear before the audience in all her splendor.

Sport feature of the evening will be the appearance of Art McChrystal, "Voice of Kezar" and sports director of the San Francisco World's Fair, with Ernie Smith, popular sport's announcer of radio fame, in a short interview.

Biggest of the many attractions will be the appearance of Bob Saunders, his orchestra, and his vocalist Norine Folan. Saunders will also play at the Sophomore Formal later during the week.

Sophs Hold Formal Dance Next Friday Night At Sir Francis Drake Hotel

Empire Room of the Sir Francis Drake Hotel was finally chosen as the location of the long awaited Sophomore Formal, which takes place Friday evening, December 2, from nine to one o'clock.

Bob Saunders, as previously announced, will provide the music in the romantic atmosphere of the Empire Room's soft lights. Saunders' eleven piece orchestra features lovely Norine Folan, vocalist, and is acclaimed by many to be one of the finest bands to appear in the San Francisco bay region. Recently, Saunders completed a six-month engagement at the Whitcomb Hotel where he broadcast coast-to-coast over the National Broadcasting System.

Bids On Sale

"A limited number of bids, priced at $1.25 are still on sale at the Galileo High School Bank," Stan Tobiason, High Sophomore president, announced. "Designed by Ed Templeton, the bid is a white suede scroll, rolled diploma-fashion and tied with a red ribbon.

"Red and white, the college colors, which High Sophomores are sporting this week to designate their class standing will be worn Friday night by members of the High Sophomore Week committee. Each member will sport a white ribbon stamped with a ram in red," Tobiason disclosed.

Under John R. Herman's capable direction, the floral arrangement class will decorate the second floor Empire Room with white chrysanthemums and green cypress in a manner fitting the formal occasion.

Identification System Planned

"To prevent outsiders from attending the dance," Tobiason reported, "each student will have his student body card stamped as he purchases a bid. Before he gains admission to the dance he must present the same card to the identifying committee at the door."

Patrons and patronesses of the dance will include President and Mrs. A. J. Cloud, Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Mohr, Dean and Mrs. Edwin C. Browne, Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Pitman, Mary Jane Learnard, Margaret Dougherty, Alfred P. Agostl, Joseph A. Amori, F. Grant Marsh, Edward E. Sandys, and faculty advisers Annemarie Delfs and George L. Green.

"The High Sophomore Committee," Tobiason said, "wishes to extend a cordial invitation to all faculty members to attend the dance.

"All men who have not yet secured dress suits, and wish to rent tuxedos for $2.25 should contact me immediately."

Former AMS Presidents To Celebrate At Banquet Next Tuesday Evening

For the sixth consecutive semester the Associated Men Students will honor their past leaders at their Banquet of Presidents for the Fall Semester of 1938 and also welcome into the folds their new president. The banquet will be held at Ada's Tavern, Tuesday, December 6 at 7 p.m. President A. J. Cloud, Dean Edwin C. Browne, and Joseph A. Amori, AMS adviser, will also attend the dinner.

Past-presidents of the organization who will be present include: Maury Schwartz, Bob Sisco, Don Mix, Don Mills, and Mickey Berman.

Hotel Division Listens To Marketing Expert On Food Buying Problems

Josephine Martin, marketing expert for the Don Lee Broadcasting Company, addressed the Hotel Division last week on the problems of food buying.

Miss Martin, who conducts a home economics program on Station KFRC, was one of the speakers who address the division every Tuesday afternoon.

As a special feature and service to the patron's of the Galileo Cafeteria, today's menu was prepared in advance so that students can be informed of the menu by this column.

Today's twenty-five cent luncheon includes stuffed bell peppers, mashed potatoes, piping hot muffins, choice of soup or salad, carrots and peas with squash, cup cakes, tapioca pudding, or pie, and choice of drink.

Several member of the division recently attended the Hotel Greeters charter dinner dance which was held at the Lake Merritt Hotel last Thursday. Representing the hotel division were Clark Chittick, Bill Chittick, Bill Dewey, Lee Scarlett, Tom Caswell, and Jean Miller.

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1938 No. 14

FRED VAST....EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser.... Business Adviser
Joan Nourse.... Edward H. Redford

Dick Simpers....Assistant Editor
Bill Frantz....News Editor
John Julius....Sports Editor
Ray Berns....Ass't Sports Editor
Carol Pickering....Women's Editor
Dorothy Trood....Club Editor
Sam Galstaun....Staff Photographer
Fred Bentley....Business Manager
Paul Judson....Advertising Manager

REPORTERS

Ethan Bernstein, Bob Fex, Lois Gipson, Leonard Gross, George Hoffman, Dave Johnson, Adele Kuhn, Isadore Maloff, Charles Martin, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Ed van der Veen, Sylvia Wall, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Associated Students Elections Raise Question of Interest

TOMORROW a meeting of the Associated Students will be held in the Galileo auditorium for the purpose of presentation of candidates for the various offices and discussion and voting on an amendment to the constitution.

It is imperative that everyone interested in student affairs attend the meeting. It will afford them an opportunity to judge each aspirant to office carefully and decide for whom to vote.

Then on Friday the students can go to the polls and decide who shall lead them next semester. The importance of voting cannot be overemphasized. The greater number of votes tallied, the greater will be the interest in student government, and the more representative will the elected officials be.

Instructors preach the value of democracy in the class room, and the student nods his assent, but what does he do in this college, the very place where he is taught certain principles? Does he put the theory into practice? If not, of what value is that theory and the class wherein it is taught. Theory, it has been said, is only as good as it is practical. Half of the problem is the application of the thesis.

Education's most striking failure is in the social sciences where students are taught the value and necessity of the entire populace participating in governing themselves and then are apathetic toward their own ruling and law-making groups and officials.

With justification it is often charged that student government is a farce. What's the use of taking part in the preparation and administration of student affairs some say, when there is a limitation in every project that is undertaken, when the administration allows only certain things to be done, when the administration makes all important decisions?

There is a lot of truth to the above statements put in question form. Conditions of the type will continue to prevail as long as there is no genuine ACTIVE interest in student government on the part of the rank and file of the student body.

As soon as a greater number of individuals take an active interest in student legislation and administration and, as soon as they elect competent, independent, fearless and intelligent officials, then student government will take on a more significant meaning.

It is also true that until these conditions are rectified, many students will continue to be apathetic. It is logical that somone must take the first step, and it is up to the students themselves to do it.

It is your duty to attend tomorrow's meeting and take an active part. It is your duty to participate in Friday's election, to campaign for the student most fit for each office and see to it that your fellow students do likewise.

Student officials, who well know the faults of no help or interest in their work, can do their part by devising means of bringing student government to the students and arousing their interest. One means of doing this is by instituting an election system whereby the ballots are brought to the students, instead of making the students go to the ballots.

The general attitude on the part of the officials has been if the students are interested they will vote. The problem, however, is to make the student body interested. To solve the question a little additional energy must be expended. New methods must be given a trial.

We have pioneered in the establishment of this college and its activities. Now let us pioneer in the establishment of a sound student government based on the interest of those who are being governed. We are striving to prove that the democratic method is the best. Democracy depends upon the expression and participation of each individual.

WHY NOT?

Wanted—reliable shadow to attend classes for me next week.

—Adv. in Wellesley College News

Committees, Candidates Should Adopt Programs In Elections

DISCUSSION has arisen in the past week as to the advisability of the formation of political parties in college election races.

There is undoubtedly a good basis for a fear of the existence of permanent combinations to control student affairs. This is especially true if these groups exist merely for the personal advancement of the individual members.

Because there is a danger of such a situation occuring is no reason why all groups or committees organized for an election should be condemned. It is possible that an organization may be formed to improve student government and not merely for personal gain.

If such a committee is formed—dedicated to the interests of electing capable, honest, and intelligent officials on a program calculated to improve the calibre of student government, we can see no reasonable objections to its existence.

Of course, as in the case of almost any undertaking, there will usually be a few opportunists in the sincere group. But because of this the entire movement should not be attacked. Rather, the membership should be awakened to the presence of undesirable individuals and be persuaded to eliminate the politicians from their ranks.

An organization of the type discussed above should continue to exist as long as necessary to achieve its program. Once it has reached its goal then it would probably be advisable to dissolve, to prevent it from becoming a political instrument, for as soon as it has no program it will cease to be important in the development of a better college society.

The formation of committees solely for Associated Student elections brings forth another question in the semi-annual procedure of choosing new leaders.

Generally the candidate for office does not offer any program or suggestions for improving the functions of government, but merely vies for office on the basis of his popularity and the prestige of the position.

If students aspiring to office would be accustomed to presenting practical proposals for the improvement of college affairs the result, we believe, would be better government.

A leader chosen on the basis of a program in addition to the factors now involved in the consideration of candidates would have to carry out his plans and he would be backed by the student body that elected him.

Service Society Should Institute Book Exchange

AFTER studying the problem, the committee appointed by President Bob Fex to investigate the possibility of reducing book expenses has made its report to the Executive Council.

Having written to Northern California colleges, made personal investigation, and discussed the question, the committee concluded that the formation of a used-book exchange would be the most feasible method of reducing student expenses.

The Ex Council approved the committee's recommendation and agreed to ask the Women's Service Society to handle the project. Current reports state that the group has taken the request under consideration.

It is our fervent hope that the Society will decide to attempt to supervise the enterprise. The organization has a record to be envied by every group in the college. It is noted for its successes in everything it undertakes.

The Society can rest assured that it will receive the fullest cooperation of the Associated Students.

This is a project that everyone is interested in, it will be the first time that an attempt has been made to alleviate the condition of large expenses of each student at the beginning of every semester.

We urge the Women's Service Society members to reply in the affirmative to the Ex Council's request and we urge that they make their decision soon. There is time to organize the exchange for the first two weeks of the next semester and establish the project.

THIS PUZZLING WORLD

Edited by
Milton J. Puzzletsar and Henry J. Riddleston

PROBLEM No. 14. MIX ONE UP, JOE!

DURING the Volstead Era, Joe, the furtive bartender, had to make up his own liquors out of raw materials. One morning, as he was busily at work, Joe's little son, Fitzmaurice, came in to watch his father at his labors. Standing on the table in front of Joe was a glass three-quarters full of pure alcohol, and next to this glass was another, of exactly the same size and shape, three-quarters full of pure water. Fitzmaurice idly picked up a spoon and, dipping it into the first glass, took out precisely one spoonful and transferred it to the glass containing the water. He thoroughly stirred the contents of the latter glass, and then dipped out precisely one spoonful of the mixture and transferred this back to the glass containing the pure alcohol.

When Fitzmaurice had finished this little endeavor, he told his father what he had done, and then said: "Papa, is there more alcohol in the second glass than there is water in the first glass?"

If you were Joe, how would you answer this question?

ANSWER TO PROBLEM No. 13. THE BOOKWORM.

The worm ate his way through four covers, and two inches of paper, or 2½ inches in all.

Presidential Notes

By Bob Fex

THIS week brings to a close the student activities for this semester, and probably the most successful of any semester in the past. Although this is the last week, it includes the most hectic program ever attempted.

Tonight festivities open with the Sophomore High-Jinks, and High Sophomore President Stan Tobiason has arranged an outstanding program, so everyone who possibly can should attend. This is the first time a High Jinks has been attempted, so let's help make it a success.

THURSDAY'S EVENTS

Tomorrow at 2 o'clock the nomination rally will be held. There is a larger group of students who are prospective candidates than ever before, and it is going to make it that much harder for you students to select the best candidates, so come to the rally and listen to and see the various candidates so that you can vote intelligently.

Also at this rally will be another proposed amendment to the constitution placed before the students for their approval. The largest turnout of the semester is expected, so come early if you want a seat.

Then at 4 o'clock the AWS is giving a tea dance in honor of the graduating class. Everyone is invited, and one student body card will admit a couple. Miriam Dunne, the president of the organization, and her committee have worked hard with preparations for this event and a large attendance is expected.

FRIDAY'S DOINGS

Voting will be held all day Friday, with voting machines at the Powell Street building and the Girls High building being opened simultaneously at 9 o'clock and closing at 1:30 o'clock. Machines will be opened at Galileo at 2:30 and will positively close at 4:30 with results tabulated by the election committee.

It should be possible for everyone to vote, so be sure and bring your student body card and vote early, and for the candidates that you think are best suited for the various positions.

In the evening the biggest social event of the season, the Soph Formal, is being held in the Empire Room of the Hotel Sir Francis Drake. Music is being furnished by the popular Bob Saunders and his orchestra.

BLOCK SF DAYS

Monday opens up with the Block SF initiation during the day and the banquet in the evening at the Rex Restaurant. Tuesday is that long-awaited "grudge battle" of softball between the Faculty and the Block Society. The Block boys will be out to avenge the defeat the "profs" handed them at the beginning of this semester.

Immediately following the game the Block SF will hold its semi-annual award and entertainment rally. President Treacy Slattery has worked hard to put these events over and promises everyone attending a gala time. Classes are being excused and no one will have an excuse for not attending.

Let's everyone end this semester with a bang and attend all of these events and be sure and VOTE

Sartorial Modes

By Fashion Fanny

SOMETHING new in bangle bracelets, are fingernail-sized editions of four magazines hanging from a chain of either gold or silver. The books are metal with tiny reproductions of the front covers in colour.

For the MODERN—in rich natural woods with brilliant colours, a new idea in a brush and comb set, can be found at any department store. Petite Tyrolean figures are painted in bright Alpine colours on the brush and mirror.

For those up-hair doers, the smartest thing seen in the way of earrings is Simonne Gerli's gold metal fan with Chinese characters.

Cram for the finals in a lovely washable chenille dormitory coat in white or pastel colours.

NEW OUTER WEAR

The smartest coat for school this year was found in a local shop in new and lovely princess lines. A new and distinctive material makes this coat ideal for the college woman.

If you like a long coat for evening, get one of those new tweed coats with gold reveres. Tweeds are indispensable to the smart woman, because they can be worn for several years without getting the old look about them that so many of the other woolens get.

Balenciaga, the Spanish designer, has a knack for designing clothes for the younger woman and college people. Only recently did he design a delightful candy-striped satin evening dress, with full skirt, puff sleeves, and a shirtmaker top.

SHADES OF RED

It is only fitting to mention the new and various shades of lipstick at this holiday time with all the bright colours in shops windows and flower stands. "Siren" is the perfect answer to your search for a red-red lipstick. "Hawaii" is a deeper red, with a brown note in it, is perfect to wear with brown and that sun tan accumulated here and there.

Do your Lambeth Walking in the newest of evening slippers. Have a silver platform with gold draped kid, toeless and heeless.

AFTER DARK

By John Ward

THE other evening, via the radio, an interesting and somewhat ominous speech was given by Dr. Frank R. McNinch, head of the United States Communication Commission. During the course of this speech Mr. McNinch explained how he and the group he is working with are investigating the possibility of a monopoly control of the several large American radio net-works.

As he stated the purpose and the aims, it seemed to us not only apropos with contemporary events but thoroughly in keeping with a few of the better American ideals of government. If the commission were to find such a monopoly, as some have suggested exists, it will use its powers to sunder and destroy it. An excellent, anti-fascist move not to be seconded too heartily.

CENSOR LONE RANGER?

But, and it needs must always seem that there is a but to such investigations, concurrent with the monopoly enquiry will go an investigation of the possible need for a bit of good old Victorian censorship of radio programs.

This immediately raises two questions in our mind: does radio actually need a censor, and, if so, how can one establish such a creature without killing radio? In the first place, if radio needs a censor so does Congress. The bill-of-fare for the American public's yearly radio entertainment is made up of an unusually vapid display of mediocrity high-lighted with one or two moments of worth.

If such programes as Jeck Benny, Amos and Andy, Information Please, One Man's Family, and the Lone Ranger, to name but a spare few, need censorship, help ho!—the ship's sinking and the captain's mad!

LOOK AT HOLLYWOOD

Of course one reason for the proposed censorship may be a program like the Mercury Theatre of the Air or the Columbia Drama Work Shop or, perhaps, though heaven fore-fend, the Town Hall debate program. These two organizations, and a few others of the same calibre, have had the brains and the guts to attempt new ventures, have fought hyprocicy and propaganda, and have achieved a certain amount of success with their work.

Does Mr. McNinch find them too honest or too truthful for his dear, dear American public? Must we suffer not only the mediocrity of the average air show but all the excellent programs annotated and toned down for children between the ages of five and fifteen?

Look at Hollywood, caught in the vice of pressure groups, brought low by a pack of mothers the majority of whom know not how to rear their own children let alone dictate the rules and standards by which an art colony must abide!

KEEP STATUS QUO

No, Mr. McNinch, America doesn't need a censor of radio yet—if ever. You may have our anti-fascist sympathy; our desire for no monopoly of radio, but you have our extreme disgust and censure for your other ideas. For once you establish a censor—be it for such a trifle as to keep children's program for children—it will not stop there.

Censorship ridicules the meat it feeds on, killing what it censors and giving to the people what it serves—nothing multiplied by nothing. As excellent as it might be for one thing, it would not stop there and sooner or later it would be death to any life to be found in the radio as we have it now.

If you are so consumed with the idea, however, Mr. McNinch, you might elect a standard of excellence—only so much swing, so much football, so much opera, so much serial. That would be a fine thing. But even that might become a menace to the freedom of the radio. Rather, let us leave out all censorship altogether and let the radio keep what life it has intact.

RAM'S HORN

Group's Status Explained; Plea For Alma Mater

● COUNCIL NEEDS LOGIC

Editor, The Guardsman:

After having the opportunity to attend the Executive Council meeting, I was entirely surprised to find that the members are more interested in free tickets to the Sophomore Formal, than trying to create School spirit.

Although the Executive Council threw out Mr. Blackwell's plan, they didn't in any way try to improve the school's ability to vote to stimulate school spirit.

By getting two or more voting machines over at Girls High School, they will possibly reach 150 other students, but as far as the school as a whole is there was no interest shown.

But what I can not understand is that if the Executive Council felt that it was a bad one, why they did not give logical reasons for throwing out the plan.

Rema Corbit

● NEW SYSTEM NEEDED

Editor, The Guardsman:

It does my heart good to see that the "system" for election and the percentage voting has been brought to the notice of the voting public.

There is not "one" good reason but "several" for the neglect of voting. The conditions on election day are abominable; only two election machines are provided to handle the votes of the students (of course only 400 out of 1800 vote).

If these conditions were improved, there would undoubtedly be a greater amount of voting, therefore giving the students the best-fitted for student governing. The position of the voting machines is another point.

Why should those who are voting be subjected to the hustle and bustle of students going to the check room, classes or study hall?

The electoral system suggested by Mr. Switzer in last week's paper seems like a good way to avoid this question of minority vote.

For one, I hope some way will be found to eliminate the crowding, which is one reason for some people not voting, and a better system be established for election day so that the officers elected will feel that they were elected by the students, and that they have the student body behind them.

A Voter

● OPPORTUNISTS WILL FAIL

Editor, The Guardsman:

There are a few students in this college (we hope not too few) who hold the ideas of student government higher than those pretty egotists who prefer self-glory to school good. Unfortunately for those few, their faith was placed in the hands of a few of those hypocrites who value their names more than their "platform".

This is not a matter of turning the other cheek, but of keeping the board clean. We censure the uncompromising egotists because they were willing to sacrifice a fine idea of election-method for a chance stab at the ever-tempting limelight.

Unluckily for these simple souls, the few that are interested in a clean, straight-forward election have not given up either the ship or the principles. If the back-biters think they have thrown a monkey wrench that has destroyed the opposition's machinery they are badly informed.

In the coming election we will leave it up to the student body as to whether they want a new deal and some real action on the part of the Executive Council, or if they want some petty jitterbugs who are willing to show off their complacency and let the college remain in its present, unfortunate rut.

John Ward, Pat Healy

● SONG MERITS RESPECT

Editor, The Guardsman:

The students of this college showed plenty of school spirit during the Bond Issue Campaign, and even got a little peppy at football games, but they completely overlook the college Alma Mater song.

Barring those who don't know the song even exists, the rest of the student body have made no effort to learn the words or show any respect for it. Students of other colleges and universities stand when they sing their Alma Mater en masse.

It's a little embarrassing during the college graduation exercises to have the A Cappella Choir sing the Alma Mater while the graduation class remains silent because they don't know the words.

Disgusted

● IT COMES OUT HERE

Editor, The Guardsman:

As a student interested in a student government of the students, by the students, and for the students; and not one of, by, and for any privileged minority, I joined, when approached on the matter of the "Committee of 200", in the hope of doing my little part in furthering democracy in S. F. J. C.

Because of the sincerity with which Bill Switzer worked to put over our program, we decided to run him for president of the Associated Students. We soon realized that a vote for Bill

(Continued on page 4, column 6)

Cabbages & Kings

By Blue Pencil Bill

SEEN AT THE BEACH

Terry Sandelin, of the Hotel Division, with a beautiful blonde popping balloons. He was so dazzled by the presence of his companion that he left the game without his change. This is the first time we have ever seen that done outside of the movies. We don't blame you, though, Terry.

• • •

Featured at the beach are the "Hollywood Skyrockets", an aerial quartette who dazzle people who haven't dazzling blondes to keep them busy. Believe it or not—you don't have to pay to see them perform. High in the icy San Francisco sky the number one performer of the act does a one-arm handstand on a rickety perch, while a strong wind shakes the platform, the performer, and the nerves of the onlookers.

P.S.—The girl performers aren't bad looking. They'll be there for a couple of months so come on out and take a look at them.

• • •

Page four of the Oxford Students Dictionary Of Modern American Song Titles:

"I Possess Tender Feelings Toward The Femme Whose Likeness Graces A Philatelic Specimen Of Small Denomination", "Diminutive Imitation Of A Soprano Brass Band Instrument", "Lambeth Walk", "Tender Affections Do Not Sprout From Perennial Woody Plants, Infant!"

• • •

PERSONALITIES

Deadpan Dave Johnson: Although the times are rare that he smiles, Dave is known to be one of the best natured fellows in the college. His South o' Market speech is caused by only one factor—that he was born South o' Market. Dave is president of the Newman Club, and plays baseball.

Personality of the month, however, is Jack Wolf. (When we say 'personality' we don't mean 'character'.)

Basing our judgment on past performances, we hand Jack the title of Cleverest Athlete In San Francisco Junior College. Back in high school, Jack was quite a cutter-upper and often created disturbances in the quiet of the sacred halls of secondary educational knowledge.

It was during one of these Wahoo sessions that an irate instructor emerged excitedly from his classroom to discover the disturbers and spotted Jack, with his hands in his pockets, standing in the hall.

The instructor rushed up to Jack, and before he could say a word, Jack very confidentially said, "He went that way, sir." And nonchalantly walked in a different direction from the one in which he directed the instructor.

• • •

ANSWERS TO SONG TITLES:

"I'm In Love With The Lady On The Two-Cent Stamp." "Toy Trumpet." "Lambeth Walk." "Love Doesn't Grow On Trees, Baby."

• • •

THANKS

There is no truth to the rumor that the candidate who receives two votes will be elected to the presidency of the student body. It's a good sign, however, that the number of candidates for Associated Student offices has increased—maybe a full forty per cent of the students will vote.

At this time of the semester, recognition is due the present Associated Students officers. Thanks, and plenty of them go to Bob Fex and Jane Mitchell in their leadership in winning the college a "place to call our own"—and to the rest of the committees who made possible the passage of "Number 4". Thanks to Hughie Waite and Jack Schmale for that enjoyable Sacramento trip, and to Barbara Randall and the Judicial Committee for uncrowded dances. You've left marks for your successor to shoot at.

• • •

LAST MINUTE NEWS:

We hear from Dick Simpers that Hal Fischer, best looking basketballer is short on business brains. He paid two bits for a new Jefferson nickel in the belief that it was a rare coin.

• • •

FIRE, FIRE

We came home from a 4:30 class last week to find a big cop directing traffic away from our block. Around the corner five assorted fire trucks crowded the street, while several assorted spectators crowded around the fire trucks.

Very exciting, we thought, as we nosed around for a scoop, expecting to see the firemen drag out the nets and rescue screaming women and children.

Soon an important-looking official of the fire brigade came out of an apartment house and announced that someone's supper chops burned up. Everything under control, the fire department left, and the lady of the burned chops went down to the delicatessen.

A breeder from the Isle of Capri has already requested entry blanks for the wool show of worldwide scope to be held at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

Neophytes To Receive Letters At Initiation

Block SF Awards Given To Athletic Stars Of Semester

By RAY BERNS

Between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Monday, December 5, Block Society initiates will undergo the semi-annual initiation of the society.

Members of the committee in charge of the proceedings are Mel Peterson, chairman, Dave Johnson, Ray Berns, Art Nelson, and Frankie Nilan. They have been working night and day on the plans, and promise many novel ideas which it is hoped will make the initiation a successful one.

At the last meeting of the group, it was decided that, although a man may receive his block for participation in athletics throughout the semester, he will not be eligible for membership to the society unless he takes the initiation.

No Rough Stuff

In order to allay the fear of numerous of the men that they will be singled out for punishment and be forced to undergo severe paddling and the like, Russ Sweet, faculty adviser of the society, says, "the boys have decided to eliminate physical torture, and the rough stuff will be banned. In its place, new and more subtle methods of torment have been devised."

Peterson's committee has already chosen a new and ludicrous type of costume for the neophytes which will add to the hilarity of the day.

"I sincerely hope that all men receiving blocks will put in an appearance on this momentous occasion," declared Treacy Slattery, president of the Block Club.

Banquet At Night

As a fitting postlude to an eventful day, the members of the society will adjourn to one of the more popular restaurants in the evening to partake of a sumptuous repast.

Honored guests at the society's banquet will include Archibald J. Cloud, president of the college, and Edwin C. Browne, dean of men.

Hotel And Restaurant Prexy In Long Drive

Carl Rutledge, president of the Hotel and Restaurant Society of the college, won the State Hotel Association golf driving contest with a record breaking drive of 295 yards at the Coronado course.

He received a silver combination pencil and rule, which was donated by the Music Corporation of America. Rutledge said, "I'll never let it out of my hands, it has a certain sentimental attachment to it, and from now on is my one 'good luck piece!' About the 295 yard drive—pshaw, twaren't nuthin'."

All-Conference

Again the football season comes to a close, and again The Guardsman sports staff conforms to tradition by presenting its selections for an "All Northern California Junior College Conference" eleven. The field this year was narrowed down by the fact that the conference boasted only four members, and only conference players were considered, but next week's all-opponent team, chosen by the gridders themselves, will include players from all of the eight teams met this season.

The following players were decided upon after much deliberation, and each has been consistently outstanding at his own position. In several positions, notably in the backfield, there was so little difference between the first and second teams as to make practically no difference, in which case the preference was given the man having played the largest number of minutes in conference games.

FIRST TEAM	POS.	SECOND TEAM
Davenport (SF)	LE	Schmidt (Mod.)
Camara (Sac.)	LT	Paletta (Mod.)
Pranevicius (Mod.)	LG	Bierwith (SF)
Peterson (SF)	C	Maben (Mod.)
Rozario (Mod.)	RG	Jones (SF)
Rickert (Mod.)	RT	Schoenstein (SF)
Lindsay (Mod.)	RE	Wiechers (SF)
Silva (SM)	Q	Bradley (Mod.)
Reid (Sac.)	LH	Fex (SF)
J. Verducci (SF)	RH	Reginato (Sac.)
Hildebrand (Mod.)	F	Woerner (Sac.)

HONORABLE MENTION: Ends: Gray (SF), Manuel (SF), Machek (Mod.), Cox and Cox (Mod.), Wai (Sac.), Vast (SF); Tackles: Carignani (SF), McGovern (SF); Guards: Swanson (SF), Hickson (SF), Flamm (Cornell), Vucinich (Lowell), Goldberg (Pitt.); Centers: Du Fosse (SF), Diehl (SF), Demetrakopolus (Mod.), Despotakiswowwow (SF); Backs: Toland (Mod.), Baber (SF), F. Verducci (SF), Mullins (SF), Ingalls (Mod.), Lansdell (USC), Bottari (Cal.), Grange (Illinois), Cardwell (Oakland), Bann (SF), (fullback), Gaddy (USF), Fechtner (Napa), Baker (Wolohan's), White (Washington Redskins), Hitler (Berlin P.U.), Snodgrass (Slippery Rock), Merriwell (Yale), Higginbottom (Temperature Normal), Cloud, Archie (Powell Street Polecats), Kitchener (Khartoum).

Sweet Organizes Ski Club; Meet Tomorrow, Galileo

Formation of a ski club for members of the college interested in winter sports will be discussed tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 at a meeting to be held in Room 205 at Galileo. Sponsor of the movement is Russell Sweet of the athletic department.

"We expect a large turnout at this meeting," said Sweet, "as we know that there is a great deal of interest among the students in skiing and other winter sports. We are appealing to both beginners and veterans to help us get this move started, and we hope to secure enough members so that trips can be made into the snow country at a reduced expense."

A similar organization existed last winter, but was started so late that the members had little opportunity to make any trips. By getting started early, Sweet hopes to find enough interested students to make it possible to organize and travel as a unit on expeditions to the mountains.

Ed Curcio, Willie Blackfield, and Hal Fisher, ace prospects for the 1939 casaba varsity, pose in the gym during a recent workout.

Ram Basketballers In Tough Opener Friday

Basketeers

Opalinski To Lead Attack; Curcio And Fischer Also Start

By Dave Johnson

Meeting the fast Howard Insurance Company five and the Olympic Club Cardinals on December 2, "Dutch" Conlan's boys will have their hands full as the Insurance team and the Winged O'ers will tramp onto the hardwood of the Galileo gym loaded to the gunn'ls with fancy floormen and sure-shot-shooters, aiming to dump the highly touted Junior College aggregation.

Alex Opalinski, who has not put in an appearance at practice, due to playground direction work, will start one of the two contests and will be flanked by such veterans as Ed Curcio, Hal Fischer, Willie Blackfield and either George Bedrosian or Jack Wolf.

Many Aspirants

Attempting to work their respective ways into the traveling varsity five will be "Red" Burrowes, Paul Le Baron, Floyd Lawrence, Tom Pauli, Bill Ward, Jake Waxman, a new center, and a host of other lads who seem to have what it takes.

These boys will no doubt put on a good show against whichever one of the two teams it is their good fortune to go up against.

The Coast Section of the Northern California Junior College Conference will begin regular play on the 25th of January and continue until the 24th of February. Two games are to be played each week, one on Wednesday and the other on Friday. They will be of the home and home variety.

Schedule Listed

Schedule of San Francisco Junior College as follows:

Wed. Jan 25	Menlo at S.F.
Fri. Jan. 27	S.F. at Menlo
Wed. Feb. 1	S.F. at Santa Rosa
Fri. Feb. 3	Santa Rosa at S.F.
Wed. Feb. 8	S.F. at Marin
Fri. Feb. 10	Marin at S.F.
Wed. Feb. 15	S.F. at Salinas
Fri. Feb. 17	Salinas at S.F.
Wed. Feb. 22	San Mateo at S.F.
Fri. Feb. 24	S.F. at San Mateo

Red, Blue Rifleers To Vie Tomorrow

For the first time in San Francisco Junior College shooting history, the two college rifle teams will vie with one another in a routine league match.

The match is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon in the Galileo rifle range. The Red team, because of its two consecutive victories, is favored at about 2-1.

However, although the Blue squad dropped one out of two league matches, it is given a good chance to come out ahead by Bill Hancock, team coach.

SPORT SHORTS

● ICE HOCKEY

Football, boxing, jai-alai, and wrestling have all been prominently mentioned as being the sports which carry the greatest element of danger, and the ones in which a person is most likely to be hurt. The king-pin in this field, however, is ice hockey. Concussions of the brain, bone fractures, deep cuts, and severed tendons are injuries which all hockey players are subject to, and frequently suffer.

● TENNIS

Bill Canning, No. 2 man on the Ram racket squad, is the nemesis of Hal Wagner who holds down first position for Wilson's netmen. Although Wagner has been placed ahead of Canning in the sectional tennis rankings in the past few years, the chubby ex-Poly High star has never defeated the Alamedan in match play. Canning holds four victories over Wagner in tournament play, but Wagner is expected to score his first win when the pair meet in the finals of the college championships, if they meet.

● BASKETBALL

Angelo "Hank Luisetti, Stanford's great scoring ace of the past four seasons who holds the world record for scoring, was not high-point man in the AAA league while competing at Galileo High School in his senior year. The Stanford dead-eye was topman in league scoring while a junior in high school, but was surpassed by Al Baylacq of Poly in his last year.

WILSONMEN DEFEAT MENLO

Local Netsters Will Meet Cal Frosh Soon

Ram Shinkickers Ragged In 2-0 Win; Menlo Star Contributes Goal To Locals

Taking the peninsulans in stride, Coach Tom Wilson's shinkickers scored a 2-0 victory over the Menlo Junior College soccer squad in a Northern California Intercollegiate League game at the Menlo field last week.

Although never in danger, the Rams were far from impressive in their win, displaying ragged form and having one of their goals presented to them by an Acorn fullback.

Eads Scores

Early in the first half, the peninsula backfield man was hard-pressed by Ram forwards, and kicked the ball back toward his own goalie. The goalie was caught unawares, and before he had rubbed the sleep out of his eyes, the ball had slithered past him, and through the goal posts for a San Francisco score.

Eads, tricky Ram inside left who was the outstanding San Franciscan on the field, tallied the other goal in the third quarter, booting one in from 20 yards out.

Jan Blomquist, local center forward, and Bob Nicco, inside right, main Ram scoring threats, were off form, and unable to contribute any tallies to the Ram cause.

Two San Francisco stalwarts, Bob Campbell and Hal Stoltze, failed to show, and their non-appearance materially weakened the local outfit.

Wilson Comments

Commenting upon the schedule which includes such famed opponents as California, Stanford, and the University of San Francisco, Wilson said, "too much credit cannot be given the lads for their showing this season against major university teams. Although we are rather low in the league standings, it must be remembered that the boys are competing with older, more-experienced players.

"Evidence of the quality of our players may be found in the fact that we have suffered but one loss to a junior college aggregation and also hold a win over that same team."

Two more games remain on the Ram schedule. The locals take on California in the first encounter, and then meet the University of San Francisco in the final game of the season.

S. F. Racqueteers Favored In Bear, Indian Encounters; Wagner, Dee To Clash

Coach Tom Wilson announces that the Ram racket brigade will definitely meet the California and Stanford freshmen tennis squads within the next few weeks.

Both of the university teams are expected to furnish the locals with plenty of opposition, but Wilson expects the Ram netsters to come through with flying colors.

Of the two frosh outfits, California Golden Bears loom as the severest test.

Former California State boy's champion, Ronald Edwards, San Jose southpaw, and Glen Hippenstiel, a member of the Southern California Junior Davis Cup team, are the Bear standouts, and they will receive support from other bay region junior stars.

Dee Stanford Ace

According to the latest reports, the young Indians are strictly a one-man team.

Larry Dee, former Galileo High lad who won the AAA title two years running, headlines the Stanford team, but the supporting cast is not quite up to par.

Dee, who might be considered the mythical national junior champion holding the Atlantic Seaboard title, the Western States crown, and the Pacific Coast championship, is undoubtedly the West's greatest junior.

Hal Wagner, Ram standout, will do battle with the Stanford youngster in the feature match, and although Dee has conquered the chubby San Franciscan seven times running, it is not inconceivable that Wagner will rise to the heights and overcome his favored opponent.

Rams Favored

The San Franciscans will enter each of the matches the favorites, presenting a well-balanced team replete with returning veterans and outstanding new comers.

Matches in the college championships being played at the Palace of Fine Arts courts daily, are now reaching the crucial stage with play entering the quarter-final round.

Wilson asks that all men who have not reported to the courts for their matches, do so at once so that the championships may be completed.

'Old King Football' Resurrected By Eisan Next Mon.

Old "King Football", having just kicked up his heels at the home of the Ram, is to be resurrected on Monday afternoon, December 5th at Galileo gym.

On this day, Coach Lee Eisan wishes to meet all prospective candidates for the 1939 eleven, in order to discuss with them the advisability of holding spring practice and to find out the course of studies of each in order to hold practice at a time that will be convenient to the players without affecting their scholastics.

Don't forget the date and place, Monday, December 5th, Galileo gym, 2 o'clock.

ADVERTISEMENT

WOULD YOU LIKE SOME XMAS TIPS?

Consult "Nob Hill Promotions, Ltd."

Agents: Dick Simpers, Ray Berns, John Julius, Willie Frantz.

USE YOUR SKILL! ARE YOU PSYCHIC? WHO WILL WIN?

SPORT SHORTS

● TRACK

Ram prospects for a bright season are exceptionally high what with the entrance into college of several ex-high school stars, and the fact that Coach Russ Sweet will devote all of his time into turning out a winning squad. The past few years, Russ has been busy with football, but with the installation of Lee Eisan as head football coach, Sweet will be free to give the tracksters his unlimited knowledge on the cinder sport.

● ROLLER DERBY

The skating and winning of points in the Roller Derby which went over with a bang in this town last summer, was all rehearsed, but the fights, entered into so heartily by some of the lads and lassies were not. We have it on definite authority that although a few of the fisticuff encounters were "put on" for show, the great majority were a result of the tension aroused in competitive sports. The friction blew over quickly, however, and no grudges were held.

● INTERNATIONAL SPORT

Throwing out swimming as a sport which just naturally would be international, one finds that the only sport participated in by all nations of the globe is tennis. Although baseball and football have been taken up by other nations, they are primarily American. The English-speaking countries, Great Britain, and the United States sponsor golf, while soccer is a favorite with the Latin nations, but tennis stands supreme internationally.

RAMbling Around

By Dick Simpers

Since it's usually the custom, around this time of year, to select mythical "ideal" elevens from one place or another, we now take great pleasure in presenting for your criticism our "All-Pacific Coast" team. We know there's going to be a lot of moaning and groaning about this, but it's still the way it looks to us. As usual, the Guardsman stands supreme!

FIRST TEAM	POS.	SECOND TEAM
STANLEY (U.S.C.)	LE	ANAHU (SANTA CLARA)
WOLFF (SANTA CLARA)	LT	GASPAR (U.S.C.)
POOLE (STANFORD)	LG	WALDEN (OREGON)
DOWD (ST. MARY'S)	C	SCHIECHL (SANTA CLARA)
MESAK (ST. MARY'S)	RG	PLASCH (CAL.)
DE VARONA (CAL.)	RT	HILL (WASHINGTON)
COUGHLAN (SANTA CLARA)	RE	DOLMAN (CAL.)
BOTTARI (CAL.)	Q	JOHNSTON (WASH.)
KLOTOVICH (ST. MARY'S)	LH	PELLIGRINI (SANTA CLARA)
BRAGA (U.S.F.)	RH	ROBINSON (PASADENA J.C.)
LANSDELL (U.S.C.)	F	ANDERSON (CAL.)

• • • •

Watch next week for our All-American selections.

• • • •

While on the subject of made-up teams, it might not be amiss to note that a recent issue of the "Sentinel" of Sioux City, Iowa, lists Jerry Flamm, former Ram gridder, on its "All-Midwestern Conference" team as first-string tackle. Flamm played the past season at Cornell College in Iowa, after having been a mainstay of Russ Sweet's championship 1937 eleven. Local boys makes good!

• • • •

Saturday night, December 10, will find the members of the football squad tripping the light fantastic at a dinner dance, obligingly tendered them by the school as a substitute for the cancelled trip to Utah. Things have reached a pretty pass when such sturdy chaps as Stan Bierwith, Jack DuFosse, and Neil Swanson forsake the gridiron for the pleasures of the waltz, the fox-trot, and the Lambeth Walk. Tsk, tsk.

• • • •

The Block Society initiation next week is being looked forward to with apprehension by some of the more timid souls who are slated to receive athletic awards, and with anticipation by bloodthirsty members of the society. President Treacy Slattery assures us, however, that bloodshed will be discouraged this year, and that prospective members need have no fear of being gone over too strenuously.

• • • •

This semester's political race is undoubtedly the hottest in the history of the college, and has aroused so much interest that numbers of the local sporting gentry have made its outcome the subject of speculation. The major campus syndicate is quoting as high as 20 to 1 on some of the candidates, with plenty of action reported.

Women's Sport Parade

By Carol Pickering

Some of the talent to be presented at the Sophomore High Jinks tonight, will be drawn from the ranks of the Women's Athletic Association. Janet Ball, Peggy Kamper, and Mary Miller will do two tap numbers. The jingle of the piano and the constant ring of metal taps against the wooden floor of the Galileo gym last week, is proof that the girls are ready to swing it for the audience. See you tonight.

Members of the modern dancing class are busy creating their own dances. Exultation, despair, strength, and sorrow are some of the themes of the dances.

Social dancers will beat time to music next Friday from 3:30 to 5 in the Galileo gym when they will hold their end of the semester dance. The dance will be for members of the class exclusively.

• • • •

Rifle matches with foreign teams are to be anticipated by WAA riflers. The teams will compete by postcard, sending the scores back and forth across the ocean or up and down the continent. Membership in the National Rifle Association has made competition possible.

• • • •

Ann Agnew of Verrel Weber's archery class has made the most bull's eyes this semester. Her score was also higher than those of the guests invited for Tourney Week.

• • • •

Our own WAA is going AFCW, which is somewhat an honor. The AFCW is none other that the Associated Federation of College Women, a national society. In joining this organization the WAA will gain the privileges of other colleges and universities of the United States, one of which is attendance to the national conference to be held at the University of California.

• • • •

The tennis and badminton clubs have been invited to Marin County December 3 for a playday. The only catch is that the games are scheduled for 8:15 in the morning. The racqueteers have not yet decided whether to attend or not.

• • • •

Swimmers have until December first to make up classes. The YWCA pool will be closed then for redecoration and the erstwhile home of the mermaids will be abandoned for a high 'n' dry room in the upper receptacles of the "Y" where the classes will carry on as usual.

• • • •

Winners of the trophies presented at the Tourney Week Horse Show are as follows: The crop donated by Spisos was won by a girl from Galileo High School in the High School events, the three silver horses donated by WAA were received by Robert Bourne for the beginners walk, trot, and canter, Lorraine Nash for intermediate walk, trot, and canter, and riding manager Pat Jenks for advanced walk, trot, and canter.

The San Francisco Riding Academy donated four free rides for the first place in jumping, and for intermediate games.

Pasadena Lads Get Rough As Prelim To Traditional Game; Riot Squad Called

By ED VAN DER VEEN

California and Stanford are not the only colleges that can stage pre-big game riots judging from reports emanating from the Southland. Cal Tech and Pasadena Junior College produced a honey as a prelude to their annual game for the Pasadena city championship last Wednesday night, which Pasadena Junior College won, 39-6.

It all started when a number of the usually studious Beavers paid a visit to the Junior College campus and attempted to hoist their flag on the Pasadena flagpole. Naturally incensed at the attempt, a couple of hundred Bulldogs combined to repel the invasion and chase the Techmen back to their own campus, about half a mile down the road from the Junior College.

On arrival there, the Bulldogs, by this time fully in the spirit of the occasion, continued the riot, while the comparatively small party of Beavers was reinforced by compatriots from the dormitories.

In the confusion, a number of Junior Collegians were shanghaied into various fraternity houses and somewhat fancifully decorated by their "hosts". Said decoration consisted of a tonsorial operation resulting in a T-shaped tuft, the cross-bar being across their foreheads, and the down-bar extending to the back of their craniums.

In the mean-time the party outside had been getting rough, a goodly number of windows having become targets for rocks. The landscaping of the Tech campus also had received its share of attention. At this juncture, the local riot squad appeared on the scene, with the result at last reports being—seven assorted collegians in jail, six in the hospital, and seven canceling all social engagements for a time.

Club Advisory Board Reorganizes; Group Adopts Working Rules

Bill Frantz Leads Newly Organized Press Association

Reorganization of the Club Advisory Board was effected last week when a set of new by-laws was adopted by the Board.

By-laws of the Club Advisory Board, now in effect are as follows:

All charters approved during or after Spring 1939 shall be good until revoked.

Clubs shall be ruled active or suspended by the Board within six weeks of the beginning of the semester on basis of submitted blank containing the following information:

1. Name of club.
2. Officers, including official repersentatives to Board. Change of delegate can be made by written notification only.
3. Faculty adviser.
4. Fifteen active members unless Board rules otherwise by two-thirds vote.
5. Two scheduled meetings are required.
6. Tentative schedule of activities.
7. Tentative budget of income and expenses.
8. Up to date copy of constitution.

If information contained therein is not approved club will be suspended.

Recommendation to the Ex-Council for revocation of charter shall be made if club has been suspended for two consecutive semesters.

Press . . . meeting last week at Galileo High School, the literary-minded students of the college formed the San Francisco Junior College Press Club and elected the following as officers for the ensuing semester: president, Bill Frantz; vice-president, Dorothy Trood; secretary-treasurer, Ray Berns.

Purpose of the club is to promote educational and social activity among journalism students.

To be a member, a student must belong to a staff of one of the Associated Student publications.

Joan Nourse, journalism instructor, has been chosen as faculty adviser to the group.

• • •

Peace Society . . . will hold a meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Helen Du Bois, 678-37th Avenue. The topic to be discussed will be the O'Connell Amendment to the present Neutrality Act. Gaylord Greenly and Patricia Healy will lead the discussion, announced Robert Porter, president of the society.

• • •

Pick and Hammer . . . will hold a meeting today for the election of officers at the home of George L. Green, sponsor of the club.

• • •

Next meeting of the Hotel and Restaurant Management Society will be held December 6, at the Powell Street Building at 7 p.m. Business of the evening will be election of officers for the coming semester. At the adjournment of the meeting, members will depart for the bowling alleys to practice for their future tilts with other college bowling teams. The basketball team of the society is being primed to accept the challenge of the Tri Epsilon Fraternity for a game in the near future.

• • •

Home Economics Association . . . celebrating their annual Christmas party, members of the Home Economics Association will gather at the home of Claire Cuneo, home economics instructor, 3047 Divisadera Street, on December 16 from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock for an afternoon of gayety, with Santa distributing gifts to members in the true Christmas spirit. "Initiation of new members will also take place," said Teckla Regoli, president, "and those still wishing to join should see the treasurer, Violet Burgess, before the above date." Committee's consist of the following officers: president, Teckla Regoli; vice-president, Dixie McCormick; secretary, Helen Hicky, and treasurer, Violet Burgess. Mary Scatterbol, Nancy Ross, and Joy Anna Mack will make up the entertainment committee.

• • •

Rifle and Pistol Club . . . Thursday and Friday, December 1 and 2, final election of officers will take place in the Rifle Range by ballot during classes. The following are the candidates for the various offices: president, Charles North, Henry Cavagnola, and William Gibson; vice-president, Jane Mitchell, and Marion Schriet; secretary, Teresa Scott; treasurer, Willard Eichel, Bob Darr, and Walter Voigt; board of control, Howard Markovits, Louis Goldstone, George Humphry, and Art McSain. After finals, the newly elected president will give a Christmas party. "Tickets will be 50 cents, and everyone planning to attend should procure them from the club treasurer before the party," urged president Howard Markovits.

• • •

Alpha Phi Omega is holding its semi-annual luncheon at the Riviera on Saturday, December 3, 1938, at 12:30 p.m.

Candidates for the offices of next term are as follows: president, Frances Herndon and Camille Condratte; vice-president, Betty Roth and Matena Ellis; secretary, Dorothy Trood and Eunice Lawrence; treasurer, Barbara Orack, Muriel Nolan, Mary Saratt and Irene Williams; historian, Kay Lloyd, Josephine Crull, Phyllis Roberts and Mildred Gray.

• • •

Planning a huge blowout to round out the semester's activities, the Army and Navy Club will hold a meeting Wednesday, November 30, at the home of Walter Thompson, 533-14th Avenue, according to Gordon Sollman, president.

Meeting with meagre success, the toy drive sponsored by the club promises to continue until the end of the semester, announced Sollman.

• • •

George Washington Society . . . holds its meetings on Friday afternoons at 2:07 at Galileo in Room 205. All De Molays, Rainbow Girls, Job's Daughters, and those with any Eastern Star or Masonic affiliations are urged to attend.

• • •

Members of the Tarbuth Society will hold their first social function since the inauguration of the club several weeks ago, on Saturday night, December 3, at the Jewish synagogue on 14th Avenue and Clement Street, at 8 p.m., according to Daniel Rosenblat, president of the group.

"Bids will be issued to members of the society during this week, and all those who attend will be assured of a good time," said Jacqueline Kramer, chairman of the social committee. All members desiring additional information are requested to see Miss Kramer, Leonard Gross or Harold Hoffman.

Admission to the social is by invitation only, and no one will be admitted without a bid.

• • •

Chinese Club . . . will hold a general meeting December 2 at the church on the corner of Jackson and Powell Streets. The meeting will start at 9 p.m. and all members are urged to attend, as election of officers for next semester will be held.

• • •

Japanese Club . . . will hold its next meeting on Saturday evening, December 3 at 7:45 p.m. at the Sturges Memorial Hall, located at 1516 Post Street, announced Kiyoshi Kimoto, president of the club.

• • •

Alpha Lambda Chi . . . the barn-dance date has been postponed until Wednesday, December 21, according to the officers. It will be held at Sigmond Stern Grove, with refreshments, officers said.

The members of the sorority, are allowed to invite guests, one couple to each member. The dress is to be barn clothes, and the admission to be charged in a novel manner. Rumor indicates that "a penny an inch" will rule the admissions.

On December 1, Thursday, the last meeting of this semester will be held and all members are urged to attend.

• • •

Pi Mu Gamma . . . Harold Hoffman, president, announced that a special meeting to elect officers for next semester will be held in the near future.

Glenn A. Noble, adviser of the club said, "I want to thank members for their fullest cooperation making possible a most successful semester.

"The dance held Wednesday, November 23, was very successful," said Hoffman, "with several faculty members present."

• • •

Alpha Gamma Sigma . . . all students who have earned scholarship pins for the semester may get them at the Bank at Galileo not later than Wednesday, November 30, officers announced.

There are no more meetings scheduled for this semester.

• • •

Phi Beta Rho . . . nominations were made for the next semester's officers: president, Jean Collins; vice-president, Barbara Curryer and Jerry Fisher; recording secretary, Virginia Pearson and Janet Ball; corresponding secretary, Margaret Jack and Marian Falconer; historian, Adele Kuhn. These candidates will be voted upon at the next meeting.

A committee was appointed of which Marge Pomeroy and Marian Androvitch have charge to make all the final arrangements for the mother's tea to be held Sunday, December 4 at the home of Ruth Graham.

• • •

Forestry . . . held a special meeting Monday night for the nomination of officers. A regular meeting will be held today for the purpose of electing officers. The club is making plans for a field day to be held with the Pick and Hammer Club, but this will not be held until next semester. The meeting today is of special importance, for final plans are to be made concerning the banquet.

• • •

French Club . . . will hold its last meeting of the semester tomorrow night at the home of Robert Stetter at 3933 Kirkham Street, between 43rd and 44th Avenues.

"Tomorrow night's meeting will be the deadline for members to sign up for themselves and their friends for the club's last social function—the dinner dance to be held at the Club Lido Saturday night, December 17," announced Helen Garbe, president.

• • •

Women's Service Society . . . Monday, December 5 in the Western Woman's Club at 7 p.m., the Women's Service Society will hold its semi-annual initiation banquet, according to Marjorie Wright, WSS president.

The new members to be initiated are: Gloria Miller, Annette Schunick, Norma Hoffman, Claire Presley, Gyta Anderson. Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar, and Margaret Dougherty, instructor, were invited, along with the following alumnae: Ethel Clarkson, who was the first WSS president, Dorothy Canovan, Norma Parent, Florence Murphy, Parnell Brown, Ruth Johnson, Helen Davis, and Pamela Spalding.

Phyllis Learned will act as chairman for the banquet. Following the banquet will be a meeting held to elect officers for next semester.

An investigation committee is working to figure out a means with which to reduce the price of text books. Marge Wright, Joyanna Mack, Betty McAlister, Margaret Park, Gloria Miller, and Phyllis Learned comprise this committee.

The members of the WSS were asked to serve as hostesses at the San Francisco Junior College Council dinner, December 6. They are also helping with the invitations.

• • •

Physical Education Majors . . . will hold a Christmas party Sunday, December 4 at 3:30, the place to be posted on the bulletin board. A guest speaker from the University of California and one from the Recreation Department of San Francisco will be present to give pointers on the profession. Many types of entertainment will be offered and gifts will be exchanged.

Minnesota was the 24th state of the Union to move toward participation in the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

News From Other Colleges

In addition to a marching band, Washington State College has a highly efficient women's drill team which functions at all athletic events.

• • •

Pasadena Junior College now has its own printing press at which is published the student paper and year book. The paper is printed during regular class periods by the members of the college printing classes.

• • •

Several coeds of San Jose State College fasted last Thursday in sympathy with the endless starvation in China, and also in anticipation of what might happen in this country within a few years.

• • •

Emenating from the St. Mary's Collegian comes the report that at a certain college, the men have a protective association which blacklists girls guilty of gold digging, date breaking, and flirting with other men while on dates. Fines are levied on members who date blacklisted femmes.

• • •

Students of Washington State College present their own weekly radio programs over a local station. The program consists of amateurs from the college who can sing or play any instrument.

• • •

Bing Crosby, Elliot Nugent, and John Howard have been selected by Washington State College to act as judges in a "Dream Girl" contest on the campus.

College Aptitude Tests Scheduled December 7 In Galileo Cafeteria

College aptitude tests for new students will be given on Wednesday, December 7, at 1:15 p.m. at the Galileo cafeteria. All students now enrolled who have not heretofore taken the tests are requested to do so, Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar, announced.

"Since this is the last time this semester that the examinations will be given, all students who have not as yet taken them must do so. The college aptitude tests are a required part of registration," Miss Learnard said.

The vocational interest, and English and reading examinations for new students will be given Thursday, December 8, in the Galileo cafeteria.

SOPHOMORE LEADERS

High Sophomore class officers above, are shown busily discussing plans for the outstanding social event of the semester, the Sophomore Formal, which will be held this Friday night at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel. Left to right, the officers are Ben Papapietro, vice-president; Stan Tobiason, president; Ruth Graham, secretary. Bids for the Formal are on sale at the Galileo bank, at the price of $1.25; only a limited number are available. Also being staged by the High Sophomores is tonight's High Jinks at Galileo, which will highlight the "Sophomore Week" which is now under way.

College Faculty Members Attend Health Conference At College Of Pacific

Two members of the college faculty attended the Sixth Annual Conference of the American Student Health Association held at the College of the Pacific, Stockton, November 25 and 26 during the Thanksgiving holidays. Representing the college were President A. J. Cloud and Joseph A. Amori, physical education instructor.

President Cloud's speech at Stockton was on "Organization and Administration." Amori spoke on the "Status and Evaluation of Hygiene Instruction in California Junior Colleges."

Procedures in terms of athletic insurance, athletic costs, apportionment of student funds, and hygiene of training, were topics discussed at the conference.

Student Health Director Dr. Walter Brown and Oliver Byrd of Stanford University were on the same program.

ESSAY CONTEST

(Continued from page 1)

The essays, not to exceed 1000 words, are to be written on the general subject of contributions of Pacific cultures and resources to contemporary civilization. Any topic under the general subject heading, discussing some notable contribution from the Pacific Area to world civilization, may be chosen.

Missouri was first state to dedicate its building at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

College Broadcast Over KSAN Begins January 5

Beginning Thursday, January 5, 1939, and continuing every Thursday for an indefinite period, station KSAN is scheduling a half hour program devoted to the college.

Bill Switzer, who obtained the program, plans for sports interviews, skits presented by the college dramatic club, interviews with members of the faculty, and local news in college circles. The programs, running once a week, would be passed upon by the Executive Council, the administration, and KSAN.

Switzer has experience in radio programs, having worked for station KGGC over a period of several months.

Reply to Switzer's request for a junior college program follows:

November 25, 1938

Mr. W. W. Switzer
San Francisco Junior College
San Francisco, California
Dear Mr. Switzer:

Our schedule beginning January 1, 1939 shows that there is time available every Thursday which you may use for a Junior College Program such as you described in your letter of November 23rd.

It will be a pleasure to make this time available to you upon presentation to us of three programs prepared in advance.

Sincerely yours,
KSAN,
William C. Grove
Assistant Manager

FINAL EXAMINATIONS—ROOM CHANGES

	Instructor	Room
8:00 T-Th classes at Galileo on Thursday, December 15, 2:30 to 5:30
Art 28a	Allman	350
Business 51a	Stough	260
Business 51a	Zarchin	314
Civil Engineering 1a	Jacobs	408
English 1a (T-Th-F)	Bracher	413
Geography 5a	Williams	357
History 4a	Gerstung	458
History 4b	Bolton	414
Hygiene 1	Wilson	206
Hygiene 2	Bergin	207
Hygiene 2	Spencer	205
Landscape Architechture 52a	Herman	454
Mech. Engineering 6	Mayo	353
Physics 1a	Agosti	362
Phys. Ed. 61	Keller	303
Psychology 20	Turner	304
Psychology 50	Cain	305
1:00 T-Th classes at Galileo on Friday, December 9, 2:30 to 5:30
Botany 1a	Porter	457, 458
Business 72	McKelvey	251
Economics 1a (T-Th-F)	Goss	261
English 19a	Gatley	413
Geography 3	Williams	456
Geography 8a	McKiernan	207
Geology 48	Green	362
History 45	Gerstung	304
Landscape Architecture 51	Herman	454
Psychology 51	Horowitz	415
Psychology 55	Cain	305
Subject A	Perham	255
Subject A	Sandys	152
11:00 M-W-F classes at Galileo on Thursday, December 8, 2:30 to 5:30
Art 1a	Allman	454
Business 90	Zarchin	314
Chemistry 12	Tomer	357
Chemistry 53b	Forbes	408
English 1b	Perham	255
English 1b	Brennan	355
English 1a	Gatley	413
English 16a	Cooper	251
French A	Cranston	303
French A	Kelly	456
Geology 1b	Green	362
German 25a	Delfs	411
Home Economics 51a	Cuneo	317
Italian B	Maggetti	404
Latin C	Soule	403
Math 1a	Clark	414
Math 1a	Horowitz	415
Math 3a	Bass, Camp, Mayo	457, 458
Math 4b	McCarty	353
Philos 5b	Goldshur	261
Physics 2b	Finney	462
Physiology 12a	Ralston	310
Political Science 15	Hughes	465
Political Science 18a	Ross	350

Community Chest's Annual Drive Has Begun, Have You Given!

PASS YOUR EXAMS!
Coaching of Daily Work
Help with Special Problems
French, Spanish, Italian, German
ROBERT de NIVELLE
DElaware 9987

YOUR OLD BOOKS are GOOD FOR CASH at The Student Store
518 POWELL STREET

Junior College Council Plans Celebration On December 6

New Magazine Reviews At College Library Feature Stage Arts

Movie of the week for San Franciscans is Brother Rat, hilarious tale of cadets at the famous Virginia Military Institute now appearing at the local theaters. A magazine review of the play as it was produced in 1937 on the New York stage, may be found in either the February, 1937 edition of Theater Arts Monthly or Time for December 28, 1936.

The dramatic story of the life and loves of the waltz king, Johann Strauss is brought to the screen for theatergoers under the title of The Great Waltz. According to Time for November 14 of this year, this screen version of the great composer's life is one of the best movies of its type ever produced.

A question that is facing thousands of Jews in Germany, and millions of others throughout the world, Whither Refugees? is discussed by Henry G. Leach in the current issue of Forum. This problem, which has become vital to every nationality is presented as frankly as is possible and students desiring the truth about the situation are urged to read this article, which may be acquired at the college library along with the other magazines mentioned above.

RAM'S HORN

(Continued from page 2)

gave all students a vote in student affairs.

It was only after we convinced him that he would be the ONLY candidate who represented the students and not a privileged minority did he consent to run.

This was the ideal set-up by the "Committee of 200"! Then it happened—an opportunist made the statement that "some day I'll run this school."

When be found that he couldn't run Bill Switzer he became the typical malcontent, tried to disrupt the committee, and when he failed to interrupt the smooth co-operation of students working for an ideal, he dissented, found a candidate whom he thought he could control and ran him for president.

This letter is to inform the students that any backbiting misrepresentation made on the part of any individuals that any one but Bill Switzer represents the "Committee of 200" is entirely false and without foundation.

Committeeman

Striking views of San Francisco's two famous bridges, of Alcatraz Island and the San Francisco skyline are obtained from Treasure Island, site of the 1939 California World's Fair.

Parents, Students Invited To Attend Christmas Party

Extending its invitation through Joseph E. Williams, president, the San Francisco Junior College Council will welcome all students and their parents, members of the faculty and friends of the college to the first annual Christmas Party to be held in the college dining hall at Galileo on the evening of December 6, at 6:30 p.m.

"This function, the first of its type in the history of the college, will be an all junior college affair," Williams said. "Entertainment for the evening will be furnished by the college A Cappella Choir, food and service by the college Hotel and Restaurant division. Sponsoring will be that of the college council, and the attendance will be made up of all our friends"

Choir Sings

The program scheduled by the A Cappella Choir will include: Processional, Adeste Fideles; Ill Do Thou Defend Me, from St. Matthew's; Passion by Bach; Hodie Christus Natus Est by Willan and Tenebrae Factae Sunt by Palestrina. Robert Paroles, baritone, will sing a solo, Deep River, by Arthur Fisher and the trumpet quartet will render two numbers. This will be followed by the choir singing La Ci Darem la Mano from Don Giovanni by Mozart.

A duet from the operetta Eileen by Victor Herbert, Thine Alone, will be sung by Walter Scott, bass, and Patricia Keefer, soprano, with Arnold Chapin accompanying at the piano.

The Junior College Alma Mater and Shortnin' Bread by Wolfe will be sung by the quartet consisting of William Jackman, Walter Scott, Arnold Chapin and Everett Wallace.

Insure Reservations

Agnes Koras, soprano, will sing Cantique de Noel by Adam, accompanied by the Men's Double Quartet and Marie Soloman at the piano. The program will be concluded by the Choir singing In Silent Night by Brahms; Christmas Pie, old English; Wassail, old English arranged by Vaughn Williams, and The Lord Bless You by Peter Lutkin.

To insure reservations, those who plan to attend are asked to fill out the following form:

That adequate preparation may be made, please mail this form on or before Saturday, December 2, to:
Mr. Joseph E. Williams
San Francisco Junior College
Enclosed please find $........
for.................reservation for the Christmas Dinner at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, December 6, in the Junior College Dining Room in the Galileo High School Building.
Signed........................

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

CLASSES	DAY	HOUR
8 o'clock MWF and Daily	Friday, Dec. 16	9 a.m. to 12 m.
8 o'clock T Th	Thursday, Dec. 15	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.*
9 o'clock MWF and Daily	Wednesday, Dec. 14	9 a.m. to 12 m.
9 o'clock T Th	Tuesday, Dec. 13	8 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.
10 o'clock MWF and Daily	Monday, Dec. 12	9 a.m. to 12 m.
10 o'clock T Th	Thursday, Dec. 15	11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.
11 o'clock MWF and Daily	Thursday, Dec. 8	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.*
11 o'clock T Th and Daily	Tuesday, Dec. 13	11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.
12 o'clock MWF and Daily	Friday, Dec. 9	9 a.m. to 12 m.
12 o'clock T Th	Thursday, Dec. 15	8 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.
1 o'clock MWF and Daily	Thursday, Dec. 8	9 a.m. to 12 m.
1 o'clock T Th	Friday, Dec. 9	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.*
2:30 o'clock MWF and Daily	Monday, Dec. 12	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
2:30 o'clock T Th	Tuesday, Dec. 13	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
3:30 o'clock MWF and Daily	Wednesday, Dec. 14	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
3:30 o'clock T Th	Friday, December 16	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
4:30 o'clock MWF, T Th, Daily	Friday, December 16	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

LEARN "CONTRACT BRIDGE" . . . — A Social Necessity —
SUPERVISED GROUPS DAILY
NORTHERN CALIFORNIA BRIDGE STUDIO
530 MASON STREET near Sutter
ARTHUR WATERMAN, Culbertson Associate SUtter 9558

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS
The Guardsman
SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE
Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1938 No. 15

Newmans Sponsor Dance At Galileo Gym December 16, 8 P.M.

Complete Registration Information Will Be Found On Back Page

Book Exchange To Be Founded Next Semester

WSS To Operate New Project In Effort To Cut Book Expenses

Acting on a recommendation by the Executive Council, the Women's Service Society last week undertook the establishment and operation of a used text-book exchange.

To be started at the beginning of next semester, this exchange is designed to fill a need of long standing in the college, and reduce the book expenses of the average student.

Arrangements have been made by Verrel Weber, WSS adviser, to secure the use of Room 728 in the P. G and E. building to house the exchange for the first three weeks of next semester.

Investigation Conducted

The decision to establish the Exchange came after a lengthy investigation conducted this semester by Associated Students President Bob Fex and a committee appointed for the purpose, which communicated with other junior colleges throughout the state in order to discover the most practical means of operating such a project. The replies received have been considered, and the best features of the various plans suggested will be used.

Marge Wright, President of the Service Society, has appointed a committee to handle arrangements for the exchange; it is composed of Betty McAllister, Joyanna Mack, Margaret Park, Gloria Miller, and Phyllis Learned.

Project Applauded

The practicality and advisability of such an exchange here has been a topic of discussion for the past three semesters, but no action had been taken before the present administration decided to look into the problem.

It is believed by student executives and members of the administration that such an exchange will serve to materially reduce the book expenditures of many students, who will be able to trade books they no longer need for ones which will be useful to them.

In commenting on the project, President Fex said, "The book exchange is one of the projects in which most interest has been shown by students, and I believe that in making possible its establishment we have taken a definite step toward bettering a condition which has long been a subject of debate and complaint."

More Than 100 Local High School Students Compete For Pageant Speaking Parts

With more than 100 students competing from local high schools for the 21 speaking parts available in the pageant of California history, enthusiasm of San Francisco schools for participation in the Golden Gate International World's Fair is running high, Marie Weller, of the college faculty, and chairman of the pageant committee, announced last week.

"The pageant of California history to be presented April 18, 1939 on Treasure Island is a pantomine," Miss Weller reported. "Although there are only 21 speaking parts, the personnel of the pageant will include more than 1200 students together with large choral and instrumental groups."

Rehearsals every afternoon for the speaking parts are being conducted at George Washington High School.

Competition among Galileo, Commerce, Lowell and George Washington High Schools for the 21 speaking parts is great, Miss Weller said, mainly because the story of California, since the coming of the white man, as it will be told by the pageant, is divided into seven episodes, with historic highlights of interest from each. The periods of California history, including the Indian, Spanish and Russian will be depicted.

Much of the effect of the pageant will be in the instrumental and vocal arrangements. Charles M. Dennis, director of music for the pageant, is drawing talent from all the city schools. A large orchestra of about 200 young musicians will be one of the musical attractions, according to Miss Weller.

Plans For New Gyms Approved; Begin In March

Occupation of Gym Plants Scheduled For Spring, 1940

Official approval by the Board of Public Works was given last week to final plans for the construction of both men's and women's gymnasiums at the new junior college plant. Work will commence on these units late next March, and it is believed that they will be complete in October of next year.

Construction of the science building, main unit of the new plant, will begin before the first of the year. Bids on its construction will be called in on December 14, and the contracts will be let on December 21. It is expected that work will be under way within a week after this date.

Plans To Sacramento

The gymnasium plans must go to Sacramento for the approval of the State Department of Education, which they are expected to receive before February 15, at the latest.

As they stand at present, the gymnasium plans call for the construction of a floor of 90 by 100 feet, and folding bleachers which, when opened, will accommodate 1050 spectators.

Occupation In 1940

Occupation of the new plant by students of the college is scheduled for the beginning of the spring semester of 1940. Although the plant will be complete in November, the fall semester will be carried through under the present arrangements, and the migration will take place following the Christmas holidays.

The complete college plant will accommodate an anticipated enrollment of 5000 students, allowing for an increase of approximately 3000 over the present figure.

Dorothy Pilgrim Elected Vice-Chairman, Student Institute, Pacific Relations

Dorothy Pilgrim, Peace Society member and college representative to the Student Institute of Pacific Relations, was chosen vice-chairman of the group at its thirteenth annual conference held recently.

New chairman of the Institute is Thomas Tillberry, former student here, and one of the college's delegates to the conference held last year. At that time he was chosen to serve as vice-chairman. Tillberry is now a student at the University of California.

Fred Hoshiyama, Japanese Student Club member and college delegate, reported to the Associated Students Executive Council that "because there were students of many nationalities and backgrounds the round table discussions and bull sessions were lively, widely differing opinions being presented. The conference was beneficial to both the delegates and the prestige of the college."

Bella Lao Edidin, campus chairman of the Institute, also attended the conference on a scholarship granted by the group's executive committee.

Large delegations from Stanford, California, San Francisco State, St. Mary's, Mills College, and other bay region institutions were present.

The institute is student controlled and administered and convenes each year during the Thanksgiving holidays for the purpose of discussing problems of the Pacific area.

Scottish Rite Hall Scene Of Alumni's Second Annual Pre-Christmas Dance

The college Alumni Association will hold its second annual dance next Friday night, December 9, at the Scottish Rite Auditorium at Sutter Street and Van Ness Avenue. This year's dance will be known as the "Pre-Christmas" dance.

The admission price is fifty cents per couple. High sophomores will be eligible for Alumni Association membership, and will pay the regular admission price, of which twenty-five cents will go to pay for the following year's [illegible] Eisan is the new adviser of the association.

"We would like to urge all graduating students especially to attend and retain acquaintances. Social success, not financial success is our aim," Tyler McHugh, president of the association emphasized.

OLD AND NEW

President Bob Fex, left, congratulates Frank Verducci on his overwhelming victory at the polls Friday and presents him with the gavel so that Frank may begin wielding the chief executive's duties at the crack of dawn of the spring semester.

Students Create Real Rumpus; Election Issue Offers Drama, Suspense, Peace

They say that there are riots in Germany, wars in China and Spain, and revolutions in South America, but it remained for the students of this college to create a real rumpus.

Now that the election is over—except for the cries of the defeated, it's pleasant to lean back in our comfortable swivel chair in our spacious newspaper office and muse in restrospect the antics occurring during our recent college election.

The vital drama of the day came as the results were being tabulated.

A gathering of fifty of sixty loyal henchmen of aspiring candidates eagerly flattened their respective assorted noses against the window pane of room 150, watching carefully every motion of the students serving on the election committee, henchmen attempted to read the usually illuminating faces of Bob Fex, Barbara Randall, John Julius, and Bill Frantz of the election committee through the window pane of the door.

Crowd Tensed

The outsiders were not aware that these personages had been warned by Dean Browne to keep poker faces during the tabulation.

The waiting crowd tensed. Miss Randall, with slow and deliberate step, unlocked the door. The crowd rolled in—as the door swung open. Showman Fex, leaped upon the table. The crowd hushed.

As your reporter, in the tenseness of the situation, looked around at the faces of the candidates, he saw a bevy of different expressions ranging

(Continued on page 4, column 4)

Josephine Martin Advises Early Morning Visits To Wholesale Produce District

Have you ever seen a purple cauliflower? Have you ever eaten pepplnos or rapini? How about seasoning your salad tonight with a bit of fresh herbs, instead of the usual canned seasonings.

If you would know something of the epicurean delights offered to the peoples of the city of San Francisco, visit the wholesale markets some early morning. Visit the wholesale district and learn about fresh vegetable and fruits as they really are.

Josephine Martin advocated the above procedure in her address to students of the hotel division last Tuesday. Mrs. Martin, whose Radio name of "Bess Buy" is well known to food purchasers of Northern California broadcasts each morning over radio station KFRC, told of the results of her early scouting in the wholesale districts.

Members of the hotel division are planning to join Mrs. Martin on her early morning tour of the wholesale district at some time in the near future.

Bank Will Be Open Part Time

During the final examination weeks the college bank will be open during a part-time schedule, announced Carl T. Stough, of the finance department.

In the first week, on Thursday, December 8, and Friday, December 9, the bank will be open from 2 o'clock until 4:30 p.m. only. In the final week the office will be open on Monday and Thursday, December 12 and 15, from 2:10 p.m. until 3:10 p.m.

Speakers Entertain Recreation Majors Club At Christmas Party

At their Christmas party last Sunday, The Physical Education and Recreation Majors Club was entertained by an address entitled Problems of Organization and Administration of Recreation by Raymond Kimball, assistant to Josephine Randall, a commissioner of the San Francisco Recreation department.

In regard to recreation courses offered in the college, Bertha Keller, instructor, declared:

"The cooperation by members of the San Francisco Recreation Commission has been marked this semester. They have approved our programs and as a result are assisting in making San Francisco recreation centers a laboratory for college students enrolled in the college recreation classes."

These classes include Theory of Play, or Administration and Organization of Recreation, and Camp Counselling, to be given for the first time next semester under the instruction of Verrel Weber.

Twenty Local Essayists Compete In Exposition Contest, Announces Gatley

Twenty students of the college are competing in the statewide essay contest sponsored by the Women's Board of the Exposition Contest Committee for students in junior high schools, high schools and junior colleges, Miriam Gatley of the English Department revealed last week as the deadline for entries was reached.

Comprising the committee to judge the college essays are Miss Gatley, Joseph Williams and Robert Parker.

Of the twenty essays submitted the committee will choose the three best and the two deserving honorable mention.

The winner of essay adjudged the most satisfactory by the committee will receive a county prize of a scrip book of admissions to the Exposition according to the rules of the contest.

The essay will then be submitted to state competition with other junior college essays. Winner of this competition will receive a cash prize of 25 dollars. Final winner among the high school entrants will be awarded 15 dollars and the junior high school winner 10 dollars.

Final awards will be announced not later than February 1, 1939.

"Purpose of the contest," said Miss Gatley, "is to arouse interest in the coming 1939 World's Fair on Treasure Island.

"The 1000 word essays have been written on the general subject of contributions of Pacific cultures and resources to contemporary civilization. Essays received and read from the college," she added, "have been very satisfactory and the committee is well pleased with the number of entrants."

Julius Succeeds Vast As Editor Of Guardsman

Will Guide Paper With Frantz, Berns In Key Positions

John Julius, present Sports Editor of The Guardsman, was chosen to fill the editor's post for the spring semester at a meeting of the editorial staff held last week.

Having gained experience in the management of the sports department this semester, Julius is expected to handle the chief of staff position capably. He has been with The Guardsman staff for the past three semesters.

Bill Frantz, present News Editor, was elected to handle the duties of Managing Editor. Frantz has been one of the most important men on the staff this semester and will be of invaluable assistance in producing next year's editions.

Berns Leads Sports

The sports department was aided immensely this semester by Ray Berns, who will succeed Julius as Sports Editor for the spring semester. Assistants on the sports desk will be named during the course of next semester.

Isadore Maloff, ace feature writer, will handle the new position of Feature Editor. He will uncover human interest stories for the paper and is expected to do a great deal toward improving that aspect of The Guardsman.

Retained in their positions were Carol Pickering as Women's Editor, Dorothy Trood as Club Editor, and Fred Bentley as Business Manager. Miss Pickering will continue to write the Women's Sports Parade. Miss Trood will supervise coverage of club news and is expected to improve that section of the paper.

Old Editors Leave

Bentley has announced his intention of broadening the business department's functions, thus continuing his development of that phase of the newspaper's work.

Remaining positions will not be filled until next semester. Progress is promising for next semester's staff as it will be comprised chiefly of experienced reporters.

Leaving The Guardsman with this issue are Fred Vast, present Editor-in-chief, and Dick Simpers, Assistant Editor, famous for his reportage of building developments, including the September bond election, and a sports scribe of repute.

The Guardsman staff will terminate its activity for the year with a banquet next week with former editors returning to be guests of honor.

NYA Work Continues Thru Vacation; Checks Dec. 27

The next pay period for NYA students will continue through part of the Christmas vacation, and will close December 17. Pay checks will be issued 10 days later on December 27, announced officials of the administration.

Edward H. Redford, director of NYA, announced that all students who may run short of hours should see him immediately. "There are several jobs available during vacation to help those who may run short, keep up their regular schedule," said Redford.

Redford also announced that there would be no reassignments unless students or faculty members or low grades made the change necessary.

Cafeteria Service During Finals

Cafeteria service at the Galileo High School will continue until the closing of Galileo High for the Christmas vacation on Friday, December 16. College students can avail themselves of this service until that date.

Tomorrow's special Blue Plate Lunch includes choice of vegetable salad or turkey soup, meat loaf with tomatoes, mashed potatoes and choice of vegetables, choice of pie, pudding, or genuine Jello, and choice of milk, coffee, tea or fruit juice.

Verducci Landslides Into President's Post

Miriam Dunne Elected Vice-President; Mitchell, Pomares Swept Into Office As New Record Vote Is Tallied

Polling nineteen votes more than those cast for his combined opponents, Frank Verducci carried off the the presidency of the Associated Students for the spring semester at an election held last Friday.

Miriam Dunne, this semester's Associated Women Students president, defeated Bette Crysler and Frances Herndon in the closest race of the day. Jane Mitchell was re-elected secretary, polling 265 votes, the largest number of ballots cast for a single candidate in the election.

Defeating his nearest competitor by 80 votes, Art Pomares carried off the position of head yell-leader and chairmanship of the rally committee. He replaces Hugh Waite on the Executive Council next semester.

Trood Heads AWS

Associated Women Students officers for next semester include Dorothy Trood, president; Janet Ball, vice-president; Marge Meader, Secretary; and Helen Culp, treasurer.

Dave Johnson, Newman Club president, defeated Ray Diehl for the presidency of the Associated Men Students. He will be assisted by "Red" Burrowes, vice-president; Willie Blackfield, secretary, and Frank Nilan, treasurer.

Largest Vote Polled

Outstanding features of the election were the largest turnout of students at the polls in the college's history and the addition of a voting unit at Girl's High School for the business students. The records showed 507 voters registered, 55 voting at Girl's High.

Number one on the voting list was the name of Alden "Slim" Thorogood, first semester student, while managing to reach room 150 at Galileo a few seconds before 4:30 o'clock, Julia Spector left her name as last voter to cast a ballot for the officers of the Spring semester.

Students Tire

Although 507 votes were registered, 481 votes was the highest total cast for any one office. A theory advanced for the cause of the lost votes is that some students chose not to remain in line to reach the machines.

Below are the complete results of the election for major offices:

President
Cloud	67
Rutledge	77
Switzer	87
Verducci	250
Vice-President
Chrysler	124
Dunne	199
Herndon	129
Secretary
Falconer	167
Mitchell	265
Yell Leader
Berns	70
Hunt	89
Owens	80
Pomares	169
Prugh	61
AMS President
Diehl	134
Johnson	182
AWS President
Curryer	49
Johnson	38
Trood	64

'Forum' Given Official Status At Publication Board's Second Meeting

Status as an official publication was granted Forum, the Forum Club's literary magazine, last week at a meeting of the Publications Board.

The session was the second of the semester since the organization of the Board last month after the adoption of a constitutional amendment by the Associated Students.

Forum is published annually in May by the Forum Club and consists of literary contributions made by students of the college.

The Board approved the petition of Dave Johnson for permission to distribute election cards. After discussing the matter thoroughly, the group decided to recommend to the Executive Council that a committee be formed to investigate election campaigns and report on the advisability of either limiting or banning expenses and publicity entirely.

In summing up the activity of the Publications Board Fred Vast, chairman of the body, said that he believes "the limited activity of the Board this semester indicates that in the future there will be a definite niche in student government for the Board. Although we only had an opportunity to meet twice this semester we found there was a definite need for this group.

"This semester, or rather this last month, our main function was to become organized and lay a solid foundation for the Board for future activity. I believe we have accomplished this goal. The election campaign has shown that there is a definite need for the Board."

Members of the committee this semester, besides Vast, were John Julius, Fred Bentley, Joan Nourse, and Dean Edwin C. Browne.

Students Approve Awarding Passes To Circle Block Men In New Amendment

The amendment to the constitution providing for life-time athletic passes to circle block men as well as major block men was passed at the nominations rally held last Thursday. An estimated six hundred students voiced their approval of the amendment. The amendment reads:

Amend Article IV of the by-laws, Section 4C, to read: The Men's Athletic Council which shall be empowered to make recommendations to the Executive Council for the awarding of life athletic passes to all major and minor award winners who are members of the Block Letter Society of the College.

President Bob Fex in commenting on the change said he felt that the amendment was needed because of the disagreement over classification of major and minor sports. Fex said, "The circle block men work as hard in their sport as do the other block men, therefore I believe they should get the same amount of consideration in receiving rewards for their efforts. I am glad for their sake that the amendment was passed."

Insurance, Merchandising Classes In New Location

Possibility of adding another location to the college's widespread buildings looms next semester. Classes in Insurance and Merchandising may be held in the American Institute of Banking, 58 Sutter Street, according to F. Grant Marsh, business department chairman.

Other classes in business, such as typewriting and stenography will continue at Girls High School.

Rally Committee Winds Up Semester's Work By Staging Block SF Rally

With the staging of the Block SF rally, came the end of a hard semester's activity for head yell leader Hugh Waite and his Rally Committee.

In summoning up the accomplishments of Waite, Bob Fex, Associated Students president declared, "Through the untiring efforts of Waite, the rallies presented under his supervision were as successful as could be expected."

Having run the gamut of his yell-leading career at the college, Waite expressed his appreciation to all students who participated in his talent hunt for their individual contributions to his rallies.

"The measure of success which was obtained at the rallies this semester is due mostly to college talent and the fine way in which the student body, received their offerings," said Waite. "My sincere thanks to the student body for their fine attendance at the rallies and for their excellent all-around co-operation."

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VII WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1938 No. 15

FRED VAST....EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Editorial Adviser Joan Nourse — Business Adviser Edward H. Redford

Dick Simpers....Assistant Editor
Bill Frantz....News Editor
John Julius....Sports Editor
Ray Berns....Ass't Sports Editor
Carol Pickering....Women's Editor
Dorothy Trood....Club Editor
Sam Galstaun....Staff Photographer
Fred Bentley....Business Manager
Paul Judson....Advertising Manager

REPORTERS

Ethan Bernstein, Bob Fex, Lois Gipson, Leonard Gross, George Hoffman, Dave Johnson, Adele Kuhn, Isadore Maloff, Charles Martin, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Ed van der Veen, Sylvia Wall, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Revisions Necessary To Modernize Educational System

The end of our junior college trail is now in sight. We have enjoyed and profited from our stay at this college. In the course of the past two years we have had occasion to come into contact, directly and indirectly, with several educational institutions and with many of their former and present members.

Much has been written on educational process and more has been said. It is appropriate: we feel, that our final editorial deal with education. We know that the contents of this article express the thoughts of many students and instructors. Though we have gained a great deal from our stay here we believe that much more can be derived by future students if several revisions were made, not only locally but in the entire educational system.

Education has developed immensely in the past forty years. We think that it should, and can, continue to improve. It is in this spirit that this final piece is written, to spur the march of progress.

PROGRESS is being made rapidly in the social and industrial life of this country. The task of education is to keep in step with the development of the nation's life. Schools must prepare the youth for the ever-changing modes of living in this world.

If education is to perform its task well, if it is to be a success, it must serve the needs of a modern age. Many of the educational methods of ten years ago have become antiquated. Our schools do not adequately serve as a training ground for twentieth century living.

The United States was a leader in establishing public instruction, and in making it possible for the growing generation to enjoy life to its fullest extent. But today it must be admitted that no longer can even a college education, as it is commonly conceived of, genuinely serve the purpose for which it exists.

In meeting the newer needs of education, the junior college movement throughout the country has probably best succeeded. Evidence is clearly apparent in the steps that have been taken within San Francisco Junior College to provide as few restricted lines of study as possible.

Naturally, it is forced to retain some provisions that retard its progress. Change must of necessity come relatively slowly, and as education in general changes, this college is among the institutions that seek to serve the needs of a modern age.

Still present in the educational system as a whole, however, are unfortunate factors. First of these is the problematical situation concerning compulsory courses.

Compulsion Detrimental

As long as students are compelled to take many courses in which they are not interested, courses which, generally speaking, are not of value to the student in his preparation for life in a given field then there will be no interest for him in his studies.

This system of many compulsory courses, particularly in college, is of limited value because the student is not interested and does only enough to get a suitable grade. Secondly, the instructor is bound to be less interested in the course, because he knows the students take the course only because they have to and, because he teaches the same thing year in and year out.

A second factor concerns methods of instruction. Education should be modernized both in subject matter and in teaching methods. As long as an instructor continues to lecture in the same old formal method to a large class, the students will continue to have a lack of interest and so will the instructor.

To the teacher it is the same lecture delivered again, until it becomes automatic; it fails to stimulate the student simply because it is not interesting to the lecturer and because of the method of presentation. It is not made alive, realistic, and intimate.

As one student put it, he doesn't let his class work interfere with his education.

Vitalized Teaching Essential

One reason for an indifferent attitude on the part of the students may be the stark reality of overcrowded fields and widespread unemployment, where a college diploma means little.

Students are not interested only in whether an instructor has written several books. What the student wants is inspiring teachers who can present the subject in a vivid manner to convey the message of the problem.

If education is to have vitality, it must have a proper method to make the content answer the cry of the twentieth century. Instead of presenting all the material in the antiquated method and dogmatic medium of lectures, whereby the student is merely accustomed to the method of taking and accepting the lecturer's views, a process should be instituted whereby the student is stimulated to think.

That in brief, should be the function of education, the stimulation of thought.

Probably the best means to accomplishment of thought stimulation would be as follows: Let the instructor assign reading matter of the newest sources and give the student problems to think out. Then in class let the student express his viewpoint on the material being studied. The instructor should guide the thought and discussion of the class, as well as lead in the presentation of material.

Lighter Schedules A Solution

If generally adopted, a method of this type would prove more interesting both to the instructor and the student. We call our curriculum and our system of education one of liberal arts; they can be exactly what the name implies if the correct system is applied.

If a method of the type discussed herein should be widely adopted, it would, of course, require more time for the student and instructor. This could be met with lighter schedules for faculty and students. Surely a few less subjects thoroughly studied would be of more value than several courses superficially surveyed. The student must be prepared to cope with his problems when he receives his degree, to think for himself and think intelligently.

Another problem is the liberalization of the curriculum. Too long has education dealt with the abstract and shunned the practical problems of life. Too long has it been a system of compiling a great mass of unrelated information.

Education must stimulate thought; it must prepare the individual for an occupation; it must be practical to the everyday needs of the student by supplying knowledge about his personal and social activity and arouse an interest in the social, economic, and political life of the world.

Suggestions For College

Specifically, for San Francisco Junior College, we would like to see the introduction of courses dealing with human relationships, social diseases, political responsibility in a democracy, integrated courses of current problems, more liberal arts courses in the semi-professional curricula, the elimination of some compulsory courses, the supplanting of some formal lecture courses with more reading and discussion in the classroom.

We realize that all of this cannot be introduced immediately; some of it can, but this is something to look forward to and should be adopted as soon as possible. Education along these broad lines has been adopted in some institutions already and is rapidly gaining a wider audience and application.

In brief, instruction must keep in step with the times; education must be modernized! School must exist for the student to acquire an education and not to obtain the necessary grades so that one may then be awarded a degree.

College Election Expenditures Should Be Eliminated

LAST Friday's election for Associated Students officers evidenced expenditure of the candidates and their friends of sums for the purpose of being chosen by the voters for the various positions.

Although the money spent this time was nominal, there is a danger of the amount being spent rising to increasing heights. This feature of college elections is both unfair and undesirable. For as soon as money becomes an important factor in the election of officials, the poorer student is disqualified.

It is undesirable because candidates go to extremes in influencing the voters by distributing free candy, tobacco, and other products. They spend unlimited sums in printing propaganda, which many times is false.

A more preferable method would be the banning of all expenditures and publicity obtained which ordinarily would cost money. Let each candidate stand before the electorate on his record and his proposed program. The Guardsman grants equal space to each office seeker.

MODERN TIMES

A liberal education provides a broad base for living, and the broader the base a man has in experience and training the less likely is he to be overturned by the vicissitudes of the years.

—Albert L. Scott, Brown University

Presidential Notes
By Bob Fex

THE time has come when we must say adieu: the parting of the ways has arrived all too soon, and it leaves a lump in our throats as we prepare to leave the portals of good old San Francisco Junior College.

We can say that during the last six months, in acting as President of the Associated Students, it has been a great honor and pleasure to serve the college to the best of our ability.

We wish to congratulate our successor Frank Verducci and can only hope that you give him the same sort of spirit and cooperation that you have given us.

ROUND OF THANKS

We wish to thank the members of the executive council for their untiring efforts and unlimited assistance in the functions of that body. Thanks to Vice-president Barbara Randall; Secretary Jane Mitchell, Miriam Dunne, president of the AWS; Peggy Park, president of the WAA; Hughe Waite, yell leader; Mickey Berman, president of the AMS; John Julius, president of the Club Advisory Board; Treacy Slattery, president of the Block SF, and Fred Vast, editor of The Guardsman.

Thanks must also go to the members of the Judicial Committee composed of Howard Cloud, Betty McAllister, Marge Wright and Dick Simpers.

Thanks also to all members of the Administration and Faculty for their help and consideration in making possible a successful semester of activities.

And so with a tear in our eye, a lump in our throat and a word of gratitude on our lips, we do not say goodbye but rather, au revoir.

Cabbages & Kings
By Blue Pencil Bill

IN the trolley which transports University of Washington students between points on the campus and the town may be seen the following bits of advice scrawled on the backs of the chairs:

"Passengers are requested not to put heads or arms out of the window while motorman is in motion."

"Five hundred dollars fine for spitting on the motorman while in motion."

"Passengers are requested not to put their feet on the motorman while the car is in motion."

"Keep head and arms off the floor while the motorman is spitting."

—Foghorn.

See what comes from reading exchanges?

• • •

JOKE

Here's one that had Sam Galstaun in stitches:

Three old ladies, all hard of hearing, were riding in a bus. As it neared a small station, one lady asked, "Is this Wembley?" "No," said the second, "this is Thursday." "I am, too," piped the third; "let's get something to drink."

—University Life

• • •

If you think the above whatchamadingles were rotten you should have seen what we threw into the fire. Oh, well, the fire roared.

• • •

What is this organization that Ed McGovern and Bob Fex are connected with? They call it the "Royal Order of the Purple Turtle". It is claimed that one-quarter of the male population in the college are members in good standing.

This Puzzling World
Edited by Milton J. Puzzletsar and Henry J. Riddleston

PROBLEM No. 15. THE MAGNIFICENT BUG.

Professor Proto, the famous zoologist, discovered a strange bug while he was making one of his annual exploratory trips in darkest Africa. This bug grew faster than any animal Proto had ever seen, actually doubling in size every 24 hours.

Proto put the bug in a vessel 1000 cubic inches in volume, but after 10 days found that he would have to use a bigger vessel, since by this time the bug had grown to such an extent that it exactly filled the first vessel.

Now, the problem you have to worry over, is: After how many days had the bug grown sufficiently large so that it occupied exactly 250 cubic inches?

• • •

ANSWER TO PROBLEM No. 14. JOE AND FITZMAURICE

The amount of water in the first glass is exactly the same as the amount of alcohol in the second glass. The alcohol is putting the editors to sleep, so we'll let you figure it out if you haven't already done so.

One hundred thousand persons have previewed Treasure Island, site of the 1939 California World's Fair.

FINALS By MacKillop

AFTER DARK
By John Ward

WE offer a bill-of-fare for the coming holidays in the realm of the literary and the musical:

Two books that should be required reading for every college student who has the time and the essentials necessary to thinking: The Dog Beneath the Skin, one of the best and most energetic attempts at listing the present ills of the world that we have ever come across. Written by W. H. Auden, a young and very talented English poet, and Christopher Isherwood, it is an anti-fascist, anti-prejudice; anti-Chamberlain, anti-smug satire. For the young in years, who are slightly at sea with a world so ill of ease, this play will act as a bible of hope—and not only literary hope.

WORLD NOT THE WORST

As in the other book we wish to recommend (On This Island, by Auden) you will find life. Not that intellectual brand of escape so ably represented by T. S. Eliot, but the positive mind that says this is not the worst of all possible worlds. Let us quote a bit of their credo which forms the preface to their latest play, On the Frontier:

The drums tap out sensational bulletins;
Frantic the efforts of the violins to drown the song behind the guarded hill:
The dancers do not listen; but they will.

• • •

MISS HALSEY'S MALICIOUS JOURNEY

While on the subject of books, we might mention a wonderful bit of laughter, With Malice Towards Some by Margaret Halsey. Neither a literary gem nor even a travel book, it is good for laughs and lots of them. A very flippant and superficial dash of American bitters on the English reputation, the books adds up to about one line per page that is worth remembering. Miss Halsey is a born comic (typical U.S. variety) smart and sophisticated.

We remember the book for two classical remarks, "The English country-side was custom tailored by Tennyson," the other, "she (speaking of someone just met) had a mouth that should have been left in the woods to catch bears with." Of course the book is full of such amusing trifles, and that seems the only reason for reading it. For a laugh it is a sure bet.

• • •

'BETTER' RADIO OFFERINGS

If you happen to like the better music and find a scarcity of it on the "better" radio stations, let us list a few recorded programs that daily pour out a stream of good music.

KRE, 7 to 8 p.m.: a perfectly balanced diet leaning a little to the conservative side.

KYA, 8 to 10 p.m.: a new program, well programmed and beautifully announced. (At least one announcer who doesn't lose his decorum when he tries to pronounce a foreign name or title.)

KSFO, 10 to 11:30 p.m.: an absolutely mad program that plays Nevin and Bach and Stravinsky all in a row without the batting of an eye. Always amusing.

(Continued on page 4, column 6)

RAM'S HORN — Column Proposed; Ward Blasted; Bentley Writes

● "EXCHANGE COLUMN" SUGGESTED

Editor, The Guardsman:

Has it ever occurred to you Journalists (You're welcome) that a neat little sum can be acquired from the students by having a "Want Ad Column" or "Exchange Column?"

It's very simple. Observe! Miss Givings needs a used typewriter. Miss Take has one and needs money to get a Permanent (Wave). So what? Just this—Miss Take puts an ad in the "wanted column" offering a used typewriter for sale.

Miss Givings, being a student who can read, sees the ad and buys the above mentioned typewriter.

Isn't it nice?

Yours truly,
JAMES PREOVOLOS
Dealer, In Ideas, Bric-a-Bracs, Used dredges, fine knitting needles and etc.

P.S.—I also carry used circulating library books, and blood-curdling mystery murders. Give one for Xmas.

• • •

● BUILDING LACK OVER-BLAMED

Editor, The Guardsman:

Comes the finals. Come the cramming, and comes Xmas. Also comes this letter.

In my opinion, this school is pretty good, the faculty is O.K., and the students are above reproach. The one thing that I find difficult to understand is this.

When anything goes wrong or something is lacking, we one and all blame it on lack of a building. Be it "spirit", cooperation, or whatchamaycallit. We all, students, faculty, and persons attending the institution, in one voice screech out: "We ain't got no building."

It is fitting and proper that we should blame some of the shortcomings on lack of a building, but good gosh not everything.

Peeved

• • •

● WARD REAPS SCORCHER

Editor, The Guardsman:

In reference to J. Aloysius Ward's bid for glory in the Ram's Horn last week. As an officer of the student body I feel qualified to say a few words on the subject of the Executive Council's egotism and self glory as Mr. Ward so smugly puts it.

Mr. Ward proclaims that he advocates for student officers the same standards which he claims to uphold. He states further that the council is just a bunch of jitterbugs showing off their complacency in doing nothing to help the school.

I would like to ask Mr. Ward a few pertinent questions:

1. When Bob Fex called for volunteers to help us win our Bond issue campaign did you offer to help? Did you attend the meeting called for students interested in helping the officers in planning the campaign? Did you take your turn at the polls as did other members of the student body? NO!

(Continued on page 4, column 3)

. . . while thinking . . .
By Leonard Gross

RECENT events happening throughout the world have given rise to a great deal of speculation in regard to this new era of racial persecution. We also have given the matter considerable thought, and after a somewhat lengthy dissertation decided to discuss the matter herein.

We of the United States are prone to condemn the dictatorial governments of Germany and Italy because of their persecution of religious minorities. This is a natural attitude to adopt, but those misled persons who believe that the United States is a sweet and saintly country with no faults along these lines are sadly mistaken.

It is quite true that those governments which deal in racial prejudices should be severely criticized, but there is also no doubt that we should first inspect our own back yards before venturing into those of others.

LOOK HERE

There are several organizations existing in this nation today that are admittedly opposed to religious and racial groups. These organizations by means of malicious propaganda endeavor to create a false impression of the true nature of these minorities.

We wish to point out that religious persecution was one reason for the founding of America. The Pilgrims, who first ventured to these shores, were driven here because of persecution by their homelands. One of the most important clauses of the Constitution of the United States is the one which deals with freedom of religion.

U. S. NOT PERFECT

A situation such as this should not exist in a country which maintains such a liberal form of government. If we were ruled by a dictator it would be a different matter, but since we are not (Thank Heaven) there is no reason for such narrow-mindedness on the part of a few malcontents who cannot leave peaceful human beings to the pursuit of healthy and natural life.

For the benefit of those idealistic persons who persist in the belief that the United States is free from all faults, we would like to suggest that the next time a controversy arises, that they will pause before committing themselves so rashly.

Sartorial Modes
By Fashion Fanny

SUITS and more suits—they come and go in various styles, colors, and materials. The latest in the ever-popular dressmaker style is the new version of the hip-length jacket with a petite leather belt to match the suit. New and individual pockets make this suit a MUST HAVE in your wardrobe.

One local shop is showing the new hip-length jacket in tailored style in soft spring colors that make them ideal for these winter jaunts to southern cities.

Three piece suits are ever popular and very much in demand by the college woman. Plain colors, contrasting colors and tweeds are the most prominent.

SKIRT AFFAIRS

Another idea that the women will welcome is the two-skirted affair. A skirt to match the jacket and the other a contrasting color. Very economical too for college.

Angora sweaters in soft pale colors are ideal to wear with your suits, and silk shirts and blouses in new fall colors.

One can never have too many compacts, and one store in town has some with gold-tooled leather tops, in new winter shades and a three letter monogram stamped in gold—all for a very nominal sum. A new shipment of the five-way scarf has arrived in town in new colors, prints, plaids and stripes.

Another item that is a must for your costume is a strand of pearls. You can have as many strands as you want, but the one and two strands lend that distinctive note you want.

BAGGY BAGS

For your strapless formal get an old-fashioned velvet ribbon with a jewel centered in the middle and wear it around your neck like grandma did some forty years ago.

Bags. Bags. In every window one sees new styles and shapes, but Vogue says have a large bag this year in soft suede or kid.

Big bags are the thing with your initials on the front. Get a plaid bag to match your plaid suit, raincoat, or dress. Plaid is quite the thing this year, and many of the stores are getting their plaids direct from Scotland.

SOCIETY NOTE

Hugh Waite's engagement to Shirley Hauck, of Alameda, was announced last Friday night at the "season's outstanding social event," the Sophomore Formal. No more appropriate occasion could have been found; it stirred college circles, many people supposedly "in the know" were surprised.

RAMbling Around
By Dick Simpers

Football season is over. Soccer season is over. Even water polo season is over. What in hell are we going to write about this week? Basketball? You're right!

It's really quite a treat to watch Dutch Conlan putting his lads through their paces every afternoon in the gym, and see them scrambling about in their efforts to look impressive in front of the "chief". Despite the fact that the squad this season is by far the best ever to represent this college on the courts, there is still room for improvement in several respects.

By the time the season opens in January, however, most of these defects will have been smoothed out (we hope), and the Conlanmen will be set to ramble through to the title.

• • • • •

Red Burrowes is reported to be almost ship-shape again after having been laid up for the past two weeks. His return will strengthen the team no end, for Red is probably the most dextrous of the rebound artists on the squad, and seldom misses getting the ball off the backboard.

• • • •

As this is the last issue of the semester, and the last in which our efforts will ever appear, we are going to break a journalistic rule and give way to our emotions by bidding a heartfelt farewell to one and all. Everything's been swell, and——oh, all that stuff, and before we bow out we'd like to pass a few remarks and comments of a more or less personal nature.

'Heartfelt Farewell'

Dick Simpers

To all the lads who have taken the occasional ribs handed them through this column in the spirit in which they were intended, thanks. This applies to such notables as Bill O'Neill, Treacy Slattery, Bob Fex, Jake Waxman, Tony Manov, Dan Baker, Hal Fischer, Charlie O'Brien, Floyd Lawrence, and Bill McManus. To you boys, and to the rest who didn't moan, a big bouquet. To those who did . . . pffffffffffffffft!

• • •

To the football squad: So you lost seven games; so what? Ten years from now, who's going to give a hoot, anyway? At least you were out there battling, and, after all, one can't ask any more than that. Let's see you all down there at the dinner-dance next Saturday jitter-bugging for dear life!

Next spring's track team should be one of the best in Northern California, if present indications are to be credited. Coached by Russ Sweet, who will now be able to devote his full time to it, the cinder sport will be a big thing here in times to come, take our word for it! A big turn-out of promising candidates and the prospect of organized practice all spring leads us to predict that next season will be the greatest yet for the tracksters.

• • • •

We were going to pick our all-American football team this week, but after hearing a few of the comments on the all-Coast we printed last week, we have thought better of it, and decided to let you pick your own. You'll be better satisfied anyway.

• • • •

This wouldn't be complete without a few words of thanks to the members of the staff who have done so much to make working on the paper a pleasure rather than a task. To Fred Vast, John Julius, Ray Berns, Dave Johnson, and all the rest, who have done so much toward making this fourth (oh, all right, fifth) semester one to be remembered.

That seems to take care of about everything, so, while the orchestra softly renders the tender strains of "Auld Lang Syne", we will remove the sheet from our typewriter, mop off the tears, and scrawl at the bottom a somewhat shaky "30".

CLUB CORNER
College Organizations Terminate Semester's Activities; New Officers Elected, Take Office

Pi Mu Gamma . . . At the last meeting of the fall semester held at the home of Glenn A Noble, the following officers were elected to lead Pi Mu Gamma for next semester. They are president, Andy Mass; vice-president, Peggy Honore; recording secretary, Gyda Andersen; treasurer, Harold Hoffman, and corresponding secretary, Helen Tardif.

• • •

Peace Society . . . has planned a meeting in the near future. Notice of the time and place will be announced on the Powell Street bulletin board. The topic to be discussed will be President Roosevelt's Good Neighbor Policy with the South American countries. Bob Porter, president of the society and Harry Becker will discuss the topic.

New officers for next semester are Dorothy Pilgrim, president; Robert Porter, vice-president; Gaylord Greenly, corresponding secretary, and Carol Pickering, secretary-treasurer.

• • •

Rifle and Pistol Club . . . Members of the Rifle and Pistol Club's two rifle teams, the Red, which has won all the matches played by the two teams this semester, and the Blue will leave Sunday, December 4, from the Armory at 8th and Mission to gather at Palo Alto where at 9 o'clock the two teams will participate in 30 calibre rapid and slow firing at 200, 300, and 500 yards under the auspices of Coach Hancock in preparation for future matches which are to be held in the Marin League.

• • •

George Washington Society . . . will hold the final meeting of the semester this Friday at 2:10 p.m. in Room 207 at Galileo.

• • •

Pick and Hammer . . . held a meeting last week for the election of officers. Jack Henshaw was elected president; Gaylord Greenly, vice-president, and Ray Slattery, secretary-treasurer. The next meeting of the club will be held on December 20. At this time plans are to be made for a field trip to be held during the vacation. Members of the group are urged to see George L. Green, sponsor, for time and place of this meeting. At present each member of the organization is contributing some piece of research which is to be compiled for the club publication.

• • •

Forestry . . . held its final meeting of the year for the purpose of electing officers. Leroy McCormick was elected president; Russell Weeks, vice president; A. Guglielmo, secretary, and Ray Peterson, treasurer. The club will hold its dinner dance December 18 at the Lake Merritt Hotel in Oakland.

• • •

Alpha Lambda Chi . . . proposed barn-dance date has been forwarded to January 7, instead of December 21. A dinner is to be held for the outgoing and in-coming officers of the sorority.

Officers elected for the next semester at the meeting held on Thursday, December 1, are Nancy Ross, president, Margaret Meader, vice-president; June Dunnigan, corresponding secretary; Marie Giorginos, recording secretary; Alberta Fowler, treasurer, and Shirley White, historian.

• • •

Newman Club . . . "Successfully gave a French play directed by Miss Musante, last night," said Dave Johnson. To keep in the "Butcher Shop" spirit of the play, hot-dogs and soda water were served as refreshments.

"Hard-times-backwards dance" is the theme of the finals celebration dance which is scheduled for December 16 at Galileo.

• • •

Radio Engineers . . . has changed its name to Sigma Rho Epsilon, this being the Greek for S. R. E., which stands for Society of Radio Engineers.

• • •

Monday the Women's Service Society held its semi-annual initiation banquet at the Western Woman's Club, according to Marjorie Wright, WSS president.

The new members are Gloria Miller, Annette Schunick, Norma Hoffman, Claire Presley, Gyta Andersen, Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar, and Margaret Dougherty, instructor, were invited, along with the following alumnae: Ethel Clarkson, who was the first WSS president, Dorothy Canovan, Norma Parent, Florence Murphy, Parnell Brown, Ruth Johnson, Helen Davis, and Pamela Spalding.

Phyllis Learned acted as chairman for the banquet. A meeting was held following the banquet for the purpose of electing officers for next semester.

• • •

Italian Club . . . held the last meeting of the semester Friday. Members decided, because of the tremendous success of the recent Spaghetti Dinner and Barn Dance, to hold a similar affair next semester. In addition, Bob Ridolfi, club president, promises a full calendar of events for the coming semester. "Included in the activities," Ridolfi said, "will be the annual convention of all the Italian Clubs of the Bay region. The college's club plans to take an active part in this convention. Also," he continued, "there is a proposed 'get-to-gether' with the Italian Club of the University of California, in the form of a picnic or a dinner at a local restaurant."

• • •

With the announcement that pledging of neophytes into the Iota Chi fraternity for next semester would take place immediately after the Christmas holidays. President Joe DePatta closed the last official meeting of that organization last evening.

• • •

Sunday, at the home of Ruth Graham, a Phi Beta Rho tea was held for the mothers of the sorority members. Also invited were Eileen Rue, adviser of the sorority, Helen Kelly, ex-adviser, Mary Perry, Annemarie Delfs, Ruth Sommers, and Mary Jane Learnard, all of the faculty.

During Christmas vacation several activities have been planned for the Phi Beta Rho women, which include a tea, an ice skating party and the last meeting of the year at which next semester's officers will be installed.

• • •

Hotel and Restaurant Management Society . . . the final meeting of the organization was held yesterday. Election of officers for the spring semester together with plans for activity at the opening of college were the main themes of the meeting.

Casaba Terms Defined In Basketball Glossary

Luisetti Dragged In Through No Fault Of His Own; Propaganda

Basketeer: You would shed a tear too if somebody kept throwing spheres at you all the time.

Dead-eye: When you have a dead-eye on your team, you're all through. Look at Stanford—what chance did they have with Luisetti.

Coach: Both teams have to suffer one. Tells the lads what little they don't know. If the team wins, it's because of the excellent players. If they lose, it's the coach's fault. Oh well, we wouldn't mind being at fault for a few shekels.

Hacking: A deadly process used by members of the opposing team to annihilate your team by means of dismemberment.

Ball: An inflated sphere essential to the playing of the game. Absorbs terrific punishment being continually banged against either the floor or the backboard. Leads a dog's life.

Foul: Don't confuse with a barnyard fowl. In this case, one of opposing clowns gets a free shot because one of home-town lads attempts mayhem.

Referee: An evolutionary throwback to the pleistocine age. (That's as far back as you can go). Eyesight—poor; talking—worse; hearing—excellent (damn the luck).

Backboard: The ball seems to be continually finding its way toward the backboard. Sort of home and home agreement. At various times, participating clowns are sent to backboard by coach to write 500 times, "We'd be better off if we could get Ace Casaba out of there.".

Dribble: All the lads get together and have a dribble-puss session. No towels served.

Guards: No, they're not native to Alcatraz — basketball teams have them too. Escaping their clutches is virtually impossible (oh yeah!) unless the local lads are of the tricky Dick variety.

British Columbia has reserved 2,000 square feet of space in the Hall of Western States for its 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition exhibit.

Fourteen sites were surveyed before Treasure Island, central in San Francisco Bay, was selected for a 1939 World's Fair and later use as an airport.

Frank Noon Paid Tribute By Schmale; Berman Bowls 225 Game At Powell Alleys

By JACK SCHMALE

San Francisco bade farewell to one of its finest citizens last week, when Frank Noon, beloved sports writer of The Call-Bulletin, died in Glendale.

We were among the many fortunate enough to have known Noon. He was one of those personalities whose friendship you were proud to possess. We enjoyed his genial companionship for four years while covering the six-day bicycle races, and took a great delight in "spotting" plays from the press box for him when he followed Santa Clara, the Broncos he loved so well.

• • •

Noon was only 41. Overtaken by illness last summer, he went to southern California to recuperate. We proudly recall having spent an afternoon with him in Glendale last October when the Ram football team went south to meet Los Angeles City College. Noon's spirit was unbeaten.

He was confident of recovery almost to the end. Although realizing the seriousness of his condition, he joked about the situation, smilingly talked more of football and things in San Francisco to Walt Daley and us, and especially did he talk of the Broncos. Oddly enough, he died the day following Santa Clara's 7-6 loss to Detroit.

Noon's funeral looked like a roll call of who's who in local sportdom. There was Pat Frayne, Art McChrystal, Rufe Klawans, "Buck" Shaw, Toby Irwin, Will Connolly, Harry Borba, Joe Hickey, Charlie Hunter, Joe Malcewicz, Lew Porter, Hal Bruntsch, Jimmy Hatlo, Herb Obernasser, Joe Dearing, and many others. Pallbearers were Prescott Sullivan, James K. McGee, Art Rosenbaum, Roger William, Al Santoro and Edgar "Scoop" Gleason.

• • •

Bowling bugs might be interested to know that Mickey Berman rolled a 225 game, high of the night, in the Powell Rec Mercantile League Wednesday. Ora Mayer, San Francisco's 1936 American Bowling Congress all-events champion, rolled his first 300 game last Thursday night at the Rialto. Kollege Keglers are invited (free) to Golden Gate Rec this Sunday either at 4 or 8 o'clock to see Gene Gagliardi, billed as the world's champion bowler, in exhibition. Twelve times he has rolled 300 games and averaged 213 for 788 games on tour. His chief trick shot turns in two strikes with one ball.

• • •

It is rumored that such footballers as "Bud" Wiechers, Mel Peterson, "Mush" Mullins and others are dieting beginning today. It seems they get a free meal Saturday night at the pigskin squad's dinner dance. Pasqualetti is going stag, but demands he be given the extra dinner accorded his mythical feminine accomplice. It is also alleged that Walt Boitano, after Monday night's Block Society banquet, scoured the town for the all-conference certificate he claims was lost, lured, strayed or stolen from him at last semester's affair. How'ja like the Block initiation?

• • •

Let's maintain our policy of refraining from publicizing the Ram basketeers until next semester. They have several engagements billed during Christmas vacation, however, and if you really want to watch them during that time consult the sport pages of your daily paper for announcement of the games. Meanwhile the boys will attempt to annex the State Junior College title next Friday and Saturday at Modesto.

• • •

What has happened to the big new conference we heard so much about several weeks ago? The proposition stirred quite a commotion hereabouts, and seemed to die as quickly as it popped into prominence. We understand that the four-year State schools are not exactly in favor of the move, because they feel they should "go up" instead of down. However, don't you think that the junior colleges, with three-year eligibility, would mop up on the four-year school opposition? Yeah, it sounds kinda reasonable.

• • •

A brief note to all those well meaning souls who each term announce: "I'm absolutely not coming back next semester." To them we say: "Merry Christmas, Happy New Year. See you the first week in January!"

Wilson's Basketeers Score Easy Victory Over Jefferson High

Opening their season with a convincing victory, Coach Tom Wilson's junior varsity eagers defeated Jefferson High School of Daly City, 36-8, at the new Jefferson court last week before some 200 spectators.

At the conclusion of the regular game, a mutual agreement was reached by both teams whereby two overtimes periods were played with the final count being 56-18 in favor of the local lads.

Ryan Leads Scoring

Hugh Ryan, veteran center of last year's jayvee outfit, led the scoring for the locals, tallying 16 points.

Wilson used his entire squad of 15 men, with veterans Bob Owen and George Cohen, and newcomers Dick Yoshima, Bill Garrity, and Al Haines standing out.

Excellent teamwork in passing and guarding was displayed for an early season game, and Wilson is looking forward to a bright season.

One Remains

Out of last year's first team which was the best in the history of the college, but one eager remains.

Opponents on the Ram schedule include the Olympic Club Cardinals, the Westside Athletic Club, Mission High School, and Napa High School.

Today, the Wilsonmen take a jaunt to Polytechnic High School for an encounter with the Poly Parrots. The game starts at 3:30 p.m.

Top College Netster Will Be Determined At Palace Of Fine Arts Tomorrow

With the finals of the singles championship being played at the Palace of Fine Arts tennis courts tomorrow, the No. 1 racqueteer of the college will be determined.

At 10 a.m., Hal Wagner will meet Bob Kun in one semi-final match, while Bill Canning will take on Ray Berns in the other bracket at the same time, with the winners scheduled to clash for the title at 11:30 a.m.

Breeze Through

All four, Wagner, Kun, Canning, and Berns are members of the varsity tennis squad and justified their ratings as pre-tournament favorites by breezing through early-round encounters.

Instead of receiving medals as was the case in previous years, both winner and runner-up will be given cups donated by jewelry firms.

Doubles To Start

Immediately upon conclusion of the singles race, the doubles tourney will start.

Tom "Atlas" Wilson, genial tennis instructor, said, "I feel that this has been the most successful tournament in the history of the college. I wish to thank all those who made it so. From the material displayed in the championships, I think San Francisco need have no fear that the conference title will be retained."

Varsity Basketballers Lose Two Encounters

Tap-Dancing Class For Men And Women Next Spring; Ice-Skating Club Planned

By CAROL PICKERING

The college Physical Education Department is going co-educational in a big way. A tap dancing class will be offered to both men and women next semester, the women being eligible for WAA credit.

Aspiring to gain more and more news for both our readers we very humbly inquired of Laurine Bergin, instructor, just what the course would cover. Immediately, Verril Weber, who was to be our next victim, clapped her hand on our shoulder and, with a wild glint in her eye and a feverish brow, burst into an exclamation.

"You see it's like this," she babbled excitedly, "first, the students are taught to swim, and then after they learn how to swim, they take up Badminton, and after that they ta——." Mrs. Bergin looked a little stunned. We grabbed the rim of the nearest chair and, smiling weakly, wondered if our shaky knees would carry us through the nearest exit.——Then dawn broke with a crash——we always were slow to catch satire anyway.

• • •

The soccer-baseball club next semester will also have a chance at co-ed activity. On rainy days the women will retire to the field house and play volleyball with the men's baseball class. Bertha Keller and Louis Conlan are responsible for the mixed class, and according to Miss Keller, if the women aren't too bad the classes will also mix for baseball.

After receiving above information we might advise the Physical Education instructors to prepare for a rush on registration day.

• • •

Old ST. NICK and the snows have ushered in ice-skating. A club is in the planning for both men and women and will be held either on Friday afternoon or some evening during the week. All interested students are asked to contact Miss Keller.

• • •

Highly acclaimed and pronounced a huge success, the dance, held by the social dancing class last Friday, was declared, by all members of the class, to be an enjoyable final exam. However, they feel slightly left in the lurch, so to speak. The class next year will be only for absolute beginners again.

• • •

Numbered among the best all around athletes this semester, we think, are Dorothy Sanderson, Annette Schunick, and Polly Trenk, and may we salute the retiring officers of WAA. President, Margaret Park, vice-president, Dorothy Sanderson; secretary, Annette Schunick, and treasurer, Betty McKenzie. Peg Park certainly earned the spurs presented her at the banquet by a grateful WAA ex-council.

Local Squad Ragged In Initial Contests; Fisticuffs Averted

Final results at the Galileo gym last Friday night, when the new-born '39 Ram basketballers put in their initial appearance against the New Domestic French Laundry quintet and the Howard Insurance Company five, in a double-header debut were:

Howard Insurance Company 31—San Francisco Junior College 24.

New Domestic French Laundry 38—San Francisco Junior College 34.

The above two scores spell the difference between an excellent, unconditioned, two unit quintet, and two good seasoned basketball squads who performed in mid-season shape.

Seconds Start

Starting his second team against the Howard Insurance outfit, Coach "Dutch" Conlan inserted a veteran club, made up of Opalinski, Curcio, Fischer, Blackfield and Wolf, at the beginning of the second quarter.

With the score 9-3 against them the "Old Vets" went to work and at half time left the contest with a 13-9 lead.

Curcio counted six points and Opalinski tallied 4. The second unit played throughout the entire second half. Lou Rouspil, Tony Manov, and Tom Pauli looked the best for the gallery, while for the Howards, Patent with eight points and Mannion with six, stood out.

Raring to go, the "OLD VETS" started and performed all during the French Laundry game. The only members of the second team who saw action were Tony Manov, Tom Pauli and Lou Rouspil.

Half time score was 13-13 with Blackfield and Fischer setting the pace for the Junior Collegians while Harry Lisse was taking care of things for the Laundrymen.

Fight Avoided

The highlight of the evening's basketball festivities took place late in the second quarter when a couple of the participants, namely Opalinski and Bourke, a former junior college student, became a little heated under their respective collars and nearly forgot the dignity of the game. Fisticuffs were avoided. Shortly afterwards, Curcio and Pontaco had a slight flare-up which was also quickly quelled, the game continuing under normal conditions.

Lisse, Pontaco and Bourke for the Laundrymen and Blackfield, Fischer and Opalinski for the Rams were the most prominent performers.

Friday night at 8 o'clock the San Franciscans will again engage two local, and as yet undetermined teams.

ANNOUNCING . . .

A NEW TEXTBOOK SERVICE

CASH for USED BOOKS

whether used here or not

REMEMBER!

Books are revised and changed rapidly. If you intend to sell them they should be disposed of at the end of each semester.

SELL US YOUR BOOKS

50%

FOR CURRENT TEXTS

SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE STUDENT STORE

518 POWELL STREET

WE ARE NATIONAL TEXTBOOK JOBBERS

New Courses For the Spring Semester

Applied Science 51. (3) — Manfred Mueller

The practical applications of science to daily life. Heat and fuels, refrigeration, ventilation and air-conditioning, illumination, acoustics, paint, textiles, metals, carbohydrates, fats, proteins, vitamins, and cosmetics will be among the topics discussed.

Business 91. Pacific Coast Economic Geography. (3) — Joseph Williams

Production, distribution, and transportation of Pacific Coast agricultural and industrial products. This course is the same as that formerly listed as Geography 53.

Jurisprudence 1B. (3) — Charles McKiernan

An historical study of the legal codes of Rome and of the English Common Law and their influence on modern concepts of law in the United States.

Landscape Architecture 55. (3) — John Herman

The elements of botany. A study of the structure and functions of the cell and principal tissues and organs of flowering plants.

Physical Education 27. (½) — Laurine Bergin

A co-educational class in tap dancing.

Psychology 2. (3) — Harold Leuenberger

Prerequisite: course 1A. Not open for credit to students who have completed 1B.

A continuation of course 1A intended primarily for students who will not continue in psychology. A survey of trends in psychology, with reference to problems in medicine, business, industry, in the selection of personnel and in social relations.

The sequence 1A-2 (not 1A-1B) will be accepted in fulfillment of requirement (e) for the Junior Certificate, but not as prerequisite to upper division courses.

Merchandising Curriculum.

A cooperative curriculum in merchandising will be offered to advanced students in the Business Department who are interested in this field of business. Students in this curriculum will attend classes half a day and work in stores half a day.

Anthropology 1A. Sociology 1A. and Speech 55 will be offered in the spring semester although listed as fall courses in the catalog.

The prerequisite to Hygiene 13 will be waived for Home Economics majors. These students will be required to do extra outside reading in lieu of the prerequisite.

Courses Not To Be Given in the Spring Semester Are:

History 49, Mathematics 3AB, Mechanical Engineering 10B, Political Science 18B, Sociology 55, and Speech 53.

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

CLASSES	DAY	HOUR
8 o'clock MWF and Daily	Friday, Dec. 16	9 a.m. to 12 m.
8 o'clock T Th	Thursday, Dec. 15	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.*
9 o'clock MWF and Daily	Wednesday, Dec. 14	9 a.m. to 12 m.
9 o'clock T Th	Tuesday, Dec. 13	8 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.
10 o'clock MWF and Daily	Monday, Dec. 12	9 a.m. to 12 m.
10 o'clock T Th	Thursday, Dec. 15	11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.
11 o'clock MWF and Daily	Thursday, Dec. 8	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.*
11 o'clock T Th and Daily	Tuesday, Dec. 13	11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.
12 o'clock MWF and Daily	Friday, Dec. 9	9 a.m. to 12 m.
12 o'clock T Th	Thursday, Dec. 15	8 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.
1 o'clock MWF and Daily	Thursday, Dec. 8	9 a.m. to 12 m.
1 o'clock T Th	Friday, Dec. 9	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.*
2:30 o'clock MWF and Daily	Monday, Dec. 12	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
2:30 o'clock T Th	Tuesday, Dec. 13	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
3:30 o'clock MWF and Daily	Wednesday, Dec. 14	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
3:30 o'clock T Th	Friday, December 16	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
4:30 o'clock MWF, T Th, Daily	Friday, December 16	2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The following schedule lists examination rooms at Galileo for those classes which regularly meet at Powell Street. All other examinations will be held where classes have met throughout the semester.

FINAL EXAMINATIONS—ROOM CHANGES

8:00 T-Th classes at Galileo on Thursday, December 15, 2:30 to 5:30

	Instructor	Room
Art 28a	Allman	350
Business 51a	Stough	260
Business 51a	Zarchin	314
Civil Engineering 1a	Jacobs	408
English 1a (T-Th-F)	Bracher	413
Geography 5a	Williams	357
History 4a	Gerstung	458
History 4b	Bolton	414
Hygiene 1	Wilson	206
Hygiene 2	Bergin	207
Hygiene 2	Spencer	205
Landscape Architechture 52a	Hermah	454
Mech. Engineering 6	Mayo	353
Physics 1a	Agosti	362
Phys. Ed. 61	Keller	303
Psychology 20	Turner	304
Psychology 50	Cain	305

1:00 T-Th classes at Galileo on Friday, December 9, 2:30 to 5:30

	Instructor	Room
Botany 1a	Porter	457, 458
Business 72	McKelvey	251
Business 92	Henderson	464
Economics 1a (T-Th-F)	Goss	261
English 19a	Gatley	413
Geography 3	Williams	456
Geography 8a	McKiernan	207
Geology 48	Green	362
History 45	Gerstung	304
Landscape Architecture 51	Herman	454
Music 30A	Badger	Little Theater
Psychology 51	Horowitz	415
Psychology 55	Cain	305
Subject A	Perham	255
Subject A	Sandys	152

11:00 M-W-F classes at Galileo on Thursday, December 8, 2:30 to 5:30

	Instructor	Room
Art 1a	Allman	454
Business 90	Zarchin	314
Chemistry 12	Tomer	357
Chemistry 53b	Forbes	408
English 1b	Perham	255
English 1b	Brennan	355
English 1a	Gatley	413
English 16a	Cooper	251
French A	Cranston	303
French A	Kelly	456
Geology 1b	Green	362
German 25a	Delfs	411
Home Economics 51a	Cuneo	317
Italian B	Maggetti	404
Latin C	Soule	403
Math 1a	Clark	414
Math 1a	Horowitz	415
Math 3a	Bass, Camp, Mayo	457, 458
Math 4b	McCarty	353
Philos 5b	Goldshur	261
Physics 2b	Finney	462
Physiology 12a	Ralston	310
Political Science 15	Hughes	153
Political Science 18a	Ross	350

RAM'S HORN

(Continued from page 2)

2. Have you ever been in an Ex-council meeting as a visitor or otherwise? Have you ever had enough interest in the college to attend one and offer suggestions? I can say that in three semesters on the council I have seen you there 0 times.

3. Have you ever been one of the loyal students who attended the football games this fall and rooted for your team, win or lose? Can you actually say you have ever done anything worth-while for the college? I doubt it!

Please don't worry though John. Every time I think I'm doing poorly at my position I just read your column and then think with horror how poorly you are doing your job. It really makes me feel much better.

In conclusion Tsk! Tsk! and Nertz to you, J. Aloysius.

Most sincerely,

Hugh Waite

Editor's note: Your letter is a bit illogical and untrue. Firstly, Ward organized the Forum Club to cover several precincts during the bond election and himself stood several hours before a polling place electioneering for Number 4.

Secondly, what if he didn't take an active interest in student government and activity in the past? You should be happy that at last he is taking an interest. Student government and activities will never be improved if every time the executives are criticized they take such an attitude as you have taken.

Thirdly, would you like to join the staff as a critic of cultural activities, or rather, can you?

* * *

● BENTLEY ON EDUCATION

Editor, The Guardsman:

During the past semester one could always read about student activities and about the students themselves in every issue of The Guardsman. Perhaps by some thousand-to-one chance there might appear an article about some member of the faculty or of the Administrative staff. The natural and proper procedure in publishing a college paper is to write about the college students; that has been done and will be done for time to come.

Why wouldn't it be appropriate to have a column devoted entirely to the Faculty and its outstanding personalities? It is true, news items have been written concerning special interests from the faculty's distinguished members.

I would like to use the RAM'S HORN as the medium for expressing my thoughts to the college at large. Three semesters at SFJC have gone by fast. In these three periods I have observed many things and many people. Above everything of fascination I found at SFJC is its distinguished Faculty and Administrative Staff. I wonder if other students have noticed as I have, the everlasting, cheerful smiles upon some Instructor's faces? How much more attentive students are when they are confronted by an instructor who has acquired cheerful tactics for the means of instructing his classes. The majority of the instructors at SFJC are always quite congenial with all students, whether the student is a good or a poor scholar.

Instructors can make their subjects much more appealing and more easily received by the class, by getting rid of the same old monotonous tone of speaking, the same old system of starting the lecture. Dull but vital courses can be made more acceptable to the students by eliminating the unnecessary gloomy facial expressions of the instructor. Brighten up! Cheer up! It can be done!

As an example of what you have just read in this article I am thinking of one of my instructors. Every time I attended class I was dead sure that (he or she) would have a sincere smile (not a smile of mockery) upon (his or her) face and would continue it throughout the end of the hour with a cheerful attitude with the students.

Because this Instructor was always so cheerful does not necessarily mean that (he or she) was soft on the grades. Quite on the contrary, (he or she) was square to everybody, always giving them a decent chance. If the student earned a "cinch", that's what he received; if the student earned a good grade, he received it!

I have observed with educational motives the actions and instructional procedures of many of the college's instructors. The students of San Francisco Junior College should feel proud of their Faculty and their Administration Staff!

Fred Bentley

Spring Registration Procedure Outlined For Old, New Students

All students who wish to have their final grades mailed to their homes must leave a self-addressed, stamped envelope that will hold a 4 by 6 inch card at the registrar's office, Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar, announced.

Registration Procedure For The Spring Semester

RETURNING STUDENTS

Tuesday, January 3, 1939

(a) Registration for students whose last names begin with letters A to K inclusive—9 a.m. to 12 noon—Faculty Cafeteria.

(b) Registration for students whose last names begin with letters L to Z inclusive—1 p.m. to 4 p.m.—Faculty Cafeteria.

ENTERING STUDENTS

Wednesday, January 4 and Thursday January 5, 1939

(a) Registration for new students.

(b) College Aptitude Tests.

All students who have not as yet taken the college aptitude tests must do so. Tests will be given on December 7th and 8th.

Two Hotel Division Students Placed In Regular Positions

Two of the three students of the Hotel Division graduating this December have already been placed in responsible positions, according to J. Graham Sullivan, co-ordinator.

Ozzie Torricelli has been placed as desk clerk at the Piedmont Hotel, Piedmont, California. Robert De Shields is considering two openings offered him. He has his choice of becoming chef of the Employees' Dining Room of the Palace Hotel or as assistant cook to the Stanford University Dining Halls.

On December 13, Irvin Keeler, publisher of Keeler's Pacific Hotel Revue, will speak to students of the division on "Participation of the hotel press in the hotel industry."

Keeler has been vitally interested in the hotel division since its founding and has expressed desires to create funds among hotel men to maintain students in the division whose lack of funds ordinarily make them drop out.

Co-ordinator J. Graham Sullivan frequently addresses clubs and gatherings on the operation of the Galileo and Marina cafeterias. Sullivan spoke on this subject last Monday at the Coit Hotel, Oakland, at a meeting of the Northern California Public Schools Business Officials.

Tentative Plans Under Way For New Course In Retail Merchandising

F. Grant Marsh, business department chairman, announced tentative plans for the formation of a course in Retail Merchandising. The course is made possible by the George-Deen Act which makes Federal funds available to any school district that carries on training which is known as distributive occupation in which the employee is in direct contact with the consumer.

"The course will be limited to 20 students, all to have a C average at least," Marsh said. "Classes will be held in the morning, during which the basic principles of Retail Merchandising will be discussed. In the afternoon, students will be given actual jobs in the various department stores in the city that are cooperating the plan. Their work will net them a salary of $20 to $25 a month."

Any student with an interest in Retail Merchandising and a C average, who desires to take the course, should apply soon, Marsh warned.

Bills Must Be In By Dec. 16, Nichols Warns

All bills for this semester's budget must be in by December 16, warned Comptroller Ward M. Nichols, early this week. Anything paid after this date will have to be included in the budget for the spring semester, 1939.

ELECTION ISSUE

(Continued from page 1)

from indifference to extreme expectancy.

Peace Declared

In a full, deep voice, Fex disclosed the results, starting with the lesser offices and finishing with winner of the Associated Student presidency.

At 5:14 the crowd began to disperse. At 5:15 a stillness enveloped room 150 in the Galileo Building. Another election was over.

Public Schools Division First To Fill Community Chest Campaign Quota

Public Schools Division, for the eleventh consecutive year was the first division to reach its quota in the Community Chest campaign.

The San Francisco Junior College unit passed its quota on the second day of the campaign under the supervision of A. J. Cloud, Lieutenant-Colonel of the college and of retired teachers units.

Alpha Phi Omega, college sorority, presented five dollars to President Cloud as its part toward the campaign.

Chair-Wheeling Positions Open To Men Students

Positions as wheel chair attendants at the Golden Gate International Exposition are open to men students of the college, Dean Edwin C. Browne announced last week. Those interested should report to Browne's office during the next two weeks, he said.

Clipper Ships of Pan American Airways will begin operations from their new Treasure Island base at the site of the 1939 World's Fair of the West, between November 15 and December 1.

AFTER DARK

(Continued from page 2)

KGO, 11:15 p.m. to 12: a very sedate and very naive program given over to the bettering of the RCA Victor reputation. An ideal hour for listening.

One gets a good, healthy diet of serious music by following these programs as often as school permits.

* * *

GERMAN ART SONG EVENINGS

Nicholas Goldschmidt and Alfred Frankenstein are presenting four evenings of German art song at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music. These cannot be recommended too highly to those who enjoy the songs of Schubert and Schuman, Wolf and Strauss. Mr. Goldschmidt is an excellent singer (though not such a good pianist when he accompanies himself at the piano), and Mr. Frankenstein is a fine commentator (though he does himself a grave injustice by so limiting his remarks that they are almost superfluous. He is far too intelligent a critic to limit his verbal annotations to a short summary of the words of each song Mr. Goldschmidt sings . . . but he did just this at the first concert of the series).

The next concert, they will present Schumann's two cycles: Der Arme Peter (a delightful bit about a forsaken lover), and Dichterliebe (one of the best song cycles ever written). And if Mr. Frankenstein has any pity on an audience he will see to it that a broken down Steinway up-right is not used to mar the beauty of Mr. Goldschmidt's singing. And, we hope, Mr. Goldschmidt will not cut the song cycles to be done in the future as he cut the Winter's Journey of Schubert. One of the best reasons for intimate musicales is that undeservedly neglected music can be complete and unadulterated. If Mr. Goldschmidt is afraid of taking too much time let him remember Wagner. And let Mr. Frankenstein remember the time he reviewed Elektra and bemoaned the editing that opera had suffered.

* * *

And, in case you haven't, go along to see Please Communicate at the Green Street Theatre. One of the best things that has ever hit this town.

Tulips, 250,000 of them, will grace the courtly landscape of Treasure Island, sent to the 1939 California World's Fair by the Holland Bulb Association.

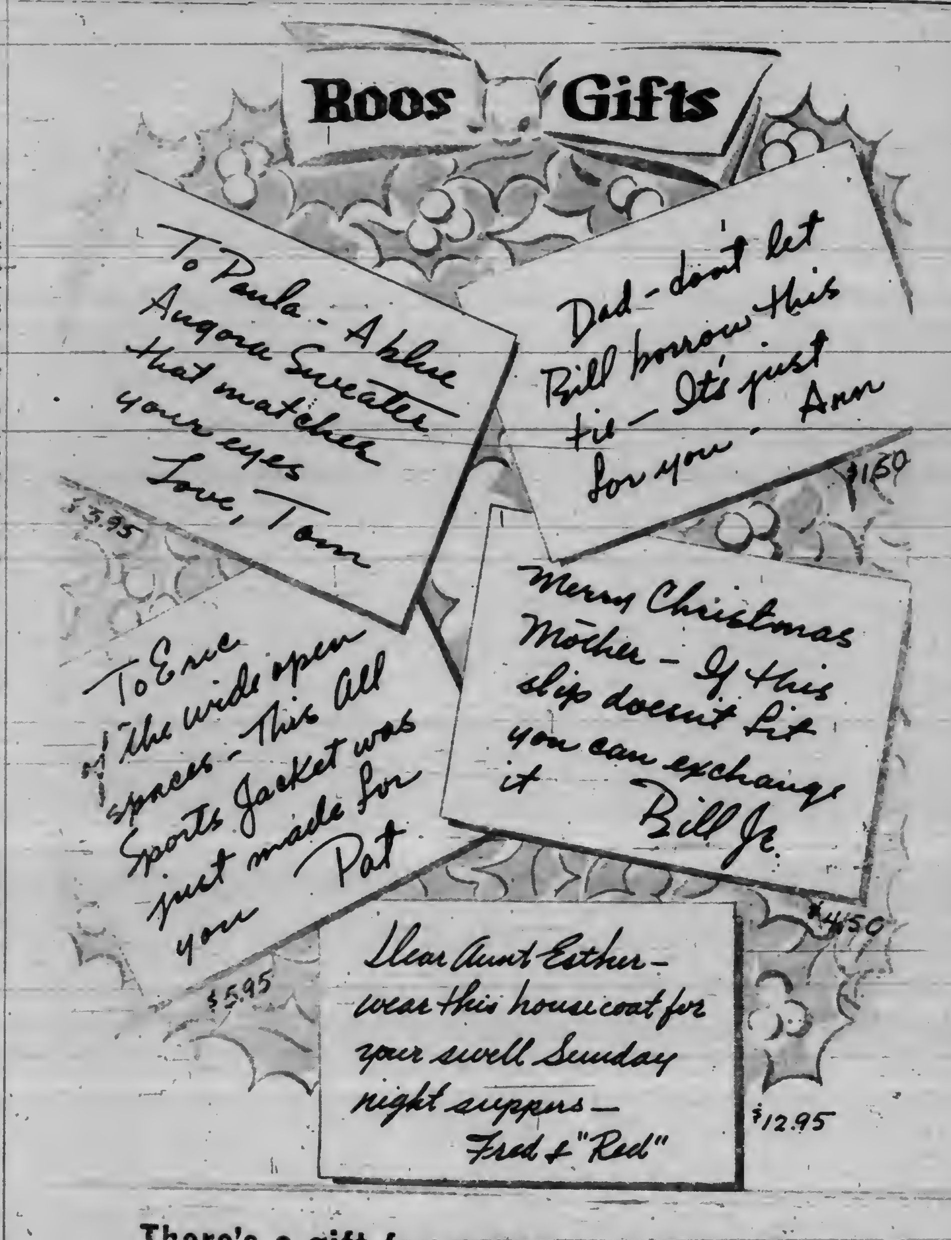
AWS Tea Dance At Century Club Attended By 250

Boasting an attendance of approximately 250 students, patronesses, faculty members, and their wives, the Associated Women Students' tea dansant held last Thursday was pronounced an outstanding success, according to Miriam Dunne, AWS president.

The affair, honoring high sophomores, featured, in addition to Warren Ringen's orchestra, special music in the form of two duets by Patricia Keefer, and Bob Scott, during intermissions.

"Miss Dougherty and I want to thank all committee members and hostesses for their fine cooperation," Miss Dunne exclaimed, "and Carl Rutledge of the hotel division for his delicious and beautifully decorated cake, which he donated for the occasion."

Other refreshments included apple cider and a variety of cookies and cakes.



The novelty tea napkins stamped with the initials AWS, and SFJC in college colors, caused much comment, as did the clever bids. The latter were in the form of miniature blue books, exactly duplicated even to the familiar quotation, "Dishonesty is not tolerated by students in this college" appearing on the covers.

"'Blue book bids' was Miss Dunne's idea," Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser said, "and I am glad the guests were so pleased with them."

Tentative plans for a freshman reception to take place early next semester are being formulated by present AWS officers, in order to simplify the many duties of the incoming president and her committee.

The purpose of the future reception will be to give low freshmen women students an opportunity to get acquainted with upper classmen, who will be able to act as student advisers.

Participation of Uncle Sam's Navy in the 1939 California World's Fair on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay, will be so extensive that a special liaison officer has been named to coordinate Navy and Exposition plans.

There's a gift for everyone at Roos Bros

...Practical! Exciting! Or Unusual! Come in and look 'em over early!

Roos Bros

MARKET AT STOCKTON

LEARN "CONTRACT BRIDGE" . . .

— A Social Necessity —

SUPERVISED GROUPS DAILY

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA BRIDGE STUDIO

530 MASON STREET near Sutter

ARTHUR WATERMAN, Culbertson Associate — SUtter 9558

Freshmen! Make Use Of Opportunities, Orientation Week

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

The Guardsman

SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Vol. VIII — MONDAY, JANUARY 9, 1939 — No. 1

Yell Leader Tryouts This Afternoon At Softball Game

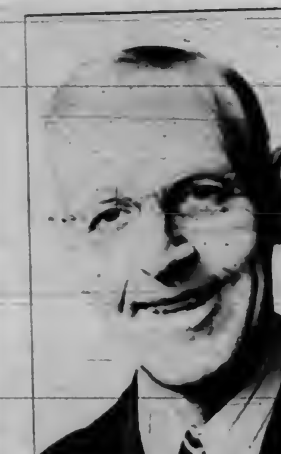
Editorial

President's Message . . .

Association With A Living Thing

In all the furore of registration, President A. J. Cloud found time to write his semi-annual message to the students of the college. His topic, this year, is an inspiration both to incoming and old students.—The Editor.

It is again my happy privilege, through the courtesy of the editor of The Guardsman, to extend cordial greetings, on behalf of the faculty, to all students of the San Francisco Junior College, and particularly to those students entering this semester. May your hours be usefully spent among us.



This college is a robust institution, though its years have been few. It has vitality. The men and women attending it are and have been select representatives of American homes. Six thousand of them have been enrolled in the college since its opening day in August, 1935. They have felt within themselves that they were pioneers, builders, creators; they have developed organization, tradition, spirit. They came in contact with a faculty equipped to aid them toward the fulfillment of their individual and collective aims and purposes—a faculty scholarly and experienced, yet human and full of understanding. Encountering adverse conditions of many sorts and kinds, both students and faculty early regarded the total situation as an adventure to be entered into with zest and good fellowship; and seemed to become aware that those very circumstances conspired to foster growth. "Arcturus and the Pleiads" beckoned them.

"What men are going to get out of their university life . . . comes not only from the lecture room, but from association with the best minds they find in the faculty, alumni, and student body — association with the whole life and character of the University. This University is a living thing . . . What you will get out of this University that is worth your while, that will stand by you, is what you will get out of association with it as a living thing."

That was the message given years ago to a student gathering by the renowned President Wheeler of the University of California. It is equally applicable today at San Francisco Junior College. I commend it to you, as food for thought, when we now begin our eighth semester.

A. J. CLOUD, President
San Francisco Junior College

College President

A. J. CLOUD
"My Happy Privilege"

Orientation Events

MONDAY, JANUARY 9
Soft Ball Game—1:30 p.m., Galileo Field
Faculty vs. Block Society

* * * *

TUESDAY, JANUARY 10
Frosh Welcoming Rally—2:30 p.m., Galileo Auditorium
Basketball Game—7:30 p.m., Kezar Stadium
Rams vs. Y.M.I.
Olympic Club vs. S. F. State
(Admission 25 cents with Associated Student Card)

* * * *

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 11
Hello Day Dance—3:30 to 5 p.m., Galileo Women's Gym

* * * *

THURSDAY, JANUARY 12
AWS Entertainment—2:30 p.m., Little Theatre, Galileo
AWS Tea—Room 212 Galileo
AMS Smoker—8 p.m., Italian Athletic Club, 1630 Stockton St.

* * * *

FRIDAY, JANUARY 13
Frosh-Soph Brawl—3:30 p.m., Fort Mason Soldiers Field
Associated Student Dance—9 p.m.
Colonial Room, Hotel St. Francis, Semi-formal
Admission by Associated Student Card

Smoker Features Bottari; Frosh Favored In Brawl

Battling for the honor of their respective classes, the rugged sophomore veterans will engage the husky, uninitiated frosh in the semi-annual Freshman-Sophomore Brawl at the new historic Soldiers' Field, next Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Heavy rains this week are expected to make the battle grounds the wettest, muddiest, dirtiest field of action in the history of the Brawl tradition.

Confident Sophs

The Sophs, winners of six of the seven brawls held since the college's inception, are extremely confident of victory. Basis for this confidence originated when Bob Fex, ex-Student Body president who is studying for a Junior Certificate, stated, "Don't quote me."

Further information was added when Joe Amori, faculty member and judge of the affair, said, "We expect to have an even dirtier time than we have had previously. The size of the incoming class combined with that of the High Frosh should be sufficient to beat the ears off the upper classmen."

Block SF Cops

Members of the Block SF Society will act as police officers in order that the spectators may be kept from the roped area on the field which will comprise the battle ground.

For the information of those unacquainted with this traditional affair, the winners of the greater number of the athletic events during the brawl are awarded a cup signifying the team's distinction.

This semester, Dave Johnson, newly elected president of the Associated Men's Students, will present the winners trophy to the captain of the victorious team at the semi-formal to be held Friday evening at the Hotel St. Francis Colonial Room.

Cooperation Asked

All men students interested in brawling should communicate either with (1) The police (2) A good fight manager or (3) The respective captains of the Freshmen or Sophomores immediately before the battle ensues on Friday afternoon.

Featuring Victor Bottari, famous California all-American half-back, as the star guest of the evening, the Associated Men Students under the direction of President Dave Johnson will present their semi-annual smoker at the Italian Athletic Club, Stockton at Green, at 8 p.m., Thursday night.

Always one of the highlights of the semester's activities for the AMS, this year's smoker promises to be the best ever given. According to Johnson the entertainment offered is unlimited, however the number of men students which the club will accommodate is limited to the first 500.

Unusual, Unique

"We have gathered for the evening one of the most unusual and unique programs the college has known and we urge all of the incoming students to attend and meet their sophomore rivals for Friday's brawl. In order that as many as possible may be accommodated, we have arranged for a group of 500 men, all others will be turned from the doors so come early," Johnson warned.

Included in the evening's program is the ever-popular pie eating contest. Last year's contest was won by Jerry Flamm who since has become an all-conference football player at Cornell College in Iowa. Perhaps Flamm's success is owed to his participation in our contest, if so, come out and see next year's football team in action. At any rate the winner will receive a free bid to the Sophomore Formal.

Also Movies

Aside from the pie eating contest, the smoker will present motion pictures of some of the year's most talked about football contests and also a few short comedies. The presence of a jazz orchestra along with community singing to be led by Yell Leader Art Pomares, will lend a musical touch to the program.

Add to the program listed above all of the food and refreshments necessitated by such a group as will be present, and all you need is a finishing touch. This touch will be given by that talented Rip Tease Artist, Ripsy Tose Wee. Madame Wee, so says Joe Amori of the faculty.

If all of the above entertainment which has been secured is not enough to bring every man student in the college down to the Italian Athletic Club on Thursday evening, it will be well worth the time of those interested to come and see and hear not only Vic Bottari but also Tiny Thornhill, Stub Allison and Pete Fay to whom invitations have also been sent.

'Hello Day' Dance Wed. Afternoon, Girls' Gym; 'Great Fun,' Verducci

Among the many social events of Orientation Week will be the Hello Day Dance to be held Wednesday from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in the Galileo Women's Gym. The dance is to be informal, and students can come and go as they please.

Music will be provided by phonograph records connected to a loud speaking system. Frank Verducci, Associated Student president, promises that "the dance will be great fun".

No classes will be excused. Only those who are free at those hours will be able to attend.

"In addition to the free dance, we are offering an amateur hour for low freshmen only," Verducci said. "Students attending the dance will serve as judges of individual talent. Any low freshman, possessed of entertaining powers, who is unafraid of an audience should see Art Pomares, head yell leader or me immediately. The prizes will be sur-prizes," concluded Verducci enthusiastically.

Hotel Management Society Plans First Meeting Soon

At its first meeting to be held sometime in the near future, the members of the Hotel and Restaurant Management Society will discuss the plans for the present semester.

The purpose of this group is to participate as a unit in all of the functions of the college student body, and to conduct special enterprises in which they bring themselves and the work of the Hotel Division before the hotel industry.

Initial Spring Semester Rally Slated Tomorrow

Wide Talent Diversity Arranged By Pomares, Head Yell-Leader

One of the special and larger features of Orientation Week will be the presentation of the first rally of the semester next Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. in the Galileo Auditorium.

Art Pomares, head yeall leader, has arranged for a wide diversity of entertainment features in presenting this first rally under his supervision.

Primarily for the purpose of welcoming incoming freshmen and new students to the college, the rally at the same time is also intended to arouse spirit for the college basketball game with the Y.M.I. at 7:30 that night at Kezar Pavilion.

President A. J. Cloud, Dean E. C. Browne, and other administrative officers will officially welcome all incoming students and will acquaint them with junior college procedure. "Dutch" Conlan will speak on behalf of the basketball team.

Schmale's Burlesque

Feature of the rally will be the representation of Jack Schmale's "burlesque" of last semester entitled "A Little of Everything".

To the uninitiated who may not be acquainted with the efforts of Schmale and his unsurpassed cast of campus thespians, Schmale extends a cordial invitation to view the latest of his brain children.

Schmale's "nightmares" have been so effective, that he is reputed to be a rival to Orson Welles in scaring little children with his finished products.

Cast of Characters

Included in the all-star cast of "A Little of Everything" which is just what its name indicates, are such matinee idols as Mel Peterson, Dave Johnson, Ken Pasquallette, Ray Berns, John Julius, George Jones, and Ray Diehl.

Acting for the first time in his new role of head yell leader, Art Pomares will demonstrate his yell leading ability and will test the united efforts of the student body by leading as many college yells as time permits.

Introduce Officers

To acquaint new students with the present members of the executive council, Pomares will introduce the following personages to the assemblage:

Associated Students President Frank Verducci; Vice President Miriam Dunne; Secretary Jane Mitchell; Yell Leader and Rally Committee Chairman Art Pomares; Associated Men Students President Dave Johnson; Associated Women Students President Dorothy Trood; Block SF President and Athletic Council Chairman Mel Peterson; Women's Athletic Society President Dorothy Sanderson; Guardsman Editor and Publications Board Chairman John Julius, and Club Advisory Board President Bob Blackwell.

Report To Class

All students must report to their 2:30 classes for roll call and will then leave en masse for the auditorium. Students not reporting to class will be marked absent.

"I want to see a big turnout for this rally," stated Pomares. "The rally committee and I have arranged a program to appeal to all. Attend this rally and start the semester on the right footing."

A rally committee, recently chosen by Pomares will be on hand to seat and supervise the conduct of the audience at this and at all future rallies.

Rally Committee Named

Students selected by Pomares to serve on his Rally Committee and to officiate at rallies and college sport affairs are Margaret Meader and Lorraine McGill, and Jack Schmale, Jack Volker, Anthony Manov, Merrill Steele, and Wendell Aydelotte, Pomares will serve as chairman.

The first meeting of the committee will be held in the near future. Students serving on the committee arrange seating, officiate at rallies, and discuss plans for rallies with the yell leader.

College Used Book Exchange Opens In P.G.E. Building

Women's Service Society To Operate Non-Profit Text Exchange Medium

Inaugurating a totally new service in the college, the Used Book Exchange offers its facilities to students wishing to dispose of second hand textbooks.

The Exchange, located on the 7th floor of the P. G. & E. Building, and operated on a non-profit basis by the Women's Service Society, opened on Friday, January 6th, and will continue to function through Friday, January 13th.

Joyanna Mack, president of the WSS, outlined the procedure of the Book Exchange.

Receive Cash

"Any student wishing to sell a used textbook should bring it to the Exchange. There he will file his name and address, together with the price he wants for the book. After the Exchange has closed, he will come back, and, if the book has been sold, receive his money," she said.

Miss Mack emphasized the fact that the Exchange is a purely non-profit enterprise, all books being offered at the price asked by their owners.

Verrel Weber, in her capacity of faculty adviser to the society, made it clear that the success or failure of the Book Exchange is up to the students.

"It is an interesting experiment," said Miss Weber, "and a very different one for the WSS. The rooms are there, and the girls are ready and willing to render their time and services, but the students must use its facilities if the Exchange is to fulfill its purpose."

Support Urged

Frank Verducci, Associated Student President, characterized the new undertaking as "a worthy experiment" and called on the students to give it their support.

"The Book Exchange will prove a great benefit to the students," commented Verducci, "as attested by the success of similar ventures in other colleges."

Dean Edwin C. Browne advised students to take advantage of this opportunity and to consider carefully the limited time and financial elements involved.

Galileo Fifth Floor Scene Of AWS Entertainment Tea Thursday Afternoon

As a companion feature to the Associated Men Student's smoker next Thursday night, the Associated Women Students will hold their now famous semi-annual tea sipping extravaganza on the afternoon of the same day. Scheduled to start at 2:30 in the Little Theater on the fifth floor of the Galileo High School Building with AWS entertainment and to be followed immediately by the tea in Room 212 of the same building, the affair furnishes an excellent opportunity for women to meet old acquaintances and to make numerous new ones, according to Dorothy Trood, AWS president.

Open to all the women of the college, the purpose of the tea is to acquaint new women with the various social sororities and sport associations and extra-curricula activities offered to all women of the college, as well as to meet on common ground and become acquainted with one another while drinking tea with or without benefit of lemons, sugar, canned milk, shallow saucers, or half-cocked little fingers.

Speeches Promised

The larger part of the entertainment will be composed of short addresses by prominent women of the college. Their purpose is to acquaint new women with the organizations they represent and to welcome newcomers into the fold.

Phyllis Learned will speak of the college honor sorority for women, the Alpha Gamma Sigma. Women's Athletic Association President Dorothy Sanderson will discuss and tender information of her association. Marion Dickey will speak on "The Purpose of the Physical Education Majors Club" and Teekla Regoli will represent the Home Economics Society.

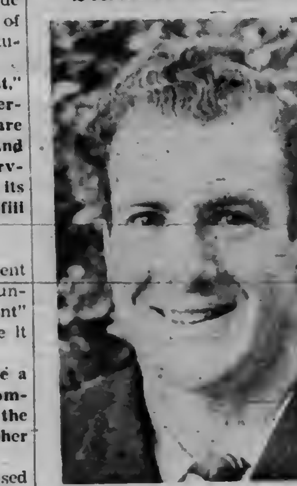
The lighter part of the entertainment consists of a piano recital by Margaret Meader, and group singing of the Alma Mater and "Fight on

(Continued on page 4, column 2)

Gigantic Week Starts Today As College Welcomes Entering Frosh

Eight Events Slated For Orientation Week; Called Best West of Rockies

Miss and Mr. Freshie, 1939, you're fortunate people indeed!



For never in the history of San Francisco Junior College nor any other institution of its kind this side of the Rockies has there been an Orientation Week program extended to frosh as the one launching itself this afternoon at precisely 1:30 o'clock.

No less than eight general events comprise the ambitious and extensive schedule, dedicated exclusively to incoming students and their immediate adjustment into extra-curricular life in this institution.

The program itself is a tribute to the ingenuity and perseverence of the current student administration, and represents many hours of work during the recent holiday session. It is only hoped that every last yearling hereabouts will partake of the enjoyment and sociability offered between today and Friday evening.

Getting back to this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, the traditional softball game will be waged between the faculty and Block SF Society teams at Galileo Field. Today's contest bears the "grudge battle" label, dating back to Sophomore Week last semester, when the tutors fought the athletes to a 2-2 tie over the nine inning route.

Student President

FRANK VERDUCCI
"Greetings . . . "—Page 2

Your teachers will see you in action all term in the classroom, so for a sneak preview of them on display, don't miss the spectacle at Galileo Field today. Art Pomares, college yell leader, will hold tryouts for his assistants simultaneously before the crowd, and low frosh are quite eligible to try.

The program's pace accelerates a bit tomorrow afternoon at the Frosh Welcoming Rally in Galileo Auditorium at 2:30. To attend, and you shouldn't miss this one, report to 2:30 classes for roll call first.

Pomares and his Rally Committee have arranged an entertaining program, including introduction of Administration and student officers, introduction of the basketball team, several novel variety numbers and last but not least, a return engagement of the mighty collegiate melodrama, "A Little of Everything".

Collegiate Melodrama Returns

The two-act comedy, which lives up to its title, and how, was the feature of last semester's Sophomore Hi-Jinks, and returns with a cast of 28 real characters by popular demand. The roster of hams reads like a "Who's Who of San Francisco Junior College", with such notables as Frank Verducci, Dave Johnson, Bob "Seniority" Fex, Ed "Jack Dalton" Canepa, and oh, so many more!

Those who recover from the rally and the chills, yells, scares and other surprises of a "Little of Everything" will segregate themselves into groups corresponding to the four classes in the school. Class elections will then be held.

Rams vs. Y.M.I. Tomorrow Nite

Tomorrow evening our Ram basketballers will occupy the spotlight, taking on the strong Young Men's Institute at Kezar Pavilion, sharing a twin program with San Francisco State and the Olympic Club. Frosh who missed last week's encounter with the Olympic five should take their student body cards in one hand, two-bits in the other and hot-foot it out to Kezar, where the first official Ram rooting section of the semester will be giving vent to lusty cheers. First game starts at 7:45 o'clock.

Wednesday is the comparative "breather" of the week. The day will be confined to "Hello Day", for generally purposes of getting mutually acquainted. There are no particular rules, and the cold shoulder is tabooed. If you want to extend greetings to anyone, just go right ahead. For those who enjoy a bit of dancing there'll be music exclusively for that purpose in the Galileo women's gym, 3:30 to 5 o'clock.

Miss and Mister Freshie will indulge in Thursday's further social whirling respective of each other. Miss will be entertained by the Associated Women's Students in the Little Theatre, Galileo, at 2:30, followed by an AWS tea in Room 212, same building. Dorothy Trood, president, is in charge.

Free Eats Thursday Nite

The Misters will be offered their Thursday dish in the evening at the Italian Athletic Club, where Dave Johnson and his Men's Club will present the newcomers with the semi-annual Frosh Smoker. Dave and his cohorts have worked feverishly on the program, which will include the appearance of Vic Bottari, California's all-American. As an added attraction, eats will be served, boys! P.S. Starts at 8 o'clock.

Then of course, Friday comes, and brings with it the traditional frosh-soph brawl. As this is no ordinary Friday (January 13), a hectic battle is expected. Joe Amori, Men's Club adviser, and Johnson will be in charge, and lotsa thrilling events are planned. It's been a pretty long time since the frosh have been able to subdue the upperclassmen, but the husky crop enrolled this term may have the sophs eating mud. Soldier's Field is the place, the time 3:30.

Semi-Formal Friday Nite

Climaxing the whole shootin' match comes Friday evening's freshie coming out party, the Low Frosh Reception semi-formal in the Colonial Ballroom, St. Francis Hotel. It starts at 9 o'clock, says Miriam Dunne, Social Committee Chairman. For one student body card a couple, incomers may convert themselves into full fledged San Francisco Junior College social debutantes at this affair, which will be featured by novel bids and decorations.

Don't forget, Miss and Mister Freshie, we're inviting you to be present at all of these affairs. Get into the spirit of things, organize your class, whip the sophs in the brawl, and well—just get accepted around here!

Late Registration Schedule Released By Registrar Mohr

J. Paul Mohr, college registrar announced the following schedule for late registrants, and entrance examinations.

January 6 to 20, inclusive—2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., Galileo Cafeteria—late registration.

Entrance examinations for late registrants will be held as follows:

Saturday, January 14—9:00 a.m. Room 458—Subject A (Reading and Composition) and high school content examinations.

Saturday, January 21—9:00 a.m. Room 458—College aptitude and vocational interests tests and pictures.

"The entrance examinations are required of all students and those who have not taken them as yet must do so," Mohr said.

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VIII MONDAY, JANUARY 9, 1939 No. 1

JOHN JULIUS........EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Editorial Adviser Joan Nourse — Business Adviser Edward H. Redford

Bill Frantz........Managing Editor
Ray Berns........Sports Editor
Isadore Maloff........Feature Editor
Carol Pickering........Women's Editor
Dorothy Trood........Club Editor
Sam Galstaun........Staff Photographer

REPORTERS

Lucretia Antonicelli, Ethan Bernstein, Jacqueline Davis, Janet Fellows, Lois Gipson, Louis Goldstone, Leonard Gross, Dave Johnson, Frances Manalo, Jack Schmale, Frank Verducci, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Guardsman Policy Has Been And Will Be To Serve The College

Argonauts!

The first students, the first faculty, met in the first function of San Francisco Junior College which took place at the Opera House on Monday, August 26, 1935 at 10 a.m.

On that signal morning, student was introduced to instructor and both instructor and student were introduced to the college which was founded after a hard summer's work by the administration.

"Emanon"

On that morning was distributed Vol. 1, No. 1 of the college paper then called the "Emanon" (No Name spelled backwards). That first issue carried information as to the whereabouts of the various campuses. It also carried articles introducing and giving the records of administration, instructors and coaches.

Succeeding issues were a Pandora's Box of service. Ballots were run so that members of the Associated Students might vote to decide the name of their paper, the college colors, and the college nickname.

"The Guardsman"

On September 27, the Red and White Rams published the fourth issue of the Official Publication of San Francisco Junior College, The Guardsman.

The growth of the various organizations within the college can be traced in the issues of The Guardsman through to the present day. Handicapped by a scattered campus, organizations have always relied on The Guardsman pages for announcements of meetings and activities.

"Hotel Class Takes Over Cafeteria . . ."

Divisions and organizations, especially those unique to the college were supported to such an extent, that an entire edition was devoted to publicizing the then new Hotel and Restaurant Management Division, the only set-up of its kind in the nation.

"Constitution Submitted . . ."

Throughout the years, the greatest Guardsman pet has been student government and affairs. The various college constitutions which were accepted but subsequently rejected were printed in full and discussed until the acceptance of former Editor and Associated Student President Don Mix's constitution last spring.

A complete Guardsman expose which followed the mismanaged Associated Students election of May 1936 resulted in the use of voting machines in all subsequent elections.

"Action Comes To Site"

An eight-page pictorial and special edition of The Guardsman on April 21, 1937 celebrated the groundbreaking, that same week, for the new college campus on 55 acre Balboa Park. Before and since that date The Guardsman has followed with keen detail results of the endless campaign to have a complete campus at an early date.

This was climaxed in the edition which had as its streamer . . .

"School Bonds Pass"

The banner issue, which was in the hands of its readers on the morning following the election, ended a month-long campaign launched by The Guardsman in the interest of "Bond No. 4" which insured the completion of the gymnasium section of the new campus at the time of its occupancy.

"Country Threatened By Disaster"

The "backwards edition" of April 1, 1936, and the all-green number of St. Patrick's Day, 1937, as well as the numerous smaller features appearing in The Guardsman carried out the idea of making the college newspaper interesting to read.

The several roto editions have received much acclaim from professional journalists as throughout, The Guardsman has attempted to give the finest in typography, photography and other art work.

Streamlined

From a professional standpoint, the technical high spot came the first issue of last fall when The Guardsman went "streamlined", being among the first to adopt this new method of modern newspaper makeup.

1939

Today, the first issue of The Guardsman for the eighth semester of the college's existence is published and in the hands of readers the first day of orientation week which is the second day of classes and two days earlier than the usual first Wednesday of classes. For the rest of the semester The Guardsman will be published and distributed every Wednesday.

Policy

In the ensuing semester, The Guardsman policy will be further to bring about more unity, coordination, and college spirit among the elements which now make up the college; namely, students, faculty, and scattered campuses. It will strive for the advancement of activities both curricular and extra-curricular. As a means to these ends, the staff will make use of the methods of compiling and presenting the paper which have been used since its beginning and which are stated in the history given above.

Editorial discussion will be directed to matters of campus interest and it must be remembered that ideas expressed in editorial columns are the opinion of the writer. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Adjust Yourself Early To College Life

ADAPTABILITY is the most important individual social problem in life, according to many psychologists and sociologists. It is a scientific fact that personality development depends a great deal upon how a person adjusts himself to a new environment.

If he adjusts himself well to the new problems and situations that confront him, his stay in the new environment will be pleasant and enjoyable, and he will do his work in a happy frame of mind. If, however, he doesn't adjust himself to the new situations, his association with the new environment is likely to be unpleasant and his personality will not develop its fullest.

"Going to college" is not limited to the acquisition of book knowledge—it also consists of building up one's personality and individuality. The latter purpose is the aim of Orientation Week. It is intended to assist the newcomers in adjusting themselves to the new environment of San Francisco Junior College. The events on the program are to help the new freshmen gain new acquaintances, to adapt themselves to college life, and to give them the feeling that the college and its traditions belong to them.

It is expected that the incoming freshmen will take advantage of the opportunities afforded them to adapt themselves to college life. We who arrived before this semester wish to make the environment pleasant for the new arrivals; we wish them to step right into college life, to accept this college as their own, and to make their stay an enjoyable one.

Bill Frantz

Sartorial Modes

By Fashion Fanny

WITH spring just around the corner, the people who design smart clothes have come out with soft pastel colors. Jackets in powder blue, soft lemon, biege, and dusty rose are a few of the delightful new hip length jackets the stores are featuring. In choosing your skirts to match your jackets get either the dominating color in the jacket or get the skirt to match.

Angora sweaters are still the rage with suits coming in the same pastel colors. Be smart, wear pearls with your sweaters and wool dresses.

That's another thing, the new spring dresses in soft wool. Most of them come with full wide skirts in gold, rose, blue, and brown. Wool dresses and the tailored silk dresses are fashionably smart worn under your new jackets.

"CAMPUS BAG"

One shoppe in town is featuring the new 'Campus Bag' for the college woman, and it's just the thing, for it carries everything you need. Another smart thing to wear with wool dresses and sweaters are the sheer wool scarfs coming in many gorgeous colors. They're very useful when the wind is blowing [illegible] to keep your hair in place.

NEW SPRING PRINTS

After seeing winter clothes in the store windows for several months, it is indeed a refreshing sight to see the new spring prints and silks blossoming forth. Predominating in the field of plain color is the blue chiffon dress with frothy white organdy at the neck and sleeves. Prints are coming out in many new and different styles. One store is featuring big splashes of flowers here and there on a plain background.

Fur chunkies will be very prominent again this spring, and for your summer cloth coat, a lightweight navy blue would be very serviceable and practical. Many of the new silk dresses feature coats lined with the same material as the dress.

Spring and summer hats have also appeared on the horizon in the toy hat version, but fashion predicts that large hats will again come into their own.

Cabbages & Kings

By Blue Pencil Bill

WE see by the mimeographed notice of orientation week that the judicial committee is on the job. Members are still carrying out their program of "college dances for the students of the college". They have precedents which they can follow now. So if you loan your Associated Students card to an outsider for the dance Friday night, we'll give six points and 8 to 5 odds that you'll be caught and your card "confiscated" as the mimeographed sheet so aptly puts it.

An explanation to the entering students for this action . . . In the past, students who didn't intend to go to the dances usually loaned their cards to friends attending high school or at work, with the result that the dance floor was overcrowded with outsiders and their partners, while the students attending the college had to sit out their dances. So you see, young ones, the judicial committee's ultimatum is protecting your space on the dance floor.

• • •

WE FAVOR FROSH

And another thing, freshmen, we're expecting you to whip the sophs in the brawl Friday afternoon. Especially after seeing such young huskies as Stan Selander, ex-Washington High tackle, Harry O'Rourke, Balboa basketball star, Bob McCaffery, footballer, and a lot of strong boys from across the bay.

And furthermore, frosh, Joe Amori and Dave Johnson of the AMS, and Miss Dougherty and Dot Trood of the AWS, are expecting you to turn out for the entertainment they have planned for Thursday.

And lastly, freshies, all this orientation stuff is meant to create a feeling of friendship between you and the rest of the kids at this college, so don't be scared to make new acquaintances—after all, you are going to have to see them for at least six months.

• • •

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

San Francisco Junior College in more than three year's occupation of the U. C. Extension Building has done less damage, accidental or otherwise, than is done to the average high school in a single month—the results of a college education, no doubt.

• • •

JAZZ KING

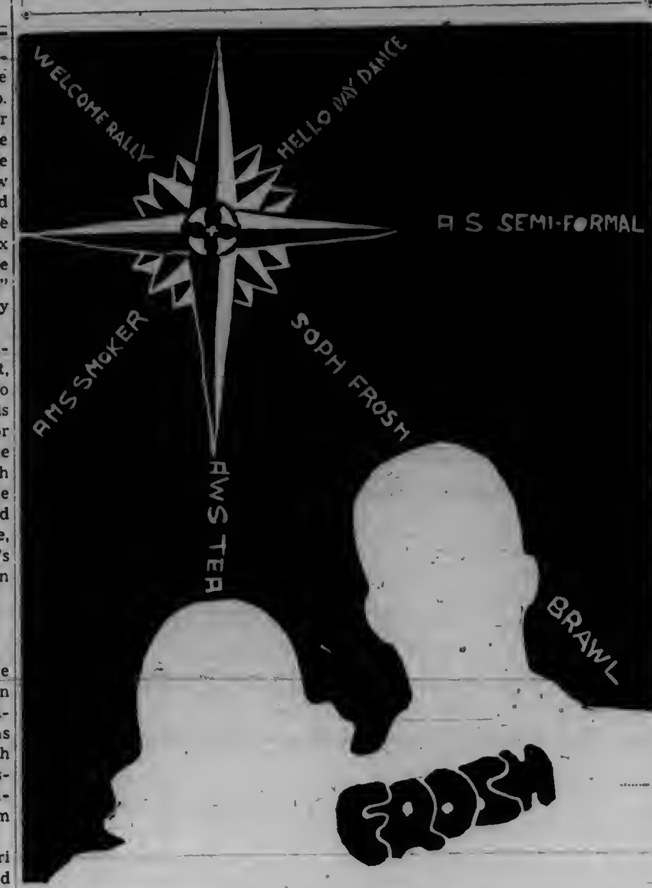
One of the most famous shoe shine stands in San Francisco is that of the "Jazz King", the tap-dancing, sparkling-eyed colored man. His stand, on O'Farrell and Powell streets, has autographed photos of his numerous friends in the entertainment world covering the walls. The modern touch to the "Jazz King's" stand is a brand new radio which goes full blast all day. But the real entertainment comes not from the radio, but from the "Jazz King" himself. He shines your shoes and at the same time tap-dances to the music on the radio. The grand finale is his Fred Astaire act with a whisk broom which alone is worth the price of a shine.

• • •

QUESTIONS WITHOUT ANSWERS

We wonder why Marty Georgian has been wearing a hat lately? Is it true that Bob Fex has returned to be an instructor at the college because of his seniority? What, is that Ickie Ward back again?

• • •



GERMAN SKI-EXPERT

Russ Sweet is overlooking a good bet in Eric Moeller, the German instructor, for his skiing club. Mr. Moeller was a skier of some repute in his younger days in Europe. Many times he skied on the Bavarian Alps. Invite Mr. Moeller to the club, if you haven't done so already, Russ, and we'll give more odds that he can show the students some real technique in the art and science of skiing.

Thirteen livestock shows and several national conventions of livestock associations will be held at the 1939 California World's Fair following its opening next February 18.

Orientation Week

By Marion MacKillop

AFTER DARK

By John Ward

MUSIC for the San Francisco Fair has remained a mysterious quantity since the fair's inception. Unfortunately, as the opening date draws nearer, nothing is said or done to relieve the mystery. Rumors of an engagement of Arturo Toscanini and the N.B.C. symphony orchestra were circulated about a year ago. Nothing further has been heard about it.

Now rumor has it that the San Francisco symphony will go to New York, Monteux included, and the New York Philharmonic will come to San Francisco, Barbarolli included. This does not quite make sense, insomuch as the San Francisco orchestra is scheduled for thirty-eight or more concerts ending some time in May. And much as one would like to hear the New York organization, it would be much more intelligent to let the San Francisco symphony do the musical honors for San Francisco's exposition. The expense involved in transplating the two orchestras might well go toward rehearsal time (something the San Francisco orchestra has never had enough of) and a few choice soloists. But perhaps this is too sane an idea for an exposition.

• • •

FOREIGN FILM APPROVED

The French film, Un Carnet de Bal (The Dance Program), now playing at the Clay Street Theatre, is one of the best films of the year. A strange, many-peopled study of time and regret and vague memories, it tells of a woman who wants to check up on the men with whom she danced at a ball some twenty years ago. Her subsequent voyage is a weird untangling of many strings, a trip from the hazy world of dreams and memories to the exact world of reality. Superbly acted, it is an unhurried, excellently directed work of art.

Speaking of foreign films, we found that the best pictures of dear old 1938 were all of European make. Hollywood hit a new low this year, and the only cinema fare worth the seeing came from French and Russian studios. Grand Illusion was probably the best film of the year because it was technically perfect and had some decidedly interesting things to say. The Dybuk was an interesting documentary type of film, telling the old Jewish myth of a dead man's spirit entering the body of a living person. Especially beautiful was the acting of the ancient rabbi with his unutterable weariness and age.

The Young Pushkin was the best Russian film we saw. In the true Russian tradition it was sad and nostalgic, but with a well-modulated, slow and even pace that gave the actors the opportunity of developing their parts without a panic rush against time. After all, if an actor has a five minute solo speech or scene in a Hollywood opus he is automatically a candidate for the acting award of the year. Europeans are not so naive.

• • •

MASTERPIECE vs. MAZUMA

Last Friday the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra began its 1939 series. This brings to mind a conversation we had with a young composer of this city some time ago. We were discussing the presentation of contemporary music on the symphony programs and bemoaning the scarcity of said product. Then this local writer went on to say that he had approached M. Monteaux regarding the possible presentation of one of his works. Monteux replied that he would be delighted to perform it, but, Mrs. soandso gives the symphony so many thousands of dollars and she doesn't want any modern music played or she won't give her thousands of dollars and the symphony needs Mrs. soandso's money so the local boy does not have a chance to hear his music played by the San Francisco symphony.

This is not all, however. M. Monteux happens to be the one conductor in America who knows how to present modern music. He was the musical director for the original Ballet Russe and conducted the premiere performances as "Le Sacre du Printemps" of Stravinsky and "Daphnis et Cloe" of Ravel But Mrs. Soandso with all of her filthy lucre decides for all the symphony concert audiences that there will be no modern music. What we want to know is: what happens to that part of the tax money the people of San Francisco give towards the support of their orchestra?

Negotiations are under way to bring the "Thunderbolt," Captain George E. T. Eyston's record holding auto, to Treasure Island for exhibit at the 1939 World's Fair of the West.

Presidential Notes

By Frank Verducci

GREETINGS and salutations to the old returning students and to the new Freshmen students. Many of you new students will find the college very different from the high schools from where you have been graduated. However, after you have been here a short time and have become acquainted with the other students, the daily routine, the members of the faculty, and after you have attended a few college functions, you will love the college as we do.

Most of us have already made our New Year's Resolutions, but it is not too late to add another. Let's resolve that we're going to have a very successful semester. With your cooperation and support, we can accomplish this. We can start things off with a bang by participating in Orientation Week.

Monday afternoon, the Block Letter Society and the members of the faculty resume their softball feud on Galileo Field at 1:30. Come out and see your "Profs" in action.

Tuesday afternoon the semester's activities really begin with the first rally of the semester being held at the Galileo Auditorium. The rally is in honor of the low freshmen. Following the rally, class elections will be held.

Wednesday is "Get-Acquainted Day". An informal dance will be held in the Galileo Auditorium starting at 3:30. This is a splendid opportunity for freshmen and upper-classmen to get together.

Thursday afternoon the AWS is sponsoring a tea for freshmen women and Thursday evening the Men's Club is holding their Semi-Annual Smoker for all new men students with the returning men students invited to attend.

The week's activities come to a memorable close Friday evening with a gala semi-formal dance in the Colonial room of the St. Francis Hotel. Excellent music has been secured for the occasion, and everyone who attends is assured of a wonderful and enjoyable time.

Friday afternoon, the friendly rivalry between the Sophs and Frosh will be renewed with the traditional Frosh-Soph Brawl. The Frosh have only won the Brawl ONCE, so the time is ripe for an upset. Be careful, Sophs!

While we have been enjoying our vacation, the Ram basketball team has been practicing faithfully. Much credit is due Coach "Dutch" Conlan and his Casaba Tossers for their splendid showing in the State Junior College Tournament held at Modesto. Our boys took third and with a little luck would have taken second. Such a team is worthy of our support. Let's all go out to Kezar Pavilion Tuesday night when the Rams meet the Y.M.I. and cheer them on to victory.

Charming Charlie

CHARMING CHARLIE returns! Amid the plaudits of the crowd and preceded by a triumphant blast of fanfare, the debonair gentleman who is the style leader of the college returns to the fold.

Charlie came into being in the middle of last semester for the express purpose of keeping the gentlemen of the college acquainted with the most recent trends in men's speech, dress, manners, and the like.

After drawing upon his unlimited store of knowledge and imparting it to the gentlemen for a number of issues, Charlie kicked up his heels and died.

UNAFRAID OF BEING EXPOSED

Certain of the young men, aware of the identity of the suave man about town, threatened to expose him. Drawing a deep sigh of relief now that most of said gentlemen have left this institution and unmindful of the fact that he is still open to exposure, Charlie is going to re-enter the columns of this tabloid.

To those Low Freshmen who are entering the portals of this aged institution of learning for the first time, we say welcome.

CONFIRMS ORIENTATION RUMOR

You have no doubt heard it rumored about that this is Orientation Week, the time for you to get acquainted. You may now accept this as a fact, for we confirm the rumor. Yes, this is the week for all the of the incoming females to dash up to the athletic heroes of the college and say "hello".

We have a very interesting message and note of advice to the low freshmen men. Up to the present time, there has been a dearth of cultured males in the college. Consequently, if you notice some of the young ladies of the high freshman and sophomore classes standing about with an air of expectancy when you appear, don't be bashful. That's right say hello.

While Thinking . . .

By Leonard Gross

ONCE again science and the field of medicine have combined to produce another benefit to mankind. Last week it was announced to the world at large that a new giant X-ray machine to aid in the treatment of cancer had been perfected. This new kind of million volt X-ray tube is equal to ninety million dollars worth of radium, which is quite a huge sum in anybody's language.

CANCER CURE PREDICTED

Science has always and will no doubt continue to make great strides toward a better, healthier world. Although cancer still is an incurable disease, it is refreshing to realize that with continued inventions and improvements, it cannot remain that way forever. We feel that with so many earnest, and hard working men and women engaged in extensive research work hunting for some clue which will lead to the curing of disease, that sooner or later (and we hope sooner), cancer and other diseases will not be death warrants to those who are afflicted with them, but will merely become another illness which, if given proper medical care, can be completely cured.

Of course it will take time, things like that cannot be done in a year or two. It may not happen for 20 or 30 years, or possibly not until several centuries have passed, but some day the newspaper headlines will shriek the wonderful news that some little obscure scientist or doctor has found the cure for cancer.

NEW INSTITUTE FOR CANCER STUDY

Many countries throughout the world have cancer institutes at which there are great research laboratories and machines. In the United States a new $4,000,000 Memorial Hospital will soon be completed in New York City. It is at this institute that the new X-ray tube will be installed. This hospital is designed to be the world's most completely equipped cancer institute, and concentrated there are many brilliant scientists and doctors who have made the study of cancer their life work.

It is inconceivable to believe that with such efforts being put forth that rich fruits will not result. Man is a strange and complex creature. He is besieged with curiosity, with a thirst for knowledge, and with a desire to conquer the unknown. It is upon these things that we base our assumption that science will march steadily forward, ever striving for a higher goal, and while striving will discover the cure for not only cancer, but for many other things, the elimination of which will serve to make the world a better place in which to live.

GUARDSMAN SPORTS

Faculty-Blockmen Battle Today In Softball Game

Ed Sandys Will Lead Instructors While Mel Peterson Will Captain Blockmen In Titanic Struggle

Holding the spotlight as the first event of Orientation Week, the softball game between the Faculty and the Block SF Society will be played today at the Galileo Field at 1:30 p.m.

The game, which might properly be termed the "Battle of the Century," is the third of the series between the athletes and the brain-trusters. 'Tis sad to relate, but the undergraduates have been able to tie but one contest, and were on the short end of the score in the other fray.

Rules Lax

Faculty captain Ed Sandys will field a strong outfit that has played together through the year because of the fact that the eligibility rules for this particular contest are a bit lax.

The instructors have no end of pitching strength, being three-deep in that department.

Henry Ralston, Dean Edwin Browne, and Lewis Berman are all experienced hurlers and are expected to mow down the Block lads with stinging fast balls and unorthodox curves.

The catching end for the instructors will be in the capable hands of Joe "Seabiscuit" Amori, popular boxing and bowling mentor who has guided the faculty team in years past.

Paul Mohr at first, Lewis Berman at second (when not pitching), William Mayo at the shortpatch, and Glenn Noble at the torrid corner, comprise the instructor's infield.

Patrolling the outer pastures will be Ed Sandys, Alfred Agosti, and William Goss, all of whom are expected to give the athlete's long-range clouters no end of trouble.

Dean Browne Plays

Shortfield will be covered by the popular Dean of the College, Ed Browne, who will dress up in all of his baseball togs for this momentous occasion.

Other members of the faculty who are expected to see action include Ward Nichols, Paul Pitman, John Gerstung, Ed Redford, Manferd Mueller, and Fred McFarlane.

Mel Peterson, all-conference football center and president of the Block Society, has gathered together the outstanding athletes of the college to oppose their more learned opponents.

Such stalwarts as George Jones, Franny Grey, Frank and Johnny Verducci, Adrian Carignani, Jim Molich, and Tony Manuel from the football squad, Jan Blomquist and Bob Campbell from the soccer team, basketballers Paul Le Baron, Lou Rouspil, Red Burrowes, Floyd Lawrence, Hugh Ryan, and Bobby Owen, and tennisers Ray Berns and Bob Kun will be on hand to help uphold the honor of the students.

Yell Leader Tryouts

Art Pomares, head yell leader of the college, has announced that tryouts for assistant yell leader will be held during the game with the candidates displaying their ability before the audience.

Let's get off on the right foot and start off Orientation Week with a bang by appearing at the game and rooting for your favorites, whether they be athletic heroes or faculty members.

Probable Starting Lineups

FACULTY	BLOCKMEN
Amori, c	F. Verducci, p
Ralston, p	Grey, c
Mohr, 1b	Jones, 1b
Berman, 2b	Le Baron, 2b
Mayo, ss	Rouspil, ss
Noble, 3b	Peterson, 3b
Browne, sf	Campbell, sf
Sandys, rf	Lawrence, lf
Agosti, cf	Burrowes, cf
Goss, lf	Blomquist, rf

Amark Lost To Tennis Team For Season; Rams Slated To Cop Title

Coach Tom Wilson's dream of dominating university tennis in the bay region has been shattered with the information that Eddie Amark, former Poly High star, has dropped from college.

Amark, a good singles player and superb doubles player, went on a tour of the Pacific Northwest last summer and gathered in the Oregon State and Pacific Northwest Singles titles, in addition to teaming with Hal Wagner, San Francisco City Junior champion and Ram stalwart of last year, to gain the Oregon State and Washington State Men's Doubles crowns.

Plans had been under way for the Ram squad to engage both California and Stanford Universities in dual matches, but the idea seems highly improbable now, for Amark's withdrawal means that every man on the squad will move up one spot, thereby weakening the team as a whole.

Any fear that the Rams, winner of the junior college conference two years running, will not repeat, need be dispelled, however, for the netsters will still present a formidable aggregation second to none in junior college circles.

Wagner, last year's No. 1 man, will in all probability hold down the same position, and he will be ably supported by lettermen Ray Berns and Bob Kun, and freshmen Bill Canning, former Alameda High ace and one of Northern California's junior Davis cuppers, Bill Madamba, Commerce flash, and John Garton, Poly tenniser, both of whom reached the semi-finals in the recent AAA tourney here in San Francisco.

The squad will also be bolstered by two other returning veterans, Ray Kline and Carl Christianson who have improved tremendously during the past year.

In the college singles championships which were started last semester, the semi-final round has been reached.

Coach Tom Wilson announces that the doubles tourney will start in the near future with the veteran combines of Wagner and Canning, and Berns and Kun, rated as the teams to beat in the tandem event.

"The turnout for the singles was very encouraging and I hope that the signup in the doubles will match that of the singles. Any teams wishing to enter should get in touch with me at once. There is no entry fee and cups will be given the winners and runner-ups," declared Wilson.

OMICRON PHI PI MEETS

Omicron Phi Pi, Economics Honor Society, will open the spring semester with a discussion of Japan's Invasion of China and Its Economic Aspects, next Wednesday. Speaker of the evening will be Captain Carlson, who is on leave from his station in China.

The meeting will be held at the home of Ed Casady, 743-B, West Cantonment, Presidio.

JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETEERS WILL MEET COLLEGE OF PACIFIC FRESHMEN AT STOCKTON WEDNESDAY

Coach Tom Wilson's junior varsity cagers will travel to Stockton Wednesday night to meet the College of Pacific Freshman basketball squad in the Pacific gymnasium.

Out of last year's jayvee team that scored a 42-37 win over the young Tigers, five basketeers remain: Hugh Ryan, center, and Bob Owen, Ray Berns, Ethan Bernstein, and George Cohan, forwards.

Lineup Tentative

Wilson has not announced a starting lineup as yet, but it is expected that Ryan, Owen, and Berns will start in the front line with new-comers Mario Salacone and Frank Conti handling the guard positions.

A wealth of talent turned out for this year's team, and Wilson expects that the men will maintain the high standard of play set up by last year's outfit.

In addition to the aforementioned players, the following have been showing up favorably in practice sessions: Ernie Haynes, former Polyite; Al Legalli, slim forward from George Washington High; Bill Healy, sturdy guard; Tom O'Donough, all-county guard from Richmond High; Bob Gavriloff, former all-city lightweight at Mission High; Bob Cadigan, lanky center, and Bill Hoshida, tricky forward.

Last year's first string was composed entirely of freshmen and prospects for this season were bright. Misfortune in the person of Old Man Fate stepped in, however, and three of the members were lost to the team as a result.

Stewart Leaves

Carlos Stewart, captain and brilliant guard, left college and went to work as did Roy Sclar, sharp-shooting forward, while Floyd Lawrence, the other guard, has forsaken basketball for other activities, leaving only Ryan and Berns.

Wilson is looking forward to a bright season, however, what with the entrance into college of exceptional new talent.

RAM chops

By JACK SCHMALE

Rams and Ramettes, it's a joyous task to announce herewith that basketball season is once more with us.

Yeah, back once again is the familiar two nights a week of yelling and howling at Kezar Pavilion, of excursions to the haunts of conference rivals in autos, buses and special trains, of rah-rah-rahs for Opalinski and company and Coach "Dutch" Conlan, of rainy winter nights, of the referee's whistle, and well, you know, all the rest.

And don't think for a minute that we haven't the equipment for the above. No, not for a minute. For we have practically the same great team that wore the Red and White last season, the same team that upset St. Mary's to advance into the semi-finals of the P.A.A. championships of northern California.

Slattery Gone

Gone only is Treacy "Slats" Slattery, who incidentally is further pursuing his casaba career at San Jose State. Back to fill Slattery's rubber soles is George Bedrosian, star of the Ram quintet two years ago, along with Jack Wolf, capable transfer from U.S.F. In addition we've just about the entire squad returning for another season.

Speaking of the P.A.A. tournament of last season, we are reminded that the Y.M.I., Ram foe in tomorrow evening's Kezar engagement, is the same opposition that knocked our boys out of the finals, and possibly a trip to the nationals in Denver. For that reason a bit of extra significance should be in evidence at no extra charge tomorrow night.

It was our pleasure to have accompanied the team to Modesto for the State Junior College Championship tourney in Mid-December. The Rams looked exceptionally strong, in spots, but could master no consistency. Defeating Salinas, 68 to 29, they hung up the scoring record for the ten-school two-day stand, and after dropping a close one to Modesto in the worst of their three performances, the locals polished off Compton neatly to gain third honors. Options, however, were sold only on first place, so the pay-off was nil.

Curcio Ram Standout

Ed Curcio, lanky all-conference guard, was the Ram standout for the tourney's duration. Opalinski, handicapped by lack of practice, showed none of the play that carried him to all-conference and even all-coast honors last year. Bedrosian proved himself a fine ballhawk, but little Willie Blackfield didn't perform to his capabilities. Hal Fischer was great in the backboard department, and earned high point honors against Modesto with 13. Curcio tallied 18 against Salinas.

Jack Robinson, who'll easily be remembered as the sensational colored quarterback who handed the Rams such a miserable afternoon in Kezar Stadium last November, is just as good in the cage sport as on the gridiron. He was highly instrumental in the Pasadena 40-37 victory over Modesto in the finals, as was Bartlett, colored football end who plays a nice game on the hardwoods. Robinson will prove the greatest football backfield star in the United States next year, whether he goes to Ohio State, U.C.L.A., Oregon or anywhere else. (Eastern papers please copy, and you can have DeCorrevant too).

Excursions, always an intriguing topic hereabouts, might not be a bad subject for this paragraph. We're planning one for Saturday, January 21, with Modesto as the destination. Whether we go, and if so, in a bus or train, is up to you. Art Pomares will discuss it at the rally tomorrow. If you'd like to make the trip, tell him vocally. Otherwise, there'll probably be others to Salinas and Santa Rosa later on during the schedule.

Returning Footballers Enroll

Freshmen who may be entertaining desires of gridding for Lee Eisan next football season would do well to take their physical education period two days a week from Lee. This class will resolve itself into a modified form of spring practice, and an interesquad game is planned during Sophomore Week in May. All returning pigskin pursuers are already enrolled.

Baseball Practice Will Get Under Way Next Week Says Coach Gaddy

Baseball mentor, Jack Gaddy, announced early this morning that practice would get under way next Monday or Tuesday afternoon. Candidates will meet in Gaddy's office at the Galileo gym, and potential ball players will don their spikes and start to work out on the Funston diamond.

It is expected that a veteran team will answer the "call to arms," only four players having graduated or used up their eligibility. The four are Paul Hjort, a hard hitting, good all around outfielder; Mickey Berman, fancy fielding first baseman, who has matriculated to Santa Barbara State College; Dave Johnson, number one catcher last spring, who unfortunately suffered a broken finger in the first conference game and was shelved for the remainder of the season as a result of it; and Ray Egelhofer, baseball playing footballer, who quarter-backed the Fresno State Bulldogs this past season.

Curcio Back

Starting with the pitchers, the performers expected to turn out include Ed Curcio, big left-handed pitcher, possessing both a fast ball and a temperament. "Big Ed," an all-conference basketball guard, is at present busy with the hoopsters and will report immediately at the close of the cage season.

From San Leandro, comes "Ozzie" Gardner, a right handed pitcher who tosses plenty of puzzling slow stuff.

Bill Mustanich, if in college, will handle the catching chores, as he is a former all-city high school catcher and one of the best bush league receivers in town.

The position at the initial sack is wide open, there being no known candidates at present.

The team will work out in two units. The tried veterans will perform together, while the "rookies" or new candidates will be in a different group. Gaddy believes that in this way he will be able to know more about the ability, or lack of it, in the material on hand and will thus be able to get a better slant on things and work the men into a well knit nine.

RAMblings

By RAY BERNS

Once again the spring semester is with us, and as usual, sports prospects are hitting on all four cylinders.

It may be a bit too early for such rash statements, but the varsity basketball squad, manned by twelve veterans and a University of San Francisco transfer, should encounter little or no difficulty in winning the coast league of the junior college conference.

The college has held the tennis championship for the past two years and something tells us that Wilson's netsters will repeat this semester. Three returning lettermen, and three outstanding new-comers make up the team that is expected to bring home the bacon once again.

Horsehiders Return

A host of returning horsehiders including Weaver Gailbraith, Kent Baird, Arnie Banta, Frankie Nilan, Ozzie Gardner, and Ed Curcio will greet Coach Jack Gaddy when he issues first call for baseball practice, while track is expected to come into its own now that Russ Sweet, relieved of his football duties, will be free to devote his all to the cinder sport.

Yea, verily, things are looking up. Reminiscing on the Y.M.I.-State casaba contest . . .

Referring to the college's relationship with State . . . friendly rivals? Yes! Bitter rivals? No!

That fact was evidenced at the game when Joe Sanz, ace Gator forward, was fouled and hurt by Ed Conroy, Institute forward. A band of local Blockmen gave the State star a tremendous ovation and a "big six" as he was helped off the floor by his team-mates.

Incidentally, Conroy is one of the most colorful, and at the same time, one of the most unpopular performers around these parts. His portrayal of villain roles is comparable to those of the top-flight Hollywood stars, and his antics alone are worth the price of admission. The local cage fans are willing to give the blond Institute player the Bronx cheer on the slightest provocation.

We've heard it rumored about that a special college rooting section will be prepared to bait Conroy in the Ram-Y.M.I. engagement tomorrow night.

Such well-known hecklers as Bob Fex, Bud Welchers, Hugh Ryan, Jerry Flamm, Dick Simpers, and Bobby Owen, all of whom hooted St. Mary's into defeat last year, will be on hand to give Mr. Conroy a bad time, so we can truthfully say that we're glad we're not in his shoes.

Gators Strong

All pre-season predictions as to the top-notch ability of the State cagers were borne out in the Institute game, the Gators appearing to have everything.

Led by three diminutive scoring stars at forward, Billy Hammond, Joe Sanz, and Ernie Loustalot, a clever-passing, tap-in artist, Tom Collingwood, at center, and two fine guards, Bill Plutte and Dave Kerwin, the Gators present a fast-breaking, sharp-shooting quintet.

The State-Ram game which will be played in the neighborhood of February 10, promises to be a ding-dong battle.

Varsity Basketball Squad Loses To Olympic Club; Will Meet Young Men's Institute Tomorrow Nite

Ram Quintet Makes Second 1939 Appearance In Tilt With Institute At Kezar

"Dutch" Conlan's Ram basketball quintet makes its second 1939 appearance tomorrow night, colliding with the highly touted Young Men's Institute five at Kezar Pavilion, sharing the program with S.F. State and the Olympic Club. The first game starts at 7:45 p.m.

Still stinging from last week's close defeat by the star-studded Winged O outfit, the locals rate a toss-up chance to beat the lanky Institute lads. Spectators at the game last week were thrilled at the comparable showing made by Conlan's boys against a team made up of ex-college veterans under the Olympic Club banners. The Rams were neck and neck with Club until the closing minutes of the game—the preview of the 1939 Ram basketballers was encouraging.

Y. M. I. Drubbed

The college's opponent, Y.M.I., was drubbed by a surprisingly strong State College five in last week's doubleheader.

Lining up for the Rams will be the familiar combination of the short but speedy Willie Blackfield and either Jack Wolf, the ex-Commerce High all-city forward, or big George Bedrosian, the mammoth Armenian at forwards. Alex Opalinski, recently chosen as Hank Luisetti's running mate at forward on the all-Northern California Collegiate team will hold down the center spot. Opalinski also made the all-Conference team last season. Scoring seventeen points and playing an outstanding game against the Olympic Club last week assured "Big Ed" Curcio a starting position at guard tomorrow night. Hal Fischer will hold down the other guard position.

Conroy Starts

Probable opening lineup for the Y.M.I. sees Eddie Conroy, colorful high scorer, at forward. Conroy is not very popular with the fans, but his playing is very spectacular. Eichholtz or Becker will start at the other forward spot. Galovich, Colorado State all-American is slated to see action at center, opposing Opalinski. McCarthy and Walsh will hold down the guard positions. These boys played for USF recently.

Tomorrow evening's contest is one of the Orientation Week events. Admission to the game is by Associated Students card and a twenty-five cent college student ticket. Tickets may be purchased at the Galileo Bank.

Rooting Section Promised

At the game Art Pomares, head yell leader, will conduct the first rooting section of the semester. The Ram section will occupy the north side of the pavilion, opposite the officials' bench. Pomares and his assistants are eager to have a large crowd rooting for the team, as the game promises to be filled with excitement.

Curcio and Opalinski Are Big Stars For Locals; YMI Upset By State College

By RAY BERNS

Making their "big-time" debut in a spectacular fashion, Coach "Dutch" Conlan's varsity basketballers dropped a thrilling 52-46 decision to an experienced Olympic Club team at Kezar Pavilion last Wednesday night.

Participating against such greats as Ray Balsley, Ray Olson, and Don Jensen, former University of California cage captains, and Al Baylacq, Arv Hedman, and Phil Garcia, ex-University of San Francisco stars, the Conlanmen performed nobly and too much credit cannot be given the lads for their fine showing.

Honors Divided

High point honors for the evening were divided between Hedman and Ed Curcio, high-scoring Ram guard, each garnering 17 points, while Al Opalinski, all-conference center, contributed 12 digits to the Ram cause.

The Club got off to a flying start and ran up an early lead of 11-4, before the locals settled down and turned the fray into a ball-game, the Olympians leaving the floor at half-time with a 27-24 lead.

In the middle of the second half, Curcio got "hot" and dropped two buckets to bring the count to 34-38, the Club leaving. At this point, "Big Ed" dashed the length of the floor on a solo flight, dropped a set-up shot, but was draped around one of the backboard uprights by an over-alert Olympian. Curcio made good on the one free throw awarded him, and the count stood 38-37 in favor of the Club.

Score Tied

Balsley sunk a thirty-footer to put the Clubmen out in front 40-37, but the locals came right back to knot the score at 40-40 on a bucket by Willie Blackfield, and a free throw by Hal Fischer.

Forging into a commanding 46-40 lead on three successive baskets, the Olympians were able to maintain their six-point margin over the continually threatening collegians until the gun sounded ending the game.

In the other game presented the 1,000 fans attending, two future Ram rivals, San Francisco State and the Young Men's Institute battled, with the Staters gaining a 43-39 victory over a poorly-conditioned Institute squad.

Varsity Basketball Roster

No.	Name	Position	Height	Weight	Experience
11	Opalinski, Al	Center	6.0	175	1 year varsity
13	Curcio, Ed	Guard	6.3	210	1 year varsity
9	Fischer, Hal	Guard	6.4	190	1 year varsity
4	Blackfield, Willie	Forward	5.8	150	1 year varsity
18	Bedrosian, George	Forward	6.1	205	1 year varsity
12	Wolf, Jack	Forward	5.9	165	U.S.F. Frosh
6	Nicco, Bob	Forward	5.11	170	Galileo High
8	LeBaron, Paul	Forward	5.11	165	1 year varsity
16	Pauli, Tom	Guard	6.7	195	1 year varsity
3	Manov, Tony	Forward	5.11	180	1 year varsity
15	Albrecht, Frank	Center	6.1	165	1 year varsity
14	Burrowes, Bob	Forward	6.4	185	1 year varsity
5	Rouspil, Louis	Guard	5.11	160	1 year varsity

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA JUNIOR COLLEGE CONFERENCE BASKETBALL SCHEDULE — 1939

Date	Place	Officials
Wednesday, January 25	Menlo at San Francisco	Johnson-Dierke
Friday, January 27	San Francisco at Menlo	Johnson
Wednesday, February 1	San Francisco at Santa Rosa	Underhill-Maloney
Friday, February 3	Santa Rosa at San Francisco	Underhill-Batmale
Wednesday, February 8	Marin at San Francisco	Cameron-Kleckner
Friday, February 10	San Francisco at Marin	Cameron
Wednesday, February 15	Salinas at San Francisco	Kleckner-Cameron
Friday, February 17	San Francisco at Salinas	Kintana
Wednesday, February 22	San Mateo at San Francisco	Kleckner-Dierke
Friday, February 24	San Francisco at San Mateo	Kleckner-Dierke

Women's Sport Parade

By Carol Pickering

Beginning the semester with a seasoned staff of officers, the Women's Athletic Association will plunge into sports activities immediately with a sure foot. Leaders of the organization this year are: president, Dorothy Sanderson. Her assistants are Annette Schunick, vice-president; Muriel Grenelle, secretary, and Phyllis Learned, treasurer. Dot Sanderson and Annette Schunick were both on the WAA executive staff last year, and Muriel Grenelle and Phyllis Learned were active members in the association.

• • •

A bang up list of WAA sports will be offered by the Association this semester. The list will include archery, badminton, baseball, basketball, folk dancing, modern dancing, tap dancing, fencing, golf, riding, swimming, life saving, rifle, tennis, soccer-hockey, and perhaps ice skating. Those students who sign up in elementary sports must attend the regularly scheduled classes from the first meeting of the semester, January 20, in order not to miss essential fundamental instruction.

Registration difficulties for the freshmen women are only enhanced when, having left their gym periods until last during sign ups, they discover they just can't fit any sport into their program that they want. The really good activities are "all filled up". Women, you are sure to find your favorite sport in the WAA sign up list. Club meetings will begin January 20. (Gee, this sure sounds like a commercial advertisement, doesn't it?)

• • •

The WAA program for spring 1939 is as follows:

January 12 to 20—Sign ups.

January 23 to February 3—Late sign ups.

January 20—Club meetings begin.

The dates for nominations, election of managers, initiation luncheon, and Tourney Week banquet have not as yet been set. Informal social activities will be announced later.

Ice skating, not organized during the fall semester, will be held Friday afternoon at the San Francisco Ice Skating Rink on 48th Avenue, from 2:30 to 4:30. This club was resumed because of popular demand and will be open to both men and women.

Red and White standard gym suits may be purchased at the Student Body Store for the small fee of etc. etc. etc. This costume will be needed for freshmen activities and the new women are advised by sports instructors to purchase them.

• • •

WAA SIGN-UPS

Sign-ups for all WAA sports will be held on the mezzanine floor at Powell Street, and in the north gym at Galileo from January 12 to January 20. All women are urged by Dorothy Sanderson, president, to enroll in as many sports as possible. Late sign-ups will be held from January 23 to February 3 for those students who are unable to arrange their program before January 20.

"We welcome all entering women students and invite both them and the returning students to take part in our program of activities," declared WAA President Dorothy Sanderson. "The number and variety of sports offered in the spring semester should provide an opportunity for every woman student to take part in her favorite sport. Freshmen students are required to take a special gym course. The WAA gives them a chance to enjoy sports which otherwise would not be open to them."

WAA club meetings start on January 20. Officers of the WAA for this semester are: Dorothy Sanderson, president; Annette Schunick, vice-president; Muriel Grenelle, secretary; and Phyllis Learned, treasurer.

Complete List of Clubs For Enterprising Frosh

For the benefit of students interested in joining the clubs, fraternities, and sororities within the college sanctioned by the club advisory board, a complete list of organizations can be found immediately following. Students interested in joining any of these organizations should contact the faculty advisers listed below.

- Pi Mu Gamma . . . pre-medical society . . . Glenn A Noble, adviser.
- Hotel and Restaurant . . . for hotel division majors . . . J. Graham Sullivan.
- Physical Education Major . . . women physical education majors . . . Bertha Mae Keller, adviser.
- Der Deutscher Verein . . . a study of German habits and customs and a chance for conversation in the German language . . . Annemarie Delfs, adviser.
- Home Economics . . . for women majoring in Home Economics . . . Claire Cuneo, adviser.
- Le Cercle Francais . . . an opportunity to speak nothing but French at the meetings and socials . . . Edwin A. Cranston, adviser.
- Alpha Delta Epsilon . . . the art club . . . Richard M. Allman, adviser.
- Pick and Hammer . . . for students of geology . . . George L. Green, adviser.
- Radio Engineers . . . open to men students majoring in radio . . . Lowell M. Hollingsworth, adviser.
- Army and Navy . . . anyone with military experience may join . . . Captain Fred MacFarland, U.S.A. reserve, and Commander Grant Marsh, U.S.N. retired, advisers.
- Peace Society . . . open forums and debates on peace throughout the world afford a great deal of knowledge to students interested in the peace movement . . . William Goss, John Ross, Gertrude Bolton, advisers.
- Astronomy Club . . . for students who are taking astronomy . . . Louis Berman, adviser.
- A Capella Choir . . . a club for all choir members . . . Flossita Badger, adviser.
- Chess Club . . . open to all students interested in chess . . . Henry J. Ralston, adviser.
- Music Club . . . an organization open to all music majors . . . Flossita Badger, adviser.
- ITALIAN CLUB . . . for those interested in Italian art, music, literature and conversation . . . Dora A. Garibaldi, adviser.
- Order of Nathaniel Bennett . . . an organization for all students interested in law . . . Lloyd D. Luckmann, adviser.
- Phi Rho Pi . . . college debating society . . . Lloyd D. Luckmann, adviser.
- Tarbuth Club . . . open to all Jewish students of the college . . . Michael M. Zarchin, adviser.
- Press Club . . . open to all staff members of official student publications . . . Joan Nourse, faculty adviser.
- Forestry . . . many interesting field trips for students interested in forestry . . . T. R. Porter, adviser.
- Chinese Club . . . open to Chinese students . . .
- Newman Club . . . membership open to all Catholic students . . . Catherine Musante, adviser.
- Japanese Student Club . . . open to all Japanese students . . . Gertrude Bolton, adviser.
- Alpha Phi Omega . . . a social group, restricted to only a few women . . . Jeanett Henderson, adviser.
- Phi Beta Rho . . . a social club, restricted to a few women students . . . Eileen Rue, adviser.
- Lambda Chi . . . social group restricted to a few women . . . Margaret Brennan, adviser.
- Beta Phi . . . fraternity, restricted to a few men each semester . . . Franklin C. Sewell, adviser.
- Tri Epsilon . . . fraternity which is restricted to a few men each semester . . . Louis G. Conlan, adviser.
- Iota Chi . . . fraternity which is restricted to a few men each semester . . . Richard M. Allman, adviser.
- Women's Service Society . . . a restricted group for women, and only a few are chosen each semester . . . Verrel A. Weber, adviser.
- Alpha Gamma Sigma . . . college honor society open to all students with a B average . . . Alice C. Cooper.
- Rifle and Pistol Club . . . for all students interested in rifle or who have signed up for it . . . James S. Hughes, adviser.
- Forum Club . . . this group puts out a magazine each spring semester and topics of the day are discussed at the meetings . . . Frederick G. Bracher, adviser.
- Forestry . . . will hold its first meeting of the semester Wednesday. The purpose of the meeting is to welcome all new members. Persons who are interested in forestry or who major in forestry are asked to watch the bulletin board on Powell Street for further details concerning the meeting.
- Camera Club . . . will meet this afternoon at Galileo at 2:30 p.m. in Room 406. The adviser of the club is John Booher.

Two New Courses Added Hotel Division Curriculum This Semester

Two new courses have been added to the curriculum of the hotel and restaurant division and are to be offered the present semester. Harry Nelson, head nurseryman of the Hallowell Seed Company, has been appointed part time instructor in a new course in Gardening, as a part of the curriculum offered by the division, Graham Sullivan, division coordinator, announced.

Second of the new courses offered to students of the division is a course in Personnel Administration. Joe Sullivan, secretary of the Hotel Employers Association, has been appointed instructor of this course.

The hotel division trains young men and women in the operation of the various departments a hotel or restaurant organization requires and offers its students practical as well as theoretical practice through its management of the Galileo and Marina Junior High School cafeterias and by placing its students in part time jobs in leading hotels and restaurants throughout the Pacific Coast.

The training program is executed by means of a practical curriculum planned by the industry and is carried on by industrial experts selected from hotel and restaurant organizations. Enrollment in the division is necessarily limited.

The Galileo Cafeteria, entirely managed by the division, offers excellent meals to college students. Lunch is served until mid-afternoon.

AWS Program, Tea

(Continued from page 1)

Ram" songs under the direction of Flossita Badger of the music department.

Officers Introduced

The introduction of the AWS officers to the assemblage will be a feature of the entertainment. Officers for the present semester are President Dorothy Trood, Vice-presiednt Janet Bull, Secretary Margaret Meader, Treasurer Helen Culp, and Adviser Margaret Dougherty.

As a special feature, the members of the class in Fundamentals of Interpretation (Speech 21AB) will render a group of verse speaking choir numbers under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Jenesen Somers.

The program of recitals is as follows:

Foreboding, Don Blanding; Spring, Louis Untermyer; Prayers of Steel, Carl Sandburg; Caliban in the Coal Mines, Louis Untermyer; Milton Abbey Rhyme, a medieval rhyme; I Meant To Do My Work Today, anonymous; The King's Breakfast, A. A. Milne.

Treasure Island, 400-acre site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, may be reached by private auto, bus or ferry boat, from either side of San Francisco Bay.

Offers Key To Inner Office

Entering students are all familiar with Room 262—the college office. Here the registrar and his assistants welcome new students, answer multitudinous questions, and keep the machinery of the institution running smoothly.

Most students also know of Room 211. Here is an ante-room piled high with boxes of incoming supplies and equipment, packages of books, reams of mimeograph paper, and (usually) one or two chairs. From this waiting-room open three small offices. In the first, students may find Miss Dougherty, college adviser to women, and Miss Turner, orientation instructor. Nearly everyone knows that the second office overflows with the energy and goodwill of Dean Browne. But relatively few students have entered the third office—the real heart of San Francisco Junior College.

If the shy student will persevere, if he will thread his way among the tangle of boxes and books, if he can squeeze through the narrow space between my desk and that of the president's secretary, he will come face to face with a person even shyer than himself—President Cloud.

Go ahead, you Freshman! When the best junior college faculty in California passes the educational platter, just reach out and take a big helping. When you hike from building to building, catch the courageous spirit of the pioneering students who have trekked before you. As your four semesters here speed by, be sure you get your two years' worth of personal development. But somewhere, somehow, sometime along the way, do not fail to meet the man whose vision, whose faith, and whose character are responsible for the present worth and future promise of San Francisco Junior College.

Paul M. Pitman,
Assistant to President.

President's Assistant

PAUL M. PITMAN
"Go Ahead, Freshmen"

WAA Expects Big Enrollment This Semester

Association President Plans Women's Social Calendar Accordingly

Expecting to receive a large enrollment this semester the Women's Athletic Association is planning its social calendar accordingly, Dorothy Sanderson, president, declared yesterday.

The association is organized into clubs, with a manager at the head of each instead of a president. Seventeen clubs will be organized this semester which will include archery, badminton, baseball, basketball, folk dancing, modern dancing, tap dancing, fencing, golf, riding, swimming, life saving, rifle, tennis, soccer, hockey, and perhaps ice skating.

Should Attend

Those students who sign up in elementary sports should attend the regularly scheduled classes from the first meeting of the semester, January 20, in order not to miss essential fundamental instruction.

WAA awards consist of two blocks and several small triangular chenille's which represent the sport in which the student wins her first team award. The highest award that WAA presents is membership in the Block Society, and the white flannel jacket with its circular emblem.

High Qualifications

Aspirants to the society must have good sportsmanship, first team nominations, interest in WAA, neatness, scholastic standing and relationship with other women students.

The other block award is in the form of a triangle and is presented to the WAA participant when she makes her first, first team, providing her scholastic average is C or better. There are six places on the block which provide for six more first team awards, which are the small chenille's.

Eligibility

Eligibility for a first team is determined by excellence of technique in the sport, attendance of all the required class meetings with two unexcused absences allowed, as well as genuine interest in and pleasure from the sport.

The junior college award system is different from the high school system in that the awards are not granted on the point system but on ability in the sport, scholarship, sportsmanship, and honor. Every woman student is eligible to join the association, and may sign-up for as many sports as she wishes.

Switzer Heads Ex-Council Radio Program Committee

Plans for a junior college radio program over KSAN were approved last Friday at the first meeting of the student executive council, announced Frank Verducci, Associated Students president.

An investigating committee to work on the various details of the program has been formed. Members of the committee are Bill Switzer, originator of the radio program idea, Ray Berns, Guardsman sports editor; Mel Peterson, president of the Block SF Society, and Bill Parsons, dramatics student. The committee will report its findings to the Executive Council at its next session.

Tryouts For Yell Leader Aides At Ball Game Today

Aspirants for the two assistant yell leading positions to Head Yell Leader Art Pomares will receive an opportunity to show their ability at the softball game at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

All applicants possessed of yell leading talent and desirous of being chosen for the two assistant posts should meet Pomares today at 1 p.m. in front of the Galileo Gymnasium, Pomares announced.

If possible, applicants should lead the students assembled at the game in a college yell. If necessary, however, a high school yell will suffice, he added.

"We plan to select the two assistants after due consideration, taking into account the way in which the student body reacts toward the individual aspirant, and their willingness to co-operate with him," committe members said, "but because such short notice is given, it may become necessary to hold another tryout at another time."

If possible aspirants should endeavor to appear for a tryout at the specified time today, as they will be given first consideration, Pomares warned.

'Don't Lend Cards,' Says Prexy, 'Punishment Is Sure, Also Swift'

That possession of an Associated Students Card is an invaluable advantage was the belief expressed by Frank Verducci, Associated Students' president.

"We have each semester, from six to eight dances, all of which are held at prominent San Francisco hotels. To each of these card holders are admitted free. That is, one Associated Students card admits one couple," Verducci said.

"There is a very active Junior College Athletic Conference schedule of basketball, baseball, tennis, and track. Cards entitle one to free admission.

"The Guardsman, a weekly, seven column, four page paper, rated as one of the best college papers extant is given to those with membership in the Associated Students.

"Associated Men Students and Associated Women Students activities and entertainments are gratis to those possessing cards," Verducci announced.

"Furthermore," he concluded, "a student who purchases an Associated Students card makes it possible for San Francisco Junior College to offer a very broad extra-curricular program in which all students may participate, naturally producing fine school spirit which is greatly to be desired."

Now to inject a grim note into a hitherto cheerful story. In the past it has been the duty of the Judicial Committee to collect all Associated Students cards that are lent out by well-meaning students. "This duty," insisted Verducci, "will carry over into this semester so don't let anyone inveigle you into lending your student card. The punishment is sure and swift. Don't say I didn't warn you."

Colligan Gives Library Information, Directions

Answering requests presented by incoming students and by Francis Colligan, library director of the college, concerning the college's library facilities, The Guardsman is releasing informative matter which will be of use to all men and women students of the college.

The college library service is available to all members of the student body at certain certified times. The libraries are located at the Extension Building on the basement floor; at 518 Powell Street, the college bookstore on the second floor; and on the sixth floor of the P. G. & E. building on Sutter Street.

The library located at 540 Powell Street, the Extension Building, contains a limited number of reference books and Encyclopediae. The second library service located in the bookstore contains the remainder of the college's reference books and a complete set of current popular and educational magazines.

The third section of the library located in the P. G. & E. building contains all back numbers of magazines.

"We urge all students of the college to take advantage of our library facilities," Colligan said. "In the past few semesters the number of students who have used the library has increased greatly but we are sure that we are capable of accommodating every member of the college," he concluded.

Class Elections Set Tomorrow At Galileo 3:30

Rooms Assigned For Group Elections Following Frosh Rally

Class elections will be held tomorrow afternoon immediately following the freshman welcome rally, announced Frank Verducci, Associated Students president.

Room assignments are as follows:

High Sophomores—Little Theatre
Low Sophomores—Room 458
High Freshmen—Cafeteria
Low Freshmen—Auditorium

"We would like all students to show their spirit by turning out for the class elections," Verducci said. Class officers are being elected earlier than in previous semesters so that they may organize their classes for the traditional Soph-Frosh brawl.

Dave Johnson, Men's Club president has been appointed chairman of the election committee. He will select two students to supervise the elections in each room.

Since candidates for class offices are nominated from the floor on the day of election, it is impossible to ascertain who is running. According to Frank Verducci however, the probable candidates are as follows:

High Sophs, president, Sam Galtographer; Low Sophs, president, Dan Baker, vice-president, Janet Ball; High Frosh, president, Ray Diehl, vice-president, Rita Bann.

All students interested in running for class office should see Verducci as soon as possible. This applies especially to those low freshmen who, although they are not as yet well known in the college, were prominent in high school.

Frosh Semi-Formal Dance At St. Francis Hotel To End Orientation Week

Closing orientation week, the semi-annual low freshman dance will be held this Friday night in the Colonial Room of the St. Francis Hotel, according to Miriam Dunne, Associated Students vice-president and chairman of the Social Committee.

Dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 12 o'clock. "We have not as yet selected the orchestra for the occasion, but our choice lies between the music of Eddie Murphy and that of Ernie Hechsher," Miss Dunne said.

The design for the dance bids has not been revealed since it is to be a surprise. Miss Dunne intimated however, that the bids would feature the low freshman class. Highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the gold perpetual trophy to the class winning the Soph-Frosh brawl.

The dance will be semi-formal and admission to the affair is by one student body card per couple. Edwin C. Browne, dean of men, warned all students not to loan their student body cards to outsiders as they will be confiscated. "We are having an identification committee on the door and any student who is not a member of the college will be refused admission, and his student body card taken," Browne said.

The Dean

EDWIN C. BROWNE
"Fun . . . Work"

Welcome, new students to the college! It is my hope that you become acquainted with the traditions and aims of the college as soon as possible. This can be achieved by taking an active part in the Orientation Week program.

The sooner you new students acquaint yourselves with the various aspects of the college, the sooner you will become a part of it.

Get into the swing of things and join in the fun, but when all is over settle down and be ready for work.

Edwin C. Browne,
Dean of Men

Hughes Is Instructor Of Military Classes

Military Science, offered on this semester's curriculum, is the newest of San Francisco Junior College's unique courses.

With his rank of captain in the Officers Reserve Corps, United States Army, James S. Hughes of the college political science department qualifies as instructor of the two-year course in military science.

Reports released early today gave, as the number enrolled in the course, a much larger total than expected. This is presumably due to the newness of the course here at the college.

Four Semesters

It will ordinarily be of four semester's duration, the first and third sections being in the fall, the second and fourth to be taught in the spring semesters.

However, because they were instituted in mid-year, the first two sections of the military science course may be taken this spring, concurrently.

Two-Year Course

The only course of that type in California, its four sections will be known as Military Science 1a, 1b, 1c and 1d. A half unit course, Military Science 2 is to be taken concurrently.

Credit for the latter course is obtained by enlistment in the 250th Coast Artillery, California National Guard. The half unit also serves to fill ones physical education requirements.

In reality, the Military Science course is a systematic approach to the Army "Ten-Series" extension course. Successful completion makes one eligible for appearance before an Army board of examiners for a commission as Second Lieutenant in the Coast Artillery Corps, United States Army.

If the commission is received, it can be taken in either the California National Guard, California National Guard Reserve or the U. S. Army Reserve, at the individuals discretion.

Qualifications Listed

Qualifications for admission into the course are as follows:

1. Completion of the Junior ROTC course in high school.
2. The passing of candidate officer's physical examination.
3. Must have sufficient time ahead in college to complete the course.
4. Must serve a minimum of two years in the Coast Artillery.
5. Must attend at least one Coast Artillery summer camp.
6. Must appear before a board of officers.

Further information may be had by consulting Captain Hughes, college Registrar J. Paul Mohr, or any member of the college Army-Navy Club.

Redford Announces Hours For NYA Office; Will Interview Applicants

Edward H. Redford, director of the National Youth Administration, announced the following office hours for this semester.

Pacific Gas and Electric Building, Room 726.

Mondays and Wednesdays, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Thursdays, 9 a.m. to 12 M.

Friday, 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

Thursday afternoons, Galileo high school

Redford warned all students who were on the waiting list last semester to see him by Wednesday or they will be dropped from the rolls. He also requested all faculty members to notify him if any students working for them have left college.

The NYA is an organization financed by the government to help students work their way through college. Opportunity is given those who need the jobs to work for the various instructors and departments of the college. All new students who are interested in joining the NYA should see Redford as soon as possible.

'Enrollment Records Smashed,' Registrar's Office Reports

Previous enrollment records were smashed at the end of the registration period last Thursday, according to reports from the registrar's office.

Statistics supplied by Registrar J. Paul Mohr reveal for the third day of registration a total of 1909 enrollees this semester compared with 1784 students going through the registration process at the same period of time last semester. A large number of late enrollees are expected to boost this semester's total to well over the two thousand mark.

Because of the increase in registration a new location has been added. Rented by the Board of Education, the American Institute of Banking classrooms in the Holbrook Building, 58 Sutter Street, will serve as classrooms for many of the business students. The new location will relieve the congested conditions at Powell and Girl's High School.

USED TEXTS

FOR SALE

AT

JUNIOR COLLEGE STUDENT STORE

BRITISH TAN LEATHER ZIPPER BINDERS $2.35

CANVAS BINDERS 50c to $.105

518 POWELL STREET

Ram vs. Pirate Tonight, 8:15 P.M. At Kezar Pavilion

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

The Guardsman

SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

'On To Modesto' Deadline Tomorrow; Buy Your Tickets Now

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 18, 1939 No. 2

Rifleers Cinch Championship In Victory Over Legionnaires

Averages Go Up As Marksmen Reap Fruit Of Much Practice

With a close win over a strong American Legion team last week, the college Red Rifle Team cinched the championship in their league of the San Francisco Small-Bore Association.

Coached by Fred McFarland, the local sharpshooters achieved what has heretofore been the impossible—the defeat of the Legionnaires who have held the pennant several years running.

Up to last week's match, both American Legion and Junior College defeated all opponents in easy fashion.

Raise Averages

However, while the Legion squad shot the same scores in match after match, McFarland's experts by dint of daily practice, raised their averages approximately fifteen points in the four months the season has been in duration.

Although they took the field in an optimistic fashion, it was a very surprised and dissappointed group of American Legion shooters who tallied and checked scores after last week's encounter.

Frantic Phone Calls

According to procedure followed in the local matches, eight men are allowed to fire for each team in a match, the five high scores being those which count for each squad.

In last week's match, however, the Legionnaires and the college both started with but seven men. When the match was over and their scores didn't tally quite enough to top the Ram outfit, the Legion team issued frantic phone calls for their missing man.

Judge Decides

Time passed, came 11 p.m., the trump card failed to show, so the judge for the match ordained the match closed in the favor of the college. Score was 906 to 896.

In the week which has passed since the match was fired, the Legion team has filed numerous but useless complaints and alibis, to the officials of the San Francisco Small Bore Association.

Blues Lead Also

Nevertheless, the judges decision still stands valid.

In its division of the League, the college Blue or lower team is tied for lead spot along with Sunnyside Sportsmen.

The Blues' averages also boomed, but since they are the lower team, they are always liable to lose the best men by promotion.

Darr Promoted

This was the case when super-marksmen Bob Darr was promoted to the number one squad several weeks ago.

SFJC—906		LEGION—896
North	185	Roddoch	188
Stewart	184	H. Garnett	188
Darr	182	Landreville	180
Gibson	180	McDonald	178
Humphrey	175	Jones	162
Templeton	175	Seymour	158
Cavagnolo	168	Garnett	147
High Five		Kirst	?

Program, Tea By AWS Meet Student Approval

250 Women Students Attend 'Undebated Success' Thursday

Pronounced an undebated success, the Associated Women Students' tea held last Thursday was attended by some 250 women, who, according to Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser, were entertained, served refreshments, and in general awarded an opportunity for acquaintance, especially so for low freshmen.

Women were first entertained by a varied program which took place in the Little Theater at Galileo, and featured among other novel numbers a verse speaking choir, selected from the speech 21A class, and directed by Ruth Jensen Somers.

Sing Fight Song

As a preview to the entertainment at which Dorothy Trood, AWS president took charge, the women, led by Flossita Badger, music instructor, and accompanied by Margaret Meader, AWS secretary, united voices in singing Fight On Ram, and the Alma Mater.

Mary Miller and Peggy Kamper then rendered a clever tap dance, coached by Laurine Kuhn Bergin, physical education instructor, after which the verse choir offered a recital of eight numbers including the following:

Offer Numbers

Foreboding, by Don Blanding; I Meant To Do My Work Today, by Le Galliene; Caliban In the Coal Mines, by Louis Untermyer, recited by the men; Saint Catherine, a medieval rhyme recited at St. Catherine's Cathedral in Dorset England, which was rendered by the women; Barter, by Sara Teasdale; Prayers of Steel, by Carl Sandburg, and The King's Breakfast, by A. A. Milne.

That new comers might become acquainted with the diversified women's activities of the college, presidents of four of the organizations were next introduced. These representatives, namely: Phyllis Learned, Alpha Gamma Sigma president; Dorothy Sanderson, Women's Athletic Association president; Marion Dickie, Physical Education and Recreation Majors president; and Teckla Regoli, Home Economics Association president revealed plans in store for the coming events of their particular organizations.

Present Monologue

Concluding the program, Anne Lovell, a member of the speech 25b group, presented a Dorothy Parker monologue entitled The Waltz, after which women were served refreshments in the form of apple cider, cake, and cookies. Further enjoyment was added by a girls' trio, Kay War-

(Continued on page 4, column 3)

COLLEGE SHARPSHOOTERS

The college "Red" and "Blue" rifle squads pose between the frequent practices which prepare them for weekly matches. Both squads are championship-bound in their respective divisions. Coach Fred McFarland is not in the picture. Top Row: Jean Wilken, Neil Riley, Walt Voight, Will Eichel, and Gerry Stewart. Bottom: Marion Schrick, Bob Darr, George Humphrey, Bill Gibson (top), Charlie North, and Art Templeton.

California Convention Of Alpha Gamma Sigma Will Convene In City

For the first time since the organization of the local chapter of Alpha Gamma Sigma, junior college scholastic honor society, members from chapters of the junior colleges of California will convene in San Francisco.

The college chapter will play host at the ninth annual conference for various groups at an all day meeting, Saturday, April 1, 1939 at Treasure Island. There will be speakers from all of the groups represented.

Alpha Gamma Sigma will meet next Thursday in the Little Theater, Galileo High School, at 2 p.m. "All members should be present as we have to elect officers for this semester," said Alice Cooper, adviser. The following students are eligible for membership in Alpha Gamma Sigma following a check of last semester records:

Virginia Allen, Gyda Andersen, Tina Ariani, Elaine Asanoma.

Helen Barr, Elliott B. Ball, Mitzi Benkman, Dempster Bollinger, Emanuel Bollock, Eugene Bulf, Violet Burgess, Robert H. Burr, Rita Byrne.

Betty Calhoun, Harry Coates, Joe Cocellato, Herbert Crow.

Albin Dahl, Irving Doe, John Doran, Clifford Duarte, Helen DuBois.

Donald Emblem, John Engl.

Frank Frery, Mary Fruciano.

Samuel Galstaun, Viola Gibson, Rybern Gillaspie, Ernest Goodman, Albert Graves, Donald Graves, Jean Gross, Ruth Gustafson.

Kenji Hashioka, Akira Hata, Claude Helwig, James Henry, Eva Herzberg, George Hoffman, Norma Hoffman, Byron Holliday, Fred Hoshiyama, Virginia Howell.

Gwendolyn Ino.

Louise Jameson, Rosemarie Jelinek, John W. Jigour.

Charles Kiser, Fred Knobel, Helen

(Continued on page 4, column 6)

15 Sturdy Sophs, Greased Pig, Too Much For Frosh

Fifteen sturdy sophomores and a greased pig were too many and too much for the frosh mudmen on Friday, the lucky 13, when the upper classmen took the customary decision in the traditional semi-annual brawl held on the Galileo Athletic Field.

The frosh, led by their newly elected president, Dave Le Baron, were no match for their intellectual superiors as they went down fighting, winning only two events out of six. The two events which the new boys did cop were hotly contested following their termination by the upper classmen. The Pick-a-Back wrestling event, won by the frosh, was handed to the under classmen simply because they produced ten teams to outnumber their rival's six. The other event won by the freshies, the tug of war, was contested by Captain Mel Peterson on the grounds that "our men slipped".

The other four events were easily captured by the burly sophs led by such huskies as Phil Whaley, Floyd Laurence, Wallace Moss, Mel Chicazola, the afore-mentioned Peterson and diminutive Min Yasuda. Included in these events was the "long horse" competition which the second yearlings won with comparative ease, the tie-up contest, relay race, and the capture of the greased porker.

General opinion of the spectators was that the freshies might at least have tied the contest up at three all had it not been for the elusiveness of the pig.

NYA Pay Period Begins Today, Checks Out Soon

Today marks the beginning of the second pay period for all National Youth Administration students, announced Edward H. Redford NYA director.

Checks will be issued soon, yesterday being the last day of the first pay period. Thomas O'Neill, timekeeper announced that in the future all students who have time sheets to turn in will be able to find him in the Powell Street building until 1:45 o'clock in the afternoon, after which he will be in Room 252 at Galileo.

'Resembles Mother' Says Grant Marsh Of New Son

"The finest thing I can say about him is that he resembles his mother," beamed F. Grant Marsh, business department chairman, when approached for news of the eight pound baby boy that just arrived January 10, 1939 in the Marsh home.

The fact that Alan Grant Marsh is destined to have a naval career is not strange when you consider that his father, a graduate of Annapolis, spent 12 years in the Navy, commanded the United States Training Station at New London during the World War, and in addition, took an active part in the Nicaraguan campaign.

Good luck, Alan Grant! And congratulations to the lucky parents!

Home Econ Group Holds Semi-Annual Elections

Home Economics Association members held their semi-annual nominations and elections yesterday. A ballot box will be placed in Room 317 at Galileo High School for the remainder of the week for members desiring to vote. At the same time plans for a change in the constitution of the Association was considered.

Next Wednesday, January 25 at 3:30 o'clock the names of the successful candidates for office will be revealed. Teckla Regoli, present Home Economic Association president, urged all women to be prompt in arriving for, immediately following the announcements, a representative of a well-known cosmetic concern will give a demonstration on the proper application of make-up.

Claire Cuneo, HEA adviser, revealed that three women would be selected for "experimentation purposes—a blonde, a brunette, and a titian. At the conclusion of the demonstration, the members of the Home Economics 1B and 50B classes will be allowed to take over and apply make-up in what they consider the proper method. Upon completion of a model, their mistakes will be pointed out, enlarged upon and suggestions for improvement will be given."

Anyone interested is invited to attend and all are requested to come prepared to ask questions.

AMS Smoker Flops In Faces Of Students; Johnson Alibis

A flop . . . and right in the faces of more than 300 eager men students of the college, who had flocked to the Italian Athletic Club expecting to have a lot of fun and see a great show.

The Associated Men Students had previously advertised the presence, at last Thursday night's semi-annual Smoker, of Vic Bottari, Stub Allison, Pete Fay, Tiny Thornhill, motion pictures of 1938's best football clashes, a few short comedies, Ripsy Tose Wee, and an unlimited amount of college talent.

Disappearing Act

Bottari, Allison, Fay, and Thornhill did not appear.

There were no football movies.

There were no comedies.

Madame Wee failed to show up.

The "college talent", such as it was, was practically non-existent.

Only bright spots in an otherwise dull and disappointing evening were

1. The jiving of a college swing band (four cats), which rattled away, undaunted by an avalanche of paper airplanes.

2. The traditional pie-eating contest, which developed into a free-for-all, and showered most of the pie out into the audience.

Wax-Coffee Served

After the "festivities", hot coffee was served. In fact the coffee was so hot, that each drink was topped with a delightful head of molten wax from the dixie cups.

Hot dogs were passed out, too.

"Ask the man who ate one."

"Riotous Time"—Johnson

Asked for a statement for publication, Dave Johnson, AMS President, appeared a bit on the optimistic side, considering the evening's proceedings.

"It's tough to get entertainment," said Johnson, "because all of the college talent has already been used in rallies and college shows.

"And we couldn't pay to bring in professional entertainers," he continued, "so we just had to do the best we could."

"Outside of that," concluded Johnson, "everyone had a riotous time."

Ether Program Postponed, Course In Radio Desired

Plans Receive Set-Back By Radio Station Ex-Council Discusses

Plans for a college radio program over Station KSAN suffered a setback when it was learned last week that a radio course will have to be instituted in the curriculum before the program can go on the air.

Alden Smith, speech instructor, who is the faculty adviser of the radio committee, composed of Bill Switzer, college debater, Ray Berns, Guardsman Sports Editor, Jack Schmale, college press agent, Bill Parsons, dramatic student, and Mel Peterson, Block Club president, made a visit to the radio station last week.

Would Be Glad

John Patterson, KSAN official in charge of school programs, informed Smith that the station would be glad to allow the college to put on a program, but that it would have to be put on as a part of the college educational program.

The situation was discussed at the meeting of the executive council held last week, announced Frank Verducci, Associated Students' president.

Enthusiastically Received

The idea was enthusiastically received by members of the council. "Consisting of the training of all types of radio work, from program director to sound effects man, the course would no doubt be favorably received by the students of the college," said Verducci.

Behind this idea is the desire to have a college radio program completely controlled and administered by students.

For this purpose, men trained in all the various aspects of radio would be needed. The final decision in regard to the new course will be announced at a later date.

Social Committee Gives Tentative Schedule

Tentative plans for the dances that are to be held during the semester will be held on February 21 and March 24, according to Miriam Dunne, vice-president of the Associated Students.

The places at which the dances are to take place has not yet been announced. The dates are still uncertain as to where and when the class receptions and dances will be held.

Since the first dance held at the St. Francis Hotel this semester was successful, Miss Dunne believes some of the other social dances will be held there.

Only the dances that are to be held on February 21 and March 24 are definite as to the date, but the places will not be assigned until two weeks before the dances are to be held.

New Members Of Judicial Committee Announced By Student President

New members of the judicial committee this semester are Dorothy Trood, Howard Cloud, Ray Berns and Adele Kuhn. So far the committee has not met because no cases have been brought before it.

Frank Verducci, Associated Students' president, said, "We hope that it will not be necessary to call anyone before the committee. There would be no need for such a committee if students would not transfer their student body cards."

The purpose of the committee is to confiscate any card that is not in the hands of its owner. During the semester several dances will be given. Through the Associated Student card, students may attend dances, basketball games, and all other athletic contests.

"For these purposes alone the card is invaluable to the student, and it is to his advantage that he should hold on to it and not be forced to forfeit it," Verducci said.

[illegible] member of the Judicial committee last semester has been connected with student affairs for several semesters. Miss Trood is president of the AWS. Berns is sports editor of The Guardsman.

Rooters' Special Descends On Modesto Saturday Afternoon

Approximately 250 Students Will Make Journey To Enemy Camp; Ram Limited Features Dance Car

All aboard!

That's the cry scheduled to ring out at the Ferry Building this coming Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock when an anticipated band of 250 Ram rooters depart on their way to Modesto for the Ram vs. Pirate basketball contest that evening on the first special train excursion of the current semester.

For at 1:30, the Southern Pacific ferry-boat will leave for Oakland, connecting with the 1939 Ram Special, which will immediately embark on a 230-mile round trip joyride, complete with all the equipment that featured the previous trips of the college's rooters to Sacramento during the 1937 and 1938 football seasons.

Lots of Dancing

For those who like dancing, there'll be around six and half hours of it on the special Southern Pacific extra-wide dancing car. If you prefer to ride in luxury, there'll be a comfortable observation-lounge car at the rear of the train, the back platform bearing a drum which will identify the train as the Ram Special.

Pertaining to schedules, the train will stop at Oakland, 16th Street Station, at 2 o'clock, and at Berkeley at 2:30, arriving in Modesto at 5 o'clock.

Sightseeing Time

Ample time, in fact three hours of it, will be offered for dinner and a bit of sightseeing, from 5 o'clock until 8, at which time the game is slated in the Modesto Junior College gymnasium, which is around 10 blocks, within easy walking distance, from the railroad depot.

With the game scheduled to finish around 9:15 o'clock, another hour and fifteen minutes will be available before the start of the return trip, at 10:30 p.m. Arrival home is set for 1:30 a.m. at the Ferry Building, after stops are made to detrain East Bay students at Berkeley at 12:55 a.m. and Oakland at 1:00 o'clock a.m.

Observation, Four Coaches

For the benefit of those who dislike standing, there'll be plenty of room on the train. Besides the dancing and observation cars, there'll be four standard coaches, and more will be added if necessary. Candy, soda water, sandwiches, will be available on the train also.

Deadline Tomorrow

Deadline for the sale of Modesto excursion tickets has been set for tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, according to Jack Schmale and Art Pomares, co-chairmen of the trip committee.

If more than 150 tickets are sold by that time, the sale will be continued until Friday afternoon. If not, the trip will be cancelled. Tickets may be purchased for $2.10 at the Powell Street office and the Bank Office at Galileo. Student body cards are not necessary, and friends of the students are invited. Buy your tickets now!

Lawrence Elected Head Of Sophomore Class In Record Tally

With the completion of the individual class elections held last week, the entire Associated Student office roster now stands completed.

This semester's elections were marked by a larger turnout than those at any other previous class elections according to Frank Verducci, student president.

Lawrence Heads Sophs

High Sophomores, meeting with faculty sponsors Marion Turner and Joseph Williams, selected Floyd Lawrence to lead them through the semester in the role of president. Elected as assistant to Lawrence, were Betty Chrysler, vice-president, and Phil Waley as secretary.

The turnout to the Low Sophomore election was smaller than that had by any other class, but a large enough representation of students was on hand to insure a proper election.

Don Baker is this semester's new president and will be assisted by vice-president Camille Condrotte and secretary Mel Chicazolla. Claire Cuneo and John Ross are sponsors of the class.

High Frosh Elect

The High Freshman chose as their representatives, Lee Scarlett to fill the office of president, Mildred Gray to serve as vice-president and Marion

(Continued on page 4, column 5)

Elected

FLOYD LAWRENCE

WSS Book Exchange Closes Doors; Reported Succssful

Operated on a non-profit basis by the Women's Service Society, the Used Book Exchange closed its doors last Friday and is reported to have been successful in the new venture.

Miss Joy Anna Mack, WSS president, revealed on Friday that of the approximately 200 used text-books brought in, more than 100 had been disposed of to the satisfaction of both buyers and sellers.

To Serve Next Semester

Although Dean Edwin C. Browne had suggested that, in his opinion, the Book Exchange might prove unworkable on a large scale, Miss Mack said that the Women's Service Society would be willing to continue the service this fall to give it a fair trial.

"The WSS," said Miss Mack, "will be only too glad to conduct the Book Exchange again next semester, if the executive council thinks it advisable."

Ex-Council Willing

A quick check-up of ex-council members revealed that that body was entirely pleased with the venture and considered it highly successful.

Formation of the Used Book Exchange occured last semester after a four-month investigation of book facilities in various colleges and universities by an ex-council committee.

The present Used Book Exchange set-up was agreed upon as the most feasible for an institution of this sort.

Planned and managed by the college Women's Service Society, the exchange has operated since the start of the semester.

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 18, 1939 No. 2

JOHN JULIUS ..... EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Editorial Adviser Joan Nourse — Business Adviser Edward H. Redford

Bill Frantz ..... Managing Editor
Ray Berns ..... Sports Editor
Isadore Maloff ..... Feature Editor
Carol Pickering ..... Women's Editor
Dorothy Trood ..... Club Editor
Sam Galstaun ..... Staff Photographer

REPORTERS

Lucretia Antonicelli, Ethan Bernstein, Jacqueline Davis, Janet Fellows, Lois Gipson, Louis Goldstone, Leonard Gross, Dave Johnson, Frances Manalo, Jack Schmale, Frank Verducci, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

'Perfect' Judicial Committee Selection Draws No Objection From Council

NEWS of the selection of this semester's judicial committee by the President of the Associated Students, with its subsequent presentation to the ex-council without a single voice of dissent or even formal approval by that body, should be received by the college at large with unbound enthusiasm.

In selecting his judicial committee, the new student president was not troubled with the obstacle which had stopped his predecessors dead short—an ex-council demanding discussion before final approval.

Beyond Reproach

As his first official act, then, the student leader unqestionably appointed the perfect judicial body, so well qualified to deal out justice to fellow students as to be above challenge.

The judicial committe should be "beyond reproach", since the ex-council, put into office by the Associated Students to manage their business in an alert manner, could not see reason to raise the least objection. The president announced the appointments, and that's all there was to it.

The judicial committee was first started last spring along with the adoption of the new constitution. Four students, supposed to be well versed in college problems, are chosen semi-annually by the Associated Students' president who is, himself, chairman ex-officio.

Hashed Over

All student matters which involve the use of discipline in any form may be referred to the judicial committee by the Administration or the Associated Students.

The committee itself does not pass judgment. Instead, as its decisions, it recommends steps to be taken by the ex-council or the college Administration.

It was hoped that all cases of dishonesty involving students be turned over to the judicial committee which would thoroughly review the case, and later make recommendations.

Last fall when the student president offered his nominations to the ex-council for approval, sound objections were immediately raised against several of the prospective jurors, which resulted in the scratching of their names from the list.

Make Recommendation

Each individual nominee's qualifications and past record were hashed over in several consecutive meetings, some of which lasted into the night. When the president's own choices ran out, suggestions were asked of the ex-council members.

The committee was finally chosen, and president and council sincerely felt that they had a student group representing the very best element in the college.

In contrast, although this year's selections involved a lot less trouble, it is touted to be just as good as any in the past.

All members of the Associated Students should be overjoyed that their president has the ability to select a "perfect four" and that that representative group—the ex-council—should recognize his ability.

Organizations Exist In The College For Your Benefit

THERE are fifty clubs and organizations in the college, all eager for new members. Each of the clubs has within itself the means of enlivening a student's stay at the college, increasing the number of his acquaintances, and enriching his mind.

It is through the extra-curricular activities that college life is made enjoyable. Clubs play a large part in the extra-curriculum of the college.

All Types

There are more than 20 academic clubs, where students interested in the same field meet and increase their knowledge in the subjects in which they are majoring. Languages, Art, Engineering, and Pre-medical organizations fall into this category.

Thirteen social clubs bring together students with the purpose of helping them make the new friends who are so vital to developing a good personality. Friendships gained through these clubs will make college life enjoyable.

Achievement clubs for those who are skilled or have interests that are not in the curriculum are numerous.

Extra-Curricula

The college has a club to satisfy almost every interest. The opportunity to participate in a club in which his interest lies is offered to each and every student of the college. It is the privilege of the student to take advantage of the valuable opportunity afforded him—to meet new people, to satisfy his interest, and to acquire knowledge outside of his class work.

It can be seen that a college club affiliation will satisfy the need for social and extra academic contacts.

JOIN A CLUB!

B. F.

News From Other Colleges
By Gordon Sollman

According to reports, San Jose State has a real up and coming course in aviation. Last year the flying club had fifteen hundred hours in the air without an accident. In its airplane construction corps students have repaired sixteen planes and are now working on one of their ships which was burned in an airplane fire recently.

The army played Santa Claus at State this year by donating four berth-Inductor compasses for use in the aeronautical laboratory. Two former members of the club are making names for themselves at the naval air station at San Diego while another has been designated honorably in his division to the Army Air Corps Cadet Flying School at Randolph Field, Texas.

San Jose State is planning to enter the West Coast Intercollegiate flying championships again this year along with the other schools on the coast. Last year's event was won by Stanford, but San Jose has been spending many hours in the air lately and hopes to win the contest this year.

• • •

University of California is playing host to the police officers of the eleven western states for two weeks during the initial session of the Pacific Coast Traffic Officers' Training School.

• • •

In a front page story, the Los Angeles Collegian, newspaper of Los Angeles City College, brings attention to the fact that the art department is working on a painting to be hung in the Educational Building at the World's Fair.

• • •

According to the Viking, of Long Beach Junior College there is a possibility of a third party entering the field in student body elections. This party, along with the progessives and independents, seems to be doing much toward creating interest in the battle of office seekers.

• • •

San Francisco Junior College has the advantage over many other junior colleges in the matter of semester closing dates. In a number of other colleges, the fall semester does not end until February. Imagine spending Christmas day and New Year's Eve with your family and friends while you browse through a philosophy book or through your poly-sci. notes in preparation for your finals.

• • •

The Little Rock, Arkansas Junior College has a rather novel way of helping a number of students earn their living. The school has set up a peanut butter factory where customers may buy a jar for their homes or a full supply for retail stores.

• • •

At Taft Junior College, photographs of the football players are sold for 20 cents each. The proceeds of the sales will go toward buying new equipment for the photography class.

Cabbages & Kings
By Blue Pencil Bill

F. G. MARSH in assigning a term paper, "You may write your term papers in any manner you choose—only please observe copyright laws." Very subtly put, sir.

• • •

IRONIC ACCIDENT

Risking her life daily on a trapeze one hundred and fifty feet above the ground was nothing to Arlene Marrion, one of the "Four Hollywood Skyrockets" at Playland-At-The-Beach. Arlene doubled for Maureen O'Sullivan in the "Tarzan" pictures. She has been in innumerable automobile smashups for movie stunts. Her great courage in performing dangerous deeds for the entertainment of the spectator disturbed her not in the least—but believe it or not, she was severely injured in her kitchen last week when a pot of boiling water upset and scalded her on the shoulder.

• • •

Some girls like boys with a future
Some girls like boys with a past
But they all like a boy with a present
—The Lowell

These high school kids aren't so dumb.

• • •

Although we are not a Walter Winchell, we will inform those of you who have read this far that Pat Healy and Henry Evans got married during vacation. Henry is still a minor and it deflated his ego to have to receive his mother's permission to get hitched. Never mind where we received the info.

• • •

SWING CLASSICS

How come Gene Krupa at the Shalimar Bowl is packing them in at a profit whereas the S. F. Opera is in the red year after year? With this thought in mind, we accompanied Al Stolowitz to Sherman-Clay to help him choose an Artie Shaw recording. While Al gathered up several swing records, we questioned the saleslady as to the popularity of swing recordings against that of the "classics". Imagine our surprise, amazement, and chagrin when we were informed that the classical recordings far outsold modern discs. While Al bought Shaw's 'Copenhagen", half a dozen customers walked away with "Valse Trieste" as recorded by Leopold Stokowski and the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra.

• • •

TRUE OR FALSE

This may or may not be true, but the blond (male) attendant at the recording department of Sherman-Clay gave us the information that a young man attending the college recently purchased several Artie Shaw recordings. His description fits our colleague and contemporary, John Ward. Backing this theory, we recollect that John came into the above named music store and "went to town" upon listening to a number of "hot" discs with Sam Galstaun. It is said that he enjoyed Patricia Norman's sequel to "Old Man Mose" entitled "Pluckin' ON A Golden Harp."

• • •

A tip to Fashion Fanny: The best dressed women in San Francisco can be seen on Stockton Street between O'Farrell and Geary. By the way—has anyone ever seen one of those limousines parked on the Geary Street side of Union Square getting a fare?

Sartorial Modes
By Fashion Fanny

NOW that spring clothing has descended upon us, fashion writers, smart department stores for women, and designers have picked up the idea and put that thought into bathing suits, slacks, spring woolens and silks, new shades of nail polish, lipstick, and hosiery.

"BALLROOM" SUITS

There is a decided change in the style of this year's bathing suits. One is the new "BALLROOM" suit of acetate jersey. Many of the strapless gown enthusiasts will go for this type of suit in a big way. For the woman who takes her swimming seriously, the thoughtful designers have added adjustable straps. They have taken every precaution for your safety, at the beach or pool.

Two-piece bathing suits will be very popular also. The shoulders are covered with little Victorian sleeves. Some of these suits are made of shirred satin that fits and flatters everyone. There will be plenty of rompers and gingham, can-can ruffles, taffeta, off-the-shoulder effects, elastic satin and alluring colors found on the beaches this summer.

Pajamas will be seen everywhere this year—on beaches, porches, at lunches, and suppers. They'll come in jersey, rajah, sharkskin, and of course the old standby flannel. Some of them will have coats to give you that added swank and formality.

Spring woolens and silks are very much in evidence and in such luscious colors too. One store is showing a raspberry dress with white angora wool around the square neck and edges of the short sleeves. Another woolen seen around the town was a lavender with a new idea in the arrangement of pleats. The button motif on this dress is very, very smart.

COIFFURE PROTECTORS

Coiffure protectors for the evening have been very popular, and the latest model is a peaked monk's cowl of black lace lined with net. They're very easy to make, too.

Fresh flowers at the throat and waistline is another spring and summer idea, and some of the flowers suggested by people in the know are pink-white or scarlet geraniums, pink bouvardia, white or yellow freesias, strawflowers, bachelor's buttons, and brilliant tulips. Just to remind you, formals with straps and in soft foamy materials will be most popular for spring and summer.

'On To Modesto' By Marion MacKillop

RAM'S HORN
Space Needed; MacKillop Praised; System Lauded

Letters to this department are welcome. All contributions must be signed by the writer. If the author desires, his identity will be kept confidential. Refrain from lengthy dissertations; short letters will be given preference. Leave contributions in the Powell Street Office, the mail box office at Galileo, or in The Guardsman office, W. J. (opposite room 261, Galileo). Deadline for Wednesday's paper is the preceding Thursday.

● OAKLANDER SQUAWKS

Editor, The Guardsman:

I am a native of Oakland, recently enrolled at junior college. Although my trouble has been cleared up thanks to several friends I have made since enrolling this semester, I am writing this to you in the hope that you can relieve the same problem of other incoming freshmen in future semesters who may not be acquainted with this city.

My classes are held in a variety of different locations, which necessitates my traveling by street car from one place of learning to another.

Much of my time was wasted by useless and roundabout methods in getting from one place to another. Why don't you publish a guide on the best methods of getting around this FAIR city of yours, so that future newcomers can be spared the inconvenience of my plight"

Yours truly,
Bewildered

● "CAPACITATES"?

Editor, The Guardsman:

Only one fact now consoles college students who still faithfully try to study in the library of the Sutter Street P. G. and E. building, that being that conditions can't get much worse, therefore should eventually improve.

The space formerly allotted for study has been gradually cut down each semester, possibly to be less evident, until "A" room remains, which at best capacitates 26½ students, including window sills and corner space.

This room is, however, not going to waste. In other words students are still allowed to study there, but for fear of not having a sufficient number of students out of 2,000 to supply fill 26½ seats, the recent book exchange organization has taken over one-third of the space; and certainly, we of the college can see to it that these few remaining chairs are kept full for the five hours of each day that students are granted the privilege of studying in such tranquil surroundings.

Disgusted

● POWELL ST. CONGESTION

Editor, The Guardsman:

In all my entire career of scholastic endeavor, I have attended something like fourteen different schools and colleges, never have I found such deplorable traffic conditions as exist in the halls and on the steps of the Powell St. building.

Although I have not attempted to time myself to see how long I could complete the trek from the first floor to the fourth up those packed flights of stairs, I live in fear that someday I shall be packed in so tightly that I cannot budge either way.

I note that there is an elevator in the building, but for some unfathomable reason, the janitor seems to be the only one who can enjoy the privilege of this convenience.

I for one, and I've heard plenty of complaints on the same matter, want to know WHY CAN'T SOMETHING BE DONE ABOUT THIS"

Yours truly,
Rapid Transit

● RECOGNITION FOR ARTIST

Editor, The Guardsman:

During the past semester, I have observed with much interest the drawings on page two of The Guardsman. They are a source of much pleasure to me. After a little research I discovered that the author's name was Marion MacKillop. The point I am getting at is this: since there is no doubt a great deal of work attached to the making of one of these prints, why is not Miss McKillop's name included as a member of The Guardsman staff? I realize that the running of The Guardsman is not my concern. (And be assured that I am not a personal friend of the party in question) still it seems that one who does work on the paper should at least be recognized for her efforts.

Sincerely yours,
Dan Rosenbush

● COMMENDS REGISTRATION

Editor, The Guardsman:

As a low freshman, and a new member of this institution, I am taking this opportunity to commend the excellent procedure with which registration is carried on at this college.

Everyone was understanding and willing to help with my problems. Even though, the advisers were placed under a terrific strain in solving the problems of so many students, not once did I note angry words. The sign-up system for classes enabled me to complete my registration in record time. If this is a sample of the efficiency and understanding with which this college is maintained, we can all be proud to be members of the student body of San Francisco Junior College. It is no wonder that the college is growing in such rapid leaps and bounds.

Appreciatively yours,
Sally Forth

AFTER DARK
By John Ward

PROFESSOR MAMLOCK, now playing at the Larkin Theater, should be required homework for every college student in the United States. The first actual fictional but true motion-picturization of Hitler's furious anti-Semitic, anti-liberty movement in Germany, Professor Mamlock is palatable for unthinking as well as thinking student.

PRAISES FILM

For those who find brains a bore Professor Mamlock has an obvious, sharply defined story and thesis: namely, even men who believe in books must sometime fight for the cause of liberty. The whole film is concerned with a great Jewish scientist and his scientifically inclined son. With the threat of Black Shirt injustice and barbarism the son joins a group of out-lawed anti-Nazis, actually, as the film was made in the U.S.R.R., a Communist group. Such an implication as this might create is relatively unimportant when the fundamental theme of the play is understood. The immediate opposition of the laboratory-minded father is eventually broken by the terrible events that immediately followed Hitler's seizure of power.

For those who already know full well the policies of Fascism, especially Hitler's brand, Professor Mamlock has a very interesting idea to present. We of the post-Victorian, post-bellum age have seen fit to kick the slats out of any and all ideals. As the World War proved, ideals belonged to the propagandists.

PRESENT GENERATION AWAKE

But, strangely enough, the present younger generation, we believe, is finding the ideals of 1776 strangely new. In the face of Hitler's threat to liberty, life and the pursuit of happiness, those who took for granted such elements of freedom are now making sure such elements are not to be with-drawn suddenly with no questions answered. In other words, today, consciously or sub-consciously, American youth (not already Fascistically inclined) is preparing to fight for those things Hitler denies the German youth.

Since this isn't Germany, Professor Mamlock cannot be made required seeing for all U. S. students; we shall have to content ourself with a mere urge that you see it. Obviously, propaganda has always had difficulty being good art, and Professor Mamlock is not a great picture by any means. But it is a good picture and it is a vital document. If, then, one bothers to read a newspaper, certainly one can bother to see Professor Mamlock.

CONCERT REVIEWED

Nicholas Goldschmidt and Alfred Frankenstein presented their third concert of the season last week. Mr Frankenstein presented an excellent

(Continued on page 4, column 4)

Presidential Notes
By Frank Verducci

JUDGING from the attendance at the several college functions during Orientation Week, it seems as if the college has finally turned that long looked for corner and has found PROSPERITY.

Imagine our surprise when we saw the huge crowd gathered at the rally Tuesday afternoon, at the get together dance on Wednesday and the other events held throughout the week. It is going to be a pleasure to plan events during the remainder of the semester if we can count on that kind of SPIRIT and COOPERATION from the general student body.

SETTLE DOWN, STUDENTS

Now that the first activity-jammed week is over, we must remember that our primary objective at college is to further our education. Therefore, it is essential that we settle down, keep up in our work, and drop in to our classes fairly regularly so as to inform our instructors that we have not dropped out of school entirely.

Congratulations to the Low Freshman class for leading all the other classes in the elections last week. Dave Le Baron, field goal kicking artist, from Washington High School was elected as president; Virginia Critchley was chosen vice-president, and Elliot Parker won the office of treasurer.

THANK YOU ALL

We think it appropriate that we give a vote of thanks to The Guardsman staff for the great amount of work they expended in issuing the paper on Monday of last week instead of the usual Wednesday in order to publicize the various events of Orientation Week. Congratulations also, to the various organizations which handled the affairs of the week, and to Art Pomares, head yell-leader, for a great rally; to Miriam Dunn, our vice-president for a magnificent dance; to Dorothy Trood, AWS president, for her tea; and to the AMS prexy, Dave Johnson, for a swell frosh smoker and a great brawl

While Thinking . . .
By Leonard Gross

WE HAVE wondered how long it would be before the German press, after attacking almost everything else in this country, would get around to slandering our colleges and universities. Our patience has finally been rewarded.

It seems that some of the students of the University of West Virginia, in a spirit of fun recently held a "Hitler Party" at which the young men dressed up as the German Chancellor. The Germans of course, being touchy on the subject of their freakish appearing leader, resented this. Through one of the many government controlled newspapers, "Das Schwarze Korps", the Nazis viciously assailed the university of West Virginia in particular, and all other colleges and universities in the United States in general.

It is rather amusing to read the impression of the American institutions of higher learning as interpreted by the Nazi press. According to our fellow journalists across the seas, one attends college to play slot machines, insult the professors, and in short, do everything but learn.

The students of West Virginia University in a reply to the slanderous, and utterly ridiculous statements of the Hitler papers sent a curt cablegram to the German government, in which they severed all diplomatic relations with Germany. (Trust an American to have the last word.)

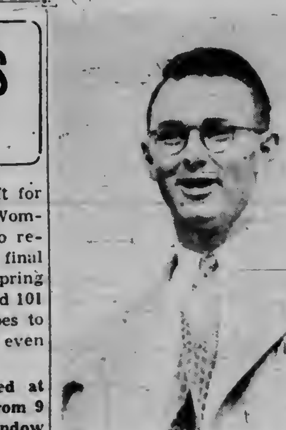
We do not intend to devote hundreds of words to denouncing Der Fuehrer and his cohorts because of their recent attacks on our American colleges. To a person with any common sense, their idiotic statements make them appear even more ridiculous than anything we could say or write. When dealing with the German government, one must realize that he is not dealing with sane, normal, well balanced administration, but instead have to contend with an egocentric, insane madman, bloated with his own power.

The one thing that does seem to be in order however, is congratulations to the students of the University of West Virginia for demonstrating to the Hitler government that although the English and French may be meekly submissive to any harsh treatment from Germany, the Americans are an entirely different proposition.

GUARDSMAN SPORTS

Meet The Coaches

Lee Eisan



"Dutch" Conlan

Jack Gaddy

Above are coaches Lee Eisan, "Dutch" Conlan, and Jack Gaddy. Below is Tom Wilson. Eisan coaches football, Conlan mentors the basketballers. Gaddy, this semester handles the baseball team, and Wilson coaches both the tennis and soccer teams.

Tom Wilson

Rams Clash With Modesto at Kezar

Conlan's Lads Prepare To Uphold Honor Of Bay-Region; Pirates Bolstered By Cage Artists From Hoosier State

Jack Gardner's traveling troupe of trained bucketeers, representing Modesto Junior College and recruited from an area extending from the shores of the Pacific to Frankfort, a little village in Indiana, travel some 115 miles this evening for the expressed purpose of shaming our Rams in the first scheduled interscholastic contest of the season.

Kezar Pavilion is the place, 8:15 the time for tip-off.

Forgetting geography for the present, the Pirates really have something when it comes to tossing inflated leather spheres into mesh-lined baskets.

Goodnight Returns

The yhave Merlin Goodnight, all-conference forward from last season, and Bob Wensel, husky guard and 1939 Modesto captain, leading the veterans, with Forrest Anderson, Kenneth Hale and Dave Dilling listed as luminaries among the newcomers.

In Goodnight, the valley juniors have a high scoring Indiana product who lacks nothing in the speed department. Wensel, 6 foot defensive demon, who evidently prefers the lower altitude of the valley to that of home town Sonora, is a real team leader. Anderson, another product of the mid-west, standing 6 feet even, is an offensive, quick scoring center who is a difficult guy to guard. Hale, a newcomer from San Diego, cavorts at forward, and at five-nine is the midget of the crew. Dilling, another Hoosier, measures 6-2 and is a valuable asset at guard.

Capable Alternates

Other Pirates who'll undoubtedly be in evidence against the locals are Glenn Cunningham, Vic Heer and Ralph Montgomery, capable alternates to the aforementioned quintet.

The locals will be represented by Willie Blackfield and either George Bedrosian or Jack Wolf at forwards, Alex Opalinski at center, and Ed Curcio and Hal Fischer at guards.

A return contest will be played Saturday night in Modesto at 8 o'clock. Local rooters will accompany the team on a special train leaving the Ferry Building at 1:30 in the afternoon.

Defending Champions

The Pirates are defending the 1938 Northern California Junior College Conference title. Those who attended last year's Modesto series will remember the evening at Kezar Pavilion when the Rams succeeded in upsetting the great valley quintet, 38 to 34, in a super-thriller. Practically the same lineups of Rams and Pirates will vie in this evening's contest.

Ram Basketballers Lose To Young Men's Institute; State Conquers Olympians

Displaying a sloppy brand of basketball, Coach "Dutch" Conlan's Ram varsity cagers were the victims of a 37 to 35 defeat imposed upon them by a veteran Young Men's Institute squad at Kezar Pavillion last week.

After five minutes of the opening half had passed, the count stood at eight all, but at this point, the Institute applied a bit of pressure and sailed into a 16 to 8 lead before the locals were able to garner another bucket.

Institute Leads

The club team then tallied eight more points, while the college lads were able to secure but two throughout the remainder of the half, the Institute leaving the floor at the intermission on the long end of a 24 to 12 count.

In the second half, eight minutes elapsed before the Ram sharp-shooters finally found their "eyes" and began peppering the basket.

With the score 27 to 13 in favor of the Institute the locals, paced by Al Opalinski, stellar center, and "Big Ed" Curcio, all-conference guard, really turned on the heat and all but fast-broke the club team to death.

Outscore Opponents

In those final hectic minutes of play which saw the Rams come within two points of a tie and three points of a victory, the college basketeers tallied 22 points to the Institute's ten, Opalinski and Curcio accounting for six points each.

Curcio led the Rams' scoring with 11 digits, while Opalinski gathered in four field goals and one free throw for a total of nine points.

Conroy Outstanding

Outstanding performer of the evening, however, was classy Eddie Conroy, former Santa Claran playing with the Institute team who passed and faked the local lads dizzy and was also able to ring up nine points in his spare time.

In the other game of the double-header, the surprising San Francisco State quintet turned in a victory over the Olympic Club.

Holders of season ticket books to the 1939 California World's Fair opening next February 18, must be photographed so that their likeness may be pasted in the cover to prevent use of the season book by anyone except the purchaser.

TENNIS CHAMPS CLASH

Varsity netmen, Harold Wagner and Bill Canning will clash this week at the Palace of Fine Arts courts to determine the tennis champion of the college.

Both players are members of the Northern California Junior Davis Cup Squad and have faced each other a number of times in tournament competition. Although Canning has won the majority of their previous engagements, Wagner is favored to win.

RAMblings
By RAY BERNS
Russ Sweet In A State Of Delirium; Vines-Budge Battle For Supremacy

Maybe its none of our business, but Modesto Junior College is a prep school for the pride and joy of the southland, the University of Southern California.

The Midwest in general, and Indiana in particular has long been known as a hotbed of basketball. Recognizing this fact, the Trojans recruit their players from the Hoosier state, send them to Modesto for seasoning (and grades), and then adopt them as their own.

Keith "Pretty Boy" Lambert, all-conference forward at Modesto last year, is now wearing a Trojan uniform, while Merle Goodnight, Dave Dilling, and Forest Anderson, fellow-Indianans now playing at Modesto are slated for USC in the future.

• • • •

SWEET HAPPY

Coach Russ "Rah-Rah" Sweet, genial track mentor, is wandering around in a state of happy hysteria, what with the entrance into college of Bob McGuire, ex-Poly High sprinter who was named on the all-American interscholastic team in 1934.

The blond ex-Polyite traversed the 100 yard dash in 9.9 while in high school, and if he can reach or better his former mark, he will be of no little value to the Ram cinder squad.

• • • •

We learn from Dave Johnson, AMS prexy, that a plan is afoot whereby the preliminaries of the college boxing championships will be held one night, with the semi-finals and finals following at a later date, instead of all the bouts being held on one night as was the case in previous years.

In previous championships, some of the lads were forced to fight three and sometimes four bouts in one night, so speaking for the S.P.C.A., we cast a vote for the new plan.

AIN'T IT AWFUL

• • • •

Several sources about the college report that some of the lads are a trifle ired because the varsity basketball squad, Messers. Opalinski, Curcio, Fischer Blackfield and Company to be explicit, has not lived up to expectations. That's too bad.

Perhaps if the lads had attended the frosh welcoming rally last week and heard Coach "Dutch" Conlan deliver his oratory, they would have realized that the squad is being brought along slowly. By the time the conference starts, the team should be "red hot (we hope)."

• • • •

Being just naturally interested in tennis (we play at the game), it behooves us to report that Mr. Ellsworth Vines, world's professional net champion, is now leading Mr. J. Donald Budge, former world's amateur champ, five matches to four, in their trans-continental marathon which calls for a series of 70 matches to decide the professional kingpin.

If memory serves us correctly, the final standing of the Vines-Fred Perry cross-country trek in 1937 was 37 matches apiece.

Vines and Budge are scheduled to play 70 matches, and if they're aiming to end up at 35-35, they're certainly getting off on the right foot.

• • • •

COACHES NAMES

Add coaches nicknames: Russ "Rah-Rah" Sweet; Tom "Atlas" Wilson; Joe "Seabiscuit" Amori.

Lee Eisan and Jack Gaddy have not been tabbed as yet, while it would be a shame to tack a new cognomen on Louis Conlan who has been called "Dutch" all these years.

• • • •

Idle chatter: Why are the men's tennis classes now being held at nine and ten o'clock at the Palace courts and the women's at eleven and twelve? Last semester, both men's and women's were held at ten and eleven a.m. It couldn't be because Bill Canning, varsity tenniser, was more interested in billing and cooing than in playing tennis. Or could it? Incidentally, Bill, does Jane still manicure your toe-nails? So help me, it's the truth!

• • • •

The local dailies report that the YMI defeated the University of San Francisco cagers by three points and the Olympic Club beat St. Mary's by six points. The college lost to the Institute by two, and the Club by six. Figure it out!

RAM chops
By JACK SCHMALE
Rams Will Play For Keeps In Modesto Game; High School Stars Among Frosh

Basketball settles down as a serious business this evening, when the Red Rams entertain Modesto, peer of the California junior college hoop industry, in the opening interscholastic tilt of the season at Kezar Pavilion.

Our local cagers, always ones to take practice contests lightly, will play for keeps tonight against Jack Gardner's "Hoosier Hot-shots", so tabbed because their talent includes a mass importation of casabans from far off Indiana. The Rams, admittedly disappointing against the Y.M.I. and Olympic Club, vow to perform in top style against the valley invaders.

RETURN BATTLE

Chiefly for the sake of allowing tonight's loser an opportunity to partake of vengeance, the involved institutions have mutually consented to a return battle in Modesto this coming Saturday evening. An old Ram custom, that of following athletic teams to the haunts of country opponents, will be exercised on Saturday, when the first excursion of the new semester departs Modestoward.

Those among the current gang who were aboard the Ram Special en route to Sacramento last term will need no explanation of the enjoyment offered on the trek. New frosh, however, should be instructed that for $2.10, a ticket holder can leave the Ferry Building Saturday afternoon at 1:30 and return just 12 hours later, at 1:30 a.m. Don't miss this outing!

• • • •

Spirit, participation at school functions attendance at rallies and games, rooting, etc., may be a minus quantity hereabouts this term. That bold statement, however, is based only on the attitude apparently exhibited by the new freshies at the Men's Club Smoker last Thursday eve. Joined by the rest of the school, we sincerely hope that the Smoker episode is no true indication of the lack of something or other in the low freshman class.

• • • •

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE COMPLETED

Although more than a trifle premature, you may be interested in the Ram 1939 football schedule, just completed by Coach Lee Eisan. Our gridders open with Placer at Seals Stadium September 17; continue with U.S.F. Frosh at Seals September 23; travel to Pasadena September 29; California Frosh at Berkeley October 7; Sacramento here October 14; San Mateo on the Peninsula October 28; S.F. State at Seals or Roberts November 4; Los Angeles City College at Kezar November 11; and Modesto at Modesto November 18.

The Sacramento game may be played on Treasure Island as an official event on the Exposition program that day. All contests will be played at night except San Mateo, Los Angeles and Cal. Frosh, the latter a preliminary to the California vs. St. Mary's varsity engagement.

While we're in the football department, it might be interesting to note that Alex Spieller, Galileo all-city left halfback, and Dave LeBaron, George Washington quarter, are among the new frosh crop. LeBaron is kid brother to Paul LeBaron, current varsity basketball ace. Allen McDonald, Ram 1937 all-conference left half, is at Fresno State.

• • • •

ATHLETES LEAVE

On their way toward other institutions are several familiar athletic figures who wore the Red and White last year. Treacy Slattery, basketball captain, is at San Jose State, while Mickey Berman, first baseman de luxe and football manager, is first sacking for "Spud" Harder's batswingers at Santa Barbara State. Johnnie Verducci, although still enrolled for this semester, will ship his baggage to Fresno State next fall. Frankie Verducci, student body prexy and varsity footballer, will head for Cal. next August.

Joe Amori's bowlers are progressing more and more each term. From his advanced class, such veterans as Benny Papapietro, Howard Cloud, Walt Gardner, "Bach" Bacigalupi, and maybe even yours truly, are leading the list for first string positions on the traveling quintet to represent the school in several important local and out-of-town matches this spring.

WOMEN'S SPORTS PARADE
By Carol Pickering

With only two more days left for enrollment in WAA sports, the Women's Association will be able to release in the near future the final count of women signed up for spring sports. The Association numbered 101 members last semester and hopes to swell the membership to an even greater amount this spring.

Sign ups are being conducted at Powell Street in the morning from 9 until 12 o'clock at the ticket window by the check room, and at Galileo High School in the afternoon from 2:30 until 4:30 o'clock in gym A. Club meetings will start January 20 and all members are urged by president Dorothy Sanderson to attend the first meetings of their sport for nomination of managers. Sign ups will be continued tomorrow and Friday.

• • •

Their scholastic records having been checked, last semester's low freshmen women who won first awards, may obtain them now at the gym office at Galileo.

WAA membership cards will be presented to sportswomen in the organization this semester for the first time. The cards have a white background with snappy red letters and curlicues. Along side our red and black student body cards they remind one of the Poly-Lowell High School feud.

• • •

The social dancing class is, as usual, a large group, and is still growing. However, there is a shortage of women, which means that unless more women enroll in the class, several male twosomes will be seen waltzing it around the gym. The course is given on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4:30 o'clock in the south gym at Galileo, and women may receive WAA credit for it.

Folk dancing was so popular as a credit sport last fall, that WAA has added it to an ever-lengthening list of sports. The members of the club learn some peppy (and some not so peppy) folk dances of European countries. The Lambeth Walk was a popular number last year, legally inserted into the course because it originated in England. American folk dances are reviewed.

• • •

Archery classes are "filled to the brim" so to speak. There are several classes and still more applicants. A club will be formed, therefore, to meet at odd hours during the week, the time to be decided upon by the groups themselves, and which will be open to men and women both.

We know of an energetic person who has signed up for both archery and rifle. Fine Thing! We people who consider ourselves her friends are receding into the far, far distance.

• • •

WAA Calendar Given

The complete calendar for the Spring '39 semester is as follows:

- January 12-20—Sign-ups.
- January 20—Classes begin.
- January 20-24—Nomination of managers for all sports.
- January 23-February 3—Late sign-ups.
- January 27-31—Election of managers.
- February 2—Initiation luncheon.
- April 14-20—Tourney Week and elections.
- April 19—Horse Show.
- April 20—Banquet.

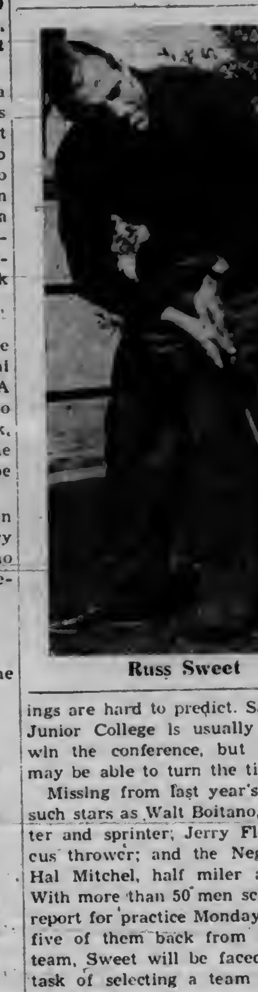
Informal ice skating and swimming parties will be announced just before they take place.

McGuire Heads Track Turnout; Successful Season

Paced by Bob McGuire, former Poly High School star, the Rams will start skimming the cinders, Monday, January 16, at Kezar Stadium, Coach Russ Sweet, announced Friday.



McGuire, holder of the 1934, 1935, Inter-Scholastic 100 yard dash record at 9.9, will be supported by five veterans from last years team, Fred Bitgood, a high hurdler, Peter Ida, a 21 foot broad jumper, Larry Korchet, shot putter and discus thrower, Tony Sam, 220 and 440 man and Dave Stern, a sprinter. These men are expected to carry the burden of the local track team.

New Men Help

With the help of new men, such as Ernie Goodman, former Balboan, Robert De La Rosa, Polyite, and Eddie Perry, another Poly star, the Rams can look forward to a successful season, although pre-season ratings are hard to predict. Sacramento Junior College is usually slated to win the conference, but the Rams may be able to turn the tide.

Missing from last year's team are such stars as Walt Boitano, shot putter and sprinter; Jerry Flamm, discus thrower; and the Negro comet, Hal Mitchel, half miler and miler. With more than 50 men scheduled to report for practice Monday, and only five of them back from last year's team, Sweet will be faced with the task of selecting a team in a very short time.

Practice will be held at Kezar on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 12 M to 2 p.m.

Russ Sweet

First Baseball Practice Held At Funston; Ramon, Mustanich Fine Prospects

Getting under way at Funston Field last Monday afternoon, the Ram baseballers under the guidance of Coach Jack Gaddy, were put through their paces in a most surprising exhibition.

The element of surprise was brought about by the dearth of absent faces, the faces of a few reliable old vets who were counted upon to pave the path of victory for the diamondeers during the coming campaign.

Surprise Exhibition

No less surprising was the exhibition put on by a few of the newcomers who were tried out at the positions left vacant by graduation, ineligibility, and failure to re-register on the part of members of last seasons' nine.

Standouts among the rookies were Bill Mustanich and Frank Ramon.

Mustanich, a catcher, and Ramon, all-around infielder, entered college with reputations as fine ballplayers and according to Gaddy, "they're okay." Coming from Gaddy, that simple "okay," means that the two lads must definitely possess plenty of ability.

Promise Shown

Kent Baird, shortstop, Frank Nilan, outfielder, and Weaver Galbraith another outfielder, give promise of topping their past performances.

Baird is a small young fellow, as is Frank Nilan. Both are fast, Nilan being exceptionally fleet, and both are fair hitters. Nilan beats out many balls that would be outs for a man less speedy, while Baird makes up for what he lacks in other departments by his scintillating fielding.

Gailbraith is rather large, and a slugging type of batter. If he hits it, the stitched horseskin goes the proverbial country mile, if he doesn't, you can feel his swing up in the stands.

The baseballers begin their season on February 14, at which time they tangle with St. Mary's Frosh on the Moraga diamond.

Wilson's Cagers Turn In Two Victories Over High Schools; Pacific Trip Off

The college junior varsity cagers turned in two fine performances during the past week when they registered wins over Galileo and Jefferson High Schools in the Galileo gymnasium.

The Galileo game was a nip and tuck battle but Coach Wilson's hoopsters won out 30 to 26. The local quintet established an early lead and managed to stave off a desperate Galileo rally in the final quarter. The major portion of the winners' scoring was taken care of by Bill Oshida, who garnered 14 points.

The Jefferson team proved easy prey for the hustling ball-hawkers from San Francisco. The final score was 28 to 12, but it could easily have been doubled had the Rams not coasted after piling up an early lead. Leading the parade for the winners was Ryan, who tallied 9 points, and Ray Berns, local sparkplug, who netted 8 markers.

A large turnout greeted Coach Wilson this year and he is hopeful of another successful season. The game scheduled with the College of Pacific freshman was cancelled at the last minute when a mixup in dates occured.

Tonight the team will engage the Jewish Community Center in a preliminary to the varsity game. First game will start promptly at 7 p.m. at Kezar Pavillion.

World-Famous Yogi Makes National Champions Out Of Varsity Cagers
By "Yogi" Foo

Believe it or don't, but Coach "Dutch" Conlan's Varsity Basketballers are the best team in the nation. Well, almost the best. At least, they're the runner-ups for the national title.

We guarantee that we'll have national champs (on paper) before the season is over.

Now to get down to the undisputable facts. Here they are in black and white right before your very eyes.

(1) The Ram quintet lost to the Olympic Club by six points.

(2) St. Mary's College lost to the Olympic Club by six points.

(3) You guessed it The Rams are as good as St. Mary's.

(4) St. Mary's beat Stanford by four points, 51 to 47.

(5) Stanford defeated the University of Southern California by three points, 42 to 39.

(6) Logically, remember, we say logically, that makes the Conlanmen seven points betters than U.S.C.

(7) U.S.C. lost to Long Island University, recognized as the best team in the United States, by fifteen points (looks kind of bad for the Ram cause, doesn't it?)

Don't let that bother you.

After all, Long Island is only eight points better than the Rams, and what's a mere eight points. That's right; a drop in the bucket (or is it four drops?).

The h—— with this fiddling! Why wait till later in the season? Right here and now, we declare the Ram quintet to be the national champions. Reason — the locals have it on Long Island U. on experience alone.

Of course we realize that there may be in this institution (as there are in other institutions) dissenters, who will scoff at the figures and proclaim the Ram outfit to be no better than a high-school team (we wonder?).

The dissenters will ask, "haven't you proved St. Mary's to be as good as the Rams?" Yes, we have. So what? Didn't the Gaels lose to California?

The Olympic Club beat both St. Mary's and the locals. So what? Didn't the Club lose to San Francisco State?

It's true that the Rams did lose to the New Domestic Laundry, the Howard Insurance Company, the Athens Club, the Young Men's Institute and a few other teams, but they were only practice games and besides it doesn't mean a thing if it ain't got that swing. So there!

College Societies Must Renew Charters Club Board Rules

All clubs must renew their charters this semester following action of the Club Advisory Board at its first meeting of the semester last Thursday.

Reason for this ruling was said to be an effort to eliminate confusion and avoid controversy in the future such as occured at the end of last semester. Deadline for charter applications will be announced later.

The post of secretary-treasurer of the board will in all probability be filled at the next meeting. Because of other duties, Dorothy Trood submitted her resignation at the first meeting.

Give Sheets

Meeting for the first time this semester under the leadership of President Robert Blackwell, representatives were given a sheet to fill out for renewal of their group charters.

The board plans to issue new charters to all the clubs who can meet the requirements. These charters will be good indefinitely; unless the board finds that the organization is not fulfilling the requirements of an active club, in which case it will be suspended, and if this suspension lasts for two semesters the club will be ruled defunct and the charter revoked.

To Compile Directory

Also included in the plans laid out by the board this semester is the task of compiling a directory of services that the clubs may find necessary to use from time to time; and a handbook of clubs, their qualifications for membership, aims and purposes, activities, and dues.

It is thought that the former will be advantageous to clubs in planning their various events.

"Of course the board meetings will permit members to air their opinions on student government, and if advisable to have it brought before the executive council for remedial action," Blackwell said.

"Every club of the college, no matter what its status, will be privileged to delegate a representative to the Club Advisory Board. This delegate will become, after proper identification, a tentative member of the Board, until the Board shall rule whether or not the club fulfills the qualification required in order to merit a charter and related privileges within the college.

This ruling will depend on the information, or the lack of it, supplied the board by the club."

The Club Advisory Board was organized not only to rule on the issuance of charters to clubs, but also to help those clubs in every possible way, and that will be the basis of all plans made this semester, Blackwell indicated.

A Clearing House

"First the board plans to serve as a clearing house for such information as will aid the clubs in planning and carrying out their activities. The board hopes to become a meeting group where inter-and intra-club events will be discussed.

Clubs in this way will help each other, and ways-and-means to overcome those financial, physical, and psychological obstacles which arise may be discovered and recorded against the time when "history will repeat itself," Blackwell explained.

"The officers of the board, and James Hughes, our adviser, sincerely hope that we may be of service to the various organizations of this college," Blackwell added.

• • •

• To elect the officers, the Physical Education and Recreation Majors' Club was given a party at the home of Bertha Mae Keller, adviser of the club.

The name of the club has been changed from Physical Education Club to the present name of Physical Education and Recreation Majors' Club.

Officers for this semester as elected at the party are as follows: president, Marion Dickie; vice-president, Annette Shunick; secretary, Fayella Fenton, and treasurer, Helen Godman.

The members of the group were entertained at the party by an interesting talk given by the Assistant Director of the Recreation Department, A. Kimball.

• Forum Club . . . will hold its first discussion meeting of the spring semester on Friday, January 20 at 1495 Seventh Avenue. Fred Vast, last semester's editor of The Guardsman, and William Switzer, ether impresario, will be the student speakers of the evening. Their subject will be student government.

• Resuming activities after the holiday vacation period, the Newman Club will hold its first meeting of the spring semester next Monday evening.

According to President Dave Johnson, all Catholic students are cordially invited to attend. "We would like to see all of the new Catholic students at this initial meeting," Johnson said.

• Omicron Phi Pi . . . economics honor society met last week at the home of Gertrude Bolton, history instructor. The topic for discussion was 'Japan's Invasion of China.'

"Omicron Phi Pi is primarily an honor society and admission to it is only granted when certain requirements concerning grades in economics courses have been met. Full information about the requirements will be found in a subsequent announcement next week. All those interested in economics are invited to attend the meetings," said Russell Pritchard, president.

New officers for the semester are: Russell Pritchard, president; Evans Carlson, vice-president; Cecilia Elliot, secretary, and Charles Lambert, treasurer.

Among those present at the meeting were Franklin C. Sewell, Carl F. Stough, of the faculty, Captain Evans Carlson, and Dr. H. Elliot.

• Tarbuth . . . first meeting of the semester will be held at the home of Betty Lipschultz, 4220 Fulton Street, at 7:30 p.m. (Car 5) announced Daniel Rosenblat, president of the group.

Plans will be discussed for an extensive membership drive, to be launched next week. There will be a discussion on "Italy Under Hitler", a brief summary of the situation existing in Italy today. Joe Waterman will be the speaker.

All students interested in the club or the topic for discussion are invited to attend.

• Dorothy Pilgrim, president of the Peace Society, announced the first meeting of the society will be held on Friday, January 27 at the home of Carol Pickering . . . 2143 16th Avenue. The meeting will convene at 8 p.m.

Robert Porter and Harry Becker will be the student speakers, and their subject will be the Good Neighbor Policy.

The general meetings which are open to all students are designed as a forum for free discussions of problems of maintaining peace in the modern world. The club has no dogmatic position.

"Each semester the club presents an assembly dealing with a vital issue. Such an assembly is now being planned to take place some time in April in connection with the national peace rally of American young people," Miss Pilgrim said.

• Le Cercle Francais . . . will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Ethel Vizzard . . . 237-21st Avenue. Take the B or C streetcar. "Entering French students who are interested in conversational French are invited to join tonight," said Helen Garbe, president of the club last semester.

• Alpha Phi Omega . . . held its first meeting under the new officers of the semester who are: president, Frances Herndon; vice-president, Matena Ellis; secretary, Eunice Lawrence; treasurer, Muriel Nolan; historian, Kay Lloyd. Plans are under way for the sorority's rush tea.

• Phi Beta Rho . . . met at the home of Adele Kuhn for the purpose of discussing the sorority's social activities for the semester, according to Jeanne Collins, president.

This semester's officers are Jeanne Collins, president; Barbara Curryer, vice-president; Peggy Jack, recording secretary; Janet Ball, corresponding secretary; Betty Chrysler, treasurer, and Adele Kuhn, historian.

• Army and Navy . . . held its first meeting last week at the home of Gordon Sollman. Plans were discussed and it was decided to visit Mare Island Navy Base, Sunnyvale, Forts Funston and Scott.

Captain Fred MacFarland is the new sponsor of the group.

Gordon Sollman was re-elected president; Howard Markovits, vice-president; Louis Goldstone, secretary-treasurer, and Walter Thompson, historian.

• Chinese Club . . . featuring the initiation of new members, the Chinese Students' Club will stage its semi-annual "welcome" reception for Freshmen on January 20 at 8 p.m., according to Frances Chin, newly elected secretary. The location and other details of the affair will be posted on the bulletin board of the Powell Street building, Miss Chin said.

All entering Chinese students are urged to attend in order to familiarize themselves with the club, its rules and its activities.

Officers elected for the semester are: president, Poe Lee; vice-president, Rosilind Woo; treasurer, Ada Wong; secretary, Frances Chin; women's athletic manager, Gladys Lowe; men's athletic manager, John Leong.

Library Shelves Swelling With New Magazines, Announces Colligan

Beginning a record breaking semester, Francis J. Colligan, head of the library staff, announced that the library's shelves are swelling with new magazines. On all these periodicals 1939 subscriptions have been ordered.

"We have the second largest magazine collection of all the junior colleges in the country," proudly announced the library chief.

"Among the new magazines are Booklist, Broadcasting, California Historical Society, Correct English, Journal of Business Education, Modern Business Education, Newsweek, Business Education World.

"Included among articles of vocational interest in recent magazines are such subjects as Cooperative Associations as Employers in Monthly Labor Review, 1938; Earnings of White-Collar and Skilled Urban Negroes in Your Future, 1936; Effect of Minimum Wage on Women's Earnings in Rhode Island in Monthly Labor Review, 1938; Farm Wage and Labor Situation also in Monthly Labor Review, 1938.

"This above list gives only a minute portion of the interesting reading material we have," Colligan said. "Students should take advantage of the ever-increasing library facilities they have at their command. Here one will find something to meet every individual's interest and we are 'ready, willing, and able' to serve the men and women of the college."

New Officers Announced For A Cappella Choir

Arnold Chapin, newly elected A Cappella Choir president, will be assisted in his duties this semester by Patricia Keefer, vice-president, and Tina Ariani, secretary, according to Flossita Badger, choir instructor.

"I'm already exceedingly pleased with the choir," Miss Badger declared, "and because so many former members are returning we expect to improve quite rapidly, and continue from the point of perfection reached last semester, rather than repeating work, as is usually necessary."

In regard to future engagements for the group Miss Badger announced that an Exposition appearance and several out of town programs, to be announced at future dates, are already included in the recent plans.

O'Neill To Close Powell Building At 2 P.M. Sharp

Hereafter the Powell Street Building will be closed at 2 o'clock sharp, Tom O'Neill of the faculty, announced today.

"Anything left in the check-room or my office will stay there until the next time the college classes meet. Absolutely everyone and everything must be out of the building at that time. There can be no exceptions!" O'Neill said.

Antioch Plan Explained To Faculty Association

Explaining that the Antioch Plan of Education as practiced at the Antioch College in Ohio "is one of the most unique yet successful plans in the field of liberal education," A. D. Henderson, president of that institution addressed the Faculty Association of the Junior College on Thursday afternoon, January 12, at Galileo High School.

The students attend the school for a period of four years, during which time they study for ten weeks and then alternate with work for a similar period of time. Antioch College possesses a personnel board which manages to place the students during their period of work in some position whereby they receive practical training to supplement their class work.

A.W.S. PROGRAM

(Continued from page 1)

ner, Oliven Jones, and Patricia Keefer who sang two selections, The Way You Look Tonight, and Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life.

"I am glad to see that so many new students are taking an interest in the women's activities," declared Miss Trood, "and hope to see as many at our future entertainments."

All the Helpers

Girls who helped to make this first affair such a success are as follows:

Frances Herndon, Helen Hansen, Muriel Nolan, Jacqueline Davis, Teckla Regoli, Miriam Dunne, Barbara Crespi, Barbara Curryer, Lorraine Johnson, June Dunnigan, Janet Ball, Marjorie Meader, Helen Culp, Jean Steward, Martha Ellis, Marie Heiser, Marie Louise McNutt, Jeanne Collins, Patricia Rogers.

From an 8-10 foot cinema screen news bulletins will flash hourly at the Christian Science Monitor Building at the 1939 World's Fair of the West.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION SCHEDULE

Spring Semester 1939

Archery	MW 3:30—For Mason Field
Badminton	Fri. 2:30-4:30—Galileo Gym
Basketball	MW 3:10-3:35—Galileo Gym
Baseball-Soccer	TTh 10:15-11:15—Funston Playground
Dancing Modern	MW 2:30-3:30—Galileo Gym
Social	MW 4:30-5:15—Galileo Gym
Tap	MW 4:30-5:15—Galileo Gym
Folk	Fri. 2:30-3:20—Galileo Gym
Fencing	TTh 4:10-4:35—Galileo Gym
*Golf	MW 1:15 (MW 12:15; TTh 12:15; 1:15—if room)
Ice Skating	Fri. 2:30-4:30—S.F. Ice Skating Rink 48th
Pistol	MF 3:30 (Adv. Rifle prerequisile) Galileo Armory
Riding (Elementary)	Fri. 1:00-3:30—Stanyan St. Stables
* (Intermediate)	Fri. 2:30-4:00—Stanyan St. Stables
(Advanced)	Fri. 4:00-5:15—Stanyan St. Stables
Rifle (Elementary)	TTh 4:30—Galileo Armory
(Advanced)	TTh 4:30—Galileo Armory
Swimming (Elementary)	MW 12:30-1:00—Y.W.C.A.
Intermediate)	MW 1:00-1:30—Y.W.C.A.
(Advanced-Diving)	TTh 12:30-1:00—Y.W.C.A.
(Life-Saving)	TTh 1:00-1:30—Y.W.C.A.
Tennis (Elementary)	10:00-12:00—Palace of Fine Arts
(Intermediate)	10:00-12:00—Palace of Fine Arts
(Advanced)	10:00-12:00—Palace of Fnei Arts

The class of MW at 1:15 will definitely be WAA

Whichever class: TTh 12:15 or MW 12:15 has most signups, THAT CLASS ONLY will function.

Modesto Beckons—Schmale's Choo-Choo

Lending a helping hand to the engineer on last semester's highly successful Sacramento trip are these six rooters who were part of the large number of students who made the journey to the state capital.

This Saturday marks the departure of another trainload of rooters with Modesto as the destination. Students interested in making this eventful trip complete with its many offerings should get their tickets immediately at either the Powell Street or Galileo Banks.

Registrar's Permission Required To Change Programs, Drop Courses

All students are cautioned to observe administration regulations in regard to changing programs or dropping courses, announced the registrar's office today.

J. Paul Mohr, college registrar made the following statement: "After a student's program has been approved and filed with the registrar, no change will be permitted without the approval of the registrar. A student who drops a course without such approval will be marked as having failed in the course. Credit will not be given for courses taken but not entered on the student's official study list."

Mohr also announced that the registration total at the present time exceeds that of last semester. It is estimated that approximately 2150 students will have registered by the end of this week.

AFTER DARK

(Continued from page 2)

talk on the life and songs of Hugo Wolf and Mr. Goldschmidt sang some fifteen songs by this master. Unfortunately, the musical portion of the program was not up to the factual. While Mr. Frankenstein's contribution to the evening left nothing to be desired, Mr. Goldschmidt suffered from his own bad accompaniments.

In the first place, Mrs. Goldschmidt is not a very good pianist and yet he insists on accompanying himself. He has an excellent, and often perfect vocal instrument and his interpretive power is far from ordinary. But when he stumbles through a very intricate piano part and his singing suffers from the struggle we can see no reason why he should continue in his fine but impractical idea of singer-accompanist in one.

There were occasions, as in the singing of the Goethe lieder, that Goldschmidt managed to fuse the two parts into one instrument, but such occasions were far too rare to warrant such an experiment, if one can call it such. It is to be hoped that in the next and last concert both artists will be equally good. We have only praise for Mr. Frankenstein, the best critic in the whole bay region without any doubt whatsoever. We wish we could say the same of Mr. Goldschmidt, but we can only go so far as to say that his voice is a very promising and a very beautiful one.

• • •

A giant crane will hoist Golden Gate International Exposition 1939 fairgoers 166 feet above the Gayway according to plans of concessioners.

• • •

One of the greatest galaxies of physicians, chemists and research workers ever to address the public in a series of popularized medical lectures, will be heard at the California World's Fair on Treasure Island throughout 1939.

Plans Progressing For New Forum Magazine

Plans are now in progress for the third annual publication of the Forum Magazine.

The magazine, according to Editor John Ward, is published by members of the college Forum Club, and is at present the only type of year-book existing in the college.

Under the supervision of Frederick G. Bracher, English instructor, the annual is expected to exceed by far those of the past years.

The staff of the magazine wishes to announce that anyone in the college may contribute to the journal. Short stories, informal essays, humorous sketches, travel accounts, articles on social, economical, or philosophical subjects are all desirable.

Contributions may be made to any college English instructor or to Bracher.

ELECTIONS

(Continued from page 1)

Betty to serve in the office of secretary. Sponsors Verrel Webber and Nelson Wells supervised the election and will serve as advisers to the officers.

Most promising of the elections was the large turnout at the Low Freshman election, completely outnumbering the attendance at the rival class elections.

Chosen to lead the Low Frosh was Dave LeBaron, former athletic star of George Washington High School. Assisting LeBaron in his office of president will be Virginia Critchley as vice-president, and Elliot Parker as secretary.

Commenting on the elections, Verducci said, "I was pleased by the comparatively excellent turnouts at these elections and by the fine choice the students showed in selecting their officers.

"With a supporting cast as excellent as this, we can all look forward to one of the finest semesters in college history."

WSS Will Sponsor Tea For Incoming Initiates

Tuesday night, January 17, the Women's Service Society met at the home of Verrel Weber, the group's faculty adviser.

In addition to the regular business, plans were discussed for the raising of the Society's scholarship standard, as well as a proposed tea to be given for incoming members.

FRANK PERRY FROM WHITCOMB NOW TEACHES HOTEL DIV.

Frank Perry of the Whitcomb Hotel is now affiliated with the hotel and restaurant division, to give two courses, according to J. Graham Sullivan, coordinator. One deals in all types of taxes with which hotel persons have to deal. It includes income tax, property tax, sales tax, and social security. The other course deals with credit and its relation to the rest of the hotel.

Lawrence Wong, a graduate of the hotel and restaurant division, was formerly connected with the Palace Hotel, is now serving as assistant to the chef steward at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in San Mateo.

The hotel and restaurant division will be hosts to members of the California Northern Hotel Association on February 13. This honor will open a week of festivities preliminary to the opening of the Golden Gate International Exposition.

Several students of the division are working on a cooperative basis with the hotels of the city. Cynthia Richardson is associated in the mornings with the St. Francis Hotel, and Neil Swanson with the kitchen at the St. Francis. Clark Chittick is working in the front office of the Palace Hotel and William Chittick is working in the auditing office of the El Cortez Hotel. Carl Rutledge is working in the offices of Horth and Horth, hotel accountants. Ralph Cummings has been placed during the week as apprentice to the bakery chef of the St. Francis Hotel.

ALPHA GAMMA SIGMA

(Continued from page 1)

Koster, Robert Kovacic, Jacqueline Kramer, Dorothy Kreider, Harold Kren.

Charles Lambert, William Lawrence, Eleanor Leither, Clemen Lowe.

Wilbert McKenzie, Andrew Maass, Elizabeth Malini, Robert Mandel, John Matjasich, Scudder Mersman, Lily Meyer, Gloria Miller, Clyde W. Moonie, Esther Moore, Yoshiko Morioka, Daniel Mulholland.

Elizabeth Newell, Tamara Nicol.

Norman Olsen.

Thomas Parkinson, Robert E. Peterson, Dorothy Pilgrim, Jack Pomon, Robert Porter.

Dorothy Rodenback, Lita Rogers, Patricia Rogers, Mitzi Roi, Barbara Rose.

Robert Schmale, Frederic Schneidewind, Frank Schofield, Herbert Schwartz, Alan Searles, Herbert Selden, Sumi Shimizu, John Simpson, Raymond Slattery, Barbara Stahmann, George Stewart, Shinobu Sugiyama, Gerald Sullivan.

Martha Tahja, Hartley Thompson.

Robert Uyeda.

Alfred Vandenberg.

Willene Wann, John M. Ward, Carl Weller, Constance Wond, Park Wond, Ted Wrede.

Fumiko Yaki, Shigeru Yamamoto, Fred Zulch.

Any names which have been omitted from the honor list should be turned in at the college office at the Galileo High School. Miss Cooper said.

The Republic of Ecuador has announced a special postage stamp issue commemorating its participation in the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

• • •

Women's sports at the 1939 World's Fair of the West will include archery, lawn bowling, fly casting, tennis, badminton, and many others.

• • •

Thousands of years of history will be dramatically presented on a huge electrical map, showing the great migrations of the human race to millions of visitors at the 1939 World's Fair of the West on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay.

Rally Committee Chairman Plans Game Programs

With tentative plans set for rallies to be held preceding the basketball games with Salinas, Santa Rosa and San Mateo and a dance to be presented following the game with State, Art Pomares, head yell-leader and chairman of the Rally Committee commenced vigorous and numerous activity with his committee.

"It is my plan to surpass in standard and attendance the rallies staged last semester by Hugh Waite and his committee. Already we have taken steps to replace the college banner stolen by miscreants at Sacramento last fall after the football game. The rally committee is as anxious as myself to rejuvenate the spirit of San Francisco Junior College in all the men and women enrolled. I only hope that my committee will receive as fine cooperation in the way of attendance at future rallies as was exhibited in our first rally," Pomares stated.

If enough students express their desire, a train ride to Salinas will be held when the Ram basketballers invade that city on the night of February 17, Pomares hinted. On Tuesday afternoon, January 31, a pep rally will be staged by Pomares in preparation for the battle with Santa Rosa. Scheduled also in the plans by the committee are: a rally to be held Monday, February 13, in preparation for Salinas; another rally to proceed the San Mateo game on Thursday the 23rd of February; and a dance to be presented in collaboration with San Francisco State following the traditional tussle with that institution.

Further plans were presented by Pomares when he stated, "The rally committee will be a distinguished group as to appearance this semester. The men will be attired in red and white caps while the women on the committee will be furnished with berets of the same colors. We also hope to take steps to assure the students of the college that their banner will not be removed from the campus to that of other institutions when Ram teams are travelling."

Aiding Pomares in his work will be the following students who are members of the rally committee: Frank Verducci, Pete Aydelotte, Merrill Steele, Wallace Moss, Ethan Bernstein, Malcolm Jacobs, Marge Meader, Lorrain McGill, Camille Colotte, Jack Schmale, Tony Manov, and Jack Volker.

Information Requested By Browne Concerning Placement For Students

Information concerning employment or housing conditions for students of the college was requested today by Dean Edwin C. Browne.

"I have many applications for work, and will appreciate any information available. Since the National Youth Adminstration has an over-abundance of applicants, we are attempting to find other sources of work for the many who desire it," Browne explained.

Dean Browne also expressed his gratitude and appreciation of the excellent way in which the students of the college cooperated during orientation week.

"The administration is very grateful for the excellent spirit the students have adapted themselves to the unfortunate circumstances which necessitate the traveling from one building to another," Browne said.

NEED A TYPEWRITER? . . .

Rent REMINGTON NOISELESS TYPEWRITERS at same cost as noisy machines . . . All carriage widths, type styles, keyboards . . . Also standards, portables . . . Rental from manufacturer guarantees QUALITY.

Remington Typewriter Division
Remington Rand, Inc.
509 Market Street Phone: DOuglas 8600

Lay Off The Razors! Let Beards Grow For The A.M.S. Whiskerino

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

The Guardsman

SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 25, 1939 No. 3

Prizes For Heaviest, Fanciest Beards In The A.M.S. Whiskerino

Block Society To Police Powell; Quit Club Ass'n

Vote Unanimously To Withdraw From Club Board; 'Nothing To Be Gained'

In a surprise move, the Block SF Society withdrew from the Club Advisory Board last week.

A unanimous vote followed the report made to the Society by President Mel Peterson who had attended the last meeting of the Board.

Various reasons were given for the action but the one which seemed to be held by most of the members was, "There is nothing to be gained by membership in the Club Advisory Board since five lettermen already belong to the higher body, the ex-council."

Pioneer Organization

Thought significant was the fact that the Block Society was one of the first chartered organizations in the college and when the Club Advisory Board was first formed last spring, the letter group was active in its formation.

Although Club Advisory Board President Bob Blackwell could not be reached for a statement, he is reported to be disappointed in the withdrawal, the Block Society having been so active in Board functions of the past.

Plan Detective Work

Also discussed at last week's Society meeting was the detective work being done by that group in an attempt to retrieve the college banner which mysteriously disappeared on the Sacramento grid excursion last year.

Plans were made to police the congested Powell Street steps, halls, and sidewalk which, because of the increased college enrollment, are more crowded than ever.

Face New Problem

The Block Society volunteered for that job a year ago, but after a week's futile attempt the task was given up as hopeless.

In addition to clearing the congestion, the Society this year will try to cooperate with the San Francisco Police Department in an attempt to stop parking in the alley and the various "yellow-zones" which abound in the vicinity of the Powell Building.

Crowded Halls, Stairways, Traffic Violations Target For Letter Society Effort

Crowded halls and stairways, and violation of parking regulations at the Powell Street building will be the targets of the policing campaign recently begun by the college Block SF Society, announced Mel Peterson, president.

The society will work in conjunction with the San Francisco Traffic Detail, in an attempt to clear up the heretofore deplorable conditions existing at the building.

In the future anyone loitering on the stairs or in the hallways will be requested to move on. "Failure to comply with this request will result in a subpoena to appear before the Judicial Committee," cautioned Peterson.

Dean Browne Approves

When approached on the subject, Dean Edwin C. Browne expressed his hearty approval. "The college has needed a service like this for a long time, and I am very happy to see that the Block Society has volunteered for the job," Browne said. Several other members of the administration also feel that the new regulations will prove a great success.

Approximately a year ago, an attempt was made to put the same idea into effect. Unfortunately, the effort died after a few weeks, because of the inability of the student police to enforce the stringent rules. This semester, the Block Society is assured of success because of the fact that that organization is larger in number and better organized than in previous years.

May Extend Activities

It has been rumored that if effective, the campaign will extend its boundaries to Galileo High School, where conditions are almost as bad.

As a secondary motive, the society will aid in keeping order at the college rallies and assemblies. In this capacity members will work in conjunction with the Rally Committee.

Students' Budget Passed At Ex-Council Meeting

Request For Club Advisory Board Funds Refused By Solons; Rifle And Pistol Club Petition Deferred

Approval of the student budget for the present semester was given by the Executive Council at its meeting last Thursday, announced Frank Verducci, Associated Students' president.

The council refused a request by Robert Blackwell, president of the Club Advisory Board, for an allotment of funds for the maintenance of the board.

It was decided that the organization had no need of the money and could function just as well without it.

Rifleers Request

In an appeal for recognition, the college Rifle and Pistol Club laid a request before the council that the club's activity be included with minor sports of the college.

Further investigation revealed that all matters pertaining to sports had to be approved first by the Men's Athletic Council. The organization in question was then referred to the aforementioned group for further developments.

Verducci Pleased

President Verducci said that he was well pleased with the efficiency of the Executive Council. "I feel that this term we will really accomplish something in the way of improving the college," Verducci said.

Complete budget for the Spring semester, 1939, as presented by Ward M. Nichols, comptroller, is published below.

Incomes
Student Body Dues	$9,000.00
Social	150.00
Fines	25.00
Miscellaneous	150.00
Discounts	25.00
Advertising	25.00
Car Tickets	75.00
Basketball	200.00
Balance from Fall Semester	2,146.47
Total	$11,796.47
Expenses
Administration
Supplies	$ 100.00
Graduation and Programs	900.00
Registrar	250.00
Health Protection	200.00
Miscellaneous	200.00
Gowns	225.00
Rentals	750.00
Insurance	200.00
Total Administration	$2,825.00
Student Body
Guardsman	$2,272.00
Social Committee	701.00
Football	125.00
Comptroller	125.00
Basketball	603.00
Baseball	790.00
Tennis	266.00
Orchestra	25.00
Track	533.00
J. V. Basketball	88.00
Music	245.00
W. A. A.	347.00
A. W. S.	400.00
A. M. S.	350.00
Dean's Fund	200.00
To Reserve	577.47
Awards	125.00
Sophomore Week	390.00

(Continued on page 4)

JUDICIAL COMMITTEE ACTS ON TRAFFIC; TO ASSIST BLOCKMEN

In an attempt to clear traffic congestion at the Powell Street building, the judicial committee today warned all students that they will deal severely with anyone disobeying the new regulations.

To enforce the new system, members of the Block Society will police the stairs and hallways. The idea is to see that students do not crowd together and block passages.

To Be Punished

Persons who become particularly troublesome after having been warned, will be turned over to the judicial committee which will recommend punishment.

Frank Verducci, Associated Students' president, appealed to all members of the college to aid in the clearing of the traffic problem.

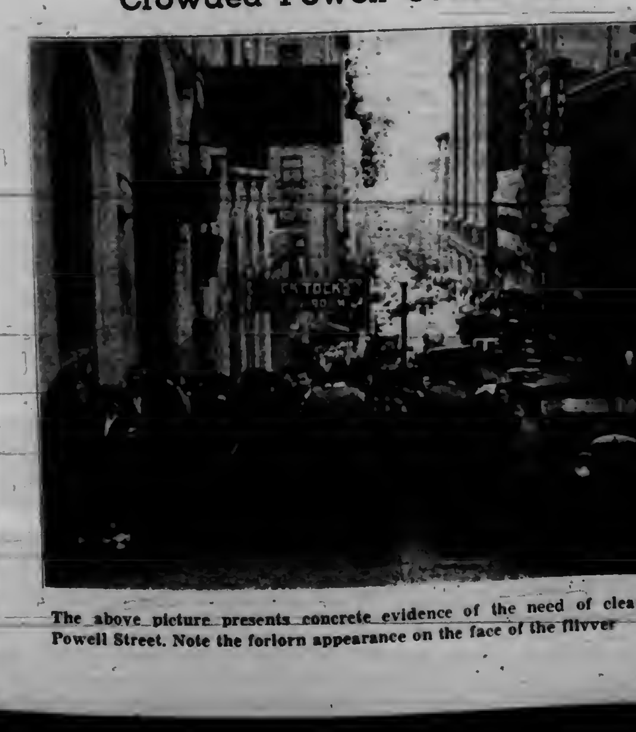
No Lending

Chairman of the judicial committee Howard Cloud reported that no Associated Student cards were taken up during the dance last Friday night.

This presumably means that no student transferred his card.

"We are indeed glad of the fact that no one was forced to forfeit his card," said Cloud, "especially when so many attended the dance. It is hoped that this good record will continue throughout the term."

February 1 Last Day To Remove Incompletes Warns Registrar



February 1, is the last day to remove incomplete grades from last semester courses; announced the registrar's office last week.

It is also the last possible chance to have incidental student body fees refunded.

Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar, warned all students who wish to file petitions for graduation to do so immediately.

"Although February eighth is the last day to file petitions, it is rather difficult to adjust programs at the last minute," Miss Learnard said.

Crowded Powell Conditions

The above picture presents concrete evidence of the need of clearing Powell Street. Note the forlorn appearance on the face of the flivver

Men's Club Whiskerino On; Razor Blade Stocks Collapse

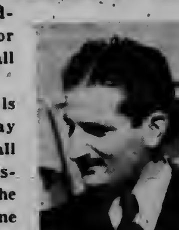
Shades of Smith Bros., George Bernard Shaw, and Teddy Roosevelt! The Men's Club is holding a Whiskerino.

In line with the "Far West" spirit which will reign at the opening of the Golden Gate International Exposition, the Associated Men students are holding the Whiskerino, or beard contest, open to all men of the college.

The starting date is this Friday, (or any day thereafter) when all contestants must register clean-shaven, in the Powell Street Mezzanine floor.

Culminating date is February 21, fiesta week, when the champion outgrowths will be judged at an Associated Students' costume fiesta dance, prizes to be awarded the winners.

The classifications and prizes offered are as follows:



1. For best all-around heavy growth, free bid to the Soph Formal.

2. For most unique growth, merchandise order.

3. For straggliest growth, another merchandise order.

No one man is eligible for more than one award.

Spinach judges who will make the awards are Men's Club adviser Joe Amori, AMS President Dave Johnson, Dean Edwin C. Browne, Associated Student President Frank Verducci, Ed Sandys (noted blue-jaw), and John M. Julius, Guardsman editor and electric shaver advocate.

JOE AMORI

Amori, college hygiene authority, warned prospective entrants, saying, "It is permissable to use tonics, salves, and other beard-growing mediums to promote optimum results, but care should be exercised in the use and application of such."

Amori also said that, if there are enough entrants, more classifications will be made in the contest with additional prizes.

If this happens a number of other awards will be given, probably be Exposition scrip-books.

There will be no handicap for youthfulness.

Ken "Fur-face" Pasqualetti must register clean-shaven four days after the other entrants do so.

The judges are to be equipped with 10-power magnifying glasses and adding machines.

J. Paul Mohr, registrar, has been invited to be a judge but no word has been received from him as yet.

Faculty members are also cordially invited to enter the contest.

Sunnyside Loses To Red Rifle Team By 117 Points; North High Point Expert

Defeating the Sunnyside Sportsmen Rifle Club on January 19, on the Galileo Range by the overwhelming margin of 117 points, the college Red Rifle Team ran its string of victories to eight consecutive matches in its league of the San Francisco Small-Bore Association.

As usual, Charles North, local ace sharpshooter, captured high honors by shooting a total score of 182. Second honors went to Edward Templeton, also of the college, who shot one point lower than North with 181.

McFarland Pleased

Coach Fred McFarland expressed his approval of the team when he said, "This year's squad appears to be one of the best in the college's history.

"Although our victory over the Sunnyside Sportsmen was not unexpected, I had no idea that our score would be so impressive as it is ordinarily natural to expect a slight letdown in the squad after such a victory as ours a week ago."

Beat Legion

By way of explanation, the Red Rifle Team cinched the championship of the Association a week ago when members defeated the American Legion team by ten points, 906 to 896.

The Legion squad has captured the local title for several years running and was a heavy favorite to upset the Red Rams.

Blues Clean Up

The college's second team, referred to as the Blue squad, also knocked over its opponents by a substantial margin when the squad shot a combined total of 845 points to 754 for the Surf Fishing Club on January 16 at Galileo.

Leading scorer for the Blues was Jack Hewett with 176. Hewett was followed closely by Walter Yoigt who added 173 points to the team total.

Meet Surf Club

Tomorrow evening at 7 p.m. at the Galileo range, the Red squad will meet the sharpshooters from the Surf Fishing Club. The Reds are odds on favorites to run their victory string to nine.

Coach McFarland and Captain William Gibson expect to start the same eight men as were used against the Legion team, with the highest five scores counting for the team total.

Scores made in the last matches are listed below:

SFJC REDS—897		SUNNYSIDE—780
*North	182	*Hayes	175
*E. Templeton	181	*Dunn	170
*Stewart	180	*Kunel	155
*Cavagnolo	178	*Kessel	141
*Gibson	176	*Henderson	139
A. Templeton	175	Dyer	139
Humphrey	166	Dragon	121
Darr	147	Bopp	117

*High Five.

Second College Rally To Be Next Tuesday At Galileo

Eager to surpass the success of the first rally of the semester recently staged by the rally committee, head yell leader Art Pomares is now arranging for "a variety of good entertainment" for the second rally to be sponsored by the rally committee. The Galileo Auditorium will be the scene; the time has been set for 2:30 o'clock next Tuesday; the purpose is to arouse spirit for the basketball game with Santa Rosa Junior College at that city the following day.

Although The Guardsman went to press before the committee's plans and arrangements were definite, Pomares promised enough varied entertainment from the various sources he is now contacting to appeal to all.

Davis May Be Featured

Jimmie Davis, orchestra leader now playing at the Palace Hotel, is being approached by Pomares in an effort to secure the orchestra's services complete with specialty acts for the rally. Several previous attempts at securing leading orchestras for college rallies have been flatly refused to both this and other local schools, however Pomares expressed high hopes of being successful in this attempt.

Assisting Pomares in the roles of assistant yell leaders will be Eddie Baca and Pete Aydelotte, recently chosen by Pomares to serve as his assistants. They will be given ample opportunity to demonstrate their abilities to the assemblage.

Thriller Promised

College entertainment will be provided by the two mainstays of last semester, Herb Lear and Bob Cohn. Lear will offer several vocal selections in the modern tempo, while Cohn is slated to appear in a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde act designed to give the audience a spine-tingling thrill.

Feverishly working on another epic at the present time, Jack Schmale, college playwright, promises his newest effort will be ready for presentation at the time of the rally. Type and details of the play cannot be divulged at the present time.

Substitutes Ready

In the event that this tentative schedule of entertainment may not materialize in some respects, Pomares has arranged to exchange programs with Lowell High School. Lowell will send several of its outstanding offerings to the college rally in exchange for college talent.

On hand to bolster student spirit will be "Dutch" Conlan, popular basketball mentor, who will discuss the team's possibilities over its league rivals and will introduce team members to the audience.

Students having 2:30 o'clock classes

(Continued on page 4, column 2)

Radio Program Refusal Points To Introduction Of Course Next Fall

An unofficial source today disclosed the information that there will be no radio program sponsored by the college this semester.

Coming on the heels of the announcement that a course in radio broadcasting might be instituted into the curriculum of the college, the news served as a complete surprise to many persons.

Inexperience Cited

It was rumored that administration officials decided against the program because it was felt that the students of the college were not experienced enough to carry on such a work. However, there is the possibility that at some future date, such may not be the case.

A letter was sent to S. H. Patterson, KSAN official in charge of school programs, thanking him on behalf of the students of the college for his gracious offer to give up a half hour a week to the college, and at the same time regretfully refusing the aforementioned offer.

Switzer Disappointed

Bill Switzer, originator of the ether project, expressed extreme disappointment over the matter. "I feel sure that the program such as we had in mind, was something the radio audiences would be very interested in, because of the human interest angle attached to having the complete broadcast done by students," Switzer said. Upon being questioned, many students were of the same opinion, although all were in accord with the action of the administration.

Nothing was known regarding the opinions of KSAN officials at the sudden turn of affairs. It was believed however, that they would be willing to allot air time to the college, if a radio program is eventually begun.

CLUB CHARTER PETITIONS DUE JANUARY 26; BOARD WARNS REPRESENTATIVES

Deadline for petitions for club charters is Thursday, January 26, at 1 o'clock, announced Robert Blackwell, president of the Club Advisory Board.

Applications for charters should include the following information:

Name and purpose of club.

Tentative program of activities for semester.

Names of this semester's officers.

Name of representative to Board.

All charters approved will be good indefinitely, unless the Board finds that the organization is not fulfilling the requirements of an active club. Upon finding this, the club in question will be suspended. If the suspension lasts for two semesters, the club will be ruled defunct, and the charter revoked, Blackwell warned.

Each club of the college has the right to send a representative to the Club Advisory Board.

The Club Advisory Board was organized not only to rule on the issuance of charters to clubs, but also to help the clubs in every possible way. That will be the basis of all plans made this semester, Blackwell indicated.

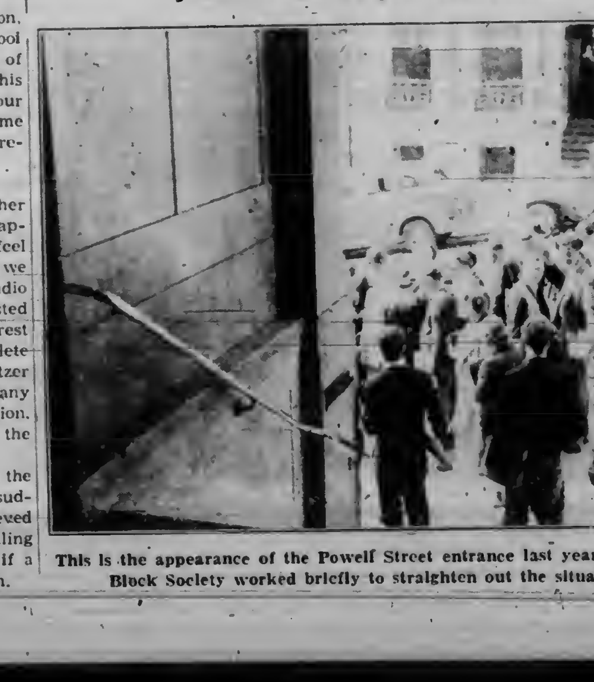
Social Committee Meets, Discusses Plans For Forthcoming Dances

Discussion of plans for the forthcoming dances took place at the meeting of the Social Committee yesterday.

Locations at which the dances are to be held is still uncertain, according to Miriam Dunne, head of the committee.

It is thought that the next dance, to be held on February 21, will be at the Veterans' Memorial Building. "The dances that were held there last semester were very successful," said Miss Dunne, "and we may hold some of this semester's dances there."

It is believed by Miss Dunne that this semester's social doings will be more successful than those of the previous semesters. "The Social Committee has held two meetings already and there are some very promising doings to take place," she said.



College Debaters To Compete At Stockton Tournament February 9

Lloyd D. Luckmann, speech instructor announced Friday that members of the college debating classes will travel to Stockton on February 9, 1939, to participate in the annual College of the Pacific Oratory Tournament.

"Junior Colleges and Universities from all over the state will compete in the tournament which will last over a period of three consecutive days, commencing February 9. If we do as well as we did in the Modesto contest, I'm sure we will emerge with flying colors," said Luckmann.

Among the seasoned orators taking part will be Bob Blackwell, Barbara Smith, William Switzer, John Ellis, Reina Corbit, Floyd Lawrence, John Turbiville and Fred Yoshina.

Junior College Utopia

This is the appearance of the Powell Street entrance last year when the Block Society worked briefly to straighten out the situation.

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 25, 1939 No. 3

JOHN JULIUS........EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Editorial Adviser Joan Nourse — Business Adviser Edward H. Redford

Bill Frantz........Managing Editor
Leonard Gross........News Editor
Ray Berns........Sports Editor
Isadore Maloff........Feature Editor
Carol Pickering........Women's Editor
Dorothy Trood........Club Editor
Sam Galstaun........Staff Photographer
Marion MacKillop........Staff Artist
Allen Martin........Business Manager

REPORTERS

Lucretia Antonicelli, Ethan Bernstein, Jacqueline Davis, Janet Fellows, Lois Gipson, Lonis Goldstone, Leonard Gross, Dave Johnson, Frances Manalo, Jack Schmale, Frank Verducci, John Ward, Ernest Baer, William Canning Gordon Sollman.

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Pedestrian Traffic At Powell Object Of Blockmen's Drive

WALKING down the Powell Street hill are an elderly couple, a man and his wife—ordinary San Franciscans—taxpayers. They cross Bush Street and step slowly because the hill is steep between Bush and Sutter.

They reach the Extension Building—their progress is blocked, for the time is 10:55 a.m., and a solid mass of students stand chattering between classes. What are the elderly couple going to do? Are they going to attempt to pit their feeble strength against the solidly packed crowd of husky young men and women?—Or will they walk out into the street and pass around the crowd?

CITIZENS BLOCKED

Too many cars, and the street is grease-stained and slippery. How about walking through the crowd of jolly young people—they'll try it—can't just stand there—the clock is going. They take a few steps into the crowd, the elderly gentlemen looks around, he discovers a ring of students, two deep, separating him from his wife.

A six-footer, not noticing the small, elderly gentleman beside him, knocks the ashes from his cigarette onto the gentleman's hat brim. Meanwhile the lady is blocked in by a solid wall of muscular youths holding textbooks in their hands. The books are held high enough to bruise the little woman as she tries to reach her husband. If it were not for the beginning of 11 o'clock classes, the elderly San Franciscans would never reach Sutter Street.

Some time later, Paul Pitman or Tom O'Neill is the recipient of a complaint about the blocking of the taxpayers' sidewalk. Why should Mr. Pitman and Mr. O'Neill take the tongue-lashing that rightfully should be directed at the students who unthinkingly block the Extension Entrance?

STUDENTS CAN REMEDY

We, the students of the college can remedy the situation by keeping a fairly large pathway on the sidewalk through which others can pass without excessive physical exertion.

The Block SF men have offered their services to the relief of the congested conditions. Please do not take offense if a burly young man wearing a red sweater taps you on the shoulder and requests that you move to one side—he is only helping you do your duty to the citizens and taxpayers of San Francisco.

To help you cooperate with your fellow students who must reach their classes before the door closes, the Blockmen will also request students to keep the large marble stairway clear.

Please cooperate with the Block SF men, they are not attempting to give you "the big time". They are giving their time to the relief of our traffic problem—the least we students can do is to make it as easy as possible for them to carry out their self-imposed service. —B.F.

March of Dimes Campaign Merits Support of All Students

IT HAS been said that all human beings are innately kind and soft hearted. During the past week this opinion has been verified. We are referring to the splendid way in which San Francisco has responded to the call in the battle being waged against the arch enemy of humanity, infantile paralysis. "The March of Dimes" as it has been so aptly named is marching steadily forward, gaining more support every moment. Side by side, the rich and poor are doing their part in this great conflict, a conflict which will not end, as so many have, in the destruction of human life, but will result in the more humanitarian effort, that of saving human life.

The purpose of this editorial should be self evident. It is an endeavor to bring home to the students of the college their responsibility in this matter. One of the hardest tasks in the world is that of explaining to a number of cynical, wise-cracking, college students the fact that they have a serious responsibility confronting them. Nevertheless, because the cause is so truly great, we will attempt this well-nigh impossible task.

"Do unto others as you would have others do unto you," says the golden rule. Put yourself in the position of a child stricken by infantile paralysis, crippled, broken in health and spirit, handicapped because you cannot live a normal life as others do. Wouldn't you want someone more fortunate than yourself to give you a helping hand? This is rather a sad, disheartening picture yet there are many unfortunate persons in just such a pitiful state.

It isn't much to ask, only ten cents, that's all. Come on Mr. and Miss College Student, do your part. Give some poor, unfortunate kid a break. Help him win his fight, he can't do it alone. Your dime may be the cause of someone, somewhere, someday, rising from his wheelchair with a sense of exaltation to shout, "At last—I can walk." Loosen your heartstrings. LET'S BEAT INFANTILE PARALYSIS. —L.G.

Study Hall An Example Of Excellent Student Cooperation, Faculty Leadership

THE study hall, at one time a sore finger in the Powell Street set-up, is now an example of excellent student cooperation and faculty leadership.

Up to last semester, the basement study quarters were the last place where one would find the daily solitude wanted by most college men and women.

With the appointment, last semester, of a regular full time study hall custodian, would-be studiers were given a new deal.

Instead of the numerous breaks in routine as instructors relieved each other in hourly shifts, there is, at present, a continuous quiet lasting from eight in the morning to two in the afternoon.

Two to four hundred students studying quietly in one room shows real cooperation brought about by constant supervision by the custodian.

For the new student, it may be well to give the only rule which has been in effect in the study hall.

"Do nothing that would disturb the other person."

Block Letter Society Looking For 'Rams' Banner, Lost At Sacramento

THREE hundred spirited Ram rooters went North last October, to support their team in a gridiron encounter with Sacramento Junior College.

Along with the locals went the various accouterments usually found with a rooting section. Chief among these was the large college "Rams" banner.

When the lusty rooters returned, that same night, the banner was missing. The yell-leader had been set upon by a gang and the banner was taken away.

At present, the Block Letter Society of the college is engaged in an attempt to retrieve the lost standard.

Any information or clues should be given the Society so that the banner may be returned, not so much for its actual value but for the tradition attached to it.

AFTER DARK
By John Ward

IF THE San Francisco Golden Gate International Exposition fails to attract the great crowd it anticipates, it is our idea that about fifty per cent of the blame should fall upon the head of the man who arranged the music. The other half of the blame should fall on the propaganda agent of the fair. Both, as we see it have failed exquisitely.

FAIR VS. FAIR

The New York fair people have been the first in the field all the way. They put into motion that for which the 20th century may someday be noted, publicity and propaganda. And they put it into motion with a vengeance. It wasn't a caprice that elected Grover Whelan figure head of the New York affair. He boomed into the public eye and has managed to remain there ever since. All that the San Francisco people can point to is a ridiculous and very undignified Harris Connick.

For New York there will be three opera companies, two imported, five internationally famous symphony orchestras, and a host of other stellar events. San Francisco officials have announced the engagement of some ten or more military bands, a ten week run of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, and an enormous list of Hollywood lights who will give the show "glamour". Unforunately, New York has what is commonly called "the goods" and California is left with the glamour. And who said this was an age interested in glamour?

• • •

Mister Colored Pencils: you had henceforth better look more fully into your tid-bits. Someone gave you a real bum steer. Fortunately (or should it be unfortnnately?) We haven't been in Sherman, Clay since the Xmas rush (or was it the gold rush?)

Presidential Notes
By Frank Verducci

EACH year the college is confronted with the same problem, that of getting enough talent for its rallies and assemblies. We have heard many remarks from students who have claimed that it is becoming boresome to attend the rallies and to see and hear the same talent, time and time again.

This deplorable condition cannot continue to exist. We must fight it. Here in a college which numbers some two thousand, there must be an abundance of people who can sing, dance, or entertain in some way.

TALENT NEEDED

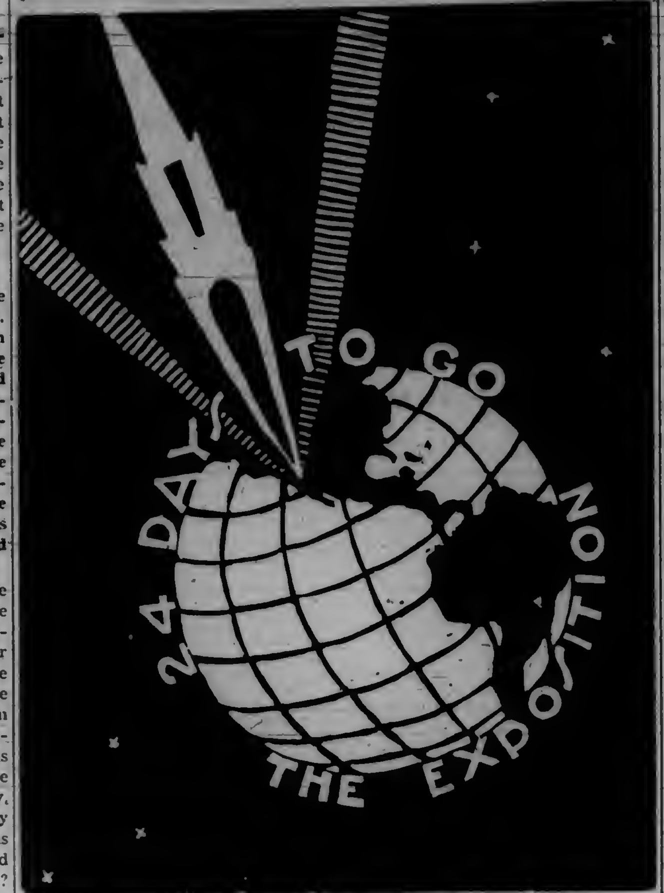
We feel conscious of the need, but it is up to each and everyone of you to bring the talent forth. If you have any talent or know of any one who possesses any of the same, it is your duty to come and tell us about it.

Art Pomares, your yell leader has made a fine start. We think we can frankly say that the frosh-welcoming rally was one of the most successful rallies in the history of the college. However, we must do our part. Let's help Art along by bringing to his attention any talented person whom we may know.

That we may have a variety of entertainment, we have conceived the idea of swapping entertainment with various local high schools. These schools will send their best talent to our rallies in exchange for college talent at their functions.

Before this procedure can be successful, we must have some new talent to begin with. We repeat, if you have talent or know of anyone who has, see Pomares immediately.

Sartorial Modes
By Fashion Fanny



IMAGINATIVE Louise Mulligan has brought out a new and fascinating Sweater Dress. This smart dress, like all of Miss Mulligan's dresses, has a special name—Little Corporal.

With a striped top cut like your pet sweater and a frivolous little jacket shining with striped revers, the Little Corporal is destined to lead a busy life this summer. It comes in rayon crepe — navy with wine and black with royal.

DARK MAGIC

Martha Gale is another designer of smart clothes for young women and she has brought to light an adorable spring dress called DARK MAGIC. There are practically four ways this dress can be worn and it should be put down on your spring list as a must-have. DARK MAGIC comes in black or navy with a detachable white petticoat flounce, collar and cuffs, and the gay Carnival Belt. Or, take off the petticoat and just have the touches of "lingerie" at the throat and cuffs, and instead of the Carnival Belt, add a black kid belt. Minus "lingerie" add those precious pearls and a spring hat, and you're all ready to go supper dancing.

World's Fair
By Marion MacKillop

RAM'S HORN

Gross Scored; Radio Course Desired

Letters to this department are welcome. All contributions must be signed by the writer. If the author desires, his identity will be kept confidential. Refrain from lengthy dissertations; short letters will be given preference. Leave contributions in office at Galileo, or in The Guardsman office, W. J. (opposite room 261, Galileo). Deadline for Wednesday's paper is the preceding Thursday.

• HEIL HITLER!
Editor, The Guardsman:

Before saying anything else, I should like to make it clear that I am by no means pro-Hitler.

I should, however, like to say that Mr. Gross' scathing criticism of Mr. Hitler in the last issue of The Guardsman was not only unfair but also uncalled for in a college paper, which is printed supposedly for the purpose of acquainting the students with college activities.

As readers of the daily papers, students get quite enough of those political editorials, but I have never read one that has been so obviously—merely a personal prejudice.

I would, therefore, like to make a request of the editor to please refrain from letting any more such "ego centric insane" articles from entering our paper.

A Disgruntled Critic

• WANTS CHANGE IN SMOKER
Editor, The Guardsman:

The possession of an Associated Student card entitles one to attend all college functions and participate in activities.

I was present at the AMS Smoker and if that was Exhibit "A" of Associated Students activities, I want a reformation.

I do not begrudge my membership in the Associated Students when it is put to a non-wasteful and enjoyable purpose.

However, a colossal pie-flop is not my idea of a well-planned Associated Student program.

Sincerely yours,
I. Care

• RADIO PRODUCTION COURSE
Editor, The Guardsman:

Why not have a course in radio production? The school was refused permission to broadcast, because station officials wanted student broadcasting to be a part of a course in radio.

The production of radio has unlimited possibilities. To cover a course of this type it would be necessary to combine the three departments of English, Speech, and Journalism. Like news writing, radio production demands good copy. It also demands types of good voices to portray commercials and some business minded person to produce all this work consistently.

Radio production calls for a sense of the drama, also. A course could be designed by the faculty of the three above mentioned departments. Students of English, Speech, and Journalism could contribute to the designing of the course by research work in some phase of radio production.

Research work by students should be accepted for grading in either English, Speech, or Journalism.

Thus may a well balanced course easily be put together for presentation next fall.

Yours truly,
Bill Parsons

Cabbages & Kings
By Blue Pencil Bill

HERE'S a tale for those interested in baseball. It's about Rugger Ardizoia, who recently broke the strikeout record in the Winter Ball League.

ABOUT RUGGER

Rugger is a quiet, studious fellow with curly blond hair. In high school, where we knew him, he was a mild, slow-talking kid who always drew down an "A" in Italian.

During his first year of baseball in high school, he broke a majority of the strikeout records in the A.A.A. He pitched three or four shutouts during that season and his fastball usually scared the batters away from the plate. Except for his baseball ability, Rugger was a normal high school student and never missed the Bank Night at his neighborhood theater.

One Thursday afternoon the baseball coach put the team on a bus and took the players to San Leandro where they had a young pitcher who was just as sensational as Ardizoia. It was a meeting that the rival baseball coaches had looked forward to. However, it was never discovered who was the better pitcher that afternoon, because for eight innings the opposing pitchers mowed down the batsmen in 1-2-3 order. Neither pitcher allowed a hit; both had admirable control, therefore, not one batter received a free trip to first base. The game was finally called on account of darkness. It was a story for Ripley—two opposing pitchers had pitched a no-hit game.

The coach put the boys back on the bus and brought them home to San Francisco. Rugger ate his supper, told his parents about the game, and discovered that the game, combined with the tension of matching the San Leandro boy's pitching prowess, had worn him out. So Rugger went to bed early that night, completely satisfied that he had pitched one of the finest games in his young life. That evening was Bank Night at the neighborhood theater — Rugger's name was called for $500.

Suspicious English Prof: Is this an original composition?
Student: You might find some of the words in the dictionary.

Reading the exchanges this week we came across the following masterpiece, reminding us that midterms are only a few weeks away:

I like an exam
I think they are fun
I never cram
And I won't flunk one
I'm the teacher.

—Harbor Beacon

MISTAKEN IDENTITY

Two of the better known students of the college passed each other in the hall at Galileo. The fellow turned around and greeted the female notable with: "Do you know that you're beautiful, Dot?" "Sure, I know it" was her reply. "Where did you get that idea?" said he, and he walked very rapidly around the corner, leaving the astonished female with a look on her face resembling a stroke of apoplexy.

QUESTIONS WITHOUT ANSWERS

What does it mean when a sign reads "Wet Paint," Doris Schnacke? Anyone in this college by the name of Jack Blake? — Well, Miss Muriel Nolan would like to see you

University of California has added two technicians to its staff preparing its $200,000 scientific display at the Golden Gate International Exposition

Priceless [illegible] jewels will be among the exhibits of Johore, fabulously wealthy little Asiatic country, at the 1939 World's Fair of the West on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay

While Thinking . . .
By Leonard Gross

ALONG with the rest of this community, we have been aware of the "Shine For '39" signs which have been plastered throughout the city for the past year. In company with everyone else, we imagined that something was being done along this line. Suffice to say that we were sadly mistaken.

Although there has been some response to the cry of beautifying the community, it seems that some of the most important places have been totally disregarded and neglected. We are referring especially to that blot upon the name of San Francisco, Laurel Hill cemetery.

APPEARANCES DECEIVING

First appearances are sometimes deceiving. This is certainly the case in regard to the cemetery. At first glance, one would imagine it to be a beautiful and spacious resting place. The entrance is excellently kept, with thick lawns, beautiful trees and flowers, and a picturesque caretakers home set in the background. However, upon venturing further, one finds that the part of the cemetery partially hidden from the eyes of the passers by, and enclosed within a fence is in a state of complete ruin and destruction.

The picture presented to anyone curious enough to investigate is that of a once magnificent and peaceful sanctuary for the dead in the throes of decomposition that only great neglect can bring about. Weeds and brush are growing throughout, completely covering some of the tombs. Many graves have been broken into, and the tombstones are lying face down in the ground. In short, the whole place has taken on such a bleak and desolate air that even the most courageous persons can scarce repress a shudder of disgust and horror upon viewing it.

CITY THAT KNOWS HOW?

We seem to recall that a while back, the citizens of this city passed a bond issue to clean up Laurel Hill cemetery. One is inclined to wonder just what happened to the money that was supposedly set aside for this purpose. San Francisco the beautiful, the city that knows how, is indeed a mockery. It is interesting to imagine the thoughts that will run through the minds of the visitors from all over the world who will flock here to see our city and our fair, when they realize that the "City By the Golden Gate" may know how to build its bridges, but is totally ignorant of how to keep its cemeteries.

PROSPERITY CORNER . . .

IT MIGHT be of interest to some (a very few, no doubt) how this has come to pass. We owe our existence to "The Chaser" (San Francisco State's off-campus magazine). Yours truly was glancing through the publication when he chanced on the following tid-bit:

"To people who do not believe in Darwin's theory of evolution, perhaps the following incident is particularly enlightening.

"It seems a biologist was attempting to train a monkey to play ball, but was having no success whatsoever, so he decided to leave the animal alone with a bat, a ball and a glove and then spy on the little fellow through the keyhole of his laboratory door. Having locked the monk in with his toys, our friend tiptoed back to the door and peered through the keyhole. To his embarassment he found himself staring into a little brown eye."

And there you are.

• • •

CHARACTER OF THE WEEK

In conformity with our sub-title 'a bit of nothing,' we present to you our character of the week. A person about whom a true (?) life story has never been written... Bernard P. Blanchard Barney, as he is affectionately known, came into this world somewhere around the turn of the century in Tjilibocz—if you still don't know where it is, it doesn't matter.

When he was but a scrawling brat of six, he met the first of life's thorns . . . his school-teacher—but that didn't bother Barney—he blossomed like love's red, red rose. Barney, now, is an upstanding young gentleman, chubby, handsome, pretty, and is featured on page 23 of VOGUE, besides being an accomplished swingding. In which last capacity he whacks the drums and toots an occasional trumpet in the college dance band. If you haven't met Barney, you ain't seen nothin' yet.

• • •

WE CHALLENGE YOU . . .

1. What was Hannibal's last name?
2. What is the most westerly point on the American continent?
3. Who wrote Winterset?
4. For what is Joseph Lister noted?
5. What is the dollar equivalent in the Japanese possession of Manchukuo?
6. Name the principal languages upon which Latin was founded.
7. When Marco Polo arrived at Kaipingfu in May, 1275, who was the ruler of China, and to what dynasty did he belong?
8. To what sciences are the following related:
   a. faraday
   b. halogens
   c. synaline
   d. radian
   e. cotyledon
9. How many locations has the San Francisco Junior College?
10. What did Rudolph Valentino die of?

• • •

In closing, may we add a bit of foolosophy:

A philosopher is a man,
Man is an animal,
A beast is an animal,
A beast has no logic.
Jitterbugs have no logic.
(therefore) ALL philosophers are jitterbugs.

• • •

Who will be our 'character' next week? Read The GUARDSMAN for the oddities in the news.

(Quiz Answers—Page 4, Column [illegible])

OPALINSKI LEADS RAMS

Expected to lead the Rams to victory in their first league game against Menlo tonight is Al Opalinski, local stalwart, shown closely guarded by Dave Dilling, one of Modesto's Indiana importations, in the above photo.

Locals to Meet Menlo In First League Game

Marcoux and Company Suffer But One Loss In Pre-Conference Competition; New Life On Peninsula Aggregation

By RAY BERNS

Riding into town on the crest of a victory wave, Menlo Junior College's basketball quintet will engage Coach "Dutch" Conlan's Ram cagers in the opening game of the coast division of the Northern California Junior College conference at Kezar tonight at 8 p.m.

Although the locals will be led into the fray by Al Opalinski, picked as the running mate of "Hank" Luisetti on the all-Northern California team last year, the peninsula squad must be conceded an even chance in tonight's encounter on the basis of its practice season performance.

Win Practice Games

Winning all of its practice games with the exception of an overtime contest with Stanford University's "B" team, Menlo has created an enviable record in overwhelming other opponents.

In previous years, the peninsula outfit has had to face a famine in regard to basketball victories. Now that the drought is over, the victory-hungry Menlo warriors are seeking to avenge past defeats by superior Ram quintets.

Presenting a combination composed of Captain Joe Marcoux, sophomore veteran, at one forward, and Al Hewett, brilliant frosh find, as his running mate at the other forward spot, Jim Needham, 6 ft. 4 in. rebound star, at center, and Tom Lathos and Bruce Howard at the guard positions, the Peninsulans will floor a formidable aggregation averaging six feet in height.

New-Comers Help Squad

Hewett, Needham, and Howard are all new-comers, lending fresh spirit and blood to a formerly inert squad, while Marcoux and Lathos, one-year veterans, are expected to counterbalance the inexperience of the aforementioned trio.

The Menlo offense may be found in the center trio of Marcoux, Needham, and Hewett who have been running opponents into the ground on a fast-break by virtue of superior speed.

At the present writing, the leading scorers of the peninsula team are Marcoux and Needham, and Conlan's lads would do well to keep their eyes on them tonight.

The Rams will open the contest with their familiar starting combination of Willie Blackfield at one forward, and either Jack Wolf, or George Bedrosian at the other forward spot, Opalinski at center, and Hal Fischer and Ed Curcio at guards.

Tom Wilson's junior varsity cagers will meet Mount Blanc Market in the preliminary at 7 p.m.

WOMEN'S SPORTS PARADE
By Carol Pickering

Launched forth in full swing for the spring semester, WAA activities started last Friday with riding, ice skating, folk dancing and badminton. Tennis classes met Saturday morning at the Palace of Fine Arts for the first meeting of the semester. The organization boasts a larger membership this semester and is planning playdays and several sports parties.

Election of managers will be held this week from January 27 to 31 in the first class meeting of all WAA sports. Members of the association are urged to attend the meetings. The elections will be held in the lower lobby at Powell street and in "A" gym at Galileo High School.

The duty of a manager is to attend WAA council meetings and act as spokesman for the women in her sport. A manager's position is not just a title but has lots of duties attached to it. See you at the polls.

• • •

New members in the Women's Athletic Association will be initiated at the semi-annual initiation Luncheon which will be held next Thursday, February 2, in the Faculty Cafe at Galileo High School. The new officers and managers will be introduced to the members, and speakers will expound on the advantages of WAA activity in the junior college. Serving on luncheon committees are: general chairman, Kay Lloyd; arrangements, Helen Godman; re-arrangements, Mary Miller; decoration, Marjorie Radke; hostess and invitation committee, Lucile Jacke.

Judging from past successful luncheons, we are looking forward to the fun fest next week.

• • •

Rain or shine, college tennis enthusiasts will play their game Saturday mornings at the Palace of Fine Arts. Women's and men's singles and mixed doubles tournaments will be played off during the semester. At present Bertha Keller, tennis coach, is running off short tournaments to get the students acquainted.

"This semester's enrollment," she said, "has produced the best material I have seen in three years." The first month is spent in preparing for the big tournament and for playdays. Harold Mitchell and Tillie Huddleson were the winners of The Guardsman mixed doubles trophy last semester. The first tournament this year starts Wednesday, February 1.

• • •

Numbered among the newer and more interesting sports this semester is life saving, offered in the spring only in place of the fall diving course. The semester's work is a preparation for the Senior Red Cross Life Saving test given in May. The test is so difficult that few students are able to pass it.

"We are working to build up endurance, strengthen strokes, and modify various standard strokes to suit life saving techniques," Vera Spencer, swimming coach said. "The badges are given to superior swimmers only."

College women may take beginners, intermediate, and advanced swimming courses absolutely free of charge at the YWCA [illegible] Street. Suits, towels, dressing rooms, and hair dryers are furnished by the YWCA.

Ram Baseball Stock Jumps To New High With Addition Of Classy Late Registrants

With the addition of Bill Difu, fancy fielding, fine hitting outfielder, and "Lefty" Salmon, a gem of a defensive first baseman, Ram baseball stock jumped a few points and is now near the classy mark.

Difu and Salmon, both late registrants, did not turn out until the end of the week. The two have been playing winter league ball and are in good condition as was evidenced by their first day performances.

Infield Uncertain

At this writing, even Coach Gaddy does not know which infield combination to call 'regular'. Frank Nilan has been working out around third base, together with "Mickey" McMahon and Frank Rahmer. Kent Baird, veteran shortstop, has been moved over to second base where he has been playing consistently brilliant ball. The move is not permanent, however, as Baird has been working at short along with both Rahmer and McMahon.

Molich, Rufus, Burns and Salmon, along with Friedkin have been tried at the initial sack. Salmon appears to have the fielding edge.

Versatile Catchers

Taking their turns behind the bat are Mustanich, Galbraith, and Christianson rated in that order. Galbraith and Christianson, somewhat versatile, have also been chasing fly balls with the thought in mind, that if not back-stopping, perhaps they may be able to take a turn 'out in the sticks'.

Leahy and Openshaw are the only two pitchers who have as yet shown anything to warrant their being placed in the category of possibilities. Ed Curcio, veteran of last season's campaign, will come into the fold immediately at the close of the basketball season.

Real Test Due

Tomorrow or Friday, the Rams will get their first real test when they cross bats with the Funston All-Stars, a group of semi-pro and professional ball players who are, themselves, getting into shape for the summer. Listed on the roster of the Funston All-Stars are such stalwart performers as "Beans" Marionetti, all-city shortstop at Galileo High for two years, at present the property of the Chicago Cubs and Larry Webber, former St. Mary's College star. Incidentally, Webber was an all-city shortstop at Galileo High before Marionetti.

Atteo Lazzaretti, first baseman, a promising bush performer, and Bob Pepper, a red hot third baseman, as his name indicates, sent out here from Newark by Frankie Hawkins, former Seal and Oakland third baseman, round out the infield.

"Little" Marino and "Big" Michelucci will form the starting battery. Game time, 2:30.

Yogi Dispenses With All Prejudices Relegating Varsity To Prep Status

Last week, it was the great privilege, pleasure, and all the rest of it, to prove that the Ram varsity are the national champions.

To show we're not prejudiced, your eminent soothsayer will now prove that Conlan's lad are equal to a high-school team (if the locals get hot).

Here's how it's done:

(1) The Rams lost to the Olympic Club 45's, 31 to 24.

(2) The Olympic 45's defeated the junior varsity, 51 to 20.

(3) That makes the varsity 24 points better than the junior varsity.

(4) Galileo High 30's defeated the junior varsity by 25 points, 39 to 14, and there you have it.

Thus, without further ado, we relegate the local basketeers to the high-school brackets.

The metropolitan tabloids have been smeared the past few weeks with stories on Lowell High having been dropped from the basketball schedules of a majority of the city schools.

It is rumored that the Indians operate a soda fountain, and as a result, are out in the cold and looking for games.

Neff has been grabbing the junior high talent for Lowell with his promises of rich reward, while here, our poor coach has to struggle along with all-city material recruited from other high schools (with the exception of Willie Blackfield—he slipped in when the authorities weren't looking).

Having presented all angles of the situation, we contend that a Ram-Lowell encounter would be a "natural" and should be played without further delay.

Many schools in California have again taken up the game of Rugby, since American football has had the "rough" edges taken off and the public has had to turn to the wrestling matches for its quota of rough-housing, however faked. With the renewal of interest in Rugby the spectator may again get the thrill of some first-class plain and fancy bone-bending and shin-kicking exhibitions.

SAVE THE CREW!

San Francisco Junior College has a chance to row in the Golden Gate International Exposition—that is, if the locals have a crew.

Because of the change in the coaching schedule, the Rams are minus a crew this year. The cost of a crew would be very small as the college is well equipped with suits, oars, lockers and a boat.

One item which would be of no cost to the Rams, would be interest in the sport. Such men as Kenny Pasqualetti, Frank Verducci, Elmer Hubacher, Jim Molich, Bob Cragle and Malcolm Jacobs have already signed a petition to continue this sport.

A meeting will be held Friday, January 27, at the north end of the Galileo High School court yard at 2:30 p.m. for all men who are interested in continuing with the crew.

Junior Varsity Scores Win Over Mission High Bears In Kezar Casaba Thriller

The college junior varsity cagers again demonstrated their superiority over local high school teams by chalking up a win over Mission High last week at Kezar 33 to 31.

The Powell Street quintet established an early lead which they were able to protect against a frantic Mission squad.

The score at the intermission was 16 to 10 in favor of the Rams. This lead was maintained until the final five minutes, at which time the Bears started to pepper the basket from all angles. The Mission rally fell two points short of tying the score as the final gun sounded with the local five freezing the ball in a desperate attempt to save their slim lead.

There was no individual star for the college hoopsters with the scoring being evenly divided.

The next game for the college cagers is on tap for tonight as they tangle with the Mount Blanc Market team as a preliminary to the varsity encounters at Kezar. The first game starts at 7 p.m.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA JUNIOR COLLEGE CONFERENCE BASKETBALL SCHEDULE — 1939

Date	Place	Officials
Wednesday, January 25	Menlo at San Francisco	Johnson-Dierke
Friday, January 27	San Francisco at Menlo	Johnson
Wednesday, February 1	San Francisco at Santa Rosa	Underhill-Maloney
Friday, February 3	Santa Rosa at San Francisco	Underhill-Batmale
Wednesday, February 8	Marin at San Francisco	Cameron-Kleckner
Friday, February 10	San Francisco at Marin	Cameron
Wednesday, February 15	Salinas at San Francisco	Kleckner-Cameron
Friday, February 17	San Francisco at Salinas	Kintana
Wednesday, February 22	San Mateo at San Francisco	Kleckner-Dierke
Friday, February 24	San Francisco at San Mateo	Kleckner-Dierke

GUARDSMAN SPORTS

Ram Hoop Artists Split Home-Home Series With Rivals

Formation of a mutual hospitality society between Coach "Dutch" Conlan's Ram basketballers and Jack Gardner's Modesto cagers would seem to be in order.

Gardner's Pirates invaded Kezar Pavilion last Wednesday night and were graciously presented with a 45 to 39 victory. Not wishing to appear bad hosts, Modesto obligingly retaliated by handing the locals a 26 to 25 win on the Pirate court in the second of the two-game series on Saturday evening.

The first contest at Kezar was unique in that Modesto garnered ten points in twelve minutes, while the Rams failed to score a single digit (that's carrying this hospitality idea a bit too far).

Led by a sandy-haired Indiana lad, Forest Anderson, at center, the Modestans were in complete control throughout the contest, holding a 35 to 20 lead at one period in the second half.

In the final minutes of the game, Mr. Gardner, realizing he had taken unfair advantage of his hosts, yanked his regulars, allowing the Rams to make the score respectable.

Anderson topped the individual scorers with 20 points, while Al Opalinski and Hal Fischer of the locals tallied 15 and 12 digits, respectively.

In the second game at Modesto, the Pirates pranced onto the hardwood court, and, in the proper Emily Post fashion, left the floor at half time on the short end of a 14 to 8 count.

It is evident that Mr. Gardner was seriously considering the well-known double cross in the second half, however, for the Modestans shot into a one-point lead with but a few minutes to play, and were it not for the timely intervention of Hal "Dick Merriwell" Fischer who contributed a bucket to the Ram cause, the locals would have gone down to defeat, and, horror of horrors, Gardner would have been dropped from the social register.

Fischer, in addition to being high-scorer for the Rams with nine points, played a bang-up defensive game.

Wagner Conquers Canning In Championship Net Play At Palace Of Fine Arts

Harold Wagner, local junior Davis cupper, successfully defended his college tennis championship last week by defeating Bill Canning, newcomer from Alameda, 6-4, 6-3 at the Palace of Fine Arts courts.

In the semi-final matches, Wagner outclassed Bob Kun, 6-3, 8-6, while Canning took the measure of Ray Berns, varsity letterman, 6-4, 6-4.

By winning the title for the second straight year, Wagner retains his position as the No. 1 netman of the college. Members of the squad that will support Wagner this year are Canning, Berns, Kun, Madamba, Kline, and Christensen.

Trophies will be presented to the winner and runner-up by Coach Tom Wilson at the conclusion of the doubles tournament, which will start immediately on the Palace courts.

A complete schedule of matches has not been arranged as yet, but Wilson has already accepted matches with the Stanford and California frosh teams. Prospects for a successful season are very high as this year's squad is being lauded as the greatest in the history of the college.

Aquatic Team Strengthened By Veterans, New Talent

Starting the semester with a brighter outlook than in many a year the college's aquatic team has already begun to practice.

Returning veterans Marcus Hoffman, Norwood Forte, Ian Stoddart, Ray Berns, Horace Hosmer, Bob Cohen, Don Du Bain, Mitchell Hoffman and Gene Carriker are expected to cop more than their share of the honors. New talent has come from high schools which is expected to better the chances of the Rams.

Several meets have already been scheduled for the semester, and others tentatively planned.

Regional fiestas in all the eleven Western States throughout 1939, with the $50,000,000 California World's Fair as a climax, are expected to establish an all time record for travel in the West during [illegible]

RAM chops
By JACK SCHMALE
Schmale Presents Plug For Continuance Of Crew; Ram Basketeers Non-Victorious

Now that Jack Gaddy, popular member of the Ram coaching staff, has assumed the chores of head baseball coach hereabouts for the next few mouths, we wonder what is to become of the crew, hand-blistering pastime which in previous years has earned Gaddy the affable title of Admiral.

Now if we were the only possessor of a student body card in this institution getting sentimental over the oar situation, perhaps the question would never cause much worriment. However, since crew has provided a source of entry into the Block SF Society for many husky souls during the past few years, since our crewmen have prospered during the Gaddy regime in interscholastic competition, and since several lettermen from last year's boat are enrolled currently, it is reasonable to believe that others must be allowing the problem considerable of their time.

"PAPA" LENHART TRIES TO SAVE CREW

Bill Lenhart for one, wonders. Bill Lenhart is a sort of "papa" of college and high school oar dipping hereabouts, although it is doubtful whether he's yet reached 28 years of age. The muscular Lenhart may be successful in in saving the S.S. Ram from a Davy Jones' Locker of oblivion and history, but he needs co-operation.

All crew vets, therefore, or those who might aspire toward a bit of oar pulling on the Bay this spring, might do well to rally for the cause, lest their sport go on the rocks. Yacht Harbor is comparatively an eyelash length away from the Galileo citadel of the college, and 1939, with the Exposition, will be the most important year the sport of crew has ever experienced here, with regattas off Treasure Island very often. SOS—Save the crew!

ATHLETIC PRESTIGE DESCENDING?

Is the athletic prestige of the college descending to a new low? Many local citizens are asking that question lately, and it's not terribly unreasonable. The performance of the football squad last semester was not exactly inspiring, and now the bug seems to have bitten the present Ram cage crop.

The hoop aggregation's only claim toward consistency thus far has been its ability to finish second-best on the score board. With an all-star roster returning practically intact from a successful venture in the 1938 conference race, our casabans have produced little in the victory department. If the situation remains as such much longer, how can student body support be expected?

It is not the policy of The Guardsman or of this writer to "rib" the basketball team, but the facts must be faced. The student body is asked to support the team. How about the team doing its part and supporting the student body with an occasional San Francisco win?

TRACK MATERIAL IMPROVING

Russell Sweet, smiling Ram mentor, will put the college on a new athletic map this spring. That's a prediction. Russ has some pretty fair track and field material working out at Kezar in preparation for the first real track schedule ever booked in the college's cinder history.

Conference dual engagements are billed, in addition to the Fresno Relays, P.A.A. and National Junior College Championships, the latter event, slated in Sacramento May 27. Bob McGuire, probably the greatest sprinter ever developed in the local A.A.A. prep league, heads the list and should be a cinch ten points in all meets. Bob can also broad jump over 21 feet, although Ida is also a returning veteran in that department. More about track in a week or so.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT: San Francisco Junior College vs. Menlo. Kezar Pavilion, 8 o'clock. Come on, let's go!

RAMblings
By RAY BERNS
Pacific Publicity Director Lauds Rippon; Famous 'Yogi' Challenged By Columnist

In a special release to The Guardsman, the College of Pacific publicity department sent a folder singing the praises of Paul Rippon, former local cager, now starring at Pacific.

It seems that "Rip," as he is affectionately known, is the Pacific team. We quote from the release.

"Rip" is playing his senior year at Pacific, having come here last year from San Francisco Junior College. He is a perfectly ambidexterous dribbler, a fine basket-shooter, and is extremely fast in anything he does. This year's team is almost wholly dependent on "Rip's" ability to hold things together with his calmness under fire and to direct the offense with his accurate passing and shooting."

LOCALS MAKE GOOD

The mention of Rippon's success leads us to list a few of the local casaba artists who have made good.

Ralph Hillsman, captain of the college's first basketball squad in 1935 which, incidentally, won the conference championship transferred to California and was a standout guard for the Bears in the '36 and '37 seasons.

Ernie Loustalot, sharp-shooting forward, and Monty Mordecai, towering center, are now basketeering for the sensational San Francisco State quintet, while "Chubby" Kotta is a first string forward at San Jose State. All three were members of the 1937 Ram quintet together with Rippon.

Lone delegate of last year's outfit to the college ranks is Treacy Slattery, peppery forward, now wearing a San Jose State uniform.

"Dutch" Conlan's varsity basketballers seem to have developed a habit of getting off to a bad start and then finishing with a rush.

FANS DEMAND ENCORE

The local cagers were able to score but 13 points in the first 30 minutes of the Y.M.I. contest. In the last ten minutes, however, the Rams rang up 22 digits while holding the Institute to ten. With the fans in the stands demanding an encore, the varsity basketeers willingly obliged by being held scoreless the first ten minutes of the first Modesto encounter, and then coming back to score 21 points in the last ten minutes. Needless to say, the rally in both games fell short.

Notwithstanding the fact that the continuance of crew is being "plugged" in other columns on this page, we are going to put in our two-bits worth and maintain that the rowing sport should be maintained in this institution. Reasons will be found elsewhere!

Last week, a mysterious being by the cognomen of "Yogi" Foo proved that the Ram varsity basketball team is the runner-up for the national championship. In that case, the Ram-San Francisco State engagement in the neighborhood of February 26 will be for the national crown. Not to be outdone by the "Yogi," we are going to prove that State is the national champion.

STATE BEST IN NATION

State beat the Olympic Club by three points; the Club beat St. Mary's by six points; St. Mary's beat Stanford by four points; Stanford defeated the University of Southern California by three points, all of which makes State 16 points better than U.S.C. Long Island University only beat U.S.C. by 15 points, which makes State one point better than Long Island U., recognized as the best in the nation.

Minor chords: One minute gone, one minute to go! With those words still ringing in our ears, we are reminded by the community's billboards that the Roller Derby is again coming to town. We hear that the entire Ram basketball squad was weaned on ice-cream cones and candy bars. Due to a drastic curtailment in the budget, and because of the fact that the lads have not been winning of late, the youngsters have had to take a reduction and are now forced to be content with lollypops and bubble gum.

Prediction: The locals over Menlo tonight by ten points. Don't tell anyone [illegible] you.

Students To Attend Fair On Children's Script; Tsk, Tsk !

Without malice aforethought, the Director of the Golden Gate Exposition Company, almost embarrassed Paul M. Pitman, assistant to President Cloud.

Pitman was the recipient of 75 scrip books of children's admissions to the Exposition, with the directions to place them on sale to the general student body.

According to the Exposition Company's advertisements, junior tickets, selling twelve admissions for $2.50, are on sale only to elementary, junior, and senior high schools.

"What!" thought Pitman, "Is someone insinuating that San Francisco Junior College is a—there must be some mistake! I remember clearly that the children's tickets are on sale only to students under eighteen years of age. Doesn't the Exposition realize that this institution is a college and that the students in it are men and women—not boys and girls?"

Pitman telephoned the Exposition headquarters, contacted the Director, and put the problem up to him. The situation was straightened out when the Director of the Exposition replied, "Confidentially, our gatekeepers will be too busy to make any exhaustive inquiry into the ages of persons presenting junior tickets."

Therefore it is all right for the students of the college to purchase the junior scrip books at the bank at Galileo. Pitman's conclusion was, "The conversation with the Director of the Exposition Company, together with the fact that the Exposition Company has knowingly placed tickets on sale to the college students through our own college bank, convinces me that any student may safely purchase a book for his own use with the exception of students who are unmistakably of voting age."

Hotel Division Given Lecture On Photo Engraving

During the past week Roy Pohlmann addressed the class in hotel advertising on the procedure of photo engraving. Next week the class is to witness cuts at the offices of Stacey-Pohlmann Co.

The class in food preparation under the direction of Ernst Hjorth has an enrollment of 23 which is a capacity crowd for this class. Nevertheless, things are running along smoothly and Hjorth reports that the beginning students are doing very well. Mitchell Hoffman is now the student chef and sous-chef is Charles Easter.

Students of the hotel and restaurant Division are to be represented at the meeting of the Hotel, Restaurant, and Purveyor's Association which is to be held today at the Palace Hotel at 12:15 p.m. to hear a discussion of some legislature that is taking place at Sacramento that will affect the hotel and restaurant business.

Guests of the Hotel Division during the past week were as follows: Edward K. Williams, head of the Williams Accountants of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Will Dewey who are connected with Camp Curry of Yosemite and are the parents of a student of the college, and Dr. Bergestresser who is a representative of the general educational board and an authority on problems of child guidance.

Fresno State Offers Scholarships For Junior College Graduates

Fresno State College is offering for the spring term several tuition scholarships for junior college graduates, it was disclosed last week, in a letter received by the college.

These scholarships are awarded on a competitive basis, consideration being given to scholastic attainment, academic need, character, and promise. It is the intent through these scholarships, to single out and enable students of ability and sincere purpose, but of limited means, to secure a college education.

There will be one or two nominations for these tuitions selected by the faculty of the college. All students interested are asked to see Alice Cooper, Alpha Gamma Sigma adviser.

AWS Officers Meet In 211 This Afternoon

To discuss plans for future social events, there will be a meeting of all Associated Women Students' officers, today at 2 o'clock in Room 211, according to Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser.

Among the many former AWS successes was a tea dansant held last semester at the Century Club.

Future similar affairs will be planned this semester by Dorothy Trood, recently elected AWS president, and her assisting officers, Janet Ball, vice-president, and Margaret Meader, secretary.

BUDGET PASSED

(Continued from page 1)

Rifle Team	187.00
Swimming	50.00
Golf	50.00
Rally Committee	100.00
Publicity	225.00
Debate	102.00
Forum	45.00
Bowling	50.00
Total Student Body	$8,971.47
Total	$11,796.47

Twenty million dollars worth of free food and merchandise will be given away at the 1939 World's Fair of the West on Treasure Island.

Students Urged To Use College Library For Mid-Term Preparation

Sad as it may be, that dreaful orgy, the mid-term exam is about to descend upon us once more. The result may be glorious or catastrophical.

That the former may be the outcome, the college supplies the students with a library, facilities of which are a potent force in every student's scholastic record. Here the library furnishes an outstanding source of material, fully covering any of the divers courses this college has to offer.

Supply and demand, that age-old law of economics, can very well be applied to the library—the more students who use this "fountain of knowledge" the more material will they be furnished.

The locations of the library are in the basement of the Extension Building upstairs in the Students Book Store, and the seventh floor of the P. G. and E. Building on Sutter Street. It is the desire of Francis J. Colligan, head of the library staff, and his subordinates to serve and aid every one of the students during this semester.

NYA Employees Warned On Timeslip Procedure

All students employed by the National Youth Administration are warned to be sure to have their time sheets signed by their superviser each week, announced Edward H. Redford, director of NYA.

The time slips should be completely filled out and signed each week so that there is no doubt as to the number of hours work done.

Students who desire further information in regard to this should see Redford in Room 726 of the P. G. and E. building.

Two New Instructors Added To College Faculty

Two new instructors were added to the faculty this semester. They are Richard Kershner of the Mathematics department and Teall Messer, of the business and art departments.

Messer studied and worked in Europe for a number of years. Kershner is from the University of California. Messer is a member of several prominent art organizations, and once taught at Cornish School in Seattle, Washington.

RALLY COMMITTEE

(Continued from page 2)

next Tuesday must report to them for a short time only and may then proceed to the rally.

Pomares Vows Success

Commenting on the rally Pomares said, "The Guardsman is going to press at a time when all the talent for the rally has not been officially secured. Whichever acts are finally adopted, however, will be well chosen ones and well worth the time of all students."

Pomares and his two assistants have recently been presented with new sweaters. A new insignia of a ram jumping over a megaphone has been adopted.

(Continued from page 2)

ANSWERS TO "WE CHALLENGE YOU"

1. Barca; 2. Wales, Alaska; 3. Maxwell Anderson; 4. antiseptic surgery; 5. yuan (pron. yen); 6. (a) Greek, (b) Oscan, (c) Etruscan; 7. Kublai Khan, Sung dynasty; 8. (a) Physics (b) Chemistry (c) Geology (d) Mathematics (e) Botany; 9. twenty-three 10. peritonitis.

Medical Exams Given Daily By Dr. Friedlander

Medical examinations, for entering students and those students intending to participate in varsity athletics, are being held daily in Room 201 at Galileo. Dr. Dufficy Freidlander is the examining physician. His hours are from 2:30 to 5 o'clock each afternoon, for the duration of the physical checkup period which terminates at the end of the present month.

Dr. Freidlander is assisted by Drs. John Ferchstand and Leo P. Lyman, who are on duty daily in the P.G.&E. Building from 9 in the morning until 2 in the afternoon. The examinations are to be taken in Room 726.

According to Dr. Freidlander, approximately 500 students have been examined thus far. "I personally, have examined more than 200 students, and I'm fairly certain that between them, Drs. Ferchtand and Lyman have accounted for another 300. My hours and the room assigned to me, have made it possible for more students to get in touch with me. This accounts for the difference in the number of students examined by me and my two colleagues," stated Dr. Friedlander.

"Besides examinations for the new students, all candidates for varsity athletics must report for a check-up, continued Friedlander. "We have their records on file and merely wish to see if they have suffered any physical defects since the time they were previously examined," he concluded.

Students who have not as yet reported for their examinations should contact the Registrar's Office and inquire as to the time of their appointment.

Examination of women students, under Dr. Alice Potter and two other prominent women doctors, has been completed.

Cumming, Art Student Elected To Head Forum Magazine; To Select Staff

John Cumming, art student has been selected as the editor of the forthcoming annual literary publication of the Forum Club, announced Frederick G. Bracher, club adviser, last week.

The rest of the staff for the magazine will be selected by Cumming later in the week.

It is requested that all students desirous of contributing to the annual, contact Cumming or Bracher immediately. Material of all kinds is needed, and anyone who wishes may submit an article. The deadline for all copy will be sometime in March, although the exact date has not yet been decided upon. There are approximately 300 copies of the magazine printed, which are sold for 15 cents each.

At a meeting of the Forum Club, held last week, Dorothy Pilgrim was elected secretary-treasurer, and John Ward, chairman.

Mrs. Milliken Authors Industrial Articles

Mozzelle Milliken, a member of the faculty of the Hotel and Restaurant Division, is the author of two articles which appeared recently in the Industrial Education News Notes, the publication of the State Department of Industrial and Trade Education under the direction of J. C. Beswick. One article is entitled Horticulture: The Science and Practice of Gardening and the other concerns the Hotel and Restaurant Division of the college.

Gigantic Picnic Orgy Planned By Low Freshmen

Promising big things under his new regime, Lee Scarlet, president of the High Freshman class, announced that he contemplates holding a huge picnic in Marin County for the members of the High Freshman class some time during the next two months. Scarlett will welcome any suggestions as to the time or place of the picnic.

"Officers of the High Freshman class intend to carry on a regime of active participation in all college functions, as well as starting a new period of activity for the high freshman class," announced Scarlett. "At our next meeting we shall further our plans for the picnic."

Dan Baker, president of the Low Sophomore class, announced that he and the other class officers plan a barn dance for the entire college.

"We are thinking of holding a barn dance or another type of informal dance, but as yet we have not secured a place in which to stage it. We do not intend using the ballrooms of any major hotel and would much rather prefer some less publicized, yet just as convenient place for the dance. I will appreciate any suggestions for the dance and anyone knowing of a good place to stage it should see me immediately."

Frank Lawrence, president of the High Sophomores intends choosing the place in which to hold the Sophomore Formal at the next meeting of the class to be held soon.

The Low Freshman class also intends to hold its first meeting soon and will discuss its plans at the gathering.

HEA To Elect Officers Today; Women Students Asked To Demonstration

As a result of misinformation, the Home Economics Association was forced to postpone its meeting for the election of the coming semester's officers until today, January 25 at 2:15 in Room 317 at Galileo High School.

At the same time there will be a discussion as to whether or not members will attend the San Carlos Opera as has been done in the past. All Home Economics students are urged to be prompt in arriving as time is limited.

Claire Cuneo, HEA adviser, said, "Only regularly enrolled members of the Association will be allowed to vote or have a part in the election of officers.

YOUR MURAL ROOM
REPRESENTATIVES ARE HARRY PERKINS
BAyview 4587
AL GROSS
WAlnut 4587

Make reservations through them for dinner or supper dancing parties in the Mural Room with HERBIE
KAY
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
HOTEL
ST. FRANCIS

NEED A TYPEWRITER? . . .

Rent REMINGTON NOISELESS TYPEWRITERS at same cost as noisy machines . . . All carriage widths, type styles, keyboards . . . Also standards, portables . . . Rental from manufacturer guarantees QUALITY.

Remington Typewriter Division
Remington Rand, Inc.
509 Market Street Phone: DOuglas 8600

Advisory Board Meets Tomorrow; Charters Due

● Club Advisory Board will meet tomorrow in Room 104 at 1 p.m. in the Powell Street Building, to receive charters of clubs that have not been turned in to the Board.

● Pi Mu Gamma . . . the next meeting of the Pi Mu Gamma, college premedical club, will be held at Homewood Terrace, Wednesday evening, February 1. Homewood Terrace is located on Ocean Avenue, between Ashton and Faxon Avenues.

Speaker for the evening will be Dr. Leon O. Parker, orthopedic surgeon. Pi Mu Gamma is open to any student whose major is medical, dental, nursing, pharmacy, mortician or any science major related to these.

● Making a determined drive for an increased membership, the Tarbuth Society last week launched an extensive program for the purpose, according to Daniel Rosenblat, club president.

The group has several cultural and social activities planned for the semester. At a meeting held last week, David Breman was elected vice-president, to fill the post vacated by Jacqueline Kramer, former officer, who is now attending the University of California.

The Tarbuth Society is open to any student of the college, and although it deals mostly with Jewish subjects and problems, anyone interested is invited to join.

● Omicron Phi Pi . . . members of the executive board of the Omicron Phi Pi have decided that the general theme for the semester's discussions will be World Economic Conditions and Their Affects on Government.

Present eligible members include Eleanor Bradford, Fred Hoshiyuma, Rose-Mary Jelenik, and Helen Du-Bois.

Plans are being made by Russell Pritchard, president, to have as the next guest speaker, Dr. Herbert E. Bolton, Professor of History at the University of California. Dr. Bolton, who is expected to return from South America, shortly, will talk on "The Lima Conference and Its Economic Aspects.

CLUB SCHEDULE

CLUB	MEETING	PLACE
Club Advisory Board	Thursday, 1 p.m.	Room 104
Pi Mu Gamma	Wednesday evening, February 1	Homewood Terrace, Ashton & Faxon Avenue
Music Club	Tuesday evening, January 31	1320 Lombard Street
Astronomy	Monday evenings	Galileo High School, Room 552
Army and Navy	Thursday, February 2	Business Meeting
Army and Navy	Friday, February 10	Club Dinner and Initiation of New Members
Hotel and Restaurant Society	February 3	First Dinner

● A call to all music lovers, great or small, was issued by members of the Music Club in its first meeting of the semester last Thursday. Plans are under way to organize an alumnae group of the club, with Kay Warner as active organizer.

Newly elected officials of the group are Gene Boomer, president; Tina Ariana, vice-president; Viola Gibson, secretary, and Norma Kelley, treasurer.

The Music Club's next meeting is scheduled on Tuesday evening, January 31. The group will meet at the home of Flossita Badger, advisor, 1320 Lombard Street.

● Japanese Student's Club . . . the officers for the semester are Fred Hoshiyama, president; Kiyoshi Kimoto, men's vice-president; Mariko Matsumoto, women's vice-president; Alice Yonekura, secretary; Shoji Suzuki, treasurer, and Chiaki Kojimoto, publicity chairman. Gertrude Bolton is the club adviser.

● Newly elected officers of the Pick and Hammer are president, Jack Henshaw; vice-president, Gaylord Greenly; secretary, Ray Slattery.

● Chinese Club . . . plans, among other things, to visit the Fair grounds in the near future.

● Astronomy Club . . . present officers are Robert Stetter, president; Mary J. Moore, vice-president; Paula Rossi, secretary-treasurer.

Meetings are held on Monday evening between 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m., at Galileo High School, in Room 552, opposite the observatory.

Anybody interested in Astronomy is welcome to attend.

● Alpha Delta Epsilon . . . all students having an art laboratory are automatically members of the college art club.

The officers of the spring semester are president, Shirley McCormick; vice-presidents, August Day and Hazel Bray; secretary, Jeanne Marchant; corresponding secretary, Robert Kovacic; treasurer, James Crocker.

There are no regularly scheduled meetings for the semester.

● Dorothy Pilgrim, president of the Peace Society, announced the first meeting of the society will be held on Friday, January 27, at the home of Carol Pickering, 2143-16th Avenue. The meeting will convene at 8 p.m.

Robert Porter and Harry Becker will be the student speakers, and their subject is the Good Neighbor Policy.

● Mel Peterson, president of the Block Society has named the different chairmen who will assist him this year. Floyd Lawrence has been chosen as chairman of the Block dance which is to be held April 14.

Peterson also announced the different committees which are to help him during the semester are the entertainment committee headed by John Verducci, Ray Berns was appointed as chief of the initiation committee, and Malcolm Jacobs was chosen as the representative to the Athletic Council.

● Hotel and Restaurant Society . . officers for this semester are Carl Rutledge, president; Lee Scarlett, vice-president; Bill Chittick, secretary; Waldo McDermott, treasurer and Don Sands, historian.

● Next meeting of the Forum Club will be held February 3. The topic for discussion will be The Influence of Swing on the Present Generation. John Cumming and John Ward will be the speakers.

● Chess Club . . . recently entered the Northern California Chess League, announced Bill Switzer, president of the group. The first match will be held on February 11, the winning team receiving a huge trophy cup.

ROOS SPORTS SHOP

Start the New Year right in
CAVALRY TWILL SLACKS
$8.50

Charge of the Light Brigade! Here are the newest slacks: well tailored of diagonal weave cavalry twill . . . the same sturdy, long-wearing type of fabric you find in army officers' breeches! In three distinctive new colors:
FOREST GREEN
BROWN ZINC GREY

COVERT CLOTH SLACKS $5.95

Roos Bros
MARKET AT STOCKTON

$1 Round Trip To Santa Rosa Game On Bus Tonite

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

The Guardsman

SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Razors Rusting! Scores Of Students Enter Whiskerino

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1939 No. 4

Athletic Council To Consider Rifle-Pistol Recognition

Minor Block Awards Asked For By Group; Outcome Doubtful

The Men's Athletic Council will meet this week to accept or reject the proposal of the Rifle and Pistol Club that the activities of the college rifle team be classed as a minor sport.

If the plan, which has been in debate for some time, passes the rifleers of the college will be eligible to receive minor block awards.

Captain Fred MacFarland, rifle team coach, and Bill Gibson, president of the Rifle and Pistol Club, will attend the meeting and present arguments in favor of the scheme.

At Other Colleges

At the present time, both California and Stanford have included marksmanship in their constitutions as a minor sport.

These universities are exceptions, however, the majority of the major institutions in the country following the same system as the army and other military units, that of giving medals, stripes and the like to marksmen.

The question as to whether or not the college rifleers should be given a minor sports award brings to light another query which has been argued pro and con by eminent athletic authorities of the nation, "should there be a differentiation between major and minor sports."

Major and Minor Sports

Men out for the minor sports in this college which include junior varsity basketball, swimming, and water polo, devote as much time and energy to the sport they are participating in as do those out for varsity teams. Such being the case, should one receive less recognition because he competes in a so-called minor sport?

Whether or not the proposal of the Rifle and Pistol Club is accepted, the club has, nevertheless, unknowingly, raised the pertinent question discussed in the above paragraphs. Said question will not be settled until the college has acquired an authority on the situation.

AWS Officers Begin Plans For Century Club Tea On March 9

Associated Women Students' officers offer as a next attraction, a tea to take place March 9 from 3 to 5 o'clock at the Century Club, according to Dorothy Trood, AWS president.

"Plans are of course incomplete at this early date, but we promise refreshments, good entertainment, and opportunity for acquaintance," declared Miss Trood.

In preparation for the entertainment, a prominent department store has been asked to display the latest in styles, and Flossita Badger, choir director has been invited to provide musical selections with the A Capella Choir.

"We are announcing the tea at an early date, so women will be prepared to save that particular date," Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser said, "and I hope that the women will receive this affair as enthusiastically as our former one."

Assisting Miss Trood on the committee for the occasion are Janet Ball, AWS vice-president; Margaret Meader, secretary, and Helen Culp, treasurer.

Unsold Books From WSS Exchange Available At Galileo Bank

All students whose unsold books are still in the hands of the recently closed Students' Book Exchange are urgently requested to call for their volumes at once at the Galileo Bank.

According to Joy Anna Mack, Women's Service Society president, a number of books are now being held, and will be delivered to their owners upon proper identification.

"As long as the books remain uncalled for," Miss Mack informs, "the WSS is obliged to keep a girl in attendance at the bank. Therefore we would appreciate it if the book owners will present themselves as soon as possible."

Campus Sharpshooters

Above, Bob Darr and Charles North, expert rifle and pistol shots, and rivals for top honors on the college rifle team. In prone position, Jean Wilken, who is entered in the National Women's Inter-collegiate Matches. All have helped the Ram Rifleers in their consecutive victories and are eager for the Athletic Council's verdict on the minor award petition.

Rifleers Continue Winning Streak; Humphrey High Man As North Fails

Massing a total of 884 points to 767 scored by the Surf Fishing Club, the college "Red" Rifle Squad continued its winning ways on Wednesday evening, January 25, to continue as leaders of the Golden Gate Bridge League of the San Francisco Small-Bore Rifle Association.

Capturing high honors for the first time this semester, George Humphrey, with the total of 186 points to his credit was given full credit by Coach Fred McFarland for the squad's latest victory.

"Out of the Fire"

"Humphrey really pulled this match out of the fire for us with his score being only 14 points shy of perfection," McFarland stated.

"Failure of our ace sharpshooter, Charles North, to get above 172 was somewhat of a disappointment, however, North is sure to return to form by tomorrow night when the Red and Blue teams of the college meet each other in their only match of the week," McFarland concluded.

Blues Win Too

In the other match, last week, the college Blue Team managed to win by the substantial margin of 55 points from the Sunnyside Sportsmen, 856 to 801, on Monday evening, January 23. High man for the college was Richard Wilson with 182.

Scores Given

Scores of last week's matches are listed below:

SFJC Reds	884	Surf Fish Club	767
*G. Humphrey	187	*C. Brown	177
*W. Gibson	176	*F. Reme	160
*H. Cavagnolo	175	*A. Moher	147
*R. Darr	174	*J. Lincoln	143
*C. North	172	*J. Fasano	140
G. Stewart	169	W. Mingram	134
A. Templeton	169	L. Higuera	127
E. Templeton	164
SFJC Blues	856	Sunnyside	801
*R. Wilson	182	*F. Hayes	173
*W. Voight	179	*J. Dunn	171
*M. Schrick	167	*J. Kunel	155
*G. Hewett	165	*M. Kessel	155
*N. Riley	163	*A. Dragon	147
R. Weeks	153	H. Dyer	144
W. Eichel	145	G. Henderson	124
		T. Bopp	120

*High Five

Forum Magazine Editor Sets March 15 Deadline For Literary Entries

Requesting any and all students to submit literary contributions to the Forum Magazine immediately, John Cummings, editor of the magazine, and John Ward, Forum Club chairman, have set a tentative deadline at March 15 for all material.

"Every manuscript will be considered," Ward said, "and the sooner it gets in, the quicker it will be evaluated."

Contributions In Boxes

Contributions may be turned in to William Goss and Frederick Bracher, club sponsors, or put in their mail boxes at Powell Street or Galileo High School.

Poems, plays, satires, short stories, essays, and political discussions are suggested types of material, though any form of writing will be accepted.

As an innovation in the magazine the editor is considering including block prints. The old Forum will also be revised and an entirely new set-up is planned for this year's edition.

1500 Word Limit

Manuscripts are limited to approximately 1500 words. Though his entire staff has not been chosen yet, Cumming intends to start work right away and requests students to turn in copy as early as possible.

"There is always a rush around deadline," he warned, "and consequently late copy does not receive as much time as the first copy handed in.

"Any student, whether he has literary ability or not, is welcome to contribute material to the annual."

Messer Initiates New Art Display Course; Placement In Window Display Positions Possible For Enrollees

Under the direction of Teall Messer, recent addition to the college faculty, the Art Department initiated its new course in "The Art and Technique of Display," on Thursday, January 26.

With but five students enrolled at present, Messer expresses hopes that "we will have a larger enrollment within the next few days as the course is late in starting and it is difficult for students to rearrange their programs so as to include it.

Only One In West

"The college Art and Technique of Display course is the only one in the West, I believe. There is however, a private course given in New York.

"Study is divided into two lectures and two laboratories, the former on Tuesdays and Thursday at eight, the latter on Mondays and Fridays from eight until eleven. The purpose of holding classes so early in the morning is to facilitate the visiting of stores to watch window decorators dress the windows as they do so early in the morning, it is necessary to be on hand at an early hour.

Placement Possible

"During the latter part of the course, students will be given part-time work in various department stores. Display managers are enthusiastic about the course in as much as it will provide them with capable material with which to fill jobs. The Art Department will, in addition, endeavor to place students that take the course and will make recommendations to appointments in San Francisco and the Bay Area."

The course in itself consists of a study of the arrangement of store window displays, and sectional and promotional displays, and will include discussions with classes in rooms and

(Continued on page 4, column 1)

Policing Campaign Partial Success; Politeness Lauded

Lack Of Cooperation On Part Of Block Members Noticed

Partial success of the policing campaign recently inaugurated by the college Block SF Society, was announced today by Mel Peterson, president of the organization.

The change is especially noticeable in the heretofore crowded conditions of the Powell Street building. This has been to a great degree, eliminated.

Sidewalks Congested

Sidewalks in front of the location, however, are still very congested, making it difficult for passersby.

Most noticeable by bystanders is the lack of cooperation Peterson has been receiving from the other members of his committee.

Taking It Easy

The impression received by many is that two or three Block SF men tenaciously police the stairs, while the remaining four or five devote their time and energy to the pleasant task of talking to the pretty co-eds.

Several students vehemently praised the politeness and excellent manner in which the Block men requested students to remain off of the steps.

To Direct Fire Drill

In an attempt to clear up the crowded situation existing on the Powell Street sidewalks during a fire drill, administration officials today announced that in the future, students, possibly members of the Block SF Society, will be placed at strategic points to direct traffic away from the congested entrance.

J. Paul Mohr, registrar, requested all students not to congregate just outside the entrance, but to move up or down the street to make way for others coming down the stairs.

Although the fire department announced last week's fire drill to be fairly successful, it can be greatly improved by complying with the administration's request.

Rally Committee To Act On Gigantic Fiesta Dance Proposal

At its most recent meeting, the Rally Committee, led by Yell-King Art Pomares, decided to act on the proposal that the college hold a gigantic Fiesta Dance at the Galileo Gym on Friday, February 17, the day before the Fair opens.

"It will probably be a costume dance, with costumes the price of admission," said Pomares.

"Plans are also under way," he added, "to present the most uniquely dressed couple with prizes."

The committee revealed that negotiations are being conducted for the use of the San Francisco State College Gym for the State Dance to be held on Friday, February 24.

Regarding future rallies, the committee is hard at work searching for college talent, and will entertain any and all suggestions that may be made.

The Rally Committee meets in the Powell Street lobby every Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Pitman Reveals Extra Study Hall At Holbrook Building, 58 Sutter

Extra studying capacity for studious college students can be found, between the hours of 9 and 2 o'clock at 58 Sutter Street, on the second floor of the Holbrook Building, according to Paul M. Pitman, assistant to President Cloud.

"This building is the American Institute of Banking headquarters," Pitman said, "and as their students do not occupy the entire space allotted for study we have been granted joint use of the room. It is room D on the second floor."

Pitman added that students should avoid the disturbance of classes, and find the location as soon as possible after reaching the building.

Whiskerino Battle Rages; Beards Frighten Children

O tempora! O mores!

Was there ever a war like this?

The bearded behemoths of the college locked in furious combat with unyielding nature!

Hair-promoting lotions of every description are being frantically applied to fuzzy physiognomies; that fiendish device known as the razor has been cast roughly aside.

Last Friday, the opening date of the Men's Club Whiskerino, saw swarms of men students, eager to give their all for the glory of Oscar Zilch and the House of David, registering with Joe Amori, AMS adviser.

And the stragglers are still drifting in.

Of course, Ken "Wire-Hair" Pasqualetti is the odds-on favorite to take the cake for the most luxuriant growth, but the other contestants may console themselves with the fact that prizes are also offered for the FANCIEST and STRAGGLIEST developed by the closing date of the contest, February 21.

Joe Amori announced this week that the winners will be judged on the MORNING of February 21st instead of at the dance on the same night.

Amori fears that the candidates might be mistaken for anarchists and refused admission by the doorman if they should appear bespinached at the hop.

BY WAY OF THE HIGH SEAS!

Berlin, Germany: (COLLECT): "MINE IS COPYRIGHTED!" . . . HITLER.

Moscow, USSR: (NIGHT LETTER ,COLLECT): "MINE TOO" . . . STALIN.

Somewhere in the Wilderness: "SISSIES!" . . . JAKE THE HERMIT.

Re: the proceedings, student president Frank Verducci informs us that facial foliage will not necessarily result in social ostracism.

Annual WAA Initiation Tomorrow 2:30 At Galileo; New Page In Book

Initiation for new members of the Women's Athletic Association will be held tomorrow afternoon at the semi-annual initiation luncheon in the faculty cafe at Galileo High School from 1:30 to 2:30 o'clock.

The women will be formally introduced to the association and will sign a new page in the membership book, which holds all the names of women who have participated in WAA activities in past semesters. All WAA members are urged by President Dorothy Sanderson to attend the luncheon.

Looking Forward

"We hope to initiate many new members," she said, "and are looking forward to a semester just crammed full of sports activities."

The program will include speeches given by Vera Spencer, faculty adviser, who will talk on the award system, and Dorothy Sanderson, who will expound on the purpose of WAA.

Official installment of the sports' managers for the semester will also be a part of the ceremony. New members will take the WAA pledge and receive red and white membership cards, used this semester for the first time in the history of the organization.

Tickets for the luncheon will be forty cents, ten cents of which is paid by WAA. Students wishing to buy tickets should contact Miss Spencer or any member of the organization.

Nominations Announced

Final results of the election for managers will not be revealed at the luncheon. Nominated for office were Golf, Rose Davis and Dorothy Niederholzer; Riding, Tedda Kosch and Dorothy Woods; Dancing, Gloria Miller and Viola Gibson; Swimming, Pauline Trenk and Dorothy Crangle; Tennis, Tillie Huddleson and Helen Godman; Basketball, Marjorie Radke and Alma Koopman; Badminton, Louise Goodman and Barbara Gunn; Rifle, Thursa Scott; Ice Skating, Eleanor Wildhagen, and Baseball-Soccer, Elizabeth Carlson.

General chairman of the luncheon committee was Kay Lloyd, assisted by Helen Godman, arrangements chairman; Mary Miller, re-arrangements; Marjorie Radke, decorations, and Lucille Jacke, hostess and invitation committee.

Debate Team Schedules 26 Contests; Prepare For Stockton Tourney

Announcing a schedule of some 26 debating contests, Lloyd D. Luckmann, faculty adviser for the college debate team, is looking forward to the busiest year in the history of Phi Rho Pi, debating society.

"Of course our most important debates will take place in Stockton on February 9, when the annual College of the Pacific Oratory Tournament will be held.

"At that time we will debate with teams from the leading Junior Colleges and Universities in the state, the tournament lasting three days," Luckmann explained.

Yesterday, at Galileo, the varsity debaters engaged with the team from San Francisco State over the subject, Resolved: That the United States should cease to use public funds for the stimulation of business.

Although no results were announced it was generally conceded that the Ram team presented the far more impressive argument by upholding the resolution on the grounds that business in general had prospered under federal aid.

The Junior College was represented by Russell Henry and Bob Blackwell, while Dick Date and J. Wallace Gallagher argued for State.

Rema Corbit, John B. Ellis, Charles Henry, Russell Henry, Bill Switzer and Bob Blackwell, all members of Phi Rho Pi, announce that they are looking for prospective members for their society.

Executive Council Committees Hard At Work; Dates Of Coming College Dances Revealed By Miriam Dunne

Routine reports by the various committee representatives pre-dominated throughout the meeting of the Executive Council at its meeting last Thursday.

To improve election procedure at college, Mel Peterson, head of a special committee to investigate election procedure at other colleges, read several letters which he received from the neighboring colleges and universities he has contacted.

President Frank Verducci instructed Peterson to suggest a remedy for college election procedure at the next meeting from the advice he has received.

Miriam Dunne of the Social Committee disclosed that the next dance sponsored by the college is to be held on Tuesday, February 21 at a location yet to be chosen. The theme of the dance has Washington's birthday as a motif.

Head yell leader Art Pomares announced that he is investigating prices of caps and berets for college rooters. He will present details of his findings next week.

The Century Club has been chosen as the place for the next tea of the AWS on the tentative date of March 9, according to a report by Dorothy Trood, president.

As president of the AMS Dave Johnson tendered the information that the Whiskerino will officially end at the dance on the night of February 21.

April 28 has been set as the tentative date for the semi-annual Men's Club barn dance, while March 10 and March 31 have been reserved as temporary dates for the Men's Club fights.

Mel Peterson, acting as representative of the Men's Athletic Council announced that the council is considering the granting of blocks to rifle team members.

President Frank Verducci closed the meeting at the completion of these reports with a warning to some representatives to appear on time.

Excursion Trip For Santa Rosa Game Leaves 4:30

Tickets Available At Bank; Price One Dollar Round Trip

Undaunted by the indifference displayed toward the recently attempted Modesto train trip, the college rally committee announced its next undertaking—a bus excursion to Santa Rosa this evening for the annual conference basketball game between the Rams and Cubs at 8 o'clock.

Tickets for the trip are one dollar, a feature which Jack Schmale and Art Pomares, heads of the committee, feel will be more appealing than the Modesto fee, which was twice that amount.

Leave This Afternoon

The busses will leave from Galileo this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, arriving in Santa Rosa for dinner at 6 o'clock. The party will return home, disbanding again at Galileo at midnight, after leaving Santa Rosa shortly after 10 o'clock this evening.

Tickets for the excursion will be available at the Galileo Bank Office until 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. A minimum number of 35 must be sold by that time to insure the first bus.

After that, accommodations will be made for all desiring to make the trip.

Game At 7 O'clock

The busses will wait in downtown Santa Rosa while the excursionists dine, proceeding to the college gym shortly after 7 o'clock in time for the game.

East Bay students may ride across the bay on the return trip of the busses after their departure from Galileo at midnight. Bridge passenger fare only is required for transportation.

President Cloud Confirms Possibility Of Opening Radio Broadcast Course

Installation of a course in radio broadcasting technique, under the supervision of Marie Weiler, faculty member, was intimated by President Archibald J. Cloud last week.

The course in all probability will be inaugurated when Miss Weller, highly experienced in radio circles, can devote sufficient time for this instruction.

At the present time she is occupied with duties pertinent to the forthcoming World's Fair.

"It is impossible for San Francisco Junior College to take advantage of the very generous offer made us this semester by S. H. Patterson of station KSAN. Our new buildings, however, will provide the necessary facilities for student training in such a project," President Cloud said.

It is hoped that station KSAN will continue its offer to the college next spring when the students will be occupying their own building. Had plans worked out as was hoped, the college was to be allotted a certain number of minutes each week during which time the students would have complete charge of the broadcasting station.

As can be readily seen, this would involve considerable training, and the postponement of the plan was the only sensible outlet offered.

New College Building Plans Sent To Sacramento For Approval

Last Monday, the plans for the forthcoming new building to house the college, were sent to State Board of Education headquarters at Sacramento, announced J. Paul Mohr, registrar, today.

Since the corections required by the PWA have been made, it is hoped that there will be an immediate approval by the board, following which the plans will be returned to this city.

Making an approximate estimate of the time needed before all plans are approved, and the contractors selected, Mohr said, "We expect all the red tape, and other difficulties to be cleared away within a month."

The Guardsman
The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1939 No. 4

JOHN JULIUS....EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser — Joan Nourse
Business Adviser — Edward H. Redford

Bill Frantz....Managing Editor
Leonard Gross....News Editor
Ray Berns....Sports Editor
Isadore Maloff....Feature Editor
Carol Pickering....Women's Editor
Dorothy Trood....Club Editor
Sam Galstaun....Staff Photographer
Marion MacKillop....Staff Artist
Allen Martin....Business Manager
Edmund Wunsch....Assistant Business Manager

REPORTERS
Lucretia Antonicelli, Ernie Baer, Ethan Bernstein, Bill Canning, Jacqueline Davis, Janet Fellows, Lois Gipson, Louis Goldstone, Dave Johnson, Frances Manalo, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Frank Verducci, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

'Clear Powell Hill' Drive Nets Block SF, Student Cooperation

THE elderly San Franciscans smiled their appreciation when they walked past the University of California Extension Building last week. No longer did they have to wait and weigh the chances either of passing through the crowd of students standing in front of 540 Powell Street or walk in the street. There was actually a small lane through which the Powell Street pedestrians could pass undisturbed.

A certain degree of cooperation between the students and the Block SF guardians was probably the reason for this convenience to San Francisco's taxpayers who use the Powell Street hill. As a result, Tom O'Neill's office received no complaints last week.

However, the marvelous job of policing the extension entrance was carried on by only a small minority of the nearly one hundred athletic award holders. The entire policing work was done by the few leaders of the Block Society, who were assisted half-heartedly by possibly a dozen fellow athletes. But the Blockmen reorganized their drive early this week and definite patrols were assigned to members volunteering their services.

We wish to compliment the few Blockmen who worked last week upon the manner in which they carried out their assignments. Their requests to stop blocking traffic were made in such a gentlemanly way that cooperation with them seemed a pleasant duty. It is hoped that this treatment by the Blockmen will continue.

The students as a whole have taken on a very commendable attitude in the clearance of the extension entrance. There are a few exceptions. Perhaps the offenders are not aware of the "Clear Powell Steps" drive.

B. F.

'Whiskerino' Is Men's Club Part In Exposition

AS ITS part in the opening celebration of the Golden Gate International Exposition, the Associated Men Students of the college are sponsoring a Whiskerino or Wild West beard contest.

This is in keeping with the Fiesta theme which will reign during the opening week of the Fair.

Since men throughout the Bay region are celebrating the Fiesta in the whisker style, it was thought that the men of this college might celebrate the same way, the Men's Club having been found to be the logical organization to sponsor such a contest.

Immediately after the announcement, the whiskerino received a tremendous acclaim from the men of the college.

This was presumably due to the universal interest in the Fair as well as the contest's own novelty and negligible expense.

It is hoped that the remainder of the college, that is, women and those not in the contest, look upon the bearded contestants not as an extreme sign of laziness but as San Francisco Junior College's part in Fiesta Week.

Individual Campaign Will Give College Its Just Recognition

IT IS about time the students of this college did something about the unkind remarks (to say the least) that are continually being passed around relative to this institution.

We do not know why it is, but every time one admits that he attends the city's junior college, he is almost always snowed under with sarcastic, derogatory remarks, and caustic criticism.

It seems that the majority of the populace believes this to be a place where people who are too lazy to work in high school come, so that they may continue to do nothing.

For the benefit of these overly-critical persons, we suggest that they experience one of the three-hour final examinations given by the college. We are willing to bet that after doing so, they will change their point of view.

In the hope that someone unfavorably disposed toward the college will read this editorial, we wish to enumerate a few of the good points of this place of learning.

To begin with, the faculty is excellent, many of them being among the best in the educational field.

In addition, courses corresponding to those given by the University of California, and constituting the first two years of college, are given here.

There is no basis for the scorn and disapproval which the college receives The point is: what can be done about it?

We suggest that each student begin a personal, individual campaign to prove that the college is not as bad as a few sour critics say it is. By this we do not mean walking around the streets with a chip on your shoulder, ready at any time to "pick a beef" for the sake of the Rams.

A much more intelligent way of approaching it is to point out to anyone who holds an unfavorable opinion of the college, just how foolish and biased are his remarks.

We may not be the greatest institution in the world; but a little cooperation on the part of the students will give many people the impression that we are most certainly not the worst.

—L. G.

Five men and five women students will receive awards from the Viking, students' publication of the Long Beach Junior College. A committee of students and faculty members chose the candidates on the basis of a point system, on the attitude of the student toward his work and his part in the improvement of the college. The pins are awarded at the semi-annual prom.

Prosperity Corner
By Sam Galstaun

(1) What was Moliere's real name?

It might be of interest to some, if we mention a few incidents in the life of Moliere (1622-1673). During his lifetime all professional actors were looked upon with scorn, and were even excommunicated by the Church. Moliere was, therefore, forced to change his name, because of the trying conditions with which he was surrounded. He is remembered for the founding of the Comedie-Francaise, and as a playwright, but because he was comedian, he was barred from the French Academy.

(2) What was Michelangelo's full name?

If you look at a portrait of Michelangelo, you will notice a deformed nose. He received a blow, during an argument with a fellow student, which disfigured him for life.

(3) Who is Spangler Arlington Brugh?

(4) What is the middle name of President Archibald Cloud?

(5) Who wrote:
"Large streams from little fountains flow,
Large oaks from little acorns grow."?

(6) Who is the Hindu god of destruction?

(7) What is the science that deals with tracing and recording pedigrees?

(8) Who wrote the opera "The Sunken Bell"?

(9) When and to whom was the Black Prince married?

ABOUT THE BLACK PRINCE

The Black Prince, you will remember, was the eldest son of Edward III of England. During his military career, it was reported that he never lost a single major battle. In the Castilian campaign, he restored the ousted Don Pedro to the throne, (who incidentally was supposed to pay for the cost of the war). After his restoration, he refused to pay for the expenses, and Prince Edward, while waiting (still in the hope of being paid), contracted a Spanish fever—(the results of which are similar to paralysis), which was instrumental in causing his death a few years later.

(10) Where is the Denmark Strait?

(Quiz Answers—page 4, column 5)

Cabbages & Kings
By Blue Pencil Bill

FLASH! Pasqualette favored, as Eisan, Manov, Blackfield refuse to enter whiskerino. Although he has given his opponents a four day start, Pasqualette is up with the best of them. It is really tough that Coach Lee Eisan withdrew because he has to officiate several games before the 21st. "I don't believe the spectators and the big shots in the sports' world would appreciate my hirsute adornment," said Eisan thoughtfully, when we questioned the favorites in the fur race.

"J. F. wouldn't like me with whiskers on," was Willie Blackfield's alibi for refusal to enter.

"I'd probably look like a Hindu without his turban if I let my beard grow for more than two days," was Tony Manov's reply. "It would be funny to see a guy with more hair on his face than on his head anyway," remarked Floyd Lawrence as he gazed at Tony.

Mr. Allman is one of the few faculty entries. He expects to decorate his ruddy face with a bush of red hair and cop the prize from young Pasqualette.

• • •

GOLDFISH FLOAT

In the Chico State paper we find a little hint for the housewife on how to tell whether her fish is a girl goldfish or a boy goldfish. To the water in the goldfish bowl add one-half ounce of sulphuric acid. If he comes floating to the top, he is a boy. If she comes floating to the top, she is a girl.

• • •

PITY THE READER

Gentle reader, if you can stand that—you can stand this:
"Do you know Art?"
"Art who?"
"Artesian."
"Sure, I know Artesian well."

• • •

Now, after the above terrors, we probably have a select group of readers. Here's some news for you. "Bernie" Bernstein, The Guardsman Fire Drill Editor reports that the first floor won the fire drill as usual. No records broken however.

• • •

A survey of between-meal nibbles by the students of the college reveals that more college lunch money is put into the phonograph machine at Carl Wilkes than is spent on coffee and blotters. And no one has hit the jackpot either.

• • •

STYMIED

The time is 9:25 a.m. The place: 9:10 class at 58 Sutter St. A young gentleman enrolled in the class nonchalantly enters, seats himself, and listens to the lecture. The instructor recognizes the latecomer and stops his lecture to ask: "What's been keeping you, lad?" "Ferries weren't running this morning," was the reply. "Oh," remarked the instructor, and he continued his lecture.

Presidential Notes
By Frank Verducci

THAT dreaded period, the period that has brought fear and disappointment to many students, is about to resume its reign of terror. Midterms will be here shortly. If you wait until the day of midterms to begin your studying, you will be doomed to fall by the wayside. If you want to side-step this disappointment period, there is one other alternative—dig in, grit your teeth, and start studying now.

STUDY HINTS

Recently we decided to get a few hours of studying done so we journeyed to the P. G. & E. building. We found here that every seat was occupied. It was this that gave us the impetus to search for a quiet and peaceful place to study. We wandered down to 58 Sutter Street, and went up to the second floor in quest of a vacant room. On one of the doors was written the letter "D". We opened the door and lo and behold we saw a fairly large room which can accommodate about 40 persons. We sat down, took out our books, and accomplished a great amount of work. So if you should have a similar experience and have no place to study, drop down to 58 Sutter Street, 2nd floor, Room "D".

THE TEAM

The basketball team has finally started on a winning streak. At the time of this writing it has won two straight games, having defeated Modesto 26 to 25 and Menlo 54 to 38. At the start of the year, Coach Dutch Conlan said that he was going to bring the boys along slowly. If the Menlo game is any indication, the boys have finally arrived, and we can have great expectations for the Rams in the remainder of their conference games. The team really displayed a superior type of ball playing, so let's do our part and display a superior type of spirit. Let's go to the games,

(Continued on page 4, column 3)

16 Days 'Til Harvest Time
By Marion MacKillop

RAM'S HORN

Cheers And Jeers; Gross Backed; Ward Challenged

• GROSS DEFENDED

Editor, The Guardsman:

A disgruntled critic stated in January 25th edition of this publication that college papers are printed only "for the purpose of acquainting students with college activities." Are they? I am sure it is the purpose of all school papers to reflect the opinions of every college group. Surely there is a group of students who have thoughts for more important things than college sports and social activities, not that any of these should be omitted.

A perfect newspaper reflects all phases of life that interest the readers, and Leonard Gross' column, which shows fine thinking, is one that the students of this institution can point to with pride. The Forum Club, Peace Society, Debaters Club, and other such organizations prove that this college does have students who enjoy opinions on affairs outside of college news, whether or not they agree. Why should they be denied this pleasure because some students selfishly want to read only of dances and ball games?

After all, this is an institution of higher learning (and more intense thinking), not a high school. If there are some who are not mature thinkers they do not belong in such an institution. However, as long as they are here they can just skip reading such splendid columns as Gross', but please do not deny us the privilege of reading columns like While Thinking (and I do mean thinking!)

Janet Fellows

P.S.—Disgruntled one, you should read a Daily Californian (copies found in WJ at Galileo), or some other University paper and you will learn most of the front page is devoted to national and international news. These universities go to press for freshman and sophomores as well as upperclassmen.

Sincerely yours,
J. F.

• WARD GETS FREE OFFER

Editor, The Guardsman:

John Ward, demon night-owler and opera enthusiast, bemoans the fact that we shall not have a number of assorted opera companies and symphony orchestras at the San Francisco Golden Gate International Exposition. He attributes this oversight to the stupidity of the fair officials.

Does Mister Ward know that most of the big name dance orchestras of the country are to appear at one time or another? Also that nine out of ten people would rather hear modern dance music than symphonies. In this age of complex living a little simplicity is to be desired. Give most people a tune they can whistle and they will ask for nothing more. I will personally present the "After Dark" man with a tin medal if he can whistle the "Golden Calf Song" from the second act of "Faust".

Furthermore if Mister Ward thinks that he can put on a better fair he may use my back yard any Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Yours,
Jay Wright

• TWO FOR GROSS

Editor, The Guardsman:

I, too, am "by no means pro-Hitler," and I believe that Mr. Gross' article on Mr. Hitler was one to be welcomed in a college paper.

As young American men and women, we are vitally interested in world issues as well as those occurring within the confines of our college walls. Our newspaper should, therefore, deal with these issues as well as college news.

Let's have more articles expressing the opinions of our students on world affairs!

Sincerely,
Julia Spector

• TOO HOT TOO HANDLE

Editor, The Guardsman:

Great balls of fire! Somebody just told me that the grand march we had last Wednesday morning at the Powell Street building was intended to be a fire drill; and all this time I was under the impression that it was a demonstration of the might and power of the combined forces of the college.

Why doesn't someone tell me these things?

I was just getting settled in my seat preparatory to dreaming of my grammar school days, when suddenly, like an unexpected question from the teacher, my dreams were interrupted by the insistent clanging of a somewhat tinny bell, and still in a coma I thought it was recess time.

Now, Mr. Editor, I like to get out and play during recess time, but everyone else wanted to spend their recess loitering in the halls and they wouldn't let me by. It took me four minutes to get out of the building into the Powell Street playground, but just as I was getting out my marbles and was about to enter a game, the bell rang again and recess time was over.

Maybe, you can help me, Mr. Editor, by writing an editorial on making any future recess times longer than a mere four minutes so that when the authorities decide to have another recess, I can have enough time to play a few games of marbles and perhaps win a few for myself.

Yours truly,
A. Fireman

• "DOODLE-BUGS WANT TO DOODLE"

Editor, The Guardsman:

We are just a bunch of has-beens or make-believe basketball players. We call ourselves the "Doodle-bugs". I must admit, however, that we are pretty good.

We are taking this means to challenge any club or fraternity basketball team in the college, including the junior varsity. If desirous of accepting our challenge please contact either Larry Korchet or Ed Talavera and arrangements will be made.

But why doesn't the college have intra-mural sports? Or inter-club—or inter-something so that others besides super-athletes may participate in the college athletic activities?

Well, it was only a passing thought.

A Doodle-bug

AFTER DARK
By John Ward

A new group of artists, nearly all San Franciscans, have banned together for the sake of a ballet repertory theater. The first performance, more or less in the form of a teaser, was given last week much to the financial satisfaction. And realizing that the artists are doing everything to insure their survival as a whole, one can pardon their inclusion of Sally Rand on their first program.

But let us hope they forget Sally and her notorious bubbles when they produce their first actual Opus 1. Their idea of letting local artists paint the sets, write the books and the music, and dance in altogether new ballets is an excellent, not-to-be-praised-too-soon idea. And if they can manage to keep their work free of such sensational figures as Miss Rand they will probably succeed in making their investment a permanent thing. At least we hope so.

LOCAL DRAMA REGENERATED

The W.P.A. production of Hall Johnson's Run Little Chillun, which opened at the Alcazar some weeks ago, is actually sold out for four weeks in advance. An enormous success when it played in L.A., Run Little Chillun represents the first sign of regeneration the San Francisco drama season has had in some many, many months. Let us hope that the enthusiasm that greeted this work may stimulate the local theatrical agents to bring forth a few other plays. Since Hollywood has gone down the hill a few good plays should really sweep the town. But notice, we said GOOD plays.

MUSIC HAVEN FOR STUDENTS

Mr. Wilson's record library at 545 Sutter Street should be the haven of students who find themselves with an hour or more to squander. For an inconspicuous cost, one can hear any sort of serious music one could desire. Bach, Beethoven, Debussy, Sibelius, maybe even the record of Gertrude Stein reading from her own works. An hour of good music on this rental plan costs no more than a good cheese sandwich and it can be as easily digested.

Mr. Wilson's library used to be literally a hole in the wall. But recently he has remodelled the whole, added a room, and made it into a very respectable, modernish interior. His sound-proof rooms are an enormous improvement over the old communal affair where musical privacy was as scarce as comfort. But the new place is easy on the eyes, comfortable and coupled with the music an hour can pass very quickly and pleasantly.

Sartorial Modes
By Fashion Fanny

MANY new and lively spring colors have appeared in the various stores 'round the town, and it is all because of the Golden Gate Exposition.

Pacific Blue, May Wine, Fuschia, Newbark Brown, Japonica, New Beige, and Treasure Island Pastels are hits for the spring wools and silks, shoes and bags.

Never before in the history of fashion has one seen so many varieties of gorgeous pastel colors in suits, evening gowns, town ensembles, and play clothes.

FISH JEWELRY

And while all this talk goes on about beautiful new spring clothes in bright new colors, don't forget the new jewelry that is also coming in. You'll be wearing just as much jewelry this spring as last winter.

One store in town is showing the most impertinent fish that ever clinked goldenly on a Spring costume. They have these fishes on necklaces, bracelets, and pins, and when you see them you'll want at least two pieces—if not more.

Another set of jewelry that caught the eye was an heirloom-y "gold" link necklace with filigree balls and matching bracelet.

WINTER CHATTER

Under your winter coat wear a vibrant nasturtium or lime green magenta for a suede belt, wide and supple, to gird your favorite black. Wear the fussiest, fluttery hat with your strictest tailored suit . . . Pleated chiffon blouses for your winter suit . . . in the new luscious colors and a provoking sheerness.

Everything is covered up this year . . . tennis dresses . . . bathing suits . . . evening gowns . . . Wear magenta pinks with green . . . limes with purple . . . cyclamen with aquamarine . . . If you like to wear your hair long—none of this up-hair-do—gather it in a snood . . . or bind it with a foulard scarf tied up in a chou on top . . . Cameo and Coral . . . hand carved cameos with gold plated frames rimmed with coral . . . wear these cameos with your silks and cruise clothes. They add to the femininity that all the designers are stressing this year.

While Thinking . . .
By Leonard Gross

WE see by the daily newspapers that a proposal to fortify the island of Guam has been suggested by Admiral William D. Leahy. It seems that at last, the United States is becoming defense conscious.

It is our intention to go on record as favoring the plan. Although this tiny isle is a mere spot in the vast Pacific, it is one of the most important of our possessions, because of its strategic location. Situated only 1300 miles from Japan, its fortification would make any nation pause before contemplating any hostile move against Hawaii. Not only that, but it would practically prohibit invasion of the Philippines, and would be invaluable for the protection of the United States since it would add great difficulties to any attack from the Pacific on any of our territory.

JAPAN OBJECTS

Japan has objected very strenuously to Admiral Leahy's suggestion, declaring that we have no right to put it into effect because, as they see it, it seriously threatens the safety of the Japanese nation. It is a source of constant wonder to us that belligerent countries have the colossal nerve to complain that the United States is not abiding by the rules if they fortify Guam. After the numerous transgressions of unwritten international law by the Nipponese, it is surprising that they would say anything. We suggest that before objecting to the way America plays the game, the Japanese take a look at the rule book, and find out their own errors.

FOR DEFENSE ONLY

If and when we fortify Guam or any other American possession, Japan and the rest of the world may rest assured that we are not doing so for belligerent purposes, but have only the protection of our own interests at heart.

The fortification of Guam would provide essential protection for Hawaii, the Panama Canal, and continental United States. At the present time, the administration's plans for Guam developments are of a commercial and defense nature, and do not envisage fortification of the island. However, since the government has finally realized the necessity of fortifying our possessions, we sincerely hope that in time Guam will become one of the salient points in our system of defense.

Beat Bear Cubs In Cage Contests At Tauzer, Kezar

THE GUARDSMAN SPORTS

Netsters Compete In Championships At Palace Courts

College Varsity Quintet . . . Championship-Bound?

Jack Wolf: Alternating at right forward for the locals with Frank Albrecht . . . was all-city lightweight while competing at Commerce High . . . later played on first string University of San Francisco frosh . . . has been rounding into condition very slowly, and consequently, has not been playing as well as he might . . . extremely clever on faking and dribbling . . . good defensive player . . . nice eye on floor shots when set . . . although rather short, is very aggressive and is in there fighting at all times . . . plenty will be heard about Jack Wolf before the season is over.

Ed Curcio: "Big Ed" as he is known, is the starting left guard for the Conlanmen . . . has had one year's varsity experience . . . previously played at Oakland High where he was all-city . . . is one of the leading scorers of the squad to date and was an all-conference choice last year because of his ability to ring up the digits . . . big and heavy, Curcio gives opposing forwards a bad time . . . when hot, is liable to sink a one-handed shot from any position . . . has little or no arch on a deadly floor shot.

Al Opalinski: First string center for the Rams . . . was all-city while attending Commerce High in 1934 . . . one year's experience . . . was accorded honor of being only junior college cager to be picked on all-Northern California cage team last year .... has not lived up to expectations as yet in regard to scoring . . . has not, however, lost any of his finesse in faking, passing and dribbling . . . when right, is outstanding player on squad . . . should be a cinch repeat on all-coneference squad . . . is the "laughing boy" of the local quinette, always unperturbed.

George Bedrosian: Ranks behind Hal Fischer at the present at the right guard spot . . . is a veteran of two years back . . . along with Curcio, is one of the biggest men on the squad . . . exceptionally agile and light on his feet for such a big man . . . has a habit of holding opponent scoring stars down without committing personal fouls . . . calm, cool, and collected might be applied to George who is unruffled in the tightest moments of play . . . sets up many buckets by his fine passes which fake opposing players out of position.

Willie Blackfield: Starting left forward on Conlan's quintet . . . ex all-city star from Lowell High . . . has had one year's experience at the college . . . small of stature but built along the lines of an Adonis . . . is an excellent dribbler and passer and has a deadly eye on floor shots . . . was rather weak on one-handed shots up to the present time, but is developing a hook-shot designed to give opponents lots of trouble . . . is off to a good start in the conference scoring race and should be right in there at the end.

RAM chops
By JACK SCHMALE

• THE CREW

Looks like last week's daring expose on the inert status of the college crew did not go in vain. For Ken Pasqualette, he of the gorilla complexion, erased all doubt in the minds of we skeptics as to his reading ability, and immediately organized a society of vigilantes of the oar-locks and is currently engaged in signing young hopefuls and veteran stroke artists for sufficient proof that the aquatic sport warrants consideration hereabouts.

Pasqualette is a dyed-in-the-wool crewman. He has the interests of the sport at heart, and in doing so, also the interests of the college. Ken would hardly be presentable sporting an orchid, but whatever you give guys like that for the old college try, we vote for a donation with the lid off on the expense account. We could use a few more Pasqualettes around here.

• • •

• ON TO SANTA ROSA

This evening the flagship and other vessels of the Rhodes Busses highway fleet will take aboard Rams and Ramettes for their annual pilgrimage to Santa Rosa and the conference basketball tussle in the Rose City. For the sum of one buck Rhodes travel enterprises will transport you back and forth, departing from Galileo (Francisco St. side) at 4:30 o'clock. The busses will be back in town before midnight tonight.

• GAMES PLEASURABLE

Now that our eagers have been resurrected from their pre-season period of stagnation (note Modesto and Menlo victories) it again becomes an extremely pleasurable pastime to trek to Kezar Pavilion for the conference clashes. Willie Blackfield, incidentally, would have been practically a cinch to smash the conference scoring record last Wednesday, having dropped 21 points before he was withdrawn from the floor with 12 minutes remaining to play.

There has been some talk about a trip to Salinas for the Friday evening, February 17 basketball game. Tentative plans call for a Ram versus Salinas bowling match at 6 o'clock that evening on the Lettuceville alleys. Sort of killing two events with one trip, eh kid?

• • •

• CRITICS UNWELCOME

Those who are still growling their criticizing remarks about the recent Men's Club Smoker should plan NOT to attend the AMS fights and Barn Dance later in the semester. It would be terrible for those critics to be forced to sit through any more boring programs, and the Men's Club through Joe Amori and Dave Johnson, is not an organization compelling attendance at its affairs. It has been suggested that those individuals who poked fun at the Smoker might be given an active part to lend THEIR hand toward the success of the next AMS event by donning the gloves and entering the boxing tournament.

Wilson's Tennisers To Be Well Represented In Net Championships Next Week

The college will be well represented in the coming Northern California Indoor Tennis Championships to be held on the Palace of Fine Arts courts February 4 to 12.

Not to be outdone by the members of his squad, Coach Wilson will personally lead them in the tournament. Wilson has never played in a tournament before, but the continual practice he has had during classes has turned him into a better than ordinary tennis player.

Wagner Expected To Star

The five top tennisers in the college have already put in their entry blanks for the indoor meet. Harold Wagner, varsity captain, should make a favorable showing as he is the twelfth ranking player in Northern California. In the Men's Doubles he will team up with Ed Amark, another of San Francisco's ranking stars.

Bill Canning, runner-up to Wagner, will play in the Men's Singles and the Mixed with his sister Pat. Incidentally Miss Canning is the top ranking junior player in this section. The other members of the varsity squad, Ray Berns, Bob Kun, and Bill Madamba round out the entry from the college.

Promises Best

The San Francisco tournament should be one of the best in recent years and the college racquet wielders will be up against some of the best players in the state. Frank Kovacs and Bobby Harmon, first and second ranking players respectively, are to play, along with Gene Smith, former California captain. The San Francisco favorites, John Murio, Henry Gullmette, and Gerry Stratford, have entered.

In the Women's Singles, Margaret Osborne and Virginia Wolfenden will renew their long standing rivalry.

Any of the tennis enthusiasts of the college will be able to see some splendid exhibitions of tennis if they care to drop in at the Palace courts next week. There is no admission charge.

S.S. Ram Still Collecting Barnacles In Yacht Harbor; Pasqualette Working

Although several definite steps have been taken in its behalf, the S.S. Ram, oar-propelled luxury liner which serves to represent the college in the sport of crew, is still collecting barnacles in Yacht Harbor this week, the question of "a crew or not a crew" still unanswered.

Overlooked when the coaching shift was made in the Men's Physical Education Department last semester, no instructor is at present assigned to keep a watchful eye on Ken Pasqualette and his shipmates, although they boast sufficient numbers to float not one, but three, boats this spring.

Pasqualette, veteran of last year's boat, has resorted to a petition of indignant oarsmen, and now sports the signatures of some 35 young huskies on his list. Said 35 aspirants are ready and willing to row and await official action on the situation.

As the potential crewmen put it, when the big intercollegiate regattas are held over on the Treasure Island waters this spring, the [illegible] will not be able to win races while playing the role of training table for a lot of aqua-marine bacteria. Man power is what she needs, not a nautical grave.

And the question still remains: "Who gets the college's boat, Pasqualette or the termites?"

Rams Defeat Menlo In Initial League Games
• • •
Conlanmen Meet Santa Rosa Tonight, Friday

Bear Cubs Expected To Threaten Championship Hopes Of Local Cagers

Making a successful league debut by winning their first two games against Menlo, Coach "Dutch" Conlan's Ram basketballers will seek to prolong their winning streak tonight at Tauzer gymnasium in Santa Rosa and again on Friday evening in Kezar Pavilion when they meet Dick Blewett's Santa Rosa Junior College Bear Cubs.

Paced by a high-scoring forward, "Buzz" Buzzini, Santa Rosa, on a comeback trail, hopes to put a crimp in the championship aspirations of the local outfit.

Designs On Championship

Starting the season with excellent prospects, the Bear Cubs also had designs on the championship, but somehow, someplace, something went wrong, and Blewett's hoopsters present a dismal pre-season record.

That the Santa Rosans may be hitting their stride again, however, may be evidenced by the fact that they carried a strong California Aggies team to a 46 to 44 decision at Santa Rosa last week before bowing out.

Supporting Buzzini will be Bob Mastin and Bud Bolton at guards, Ray Olsen at the pivot spot, and George Bogdonoff at the other forward position.

Scoring 101 points in the Menlo series would seem to indicate that Conlan's lads have found their eyes and a free-scoring game looms.

Rams "Red-hot"

Conlan's statement that the Rams were being brought along slowly so they might be "red-hot" for the conference contests, was borne out against Menlo when Ed Curcio, Willie Blackfield, and Al Opalinski combined to score 63 of the local's 101 points, Curcio hitting the hoop for 23 digits, Blackfield getting 22, and Opalinski tallying 18 points in the two-game series.

San Francisco Quintet Overwhelms Peninsulans In Opener; Second A Thriller

The Rams opened their Northern California Junior College Conference titular campaign without serious mishap at the expense of Roy Hughes' Menlo quintet last week, winning Wednesday evening's local tilt with ease, 54 to 38, stealing Friday's thriller, 47 to 45, on the Peninsula court.

The Kezar engagement was featured by the brilliant play of the locals, especially of little Willie Blackfield, who collected 21 points in his 28 minutes of action. The Rams led at halftime, 25 to 20, pulled away to a safe distance shortly thereafter and thence were never threatened as every reserve was allowed to take part in the rout.

Close, Rough Contest

Friday evening's contest, however, provided excitement aplenty. Whether the Rams suffered a letdown after their pretty Wednesday performance, or whether Menlo was psychologically aided by playing in its little box court, was not known. At any rate, it was a close contest, start to finish, and not without its rough moments.

The first half proved a nip and tuck session, tuck (Menlo rather) leading at the intermission, 22 to 21, after Jack Wolf had been permanently expelled on his quota of personal fouls. Hardly had the second period started when Ed Curcio joined Wolf on the bench for the same reason. George Bedrosian replaced Curcio at guard and handled the task in good fashion.

Last Second Thriller

San Francisco, led by the sensational under-basket play of Alex Opalinski, spurted forth in the second half's first five minutes to gain the lead and advance it to eight points. Menlo retaliated soon, however, and while the Rams' white-clad hosts failed to regain the advantage thereafter, the outcome hovered precariously in doubt until the very last second.

Doug Needham, rangy center, proved the Menlo ace in the local game, collecting 15 markers, while Bob Lathos, forward, sizzled with 24 in Friday night's tussle. Opalinski had 13 at Menlo, Curcio and Bob Nicco gathering 10 apiece.

Following are the individual Ram scoring leaders for the two-game series:

PLAYER	fg.	ft.	tl.
Curcio, g	10	3	23
Blackfield, f	10	2	22
Opalinski, c	7	4	18
Nicco, f	4	2	10
Bedrosian, g	4	2	11

Horsehiders Whipped As Funston All-Stars Take Season Opener

Surprising all and sundry, by putting on an amazing hitting and fielding exhibition, the Ram horsehiders shellacked the Funston All-Stars by a 6 to 5 score last Tuesday afternoon on the Funston diamond.

Starting fast, the Rams hustled and hit their way into a 6 to 3 lead in the first four frames. Scoring once in the first; on a walk by Difu, a single by Baird, and in error by Marionetti, again in the second on Galbraith's hit on error, and hits by Difu and Baird, and in the third and fourth innings on hits by Baird, Rufus and McMahon.

The Funstonians kept pecking away, and tallied once each in the second, third and fourth cantos, thus keeping themselves always within reaching distance of the Rams.

Frankie Nilan, starting pitcher, was relieved in the sixth inning by Charley Christianson. The relief was purely for experimental purposes, as Nilan, formerly a strong-arm outfielder, was going great guns in his new found position.

S.F.J.C.

Lineup	AB	R	H
Difu, cf	2	2	1
Baird, 2b	4	1	3
McMahon, 3b	5	0	1
Danerl, lf	4	0	0
Rufus, rf	4	1	2
Rahmer, ss	4	0	0
Friedkin, 1b	3	0	0
Galbraith, c	4	0	0
Nilan, p	1	2	1
Christianson, p	2	0	1
Devine, cf	1	0	1
Blomberg, 1b	1	0	0
Burns, 	0	0	0
Totals	35	6	10

FUNSTON ALL-STARS

Lineup	AB	R	H
Michelucci, c	4	1	0
Marino, p-lf	4	0	0
Marionetti, ss	4	1	1
Pepper, 3b	4	0	1
Patch, cf	4	0	1
McSorley, lf	3	2	1
Lazzaretti, 1b	2	0	1
Banchero, 2b	3	0	0
Schreito, rf	1	1	0
Totals	29	5	5
Machie	0	0	0

Late WAA Signups Will Continue To End Of Week; Joe Williams, Bertha Keller To Teach Ice Skating

Late sign-ups for Women's Athletic Association activities will continue through Friday, February 3, for the benefit of the women who are interested in the WAA activities.

The purpose of late sign-up week is to give the women, whose programs were not settled at the time of the first sign-up week, an opportunity to select the activities in which they wish to participate.

Ice Skating Offered

In addition to the activities already offered, the WAA has been able to secure the San Francisco Ice Rink, at 48th Avenue on Fridays, from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock.

Ice skating is open to all women and men students. A reduction in rates has also been secured.

At the first meeting, the class consisted of nearly all beginners and a few older members of the previous spring semester.

Williams, Keller Direct

The class is under the supervision of Joseph Williams, and Bertha Mae Keller. All students who are interested in ice skating are urged to come out and join in the fun.

Suggestions have been made to have another Ice Carnival, since the one held the last spring semester turned out to be a success. If the plans are definite, the date may be on March 17, St. Patrick's day.

Jayvees Drop Double Header To Sacred Heart, Mt. Blanc Quintets

Coach Tom Wilson's junior varsity cagers bit off more than they could chew last Wednesday night at Kezar when they engaged in a double header against a strong Sacred Heart outfit and a surprising Mont Blanc Market quintet.

The college team was forced to play its best ball to get over Sacred Heart, current leaders in the San Francisco prep league 34 to 24. Coming back on the floor after a brief rest, the Rams proved no match for the strong market club and receipted for their worst defeat of the present season 30 to 15.

Gain Early Lead

In the first contest the Powell Street hoopsters garnered ten points before their opponents could tally a marker. This early lead was gained mainly through the splendid work of Ryan, Berns and Owens, Ram front line, who employed a fast break to run the prep leaders into the floor. Hereafter the game developed into a tight battle with the early lead established by the locals proving to be the margin of victory.

The college casaba artists started the second game with a rush and at one time held a 7 to 1 lead. From this point on, however, they faded and the Mont Blanc team overtook them to lead 15 to 8 at the intermission. The market quintet completed the rout in the second half as the Rams were too tired to offer much resistance.

Ryan High Scorer

Hugh Ryan, veteran center, led the individual scoring for the local lads by tallying 12 markers in the first game and 4 in the second to total 16 points for the evening.

Another busy week is on tap for the college cagers as they are scheduled to face the Santa Rosa Junior Varsity tonight on the latter's court. Friday night a double header is to be played with Commerce High at Kezar, and Saturday night the team journeys to Stockton to tangle with the strong Stockton High quintet.

Ram Cinder-Dusters Coming Along In Fine Shape With Little Practice; Good Weather Conditions

With only two weeks of practice under their belts, the Rams cinder-dusters are coming along in fine style, according to Russ Sweet, head man of the outfit.

Fine weather conditions have allowed the future Cunninghams to display their wares, with 200 pound Mel Chicazola, Don White and Joe West setting the pace for the rest of the herd.

Join Exposition Meet

The Rams will enter the Golden Gate invitational meet to be held March 4 on Treasure Island, and they are looking forward to making the college part of the fair.

The local trackmen will open their track season with Menlo on March 17, San Mateo on the 25th, Santa Rosa on April 8, Menlo and Marin on the 15th, San Francisco State on the 22nd, the Conference meet at Sacramento May 6, the Fresno Relays May 13, and the Junior P.A.A. on the 20th.

First Meet March 10

On March 10 and 11, the local college will hold its first interclass track meet, announced "Montana" Russ. The meet will be under the watchful eyes of Sweet, who will also be looking for varsity material. Two trophies may be given, one for the class champions and one for the winning relay team.

It is the hope of Sweet that the inter-class track meet will be a success and that a great deal of interest will be shown among the collegians.

Letters have been sent to the president of each class with the details and rules of the meet. The schedules and future details of this meet will be released later.

RAMblings
By RAY BERNS

• SPORTS COUPS OF '38:

One of the most brilliant coups which proved to be both a success and a failure was that attempted by the Australian Davis Cup tennis team.

In the national doubles tourney at Brookline, Mass. last August, the doubles combine, Jack Bromwich and Adrian Quist, supposedly pulled an "el foldo" in the finals, losing to the top-ranking American duo of Don Budge and Gene Mako in record time.

Germantown Reversal

That the Aussies were only lying in wait for our unsuspecting American lads was proved the following week in the Davis Cup match at Germantown, however, for the netsters from "down under" walloped Budge and Mako in the doubles encounter. Failure of the Antipodean plan to win the Cup may found in the fact that Bobby Riggs, America's bad boy of tennis, turned in a surprise victory in one of the singles encounters over Quist, thus nullifying the Aussie doubles win.

Led by Harry Hopman, seasoned veteran, the Australians will be back in full force this year however, and we had better look to our laurels, what with the entrance of Don Budge into the professional ranks.

• • •

• BRILLIANT BRAINSTORM

Seattle, Washington, a thriving metropolis of some 300,000 souls was the scene of a pugilistic encounter last summer between Freddie Steele of Seattle, defending champ, and Al Hostak, Tacoma challenger.

The fact that Fred Apostoli, San Francisco bell-hop was the logical challenger, didn't bother a Seattle promoter in the least, who saw a chance to keep the title in the Pacific Northwest.

Downward Trail

Steele had already dropped a few non-championship bouts, was getting along in years (the proud possessor of an infant son), and was on the downward trail. On the other hand, Hostak was a fresh ambitious youngster on his way up and popular with the local fight fans.

Consequently, when the bout was held, the title changed hands as might be expected, Hostak scoring a knockout victory in the early rounds.

Every plan has its flaw, and this one was no exception.

Appearance's Sake

Around the end of the year, it was decided that Hostak should, for appearance's sake, defend his crown.

Solly Krieger, a battle-scarred veteran of ring wars who had tasted the drudges of defeat many times in his long career, was picked to oppose the champion.

Krieger, with absolutely no respect for title or position, upset the apple-cart by scoring a clean-cut victory over his younger rival.

Thus, the middle-weight division is now ruled by an oft-defeated champion, all because of the brilliant brainstorm of a boxing promoter.

• • •

• LOCAL DOTS AND DASHES:

Russ "Rah-Rah" Sweet, track coach, announces that there will be an intramural track meet in the near future designed to create interest in the sport, and to uncover possible varsity candidates, hitherto undiscovered .... Hal Wagner, varsity tenniser, has not been practicing lately for a very good reason—he has the measles.

• PREDICTION:

Rams over Santa Rosa tonight by six points and again on Friday by ten points. Don't tell anyone we told you.

College Business Students Receive Secretarial Posts

In a list compiled January 20, F. Grant March, business director, presented the names of 52 secretarial students who had completed their business training in December and had been placed in positions by the business department at the time of the compilation of the list.

Among the firms represented as employers were such widely-known organizations as The National Broadcasting Co., the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., Aetna Insurance Company, Matson Steamship Line, and Borden Dairy Co.

A complete list of the graduates and their occupations follows: Adele Aigner, Home Owners' Loan Corp.; Marie Barret, Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co.; Doris Becker, Hotel Management Dept. J. C.; Doris Bendel, The Emporium; Darleen Bridenbecker, Libby-McNeil; Elfriede Buckwald, Libby-McNeil; Marion Daly, West Coast Insurance Co.; Patricia Dolan, Crocker Bank; Lola Camiches, National Broadcasting Co. (Mimeo. Dept.); Jeanne Carlisle, Provident Life Insurance Co.; Grace Cecchi, Carl McCann Furniture Co.;Dorothy Chase, Cluett Peabody & Co.; Clayton Shirley, Borden Dairy Company; Ruth Cotter, Waterfront Employers Association.

Douglas Dowd, Columbia Steel; Francis Garcia, Western Newspaper Union; Betty Gentry, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.; Mildred Farquhar, Office at Movie Theater; Ethel Flynn, Pro Credit Co.; A. H. Cobtes & Co.; Geraldine Frances Ford, California Packing Corp.; Alberta Fowler, Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co.; Edith Ginsburg, Carl McCann Furniture Co.; Lou Hagerman, California Packing Corp.; Myrtle Hamilton, St. Paul Fire & Marine Ins. Co.; Phyllis Johnson, San Francisco Bank; Ethel G. Jones, Aetna Insurance Co.; Mary Lamb, Metropolitan Insurance Co.

Vera Lashin, National Broadcasting Co.; Henrietta Lauer, Lewis Zellerback Co.; Denise Le Pas, Metropolitan Life Ins. Co.; Rita Matteucci, John J. Dito Co.; Eileen McCarthy, Robson and Robson; Jessie Ann McNeil, Postal Telegraph-Cable Co.; Donna McPherson, J. Walter Thompson Adv. Co.; Betty Milligan, National Broadcasting Co.; Norma Parent, Bank of America; Lillian Pelletier, Boy Scouts of America; Anne Rabinowitz, State Civil Service; Robert Re, Matson Steamship Line; Rosella Retallick, Boothe and Co.

Nanette Rosal, The Emporium; Louisa Russell, California Refrigerator Co.; Mildred Ross, Young Advertising Agency; Marcia Seobey, Hancock Life Insurance Co.; Helen Scott, State Compensation Ins. Fund Civil Service; Barbara Swanton, Equitable Life Insurance Co.; Walter Urga, United States Customs Service; Miyoshi Wada, National Dollar Stores; Gladys Warwick, California Packing Corp.; Margie Wright, Pacific Printing Ink Co.; Marion Yager, Guardian Life Ins. Co.; Virginia Loeb, Western Loan & Mortgage Co.

Sale Of Fair Scrip Books Temporarily Suspended

Student tickets for the Golden Gate International Exposition have been temporarily withdrawn from sale awaiting confirmation for their sale from the Board of Education.

This report issued from the bank Friday afternoon. As soon as confirmation is received they will be put back on sale. This student ticket entitles one to twelve admissions for $2.50.

AWS Assists Children In Social Service Work

Time and effort devoted to social welfare work, which resulted in personal pleasure, have been recently rendered by various Associated Women Students, revealed Dorothy Trood, AWS president.

Janet Ball, Dorothy Trood, Margaret Meader and Helen Culp are donating two hours a day, one day a week, to educational social service work which involves among other things, assisting small children in studies.

"Several more women can be placed if they are interested in the work," Miss Trood said, "and if they would care to help, they should see Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser in the near future."

ART DISPLAY

(Continued from page 1)

at the stores, by window display managers of San Francisco.

Messer, who has recently exhibited a painting and two lithographs, did special window display work for Frank Maxwell, prominent New York window display man. He was later the Paris correspondent for the Maxwell corporation, and until he came here was at San Francisco State College finishing work for a degree.

Allman's Students In Outdoor Art Laboratory

Students in the college art department capitalize on the buildingless situation which makes the whole city a college campus. From Telegraph Hill to Yacht Harbor, Golden Gate Park to Fisherman's Wharf, these students travel on location, finding inspiration where artists of years gone by have found an impetus on their way to fame.

Through the careful guidance of Richard Allman, instructor in the college of future artists, students have produced the three upper pictures, two of which portray, with exactness and realism, scenes in Golden Gate Park.

On the left, middle, Allman supervises his students at work, gently criticizes their attempts, encourages them to develop their talent.

Right middle, artist Robert Koviack puts the finishing touches to a painting similar to the one reproduced directly above.

Lower left, time out for lunch while on location. Lower right, the group in action, hard at work in a windswept hill.

Deadline For Club Advisory Board Charters Extended One Week

The policy of The Guardsman concerning club activities in the future will be to devote space to a club calendar of meetings and events.

Deadline for the Club Advisory Board charters has been postponed until the next meeting of the group. All petitions for charters must be in at that time," announced Robert Blackwell, president.

At the last meeting of the board two new by-laws were added to the board's constitution. A council composed of representatives from each of the fraternities and sororities of the college will discuss their problems after each regular meeting of the Club Advisory Board.

It was also voted to send out minutes after each meeting to the presidents of the various organizations. In doing this, the president will know what the board has discussed and planned, and also what the group will discuss at the next meeting.

The next meeting of the Club Advisory Board will be February 9 in Room 104 at 1 o'clock at the Powell Street Building.

● Astronomy Club . . . last week a heretofore unknown, unheard of comet was discovered by an American astronomer. The comet has been called Peltier Comet.

At the astronomy meeting, the group obtained the position of the comet and studied it through the Galileo telescope.

"It was truly a very rare occasion," commented Louis Berman, college astronomy authority.

● Alpha Gamma Sigma . . . elected the following officers to lead them this semester; James Henry, president; Dorothy Pilgrim, vice-president, and Dorothy Rodenbach, secretary-treasurer. Plans were discussed for the convention of all Alpha Gamma Sigma chapters April 1 at Treasure Island.

● "What Effects has Swing on the Younger Generation," will be discussed at the next meeting of the Forum Club to be held this Friday, February 2.

John Ward and John Cumming will be the principle speakers.

The meeting place will be announced on the Powell Street bulletin board.

● Requirements needed for acceptability as members of Omicron Phi Pi are the following: A or B in three units of economics and three units in either political science, history and sociology or six units of economics, club officers announced.

Initiation is to be held soon, and those eligible should contact Cecelia Elliot, Evans Carlson or Russell Brinkerhoff.

Faculty members of the club are Carl Stough, Lloyd Luckmann, Ward Nichols, Michael Zarchin, Franklin Sewell, John Selig and Gertrude Bolton.

● French Club . . . student officers for the spring semester are president, Herbert Crow; vice-president, Ethel Vizzard; secretary-treasurer, Robert Cranna.

Students interested in French are invited to join the club.

● Beta Pi chapter of Phi Alpha Omega . . . new officers for the semester are Temple Davies, president; Robert Hunt, vice-president; Thomas Redman, secretary, and Warren Nelson, sergeant-at-arms.

● Next regular meeting of the Tarbuth Society will be held at the home of Dr. Michael Zarchin, 2340 Francisco Street at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow evening. In order that the activities of the semester be planned, it is requested that all members make a special effort to attend.

● A pledge dinner, will be given for the prospective members of Beta Tau, Monday, February 6, announced Herman Graham, who is in charge of the dinner.

● Chinese Club . . . manager of the Chinese Club team, Gladys Lowe, is anxiously in search of an opponent (feminine party), preferably another college team, for a basketball contest.

The group holds its practice games at the Chinese Y.W.C.A. every Sunday at 12 a.m.

A cry for more women members primarily for strengthening the basketball squad was expressed by Frances Chin, club representative.

● Army and Navy Club . . . next meeting will be a business meeting to act on applications. The meeting to be held Thursday, February 2.

An initiation and dinner is to be held Friday, February 10, the place to be decided on later.

CLUB SCHEDULE

CLUB	MEETING	PLACE
Army & Navy	February 2	Business Meeting
Army & Navy	February 10	Initiation Dinner
Astronomy	Monday evenings	Galileo High School, Room 552
Alpha Phi Omega	February 2	166 Commonwealth Ave.
Beta Tau	February 6	Pledge Dinner
Camera	February 1, 3:30 p.m.	Galileo Dark Room
Forestry	February 8	Business Meeting
Forum	February 3, 7:30 p.m.	Business Meeting
Hotel and Restaurant Society	February 2, 7 p.m.	Yamoto Hotel
Hotel and Restaurant Society	February 7, 7:30 p.m.	Business Meeting
Music Club	February 2	1320 Lombard Street
Newman	February 6, 8 p.m.	St. Mary's Cathedral
Pi Mu Gamma	February 1	Homewood Terrace—Ashton & Faxon
Tri Epsilon	February 6, 8 p.m.

Dean Browne's Office To Assist Students Needing Positions

Dean Edwin C. Browne indicated this week that, although making no definite promises, his office stands ready to aid students in seeking employment.

Reaffirming his policy of the past, Dean Browne made the following statement:

"It is the desire of this office to help students get through college by aiding them in finding employment, in addition to N.Y.A. work, we have some positions offering board and room, and occasionally, in rare cases, paying cash.

"We do not make no definite promises," he concluded, "for jobs are by no means prolific. We will, however, serve to the best of our ability.

Dr. L. Bergesstresser Visits College, Lauds Hotel Division Work

The college was visited last week by Dr. Louis Bergstresser, well known educator.

Bergstresser is touring the United States on behalf of the General Education Board, a Rockefeller foundation, to study education and counseling throughout the country.

Showing especial interest in the Hotel and Restaurant division of the college, he pronounced it to be one of the best in the nation.

Accompanying him on his tour of inspection was Charles Simonds, director of counseling and guidance of the San Francisco Public Schools.

Both visitors expressed pleasure with the work that is being carried on within the college.

Today Last Chance To Remove Incompletes

Registrar Paul Mohr has issued a final warning to all students who wish to make up incompletes from the last semester.

Today is the deadline for making up incompletes that are to receive grades higher than D.

February 8 has been set as the deadline for filing petitions for graduation.

PRESIDENTIAL NOTES

(Continued from page 2)

cheer, and fight along with our team.

ONE PRESIDENT TO ANOTHER

An interview last week with President Cloud disclosed that the ambitions of the college radio artists will be temporarily side-tracked until more adequate arrangements can be made. It was felt that the installation of a course in radio broadcasting technique would aid immeasurably the presentation of the program, and since, President Cloud wishes the course to be a success he is contemplating assigning the course to Miss Marie Weller. Miss Weller, highly experienced in radio circles, would not be available for the course this semester. The course in all probability will be installed when Miss Weller can devote sufficient time for this instruction. At the present time she is occupied with duties pertinent to the World's Fair.

Veteran's Auditorium Scene Of High Frosh Dance, February 21

High Freshmen will be honored at the next social dance to be held on February 21 at the Veterans' Memorial Building.

The feature attraction of the dance is that the prizes for the Whiskerino are to be awarded at the dance.

The theme for the dance has not yet been chosen, and the orchestra is still uncertain.

These plans are the results of the meeting of the Social Committee, Tuesday, January 24. The theme and orchestra for the dance will be chosen at the next meeting.

Following the dance on February 21, will be another dance to be held on March 24. Plans for this dance have not yet been discussed.

Peace Conference Spectator To Address Faculty Association

Faculty Association members will meet next Tuesday afternoon, February 7, in Room 283 at Galileo High School at 3:30 o'clock to hear Edith Pence, director of curriculum in the San Francisco School Department speak on her recent trip to Lima, Peru, where she attended the Pan American Peace Conference.

"Miss Pence is an extremely interesting speaker, as those of us will remember, who knew her here in the college during its initial year, when Miss Pence was a member of the faculty," Edward Sandys, Faculty Association president said.

Judicial Committee To Consider Traffic Problems At Meet Today

First meeting of the Judicial Committee will take place today at 4:20 p.m. in Room 257. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss plans and action to take place this semester.

Right now the Judicial Committee has two major problems facing it. First, it is to aid the Block Society in taking care of traffic violators, and second, it is to regulate certain misdemeanors which occur about the Galileo building. Howard Cloud, chairman of the committee, requested that all members attend. Those on the committee are Dorothy Trood, Adele Kuhn, Ray Berns, Frank Verduced, and Howard Cloud.

PROSPERITY CORNER

(Continued from page 2)

ANSWERS

1. Jean Baptiste Poquelin. 2 Michelangelo Buonarroti. 3. Robert Taylor. 4. Zeter (a family name). 5. David Everett. 6. Siva. 7. Genealogy. 8. Ottarino Respighi. 9. In 1360 A. D. to his cousin Joana, Countess of Kent. 10. Between Greenland and Iceland.

New Hotel Course Opens; Enrollment Record Soars

Reports from the registrar's office indicate that this year the college has the largest enrollment since the time that it was first established.

At the close of last week the enrollment figure was set at 2185. This time last year the enrollment equalled 2050. This indicates that so far there are 135 more students in the college.

It must be remembered that this figure was set before enrollment closed, hence it is probable that when the final figures are released the total will be much larger.

It is indeed gratifying to know that more and more persons are realizing the advantages that the college offers. Eight semesters ago when the college opened a little over 1000 students registered.

Since then the enrollment has grown steadily. Today the college is looked upon as an "established institution of learning with a modern and progressive student body."

Huge Barbecue Will Feature College Sophomore Week

A rapid succession of events are slated for Sophomore Week, May 1 to 5, said Floyd Lawrence, High Sophomore president.

"We plan to start the week with a gigantic barbecue," Lawrence announced today, and it with the traditional Sophomore Formal."

Lawrence added that his committee, including Betty Chrysler, vice-president, and Phil Waley, secretary, are in favor of the California Country Club as the proper place for the dance.

• • •

To discuss plans for a High Freshman picnic and dinner Lee Scarlett, class president, announces a special meeting today at 2 o'clock in the rear of the faculty cafeteria at Galileo.

"All High Freshmen are urged to attend," Scarlett said.

HEA 'Get Acquainted' Tea Tomorrow Afternoon At Adviser Cuneo's Home

Featuring initiation of new members the Home Economics Association will hold a "Get-acquainted Tea" at the home of Claire Cuneo, HEA adviser, on Tuesday, February 2 at 4 p.m. Miss Cuneo's address is 2937 Divisadero Street and is accessible by cars D and E.

Hostesses at the affair will be the out-going officers, Teckla Hegdi, president; Dixie McCormick, vice-president; Helen Hickey, secretary, and Violet Burgess, treasurer, and in addition, Charlotte Niel and Agnes Read.

Following the meeting, Miss Cuneo will display her collection of Oriental textiles, costumes, arts, and crafts. "The exhibition will be primarily for the benefit of the Home Economics 519 class," she said, "but any woman student interested is welcome to remain."

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS
The Guardsman
SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE
Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1939 No. 5

NO SCHOOL TUESDAY!
All classes will be excused next Tuesday, February 14 so that students may attend the Exposition parade on that day. There WILL, however, be school on Monday.

Do You Like Compulsory Courses
See Page 2

Red Rifleers Victorious; Athletic Council Refuses Minor Awards Request

Co-Educational Sport Cited As Reason For Block Denial

Sounding the death-knell of hopes that the college Rifle and Pistol teams might be eligible for minor sports blocks, the Men's Athletic Council last week voted adversely on such consideration.

Bill Gibson, Rifle-Pistol club president and member of the league-leading college marksmen, appeared before the council meeting to argue in favor of the proposal which was subsequently submerged by a unanimous vote.

None of the other junior colleges which had been contacted, Gibson informed the Council, makes minor sports awards to rifle and pistol teams, although the two major local universities, Stanford and California, do present blocks to their marksmen.

Objects to Co-eds

One of the major objects to the granting of awards cited was the fact that, Rifle and Pistol being co-educational sports, the college teams are open to women as well as men.

"It would look funny," Russ Sweet pondered, "to see women students wearing Block SF's."

Others Too

And added Mel Peterson, council member and Block Society president.

"I hadn't considered Rifle and Pistol as sports in the same sense as are baseball and football. Should the petition be granted, it wouldn't be long other co-educational sports would be clamoring for awards."

Hugh Ryan suggested that possibly some type of awards could be made for Rifle and Pistol, but advised against their recognition as minor sports.

Another stumbling block was the matter of a precedent.

In view of the fact that no local institution of junior college standing has yet granted Rifle and Pistol awards, it was decided to wait for a pioneer in the field.

Ex-Council Mere Formality

Although the Executive Council must pass final judgment on the athletic council's ruling, it is generally conceded that this final action will be a mere formality.

Even disregarding the improbability of the Executive Council reversing the athletic council's decision, the presence, in the higher body, of "five" Block Society members makes such a procedure a virtual impossibility.

Blue Team Defeated By Stronger Cohorts; Gibson Leads Scoring

Continuing their winning ways, the college Red Rifleers decisively defeated their usual cohorts, the Blue squad, on Thursday evening, February 2, at Galileo High School Rifle Range by the score of 997 to 824.

For the second time this semester, Captain Bill Gibson led the scoring for the Red squad with a total of 186 points.

North Follows

He was followed closely on the scoring list by Charles North and George Humphrey both with totals of 183 digits to their credit. Leading scorer for the losers was William Voight with 176.

Coach Fred McFarland expressed his approval of the entire squad's showing at the Northern California Rifle and Pistol competition held Sunday, January 29, at Napa by saying, "even though one of our ace sharpshooters, George Humphrey, was not present we managed to place fourth in the competition with a total of 897 points. "Charles North, who led our team in the scoring, was awarded a gold medal for being the high man on the team."

Trophy For Gibson

"Bill Gibson scoring 189 out of a possible 150 points copped first place in the individual off-hand competition. Gibson was awarded a gold medal and a year's possession of the three foot gold trophy significant of his victory in the competition," McFarland continued proudly.

Lt. Nellis Riley was also awarded a gold medal for being the leading scorer on the Blue squad which was also entered in the competition.

Reds Shoot

Tomorrow evening, February 9, at 8 p.m., the Red team will meet the San Francisco Rod and Gun Club in what should be another victory for the college sharpshooters.

Scores made in last week's intra-squad competition are listed below.

Red Squad—997		Blue Squad—824
*W. Gibson	186	*W. Voight	176
*C. North	183	*M. Schrick	163
*G. Humphrey	183	*R. Wilson	163
*A. Templeton	181	*R. Weeks	162
*H. Cavagnolo	174	*J. Hewitt	160
G. Stewart	170	W. Elchel	158
E. Templeton	159	N. Riley	118
R. Dare	156

*High Five.

Men's Club Wheat Derby Winners Will Be Judged February 21; Goldstone Gives Sneak Preview

Contestants Report To Amori's Committee Of Judges At Galileo

The winners of the wheat-derby will be judged at Galileo on the afternoon of February 21. All contestants must present themselves to Joe Amori and his committee of judges.

1. The Pretty Boy mustache. If anaemic, try this one. Glassy stare will help. Note celluloid collar.

2. The Svengali type. He has long hair, circles under his eyes, and a dirty disposition.

3. We mustn't forget about the dictators. While holding his own in the matter of purges, Joe Stalin also beats all the rest for sheer whisker-magnitude.

4. This is the Devil, folks. Old Meph himself! If you can sprout horns, try this style . . . Wass-matter, Dev, does Joe's incinerator annoy you?

5. We're all bums at heart, men. To qualify in this class, you must wear a crummy hat (don't we all!) and a satisfied expression. Keep beard trimmed with dull scissors.

6. Here's the Old English or Walrus type. Note that Lord Twiddle-Twaddle, here pictured, is drooling. If you drool easily, try this type.

7. Aw, why not forget all the fancy styles. And just let the spinach grow wild, as in days of yore?

Hotel Men Meet College Division

Some of those who will attend the Northern California Hotel Association luncheon given by members of the college Hotel and Restaurant Society are as follows: Seated at extreme left are John F. Shea, secretary Northern California Hotel and Purveyors Association; Harvey M. Tey, manager Manx Hotel. Standing from left to right are Archibald J. Cloud, president San Francisco Junior College; J. C. Benwick, chief of Bureau of Trade and Industrial Education; Dan E. Londos, manager St. Francis Hotel; P. Tremain Loud, manager Californian Hotel; J. Graham Sullivan, coordinator for the college Hotel and Restaurant Society; George Koch, manager Whitcomb Hotel; John Loubre, manager Pacific Coast Cooks Association. Seated from left to right are George D. Smith, general manager Mark Hopkins and Fairmont Hotels; Archibald Price, formerly manager Palace Hotel; Bon B. Barzer, manager Sir Francis Drake Hotel; J. J. Schlaepfer, manager Bureau of Hotels and Restaurants.

College Restaurant Managament Chefs To Play Hosts For Hotel Association Banquet Tuesday At Galileo Cafe

Hotel Division students will prepare and serve the annual spring luncheon of the California Northern Hotel Association on Tuesday, February 14, in the Galileo Faculty Cafeteria.

For the second successive year, the embryo hotel and restaurant men of the college will have the opportunity of demonstrating their ability as chefs and catering managers before an outstanding group of possible future employers at this important event.

From All Over

More than one hundred members of the Hotel Association are expected to gather from all parts of northern California for the luncheon which will be served in the faculty dining hall in the Galileo building.

P. Tremain Loud, manager of the Hotel Californian and president of the Association, which enthusiastically favors the work of the Hotel Division, will preside at the luncheon and Terry Sandelin, student, and one of a number of the group will act as official host representing the students.

Vocational Education

A program stressing the value of present day vocational education and outlining specific work being done in the hotel and restaurant training program will be printed.

Tom Duffy, as catering manager, will have charge of production and service. Student speakers will be Carl Rutledge, Cynthia Richardson, and Lee Scarlett.

Scott, College Baritone, Given Lead Singing Role In Exposition Pageant

Bob Scott, local college singer has been given the baritone role in a gigantic pageant of the Golden Gate International Exposition to be held during the last week of April, on the Exposition grounds.

This role has been sung in the past by the great baritone John Charles Thomas.

The pageant, under the supervision of Marie Weller, faculty member, has a gigantic cast of 1500 students from the different high schools in the city, with the important speaking and singing roles held by students of this college.

Rehearsals for the extravaganza are held daily at the various high schools, beginning with Polytechnic, Monday, Mission on Tuesday, Lowell on Wednesday, Galileo on Thursday, and George Washington on Friday.

Tentative plans to hold the pageant in an open air theater are being discussed by Exposition authorities.

"Progress is being made rapidly because of the excellent cooperation I have been receiving, and I am sure the pageant will be a huge success," Miss Weller said.

"The personnel of the pageant will include more than 1200 students together with 200 young musicians chosen from the schools of the city," Miss Weller concluded.

A Cappella Choir Will Repeat Concert Success; Invited To Pacific College

As a result of repeated requests a concert comparable to the one given last semester by the A Cappella Choir will be given at a date to be set later, announced Flossita Badger, choir director.

Miss Badger reported that the choir has an unusually busy season ahead of it, and since choir rehearsals have been going well, an unusually good season is expected.

"We are flattered and interested," she said, "by an invitation to sing at the College of Pacific in Stockton. The date has not been set yet but the choir and myself are looking forward to the event.

"Toward the end of March we will present a program for the Kiwanis Club, and although a definite date has not been decided upon, we know definately that the choir will sing at the Exposition," she concluded.

New officers of the A Cappella Choir are president, Arnold Chapin; vice-president, Patricia Keefer; secretary, Tina Ariani.

High Freshman Informal Dance At War Memorial To Star Eddie Murphy

To honor the High Frosh, an informal dance is to be held Tuesday, February 21, at the Veteran's War Memorial Building, according to Miriam Dunne, head of the Social Committee.

Music for the evening's entertainment will be provided by Eddie Murphy and his orchestra. The dance is to be very informal and the women may attend in street clothes.

The natural theme for the dance at this time, will be the Golden Gate International Exposition.

Eddie Murphy and his orchestra will swing from nine to twelve with the usual admission, one student body card to a couple.

Whiskerino, the prizes for the handsomest and most full-grown beard will be awarded at the dance that evening.

All students are invited to attend, but are warned about lending Associated Student cards to outsiders.

The next dance of the semester will follow on March 24, and plans will be discussed at the next meeting of the Social Committee.

High Freshman Meeting To Be Held Thursday To Discuss Marin Outing

To plan a picnic and other events there will be a general meeting for all high freshmen, following the rally Thursday in the Galileo Auditorium, announced Lee Scarlett, High Freshman president.

"We had a fairly good turn out last week," Scarlett said "but thought it would be better to delay a week and give more students a chance for participation."

He added that students attending this and future meetings will be given an opportunity to help in making plans for their own class activities.

Dan Baker, low sophomore president, promises definite low sophomore activities in the near future, after recently holding a meeting with his committee, Camille Condrotte and Mel Chiezolin.

May 5 has been set as the date for the Sophomore Formal, to be held at the California Country Club, Floyd Lawrence, high sophomore president announced. Other activities of Sophomore Week will include a picnic and barbecue, a Homecoming Day, and an entertainment.

College Representatives For Oratory Tournament Named By Luckmann

Lloyd D. Luckmann, faculty adviser for the college debaters, announced today those members who will represent the college at the College of the Pacific Oratory Tournament tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, February 8, 9 and 10.

Barbara Smith, freshman and former winner of the State high school oratory contest, will compete for the college in the Oratory Contest for Women. Miss Smith will speak for 12 minutes on the subject of Mercy Killings.

In the extemporaneous speaking division, Floyd Lawrence, Fred Hoshiyama and two others, as yet unnamed, will draw sub-topics from under the general heading of Modern Education.

According to the rules of the competition, 30 minutes before the contest begins, the contestants draw the sub-topics upon which they are to orate for a period of five minutes.

Two debating teams have been named by Luckmann and according to him both teams have fine chances of copping high honors. The first squad consisting of Bill Switzer and John Ellis, along with the second pair of Charles and Russell Henry constitute veteran teams. The topic chosen for debate is, Resolved: That the United States should cease to use public funds and public credit for the stimulation of business," Luckmann explained.

Electioneering Procedure May Undergo Revision; Policing Drive Continues

Block SF Society Achieving Success; Gentleness Praised

The policing campaign under the supervision of the college Block SF Society is slowly achieving success.

This announcement came from Mel Peterson, president of the group, after the conclusion of the second week of the drive.

"We intend to police Powell Street for the duration of the semester, and once again wish to warn students to refrain from loitering on the Powell Street stairs or sidewalk," Peterson said.

Students Pleased

General opinion among the students of the college was that with a few exceptions, the job was being done very neatly and efficiently.

Because of the adverse weather conditions existing last week, it was impossible to accurately estimate the degree of efficiency obtained by the Blockmen. However, it has been estimated that the congestion on the steps and in front of the building has decreased approximately 50 per cent.

Appreciation Expressed

Appreciation was expressed by several members of the faculty, and student body, of the polite manner in which offenders were asked to depart from the steps.

Warning was today issued by the society that in the future anyone failing to comply with the new rules will be subject to severe punishment.

It is felt that sufficient warnings have been issued, so that there should be no excuse for any misdemeanors.

Revised Building Plans Receive Final Approval From State Authorities

Final approval of the revised plans for the new home for the college, was received today by J. Paul Mohr, registrar. The plans were returned from Sacramento last Friday with the approval of the State Division of Architecture attached to them.

"It is gratifying to realize that at last, we are nearing the actual construction work of our building," Mohr said.

The revisions have yet to be approved by the Public Works Administration, before the government funds can be awarded. Following this approval, which is considered as merely a matter of form, the specifications will be given to the Board of Public Works. This board will then have all the necessary details to begin construction.

Executive Council Will Consider Referendum Issue At Meeting

Electioneering procedure of student body office candidates may undergo a revolutionary change if the executive council acts to put a referendum issue on the ballot of the next election.

The issue is now being drawn up and will be either rejected or accepted at the next meeting of the council.

Feel Change Necessary

A vote taken among the members of the council at its meeting last Thursday conclusively proved that the majority of the representatives felt some change was necessary so that no one candidate would have an advantage over another through his ability to employ expensive propaganda.

If the issue should become a part of the constitution by the student vote of approval, all forms of printed matter including cards, blotters, posters, bulletins, and leaflets will be barred from future elections. This bears out the recommendation made last semester by the Publications Board.

Unfair Advantage

Most members of the council feel that one candidate has an unfair advantage over his opponent through his ability to advertise with expensive propaganda, while his less well-to-do opponent, unable to cope with such a program has small chance of winning the race regardless of his merits as compared with his opponent.

If the council passes the referendum and places it on the ballot, students will have an opportunity of deciding whether electioneering will go on as it formerly has or whether this college will follow in the footsteps of Washington, Stanford, California, and many lesser institutions in banning this procedure.

Fights Changed

President of the Block Society, John Johnson announced a change in the dates of the Men's Club fights to March 1 and March 10.

Miriam Dunne of the social committee disclosed that the next dance will be February 21 at the Veteran's War Memorial Building, while Art Barnes of the rally committee announced that the next rally will be February 13.

Mel Peterson, representing the men's athletic council, made known that the application of the rifle team for blocks, on the grounds that it is a minor sport, has been denied and that existence of a crew has been sanctioned providing someone can be found to act as a coach for that body.

Marin Bus Excursion To Leave Friday Night For Basketball Game, Dance At Kentfield

Plans for a special college bus to transport rooters to Marin Junior College for the annual basketball game with that institution, have been formulated by Art Pomares, head yell leader, it was announced today.

Leaving Friday night, February 10 on the Sausalito ferry a contingent of Ram supporters will journey to Kentfield for the game, which will be followed by a dance. Price for the round trip will be 40 cents with the charge of one quarter for admission to the dance.

The trip should prove interesting, for not only is the Marin team one of the leaders in the Northern California Junior College Basketball Conference, but student authorities from across the bay have notified the college of their intention to give a highly successful and entertaining dance.

Music Guaranteed

Plans have already been made to secure talent for the dance, and good music has been guaranteed. Complete information will be posted on the Powell Street bulletin board.

The third rally of the semester which is to be held Monday afternoon, February 13, at Galileo, will have as its purpose the promotion of spirit for future trips. According to the rally committee, headed by Pomares, much talent has been secured for the occasion.

Commenting upon the Santa Rosa excursion last week, Pomares said, "Even though the showing for the recent trip was somewhat disappointing, I am certain that future events of that type will be successful."

Salinas Trip Planned

Although plans are not as yet complete, it is expected that another rooters' excursion will travel to Salinas on Friday, February 17, to watch the Ram quintet in action. Further details pertaining to this matter were not available this week.

Any student desiring to attend either the Marin or Salinas games, should watch the bulletin board in Powell Street for last minute developments. Jack Schmale, college publicity director is attempting to get the best possible rates for these and other college specials, and it is hoped that because of the very nominal cost many students will plan to attend at least one of the encounters.

Pomares expressed his pleasure in the showing of the women members of the rally committee for their appearing in uniform at the Santa Rosa game. "It is very gratifying to realize that my committee is cooperating with me to the fullest extent, in an attempt to provide the college with good rallies and excursions," Pomares said.

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1939 No. 5

JOHN JULIUS........EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser........Business Adviser
Joan Nourse........Edward H. Redford

Bill Frants........Managing Editor
Leonard Gross........News Editor
Ray Berns........Sports Editor
Isadore Maloff........Feature Editor
Carol Pickering........Women's Editor
Dorothy Trood........Club Editor
Sam Galstaun........Staff Photographer
Marion MacKillop........Staff Artist
Allen Martin........Business Manager
Edmund Wunsch........Assistant Business Manager

REPORTERS
Lucretia Antonicelli, Ernie Baer, Ethan Bernstein, Bill Canning, Jacqueline Davis, Janet Fellows, Lois Gipson, Louis Goldstone, Dave Johnson, Frances Manalo, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Frank Verducci, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

"Humor And Its Importance To The College"

Among the articles selected to appear in the most recent edition of the Phi Delta Kappa publication, a national educational fraternity, is an article by President A. J. Cloud.

The University of California chapter of the fraternity is edited by Joseph Amori, instructor at the College, who tries to cover a different phase of education for each edition, the last one being The Junior College.

Articles were written by President Cloud, also by Graham Sullivan, and Grant Marsh, of the college faculty.

President Cloud's article, "Humor And Its Importance To The College" is presented below just as it appeared in the magazine.—The Editor.

By A. J. Cloud

"ONCE upon a time, a writer opined that there were only thirty-eight laugh-provoking tales in existence, or even had been anywhere; that all others were variants of the thirty-eight; and that many of them were hoary with age. It may be so. Deponent averreth not.

"But I do now and here contend that an authentic compilation derived from all languages, quick or dead, of "jokes and gibes and repartees and witticisms," of merry jests, quips, and, yea, even of puns, (despised of pundits and other learned Brahamans), would be an invaluable aid to the beleaguered teachers, assailed by any superior, median, or inferior complex which should beset him. This work to be most useful should be carefully annotated, and, possibly chronologically arranged.

Personal Recollection

"Mention of those latter considerations arise from a personal recollection. In my student days at high school one of the teachers may have had in his possession of the nucleus of a collection of witty narratives suitable for inclusion in a History of Humor, for his instructional materials were so integrated and coordinated that, when he arrived at a given unit of the course, he found in his notebook an item reminding him that time and place were propitious for him to spring a pleasant surprise on the class. Departing for a moment from the more serious business of the day, he became the story-teller. He regaled his youthful audience with the 'Let the other man walk' yarn which Dickens on his tour of the State siezed upon as the typical American joke of the period; or, one of Chauncey Depew's classic after-dinner bon mots, or what not. He always got a good hand. The boys and girls "laughed and laughed". They enjoyed his sallies of wit immensely. They felt he was human. They worked hard for him, and grew in understanding. No doubt his technique might have been more scientific; but, at that, his procedures were a long step ahead of the birchrod and the ferule, or the hickory stick, whether mentally or physically applied.

Former Pupils

"One day this week I was seated at a Community Chest luncheon with a man who had been a teacher long ago. He was warmly greeted in succession by some six or eight young men who passed by the table. Invariably they approached him with a smile, and addressed words of kindly remembrance to him. He observed that these men had been pupils in his classes years before, and that now they were all worthily occupying stations of responsibility in the Chest Campaign and organization. Then he remarked that, while the financial compensation of the teacher might be low, other rewards were high. Judged by his experience, said he, the disciple in later years nearly always overlooked the mean and paltry attributes of the master, and called to mind only the good. Some coins were bronze, some silver, some gold. For the teachers, he thought, humor was gold."

San Jose State College claims the distinction of having a radio engineering course from which all graduates are given employment in their chosen field. One hundred per cent placement is a good record in any language. Perhaps some day a placement will be established at this institution.

Country To Celebrate Lincoln's Birthday, Sunday—"He Applied What He Learned"

ON Sunday, February 12, this country will celebrate the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, sixteenth president of the United States.

Lower schools celebrate Lincoln's birthday with fitting ceremonies of some sort.

College students, however, are too likely to forget the great reverence that is due Lincoln.

In their younger days, these students were held spellbound while teachers annually retold thrilling stories built around the "Great Emancipator."

As they grew older, the students met a disillusionment. Their hero, it developed, was not a super-man but an ordinary human, not above making mistakes.

Nevertheless, one cannot deny that Lincoln was a great man, not undeserving of the many tributes paid him.

A point that should be of interest to all college students today is the fact that Lincoln, in the face of many handicaps, and by dint of much sacrifice, educated himself.

Not only did he educate himself but he applied what he learned in books to every day living.

Nowadays, with practically free education abounding, the problem is not so much to get the education, but to apply what has been learned.

Prosperity Corner
By Sam Galstaun

1. What is Rembrandt's last name?
2. What is Nijinsky's first name?

THE "BIRD MAN"

Nijinsky has been accepted as the greatest ballet dancer the world has known. According to the Russian calendar, he was born on February 28, 1890, in Kiev, South Russia. At a very early age he began to train for the ballet, and before long he was a principal dancer. As a dancer he was superb, accomplishing many things that have never been equalled, such as criss-crossing his legs ten times (in the air). His favorite stunt, however, was performed in the ballet "Spectre de la Rose", in which he made a leap from one end of the stage and landed through an open window on the other. This feat secured for him the popular title of "bird-man". It might be interesting to mention that because of an exceptionally high ankle-bone he was able to make these tremendous jumps. A few years after the World War, his mind gave way and with it his art. Now, he is a man close to fifty, but probably permanently insane.

3. Who was the first known person to land on the American continent?
4. How is gas generated in the lethal gas chamber as used in San Quentin Penitentiary?
5. Who wrote the book "Utopia"?
6. What are the names of the six wives of Henry VIII?
7. Who built San Francisco's longest and most famous wharf?

SAN FRANCISCO'S FAMOUS WHARF

The man who built the wharf (site of the present Fisherman's wharf) was an accomplished engineer. The length of the wharf was some 2000 feet, and every day (blank) would sail out to the Golden Gate to welcome entering ships. After the completion of the wharf, he was "up to his neck" in debt. One day he went to the City Hall and into the city comptroller's office . . . but no one was there. However, on the comptroller's desk were $250,000 worth of negotiable bonds for the paving of the streets of San Francisco. Badly in need of money, Mr. (blank) forged the comptroller's name to the bonds. That night, after paying up his debt, he gave a party, and presented to each woman an expensive gift. During the party he skipped out, and sailed to South America.

STRANGER THAN FICTION

At South America he proposed a plan to the heads of the republics to build a railroad across the Andes. The answer he received was that it was too fantastic a scheme to be realized. On his own initiative he undertook the task. However, luck was with him all the way. In the drilling of the 67 tunnels through the Andes range, gold, silver and various metals were discovered, thereby more than accounting for the cost of the railway. A few years later the railway was completed and some three hundred million dollars worth of valuable metals recovered. Mr. (blank), now a wealthy man and well on in years, specified in his will that the money he stole from the city of San Francisco was to be returned. Shortly after he died a Peruvian Man o' War entered the Golden Gate with a casket of gold to be delivered to the City Hall.

8. What is the middle name of Paul Pitman?
9. Who wrote: "A little learning is a dang'rous thing. Drink deep or taste not the Pierian spring."
10. Where is the Gulf of Bothnia?

(Quiz Answers—Page 4, Column 3)

Guardsman Inaugurates Poll of Student Opinion

WITH this issue is inaugurated the "Guardsman Poll of Student Opinion." The Guardsman will publish ballots asking student opinion on matters of college interest. The results, together with information derived from personal interviews, will be compiled in percentages.

This week the question is: "Which of the required courses would you take if they were not compulsory?" Check your answers in the ballot printed below and leave them in The Guardsman box at Powell Street or at Galileo. Watch next week's issue for the results.

Any suggestions for subjects to be polled should be put in writing and left with the ballot.

Which of the following subjects would you take if they were not compulsory?

	Yes	No
American Institutions	....	....
Hygiene	....	....
Physical Education	....	....

Man........ Woman........

Cabbages & Kings
By Blue Pencil Bill

NOW is the opportune time to grow that mustache, men. At any other time of your young lives you would be hooted down by your friends and relatives. You would be asked whether that is dirt under your nose, or to stand closer to the razor next time you shave. Those of you who aspire to emulate Clark Gable, Ronald Colman, and other handsome heroes with hair on the upper lip have your chance now. It's not too late to enter the Men's Club Whiskerino.

• • •

FIESTA SPIRIT

It has been suggested by several students that the college "go Fiesta". The neighborhood stores are doing it, the gas station attendants are decked out with cowboy outfits, members of many unions are required to grow beards, all to show that they are full of Fiesta spirit.

Why don't the students at the college adorn themselves with fiesta outfits? (We didn't say that, that's what the fellows said to us.) We're going to wear jeans anyway-why not wear them during Fiesta Week? And some of the shirts we wear are loud as it is- a fellow can still wear them. Well, it's not up to us-it's up to you.

• • •

WERNER ANNOUNCES

Mort Werner, former student at the college, is now announcing down south in the Cocoanut Grove. Mort announced the One O'clock Review over a local station and received a great deal of favorable attention.

Another local boy makes good. Hugh Waite, last semester's yell leader is now employed by a large East Bay hotel. His position, the way he figures it out, is that he is Fifth Assistant Manager. The boys from the Hotel Division would like to know how you do it, Hughie.

• • •

Recently a survey was made at the University of Chicago. The question was to discover if swing music were more popular than symphonic music. The results: one-third of the students prefer symphonic music. It didn't say that logically speaking two-thirds of the students preferred swing. Or—with students who attend U. of Chi—it's swing two to one. (With apologies to you know what.)

• • •

RAINY DAY ON SUTTER STREET

It's a rainy day, the wind is blowing water into his face, as Jay College is hurrying from 58 Sutter to Powell Extension—time, 11:59 a.m. Poor Jay is soaking wet. He puts his books over his head and runs like h——l to beat the signal at Post Street. Does he make it?—yes. He gets halfway up the block when the clouds turn themselves inside out just above Jay's head.

Jay, seeing he can't hold out against the rain, runs for a nearby awning. He's still in a hurry, however—his books are soaked, his coat is soaked, and his shoes have holes in them now. Two steps later he is under the awning—but someone got there first—guess who? A lady with an umbrella.

Jay steps into the rain again and ahead of the lady, he's travelling at a pretty fast clip when—Bang! He bumps into two people coming from the other direction. The impact must have shaken the awning because a pint of water dripped down his neck. Jay gets started again—but someone's ahead of him—guess who—a lady with an umbrella—Jay steps into the rain again and ahead of the lady. He's back under the awning in no time at all when he discovers someone's ahead of him—guess who?—a lady with an umbrella. Jay finally reaches Powell Street at 12:15 p.m.

When Jay comes out of class the rain has ceased, the sun is trying to shine through a few clouds, and it's time to eat. Jay walks down to Sutter, turns the corner and discovers someone standing under an awning—guess who?—a lady with a parasol. We'd better stop now. See you next week.

Vogue's-eye view of Vanity—50,000 B.C. . . . The dawn of vanity. A necklace of stag-teeth and fish vertebrae for a Cro-Magnon woman. The first comb—a fish's back-bone.

MIDTERMS
By Marion MacKillop

Presidential Notes
By Frank Verducci

College Gains Unknown By Public

SEVEN terms ago a handful of instructors and a group of students composed the college. At the time the college was in the experimental stage, and many unjust remarks were made about the struggling institution. People failed to see that this junior college would rise to and even surpass many of the accomplished junior colleges.

FROM RAGS TO RICHES

Today, seven semesters later, this college is a success from every conceivable standpoint. Our administrative staff cannot be equalled. Nowhere can one find such jolly, understandable and competent faculty members. Our extra-curricular activities are so numerous and so varied as to permit every student in the college to take an active part. From the point of view of athletics, our teams are slowly but surely reaching a point where the mere mention of their names is enough to frighten their opponents.

SLANDER UNJUST

Yet in spite of these favorable conditions, people still continue to make unfavorable remarks about this college. In reality they are not marking the college as it exists today but as it existed on the premature stage. When one mentions San Francisco Junior College people continue to think of it as it existed seven semesters ago. Therefore it is up to us, the students, to correct the fallacy and to spread word of the wonderful changes and improvements that have taken place since that time.

VETERANS' BLDG. SCENE OF DANCE

The next dance, honoring the high frosh, will be held Tuesday evening, February 21 at the Veterans' Memorial Building. Admission to the dance will be one student body card per couple. The last dance held at the St. Francis was a huge success. This coming dance will be held at the time the World's Fair will be in full swing and in such holiday spirit as to be even a greater success than previous ones. Grab your partner and "LET'S DANCE".

Sartorial Modes
By Fashion Fanny

Fish, Pill-Box Adorn New Hats

BRIGHT colors are seen everywhere round the town now, and one outfit that was pleasing to the eye was a plaid jacket and plain skirt on a blonde. The jacket was made up of soft pastels of green, yellow, wine and fuschia. The skirt was the fuschia shade—plain and made on a circular basis.

A young college woman seen tea dancing the other day, made a pleasing picture indeed. Topping her dark hair with a toy straw hat of cerise with a floating veil, black silk spring dress with white lace collar and cuffs, a smart black coat, patent bag and shoes, with gloves matching the hat. A well planned and very effective costume.

NEW HATS DARINGLY COQUETTISH

The new hats are young and gay and coquettish, many of them coming in the sailor model with taffeta bows, budding flowers, leaves and veils. Some are primly plain with ribbon bands, grapes or fish, while others are pillboxes, bumpers brims, tall crowns, and that smart Paris creation, the mushroom hat with the brim turned under and a fluffy pom-pom.

Still creating a sensation for lovely young things is jewelry. Never has one seen such an array of costume jewelry that makes one want to buy each piece in the show-case. A bracelet and brooch of pure crystal balls with minute pearls on the end of each ball is exquisite with black. Garnet, ruby, and sapphire are among the other top-notchers of the season.

WHAT TO WEAR FOR THE FAIR

Spring plaid coats are coming into the spotlight and are slowly climbing up in the favor of the women. They will be ideal for the busy days at the Fair, because it is bound to be cold going over and coming home late in the evening. Another ideal costume for the Fair is the shirtmaker wool dress, accompanied by walking shoes, because the young women who wear high heels and furs to the Exposition grounds will be looked upon as over-dressed.

While Thinking . . .
By Leonard Gross

UNLESS we are greatly mistaken, the next few months will prove to be revolutionary ones for the field of aviation. Imperial Airways of Great Britain last week informed the British House of Commons that they contemplated the beginning of a seasonal, transatlantic air service by June first.

Although this plan will at first be of an experimental character, it is hoped by both American and British authorities, that it will become a regular, and well-organized service.

TOP RANKING EUROPEAN AIRWAY

For the benefit of those who are unfamiliar with Imperial Airways, it might be well to disclose a few facts regarding it. Throughout Europe, the organization is regarded as one of the top ranking, air passenger services existing today. Many persons believe it to be the swiftest, and safest mode of air travel in the world.

MERGER WILL IMPROVE EFFICIENCY

It is because of this world renowned dependability of Imperial Airways that we are disposed to believe that something will really come of this move to build up a concrete and smoothly working transatlantic service. Not that the larger American Airways, such as United Air Lines, are not to be considered equally as good and dependable as that of the British, but the combination of both should prove doubly efficient.

Of course it is a bit idealistic to look at the situation through rose-colored glasses, without giving thought to the difficulties and hazards that will arise. The job of pioneering is a hard and rough one, as anyone at all familiar with the history of aviation is well aware.

Many complications will arise that will have to be straightened out, and unforeseen obstacles will arise to confront the pioneers. Have no illusions on the subject, for the job will require time, patient study, energy and determination, to say nothing of the danger which will be at all times prevalent.

WEATHER IS BIGGEST PROBLEM

The ability to construct air transports of sufficient speed and capacity to traverse the Atlantic is no longer the most important problem nor is lack of skilled pilots. However, the one force that will be the determining and outstanding factor, is the weather. No matter how capable the pilot, nor how strong the plane, neither can survive against the elements of nature.

Perhaps we are taking an optimistic view in regard to the forthcoming experiment, but although at this time the obstacles may appear insurmountable, we recall that a few years ago similar difficulties strewed the path of those who attempted the supposedly impossible task of transcontinental air service.

AFTER DARK
By John Ward

IF there is anything that makes us write elegantly it is a large dose of good Negro folk-song singing. As far as we are concerned the Negro spirituals represent the finest folk music of the western lands. And when you couple a generous evening of spirituals, fine, unsophisticated singers, and Hall Johnson you have something to be remembered as long as remembering is worth the effort.

Such a combination is to be found in the current WPA show, Run Little Chillun, now playing to packed houses at the Alcazar Theater. As a whole, the production is a bit of dreary play with a few high-lights. That is, Run Little Chillun is not exciting until the last scene, which is a prolonged exotic revival meeting.

Then for half an hour one is treated to a sensational, really tangible dramatic experience. It is due almost entirely to some glorious music and still more glorious singing.

PLAY HAS SWING

For one thing, because of the spiritual singing of Done Written Down and Do You Love My Lord, Run Little Chillun has swing. We mean the swing that Benny Goodman and Arty Shaw have popularized.

It consists—with the Hall Johnson singers—in an expanding of the rhythmetic accent, an expanding of each phrase, imperceptible save to the unaesthetic sense—the sense of motion latent in each individual. And this is real swing from an aesthetic point of view—not the de-natured, superficial attempt of the current dance bands.

Swing, in its right place, can have a deep, artistic result, and Hall Johnson's choir achieves just this. The scene is a drab ordinary church meeting place; the action consists of testimony as to the religious experiences of members of the congregation. At each outburst "I been saved, thank the Lord! Hallelujah!", the congregation sings a spiritual. Gradually, through sheer tempo, the members of the audience in the church unite in an ecstatic swing of the music.

THRILLS AND CHILLS

One member dances till he faints; a woman screams; some dance; everyone is in a sweat of revival ecstasy which at such a moment is right and necessary and glorious.

There is little else to recommend Run Little Chillun, though the sets are grand—just the singing in the last act. But that singing is so good and so stimulating that it would take more will power than we have to keep from going to see it again. See it by all means if you want to hear aesthetic swing in some great music.

RAM'S HORN

• "STOKOWSKI" DEFENDS WARD
Editor, The Guardsman:

May I take this opportunity to defend After Dark Ward and inform Mr. Jay Wright concerning a few things.

In the first place did Mr. Wright ever try to obtain seats for a Menuhin concert or a recital by Marion Anderson at the last minute? If he has he may know it can be very difficult if not impossible. Classic music has had an enormous popular revival in recent years and a symphony orchestra concert, for instance, is more often sold out than not.

Also, any clerk at Sherman Clay will be glad to inform Mr. Wright that of the records sold during last year, 75 per cent were classical. And Mr. Wright may find that one of the simplest things a good many college students can do is sing the song of the Calf of Gold from the second scene of the first act of Gounod's Faust. Why not try something more difficult, and if the tin medals last, I should like to get in on the deal.

Sincerely yours,
"Leopold Stokowski"

• DANCES IN THE LIBRARY?
Editor, The Guardsman:

Perhaps I am "teched in the haid" but after a recent survey I decided to write this letter to you.

The library downstairs at Powell Street is usually empty between 12 and 1 o'clock in the afternoon. That is with four exceptions; rain, two midterms, final, and rain.

Why can't the library be turned into a dance pavilion once a week? However, the only way to know is to hear from the other students of the college and from the rally committee.

Yours,
Someone

THE GUARDSMAN SPORTS

Help The Varsity Beat Marin Tonight, 8 P.M., Kezar

Crew Enthusiasts Try Revival; See Exposition Races

Ram Varsity Noses Out Santa Rosa J.C. By 44 To 43 Count; Superior Ball-Handling Margin Of Victory

Sweet's Pep-Talk Fires Team To Win In Smashing Rally; Santa Rosa Mowed Down, 46 To 31, In Return Engagement

"Dutch" Conlan's Ram basketballers moved into the league lead by copping a hairline 44 to 43 decision from Santa Rosa Junior College at Tauzer gymnasium in Santa Rosa last Wednesday night and again defeating the Santa Rosans, 46 to 31, on Friday night at Kezar Pavilion.

In the first game, the Rams got off to a shaky start, and were outscored, 20 to 14, in the first half by an inspired Bear Cub quintet playing without two of its regulars, "Buzz" Buzzini and Bob Hope.

Russ Sweet, who was acting as coach in the absence of "Dutch" Conlan, evidently delivered a tirade in the locker room during the intermission, however, for the locals took the floor for the second half in an ugly mood and proceeded to drop in buckets from all angles.

Move Into Lead

After eight minutes of the half had elapsed, the Rams had moved into a 31 to 23 lead over the Bear Cubs, scoring 17 points to their opponent's three in those opening minutes.

Sparking the college in the drive were "Big Ed" Curcio who was as "hot as a fire-cracker," and "Big George" Bedrosian who was superb in defensive play, and offensive passing.

After the locals had piled up their lead, the game see-sawed, one squad make a bucket, then the other team coming right back to score a basket until the count had reached 44 to 37 in favor of the Powell Street quintet.

Rams Coast

At this point, the Rams coasted, and the Bear Cubs, urged on by pleas of their supporters, dropped in three buckets in a row before succumbing.

Curcio was the big gun for the locals, scoring 22 points, while Opalinski tallied ten points.

At Kezar, Conlan's lads ran up an early lead of eight to nothing, and were in complete control throughout the entire contest.

The Ram's superiority may be attributed to superb ball handling and control.

Lead Increased

At half time, the count was 19 to eight in favor of the college squad, a lead which it maintained and increased throughout the remainder of the contest.

Willie Blackfield and Al Opalinski led the scorers, Blackfield dropping in five field goals and two fouls, for a total of twelve points and "Opal" contributed 11 digits to the cause.

Junior Varsity Cagers Take Double-Header From Commerce With Great Ease

Showing steady improvement in every game, the college junior varsity cagers easily trounced the Commerce High Bulldogs in a double-header, played at Kezar last week.

Coach Tom Wilson put his lightweight quintet on the floor for the first game against the Bulldog lightweights. The Rams proved too fast for the little Bulldogs, and they won as they pleased, 16 to 4. Commerce failed to garner a field goal during the entire game. Bill Oshida was outstanding for the victors as he played an excellent floor game as well as accounting for 6 points.

Best Five Wins Easily

The second game brought Wilson's best five off the bench and they immediately rung up a 13 to 0 lead over the Commerce varsity. The Rams controlled the ball throughout the game and were never in danger of losing. The final score was 25 to 11 but would undoubtedly have been higher had the local hoopsters not rested on their early lead.

The college artists were led by Bob Owens, midget forward, who garnered five points. The scoring was very evenly divided among the other players, as Wilson gave his entire squad a chance to perform during the evening.

The junior varsity cagers have compiled a very impressive record this season as they have emerged victors over many of San Francisco's prominent high schools. Sacred Heart, current leaders of the A.A.A. prep league, went down to defeat before the dead-eyes from the college, as did Mission, Galileo, and Balboa High Schools.

Quintet Fast

Although much smaller than their opponents, the Powell Street quintet has employed a fast break to run them into the floor. The college casaba artists have proved themselves a fast-starting team by establishing early leads in most of their games to date.

Almost the entire varsity squad will leave college at the conclusion of this season's play; therefore, the majority of next season's players must come from the junior varsity. Coach Wilson has drilled his players in the fundamentals of the game and they should be welcomed by Dutch Conlan next season.

Gaddy's Ram Baseballers Meet College Alumni Sat.; Tough Battle Anticipated

Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the rain-soaked Ram baseballers will collide with a classy aggregation of former college diamond 'greats', who will be performing under the non-de-plume of alumni. The contest is scheduled to take place on the Main Diamond of Funston Field.

Bob "Porky" Fex, alumni manager and collector de luxe of ancient San Francisco Junior College baseball bric-a-brac, will field a formidable looking club composed of Larry Wilgus, right handed twirler and original Ram "Iron Man"; Ed McSweeney, big, hard-hitting outfielder; Odero Guisti, a third baseman of no mean ability, and probably the hardest hitting player to wear a San Francisco uniform; Babe Luchessi, one-time all-conference outfielder; Ed Arvedi, swell defensive catcher; Arnie Banta, long, rangy, lackadaisical infielder and a pretty fair hitter in his own right; Paul Hjort, clever all-around outfielder, now the property of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Against this array of talent, Coach Jack Gaddy will, in all probability, start Frankie Nilan on the mound and either Weaver Galbraith or Bill Mustanich behind the log.

Jim Salmon or "Lefty" Freidkin will handle the assignment around the initial sack, with Kent Baird, Mickey McMahon, and Frank Rahmer rounding out the remainder of the infield.

The outfield will be patrolled by such capable players as Bill "Nuggets" Rufus, Bill Difu, and Bill Danerj, three Bills who can hit and field with the best of them.

Students Invited To Attend WAA Ice Skate On Feb. 10

On Friday, February 10, the Women's Athletic Association is offering an invitation to all students of the college to come out to the ice skating party, at the San Francisco Ice Rink.

To promote enthusiasm for the ice skating class for WAA, the members are holding an ice breaker party at the next ice skating class meeting from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock.

"The date for the party is to be 2:30 sharp, and is to be held rain or shine," according to Bertha Mae Keller, head of the ice skating class.

All students of the college are invited to attend, and WAA members may bring their friends. The rates will be the same that are offered to the WAA class members.

TRACKMEN CURTAILED

Because of weather conditions track practice during the last week was postponed. If the track is dry enough and skies are clear, the team will resume practice Monday, Coach Russ Sweet announced last Friday.

Once infantile paralysis becomes established in a locality it recurs there at intervals of two to five years, judging by statistics since 1916.

WAS THIS IN VAIN?

Pictured above are members of last year's crew giving their all for the Washington Day regatta. Now, just a year later, this same regatta will have one less entry—that of this college for crew has been dissolved as a sport. Enough aspirants have stated their willingness and longing toward carrying on the work of the pictured championship team. Are they only aspiring, or will they soon be perspiring? The answer depends on whether someone can be found to act as coach for the new crop of stalwarts who are eager to revive this popular sport.

WAA Managerial Election Results Released; Report Initiation Luncheon Success

Final results of the manager's election in the Women's Athletic Association were officially announced last week at the annual initiation luncheon.

Managers are as follows: badminton, Barbara Gunn; baseball-soccer, Elizabeth Carlson; basketball, Marjorie Radke; dancing, Viola Gibson; golf, Rose Davis; ice skating, Eleanor Wildhagen; rifle, Thursa Scott; riding, Dorothy Wilkens; swimming, Pauline Trenk; tennis, Helen Godman.

Decorated in college colors, red and white, the faculty cafeteria at Galileo High School was the scene of the luncheon. The college hotel and restaurant division was in charge of the menu and, according to WAA authorities, did a splendid job.

Guests invited to the luncheon were former WAA president, Margaret Parks, President A. J. Cloud, Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar, Dr. Alice Potter, and Bertha Keller, Verrel Weber, and Laurine Bergin, of the Physical Education Department.

Leading officers of WAA elected last semester are Dorothy Sanderson, president; Annette Schunick, vice-president; Phyllis Learned, secretary, and Betty McKenzie, treasurer.

SHRINKING CZECHO-SLOVAKIA

Czecho-Slovakia since October has been reduced from about 54,200 square miles to 38,200, and from 15,300,000 people to 10,500,000.

RAM CREWMEN MUST HAVE SHELL, COACH, PLACE OF PRACTICE TO ENTER GIANT REGATTA AT EXPOSITION

At Treasure Island on June 30, a day before the big regatta among crews of California, Washington, Wisconsin, and two eastern crews to be named later, the junior varsity crews of these colleges will compete in a special event.

San Francisco Junior College can enter this event. That is if three high hurdles can be jumped.

Minus Few Things

The locals are minus a shell, places to practice and an instructor. That's all! If these difficulties can be overcome there is a possibility that the Rams could enter the race. It will be an eight man shell and the distance will be 2000 meters.

Although the Exposition race may not materialize for the Rams, they can still enter the league composed of University of San Francisco, Oakland Poly, and San Mateo Junior College.

Three Others

Three other schools are planning to enter this league, Cogswell, San Francisco State, and Lick School.

One thing that is needed is an instructor who could spend two hours a day to help the crewmen over the "high ones".

Wanted By Students

Several comments have been made by students that a crew is wanted not only by crewmen, but also by students themselves.

During the years when the Rams had a crew in almost every one of their meets they made a good showing.

On Wednesday, February 24, 1937, in The Guardsman, appeared this article; Quote, "Opening their season in an impressive fashion, Coach Jack Gaddy's boatmen pulled away to a win over U. S. F., Oakland Poly, and the Wheel Club in the feature race of the Washington's Birthday Regatta at Yacht Harbor last Monday.

Took Lead

"The Gaddymen took the lead at the start and were never headed during the entire race, and finished almost two lengths ahead of the University of San Francisco boat, which finished in second place."

One week later appeared this article, "On Saturday, February 27, 1937, the college was officially admitted to the California Oarsmen's Association at a meeting held at the Whitcomb Hotel. The league included crews from San Mateo College, University of San Francisco Marin Junior College and the Polytechnic College of Engineering."

San Jose State College claims the distinction of having a radio engineering course from which all graduates are given employment in their chosen field. One hundred per cent placement is a good record in any language. Perhaps some day a placement bureau will be established here.

At least 100 of the 216 Indian Tribes in the United States will be represented in the Federal exhibit at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition on Treasure Island.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA JUNIOR COLLEGE CONFERENCE
BASKETBALL SCHEDULE — 1939

Date	Place	Officials
Friday, February 10	San Francisco at Marin	Cameron
Wednesday, February 15	Salinas at San Francisco	Kleckner-Cameron
Friday, February 17	San Francisco at Salinas	Kintana
Wednesday, February 22	San Mateo at San Francisco	Kleckner-Dierke
Friday, February 24	San Francisco at San Mateo	Kleckner-Dierke

Marin J.C. Hoopsters Invade Kezar Tonight; Threaten Perfect Record Of League-Leading Rams

Conlan's Men Out To Scalp High-Scoring Marin Aggregation In Revenge For Last Year's Upset; Encounter Starts At 8 P.M.

Coach "Scoop" Carlson's high-scoring Marin Junior College cage machine rolls into town tonight to do battle with our league-leading Rams in a conference game at Kezar Pavilion.

Carlson's lads have engaged in 20 games, losing but four of them, and hitting the hoop for a grand total of 957 digits for an average of 48 points per game which is some shooting.

Marin has defeated such outstanding hoop aggregations as the Athens Club, Southern Oregon Normal, American Creamery, Sacramento Junior College, and Strom Clothiers and has obtained revenge for two of the defeats inflicted on her by the Italian Athletic Club and L. A. Young Wire Company by winning a second encounter from both the Club and the Wire Company.

Opening Lineup

The Mariners will probably open the contest with "Dutch" Boysen and Ed Forde at forwards; Bob Borich, holding down the center position, and Ernie Allen and Bob Alameida handling the guarding assignments.

Boysen and Forde are a clever passing combination consistent in their performance, while Borich is the team leader in shooting with a sensational .417 average.

Almeida Leads Scorers

Leading the team in points scored, however, is the tall lanky Almeida, while Ernie Allen, colored lad who has stepped into the shoes of Johnny Allen, former Marin great, is not far behind.

Our own Rams, undefeated in league play, are out to avenge last year's defeats by an inspired Marin quintet.

Starting for the locals will be the familiar combination of Willie Blackfield and either Frank Albrecht or Bob Burrowes at forwards, Al Opalinski at the pivot position, and Hal Fischer and Ed Curcio at guards.

Locals Travel

Froday, the Rams will travel to Marin to engage the Mariners in the second of the two-game series.

Tom Wilson's junior varsity cagers will engage an as yet un-named opponent in a preliminary at 7 p.m., with the main encounter starting at 8 o'clock.

RAMblings
By RAY BERNS

STARK DRAMA

It happened this way: Dick Simpers, former Guardsman sports writer who was a member of the Santa Rosa expedition last week, reacted to the sentiments of a historical figure of a bygone age and by so doing, saved the local basketeers from a possible overtime period in the Ram-Bear Cub encounter.

With a few seconds remaining in the game, the Rams were leading by a single point, but the scoreboard showed a tie score.

Realizing the immensity of the situation, and the tremendous difficulties it may have led to, Simpers dashed out of the stands, ran across the floor to the scoreboard, pointed out the error, demanded that it be changed, and thus, a hero was born.

• • •

On Saturday afternoon next, this year's Ram baseball varsity will engage the alumni of this institution in a "croocial".

Robert Fex, publicity man for the alumni and glory-hound par excellence (need more be said?), informs us that the oldsters will field a hard-hitting outfit certain to 'cause Gaddy's horsehiders no end of trouble.

Mr. Fex, who, incidentally, will partcipate in the contest, requests that all be present to witness the titanic struggle. Yes siree, yes siree, yes siree, yes siree.

• • •

Masquerading as a sport, but in reality, a circus, replete with heroes, villians, clowns and the like—that's the Roller Derby, now packing in the villagers nightly at the Civic Auditorium.

If, some evening, you're tired of the regular run of shows, drop down to the Derby and witness scenes of the old serial thrilled days presented, of course, in a slightly different setting. It's a great show (not a paid advertisement).

College Mermen Meet This Week At Galileo; Old Stars Return, Bolster Squad Hopes

Initial meeting of the junior college swimming team will be held this week at Galileo, according to Coach Russ Sweet, congenial mentor of the mermen.

Sweet expressed a belief that this year's squad should be one of the best he has ever tutored. Truth in this statement can be found in the fact that many of last year's stars are returning to bolster the team. Among the returning veterans are the Hoffman brothers, Mitch and Marcus, along with Norwood Forte, Inian Stottard, and Gene Carricker.

Last year the college mermen engaged in dual meets with the Olympic Club and the San Francisco Y.M.C.A. They turned in many outstanding performances last spring and should accomplish even better this year.

WAA Advice Sought By Chicago J. C. Women

Women's Athletic Association members received a letter from a junior college located in Chicago asking for a copy of their constitution. Women students there are planning to form a W.A.A. in their junior college and evidently wish to pattern it after that here.

Dorothy Sanderson, president of the organization in the college said that a copy will be sent immediately to the Chicago institution.

Ram Tennis Stars Compete In Northern Calif. Indoor Championship This, Next Wk.

The college contingent in the Northern California Indoor Championships, to be held at the Palace of Fine Arts courts February 4 to 12, is to face some of the best racquet wielders in the state.

At the top of the mens' singles is Frank Kovacs, Oakland's Davis Cup aspirant. Behind Kovacs in the seeded list are Bobby Harmon, Bob Peacock, and Henry Guilmette. Harold Wagner, Ram netman, has been seeded number eight, behind his doubles partner Edwin Amark. This pair was given the number four seeding in the Men's Doubles.

The only other college player to gain a seeding was Bill Canning, runner-up to Wagner in the college championship. Bill and his sister Pat were placed in the third seeded spot in the Mixed Doubles.

John Murio, winner of the indoor tournament last year, has decided not to defend his title this year. The logical choice for Murio's successor is Kovacs; however, Frank is inclined to mix clowning tactics with his playing. Should he do this there are any number of outstanding players capable of upsetting him.

Harold Wagner and Bill Canning have been chosen to play the Northern California Junior Davis Cup squad for another year. Ed Amark, doubles mate of Wagner, was enrolled in this college last term. Addition of Amark to the squad would have given the Rams an unbeatable lineup.

Bob Kun is to play in the Men's Doubles event with Coach Wilson. Ray Berns, Guardsman sports editor is the publicity manager for the Indoor Championships.

One million dollars is being spent on the illumination program at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, where "black light" will be used for the first time.

AWS To Hold Century Club Tea; HEA Officers To Be Elected

Plans for the Associated Women Students' tea, March 9 from 3 to 5 o'clock at the Century Club will be discussed by the tea committee today at 2:10 p.m. in adviser Margaret Dougherty's office, announced Dorothy Trood, AWS president.

"We have invited a prominent stylist to come and reveal the newest in wearing apparel," Miss Trood declared, "and if she will not be able to appear we promise another form of good entertainment, and of course refreshments."

The A Cappella Choir, with Flossita Badger as instructor has been asked to render musical selections for the affair.

"I think the afternoon teas offer a splendid opportunity for acquaintance," Miss Dougherty said. "I sincerely hope the women will consider them as such and will take advantage of a chance to meet fellow students."

Janet Ball, Margaret Meeder, and Helen Culp are assisting Miss Trood in planning both this affair and an afternoon dansant to take place during High Sophomore Week, the date to be revealed at a future time.

Library Offers Large Variety Of Subjects

Magnanimous varieties of interest can be found by the browsing student this week in the college library. Between mid-terms the magazine-terrific can read reviews on the movies Jesse James and Son of Frankenstein, or he can take in the lively discussion of the English-born actress who will portray the Southern belle of Gone With the Wind.

However, if the student is more Ward-minded he can glance through Stage or read the articles in January issues of Forum, Harpers, and Atlantic Monthly, which deal intelligently with, Munich: Two British Views; England Moves Toward Fascism; Where Now Is Great Britain?; Germany's Purpose: Unser Amerika; or any of the other numerous discussions of foreign affairs.

Vocational appetites may be fed in Reader's Digest, and in Occupations which present Opportunities for the Farm Raised Boy, Careers In Nature, and If One Wants To Be His Own Boss.

These and other time-filling interests are all in the magazines filling the shelves in the P. G. & E. building and the library above the Book Store. Interest of every kind can be met here.

Club Charter Petitions Due Before Tomorrow

Petition for club charters must be in at the board meeting tomorrow, as plans for the semester have to be completed," said Robert Blackwell, president of the group.

Most of the groups handed their petitions in at the last meeting, but there are still a few clubs which have not been prompt in filling out the blanks required by the Board."

The next meeting of the Club Advisory Board will be tomorrow in Room 103 at Powell Street at 1 p.m.

Nominations of officers for the coming semester was the business of the day at the Home Economics Association meeting held Thursday, February 2. Nominees are president, Eleanor Leitner, Joy Ann Mack, Virginia Hoste, Rosemary Jelinick; vice-president, Violet Burgess, Hilda Freidrickson; financial secretary, Agnes Reid, Marion Schrick; recording secretary, Lillian Auyong, Charlotte Nield.

A ballot box will be in Room 317 at Galileo High this week for those desiring to vote.

The proposed changes in the association charter were made at the meeting. Arrangements were also made to include 20 students who have had no Home Economics training but are interested in the activities of the club and are desirous of joining the Association.

The applications are limited to 20 women," Miss Cuneo warned. Although a definite date has not been set, it is expected that application blanks will be available in Room 317 at Galileo High School on or about Wednesday, February 8."

Forum Magazine Editorial Staff Chosen By Cumming; Student Articles Wanted

Selections of a staff for the Forum Magazine has been completed, according to John Cumming, Forum editor, and contributions are already being considered.

Literary articles in the form of short stories, essays, poems, plays, satires, and political discussions may be turned in to William Goss or Frederick Bracher, faculty sponsors, or to Cumming. Under direct sponsorship of the Forum Club, the magazine is a student publication and will receive contributions from any student in the college.

Chosen as staff members were John Ward, Jeanne Miller, Carol Pickering, Dorothy Pilgrim, and John Wood.

Alpha Gamma Sigma Holds Tea; Make Convention Plans

Alpha Gamma Sigma, college honor society will hold a tea Thursday, February 16, at 3:30 p.m. in the Galileo cafeteria, for the purpose of acquainting members with one another and discussing plans for the statewide convention of the organization to be held next April.

The convention, which will be held Saturday, April 1, at Treasure Island, will be visited by all junior college Alpha Gamma Sigma chapters throughout California.

Four students of the college whose names have been added to the society's eligibility list are Lillian Diamond, Ellie Francoeur, Leonard Gross, and Daniel Rosenblat.

ZARCHIN WRITES NEW BOOK

Just off the presses in pamphlet form, and soon to be published as a book, is economics instructor Michael M. Zarchin's latest work, "Jews in the Province of Posen." Compiled from manuscripts dating back to the 15th Century, it deals with early forms of federation and Jewish trade unions.

CLUB SCHEDULE

NAME	Type of Meeting	TIME	PLACE
Alpha Gamma Sigma	Tea	Feb. 16, 3:30 p.m.	Galileo
Alpha Phi Omega	Initiation	Feb. 15, 8 p.m.	Sir Francis Drake Hotel
Army-Navy	Initiation	Feb. 10	Indefinite
Astronomy	Study	Feb. 13, 7 p.m.	Galileo
Beta Phi	Initiation	Feb. 13	Indefinite
Forestry	Ice Skate	Feb.10, 8 p.m.	48th Avenue
Forum	Discussion	Feb. 24	1766 Walnut St., Berkeley
French	Business	Feb. 16, 7:30 p.m.	1972-21st Avenue
George Washington	Business	Feb. 9, 2:10 p.m.	Galileo, Room 205
Italian	Business	March 1	Indefinite
Japanese Students	Business	Feb. 15, 7:30 p.m.	Sturge Memorial Hall
Newman	Business	Feb. 13, 8 p.m.	St. Mary's Cathedral
Omicron Phi Pi	Business	Feb. 9, 11 a.m.	Powell, Room 302
Omicron Phi Pi	Initiation	Feb. 10	Indefinite
Peace Society	Business	Feb. 16	Indefinite
Phi Alpha Omega	Business	Feb. 20, 8 p.m.	Indefinite
Phi Beta Rho	Bridge Tea	Feb. 12, 2 p.m.	650 Derbin Way
Pi Mu Gamma	Banquet	Feb. 10, 8 p.m.	Shalimar Bowl
Pick & Hammer	Business	Feb. 13, 8 p.m.	170 Lunado Court
Rifle & Pistol	Business	Feb. 16, 4:30 p.m.	Rifle Range
Tri Epsilon	Pledge Party	Feb. 11, 8 p.m.	Indefinite
Tri Epsilon	Business	Feb. 13, 8 p.m.	Indefinite
Tri Epsilon	Initiation	Feb. 20, 8 p.m.	Sigmund Stern Grove

Chivalry Pays No Dividends

A Tale From The School of Hard Knocks As Told To Bill Frantz

Yeah, we wuz sittin in Jones' office, Hank and me, when in walks Margaret Smith. Margaret is a peachy-lookin, blonde tootsie—an' she's got brains, too. Hank, seein' as he's known her for two years, slaps her on de shoulder and sez, "What's doin' Marge?", and I, kiddin' like sez, "Lay off her, Hank—Margaret's my dame!"

Margaret don't crack a smile, an' answers, "Don't get so familiar." When all of a sudden a blonde, tall, kinda good-lookin' bloke who wus waitin' in de office for Jones jumps to his feet and pipes up, "You heard what she said—don't get so familiar."

"An' who rang your bell?" sez I, "An' since when wuz you elected Head Knight of de Round Table?"

So he gets boilin' mad—so mad dat he shakes. He comes up to me (I'm sittin' down, see) an 'he sez, "I'll punch your face in, you little squirt."

Maybe I am a little guy—but I'm a little guy who hits hard-becuz I'm quarterback on my club's football team, an' I'm in the pink of condition. Besides that, I kin pin most guys within ten pounds of my weight, (I weigh 160 pounds anyway.) Well, I like peace and I don't want any trouble with anybuddy, but this guy wants trouble. I tries to quiet him down, but he don't wanna quiet down.

Well, Hank ain't just gonna stand there and let that big bozo talk to me like that, so he steps in and tries to separate me and de blonde hothead. (I find out later de guy's name is Reginald Noble.) So anyway Hank separates us two an' then what do ya think?—Reginald begins to pick on Hank.

Hank is kinda dignified lookin' on account of he wears specs. But Hank is sumpthin' of a fighter an' kin outbox Pete Gregory, the heavyweight at Paddy O'Leary's gym. They argues so much that Reginald wants to put on de gloves. So they walks out together, Hank and Reginald, and heads for Artie Russell's gym.

Meanwhile, Margaret walks in an' out of de office an' don't pay no attention to none of us guys an' keeps on doin' her work. When Hank and Reginald walks out, like they wuz gonna kill each other she just shrugs her shoulders and goes about her business like if nuthin' happened.

I tells Margaret "So long" an' walks out after Reggie and Hank. I kin hardly catch up with them they walk so fast, an' bein' so short anyway, I gotta take two steps to their one so's they don't get too far ahead of me.

They reaches de gym an' puts on some fightin' togs an' I sees that Reginald got weak arms an' he's flabby even with all his husky looks. He's about twice as thick as Hank—but Hank is taller an' got a longer reach, an' besides that Hank is in beautiful condition.

Artie Russell acts as ref an' I acts as second to both of de boys. Artie gets Hank an' Reggie in de middle of de ring, makes dem shake hands an sez, "Three round of two minutes each—no bitin'—no kickin'—an' lead with yer lefts."

I don't think that Reggie ever boxed before becuz as mad as he wuz, he couldn't land a punch on Hank—an' Hank was givin' him de "one-two, one-two" all over de canvas. At de end of de second Hank feels kinda ashamed of himself and yells to Reggie if he wants to call de beef off. Reggie is still sore an' yells back that in de next round he is gonna slug Hank all over de gym.

Well Hank's no sorehead but this gets him mad as heck an' in de next round he hits Reggie with everything but de referee—but Reggie still keeps on coming in fer more. I am a pretty tough palooka but what Hank wuz doin' to Reginald makes me turn my face away from de ring. De round ends an' Hank, without a sign of tirin' jumps back into his corner, but poor Reggie kin hardly drag himself back to his stool. His face is all cut up where Hank has smacked him an' I feels so sorry fer de guy I wants to throw de towel in. But Reginald still wants to wipe up de floor with Hank. Well, de bloke is so game I runs over to Hank an' tells him to take it light.

De bell fer de toid round "dings" an' Hank dances around in de middle of de ring waiting fer Reggie to come in—Reggie staggers to his feet an' moves toward Hank. Hank left jabs him an' dances away—but Reggie keeps comin' in fer more, he kin hardly hold his hands up—boy! That kid sure got gu——intestinal fortitude. Hank could drop him right there an' then but he feels sorry fer Reggie an' holds him off. When de round ends Reggie is about half dead. We carries him to de showers an' rubs him down an' then Hank sez, "He's all t' quits, huh, Reggie?"—No, Reggie don't wanna.

Well, Hank sits down an' starts to get dressed when Reginald walks over an' steps on Hank's foot. Hank don't wanna get sore an' just sez, "Look, bud, you got de whole floor to walk on—why walk on my pedal extremity, huh?" I don't remember what happened then but Reggie wants to go three more rounds with Hank. But Hank sees the shape the guy's in, sez, "No, not today, kiddo."

So Reggie sez, "I'll take you on again Monday afternoon—and as fer you, you little punk—I'll slap you on Tuesday." I turns around to see who he is pointin' at, an' sure enough I'm him! "And furthermore," he says, "I'll wrestle you on Wednesday afternoon." I tells him see no's they don't get too far ahead of me.

Today I figgers the whole thing out, I ain't as dumb as most athletes. I figgers that Reggie kinda goes for Margaret Smith—an' that's why he got so tough. De poor sap don't know that Margaret is leagued to get hitched to a bloke who looks like Robert Taylor, an' Reggie took a good beatin' for nothin'.

Naw, when it was de habit to bow an' make cow-eyes at de tootsies, it was alright. But nowadays, take it from me—it don't pay to be chivalrous.

PROSPERITY CORNER

(Continued from page 2)

ANSWERS

1. van Rijn. 2. Vaslav. 3. Lief Erikson. 4. Sulfuric acid is poured on potassium or sodium cyanide. 5. Sir Thomas More. 6. Catherine of Aragon, Anne Boleyn, Jane Seymour, Anne of Cleves, Catherine Howard, Catherine Parr. 7. "Honest"; Harry Meggs—Meggs Wharf. 8. Marsh. 9. Alexander Pope. 10. Between Finland and Sweden.

MAKE THEM ALL
EASY MIDTERMS
REVIEW BOOKS FOR ALL COURSES
54c to $1.25
AT
Junior College Student Store

NEED A TYPEWRITER? . . .
Rent REMINGTON NOISELESS TYPEWRITERS at same cost as noisy machines . . . All carriage widths, type styles, keyboards . . . Also standards, portables . . . Rental from manufacturer guarantees QUALITY.
Remington Typewriter Division
Remington Rand, Inc.
509 Market Street Phone: DOuglas 8600

Classes Observe Downtown Window Display

Teall Messer's Art and Technique of Window Display class was enlarged Tuesday by the addition of fourteen members of Virginia Cohn's Retail Merchandising Group. The class will attend Messer's lectures on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and for study will be assigned window displays to observe and report. The group will devote itself to a study of color based on commercial color terminology.

"One of the more interesting windows the class will be called upon to observe is the "Opera Window" at the City of Paris which features the types of costumes worn by the "Can-Can" dancers which members of the Russian Ballet will present during their engagement in San Francisco," Messer said.

State Wide Committee Organized To Discuss Junior College Problems

To discuss general junior college problems and determine the best methods for improvement in the educational field, a State Committee on Junior Colleges has been organized, according to President A. J. Cloud, a member of the group.

The committee, comprised of instructors from various localities of California, with Aubrey A. Douglass acting as chairman, wished to consider itself as a clearing house for college problems.

"There are only some 12 or 15 members," Cloud announced, "but we have many outside workers from college staffs gathering information for consideration."

At the most recent meeting a general plan for procedure was suggested which will include, among other steps, the preparation of a policy to follow, a pattern for semi-professional courses, and the extent to which the study of the junior college will be carried.

"It will be necessary to decide if the study will be an intensive one and center around only a few colleges," Cloud concluded, "or if the territory will be much greater and the study more limited."

Noted Geologist Lectures To Pick, Hammer

Having just returned from the Arctic region, Ed Levin, noted geologist will give an illustrated lecture on his trip, next Monday night, February 13, at 8 p.m., at the home of George L. Green, geology instructor, 170 Lunado Court.

Levin journeyed to the Arctic in company with Father Hubbard, renowned Arctic priest from the University of Santa Clara.

The lecture is under the sponsorship of the Pick and Hammer Society, college geological and mineralogical organization.

It is expected that the meeting will prove highly interesting, since Levin is an authority on his subject.

Use of Fire Escapes Banned Except During Fire Drill

Unconfirmed reports state that in the future any students using the Powell Street fire escapes except during an emergency or a fire drill will be subject to decisive action. A police ordinance forbidding such use provides for fines or imprisonment in the event of violation.

Powell Street students using the fire escapes as a convenient way of avoiding crowded stairways will find that the time saved may be more than made up at the Hall of Justice.

Men Students May Compete For Scholarships

In a statement issued last Thursday F. Grant Marsh, Business Department director, announced that a four year scholarship of $500 will be given again this year by the San Francisco College of Business.

"The award will be conferred upon a male student of the college," Marsh said, "and although any man interested is eligible, those that have had some business training, including economics, statistics, or accounting are preferred."

The student is chosen from a list of applicants by a committee of faculty members, the chairman of which is J. Paul Mohr, Registrar. Assisting him will be James S. Hughes, Military Science instructor; Ward M. Nichols, Comptroller; Mildred Williams, business instructor, and F. Grant Marsh, business department director.

The San Francisco College of Business holds classes at night, enabling students to be employed during the day and to attend classes during the evening.

"Applications will be received by the registrar's office at a date to be announced later. Any male student interested is urged to sign up," Marsh concluded.

The San Francisco College of Business awards one scholarship each year. Last year was the first time it was offered to the Junior College and Fred Wright was selected by the scholarship committee from among several applicants. Recent reports from the business college indicate that Wright is doing highly satisfactory work.

New Enrollment Records Reached For Spring Term

A final checkup on the enrollment for the spring semester by Registrar J. Paul Mohr revealed that a new record had been established.

Last year there were 2064 students enrolled in the college but this year's record surpasses this mark by a hundred. There are 1514 men students and 854 women for a total of 2198 students.

A new record was also rung by the new freshman class as there were 568 new enrollees, which betters the record of last semester.

News From Other Colleges

According to a report in the Spartan Daily, the forthcoming Follies at San Jose State will be written and staged by the faculty for the general public. In view of this fact the students have insisted that this show not in any way be confused with their own stage production. The Spartan Reveries.

Mystery and secrecy seems to hang heavily over the actions of certain members of the San Jose faculty lately. Rumor has it that they have been seen doing the rounds at the gay entertainment places in the big cities around the Bay. They seem to feel that an explanation is necessary as they claim they must see vaudeville "both good and bad" so that they own Follies to be staged this March will be better.

* * *

Five men and five women students will receive awards from the Viking student publication at the Long Beach Junior College. A committee of students and faculty members chose the candidates on the basis of a point system, on the attitude of the student toward his work, and his part in the improvement of the college. The prizes are awarded at the semi-annual prom.

* * *

The enrollment at the University of California this semester has greatly increased over last year. 15,100 students are expected to register at the big Berkeley plant before the turnstiles stop clicking.

* * *

In looking over the schedule of final examinations at Los Angeles City College, see L. A. Junior College, we were surprised to see that some students have daily classes at seven o'clock. And some of us think an eight o'clock class is a cruel institution to foist upon minors. Tsk, Tsk, Tsk.

Tea, Rummage Sale Planned Soon By WSS

Discussion of plans for a tea and a rummage sale was the main topic of a recent meeting held by the Women's Service Society members. The tea will be held February 11, from 3 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of Shirley Woodman, 39 Marne Ave. Prospective members will be entertained and informed of the functions of the society.

ROOS-TAILORED
Sports Coats
$15 ... $20
Roos Bros
MARKET AND STOCKTON

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS
The Guardsman
SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE
Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1939 No. 6

Attend National Defense Assembly, Lecture Hall, Today, 11 A.M.

Whisker Contest Nears Climax; Final Judging At Galileo Next Tuesday

Advisory Board Approves Club Charter Petitions

Hoffman To Replace Bob Blackwell Until Election Next Week

Giving its approval to the charter petitions of 22 organizations, the Club Advisory Board forwarded its recommendations to the Executive Council for final passage.

In doing so the Board automatically deprived the unchartered clubs of official sanction as junior college organizations under the provision of a ruling which requires all recognized clubs to be chartered by the Executive Council.

Many Non-Chartered

The non-chartered student groups, amountting to more than a third of the list of previously organized clubs, include some of the most active and influential organizations on the campus.

The meeting of the Board was conducted by Vice-president Harold Hoffman, who announced that elections would be held at the next meeting to fill the vacancy in the office of president caused by the ineligibility of former prexy Robert Blackwell.

Blackwell Ousted

Administration investigation has disclosed that Blackwell has not been registered in the college this semester, and is therefore automatically ousted as the Board president.

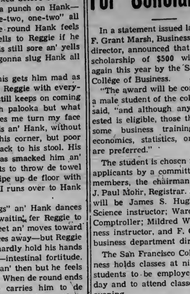
No report was forthcoming from the newly organized Committee on Restricted Social Clubs which was recently appointed to coordinate the activities of the fraternities and sororities within the college.

Complete List Given

A complete list of chartered clubs together with their purposes and membership requirements follows:

Alpha Gamma Sigma, to promote scholarship, 30 grade points required; Astronomy Club, to promote interest in astronomy, open to interested students; Alpha Phi Omega, social, girls by invitation only; Chinese Students Club, to promote fellowship, all Chinese students.

Forestry Club, to promote interest in forestry, open to forestry majors; George Washington Society, to promote the ideals of the organizations represented, open to members of De Moley, Rainbow Girls, Job's Daughters, Eastern Star and Masons.



Hotel and Restaurant Management Society, to promote fellowship, open to members of Hotel and Restaurant Division; Japanese Students Club, to promote fellowship, open to all Japanese students; Le Cercle Francais, to promote interest in the French language, open to students of French.

Music Club, to promote interest in music, open to those able to participate in its activities; Newman Club, to promote fellowship, open to all students interested in Catholic affairs; Phi Beta Rho, social, girls by invitation only.

Physical Education and Recreation Managers Club, to promote interest in physical education, open to P.E. majors; Pick and Hammer, to promote

(Continued on page 4, column 3)

Whiskerino Contest Approaches Finish As College Beard Artists Run Rampant

Whiskerino Entrants Hurry To Curry As Time Marches On

Hurry! Hurry! Hurry!

Only six more days to grow!

The Men's Club Whiskerino is going into the home stretch.

The gentleman pictured in the adjoining cotman is not running to catch a street car; he is accelerating in the general direction of Galileo, where, on the afternoon of February 21, beards and fuzzes will be judged by Joe Amori and his committee of Wheat Wizards. Prizes will be awarded to the victors.

So, don't be discouraged if mustache isn't living up to your expectations; be a man and take it on the chin.

Above all, don't fail to show up for the judging on Tuesday next.

YOU may be one of the lucky winners.

And we DO mean YOU.

A.M.S. FIGHTS PLANNED FOR MARCH, PLACE INDEFINITE

Second Dance Of Semester Tuesday Night, War Memorial

Eddie Murphy's Orchestra To Play For Informal Affair

Plans for the forthcoming High Freshman dance to be held at the Veteran's War Memorial building on Tuesday night, February 21, are nearing completion.

The Social Committee under the leadership of Miriam Dunne, Associated Students' vice-president has not decided as yet the bids or decorations for the affair.

Exposition Theme

It is believed, however, that they will be based on the theme of the dance, the Exposition, which will have had its gala opening three days before.

Admission to the dance, which is the second social affair of the semester, is one student body per couple.

Street Clothes

Women who plan to attend, can do so in street clothes as the dance is to be informal.

The music for the evening will be provided by Eddie Murphy and his orchestra. Murphy is a student of the college and has played for many other social affairs.

Whiskerino Prizes

Prizes for the current Men's Club Whiskerino will be awarded, and all students are urged to attend since it will no doubt be one of the outstanding occasions of the semester.

Discussion of plans for the Low Sophomore dance to be held March 24, will be the purpose of the next meeting.

Minisky, Raine, Wieckers Will Defend Titles In Bouts

March 1 and 10 will be the dates for the Associated Men Students' annual slugfests, according to Joe Amori, AMS adviser. The locale of the fights is as yet undecided, but other details are fairly well ironed out.

Every man in the boxing class will compete, and it is hoped that enough others will enter the tourney to provide 16 preliminary bouts on the opening night.

"On March 1, for the preliminaries," explained Amori, "we want to have two bouts for each of the eight weight divisions. Then, on March 10, the winners of the preliminaries will meet in the finals, and the champion of each division will be named."

Among those who will show their stuff on March 1 are Nick Minisky, 179 lb. champion, Bob Raine, heavyweight king, and Jack Wieckers, top man of the 159 pounders.

Joe Amori, however, called for more interest in the matches.

"We need a few more men to fill out the roster, and if we don't get them, it may be necessary to hold the fights on one night only," he said.

AWS Tea Re-Scheduled For Tuesday, March 14; Fashion Show Featured

Formerly announced as March 9, the Associated Women Students' tea has necessarily been re-scheduled for March 14 from 3 to 5 o'clock at the Century Club, according to Dorothy Trood, AWS president.

"We are sorry to have to make this unavoidable change." Miss Trood announced, "but since the date will be later, possibly more women will be able to attend."

Frances Shoup, prominent style demonstrator, has accepted the invitation extended her by the AWS, and promises to display future style creations. Flossita Badger, choir director has consented to provide entertainment for the affair, with A Cappella Choir selections.

"I haven't fully decided what the choir will render," Miss Badger declared, "but I have in mind numbers by Evone, Bach, Wood, and possibly a madrigal number of Morley from which to select."

Refreshments will be served, according to Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser, women will be offered an opportunity to meet guests from local high schools, and private schools, in addition to women from the college.

Forum Magazine Offers Prizes For Best Works

In need of short stories, poems, plays, satires, essays, political discussions, or any other literary endeavors, the Forum Magazine, student publication, is offering a prize, rumored to be a book, for the best contribution not exceeding 1500 words.

Material should be turned in as early as possible to Frederick Bracher or William Goss, faculty sponsors, or to John Cumming, Forum editor, in order that careful study may be given to all contributions before the deadline, March 15.

College Writer Is Winner Of Exposition Essay Prize

Alice Pearson, a sophomore in the college, was named winner of the $25 prize by the Women's Board of the Exposition Essay contest. The topic of the contest was "Contributions of the Countries of the Pacific Area to Contemporary Civilization." Miss Pearson's essay surveyed the Clipper ships

Salinas Excursion Friday For Game, Bowling Match

College Cowpunchers Stampede To Salinas For Basketball Tilt

Attired in western regalia, approximately 200 Ram cowboys and cowgirls will descend upon the rodeo town of Salinas Friday evening in the second college bus excursion of the semester to be first hand celebrants of an anticipated varsity basketball victory over the junior collegiate cagers who represent Lettuceville in the conference race.

Based on the great success of the Santa Rosa trip two weeks ago, Promoters Jack Schmale and Art Pomares predict that this little outing, with a round trip measurement of 220 miles, will be one of the most successful ever undertaken by the college.

Bowling Match Too

Added incentive for those interested in watching athletic competition between the college and Salinas will be seen in the bowling match at the Salinas alleys at 6 o'clock.

Joe Amori's undefeated Ram keglers will attempt to annex their sixth straight match game victory.

Buses To Wait

Buses will wait in front of the pin emporium until the match is over, before departing for the basketball game.

Departure from Galileo will be at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, arrival in Salinas scheduled for 5:30. As The Guardsman went to press, it was not learned whether a dance would be held following the game, but if so, the excursion will include the event.

Arrive In A.M.

Arrival in San Francisco will be about 1 o'clock if no dance is held, 2 o'clock if dancing prevails.

As per usual, students residing in the East Bay may remain on the buses and ride to Oakland after arrival in San Francisco. Bridge fare only will be required.

Tickets Cost $1.50

Tickets for this outing are selling for $1.50, and may be purchased at the Galileo Bank office. Students are urged to buy tickets as early as possible to insure the buses leaving on schedule.

The rally committee urged all excursionists treking to Salinas to outfit themselves in Exposition Fiesta attire, thus adding to the novelty of the trip.

First Cinch Notices Will Be Sent Out This Week Announces J. P. Mohr

Cinch notices for the first midterm period will be issued some time this week, announced J. Paul Mohr, registrar early today.

New students who merit cinch notices, will be somewhat disturbed to learn that they will be sent to their parents, since it is a college ruling that deficiency notices for the first midterm period are sent to the parents of the students rather than to the students themselves.

Deficency or "cinch" notices, as they are commonly called are issued to all members of the college who receive a grade lower than "C" in a subject.

Hotel Division Will Honor Bay Area Vocational Directors With Lunch

Tomorrow afternoon, the college Hotel and Restaurant Society will give a luncheon in honor of the vocational directors of the bay area, announced Carl Rutledge, president of the association.

Giving indications of much activity planned for this semester, Rutledge also revealed plans for a field trip to Saratoga to visit a champagne vineyard on February 22.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce Trade Committee will hold its monthly meeting at Galileo, giving the Restaurant Society a chance to show how good a luncheon they can prepare.

J. Graham Sullivan, head of the division, will speak before the northern division of the State Hotel Association on February 22. The meeting of this group will be held at Richardson Springs near Chico.

Friday Afternoon Marks Deadline For All NYA Slips

All time slips should be turned in to Thomas O'Neil, faculty member, at the Powell Street office by 1:30 o'clock Friday, February 17.

"Pay checks will be mailed approximately ten days later," said Edward H. Redford, college NYA director.

National Defense Rally In Lecture Hall Today

RALLY INFORMATION

ARMY NAVY ASSEMBLY
TIME—eleven o'clock today
PLACE—extension building lecture hall
SPEAKER—Stewart R. Ward
TOPIC—"Is Latin America To Be A Good Neighbor Or A Menace?"
MUSIC — Lowell High School Band

Assembly Inaugurates Preparedness Week; Discussion of Americas

Celebrating National Defense Week, Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays at one time, the first assembly of the semester, sponsored by the Army and Navy Club, will take place today at 11 a.m. in the extension building lecture hall.

As has been the custom for the past few years, the organization has arranged for an address by a distinguished speaker as the main theme of the assembly.

Prominent Speaker

Serving as principal speaker will be Stewart R. Ward, executive secretary of the Commonwealth Club.

Ward is well known throughout local circles as chairman for the American Legion and also as the former commander of four thousand Legion members of the eighth San Francisco-San Mateo district.

Latin America Topic

Topic of the address by Ward will be "Is Latin America to be a Good Neighbor or a Menace?"

This is an extremely vital question at the present time with several prominent countries endeavoring to gain a foothold in that section of the world through the medium of Spain. He will be introduced by President Cloud.

Lowell High Band

Again on hand, as it was last year, will be the Lowell High School band to furnish the music and the proper spirit for the occasion. The band will play several martial airs at the conclusion of the speaker's address.

Although eleven o'clock classes have not been dismissed, many instructors have put in bids for seats and will attend the assembly with their entire classes.

Limited Capacity

Because of the small number of seats available in the lecture hall, students having this period free and desiring to attend this assembly are urged to come early so that the speaker will not be interrupted too often.

Captain Fred MacFarland, faculty adviser of the Army and Navy Club urged all students not having classes at this hour to attend.

MacFarland Invites

"Our assembly has a worth while motif, an excellent speaker, and the music of the Lowell High School Band. On behalf of the Army and Navy Club, I am taking this means of inviting everyone to this assembly."

Students who attended this college last year may recall the highly successful 1938 assembly staged under the same auspices.

Members of the faculty who will participate in the assembly this morning are Captain MacFarland, Commander F. G. Marsh, Dean Browne, and Paul M. Pitman.

San Mateo Talent To Perform At College Rally

To present what he hopes "will be the best rally yet given," Art Pomares, head yell leader is now working on securing talent for the next rally to be held next Thursday, February 23, at 2 o'clock.

Exchange of Talent

All that Pomares could disclose about the rally was that he is contacting San Mateo Junior college and has arranged to exchange talent with that institution.

"San Mateo will send its best talented students to our rally in exchange for the services of our outstanding features," Pomares disclosed.

Unusual Acts

"I have already seen a recent San Mateo rally and I know that they have some unusual and entertaining acts that are sure to please all college students."

Pomares is also attempting to bring an outstanding figure of the radio to the rally, and plans to present this well known person as a complete surprise.

Alpha Gamma Sigma Tea In Galileo Faculty Cafeteria Tomorrow Afternoon, 3:30

Alpha Gamma Sigma, the college honor society consisting of 90 members, will give a tea on Thursday, February 16, at 3:30 p.m. in the faculty cafeteria at Galileo, the first formal affair of the year. President James Henry, assisted by other officers, plan a program consisting of music and other entertainment, after which a business meeting will be held at 4 o'clock. All members are urged to be present at both the tea and meeting.

On April 1, at Treasure Island, the Alpha Gamma Sigma will be host, during the statewide convention of the organization, to all junior college Alpha Gamma Sigma chapters throughout California. Last year Pasadena was the meeting place of 600 delegates; therefore, Alpha Gamma Sigma expects to entertain as many or more this year.

COLLEGE RED RIFLE TEAM WINS TENTH MATCH BY DEFEATING SAN FRANCISCO ROD, GUN CLUB

"Bringing their total of matches won to date to the sum of 10 straight, the college Red Riflers triumphed over the San Francisco Rod and Gun Club on Thursday evening, February 9, to the tune of 900 to 792.

Finding themselves trailing by some eight points after the members had finished the competition in the prone shooting position, the sharpshooting Red squad came to life in time to swamp the challengers by 108 points.

Gibson, Templeton Tie

Tied for shooting honors on the college team for the match were Bill Gibson and Al Templeton with totals of 184 points apiece.

Following closely behind Templeton and Gibson was Fred Lucero of the Rod and Gun Club who amassed a score of 183.

McFarland Pleased

Fred McFarland, coach of the Red and Blue squads, seemed well pleased with the win accomplished by the Red team, but was not overly enthusiastic as to the loss suffered by the Blue squad at the hands of the American Legion Reserves on the night of February 1.

Led by A. H. Garnett, the Legion squad showed little respect for the highly vaunted shooting ability of the Blues as they won easily by the margin of 910 to 830.

As compared to the fine showing made by the squad at Napa two weeks ago, this defeat was disappointing to Coach McFarland.

Coaches Appointed

"In order that the members of both teams may receive more personal instruction and correction I would like to announce that Charlie North and Bill Gibson are appointed as coaches of the Red and Blue squads respectively," McFarland announced.

Scores of last week's matches are listed below.

Red Squad—900		S.F. Rod-Gun—792
*W. Gibson	184	*F. Lucero	183
*A templeton	184	*W. Moore	167
*G. Stewart	180	*J. Russell	152
*C. North	176	*H. Fligerald	145
*A. Cavarnoli	176	*A. Larson	145
E. Templeton	170	A. Zlehosch	129
Humphreys	170
R. Darr	109
Blue Squad—830		Leg. Reserves—910
*R. Wilson	175	*A. H. Garnett	188
*W. Voight	171	*E. Landeville	183
*J. Hewitt	165	*W. McDonald	182
*R. Weeks	161	*W. Seymour	179
*W. Eichel	160	*C. Jones	178
N. Riley	156	H. Garnett	164
M. Schrick	141	W. Roddock	158

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1939 No. 6

JOHN JULIUS ... EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser — Joan Nourse
Business Adviser — Edward H. Redford

Bill Frantz ... Managing Editor
Leonard Gross ... News Editor
Ray Berns ... Sports Editor
Isadore Maloff ... Feature Editor
Dorothy Trood ... Club Editor
Sam Galstaun ... Staff Photographer
Marion MacKillop ... Staff Artist
Allen Martin ... Business Manager
Edmund Wunsch ... Assistant Business Manager

REPORTERS

Lucretia Antonicelli, Ernie Baer, Ethan Bernstein, Bill Canning, Jacqueline Davis, Janet Fellows, Lois Gipson, Louis Goldstone, Dave Johnson, Frances Manalo, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Frank Verducci, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Students Should Attend National Defense Week Assembly Today

FOR almost four years, since the college began, an assembly has been held annually at the start of National Defense Week.

Events have occurred since last year's observance, to make the present National Defense Week a period of the greatest significance.

All students are familiar with the string of recent world-wide happenings—those events which cause is to ask, "How are we defended?"

Those who have not so asked already should relinquish all ideas of safety except by "armed vigilance".

"Let him who doubts ask the Ethiopian, cowering beneath a conqueror's heel; let him seek in Vienna the gaiety which once echoed through her streets; let him say to the Spanish mother, 'Woman where is your child?' or to a Chinese infant, 'child, where is your mother?' "*

Security for the United States is in terms of the entire Western Hemisphere since the safety of any part depends on the integrity of the whole, the continents of North and South America making a natural unit which must stand together.

When we think of defending two continents surrounded by far-flung seas, and when we consider all possible aggressors, we must look to the Navy as our first line of defense.

To keep actual warfare from the country itself, the Navy has always followed the tradition of offensive warfare. Attack the enemy where he is and keep him there, away from continental United States.

In case of conflagration, the policy of the United States Army is threefold.

(1) To provide a powerful striking force, highly mobile, (2) to protect our outlying possessions, and (3) to provide a large skeleton army upon which to train recruits.

It can be readily seen that the first two provisions are closely connected with naval policy.

In most respects, both Army and Navy are prepared to follow the stated principles. The Navy will soon be up to par. However, the Army, in order to be able to follow its policy to the letter, must practically double its numbers, coming up to the strength allowed in the National Defense Act of 1920.

All students can profit by attending today's assembly. Very few people have adequate knowledge concerning the defenses of their country.

*"The Ramparts We Watch" by George Fielding Elliott.

"Big Names" Let Down College For Selfish Reasons

FOR the first time in its three year history, San Francisco Junior College has been referred to as a poor sport. The situation as it existed was bearable, but the insult which was added to the injury was forced upon us by some of our own cohorts. As was witnessed by several hundred spectators at the State game, a large group of "Big Names" from this college left Kezar Pavilion before the game's termination simply because Coach Louis Conlan failed to let them coach his team.

In pointing out this display of poor sportsmanship and minority spirit, we would like to emphasize the theme that the college is the most important thing around here; overshadowing all classes and organizations. It is sufficient that outsiders knock us, but we lower our own self-respect when we allow members of the college to do the same.

An example of spirit as it should be displayed may be taken from the year 1928 when Al Smith lost the presidential election. Smith, unlike a few of our unloyal, stated, "I have never let my loyalty to my party dull my patriotism for my country."

Now comes the application of the moral. The college should be more important than any minor organization, class or group. Let us have no more displays of minor organization fealty or partisan group opinion at any college function.

E.B.

Club Advisory Board On Trial; Future Indefinite

RECENT events seem to point conclusively to the downfall of the college Club Advisory Board, unless there is a radical change in the present situation. There is no denying that up to the present time the Club Advisory Board has proved itself to be a failure.

BAD BREAKS

There have been several reasons advanced for this, the most prominent one being that the Board is after all only a new organization, and because of this must be expected to pass through an embryonic stage before actually finding itself.

Another reason might be that the group has been the recipient of a number of bad breaks. This is not an attempt to in any way cover up for the mistakes made by the Club Advisory Board, but it does seem that old man misfortune has consistently dogged its footsteps. It is also interesting to note that both semesters started with enthusiasm, but gradually slumped into a state of decline. This is no doubt due to the waning of the fundamental enthusiasm of the moment.

BOARD A FAILURE

Since the beginning of the organization a year ago, it has been the target of much adverse criticism because of its failure to accomplish anything. However, we feel assured that this will not be the case in the future.

The Club Advisory Board has a purpose in the college. This fact is self-evident or the organization would never have been created. Although in the past this purpose has not been fulfilled, there is every indication that as time progresses it will be. Poor luck cannot last forever, and the newness of the group has about worn off, leaving it imperative that something be done immediately.

NEED A CHANCE

As we see it, the Club Advisory Board is on trial. Its future conduct will determine its future existence, and because of this we believe it only fair to give its members a break and let them show the college how much they can accomplish.

There is no denying that they have a handicap to overcome, but it can be done with the cooperation of the student body.

Why not forget the criticism and caustic comments for a while and see if the organization can prove its worth to the college.

L. Gross

Prosperity Corner
By Sam Galstaun

1. Who were the six famous foreigners who participated in the American Revolution?

IN NEED OF A DIME

A little more than thirty years ago an orphan boy was wandering through some of the New England states. He had to sleep in barns, hay stacks, or wherever a little warmth could be offered. One night, he saw a wagon on the road with a lot of rags and papers scattered loosely about. Since there was no other place of shelter in sight, he hopped onto the wagon, covered himself with some of the rags and went to sleep. The next morning when he awoke, he found himself in front of a hospital. Feeling a bit weak and slightly ill, he reasoned no harm would come by going inside. On entering the hospital, he was immediately taken care of, and was discovered to have a slight case of tuberculosis of the lungs. The little tramp was advised to rest completely, as are all tubercular victims. The attending doctor wrote out a prescription for a medicine that was to build up his resistance, and told him to have it filled out at the hospital pharmacy. However, there was a ten cent fee for the bottle—but the lad didn't even have a penny, and had to leave the store without the medicine.

He hitch-hiked to the warm southern states, and there he took breathing exercises. Inside of a few years he was well again.

BECOMES A MOVIE STAR

After his recovery, he went to Hollywood. There he received work as an "extra" in motion pictures; and by constant advancement, he became the highest paid man in Hollywood, his salary being estimated at $5000 a day. With his superb voice (developed by his breathing exercises) he was chosen to play the lead in the first "talkie" which was produced by Joe Schenk. The depression came and the movie colonies hit a slump. Our star happened to walk into Joe's office, and there he found Joe writing him a cheque for one million dollars for past services. The movie star took the cheque and tore it up, saying: "Never mind Joe—you need the money more than I do . . . I can remember when a dime meant an awful lot to me."

2. Who was it? And what was the name of the first all-talking motion picture?

3. What common substance has the same chemical combination as diamonds?

4. Caviar is prepared from what?

5. Who said: "I would rather be right than be president"?

6. Who were the original inhabitants of Japan?

7. If you are superstitious, during what month would you consider it unlucky to be married?

8. Who was the first Chief Justice of the Supreme Court?

(For the benefit of those who are not acquainted with the publication "Brain Teasers", we offer you two excerpts found therein:)

9. "What does one love more than life?
Hate more than death or mortal strife?
That which contented men desire?
The poor have, the rich require?
The miser spends, the spendthrift saves?
And men carry to their graves?"

And:

10. There is a certain natural production which exists from two to six feet above the earth. It is neither animal, vegetable or mineral; neither male nor female, but something between both. It has neither length, breadth, nor substance; is recorded in the Old Testament and often mentioned in the New. It serves the purpose of both treachery and fidelity. What is it?

(Quiz Answers—Page 4, Column 5)

AFTER DARK
By John Ward

By way of preface: the following comments formed the nucleus of a talk presented by this department before the Forum Club of this college a few weeks past. They do not make any pretense toward an artistic criticism of swing music as music per se. Rather we are seeking to study the effect of swing on the younger generation in America.

SWING DEFINED

SWING, as we see it and as it is practiced by Benny Goodman and Arty Shaw, offers to a war-seared, desperate, threatened-with-unemployment youth a quick and obvious escape. It represents the adoption of an alien culture (swing, according to the best critics of swing, is directly traceable to the pre-war Harlem of St. Louis and points south), a barbaric return to rhythm, to hypnotic, primitive beating — of course reclothed in the sophisticated 1939 manner. (Swing offers to the disillusioned post-Munich youth an escape from thought through its sheer sense-deadening momentum.)

Swing is neither high art nor rational art—it ignores form and design, preferring a great burst of inspired improvisation to a thought-out, carefully worked plan. It is the art of spontaneity and as such is exists only so long as it is in the process of being performed. We doubt if Mr. Goodman and his band know, when they begin a jam session, exactly what is going to happen or how it will happen. The process appears to be almost entirely a matter of personal inclination.

SWING IS GRIPPING

The effect of this exotic sound on an audience of young adolescents is extraordinary when one reads of an audience in New York listening to a concert of Benny Goodman's music. When he finished and the theatre began showing the film of the evening the kids in the audience would not stop yelling for Goodman. Understandable, yes, but it points to one of the ill influences of swing on young minds. They are never satisfied. They must have more and more.

SWING AN ESCAPE

When anything acts as pure escape from a necessary reality it is to be condemned. And as far as we can see into the scene swing music is the escape of young America to too great an extent (though we in California fail to realize how prevalent jitterbugs can be as in New York and the east). The youth of America, who should be the first in the field when it comes to understanding the issues at variance in the world today, are running from facts and figures a mad rush away from reality.

Sartorial Modes
By Fashion Fanny

WITHIN three days, San Francisco will be host to the world and participants of the Golden Gate Exposition. Millions will attend the vast affair, and amongst the crowd will be the college woman. She will be particularly outstanding because of the costume she chooses—dashing, youthful, and smart.

GAYWAY TALK

The smartest thing to wear any day you attend the Fair, is the three piece woolen suit. Not only is it practical, but it is serviceable. The topcoat can be worn with a silk print or woolen dress instead of the suit, and the suit can be worn separately without the coat.

The lightweight topcoat one store is showing is called the Gayway and it is made of the softest woolen material seen in a long time. Also the Gayway dress, made of delectable prints and the Gayway shoe which is about the most important thing connected with fashion and the Exposition. It features comfort and style, and that is what is needed for an all day trip to the fair or even two hours of walking around.

MADEMOISELLE SAYS . . . Go modern: in stripes . . . Norwegian ones, wide wall-paper ones, slim candy stripes . . . stripes for everything. In short cuts: little-girl dress chopped off just above the knees, and leg-free with pleats and flare. Go functional: in pants . . . skin-hugging shorts that wear their plackets up the back to leave your hips streamlined . . . in slick-tailored slacks for lean long-leggedness . . . in a Cannes cardigan, cut and sewn like fabric—putting the sweater cardigan in its staple place. Stimuli to your originality: the challenge of an "at home" costume assembled by yourself . . . as a lastex-shirred blouse (just like a sweater) and a dinner-length skirt . . . in taffeta, in rayon jersey, in sheer wool; a collection of snood turbans in shocking shades to wear with your wintry darks; contrive your own veils for day and night out of tulle . . . and twist them adroitly, tenderly. And a prophetic note: keep it slim, but lower your waistline. Even to the hips.

National Defense
By Marion MacKillop

RAM'S HORN

Wright Answers "Stokowski"; Features Praised

● CARTOON LAUDED

Editor, The Guardsman:

It is gratifying to see that you finally have added another artist to your staff and are putting a little variety on the front page. Last week's issue, with the drawing of Louis Goldstone on the front page, was just what we have been waiting for.

Coming from a school whose newspaper boasted of many cartoons from school artists, we were beginning to despair and lose interest in The Guardsman. But lo and behold! To the complete surprise of everyone, you finally come out of your shell and give us some variety.

It's so disconcerting to look at a newspaper page and be greeted by a mass of black and white. We know that pictures cost a lot of money, but it looks as though you've finally reached a good and effective medium.

Congratulations both to Louis Goldstone and on the better looking front page.

Sincerely,
Ah Gee and Sum Woe

● WANTS "STIMULATING" EDITORIALS

Editor, The Guardsman:

Far be it from me to cast any aspersions on the Great Emancipator, but don't you think that a more suitable, a more timely subject for an editorial might be found than that appearing in The Guardsman for February 8?

We have had the nobility of Washington, Lincoln, etc., drummed into us all through grammar school and high school, and if we have not accepted the veracity of such statements by now, surely it is a little late to start the whole process over again.

If possible, please give us stimulating editorials of current interest in the future.

Stude

● CONGRATULATIONS!

Editor, The Guardsman:

Congratulations to Bill Frantz on his story "Chivalry Pays No Dividends". It was written in a graphic style that makes the incident seem almost possible.

Not only was this story interesting and entertaining, but it provided a welcome innovation to the pages of The Guardsman.

Why haven't we had something like this in the past?

Short Story Addict

● "STOKOWSKI" MISUNDERSTANDS

Editor, The Guardsman:

"Leopold Stokowski" seems to have misunderstood the theme of my last letter (The Guardsman, February 1, 1939). The point I tried to emphasize is that classical music is a proposition for "white tie and tails" and does not show up so well in noisy fair grounds.

I understand perfectly that it is very hard to obtain seats for a concert at the last minute. As "Leopold" says, " a symphony orchestra is more often sold out than not." But, has Mister "Stokowski" ever tried to get into a place where a big name dance orchestra is playing? There not only is no sitting, standing, or dancing room, there is no breathing room as well.

In conclusion let me say that I am a great believer in free speech so no one need be afraid to sign his or her own name to any letter concerning me.

Sincerely yours,
Jay Wright

● "HE-MEN" TAKE HEED!

Editor, The Guardsman:

Just because a person has a beard doesn't mean he is a real he-man. Nor does the fact that he is sporting a pair of copper-riveted jeans make him any more masculine than the chap who sees fit to wear a business suit.

Clothes definitely do not make the man. If I am to judge your entire male student body by the actions of one bearded member of your college. The other day I was returning to

(Continued on page 4, column 7)

Cabbages & Kings
By Blue Pencil Bill

WE had often wondered what became of the bee that stung Ferdinand. Did he live to raise a large family? Or did he fly around stinging other bulls who sat on flowers? Izzy Maloff, the Feature Editor solved the problem for us. He says that it is an apicultural fact that bees die after they lose their stinger. It is a terrible fate for the poor bug—after all he had done to bring fame to Ferdinand. By the way—what ever became of Alfred Landon?

• • •

"When you're down in the mouth, remember Jonah—he came out all right," says Jack Bruton, the little philosopher.

BEACH BUSHES

At Playland-at-the-Beach we believe you can find the finest collection of facial adornments in the city of San Francisco. Each man who works there has a beard, a mustache, or both. The reason for the excellent cooperation with the Fiesta is the edict handed out by the employees' kangaroo court: "Any employee who hasn't a beard for the Fiesta week will be taken before the court and the punishment for the lack of spirit is the removal of one eyebrow with a straight razor."—Well, it works!

NAUGHTY! NAUGHTY!

Mel Chicazola, you are a naughty, naughty boy! What's the big idea of setting fire to a copy of The Guardsman in one of the restaurants in the vicinity of the Powell Street Extension. First of all, they take your guff without a holler; secondly, they allow you to use the mezzanine floor to do your studying or to read the sports page of the morning periodical. Maybe you don't know that the restaurant owners probably judged the entire college on your action. Take it easy next time, huh?

A FLOP?

Only a few months ago the people of San Francisco thought the Fair was going to "flop". They based their opinions on the publicity and comparative enthusiasm emanating from New York, which is holding a fair in competition with us. The New York Fair had the following items—Grover Whalen, a much larger population, Grover Whalen, and a much larger population. Furthermore, Lloyds of London were offering odds that our fair would "flop". (Rumor has it that Lloyds has decreased the odds considerably.)

FULL BLOOM

Our Fair, in turn, had a lot of "punk art", no Grover Whalens, and no symphony orchestras.

But look at the exuberance and enthusiasm of San Francisco this week. Beards are being flaunted, cowboy outfits grace the manly and womanly figures of the citizens of "Frisco", stores and shops have "gone western"; and an enormous amount of tickets have been sold in advance.

In a very short time, San Francisco has turned into a colorful, Fair-conscious metropolis—showing New York how to get enthusiastic over a Fair.

• • •

FLASH

More than half the GIRLS at Polytechnic High School are wearing jeans to school this week—whereas only a small minority of the MEN at this college are adorned with the cowboy regalia.

• • •

HE'S ALL WRIGHT!

Personal Note To Jay Wright: Have noticed your Ram's Horn letters with the utmost interest and approval. Whenever you have a few minutes to spare, drop around to W.J., our office. We would like to shake your hand. It isn't often we run across men like you. Congratulations!

1000 A.D. . . . fairly Dark Ages, but beauty forges ahead. Glass mirrors instead of polished metal ones. Paper handkerchiefs — from the Chinese. Rose-water for finger-bowls.

While Thinking . . .
By Leonard Gross

IN AN attempt to make San Francisco the key city on the Pacific Coast the Board of Supervisors last week commenced a drive to have at least half of the United States fleet based permanently in the bay area.

Sponsored by President Shannon of the Board, the resolution declares: "San Francisco is the greatest and most model harbor in the world, landlocked, sheltered on all sides, with an abundance of deep water channels and mooring locales. It states further that the bay area is the logical Pacific Coast base for naval operations, since it has all the necessary facilities to supply, equip and maintain the greatest fleet afloat.

The request was made to President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Navy Swanson, and although we are not attempting to discredit the plan, it does sound somewhat as though it were issued by the Chamber of Commerce.

Although the supervisors are to be commended for their civic zeal, it seems to us that they carried it a bit too far, almost to the extent of over zealousness.

SAN DIEGO BEST BET

At the present time San Diego is the naval base for the coast, and it is ridiculous to presume that the naval department has not a good reason for keeping it there. To begin with, San Diego was not chosen by the toss of a coin, but after careful study and consideration was selected for a very strategic purpose. This purpose should be self-evident, since San Diego is the only port large enough to hold the Western fleet near the Panama Canal.

If ever the United States is attacked by a Pacific power, the Canal Zone will be the first at which point the enemy will aim, because the canal is the lifeline between Eastern and Western United States, and its destruction would result in the severing of this line.

FOR NATION'S GOOD

San Francisco is at the very minimum 24 hours distant from San Diego by boat. Therefore, if the fleet were stationed here it would take one day longer to reach Panama in case of danger than it would if the fleet were to remain in its present base. Although it may not be to the best interests of San Francisco for the war vessels to do this, it is to the best interests of the nation, and we deem it highly improbable for the naval department to see any reason for changing.

LIMIT REQUEST

We realize that it is a bit presumptuous for us to suggest anything to the Board of Supervisors, but notwithstanding, we shall do so. Since it appears very unlikely that the present request for a San Francisco naval base will be granted, it would be a good idea, if the former request were somewhat alleviated, so that instead of asking for half the fleet, we ask for only a certain number. At least if this is done, there will be a possibility of success, which to our way of thinking is not even remotely possible now.

Ram Basketeers Attempt Comeback In Salinas Game

THE GUARDSMAN SPORTS

State Row Revealed As 'Blind For Publicity'; See Editorial Expose

Varsity Basketball Squad Loses Marin Series; Double Defeat Puts Rams Out Of League Leadership

Last Minute Bucket By Marin Costs Locals Series Opener, 37-35

In a game marked by the rough play of both squads, Marin Junior College went into the conference lead by eking out "Dutch" Conlan's Ram basketballers, 37 to 35 in the first of a two-game series at Kezar Pavilion last Wednesday night.

Two of the locals, "Big Ed" Curcio and Willie Blackfield, were forced out of the contest via the personal foul route, while Borich of Marin also left the game, accumulating four personals.

Marin Starts Fast

The Mariners started fast, running up a 12 to 4 lead before the locals found the range. With Al Opalinski showing the way, the Rams came back fast, leaving the floor at half time with the score tied at 21 all.

Football tactics were much in evidence in the second half with the scoring at a premium.

Needless to say, the lads from Marin got the best of the rough and tumble stuff out-fighting the Conlanmen and ultimately winning the fray.

Substitute Scores

With but a few minutes remaining in the game, and the score standing 35 to 33 in favor of Marin, Tom Moore, substitute Mariner forward, tossed in a hook shot to shove Marin into a four point lead.

Excitement reached a fever pitch as Al Opalinski dropped a thirty-footer to bring the Rams within two points of the Mariners, causing the partisan Ram adherents to shout to the high heavens.

'Twas all to no avail, however, the game ending a few seconds later with Marin retaining possession of the ball in their own back court.

Opalinski Outstanding

Outstanding for the locals was Al Opalinski who tossed in six field goals and three fouls for a total of 15 points, while Borich and Forde headed the Marin scorers, totaling ten points each.

Rough Tactics Feature Mariners' Capture of Second Tilt, 49-40

Journeying to the Marin stronghold at Kentfield last Friday night, the Ram cagers lost their second straight game to the Mariners 49 to 40. The defeat leaves the local college little chance of capturing the league title as Marin and San Mateo are now strongly encamped at the top of the ladder with six wins.

Inability to cash in on scoring opportunities in the first half consequently cost the college quintet the game, as the lads were able to score only two field goals in the first half. Marin held a commanding lead of 24 to 10 as the players left the floor at the intermission.

Coming back on the court full of fight the Rams immediately started to hit the bucket. Mainly through the splendid shooting of Willie Blackfield, speedy forward, the Rams found themselves back in the ball game. This belated rally fell short, however, as the final gun sounded with the San Francisco quintet still trailing by nine points.

Almeida Leads Scoring

Individual scoring honors for the game were captured by Bob Almeida, Marin forward, and Blackfield. The Mariner player took the honors by caging 18 points while Blackfield was one point behind with 17 markers. Behind Almeida in the Marin scoring was Forde, big guard, who tallied 12 points, while Ed Curcio garnered nine points for the losers.

Hal Fisher turned in another of his fine performances at the guard position, as he continually recovered the ball off the Ram backboard. Although not scoring many points this season, Fisher has benefited the squad in every game with his excellent team play.

Rams Improve

Evidence of the fact that the Rams were the better ball club in the second half can be found in the scoring of the final session. The college quintet outscored its rivals 30 to 25 in the second half, after compiling only ten markers in the initial period.

Editorial . . .
ON SEVERING RELATIONS

THE true reasons for San Francisco State's move toward severance of athletic relations with the college are revealed in the February 10 issue of the "Golden Gater", State student publication.

"San Francisco State College is finally getting some long awaited publicity," announces that paper. "Perhaps this publicity is not the necessarily desired type, but it still puts the State College before the eyes of the public and will help further any campaign conducted by Gater students or faculty on some other important issue. Naturally the publicity of which I am speaking is the 'blast' against the coach of our local Junior College for keeping his first string on the bench in the State-Jaysee casaba tussle last Monday at Kezar pavilion.

"As a result of this rather blunt insult," concludes the "Gater", "the Jaysees will probably be jerked-off the State athletic schedule. This is a move long desired by the liberal students here at State, and perhaps a majority of the students. At last we have a 'blind' on which to act, and a very good one at that."

From time immemorial, anger, jealousy, fear, scheming, and a dozen other reasons have caused educational institutions to sever relations, athletic or otherwise.

When the final reasoning has been determined, it appears that these otherwise friendly schools have broken off because one person, or a small group of persons have taken it upon themselves to make a major issue of a minor point.

Judging from the admission of the State paper itself, we may safely assume that none of the aforementioned "reasons" is involved in the present incident. State's only motive seems a purely selfish one. Thus far, that institution has adhered to the time honored tradition of deliberately creating an unpleasant incident to use as a camouflage for predetermined ulterior designs.

Whether the ingenuity with which the current coup d'etat was executed can compensate for State's deplorable lack of sportsmanship remains to be seen.

In any event, it is to be hoped that the issue is decided one way or another in the near future, as there are many other local colleges which would not consider it beneath their dignity to participate in athletic relations with this institution.

Basketball Varsity Meets Salinas Squad Tonight, Friday; Will Act As Hosts To San Mateo Next Week

San Mateo Tied With Marin For Leadership; Major Heads Invaders

Hoping to regain the lead of the coast division of the junior college conference which they relinquished to Marin Junior College last week, the Ram cagers will act as hosts to the San Mateo Bulldogs at Kezar Pavilion next Wednesday night with the return engagement billed for the peninsula court the following Friday.

Coached by Murius McFadden, the Bulldogs are tied for the league lead with the Marin quintet, each having six wins to their credit.

Major Leads Bulldogs

Leading the San Mateo cagers will be Les Major, six foot, six inch center, who is the leading scorer of the squad as well as one of the top scorers in the league.

Major will be ably supported by Jack Harris, all-conference forward of last year. The other forward berth will be filled by John Bradley, while the guard posts will be held down by Noah Curti and Bob Anderson. Both players are of the rough and tumble variety and are expected to give the Ram forwards a bad time.

Take Twin Victories

By establishing themselves at the top of the league, the peninsula squad has taken twin victories from Santa Rosa, Salinas, and Menlo Junior Colleges.

A twin victory over San Mateo will place the local squad in a contending position for the championship. However a loss at the hands of the Bulldogs would virtually remove the Rams from the title race.

Coach Dutch Conlan will floor the familiar quintet of Blackfield and Bedrosian at forwards, Al Opalinski at the center position, and the two strongarm lads, Ed Curcio and Hal Fisher, at the guard posts.

Following is the starting lineups for both squads:

San Mateo		San Francisco
Harris	forward	Blackfield
Bradley	forward	Bedrosian
Major	center	Opalinski
Curti	guard	Curcio
Anderson	guard	Fisher

Conlanmen Attempt To Stage Comeback After Two Marin Defeats

Having lost the conference lead by dropping two games to Marin Junior College last week, the Ram basketball varsity will attempt to stage a comeback when it meets Ed Adams' Salinas Junior College's oft-defeated cagers tonight at Kezar and again on Friday evening at Salinas.

Unless the Salinas outfit has undergone a complete rejuvenation, the locals had better be careful, or else they're going to break back into the win column.

Whipped Modesto

In the State junior college tournament at Modesto last December, the locals walloped Salinas, 68 to 39, in a first-round encounter.

Conlan's lads will have it all over Adams' men in height.

Salinas will open the contest with Marten Dimick and "Red" Roth at forwards, Hank Eaton at the center position, and Joe Vosti and Bill Hansen at guards.

Eaton Tallest

Tallest man in the Salinas opening lineup is Eaton at center, standing a mere 5 ft. 11 in., while the rest of the first string averages a bare 5 ft. 9 in.

We fear for the country lads when they run up against such Ram huskies as Ed Curcio, Hal Fischer, Bob Burrowes, Al Opalinski, and George Bedrosian, all standing 6 ft. or better.

In league play, the Salinas squad has not been able to eke out a game, losing its last two contests to a fighting Santa Rosa squad.

Opening Teams

Probable starting lineups for both quintets are as follows:

Salinas		S.F.J.C.
Dimick	f	Blackfield
Roth	f	Burrowes
Eaton	c	Opalinski
Hansen	g	Fischer
Vosti	g	Curcio

• • •

Prediction: Rams over Salinas tonight by 12 points and again on Friday by 15 points.

Locals over San Mateo—six digits the first game, two points the second game.

RAM chops
By JACK SCHMALE

One of the better excursions ever attempted here is booked for Friday night, when Rams and Ramettes are invited to accompany the basketball team to Salinas for the conference tussle in the Lettuce center. The tariff is one buck and a half per copy, the time to depart 2:30 o'clock from Galileo.

A suitable preliminary to the basketball game Friday night will be found on the Salinas bowling alleys, when the undefeated Ram pinsters will collide with the local junior collegians in a match game at 6 o'clock. Coach Joe Amori will start Benny Papapietro, Howard Cloud, Walt Gardner, the guy who writes this tripe, and a fifth member of the bowling physical education classes to represent the college. The bowling match will be over around 8 o'clock, with the casaba engagement at 8:30.

TRACK SQUAD STARTS

It won't be many more weeks before Russ Sweet's track squad takes to the cinders in the first genuine attempt at track undertaken in the history of the college. Before that, however, Russ plans to enter several of the outstanding Ram steppers in the big indoor championships on Treasure Island in March.

Support is recommended for the track team in its extensive schedule this spring. The same is to be said of Jack Gaddy's baseballers, soon embarking on an ambitious program, equipped, 'tis said, with the most promising material ever to steal bases for the honor and glory of the Ram.

In closing, it might be said that we sincerely hope that State hurries in its "blind" action against the college, as there are plenty of good football teams seeking dates on the Ram schedule next fall. One can be accommodated if State persists.

RAM HORSE-HIDER ENDANGERED

It seems that this lad, an excellent infielder, made a trip to a state institution with a semi-pro ball club to engage the mentally-unbalanced ball team in a contest.

A lad by the name of Al on the institution team who was, perhaps, a little more cracked than the rest of the boys, seems to have taken a fancy to our local hero and stared at the local lad throughout the game, causing him to make no end of errors.

In the seventh inning, the man dashed onto the field after our hero. The Ram ran, tripped in the outfield, and was pounced upon by the institution inmate who said, "Tag, you're it!" We liked it.

Alumni-Varsity Ball Game Postponed; Coach Gaddy Frets Over Entire Affair

Jupiter Pluvius, the nemesis of all outdoor athletic contests, was responsible for the postponement of the scheduled Alumni vs. Varsity baseball game, originally set for 2 o'clock last Saturday afternoon on the Funston diamond.

Because of the wet grounds and poor playing condition of the field, Coach Jack Gaddy of the varsity, and Manager Bob "Porky" Fex of the Alumni, decided, late Friday evening, to put the game over for a week in hopes that Lake Funston will be in playable shape by that time.

Stars On Hand

The Gaddy-Fex feud will be the official opener of the Junior College season. Big name performers of past seasons will be on the scene to lend a hand in getting the present crop of batswingers off to a good start."

Coach Gaddy, fretting about the recent deluge, said, "If my boys hadn't been rained out for the past two weeks, I think that we would more than take the highly touted Alumni."

Many See Action

Odero Guisti, Joey Ardanaz, Jack Berutich, Arnie Banta, Larry Wilgus, Ed McSweeney, Joe Futernick, Babe Luchessi, Paul Hjort, Ed Arvedi and a host of other ex-Rams will see action during the contest.

Guisti, Banta, Futernick and Hjort are all connected with major league clubs. This alone is an indication that the present varsity is in for a hot afternoon.

Game time is 2 p.m.—Place is Funston Field—Date is Saturday, February 18th.

Oshida Sparks Jayvees In 31-27 Victory Over Marin Reserves At Kezar

Playing the preliminary to the varsity encounter at Kezar Pavilion last Wednesday night, the junior varsity cagers defeated the Marin reserves 31 to 27.

Sparked by Bill Oshida and Hugh Ryan, the local quintet managed to hold a slim 17 to 14 lead at the intermission.

With the opening of the final session, the Rams started to pull away from the Marin squad. Determining not to be conquered without a struggle, the visitors rallied to pull up to within four points of the winners as the final gun sounded.

Individual scoring honors went to Bill Oshida with 11 points and Hugh Ryan, speedy center, with eight points.

RAMblings
By RAY BERNS

Maybe the columnists on this page have berated the basketball team in previous columns, but believe you me, when outsiders move in and criticize our coach, our team, and our student body, we don't like it!

If "Dutch" Conlan wants to save his first squad for what he considers more important encounters, that's up to him, and the college should back him 100 per cent.

COLUMNIST PREJUDICED

In one of the metropolitan tabloids last week, one of the columnists devoted practically his entire article to the State-Ram "feud" and we don't mind saying that said scribner was a bit prejudiced toward the Gators.

It's all right when the gentleman decides to use the "feud" for material and comment upon it; but when he states that the Ram quintet was foredoomed to defeat, we question his right to make such a statement.

Whether or not the Staters presented a stronger pre-game record is of no consequence in view of the fact that State lost two of her first-stringers for the encounter.

MAY HAVE BEEN BEATEN

And it may also be recorded that the score at half time with the Rams playing their second team was only 23 to 20, and it seems to us that it's just as well that "Dutch" held out his first-string in the second half, or the Gators might have been submitted to a humiliating defeat.

In any event, we lost our two-bits on the contest, all of which bothers us not in the least, our opinion being that Conlan knew what he was doing.

• • •

It has been brought to our attention that the lads in the boxing classes are agitating for a boxing team and advocating that members of said team should receive a circle block for their pains (boy, what pains).

AMORI RECEIVES INVITATION

Joe Amori, boxing mentor, has received an invitation from Salinas Junior College to enter a team in the state-wide junior college championships which will be held at Salinas in April.

If the Ram leather-pushers can gather together a formidable aggregation to send to the championships, there is, in our humble opinion, no reason why the college should not institute boxing as a minor sport if the lads make a favorable showing.

Sweet Devises New System For Tracksters; Meet Soon

Not to be outdone by bad weather conditions, which have forced his trackmen to cancel all practices thus far this season, Coach Russ Sweet has devised a new system.

Workouts will be held by the Ram track hopefuls every day at Kezar. Should rain appear again to thwart the cinder dusters, the lads will take to the parking area across from Kezar.

Sweet is looking forward to the inter-class meet to be held March 10-11 as he has hopes of finding a few future stars to perform on the cinder paths for the Rams.

College Netmen Lose In Palace Of Fine Arts Play

Meeting some of the best tennis players in the State, the junior college netmen went down to defeat on the Palace of Fine Arts courts last week.

Of the Ram varsity, Hal Wagner, Bill Canning, and Ray Berns made the best showing. Wagner went to the semi-finals in the singles, Canning advanced to the semi's in the mixed doubles with his sister Pat, and Berns forced Henry Guilmette, San Francisco champion into a third set before losing. Berns also made an excellent showing in the doubles as he and his partner, Tom Brown, extended Stanford University's No. 1 team, Robert Low and James Seaver to three sets.

Tom Wilson, mentor of the college lads, also lost a three-set match in the first round to Charles Larkin.

Bob Kun had the tough luck to draw Frank Kovacs, local Davis Cup material, in the second round. Kun played well but was no match for the smooth stroking Oakland youth, and lost, 6-0, 6-0.

Kun was paired with Wilson in the doubles but failed to show for his match. Wilson was quite angry with Kun but the latter explained that he thought the match was to be played a day later.

Bill Madamba, the new addition to the Ram net squad, took a 6-2, 6-2, drubbing at the hands of Nick Carter, veteran Golden Gate Park player.

Incidentally, Patsy Canning performed in a manner befitting a champion in the tourney.

In the women's singles event, Pat went to the finals, losing to Virginia Wolfenden, ninth-ranking in the nation, 4-6, 7-5, 6-1, and defeating Margaret Osborne, top-seeded, in the semi-finals, 6-3, 0-6, 9-7.

Hal Wagner: Holds top spot on varsity . . . experienced, having participated in numerous tourneys . . . possesses flawless ground strokes and an excellent touch on volley and overhead . . . weak service.

Bill Canning: No. 2 man . . . ranked in Northern California junior rankings the past few years . . . good backhand, poor forehand . . . strong defensive player and an excellent retriever.

Ray Berns: In the third spot at the present time . . . aerial game better than ground game . . . better doubles player than singles . . . also has valuable tournament experience.

Bill Madamba: Doing a fine job at the fourth position . . . has continental strokes and liable to get hot at any time . . . watch Madamba in the future.

Bob Kun: Dependable veteran holding down No. 5 position . . . terrific service when working . . . good doubles partner . . . has variety of strokes and can get unconscious in stroke production.

Ray Kline: Newcomer who is coming along fast . . . has bad habit of not watching ball causing many missed and wood shots . . . will develop as the season progresses.

Carl Christianson: Alternate on squad . . . revising game and learning fast . . . a never-say-die type of player.

Returning Veterans Form Nucleus of Swimming Team

Coach Russ Sweet has issued a call for all students interested in performing for the Ram swimming team to appear at the initial meeting to be held at Galileo this week.

WAA Accepts Invitation; Tennis Tournament Starts

Invitation has been extended to the college Women's Athletic Association to serve on the membership committee of the Athletic Federation of College Women to promote an increase in the Federation's membership among the junior colleges in the west.

The University of California campus will be the scene of athletic activities this spring when the A.F.C.W. holds its National Conference. The date for the Conference has been set for April 12, 13, and 14.

Women from all of the universities and junior colleges on the Pacific Coast will participate in the athletic activities, and all colleges are expected to be well represented.

In order to further the promotional work that has been done by the A.F.C.W., members and officers are planning and discussing suggestions and new ideas to increase the membership among the universities and junior colleges.

Dorothy Sanderson, president of the college WAA said, "The WAA will be glad to have the opportunity of serving on the A.F.C.W. membership committee and will try to help in the promotional work."

Women's singles tournaments were started last Saturday for the Women's Athletic Association tennis at the Palace of Fine Arts.

Helen Godman, manager of the tennis meetings, reported that there were from 25 to 30 women participating in tennis this semester. "Women that report on Saturday mornings are intermediate and advanced players, and have shown improvement since the class started four weeks ago," Miss Godman stated.

Under the supervision of Bertha Mae Keller, the tennis class meets every Saturday morning from 10:00 to 12:00.

After completing the singles tournaments, the women will start the doubles tournament. The participants will draw for partners.

Conlan Announces Golf Signup For All Hopefuls

Contrary to public belief, there will be a golf team this semester, it was announced by Coach "Dutch" Conlan.

All those who are interested in turning out should sign up with Conlan immediately. Returning from last year's squad to form the nucleus of this year's team will be the twins, the Rommey brothers. The team will be entered in the junior college league and Conlan is anxious to make a good showing.

The Toothless Terror . . . .

Student Poll On Compulsory Subjects Opens; Men & Women Favor Hygiene

IN AN attempt to obtain an unbiased cross section of student views by means of ballots and personal interviews, The Guardsman Poll of Student Opinion has asked the question, "Would you take any of the required subjects, American Institutions, Hygiene, and Physical Education, if such subjects were not compulsory?" It should be understood that these subjects are required by the State Department of Education rather than by the local authorities.

HYGIENE MOST POPULAR

The results of the poll show that the most popular of the required subjects is Hygiene, which received the approval of 53 per cent of students voting, while least attractive is Physical Education, receiving only 42 per cent favorable vote. Also failing to receive a conclusive vote of approval was American Institutions, supported by 44 per cent of the students.

Hygiene's popularity may be attributed to the women, who voted 58 per cent in its favor, while a 56 per cent vote for American Institutions topped the men's list, with Hygiene second. Although strongly favored by the men, American Institutions is obviously unpopular with the women of the college who voted a decisive 71 per cent against it.

Complete figures are as follows:

	FOR			AGAINST
	M	W	T	M	W	T
Hygiene	50	58	53	50	42	47
Phys Ed.	36	50	42	64	50	58
Amer. Instit.	56	29	44	44	71	56

CONCLUSIONS

Despite the slight majority in favor of one of the required courses, it is clear that compulsory subjects do not find much support in the college. Typical student opinion held that high school courses in civics and U. S. History satisfactorily covered the American Institutions course, while hygiene was, in the opinion of many, quite unnecessary for students not interested in medicine. Physical Education was held in disfavor by a majority of the men, split 50-50 in the case of the women, was probably the most controversial of the three courses.

This week The Guardsman asks a question relative to itself. "What are your three favorite columns in The Guardsman?" Write your answers in the accompanying ballot and leave it in The Guardsman box at Powell Street or Galileo. Be sure that your vote is in the hands of the paper before Friday morning in order that it may be considered in the results.

What are your three favorite columns in The Guardsman?

1. ....
2. ....
3. ....

Man.............. Woman..............

Radio Division To Tour Telephone Company, Will Make Technical Study

Lowell M. Hollingsworth, in charge of the Radio Division of the San Francisco Junior College, now located at the Samuel Gompers Trade School, announced that the students of his department would, in the near future, make an educational tour of the Telephone Company.

The trip will consist chiefly of studying the technical workings of the highly complicated telephone system.

"The system of calling a number, and getting your party immediately is simple enough, said Hollingsworth, "but the wiring, the overhead and underground lines, and things of that type are very, very complicated and require much study. It is my idea that if the students are addressed by men familiar with the workings of the system, they can learn far more than by hours of trying to study the same problem in some text-book."

After visiting the Telephone Company, the Radio Engineers plan visits to some of the local radio stations and to the Coast Guard Station.

Former College Rifleman On California Varsity Team

John Benton, former Ram rifler is now shooting on the varsity rifle team, according to reports received from the University of California.

While attending this college, Benton worked his way from a substitute on the second team to a berth on the first squad.

During his stay at the college he led the squad in scoring as the team copped first place in both the Bay Bridge and Golden Gate Bridge Leagues.

SOUTHERNERS FAVORABLE

College students south of the Mason-Dixon line are more favorable toward the President's re-armament program than are the northern collegians.

College Women Attend Fresno AWS Conveution

Five women of the college will be guests of Fresno State College March 17 and 18, when they attend the Associated Women Students' Convention, an annual affair at which colleges of Northern California are represented.

"We have been asked to send three representatives from the AWS, and two from the Women's Athletic Association," Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser announced. "This means that Dorothy Trood, AWS president, and Dorothy Sanderson, WAA president will be among the representatives from the college."

The convention varies in locality each semester and according to Miss Trood, the college is scheduled to be hostess for the guests in the near future.

Those attending, all AWS and WAA presidents, and selected representatives, are granted use of the hostess college's dormitories for two days. They are entertained, introduced to various celebrities, and climaxing the occasion, a dance is given in their honor.

"The selected women are really fortunate and always exceedingly pleased to attend this outstanding event," Miss Dougherty concluded.

CLUB ADVISORY BOARD

(Continued from page 1)

interest in geology, open to geology students; Pi Mu Gamma, to promote interest in medicine, open to pre-medicine, dentistry, nursing, and pharmacy students.

Press Club, to promote interest in journalism, open to journalism students; Rifle and Pistol Club, to encourage marksmanship, open to students more than 16.

Army and Navy Club, to promote interest in the armed forces of the U. S., open to any student connected with the armed forces; Tarbuth Society, social and cultural, open to students interested in Jewish affairs; Women's Service Society, to promote fellowship, open to women serving the college.

Unchartered Clubs

The following clubs were organized as of the beginning of this term, but have not yet applied for a charter:

Alpha Delta Epsilon; Block SF Society; Chess Club; Delta Sigma Phi; Forum Club; Home Economics Association; Iota Chi; Italian Club; Lambda Chi; Omicron Phi Pi; Order of Nathaniel Bennett; Peace Society; Phi Rho Pi; Radio Engineers; Tri Epsilon.

Presidential Notes

By Frank Verducci

A SHORT time ago a stranger visited one of our rallies. Upon witnessing the behavior of the assemblage he was heard to remark: "No spirit." That very same evening he went to see the basketball team play. Again he repeated: "No spirit."

This time, however, one of the loyal members of the student body overheard him and said that the few students in the rooting section were rooting and yelling and making twice as much noise as a larger group would ordinarily make.

STRANGER EXPLAINS

The stranger said, "That, my dear young fellow, is the trouble. It seems unbelievable that a college with an enrollment of almost two thousand, two hundred has but a handful of students present at one of its athletic encounters. Furthermore, if you care to witness and hear some real spirit, go to a high school basketball game and note the difference.

Our loyal student heeded the stranger's advice and went to one of the high school games. He was very much surprised and amazed for everything the stranger had said was true.

WHERE'S THE PEP?

The point we wish to offer as food for thought is this: If we all had so much pep and enthusiasm before, where is it now? Do we lose it as soon as we register in college? Has someone stolen it from us? Have we changed so much that we don't care what goes on around here?

SPIRIT STILL HERE

The answer to all these questions is "No". We still possess the old pep and enthusiasm. Somewhere deep inside of us it is trying to come out. Give it a chance, help it along, and you will notice the change.

HERE'S THE EVIDENCE

The reason that the spirit is still with us was clearly demonstrated last term. We fought against overwhelming odds to put through the bond issue which appropriated funds toward the construction of the new college.

We distributed circulars, stickers, cards, took turns patrolling the polls, spoke to our friends and made speeches to put the bond issue over. Every student did his part and did it with such a show of enthusiasm that it caught the public's eye. The college came to a crisis and the students fought valiantly to meet it.

Whenever the officers of the student body have planned an event for you or whenever there is a basketball game and your participation is needed, say to yourself, "This is another campaign for the bond issue; the school needs my participation and I will rally to its support."

CURRICULUM STUDY MAPPED BY FACULTY ASSOCIATION BOARD

Continuing its study of curriculum in the college, the Faculty Association of the Junior College under the leadership of President Edward Sandys announces the new chairman committee heads for this semester.

The idea of course curriculum study was originated by Archibald J. Cloud, president of the college, a year ago.

Began With Williams

Actual study and work on the project began under the engineering of Joseph Williams who was at that time the president of the Faculty Association.

Resulting from the study and reports from the four committees course changes are made.

Changes Made

This method of propering curriculum has been highly successful in the Junior College since the adoption of the plan a year ago, several curriculum changes having been made this semester as a result of previous study.

According to Sandys, "Every possibility is properly examined and changes are only made when it is certain that San Francisco Junior College students will benefit by them."

Central Committee

As is now being done, a central steering committee composed of four members, from the faculty chosen by the members of the four sub-committees direct the activity of the project.

The new chairman heads of the four sub-committees include Grant Marsh, Glenn Noble, Joseph Williams and Manfred Mueller, all instructors on the faculty.

Marsh Leads Committee

Marsh heads the committee investigating the business and semi-professional courses; the Biological Sciences Committee is led by Noble and includes the study of curriculum in Hygiene and Physical Education majors.

Work in the field of the Physical Sciences is under the guidance of Mueller while Williams directs the committee studying the Social Sciences.

CLUB SCHEDULE

NAME	Type of Meeting	TIME	PLACE
*Alpha Delta Epsilon	No plans
Alpha Gamma Sigma	Tea	Feb. 16, 3:30 p.m.	Galileo
Alpha Phi Omega	Initiation	Feb. 15, 8 p.m.	Sir Francis Drake Hotel
Army-Navy	No plans
Astronomy	Study	Feb. 20, 7 p.m.	Galileo
Beta Phi	Initiation		Indefinite
*Block SF	No plans
Beta Tau	No plans
*Chess	No plans
Chinese	No plans
Forestry	Speaker	Feb. 16, 7:30 p.m.	Galileo, Room 360
*Forum	Discussion	Feb. 24	1766 Walnut St., Berkeley
French	Business	Feb. 16, 7:30 p.m.	1972-21st Avenue
George Washington	Business	Feb. 16, 2:15 p.m.	Galileo, Room 205
*Home Econ. Assn.	Nominations	Feb. 15, 2:15 p.m.	Galileo, Room 317
Hotel-Restaurant	Basketball game	Feb. 23	Hamilton Church
*Italian	Business	March 1	Indefinite
*Iota Chi	No plans
Japanese Students	Business	Feb. 15, 7:30 p.m.	Sturge Memorial Hall
*Lambda Chi	No plans
Music	Business	Feb. 16	Indefinite
Music	Roller Skate	Feb. 24	Pacific City
Newman	Business	Feb. 20, 8 p.m.	St. Mary's Cathedral
*Nathaniel Bennett	No plans
*Omicron Phi Pi	Business	Feb. 17	3151 Franklin
*Peace Society	Business	Feb. 16	Indefinite
Phi Alpha Omega	Business	Feb. 20, 8 p.m.	Indefinite
*Phi Rho Pi	No plans
Phi Beta Rho	Pledge Party	Feb. 19, 2:30 p.m.	Indefinite
Phys. Ed. Majors	Ice Skate	Feb. 17	48th Avenue
Pi Mu Gamma	Dentistry Speech	Feb. 15, 7:30 p.m.	Homewood Terrace
Pick & Hammer	No plans
*Radio Engineers	No plans
Rifle & Pistol	Business	Feb. 16, 4:30 p.m.	Rifle Range
*Sigma Delta Chi	No plans
Tarbuth	Business	Feb. 26	Indefinite
*Tri Epsilon	Initiation	Feb. 20, 8 p.m.	Sigmund Stern Grove
Women's Service Society	No plans
*Denotes unchartered clubs

Ex. Council Approves Amendment To Eliminate All Electioneering

For the first time in the history of the college, the weekly business meeting of the executive council was presided over by the vice-president of the Associated Students. Taking the chair in the absence of President Frank Verducci, Miriam Dunne, student vice-president, reigned as chairman of the college's most important and influential meeting on Thursday, February 9.

Members of the council were unanimous in their vote to place before the college an amendment to the student constitution at the next meeting of the Associated Students which will eliminate such practices in the college's electioneering procedure that allow for an advantage of one candidate over another. The amendment was suggested by students who considered certain campaign policies as unfair to the opposing candidate.

As the accepted referendum now stands, the amendment will prohibit the circulation of printed matter including cards, blotters, posters, bulletins and leaflets. Radio broadcasts or other vocal amplifying systems used for electioneering will also disqualify a candidate. Other unfitness on the part of candidates as decided upon by the executive council will also warrant disqualification.

Should this amendment meet the approval of the men and women of the college, as is hoped, the college's elections will be placed upon a much higher level than that upon which they have been operating. Under the proposed system every candidate, regardless of personal means, places himself before the students to be voted upon as a plausible officer and not as a super campaign manager.

The newly appointed chairman pro-tem of the Club Advisory Board, Harold Hoffman, announced the granting of charters to some 22 clubs engaged in student activity.

Arthur Pomares, head of the rally committee reported that an exchange talent rally has been arranged with San Mateo Junior College to take place at 2:30 p.m. on Thursday, February 23.

Dorothy Trood, president of the Associated Women Students announced that the date for the annual AWS Fashion Tea has been shifted from March 9 to March 14, while President Dave Johnson of the Associated Men Students explained that the fights would take place on March 10 with April 28 set as the tentative date for the annual dance.

The above business was disposed of in the record-breaking time of 37 minutes and Miss Dunne closed the meeting with the announcement that written material for the executive council handbook would be due on the 25th of March.

Physical Exam Checkup Reveals 75 Men Students Not Yet Examined

During the month of January, 434 men students underwent physical examinations as part of the entrance requirements of the college. This figure shows that the physical check-up period is nearing completion, there being approximately 75 entering students yet to be examined.

Those collegians who have not visited Dr. Dufficy Friedlander, should do so immediately.

Action will be taken by the Registrar's Office and by the Physical Education Department, to notify those students who have failed to be examined that they must do so at once.

Dr. Frielander, formerly on duty every day of the week from 2:30 until 5 p.m., will now be available only on Tuesdays and every other Wednesday. The hours will be the same, 2:30 until 5 o'clock in Room 201 at Galileo.

Landscape Classes Will Visit DeYoung Museum

Because of the rain, Richard Allman's landscape classes have been given the opportunity to visit the De Young Museum and the San Francisco Museum of Art.

"Landscaping is virtually impossible in this weather," Allman said, "as a result, the classes have been using the paintings in the Museums as references for gaining information as to the construction, the color harmony, and the general outlines of well-known paintings."

HEA Election Results Told At Meeting Today

Members of the Home Economics Association will meet today at 2:15 in Room 317, Galileo to learn the results of the election for officers held last week.

Competing for the various offices were Eleanor Leitner, Joy-Ann Mack, Virginia Hosto, Rosemary Jelinick for the office of president; Violet Burgess and Hilda Freidickson vieing for vice president; Agnes Reid and Marion Schrick competing for the financial secretary role, and Lillian Auyong running against Charlot Nield vieing to serve as recording secretary.

According to Claire Cuneo, HEA adviser, application blanks for outside members will be available.

Rain Interrupts Block Society Policing Drive

Rain interrupted the current Block Society policing campaign to such an extent that the organization was out of practice when fair weather arrived at the end of the week.

Powell Street stairs were crowded, and traffic was congested, giving the impression that nothing had been done to alleviate the situation.

PROSPERITY CORNER

(Continued from page 2)

ANSWERS:

1. von Steuben, Lafayette, Rochambeau, Pulaski, Kosciusko, DeKalb. 2. Al Jolson in "The Jazz Singer". 3. Coal, or charcoal. 4. Sturgeon roe. 5. Henry Clay. 6. The Ainu. 7. The month of May. 8. John Jay. 9. Nothing. 10. A kiss.

Tentative Graduate List Given; 144 Petitions In

Petitions to graduate were received by the registrar's office last week from 144 students. The list following is tentative at present. Any student whose name has been omitted should go immediately to the registrar's office, Mary Jane Leanard, assistant registrar, said.

Francis Albrecht, Frederick Anderson, Anne Andrews, Ynez Barrios, George Bedrosian, Ethan Bernstein, Carol Blumenberg, Frank Bosl, Joseph Bowman, Frank Brockwedel, Jr., Carl Breager, Eugene Ball, Robert Burrowes, Betty Calhoun, Robert Campbell, Victoria Candido, Victor Cero, Dorothy Chamberlain, Albert Chan, Tai Kwai Cheng, Willard Chinn, Jacqueline Davis, David Dillon, John Doran, Donald DuBain, Miriam Dunne, June Dunnigan, John Ellis, Thomas Emery, Hiram Eng, Paul Fechner, Frank Fenlon, Gordon Flano, Viola Gibson, Ruth Gustafsson, Lorraine Hall, Toshichika Hara, Raymond Healey, Virginia Hein, William Henderson, Jack Henshaw, Mary Hicks, Tomoko Hidekawa, Shimizu Hisao, Max Hoberg, George Hoffman, Clare Hoffman, Fred Hoshiyama, Virginia Howell, Frank Hultman, Tomoyoshi Ishii, William Jackman, Louise Jameson, Loraine Johnsen, Kay Kagami, Yukio Kawamoto, Evelyn Keller, Hiroshi Kimoto, Annette Klang, James S. Kraemer, Victor Krakow, Harold E. Kren, Clyde Kushnick, Jerome Kushnick, Charles Lambert, Hugh Larson, Floyd Lawrence, Theodore Lee, Walter F. Lee, Gerald Lefkowitz, Harry K. Louie, Kwai-chock Low, Clemen Lowe, Gladys Lowe, Elizabeth McAllister, Margaret McCormick, Lorraine McGill, William McKay, Betty MacKenzie, Horace MacKenzie, Wilbur McKenzie, Andrew Maass, Elizabeth Malim, Antonio Manuel, Edward W. Mar, Howard Markovits, John P. Matasich, Lily Meyer, Joseph Mignola, Jr., Francis E. Miles, Logan T. Miles, John Mikel, Jane Mitchell, Keichi Mizuno, Clyde Moonie, Laurence Moser, Louis Musso, Makoto Nao, Randolph Osborne, Sakehiko Ota, Theodore Parnow, Tom Pauli, John Peacock, Lily Phillips, Russell Pritchard, George Prugh, Lillian Ramirez, Barbara Randall, Robert Rathke, William Richards, Robert Ridolfi, Dorothy Rodenback, Patricia Rogers, Barbara Rose, Lewis Rugaber, Elizabeth Sanchez, Dorothy Sanderson, Tomiye Sato, Jack Scholey, Herbert Selden, Vincent Sherman, John Simpson, Mary Skattebol, Vernaio Soares, Ichiro Sowa, Gerry Stewart, William Stone, Robert Sullivan, Shoji Suzuki, William Switzer, Edmond Talavera, Minoru Tamaki, Helen Tardif, Jack Tobiason, Howard Tracy, Yvonne Trauger, Irene Varquin, Nicholas Varquin, Ethel Vizzard, Walter Voget, Eleanor Wildhagen, Margaret Williams, Shirley Woodman, Irving Zanzot

Many Joy To Address Forestry Club Tomorrow

For a special presentation at its next meeting, the Forestry Club has invited Many Joy, from The Fish and Game magazine, to deliver an address on the subject of Forestry. The meeting, to begin at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night at Galileo in Room 360, is open to anyone interested in the field of forestry.

ADVERTISING RATE:

1-50 inches	70c an inch
51-150 inches	60c an inch
151-up inches	50c an inch

Rams Compete in Monster Stockton Debate Tourney

According to the latest dispatches from the battle zone, the intercollegiate debates held last week end in Stockton are meeting with unprecedented success.

In all, 54 debating teams representing more than 30 colleges are participating in the tournament.

Good Competition

In the face of the keen rivalry afforded by teams of such calibre as those of Cal Tech, U.C.L.A., U.S.C., and Stanford, the Ram debaters covered themselves with glory, to the not unpleasant surprise of everyone in general, and Lloyd Luckmann, debating fraternity sponsor, in particular.

"The competition in debating is intensified by the presence of teams from a number of upper division colleges," said Luckmann, "but on the whole, I feel that we are doing very well for ourselves."

The extemporaneous contests found Floyd Lawrence, Leslie Mullins, and Robert Cohen eliminated in the quarter-finals, and Fred Yoshiyama in the semi-finals, while Rema Corbit was last reported breezing into the finals with colors flying.

Win, Also Lose

The college's two debate teams composed of Charles and Russell Henry, and Bill Switzer and Rema Corbit, respectively, succumbed at length to U.C.L.A., Utah and L.A.C.C., but not before toppling Pasadena, Bakersfield, Cal. Aggies, and the College of Pacific into the junk heap.

Luckmann, besides expressing optimism over the results of the current hot air clash, predicts a great expansion of collegiate interest in debating in the near future.

RAM'S HORN

(Continued from page 2)

my home in the Marina in an "F" car loaded down with several heavy packages which I had purchased on a shopping tour.

I was standing over a seated male representative of your college who sported a fine growth of beard and was joking about it with a young girl sitting next to him. He knew that I was standing over him, yet he didn't so much as offer to give up the seat and kept his eyes away from me.

It seems to me that he would have increased the admiration of his girl friend for himself three-fold had he gotten up to give me, a woman of fifty-three his seat.

What this young man was overlooking was the fact that he was lacking the most essential thing to his outfit. The old time cowboys had respect for women, whereas this imitator probably never heard of the word, "courtesy".

Evidently you should have a compulsory course on gentlemanliness for all male members of your college. After completing this course, they could dress up in a costume for they will have completed the most essential thing in becoming a real he-man.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Thompson

Scrip Books May Be Sold At Bank Counter Today

Reports from the bank indicate that by today scrip books for the Golden Gate International Exposition should be on sale, but so far no confirmation for their sale has come through from the Board of Education.

Students desiring scrip books can procure them from any bank in the city.

The population of the continental United States increased 7 to 1 per cent in the past year according to the estimate of 130,215,000 people as of July 1, 1938.

YOUR MURAL ROOM
REPRESENTATIVES ARE
HARRY PERKINS BAyview 3797
AL GROSS WAlnut 4557
Make reservations through them for dinner or supper dancing parties in the Mural Room with
HERBIE KAY AND HIS ORCHESTRA
HOTEL ST. FRANCIS

All Forum Magazine Material Must Be In By March 15

The Guardsman

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS
SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Friday Deadline For Dropping Courses

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, MARCH 1, 1939 No. 7

Locals Visit Fair, See What Can Be Done In Three Years

Balboa Park Plight Sorry Contrast To Beautiful Treasure Island; Students "Choose" Dream Home

THREE years ago the ferry boats crowded San Francisco Bay, passing Yerba Buena Island each trip. On the other shore of the island was water—shallow water.

Three years ago a junior college was meeting in downtown San Francisco. In the southwest portion of the city, a plot of land was laid aside to house the new institution.

Two years ago the ferry boats still wended their merry ways past Yerba Buena Island. On the other shore of the island, another island was being built.

Two years ago the same junior college was meeting in downtown San Francisco. In the southwest portion of the city the plot of land was still laid aside.

Last year the ferry boats dropped their prices to meet the competition from the bridge running through Yerba Buena Island. On the other shore of the island, men were working day and night to build an ultra-modern city on the newly built island.

Last year the junior college was meeting downtown in the same city. In the southwest portion of the city, foundations were laid on the plot of land.

Today ferry boats cross San Francisco Bay only to dock at the newly completed, ultra-modern island on the other shore of Yerba Buena.

Today the same junior college is meeting downtown in the same city. In the southwest portion of the same city, the same foundations are lying in the same plot of ground laid aside.

The exposition will end in December, and the ultra-modern island will have a majority of the beautiful, finished buildings removed so that the island can be used for an airport.

Therefore a trio of students from the college, meeting downtown, in the city of San Francisco, optimistically took a day off to choose a finished building which they could transport at the termination of the exposition, to the plot of land lying in the southwest portion of the city.

The three fellows arrived before the exposition opened and met Stan Tobiason, former student of the college, who is now employed at the fairgrounds. While strolling down the Court of the Pacific, Tobiason pointed out the various buildings and explained how they would fit on the plot of ground in the southwest portion of San Francisco. (Picture 1 above).

"These two massive towers would make any college campus the envy of all the educational institutions in the entire world," says Tobiason, in his best guide manners as he indicates the Tower of the Sun and the Elephant Towers. (Picture 2 above).

The fellows meditate on the steps of the Pacific House, thinking how beautiful that building and the pool would look on their campus. (Picture 2 above).

pus. (Picture 3 above).

benefits of rickshaws as a means of transportation at the new college site. (Picture 4 above).

Ray Greenwood, another former college student takes over the party and points out the various exhibit buildings, informing his audience that it would be a pleasure to go to college in those beautiful buildings. (Picture 5 above).

The three investigators decide that the Tower of the Sun on their campus would out-Campanile the Berkeley Campanile. They will speak to the exposition officials about it. (Picture 6 above).

With the palm tree foreground, the Tower of the Sun looks very nice. The boys will put in their reservation—all that needs to be done is to move it onto the finished foundations in the plot of ground at Balboa Park. (Picture 7 above).

Climax Nears In College Building Program

Bids for the long awaited college buildings will be received by the Board of Public Works next Tuesday, March 7, announced J. Paul Mohr, registrar last week.

This devolpment marks the first great step in the actual construction of the building since the completion of foundations last year.

Bids will be awarded by the aforementioned Board approximately a week after being submitted. It is rumored that the reason for the slight delay in connection with the bids is because several new contractors have entered the competition.

Debaters Meet USF Tomorrow; Begin Series

Fresh From Recent Stockton Tournament; Orators Host To Dons

Fresh from the recent Stockton Debate Tournament, the college Oratory Team is preparing to meet USF tomorrow in the first contest of a two-month series in competition with local colleges and universities.

The debate will be held on home grounds. It begins at 12 o'clock noon, in Room 104 in the Extension Building.

Luckmann Invites

Lloyd Luckmann, debating instructor and team sponsor, this week extended an invitation to all students to attend the battle, and predicted rapid growth in the activity in the near future.

The home series will continue on March 9, when the Rams will face Sacramento Junior College, debating the issue of "Rearmament and the British Alliance".

Meet Pacific

The College of Pacific comes next on March 23, followed, on April 20 by one of the most important debates of the season, with Stanford University.

The current series will close on April 27, with a debate against the University of California on the comparative threats to democracy of communism and fascism.

Sophomores Approve Plans For Track Meet, Class Picnic; Alumni Contacted

Plans for Sophomore Week, and agreement to participate in an inter-class track meet March 10 and 11 were unanimously approved by the 200 members attending the recently held class meeting, declared Floyd Lawrence, high sophomore president.

"Since the meeting, I have contacted college alumni members," Lawrence said, "and many have promised to return and join in the fun of this homecoming occasion."

The succession of events will start with a barbecue, May 1, a holiday, and continue through May 5.

"There will be games far too numerous to mention," Lawrence revealed, "but the main events will be a steeple chase, and Sadie Hawkins event, with prizes being offered for everything."

In the latter event, the women must chase the men in order to get a partner for the dance, to be held the same day.

Plans for the May 3 assembly are incomplete as yet, however the sophomore committee, composed of Sam Galstaun, Norman Grey, Leslie Mullins, Bill O'Neill, John Julius, and Tony Manov, promise unusual entertainment.

Rifle Team Enters Championships; Squads Announced

Rifleers Win City Title In Telephone Company Match Last Thursday Nite

Announcing that three men's teams and two women's teams will represent the college at the National Guard Armory on March 3, 4 and 5, in the State Gallery Rifle Championships, Fred McFarland, rifle coach and instructor, expressed his approval of those composing the teams.

Shooting with iron sights at the prone, sitting kneeling and offhand positions, the first men's team representing the college will be composed of Gibson, North, Humphrey, Stewart and Cavagnolo.

RIFLEERS MEET STANFORD

With hopes of upsetting one of the leading college rifle teams here in the west, Coach Fred McFarland journeys with his champion Red Riflers to Palo Alto this evening where they will meet the Stanford University Rifle Team in answer to a challange received by Coach McFarland from Michael Macomber, manager of the Stanford squad.

Second Squad

A. Templeton, E. Templeton, Voight, Hewitt and Wilson compose the second squad with five of the following men making up the third squad: Darr, Pierce, Box, Morris, Hobbs and Goebel.

The women's team will be led by Nellie Riley with the Misses Schrick, Kosh, Wilkin and Rogenes completing the team. The second women's team is to be chosen from the Misses Metcalf, Sanderson, Barlas, Jack, Obltz, Oberg, and Murphy.

Win Championship

Scoring a total of 910 points to 831 for their opponents, the college Red Riflers walked off with final possession of the championship of the San Francisco Rifle Association last Thursday evening at the Galileo range.

The Telephone Rod and Gun Club, fifteenth consecutive victims of the college team, were no match for the sharpshooting collegians who have occupied the position of potential champs for the past month following their victory over the American Legion squad.

Gibson, Humphrey Lead

With George Humphrey and Bill Gibson showing the way, with 185 points for each, the Red Riflers were never in danger of being headed.

Physical Examinations Still Being Given By College

Physical examinations for students who have just entered the college are still being given by Dr. Dufficy Friedlander.

The examinations are taking place in Room 201 at Galileo High School every Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock and every other Wednesday at the same time.

Hotel and Restaurant Students Start Catering Service In Order To Provide Treasury Funds; Visit Los Angeles

To provide funds for their treasury, student members of the Hotel and Restaurant Management Society, will put to active use, the practical knowledge gained in their courses in chef training and catering.

To this end, the students have established a catering service designed to handle the catering for any type of social function, particularly those of student and faculty groups in the college.

Arrangements At Office

Arrangements for the service may be made at the office of the Hotel Division, Room 104 Galileo High School, by contacting Carl Rutledge or Tom Duffy, after 3:30 p.m. any school day.

Two fortunate students of the division will have the opportunity this summer of spending a week in Los Angeles, as the personal guests of the management of the Hotel Clark, observing the inner workings of the various departments of that very successful hotel.

Distinguished Guest

P. G. B. Morris, manager of the hotel, was a guest at the luncheon of the California Northern Hotel Association served by students of the division recently. So impressed with the work being done by the students, was the southern visitor that he immediately extended his invitation to two selected students to visit his hotel next summer.

Co-ordinator J. Graham Sullivan has accepted the invitation in behalf of the students and will, with their instructors, select the two who will make the trip south.

On exhibition recently at the Hotel Oakland was the beautiful replica of the Tower of the Sun, made by the students of the class in cake decoration.

Two Feet High

Fashioned entirely from sugar, this replica, some two feet in height, was constructed exactly to scale and is complete in detail even to the tiny phoenix, which perches delicately on the topmost pinnacle.

The example of the confectioners' art was made under the direction of Charles Strandberg, pastry chef instructor. It was first exhibited at the luncheon given for the members of the California Northern Hotel Association.

Eight Scholarships Offered By Stanford For Fall

Eight scholarships for the Fall quarter, 1939, amounting to $2400.00 will be awarded new students entering Stanford University as freshmen or as under-graduates with advanced standing. Applications will be received until May 1, 1939.

The awards will be based upon the consideration of the previous records, probable scholastic success and financial needs of the candidate.

Names of the scholarships and their stipends are as follows: Jacob and Mary S. Yost—one award of $300.00 to an entering student of either the upper or lower divisions; E. C. Converse—three scholarships of $300.00 each to needy and deserving students. One-half of this award is reserved for entering students; E. W. Hopkins—four $300.00 scholarships, two of which are being reserved for Upper division students.

Application blanks and further information may be secured by writing the Scholarship Secretary, Stanford, California.

Forum Magazine Material Should Be Submitted Early

All material, whether it be short stories, poems, plays, satires, essays, political discussions, should be turned in as early as possible to Frederick Bracher or William Goss, faculty sponsors, or to John Cummings, Forum editor, that careful study may be given to all contributions before the deadline, March 15.

The Forum Magazine is a student publication and anyone in the college may submit as many contributions as they wish, regardless of whether it is class work or not. For additional information see Frederick Bracher or John Cummings.

This Friday, March 3, marks the last day to drop courses announced Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar.

All students who are intending to drop courses must do so before this date. Any person dropping a course after Friday, will be marked as having failed in the subject.

Final Arrangements Made For High Frosh Dinner

Final arrangements for the high freshman dinner dance, to be held at the Hotel Lake Merritt in Oakland, Friday, March 17 were discussed at the class meeting last Thursday following the rally, according to Lee Scarlett, high freshman president.

Headed by Art Pomares, the dance committee has voted that one member of each attending couple must be a high freshman, this requirement not to include special guests, the price has been set at $1.25 per person.

"We want this affair to be informal," Scarlett declared, "but it will occupy an entire evening, and includes both dinner and dancing.

"We will have more information next week," he continued, "and I hope class members will circle that date on their calendars immediately."

Plans for participation in the inter-class track meet of March 10 and 11 were also discussed. John Stahlmann, chairman, John Buese and Tom Caswell, were named as committee members further to investigate participation in the event.

Hoffman Elected Club Advisory Board President

Former Vice-President Succeeded By Harold Goldsworthy, Beta Tau

Election of Vice President Harold Hoffman to the vacant office of president, was the high spot of the regular meeting of the Club Advisory Board last Thursday.

Succeeding Hoffman to the vice-presidency is Harold Goldsworthy, representative of the Beta Tau fraternity.

Membership Increased

The membership of the board was increased with the approval of the charter petitions of the Tri Epsilon fraternity and the Home Economics Association.

This increase brings the number of chartered clubs to 24, but still leaves nearly a third of the college organizations without official sanction.

Restricted Dance

The report of the Committee of Restricted Social Organizations disclosed plans for an inter-fraternity and sorority dance on April 15. "The dance will be open to all members of restricted social groups," announced Harold Goldsworthy, committee chairman.

Speaker of the afternoon was Comptroller Ward M. Nichols, who explained the use of the school banking facilities as a depository for club funds.

Hoffman Requests

President Hoffman has requested that all non-chartered clubs who intend to enter petitions do so before the next meeting in order that they may enter activities of the board.

"I realize that up to the present date the board has had little opportunity to prove its effectiveness. The officers ask you to give us your co-operation, and we shall try to do our best," said Hoffman.

Men's Club Fights To Be One Night; No Semi-Finals

Date for the AMS annual fights has been definitely set for Tuesday, March 10.

The big event will take place at the Verdi Club.

Dave Johnson, AMS President, announced that although previously scheduled for both March 1 and 10, with preliminaries on the former night, the lack of a sufficient number of contestants has made necessary the holding of all bouts in one big show.

All weight divisions, from the 119 pound class to the heavyweight, will be represented in the sixteen preliminary fights, following which the winners will meet in the finals to determine the various champions.

With all men in the college boxing class competing, a number of outstanding fighters will add interest to the proceedings. Prominent among those prominent, according to Joe Amori, AMS adviser, will be Nick Minisky, 179 pound champion, Bob Raine, heavyweight king, and Jack Wiechers, top man of the 159 pounders. All three will be defending their crowns.

Both Johnson and Amori called for a greater show of interest in the fights by the student body.

Besides the regular weight-division contests, an extra-special massacre is planned wherein Mel Chicazola will take on Alex Spieler, Frank Nilan, and Charlie O'Brien . . . at one and the same time.

Rehearsals Continuing For Student Fair Pageant

Rehearsals for the pageant to be presented at the Open Air Theater at the Exposition are continuing at the various high schools.

Under the supervision of Marie Weller, 1500 students from the high schools of the city and this college, are meeting every day for rehearsals. The Pageant is to be presented the last week in April.

Redford Asks Cooperation In Students' Employment Quest; Acute Needs Cited

Edward H. Redford, NYA director, today issued a request for cooperation in securing part-time work for students of the college.

"If anyone has any idea where jobs providing board and room may be obtained," declared Redford, "this office or that of Dean Browne will appreciate such information.

"We have several students, particularly boys, who may be forced to leave college in the immediate future if they are unable to find employment, so we are anxious to hear of any possibilities as soon as possible."

First eight or nine on NYA list are requested to see Edward H. Redford, college NYA director. Vacancies may develop through a new act of Congress, by which every student who is not an American citizen, regardless of whether he or she will be within a month, will be dropped from the NYA roll.

Course In Consumer Insurance May Be Added Business Curriculum Next Semester; Jones Lectures To Students

Possibility that a course in Consumer Insurance will be added to the college business curriculum next semester was announced Thursday by F. G. Marsh, Business Director.

"The course will be introduced in an effort to acquaint students with all forms of insurance," Marsh said.

"It will furnish them with a knowledge of insurance from a consumer's standpoint in order that they may purchase insurance with some degree of intelligence."

Marsh has recently received two letters requesting information regarding the Business courses offered by the college; one from the American College of Life Underwriters in Pennsylvania and the other from the Business School of the University of Chicago.

The information will be used in the compilation of data for bringing up-to-date the books listing the business curriculums of colleges throughout the country.

Third of a series of addresses provided for students of the college was an address by Bert R. Jones, manager of the Accident and Health Department of the Maryland Casualty company.

The subject of Jones' address was "The practical application of Accident Insurance underwriting to meet the tremendous toll of American disability losses." He developed the idea of the need in this country for accident insurance, and pointed out the fact that the cost of accidents because of loss of business time and medical expense was thirteen times the cost of American Fire losses.

In addition, Jones explained the latest developments in accident insurance contracts because of recent research and standardization of contract forms.

"Arrangements will be made in the near future for special lectures on the subjects of Life and Fire Insurance," F. Grant Marsh, Business Director announced. "Interested students are cordially invited to attend."

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, MARCH 1, 1939 No. 7

JOHN JULIUS........EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser — Joan Nourse
Business Adviser — Edward H. Redford

Bill Frantz........Managing Editor
Leonard Gross........News Editor
Ray Berns........Sports Editor
Isadore Maloff........Feature Editor
Dorothy Trood........Club Editor
Sam Galstaun........Staff Photographer
Marion MacKillop........Staff Artist
Allen Martin........Business Manager
Edmund Wunsch........Assistant Business Manager

REPORTERS.
Lucretia Antonicelli, Ernie Baer, Ethan Bernstein, Bill Canning, Jacqueline Davis, Janet Fellows, Lois Gipson, Louis Goldstone, Dave Johnson, Frances Manalo, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Frank Verducci, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Serious Excesses Occurring About Campus While Judicial Committee Wastes Time On Dance Crashers

AT THE last college dance the door committee confiscated an Associated Student card. Reason for the confiscation, say student officers, is the age old rule "Thou must not lend or borrow an Associated Student Card."

The offenders—both lender and borrower—will be brought before the judicial committee, at the earliest convenience of that body, and duly chastised.

CAN SUSPEND MEMBERSHIP

As a punishment the judicial committee can suspend the offender's membership in the Associated Students for a limited period of time. It can even refer more drastic action to be taken by the administration.

Wielding these terrible instruments of justice the committee discourages the commission of the sacrilege of lending and borrowing cards.

SUCCESSFUL CAMPAIGN

Now, inasmuch as only one violator has been apprehended this semester, it would seem that the lengthy campaign against dance crashers has been notably successful.

And yet the judicial committee continues to meet solely for the consideration of such infringements.

LEISURE MOMENTS LIMITED

Of course it must be realized that the leisure moments of these popular committee members are limited to such an extent that they seldom find time to attend the committee meetings.

Nevertheless, it might be well should these jurors make it their business to fulfill their duties by not only unfailingly attending the committee's meetings, but also by considering misdemeanors of a more serious nature than those thus far dealt with.

THE COLLEGE "CUT-UPS"

What of the gentleman who recently, presumably in a jesting mood, let all the air out of the tires of a car parked in front of the Powell Street entrance, necessitating the calling of a tow car?

What of the prominent student body member who set fire to a copy of The Guardsman in a nearby restaurant, thereby besmirching the college's reputation in the eyes of the public?

MORE IMPORTANT THINGS

To date the judicial council has restricted itself to consideration of a single ethical violation which has already quite obviously been brought well under control.

If the committee is to efficiently perform the functions for which it was created, it should be made to take under advisement, and rule upon excesses of far greater menace to this college and its students.

Policing Campaign Complete Failure; Can't Happen Here

FOR the second time in the brief history of the college, a policing campaign to clear up crowded halls and stairways has slowly fizzled out. Evidently there is more to this than meets the eye.

Although many persons are prone to lay the blame for the failure of the campaign at the door of the Block SF Society, we are to a certain extent inclined to disagree with them, especially since this is not the first time the same idea has met such ignominous end.

UP TO STUDENT

In a college of this size, or of any size for that matter, it is well-nigh impossible to put into effect a plan such as the one devised. Students somehow feel that by the time they have reached an institution of higher learning they do not need someone to hold an imaginary stick over their heads and threaten them with dire punishment if they fail to obey.

This attitude is easily understood since it is logical to believe that when a person has attained the age of young manhood or womanhood he should be able to look after himself. Going to college denotes the addition of a certain amount of responsibility.

In any instance, large or small, one will find that if a person is deprived of responsibility, he becomes just another sheep, following in the steps of others. Since college teaches one to think for himself, it is going against the grain, so to speak, to attempt even in the tiniest way, to regiment individuals.

OUT OF PLACE

Although the recent policing campaign was a far cry from regimentation, it was still out of place in this institution. In short, it was rather childish, and it is no wonder that it was resented by the majority of the college.

No more need be said of this matter. It is up to the individual to accomplish on his own initiative that which no single organization can.

—L. Gross

Prosperity Corner
By Sam Galstaun

1. What city was saved by the cackling of geese?
According to the story, invaders decided to attack this city at night. However, while they were scaling the walls, the geese in the Temple of Juno were aroused and started their cackling. Before long the inhabitants of the city were awakened and united to turn back the invaders.

2. What was Galileo's full name?

3. What President of the United States sent a congratulatory telegram to his opponent, but later found out that he had defeated him?
The State of California had always been Republican. When this Democratic President sent the telegram, California's vote had not as yet been received. But when the returns came in, California had voted Democratic, thereby giving the Democrats the victory.

4. Who was the famous woman thus described, "Age cannot wither her, nor custom stale her infinite variety"?

5. The Suez Canal joins what two seas?
From Port Said to the city of Suez, the canal extends about one hundred miles. In November of 1854, Ferdinand de Lesseps was given a grant to construct the passage, which was completed exactly fifteen years later. The first vessel to make the journey through the canal was the "Aigle", aboard which was the Empress Eugenie of France.

6. When the abbreviation Ms. precedes a woman's name on a letter, what does it signify?

7. Who was the French AEsop?
This French poet (1621-1695) at an early age developed an absence of mind often forgetting to eat his breakfast. Anecdotes have been written by his contemporaries of his insisting on fighting a duel with a supposed admirer of his wife and then imploring him to visit at his house just as before; of his going into company with his stocking wrong side out, with, for a contrast, those of his awkwardness and silence, if not positive rudeness, in company.

8. What is the date of the "Ides of March", referred to in Shakespeare's Julius Caesar?

9. Who was the Greek goddess of Love and Beauty?
Pygmalion, the mythical sculptor, carved a statue out of ivory. He fell in love with his masterpiece, which he called Galatea, and begged of the goddess of Love and Beauty to give it life. According to the legend, he married Galatea, and supposedly lived happily ever after.

10. In the technical staff acknowledgement of a motion picture, what do the letters A.S.C. following the cameraman's name stand for?

(Quiz Answers—Page 4, Column 3)

Cabbages & Kings
By Blue Pencil Bill

APOLOGIES to Mel Chickazola. In the previous issue of The Guardsman we accused Mel of starting a fire in Foster's. It happened that Chick put out the blaze; therefore, he was the hero and not the villain. The person who did set the fire is a prominent student, and it would harm his reputation if we mentioned his name. Anyway, we hope he is a bird fancier because——blurrrrrrp. And apologies again, Chick.

• • •

Approximately thirty years ago a witty gentleman read a poem about a whistle and rewrote it so that he would receive credit for the poem. Year after year others copied it and gave him the credit line. Recently we observed it in an exchange paper and now we present it to you. We aren't giving anyone the credit line because the original copyright is good for only twenty-seven years.

I bought a wooden whistle
But it wooden whistle.
I bought a lead whistle
But they wooden lead me whistle.
I bought a steel whistle
Steel they wooden lead me whistle.
Then I bought a tin whistle
Now I tin whistle
Tin you?

• • •

Hugh Waite moved from Hotel Claremont to Hotel Richelieu. He is now considered one of the best bell hops in the business.

• • •

From the darkness of the Galileo Auditorium, gay, lilting piano music trickled. It was so beautiful that it touched our poetic soul and we stood outside the auditorium spellbound for at least five minutes. Then we became curious to know what caused the tinkling music to emanate from the piano.

We pushed the heavy door open and looked inside. It was pitch dark—no, there was a small light near the stage, partly obscured. We walked down the aisle quietly so that we wouldn't disturb the person playing the piano.

When we came closer we saw that the person at the piano was wearing a heavy mackinaw jacket. He was tall, lanky, bespectacled, and had a long, muscular jaw.

We didn't disturb him. He might be a bashful genius. We just picked out a seat and listened until he became tired of playing. When he finished, he shut the little light over the piano and left. As soon as he left, we got up and walked toward the door—but we weren't alone. Half a dozen others, unknown to the pianist, had been his silent audience—they left, too.

• • •

The reason for the tired look in Art Pomares' eyes is that he is very interested in the beauty career of Miss Alhany. He almost had nervous prostration while she was competing for the titles of Miss Metropolitan Oakland and Miss Treasure Island.

Art realizes the value of correspondence—aye, an' he's thrifty, too. He saves postage money by sending letters to Miss Alhany via the Alhany Deputy Coroner.

• • •

Those - who - want - to - see - their - names - in - print department: JIMMY HENRY

(A nominal fee will be charged for space in the names-in-print department, receipts to be donated to "Charity Begins At Home, Ltd.)

Sartorial Modes
By Fashion Fanny

Skirts are about an inch shorter this year than they were last, and a new skirt has taken the town by storm. Fashioned after the skating skirts worn by Sonja Henie, this new ideal is grand for walking, college and what not. It has plenty of fullness and comes in many grand colors.

A new style note: hair is three inches all around this spring. Soft casual hair is the key note with tempting curls and waves. Be sure and have a bit of your ears showing if you don't wear your hair on top yet. Ribbons, berets, and snoods will be worn continually, throughout the year.

TAFFETA PETTICOATS

Little girl dresses will be worn by the college set with paper tissue taffeta petticoats and matching belts. Of course the petticoat will show just about one-fourth of an inch below the dress in that coquettish way.

For formal wear, petticoats with three swishing ruffles are grand under yards and yards of foamy chiffon. Black will continue to be very popular this spring in lace, net and chiffon.

Porcupines do not shoot their quills. The quills are loosely attached to its body and when the animal slaps its tail, the quills are flipped quite a distance.

Enter AMS Matches
By Marion MacKillop

RAM'S HORN

Hey! It's War; Battle Of Critics Rages; Ward Quiet

• STILL FIGHTING

Editor, The Guardsman:

In answer to Mr. Jay Wright's letter (Feb. 15, 1939) let me continue my defense of Ward and good music at the fair.

First off, Mr. Wright wrote: "Classical music is a proposition for 'white tie and tails'." Did Mr. Wright ever attend the sound, solid prolitarian W.P.A. symphony concerts? Does he know that one of the largest and most constant radio audiences tunes in every Sunday afternoon for two hours on the N. Y. Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra's brand of classical music?

Second, Mr. Wright writes: "classical music . . . does not show up so well in noisy fair grounds." Perhaps Mr. Wright didn't hear about the Chicago fair and Mr. Ford's symphony orchestra. That orchestra happened to be one of the best attended and most popular concessions of the Chicago fair. And the Chicago fair was three times as big as the G. G. I. E. and, I presume, three times as noisy.

Third, Mr. Wright continues with a bit about the congestion of a "place where a big name dance orchestra is playing." Well, you see, Mr. Wright, concerts of serious music are not danced to, are usually given in large auditoriums, are attended by people who take music seriously, and large crowds are handled systematically, not hectically or hit and miss.

And I have never heard of a dance band, big or little, name or no name, ever playing twenty nights in a month (as the S. F. opera company does every year) and filling a place the size of the War Memorial Opera House all twenty nights. And even at that the people who attended the opera paid from $1.00 to $6.00 for that privilege.

Sincerely yours,
"Leo Stokowski"

• IT'S A FEUD!

Editor, The Guardsman:

Let it be known that I have taken, in the past, a neutral position; but when an average person (and the average mentality is the equivalent of a twelve year old) implies in his remarks that good music is judged by popularity, it is high time that someone tell Jay Wright where "to head off".

Like Mister Wright, I am also a great believer in free speech, and he can say whatever he pleases—but when he errs in his statements (and I do think he errs), let him not be offended in what we have to say in criticism . . . for as human beings we do make mistakes.

In your remarks, Mr. Wright, about classical music at the fair being out of place, let me add that all people are not like you—some are conservative, and others, the opposite. The people who are to attend the symphony concerts are of the former class. In the second place, the fair grounds are large, and certainly it would not be difficult to find a quiet corner to hold the concerts.

Incidentally, I was at the fair on the opening night, and I saw some notables dancing to the "music" of Ray Noble dressed in "white tie and tails".

Sincerely,
"Arturo Toscanini"

• OH, JOHN!

Editor, The Guardsman:

Not since John Ward, your embryonic columnist, gave us his unwarranted criticism of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs a semester or so ago have I read anything so superficial, so prejudiced, as last week's column by the same writer (?).

Just how is Mr. Ward qualified to write such a criticism of swing music? By what right can he say that swing is to be condemned, that it is sense deadening, that it is barbaric?

It looks to me as though Mr. Ward is a glory-loving long-hair, intent on gaining publicity and being in the spotlight at whatever cost. By using high-sounding adjectives and tritely phrased paragraphs he is proving that he is aiming merely for the effect his writings will create, and not for any constructive purposes, whatsoever.

May I suggest that you put a silencer or a muzzle of some sort on Mr. Ward. He has to be silenced or at least toned down in some way, and I for one am tired of the needless publicity he is getting for himself by writing such unfounded criticisms.

Sincerely,
Hyam Zickovum

• WHAT'S CLASSICAL MUSIC?

Editor, The Guardsman:

In his column for February 15, John Ward vehemently damns swing music as an escape mechanism for the disillusioned modern youth.

Fair enough. But if swing is an escape mechanism, then what the hell is classical music?

What is ALL music, in essence, save a mental refuge from the reality of the bitter struggle for existence?

What purpose is served by aesthetic literature, poetry, any and all of the fine arts, if not that of an outlet for stifled emotions, a safety valve for sanity in our modern nerve-shattering civilization?

Personally, I am more or less non-partisan as regards the classical-swing controversy; I am of the opinion that BOTH schools have a definite place in contemporary music, and so I hold no brief for either.

Yet it strikes me as rather incongruous that the very factor which justifies the existence of all art and culture should be condemned in the interests of furthering such an insignificant and asinine feud as this current one.

Louis Goldstone

• COMMENDS POLL

Editor, The Guardsman:

It is with a good deal of appreciation that I notice the inauguration of The Guardsman Poll of Opinion. I have often wondered what student reaction to certain subjects would be, and if the poll continues it seems likely that many interesting results will be forthcoming.

To the originator of the idea, my congratulations and a suggestion for future polls. How about seeing if the present students of the college approve of the college colors and nickname bestowed on them by the vote of students long since graduated?

Interested

AFTER DARK
By John Ward

WE were speaking the other night with a gentleman who seems to be an authority on expositions. Having attended, among others, those of Paris (1936), Chicago (1934) and Dallas (1937), and now taking a squint at Treasure Island, he should know a bit about the subject. And he said something that is quite pertinent if not a trifle obvious.

All fairs are the same — money making propositions. And most exhibits are the same — propaganda or education. The distinguishing element between fairs resides in the architecture. And this gentleman has found the San Francisco outfit an artistic job. The New York fair — which he more or less previewed last month — is interesting but not of a piece. It has none of the unity of Treasure Island.

MORE EXPERIMENTATION

However, much as we are delighted with the color and splash of the bay exposition ourselves, and easy as it is to take, it would have been more stimulating, we believe, had there been a little experimentation attempted. As far as we are concerned one of the primary reasons for a world's fair is the opportunity afforded for some radical deviations from the normal, accepted architecture. The New York fair is at least trying something new with its accent on the sphere and obelisk. Yet, for all that, the San Francisco job goes well with California temperament and climate. Then too, Hollywood is far too near San Francisco for San Francisco to escape glamour and the colossal.

A summary glance at the art collection at the fair gave us an exciting two hours. As a whole the exhibition of painting is well chosen and fairly complete. Unfortunately the art building's interior is not exactly as smooth as the painting and it is slightly difficult on one's anatomy to ponder over good, old cement floors. But the art manages to take care of such things.

OLD MASTERS ABOUND

Of course the collection of old masters is the high point for most people—the Botticelli "Birth of Venue" and the Raphael "Madonna of the Chair." But for the artictically alive sight-seers the most exciting and surprising gallery is that of the European moderns: Picasso, Hofer, Dali, etc.

It isn't often that the west coast of the United States has an opportunity to see four or five good Picassos and some of the lesser known but just as interesting moderns. While it may be disconcerning to hear someone laugh riotously over the Dali "Soft Construction of Boiled Beans," it is simple enough to ignore them. It is an easy thing to rave over Titian's Portrait of a Pope, but it is a different and more difficult matter to try to understand Dalli's masterpiece, and once having understood it to savour its meaning. You see, its sub-title is "premonition of revolution" and it was painted by a great Spanish sur-realist just before the present war began.

Presidential Notes
By Frank Verducci

NO longer will the male students be seen taking pride in their bearded treasures. No longer will they be able to show their feminine admirers what real he-men they are; for alas, the Men's Club Whiskerino has terminated and the winners have been declared. Lucky men are Ken Pasqualetti for the most heaviest beard; Gus Waegemann, for the most unique growth, and Louis Goldstone for the scraggliest growth. To these lucky winners go a scrip book of 12 admissions to the World's Fair, a ticket to the Sophomore Formal, and a shaving set for their conquest over the other fellows of the college in their ability to raise and cultivate a beard.

• • •

Congratulations to Miriam Dunne and her Social Committee for one of the most enjoyable dances it has ever been our pleasure to attend. The student body also is to be congratulated for turning out in such a splendid manner. It was really a wonderful sight to see so many new faces in attendance. Nice work students, keep it up.

• • •

Last Wednesday night our fighting Ram quintet licked its traditional rivals from San Mateo Junior College, 39 to 31. This victory practically assures our team of a second place in the conference race. Congratulations to the coach and to the team for their enviable record which at the moment of this writing consists of seven victories and two defeats.

Lauritz Melchoir, Metropolitan opera tenor, made his debut in the role of a baritone.

While Thinking . . .
By Leonard Gross

THE United States last week received a visit from Oswaldo Aranha, Foreign Minister of Brazil. Aranha journeyed here in an attempt to sell to the American government, the idea of cooperating with the development of Brazil.

Behind this attempt to secure backing, lies a hidden significance. During the past few months the Republic of Brazil has had many offers of aid from various other nations of the world, and is in a position to be to a certain extent independent. This position was hinted by the South American emissary when he intimated that if the United States would not support them, the totalitarian countries would.

It has long been a known fact that Brazil is buying from Germany, Italy and other countries which accept products in trade, whereas the products from this land are more expensive and must be paid for in cash.

BRAZIL LOOKS TO OUTSIDE

"We are a big country, full of lands and riches to be developed, and there are countries hungry for raw materials. We have to open our doors," Aranha remarked.

It is rather surprising to discover that Brazil is having such a hard time trying to sell a simple, direct, and sound idea, which would have many advantages for both countries. This may be due to the nearness of the coming presidential election in 1940. However, the fact still remains that the United States government is taking a rather foolish attitude toward the affair.

BRAZIL AND MONROE DOCTRINE

As we see it, the backing of Brazil by this nation would be to our advantage, and would be a clever move to thwart any designs on South America. Since we have pledged ourselves to uphold the Monroe Doctrine, it would be a great mistake to get on the wrong side of Brazil.

Germany and Italy are constantly trying to penetrate South America by means of extensive propaganda, and if either nation sees any chance of an opening, it will avail itself of the opportunity, and under the guise of friendship attempt to create another totalitarian state. Once this is done with Brazil, the other and smaller countries of South America will soon be won over to the Fascist cause.

AMERICAN HEROICS THREATENED

For many years the flag has been waved, and American patriots have cheered themselves hoarse at the first mention of a foreign power molesting South America. All these heroics will be useless once another country gains even the tiniest foothold.

We feel very strongly that Brazil and all South America should be supported, for we have nothing to lose but everything to gain.

THE GUARDSMAN SPORTS

Let's Support Ram Baseball Team In Future Horsehide Encounters!

Watch For Guardsman's All-Conference Basketball Selections In Next Issue!

Local Ball Club Upsets Santa Clara Varsity, 13-2; Basketballers End Season By Beating San Mateo

RAM chops
By BILL CANNING

Another basketball season will soon be behind us and we must now turn our attentions to other fields of sport.

Baseball, has already made its appearance in the sportlight of the college, and if we are to judge by the opening practice tilts, the Ram horsehiders should make a very successful showing in the junior college conference.

Last week the local nine walloped the Santa Clara varsity 12 to 3, behind the splendid eight hit hurling of Ed Curcio, transformed basketball star. This victory is enough to place the Ram squad up among the leading college nines.

OLD FRIEND BACK

When the San Mateo football team invades this city next season, a familiar figure will adorn the Bulldog roster.

During the 1937 season, Allan MacDonald was the star halfback on the Ram eleven, and he was chosen on the all-conference team. MacDonald did not like the idea of chasing street cars, so he decided to enter the peninsula school. MacDonald will certainly add strength to the San Mateo eleven, as he was one of the outstanding players on the 1937 Ram squad.

NO HIGH-SCORERS

We have often wondered why San Francisco's celebrated prep stars do not set high scoring marks. In the East Bay Leagues, the state record has been broken three times this season, and the present mark of 36 points was established by George Harmola, playing on a mediocre Alameda quintet. San Francisco prep aces seldom make more than ten points in a single game. We can't understand it.

MALICIOUS RUMORS

It wasn't told to us we only heard:

That the hotel division of the college entered a team in the Examiner Pacific Association basketball tournament.

That the college netmen are slated to invade the southland during the Easter vacation.

That the San Mateo basketball team does not practice.

That Bob McGuire was the only Ram entered in the Treasure Island Track Meet held last Saturday on the island.

That Dutch Conlan could use a few more divot diggers for his golf team.

That Forest Anderson, Modesto basketball importation from Indiana, is headed for Stanford.

Swimming Team Will Be Disbanded; Outlook For Strong Squad Was Bright

"Swimming is out!"

A statement to this effect was suddenly administered by Russell Sweet, physical education instructor, last week, as unfavorable circumstances came into being. The complete condition was cited as a "very complex" situation.

"Main reason for the loss of aquatic rights," Sweet said, "seems to be that the college has no pool to practice in."

Added facts were given by Registrar J. Paul Mohr, who declared, "because the institution has no available pool of its own, we are left without the right to have a representative team this semester. Our men, in order legitimately to organize a squad, would have to hold their physical educational classes at the same place in the presence of an instructor.'

The Board of Education rules say: "Each and every member on a swimming team must be accompanied by the presence of the instructor."

Mohr added, "if the boys chose to swim in different pools, they would not and could not be properly supervised and watched. Also, in this case, should someone be injured in any respect, the college would be held liable.

"Physical education credit is given only when the class convenes. Thus, the chances for having a swimming team at present are nil."

Future possibilities of forming a team rest wholly in the hands of school authorities and the college physical educational department.

Led by the experienced Marcus Hoffman, former swimming star of Polytechnic and also manager and captain of last semester's water polo team, the swimming outlook seemed very bright. Veterans including Ian Stoddart, Bob Cohen, Horace Hosmer, Gene Carriker and Mitchell Hoffman were available.

Varsity Cagers Down Weak Salinas Squad In Two Tilts; Nicco Heads Scorers

Capturing a pair of victories from a weak Salinas Junior College quintet, the Ram cagers kept alive their chances of capturing the conference title.

The first game, played at Kezar Pavilion, was easily won by the local quintet 49 to 35. Coach "Dutch" Conlan started his best five which quickly ran up an early lead.

Mainly through the splendid shooting of Willie Blackfield, the Rams left the floor at the intermission with a commanding 21 to 14 lead.

Control Ball

The second half found the college lads again controlling the ball as they demonstrated their superiority over the Salinas squad. Conlan substituted freely and the scoring amongst the Rams was very evenly divided.

Blackfield captured individual scoring honors as he garnered 14 points for the Ram cause. Bob Nicco and Ed Curcio were close behind with ten and nine markers respectively.

Leading the scoring for the hopelessly outclassed Salinas squad was Ed Dowden with nine points.

Win Again

Journeying to Salinas for the return engagement, the local cagers again walloped the Salinas cagers.

The margin of victory was the same as in the first game as the score of 43 to 28 indicates.

The Rams established an early lead and were on top 22 to 10 at the half way mark.

Coming to life in the final period, the cellar dwellers played better ball and managed to hold the Rams even.

Bob Nicco was the leading scorer caging 12 markers. Hansen of Salinas was close behind with eight points. Nicco was the top scorer for the series as he scored 22 points, while Blackfield was second highest with 18 tallies.

Few Fouls Called

The Salinas series proved much gentler than the Marin encounters as few fouls were called by the referees.

Conlan gave his entire squad a chance to see some action in the series. None of the players will be back for next year and Conlan will need to start fresh next season.

Gaddy's Horsehiders Beat Alumni Despite Bob Fex's Sixth Inning Homerun

Alumni manager, Bob Fex's long homerun to deep right field in the sixth inning was not enough for the Old-timers to stave off defeat by the Ram varsity nine in the annual Alumni-Varsity game played at Funston Field. The final score of the abbreviated, seven inning fracas stood at 5-4.

Hopping on the offerings of Joe Futernick, a fugitive from the St. Louis Cardinal Chain Gang, the Youngsters grabbed a quick 3-0 lead in the opening innings and were never headed.

Held scoreless in the first three frames by the masterful hurling of Charley Christensen, the Alumni tallied once each in the fourth and fifth innings and twice in the sixth frame. At this point, Coach Jack Gaddy of the Varsity decided that a short contest would be better for all concerned, and much to the dismay of Fex called the game at the end of the seventh inning.

Mickey McMahon, Varsity second sacker, and Frankie Nilan, a shortstop for this contest, led the Youngsters' batting attack. McMahon garnered a three bagger for himself while Nilan hit twice in three trips to the plate.

Fex led the Alumni with a home run and a single in three attempts and was followed by Arnie Banta who banged out a triple and walked twice in four turns at the plate.

Score

	R	H	E
Alumni	4	6	4
Varsity	5	8	6

Batteries: Futernick and Johnson; Christensen and Galbraith.

Sports Writer Hurt In Auto Crash Last Week

Because of an automobile accident last Wednesday night, the colorful comments of Jack Schmale, popular Guardsman sports columnist, will not appear on this page this week.

Jack suffered severe facial injuries, and as a result, did not appear in college, Thursday or Friday.

The entire Guardsman staff joins in wishing Jack a quick recovery.

Bill Canning, rising young scribner, has taken over Schmale's duties for this issue.

Curcio Holds Broncos In Check; Ram Sluggers Led By Bill Daneri, McMahon

A well-balanced Ram baseball team decisively defeated the Santa Clara Bronco Varsity nine by a 13-2 count on Mission Field, Santa Clara in a recent game.

The heretofore unpublicized and unthought of local baseballers, behind the eight hit pitching of Ed Curcio, definitely made it known that they will be a team to reckon with when the Northern California Junior College Conference gets under way next month.

Hurlers Inconsistent

Curcio, although striking out only two Bronco batsmen, had things well under control at all times and contributed a base-hit as his part of the Ram offense.

On the other hand, Russ Lebeck, Bronco ace, was pounded for twelve hits.

Paradoxically enough, Lebeck fanned eight Ram hitters in a spotty hurling performance.

Scoring three runs on four hits in the second inning, the locals went into a lead which they never relinquished.

Daneri Opens Frame

Bill Daneri singled to left-center field to open the frame, and Willie Rufus followed with a long triple to deep left, scoring Daneri.

William Mustanich, third man up in the inning, banged out the third successive hit, a single over second, scoring Rufus.

Frank Rahmer was out, Fillippi to Roche, Mustanich going to second on the play.

"Swervo" Galbraith then lined a hard-hit ball at Pitcher Lebeck who deflected the ball to second baseman, "Chang" Changala, who in turn picked it up and threw Galbraith out at first.

Mustanich in the meantime had scored on the play. Curcio was called out on strikes to end the inning.

Both teams tallied in the fifth canto, the Junior Collegians getting three more markers on a walk to Galbraith, Curcio's sacrifice, a hit by McMahon, Nilan's hit on error, Friedkin's walk, Daneri's hit on error and infield outs by Rufus and Mustanich.

Santa Clara came back in their half of the inning and scored twice, making the score 6-2.

Lebeck started things going when he singled over second and was advanced to the keystone sack on Centerfielder Carroll's hit on error. Cangala was out, Curcio to Friedkin, Lebeck remaining on second.

Roche walked and Catcher Hannan singled over short, chasing in Lebeck and Carroll. Clauden was out Nilan to Friedkin and Case flew out to McMahon at second base ending the inning.

Wild Inning

The Powell Street Sluggers counted six times in a wild and woolly seventh inning. Four hits and five errors by Santa Clara put a clincher on the game for the Gaddymen, and as if to "rub it in", the Rams scored once again in the eighth.

McMahon and Daneri with three hits each and Rufus with a triple to his credit, led the Ram batters. Centerfielder Wally Carroll and Catcher Hannan with two bingles apiece, showed the way for the Prune Valley hitters.

Box Score

Santa Clara	Pos	Ab	R	H
Carroll	cf	5	1	2
Changala	2b	4	0	1
Roche	1b	4	0	1
Hannan	c	5	0	2
Clauden	rf	3	0	0
Case	3b	2	0	0
Fillippi	ss	3	0	0
McGowan	lf	3	0	0
Lebeck	p	4	1	1
Puncochar	2b	1	0	1
Welsh	2b	1	0	0
H. McGowan	ss	0	0	0
Totals		35	2	8

San Francisco	Pos	Ab	R	H
McMahon	2b	6	2	3
Nilan	ss	6	1	0
Friedkin	1b	4	2	1
Daneri	cf	5	2	3
Rufus	lf	4	2	1
Mustanich	c	5	2	1
Rahmer	3b	5	1	1
Galbraith	rf	3	1	1
Curcio	p	4	0	1
Christensen	rf	1	0	0
Totals		45	13	12

Twin Victories Scored By San Francisco; Marin Wins League Championship

Fighting desperately to gain a tie with Marin for the conference championship, Coach "Dutch" Conlan's Ram basketeers defeated the San Mateo Bulldogs, 39 to 30, at Kezar Pavilion last Wednesday evening, and again at San Mateo, 48 to 43 on Friday night.

"'Twas all to no avail," however, Marin winning one of their two games with Santa Rosa and thus winning the league title with nine wins, and one loss, as against the Rams' eight wins, and two losses.

In Complete Control

In the first encounter, the local squad was in complete control throughout the entire game and displayed an excellent defense.

Scoring stars for the Rams were Al Opalinski and Ed Curcio with 15 and 10 points, respectively, while Hal Fischer, lanky guard, played a whale of a defensive game.

Les Major, 6 ft. 6 in. center, played a superb rebound game for San Mateo, while Hal Marten led the Bulldogs in scoring with ten digits.

Rooters Fanatical

Accompanied by a rabid group of Ram rooters bordering on the fanatical in their enthusiasm, Conlan's lads invaded the San Mateo stronghold for the second fracas and once again emerged victorious.

After a hard-fought first half which ended with the count knotted at 25 all, the San Francisco team applied a bit of pressure and moved out into a commanding five point lead in the opening of the second session which they never relinquished.

Al Opalinski displayed the form that made him a choice for a spot on the all-conference team last year and played his best game of the season, dropping in nine field goals and three foul trys for a total of 21 points in addition to setting up other buckets.

Curcio, Fischer Star

Ed Curcio garnered six digits and played a sterling guarding game, while Hal Fischer tossed in nine points before forced to leave the floor early in the second half with four personals chalked up against him.

Jack Harris, diminutive San Mateo forward, rang up 13 points before being forced out on four fouls, three of which were committed against Opalinski.

Players of both teams found it hard to keep their footing on the slippery hardwood floor which had been waxed in preparation for the dance immediately following the game.

Greeted by a host of returning veterans this season, Conlan must look to the junior varsity and high school talent for next year's team. This year's entire varsity graduates (they hope.)

WOMEN'S SPORTS PARADE
By FRANCES MANALO

To submit tentative plans for the rest of the semester, the Women's Athletic Association held a meeting of all managers last Friday morning.

The plans were discussed by the managers and the officers. Membership cards for WAA members will be issued in the near future by the managers.

• • •

In order to plan a schedule of sports days for spring and fall semesters, an invitation to meet and discuss the subject was sent to WAA adviser, Vera Spencer, and president, Dorothy Sanderson, by the San Mateo Junior College.

Among those that met to eliminate conflict of sports days were members of the Association of San Francisco State, Marin Junior College, San Mateo Junior College, and San Francisco Junior College.

The meeting was held last Friday, February 24 at the St. Francis Hotel.

• • •

In answer to the Athletic Federation of College Women invitation for the WAA to belong to membership committee, Annette Schunick, vice-president, was appointed chairman of a committee. The purpose of the committee under Miss Schunick is to stimulate interest in membership of the junior colleges of the Pacific Coast.

• • •

Viola Gibson, manager of the dancing classes, announced that the dancing classes are invited to visit the Swedish Applied Art. Members of the classes will be received for dinner and given an exhibition of Swedish folk dances. After watching the demonstration of the folk dances, the members will be asked to participate in the dances.

A swim and dance plus an exhibition of water polo to be held at the Y.W.C.A., are the tentative plans for Polly Trenk, swimming manager.

• • •

Helen Godman, tennis manager, announced that the singles tournaments will be finished in about two more weeks, and plans are now under way for the doubles matches.

• • •

An ice skating carnival is the next plan of Eleanore Wildhagen, manager of the ice skating class.

Former Poly High Cinder Dusters Head Prospects On Potent Track Team

Headed by an imposing list of ex-Poly High cinder-dusters, Coach Russ "Rah-Rah" Sweet's reputedly potent track team commenced to practice in earnest at Kezar Stadium last week.

Former Parrot stars now performing for the local squad include Bob McGuire, holder of numerous records for the sprints; Dave Stern, also a sprinter who has already had a year's experience at the college; Larry Korchet, veteran weight performer; Bob De la Rosa, quarter-miler; Bob Dudley, excellent broadjumper, and Bob Dudley, 13 ft. pole vaulter.

Although not from Poly, three other gents, Fred Bitgood, Pete Ida, and Sam Tong, all returning veterans, are expected to bolster the squad no little.

Bitgood trips over the high hurdles, Ida engages in a variation of the shag which might be termed broadjumping, and Tong waltzes through the quarter-mile.

Sweet's lads will engage in their first dual meet of the season when they encounter Menlo's tracksters at Menlo on Saturday, March 4.

An estimated 40 aspirants trying out for the team eclipses last year's turnout of 25, but nevertheless, Sweet has asked that any others interested come out.

St. Mary's Frosh Baseball Team Overwhelmed By Powerful Ram Aggregation

Continuing merrily on their way, the Ram baseballers smeared the St. Mary's Freshman nine by a 16-3 score in a game played early last week on the Moraga diamond.

After a shaky start in which the Gaelets scored two runs, Frankie Nilan, local pitcher, was never in danger. Curcio relieved Nilan in the eighth inning after the game was sewed up merely to get in a few tosses and limber up his arm.

Mohr, speedy Gaelet second baseman was spiked early in the game by McMahon, Ram second baseman, who was out on a force play at second. Compagno, formerly of Jefferson High, replaced Mohr.

Bill Mustanich led the Powell Hill hitters with three safeties to his credit and was followed by Baird, Friedkin, Rufus and Nilan of the Rams who smacked out two hits apiece.

O'Laughlin, Moragan left fielder, with three base knocks and Sheely and Mathews with two hits led the futile attack against the San Franciscans.

Score

	R	H	E
S. F. Junior College	16	13	6
St. Mary's Freshmen	3	11	5

Batteries: Nilan, Curcio and Mustanich; McClure and Reynolds.

Wilson's Tennisers Drop Initial Match To California Frosh; Hal Wagner Upset

In their initial match of the season, the college netmen dropped a decision to the strong California freshmen, six matches to three, on the Berkeley courts last week.

In the feature match of the day, Harold Wagner, Ram leader, was upset by Ronald Edwards, frosh captain, in a three set match, 5-7, 6-1, 8-6. Wagner was obviously off his game as he has never lost to Edwards in their many previous encounters. Coming back on the court later, Wagner paired with Bob Kun to lick Edwards and Pierpont Wilson 6-3, 6-4.

Canning, Kun Win

The other two Ram victories were turned in by Bill Canning and Kun. Canning took the measure of Bob Swan 6-1, 6-3, while Kun eked out a three set victory over Jim Hobart. The matches were very close and hard fought as five of the nine matches went to three sets. Four of the three-setters were won by the Bear yearlings.

Longest match of the day was in the doubles when Ray Berns and Canning dropped a heart breaker to Glen Hippensteil and Swan. Score of the marathon was 6-4, 8-10, 8-6.

Two Double-Winners

Only double winners of the day were Hippensteil of the frosh and Kun of the Rams.

Although no alibis were voiced by the Ram netmen, it was apparent that the Bears had engaged their referees from the Blind School.

Results

Edwards (C) def. Wagner (SF), 5-7, 6-1, 8-6.

Wilson (C) def. Berns (SF), 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

Canning (SF) def. Swan (C), 6-3, 6-1.

Hippensteil (C) def. Madamba (SF), 6-1, 7-9, 7-5.

Kun (SF) def. Hobart (C), 6-2, 3-6, 6-2.

Blakemore (C) def. Dodson (SF), 6-3, 6-1.

Doubles

Wagner-Kun (SF) def. Edwards-Wilson (C), 6-3, 6-4.

Hippensteil-Swan (C) def. Berns-Canning (SF), 6-4, 8-10, 8-6.

Hudson-Meyers (C) def. Dodson-Madamba (SF), 6-3, 6-3.

Mediocre Season Brought To Close As Wilson's Lads Drop Two Games At Kezar

Coach Tom Wilson's junior varsity cagers brought a mediocre season to a close last week as they dropped games to the Jewish Community Center and Polytechnic High School, at Kezar pavilion.

Playing sloppy ball, the local quintet lost the first game to the strong Community Center squad 34 to 22.

Controlling the ball and demonstrating a smooth attack, the winners ran up an early lead to leave the floor at the intermission with the score 17 to 10 in their favor.

The Rams could do no better in the second half, and the final gun sounded with the visitors in complete control of the game.

Topping the college scorers was Bob Owen, tiny forward, who rang the hoop for five markers.

Lose To Poly

Playing the Polytechnic Parrots for the second time this season, the local quintet went down to defeat 35 to 21. Scoring only two field goals in the first half, the Rams left the floor at the intermission on the short end of a 20 to 9 score. The second half was much closer, but the college lads could not cope with the splendid play of the Parrots.

Copping individual scoring honors for the game was Carreras, Poly guard, who garnered four field goals for a total of eight points, and Bill Oshida, Ram forward, who tallied two buckets from the floor and four charity tosses for eight points.

Played 20 Games

The junior varsity cagers have played 20 games this season and have come out on top in 13 of them. Leading scorer for the entire season is Hugh Ryan, veteran center, who compiled 117 points. Following Ryan are Owens with 98 points, and Oshida with 86 markers.

Following are the leading scorers for the season.

Name	Pts. Scored	Games
Ryan	117	20
Owen	98	25
Oshida	86	19
Berns	48	10
Gavrlloff	35	16
Legallie	33	13
Martin	32	20

RAMblings
By RAY BERNS

Not to be outdone by some of the columnists on the local dailies who have devoted much space to the subject, this column presents a short treatise on ski-jumping, or, "How to commit suicide in ten easy lessons."

Risking their legs, arms, and what have you, some thirty or forty brave and hardy souls participated in the ski jump competition at Treasure Island last week.

After viewing the lads soaring through the air, we have come to the conclusion that "it's for them that likes it".

• • •

MIKKELSON STARS

In the earlier part of the week, a few "furriners" from Denmark, Norway, Hoboken, and way points were on hand to lend opposition to the local lads. Needless to say, the opposition was "lent" by the outsiders, and Roy Mikkelson of the Auburn Ski Club was the only local breaking in the first ten, edging in at the fourth spot.

As a post-lude to the "big-time" jumping, a few of the local yokels had a little meet of their own, and thrilled the expectant crowd who had come to view the proceedings with spills, chills, and clown exhibitions.

Being of a rather gory nature, we stood with bated breath and a bloodthirsty air of expectancy as the first lad prepared to leap. It so happens that there was a terrific wind blowing that first evening, and we were waiting to see whether the ski-er would land on the runway, or some where in San Francisco Bay, or perhaps, on the Gayway. Wouldn't it have been a scream? Sure would!

• • •

PATHOS ENTERS

Amidst all the heat and furore of the competition there enters, however, a note of sadness, which touches us to the quick.

With tremors running up and down his back, caused by a blast of trumpets heralding his take-off, one of the ski-ers, Brown by name, sped down the runway, took off, landed in perfect form, and slid to a stop at the bottom of the jump. After braving the perils of the jump, Mr. Brown arose, or rather, tried to arise, only to find that he had fractured his leg in the final slide.

• • •

NEWS ITEM:

Poring over a Washington State college paper, we find that one of the outstanding prospects in spring football practice is none other than Walt "Proboscus" Boitano, hard-charging Ram full back of a decade ago, or was it last year. Nice going, Walt!

• • •

GADDYMEN WIN

In a practice session, some of the major-league ball-players, Dario Lodigiani, Babe Dahlgren, Frankie Crosetti, and others, fell prey to Jack Gaddy's horsehiders at Funston field last week. Very good. Most interesting to us, however, was the fact that all of the big league players agreed that Bill "Nuggets" Rufus, local left-fielder, was an exceptional prospect. A good all-around ball players, Rufus appears destined for greater things.

• • •

A rather strange phenomenon happened last week. Tom Wilson's tennisers opening their season by losing to the University of California freshmen in a practice encounter, six matches to three.

Undaunted, Hal Wagner and Bob Kun, two of Wilson's henchmen, figured out a point system whereby the locals emerged victorious. Allowing five points for this match, and one point for that one, and so on into the night . . . Anyhoo, we always said you had to be crazy to play tennis.

Divot Squad Calls For Help; Team Will Joint Conference When Full Squad Is Acquired

With a cry for more support, Coach "Dutch" Conlan has announced that the golf team will get into action as soon as needed "putters" are acquired.

"I sincerely wish that every lad interested in making the team would try out," explained Conlan, "for we're willing to give everyone a chance."

At present, the uncompleted golf squad consists of only four students, which are just one-half of the number needed according to Conlan. As soon as full team strength is acquired, the team will join the junior college league. Future matches will also be contested with college freshman teams.

Whiskerino Ends; Happy Heroes Receive Just Awards

To the victors, the laurels.

Today, the Field of Honor is bleak and bare. In the cold gray dawn, a chill zephyr wafts silently through the ancient, gnarled oaks, and bewhiskered phantoms softly sigh as they recall the chivalrous days of yore.

A thunder of hoofs, as bearded knights, mounted on fiery chargers, gallop once more down the Corridors of Time, defiant battle-cries echoing and re-echoing faintly in memory's deep recesses.

Yes, the Whiskerino is over.

But wait! All is not sadness! All is not woe!

Listen ye a moment to the hilarious sounds of merriment issuing from yon dell. Hear ye the beating of drums and cymbals and the roaring gusts of laughter as Ken Pasqualetti squanders his booty of $2.50. And hear ye how Bob Waegemann clicks his heels joyously and brandishes his nobly won bid to ye forthcoming Soph Formal? Harken ye to the shrieks of sweet agony as Lou Goldstone scrapes his puss with his new razor!

Big Beard Boys

Left to right above are the Whiskerino winners: Ken Pasqualetti, Bob Waegemann, Lou Goldstone.

O joy! O ecstasy! OH NUTS!

Well, anyway, it was a great battle while it lasted. And on Tuesday afternoon, February 21, at Galileo, the Great Spinach Tournament closed in a blaze of glory, with Joe Amori, Dean Edwin C. Browne, Frank Verducci and John Julius going into a huddle to decide who had the (1) heaviest all-around, (2) fanciest, and (3) scraggliest batch of excelsior in the college.

From the assembled host of contestants, the judges, in their wisdom, selected three gentlemen as representing the acme of physiognomatic plposity. Ken Pasqualetti, the favorite, won easily for the heaviest whiskers. Pasqualetti gracefully accepted the plaudits of the multitudes, and said:

"It was easy. I gave everybody else a four-day head start out of my natural generosity, but it was a breeze. Say . . . would you be interested in some records . . . ?"

Bob Waegemann (he is the rusty Van Dyke), claimed the prize for the fanciest beard, and attributed his success to his ruddy locks.

"It was the red tinge that did it," said. Waegemann, "and I'm glad I won . . . but it's sure gonna feel great to be human again."

Left holding the shaving kit as a reward for cultivating the most disgustingly scraggly stubble was Lou Goldstone, who wandered off with the booby prize, mumbling:

"I shouldda got some dye and colored my beard red, white and blue . . . For Washington's Birthday, y'know.

Now I'm going home and shake."

The three winners put in an appearance that night at the High Frosh gig to receive the congratulations of their public. Dave Johnson, 'AMS President and Master of Ceremonies, announced the current heroes and introduced them to the fluttering fans.

Now that the Whiskerino is a thing of the past, now that the prizes have been awarded and the lucky winners have been sent, whooping, on their merry way, we can all look back upon the event with fond memories.

Win or lose, we must admit that the Contest, contemporary as it was with the Fiesta, provided one good excuse for not shaving.

1939 should, to say the least, be known forever hereafter as THE YEAR OF THE BIG BEARDS.

CLUB SCHEDULE

NAME	Type of Meeting	TIME	PLACE
*Alpha Delta Epsilon	No plans
Alpha Gamma Sigma	Business	March 9, 2:30	Galileo
Alpha Phi Omega	Business	March 14	Indefinite
Army-Navy	No plans
Astronomy	Study	March 6, 7:00 p.m.	Galileo
Beta Phi	Business	March 6	Presidio
*Block SF	No plans
Beta Tau	No plans
*Chess	Match	March 11, 7:00 p.m.	Mechanics Institute
Chinese	No plans
Forestry	Business	March 3, 7:30 p.m.	913 Byxby Ave.
*Forum	Discussion	March 10	Indefinite
French	No plans
George Washington	No plans
Home Econ. Ass'n	Business	March 1, 2:15 p.m.	Galileo, Room 217
Hotel-Restaurant	Business	March 7	Indefinite
*Italian	Business	March 1	Indefinite
Iota Chi	No plans
Japanese Students	Business	March 8, 7:30 p.m.	Sturges Memorial Hall
*Lambda Chi	No plans
Music	Roller Skate	March 3	Pacific City
Newman	Business	March 6	St. Mary's Cathedral
*Nathaniel Bennett	No plans
*Omicron Phi Pi	No plans
*Peace Society	Discussion	March 3	Indefinite
*Phi Alpha Omega	No plans
*Phi Rho Pi	No plans
Phi Beta Rho	Initiation	March 30	Indefinite
Phys. Ed. Majors	No plans
Pi Mu Gamma	Dentistry Speech	March 1, 7:30 p.m.	Homewood Terrace
Pick & Hammer	Business	March 6	Indefinite
*Radio Engineers	No plans
Rifle & Pistol	No plans
*Sigma Delta Chi	No plans
Tarbuth	Discussion	March 12, 7:30 p.m.	300 Page Street
*Tri Epsilon	No plans
Women's Service Society	No plans
*Denotes unchartered clubs

Alpha Gamma Sigma Heads Convention On April Fool's Day

'At Treasure Island, April 1, the college Alpha Gamma Sigma will be host, during the statewide convention of the organization to all junior college Alpha Gamma Sigma chapters throughout California.

James Henry and Dorothy Rodenback will preside at the all-day meeting, which will have as principal speaker,. Dr. Robert Sibley, alumni secretary of the University of California, whose topic will be. The Place of Democracy in American Education.

Music will be presented by the A Cappella Choir of San Jose State College and solos by the Santa Rosa Junior College as well as by our own college.

State officers for the year are officers from the college, whose committee, this week, is sending letters to 25 chapters inviting them to be present at the Treasure Island meeting, and to send delegates, at which time they will be presented with their charters.

Three applications for membership, two give State, San Luis Obispo, and one other college, if accepted, will also be given charters.

Five College Women Will Attend AWS Convention

As guests of Fresno State College, five women will be selected from this college to attend the Associated Women Students' annual convention of northern California, to take place March 17 and 18, according to Dorothy Trood, AWS president.

Among the representatives, three women from the AWS, and two from the Women's Athletic Association will attend. Final selection of the women participants is as yet incomplete, but among them will be Miss Trood, and Dorothy Sanderson, WAA president.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS:

(Continued from page 2)

1. Rome. 2. Galileo Galilei. 3. President Woodrow Wilson to Charles Evans Hughes. 4. Cleopatra in Shakespeare's "Anthony and Cleopatra". 5. The Mediterranean and the Red seas. 6. When the writer is not sure whether the woman is married or not. 7. Jean de la Fontaine. 8. The 15th of March. 9 Aphrodite. 10. American Society of Cinematographers.

UNDERWOOD JUNIOR

For all who write!

People in every walk of life can enjoy the advantages of rapid, easy typing. No matter what your writing need may be you'll find the UNDERWOOD JUNIOR PORTABLE will meet your requirements.

Manufacturer's Price $39.50

OUR PRICE $28.50

An advantageous buy of a quantity of these Models permits us to pass this saving along to you. You will have to act quickly as supply is limited.

San Francisco Typewriter Exchange

591 Market Street SUter 4734

ADVERTISING RATE:

1-50 inches ..... 70c an inch
51-150 inches ..... 60c at inch
151-up inches ..... 50c an inch

AWS Tea Finally Set For March 14; At Century Club

Associated Women Students tea has been definitely scheduled for March 14 from 3 to 5 o'clock at the Century Club, announced Dorothy Trood, AWS president.

"We feel that this particular date will be satisfactory to the majority of leaders completed their business in the college women," Miss Trood said.

Fashion Review

In acceptance of an extended invitation, Frances Shoup, well known style commentator, has consented to furnish a complete fashion review, to include present modes and glimpses of the future creations.

"Of course our program selections are not definitely set," Flosita Badger, chair director, declared, "but I think we will include songs by Bach, Krone, a Morley madrigal, and a charming little Australian number arranged by Thomas Wood."

To add to the enjoyment of the women's affair, Miss Trood has promised good refreshments.

Representatives Invited

Women representatives from all the local high schools and many private schools will be invited, according to Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser.

"With so many special guests, and such interesting attractions, I think women of the college would have a hard time resisting such splendid opportunity for acquaintance and fellowship with other women," Miss Dougherty commented.

Assisting Miss Trood in planning the occasion are Juliet Ball, Margaret Meader and Helen Culp.

Dr. Gabbert To Address Faculty Association Meet

Faculty association members are urged to attend the meeting of their organization this afternoon at 3:30 p.m. in Room 554 at Galileo High School where a short but important business meeting will be followed by an address from Thomas J. Gabbert.

Title of Dr. Gabbert's address will be Spain: With the Rebels in Control. According to Edward Sandys, faculty association president, the speaker will give an important analysis of the Spanish situation.

All members are asked to come early, as Dr. Gabbert's address will begin immediately after the regular business meeting has been completed.

18 Additional Petitions To Graduate Filed

Eighteen petitions to graduate in May have been filed in the registrar's office, according to Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar. The list is only tentative, based on satisfactory completion of current program, Miss Learnard said.

Those filing petitions are as follows:

Dempster Bollinger, Eleanor Bradford, Francisco Cachapero, Samuel Bantaugh, Laura Golden, Windsor Johns, Murielle Kilger, William Krasnow, William Lawrence, Alyce Leong, Margaret McCormick, Nicholas Mintzky, Lita Mae Rogers, Mitzi Roi, Elizabeth Sanchez, David Shinn, Carol Woo, and Shigeru Yamamoto.

ENGINEERING STUDENTS

Civil Engineering-8 students will meet at the University of California C.E. Building on Tuesday, March 7, at 9 a.m. All are excused from classes.

Executive Council Abandons Meeting; Hurries To Rally

Determined to make history in no uncertain manner, the college Executive Council sped through the fastest meeting in its existence on Thursday, February 23, when the student leaders completed their business in the record-breaking time of two minutes and 45 seconds.

The meeting was called to order by student president Frank Verducci and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Committee reports from the student leaders were only obvious because of their absence, while the special business of the week was relegated to second place behind the rally which was scheduled to occur within the hour.

President Verducci then asked if someone would move that the meeting be adjourned. The response was overwhelming and the meeting was glossed exactly 165 seconds after its opening.

It has been rumored that members of the Executive Council appeared on time at the rally preceding the second San Mateo game.

College Chess Team Beats University of California

Climax to a successful season came to the college Chess Team on Saturday, February 18, when the locals defeated the regular University of California Chess Team by the score of 9½ to 1½.

Bill Switzer, Chess Club president, highly pleased with the team's showing, announced the resumption of competition in the Northern California Chess League as the college representatives met the Castle Chess Club last Saturday evening at the Mechanics' Institute.

Prominent Speakers Slated For Hotel Division Conclave

Two prominent men will speak before the Hotel and Restaurant Division this month on March 3, and March 7, respectively. Ernest Hjorth, member of faculty will speak this Friday, and George D. Smith, manager of the Fairmont and Mark Hopkins hotels will speak next Tuesday.

Hjorth will speak before the group at the Institute of Swedish Arts on the differences between Swedish and American cooking.

Smith will discuss his travels in Japan where he went as a member of the American delegation of hotel executives. The purpose of his trip was to spread the good will of California and the United States.

Music Club To Sponsor Roller Skating Party

Under the sponsorship of the college Music Club, a roller skating party will be held this Friday, March 3, at Pacific City.

All students of the college are cordially invited to attend announced Gene Boomer, president of the group. "Many other organizations have had very pleasant times at Pacific City and we expect to exceed any held in the past. Everyone is welcome, come out and join the fun," Boomer said. Admission will be 30 cents. All those desiring to attend should see some member of the Music Club.

Library Browsing

While thumbing through the latest editions of the college library's vast collection of magazines we have chosen a few of the outstanding articles which can be found in the reserve book room downstairs in the Powell Street building.

Movies that are in town this week are reviewed in the Motion Picture Review Digest magazine. In the January 30th issue of the Digest, Gunga Din is claimed by some critics to be an excellent picture in human interest with a fine historical background, while others feel that it is overdone. That it gives the wrong slant on war for the conditions of the present day is the opinion of some reviewers. Education authorities believe that it is a fine educational accomplishment in literature and history and should provide excellent class-room discussion.

This week's world events discussions are presented by The New Republic, February, 1939, in which is Expand North Fighting For? is a startling revelation of just how this country stands in relation to England and France in the latest crisis that is filling the metropolitan newspapers. In the same magazine, What Is Our Foreign Policy? provides some splendid food for thought; it could arouse a lively debate in any group.

In Occupations — The Vocational Guidance Magazine of February 1939, The Dentist is a stimulating story prepared by the National Occupational Conference. Among other information given in this article the essential abilities necessary to be a successful dentist, the advantages and the disadvantages, the earnings, the future trend of employment, the necessary preparation, and the number and geographical distribution answer all the questions for would-be-dentists in the college.

Other vocational, current events, and entertainment magazines, too numerous to mention, but nevertheless extremely interesting, are to be found in the P. E. and E. building or the reserve book room at Powell Street.

A Cappella Broadcast Fails To Materialize

A Capella Choir songsters were not heard over the radio Sunday, February 20 from Treasure Island as was expected. The reason, according to Flosita Badger, Choir director, was a result of the change in the buildings in which the choir was scheduled to appear. The choir was supposed to appear at the Temple of Religion but last minute changes took them to the Food and Beverage Building where no broadcasting equipment was available.

Miss Badger announced Friday that the College of Pacific Choir will appear in the Powell Street lecture hall at 11 o'clock, March 28. The choir is on its annual tour and has consented to be the guests of the college A Capella Choir.

For the first time this semester an Associated Student card was confiscated at a dance. The incident occurred at the High Freshman dance held February 21.

Reason for such action was that the card was presented by other than its owner. The card has been turned over to the Judicial Committee which will take action at its next meeting.

Since such a committee came into being, dances have been less crowded, and it has become apparent that such a committee was a necessity in the college.

A date for the meeting has not yet been set, but members of the committee promise quick action.

San Francisco is known as the "Port O' Missing Men". The reason for that name is that a large number of people, once shipping into the city, are never heard of again. However, if they enrolled at this college with its scattered campus, they would become more familiar with the city and wouldn't get lost so easily.

Opinions Of Fair Sought In Third Student Poll

By DAN ROSENBLAT

Students of this college prefer human interest columns, letters to the editor, and sport commentaries. This information has been obtained as a result of an extensive survey of student opinion asking the question, "Which three regular columns of The Guardsman do you like best?"

Men and women students expressed essentially similar views of their leading favorites, but differed somewhat in the choice of their also-rans. Theater and musical reviews, a very controversial type of column, received a favorable vote from nearly a third of the women interviewed, was shunned by the men. Popular with both men and women are the astrology columns devoted to the discussion of national affairs.

Question most often asked interviewers was, "Why not a gossip column?" In reply to this question, The Guardsman feels that gossip and non-relative social activities of members of the campus does not by any stretch of the imagination constitute real news items. Gossip columns, "scooping Sams", or any other type of column devoted to betraying intimate details of campus personal affairs have no place in a college paper.

In keeping with the spirit of the day, The Guardsman begins to seek reactions to the Fair. Question of the week is "Were you disappointed when you went to the Fair? What three features of the Fair did you like best?" Write your answers on the following coupon and leave it in The Guardsman box.

Were you disappointed when you went to the Fair?

YES ..... NO .....

What features did you like best?

1 .....

2 .....

3 .....

Associated Student Card Confiscated At High Dance

For the first time this semester an Associated Student card was confiscated at a dance. The incident occurred at the High Freshman dance held February 21.

Reason for such action was that the card was presented by other than its owner. The card has been turned over to the Judicial Committee which will take action at its next meeting.

Since such a committee came into being, dances have been less crowded, and it has become apparent that such a committee was a necessity in the college.

A date for the meeting has not yet been set, but members of the committee promise quick action.

Read Serial Page Four Starlark Off To Moon

The Guardsman

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Forum Magazine Deadline Next Wednesday March 15

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, MARCH 8, 1939 No. 8

Hotel, Restaurant Will Celebrate Third Anniversary

Progress Steady Since Inception; Maximum Enrollment Reached

Next week the Hotel and Restaurant Management Division of the college will celebrate its third year of existence with numerous activities.

At its inception the division consisted of two instructors and eight students. Its progress has been so steady that today there is a maximum enrollment for full-time students and 25 instructors. Assisting is a staff of 13 advisers who are managers of the biggest hotels in the city.

Purpose of the division is to give students a complete training in all fields concerning hotel and restaurant operations. The curriculum also includes certain academic requirements which give the student sufficient cultural background and additional training to enable him to enter other fields of endeavor.

Not only is the division satisfied to give a thorough course of training, but also has made it possible to give students summer positions for practical experience.

Industry Takes Graduates

A graduate student of the division is never forced to seek employment after his graduation. Through an agreement with city hotel and restaurants, graduates are immediately absorbed into the industry. It is interesting to note that in the three years of existence only three students have dropped out; two because other positions awaited them.

Students are sincere in their efforts, and their program is not an easy one. From 8 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. actual work in serving, planning, and preparing goes on; then from 2 to 5:30 p.m. lecture classes convene.

Mature Enrollees

Enrollment comes from all sections of the state as well as from Utah, Idaho, and British Columbia. Eighty per cent of the students are men and fifteen per cent are sons of hotel men.

Climaxing progress thus far, two new courses are being introduced to the curriculum of the Hotel and Restaurant Management Division this month.

Starting March 13, Walther Swanson will inaugurate his course which deals with public relations and city promotion.

On March 17, Arthur Kobleph of Dean Witter & Co. will give the first lecture of his course which deals with statistics and graphic presentation as applied to hotel managment.

Club Advisory Board Gets Budget Approval From Student Executive Council

Among the more important business considered by the Executive Council at the meeting held Thursday, March 2, at Galileo High School, was the approval of the budget requested by the Club Advisory Board for a total of $47.23 for the purpose of carrying out the semester's activities in that group.

Harold Hoffman, newly selected president of the Club Advisory Board explained "that the money requested by the board was necessary and in keeping with the purposes of the board, the greater portion of the appropriation going toward the charters for the newly approved clubs."

Although the request by the college honor society for a sum of money to be used in financing a luncheon planned for Treasure Island was not granted, President James Henry of that society will be given another opportunity to present his request when the council meets again tomorrow.

The Women's Athletic Association under the guidance of its president, Dot Sanderson, has concluded its plans for the sport program and conference which will be held this semester at San Francisco. According to Miss Sanderson, San Francisco Junior College will be host college to the women representing the Junior Colleges of Santa Rosa, Marin, San Mateo and San Francisco State.

Miriam Dunne, head of the Social Committee, reported that plans for the next dance sponsored by her committee were being formulated and that March 31 is the tentative date for the occasion.

College Debaters Engage Foe Here Tomorrow, Friday

College of Pacific, Sacramento J.C. Named As First Opponents

Opening the intercollegiate debating season this week with a double header, the college debating team tomorrow meets Sacramento Junior College in the first of a series of home debates: a discussion of alliance with Great Britain. Friday the team encounters the College of Pacific to battle over the question of pump priming by the government.

Debates In Room 104

Question of Thursday's debate is, Resolved: That the United States should establish an alliance with Great Britain. College speakers for the affirmative will be Floyd Lawrence and Fred Hoshiyama. The debate will be held at 12 m. in Room 104

Friday the subject is, Resolved: That the United States should cease to use public funds and public credit for the purpose of stimulating business. Bill Switzer and Elanore Coy will support this theory. This debate will also be held in Room 104.

Future Contests Slated

Lloyd D. Luckmann, forensics instructor, has submitted a tentative schedule of debates for the remainder of the semester. March 28 John Ellis and Robert Cohn will debate the University of San Francisco on the subject of pump priming.

The college will travel to Stanford March 9, to debate negatively on Fascism and Communism; University of California, March 14, Fascism and Communism, negative; USF, March 28, pump priming, negative; San Jose State, March 30, Arms program, affirmative; Modesto, March 18, Speech conference.

Luckmann, announced that, in view of the current interest of the subjects to be discussed, he anticipates a large attendance on both days.

High Freshman Dinner Dance At Lake Merritt Hotel, Friday, March 17

Scheduled for Friday, March 17, the high freshman dinner dance will be held at the Lake Merritt Hotel in Oakland, declared Lee Scarlett, high freshman president.

"We have also planned to be well represented in the inter-class track meet of March 10 and 11," Scarlett said "and already have six representatives for the team."

Any other class members desiring to participate in the meet are requested to contact John Stahlman track committee chairman.

The dance committee has announced that one member of each attending couple must be a high freshman, excluding special guests.

"If a sufficient number of students sign up to attend the affair," Scarlett continued, "it may be possible to get a reduction in the price which is now set for $1.25 per person."

All students interested are therefore urged to arrange for reservations with Art Pomares, dance committee chairman, at the earliest convenience.

Among the special guests for the dance, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Browne, Verrel Weber and Nelson Wells, class advisers have been invited.

Students On NYA List May Get Jobs

"Everyone on the NYA waiting list should come in and see me sometime this week," said Edward H. Redford, NYA director. "This, however, does not mean that there will be jobs for everyone, as hours may not coincide with the time of the student."

Friday, March 17, all times sheets must be turned in to Thomas O'Neil, faculty member, by 1:30 p.m. at the Powell Street office if students want to receive their pay checks on time. Last time, February 17, students were late in receiving their checks.

Students who were automatically dropped from the NYA roll on March 5 because of citizenship will be reinstated if they sign the citizenship affidavit in Redford's office.

Men's, Womens Activities Feature Week . . . .

AWS Tea March 14; Boxing Matches Friday Night

Double Feature Program To Include Fashion Show And A Cappella Singing

Definitely scheduled as March 14, the Associated Women Students' tea will be held from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock at the Century Club, 1355 Franklin Street, according to Dorothy Trood, AWS president.

"We are even offering a double feature program," declared Miss Trood, "which will include a musical program by the A Cappella Choir, and fashion review by Frances Shoup, style commentator."

Musical Entertainment

Flosita Badger, choir director, has announced the choral selections as being presented in two groups, the first to include Out of the Depths, by Bach; My Bonny Lass, a madrigal number by Morley, and Charm Me Asleep by Leslie.

"Our second group will be opened by the Negro Dirge a Foster composition arranged by Roberts." Miss Badger remarked. "This will be followed by an Australian number arranged by Wood entitled Waltzing Matilda, before which an explanation must necessarily be made in order to understand the strange words. We will close with Glorification."

Fashion Review Featured

Miss Shoup has not revealed her planned program, but promises a complete fashion review of present and future wearing apparel. This contribution to the program is presented through the courtesy of Claire Cuneo's Home Economics Association, of which Eleanor Lightner is president.

"This will be the largest affair that the AWS has sponsored in the new semester," Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser, said, "and since so many of the college women have requested a fashion tea in the past, I hope they will take advantage of the opportunity that has at last arrived."

In addition to guests from local high schools and private schools, the following guests have been invited:

President and Mrs. A. J. Cloud, Dean and Mrs. Edwin C. Browne, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pitman, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mohr, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Agosti, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Nichols, Mrs. Joseph Nourse, Mrs. Joseph Garry, the Misses Mary Jane Learnard, Claire Cuneo, Bertha Keller, Verrel Weber, Bertha Roberts, Edith Reese, Mrs. Edith McNab Murphy, and Mrs. Alice May Baker.

"In addition to the women assisting me on the committee for this affair," Miss Trood continued, "there will be many hostesses to welcome guests and assist in serving refreshments which will be exceptionally nice."

Those aiding as hostesses include Eleanor Lightner, Agnes Read, Tristan Smith, Eleanor Williams, Norma Decker, Helen Hannah, Jane Mitchell, Rosemarie Jelinek, Jean Reynolds.

(Continued on page 4, column 4)

Tentative Dates For Next Rallies Have Been Set For March 29 and May 5

Tentatively setting the dates for the next two rallies as March 29 and May 5, Yell-King Art Pomares and the rally committee devoted last Friday's meeting to a discussion of possible talent for these rallies.

Pomares intends to present one of the outstanding radio personalities of the bay region as the feature of the next rally. It has been rumored that Jack Schmale and Ray Berns, playwrights extraordinary, are working on a new epic which they intend premiering before college students at the rally.

Commenting on the fine turnout of college students at conference basketball games, Pomares said, "The turnout of students at the basketball games has been most encouraging. Records show that more students have turned out to cheer on the team in its various encounters than in any previous basketball season."

Having successfully presented its share of the exchange rally with San Mateo Junior College at that city last week, the rally committee is now devoting its efforts to the next rallies and to a contemplated trip to Sacramento during the baseball season.

Ten Championship Bouts Offered; Chicazola To Star In Comedy Event

"Men's Club Fights, Friday night, will be a good show," says Dave Johnson, Associated Men Students' president.

That much is certain, for when the annual college slugfest opens at the Verdi Club at 8 p.m. on Friday, the greatest array of pugilistic talent seen in many a moon will exhibit its collective wares for the edification and enjoyment of the spectators.

Ten first class bouts are definitely scheduled, to date, and others will probably be arranged in time for the show.

Minitsky vs. Gargaetas

With all men in the college boxing class competing for honors, many sterling performances will be offered, not the least of which will be the heavyweight match between Nick Minitsky, 179 pound champ and Chris Gargaetas, former wrestler weighing 215 pounds and standing 5 feet 8 inches.

One of the evenings highlights will be provided by Ed Baca, 149 pounder, who last year went through a grueling fight with the renowned Lionel Cade, and, according to Johnson, "...showed more than anyone else in the show..." Baca's opponent for the current carnival has not yet been selected . . . or maybe it's going to be a surprise . . .

Four Main Eventers

Leather pusher Ed Romley will collide with Champ Jack Welkers for the 159 pound title in another big event. Romley announced an enviable reputation for endurance and fortitude in last year's fights, when he waded through four tough bouts in a single night. That's some kind of a record in these parts.

Newcomers Hal Von Volkman and Frank Brickwedel, both in the 169 pound division, are expected to add zest to the occasion by rendering good accounts of themselves.

Clown Bout Offered

Just to garnish the festivities with a screwball flavoring, two clowns bouts have been incorporated into the program. The first will be a laisser-faire beef featuring Mel Chicazola versus Alex Spieler, Frank Nilan and Charlie O'Brien, Inc. The second will consist of an equally batty wrestling free-for-all.

The first bout will begin at 8:15 p.m. on the dot. The show should be over by 10 p.m.

Remember, Friday night at the Verdi Club on Mariposa Street just off Potrero Avenue. An "if" car will take you there direct.

One last word . . . Johnson promises that the fight will not be too gory, so bring the gals along.

AWS, AMS Leaders

AWS President Dorothy Trood (top) and AMS President Dave Johnson (bottom) have both been busy, this week, planning events soon to be presented to the college. Friday night the Men's Club holds its annual fights while next Tuesday the AWS is having a fashion tea.

Fresno State Scene of AWS Convention; Four College Women Selected To Attend

Four women have been selected to represent the college at the annual Associated Women Students' convention of northern California March 17 and 18 at Fresno State College, announced Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser.

"We formerly announced the number of representatives as five, but since have received information that only four are to attend." Miss Dougherty declared. "This means that Dorothy Trood AWS president, and Dorothy Sanderson, Women's Athletic Association president, Margaret Meader and Helen Culp will attend".

Besides these four, many unofficial representatives are planning to take part. The latter representatives differ in that they undertake personal traveling expenses and are not official delegates, therefore are not allowed the privilege of voting on women's affairs while attending the convention. They, however, are granted all other opportunities for social contact.

Each year a different college is selected as the convention locale, and the women of the chosen college must take charge of the two day convention program. They are responsible for securing dormitory accomodations for the guests and provision of an entertaining stay for them.

"Our college will have an opportunity in the near future to play hostess to this group" Miss Trood said.

It has been customary at past conventions for the hostess college to secure the services of prominent women speakers, who address the guests using topics such as Vocational Interest for Women. Other forms of novel entertainment are also customarily added, the final event being a dance presented in honor of the many representatives.

Among the selected women attending last year were Dorothy Canavan and Marian Frazier.

"I only wish it were possible to send all of the women interested as official representatives, said Miss Dougherty, "but since it is not I hope many will be able to attend as unofficial members."

College Women Win State Title as Men Nosed Out

Take Fourth Place To U. C. Three Teams; Humphrey, North Place

Five college women sharpshooters put 15 college men to shame last week end by winning the annual State Gallery Championships in the women's division.

Beat Bear's Fourth

With three five-men teams in the field, the men could do no better than fourth place to three University of California teams.

The college second team did, however, beat out the Bear's fourth squad, the two other college teams trailing behind the entire list.

"If our top team had but shot their season average, we would have taken the collegiate title," said Coach Bill Gibson. "As it was, the stiff shoulder-to-shoulder competition was enough to make our men blow up."

Women Take Honors

Although pre-match "dope" gave the women's team little better than a chance for third place in the ironsights division, they came through in grand style, beating an assortment of five other feminine squads.

However, some of the college men did take honors in other features of the State Gallery Championships, George Humphrey and Chuek North taking second and third places respectively in the International 50-yard match.

The college women's team was composed of Marion Schriek, who took women's high score honors, Nell Riley, Jean Wilken, Dot Sanderson, and Sylvia Rogenes.

Scores of Stanford matches are listed below. (See story on page 3.)

SFJC REDS—1838	STANFORD—1572
*A. Templeton 375	*Cameron 354
*Humphrey 370	*J. Thompson 314
*North 368	*Seitz 313
*Cavagnolo 364	*V'n Loben S's 310
*Voigt 361	*J. Thompson 281
Stewart 361
W. Gibson 351
Dorr 331
E. Templeton 331

*High Five.

Next Wednesday Deadline For Forum Contributions; Magazine Ready Soon

Wednesday, March 15, is the deadline for all contributions for the Forum Magazine, annual student literary publication of the college. To date material has been coming in rapidly, but there is room for much more especially verse.

Frederick Brashear and William Goss, faculty sponsors, and John Cummings, Forum editor, will act as judges to award the prize, a book, for the best single contribution not exceeding 1,500 words (no minimum). The winner will be presented with the book at the Forum Club banquet at the end of the semester.

Original art work such as blocks in wood and linoleum in black and white, and colors will be devoted to several pages in the magazine. Those interested in submitting such work are urged to see John Cummings.

A plan is under way to form a symposium on some important topic with members of various clubs writing essays presenting different viewpoints.

Early in May the Forum will be out; however, tickets must be purchased in advance as the number of copies printed is dependent on the number of tickets purchased. Tickets will go on sale the week following Easter vacation at 15 cents a copy.

Radio Students See Phone Plant

Radio students, who hold classes at the Samuel Gompers trade school, paid a visit to the main Telephone Building, located at 455 Bush Street. They were accompanied by Lowell M. Hollingsworth, radio engineering instructor.

The radio class was shown the intricate operations of the telephone, which included all the composite parts of the phone. Also, a demonstration exemplifying the relationship of electric and magnetic sound waves was displayed.

Plans to visit the Dial Exchange by the radio class are now being made.

Robert J. Parker, Faculty Member Discovers Historic Document In Library

While doing research in the Bancroft Memorial Library at the University of California recently, Robert J. Parker, instructor of history, unearthed a letter of historical interest written by Henry Clay to Thomas Oliver Larkin.

Attaching a copy of the letter to his explanation of the events surrounding the writing of this historical document, Parker forwarded his find to the Kentucky State Historical Society. In return he has recently received a January issue of the Register of the Kentucky State Historical Society containing his findings.

Parker's discovery of two more letters in the Bancroft library written by Larkin and his step brother throwing interesting light on the cost of passage and the uncertainty of voyage to the West Coast have been published in the Pacific Historical Review, issued quarterly by the Pacific Coast Branch of the American Historical Association.

Parker has been a regular contributor to historical magazines on his findings and writings of historical importance.

Block Men Return To C.A.B. Fold; New Charters In

Expenses Passed By Executive Body; More Clubs Enter

Peace reigns again in the Club Advisory Board household as a petition for a charter and resulting automatic membership in the board was received from the Block SF Society late last week. The Block men withdrew from the board earlier in the semester on the grounds that they had "nothing to gain" from membership therein.

Reconsideration was voted at the last meeting of the society. "We feel that in keeping with the purposes of our organization we should cooperate with any group having service to the school as its object", said President Mel Peterson.

Four Groups Petition

Other organizations petitioning for charters are the Peace Society, Omicron Phi Pi, and Lambda Chi. Approval of these petitions will raise the membership of the board to 26, but will still leave 9 or 10 clubs unchartered. It is hoped that the application of the Block men will stimulate other non-chartered groups to make use of the blank petitions left in their advisor's box" Vice-President Harold Goldsworthy said.

Ex-Council Approval

Advisory Board expenses were approved by the Executive Council, with the passage last week of a budget appropriation for $47.23 to cover the cost of charters, publishing of the minutes, mailing and incidentals.

Questionaires have been mailed to the clubs in order that information will be obtained and compiled as a part of the proposed freshman handbook.

The next meeting of the board will be held tomorrow in Room 101 Instead of the usual 104. Guest will be Dean Edwin C. Browne who will speak on student body finances.

Hoffman Active

With the return of the Block SF Society to the fold, and other prominent now chartered organization seriously considering the advisability of reuming under the protective wing of the board, President Harold Hoffman, commented.

"The officers of the board intend to rejuvenate the board into some of its former influences."

Permanent Membership Pins For Alpha Gamma Sigma Members To Be Ready Soon

Students who have had three semesters of college work with a grade average of 2.3, exclusive of physical education, are entitled to permanent Alpha Gamma membership pins. Application for permanent membership may be secured from Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar, or from Alice Cooper, club adviser.

On April Fool's day the college Alpha Gamma will be host to all junior college chapters of the organization throughout California for the duration of the statewide convention, in which considerable interest is being shown.

Dr. Robert Sibley, alumni secretary of the University of California and principal speaker of the all-day meeting which will be presided by James Henry and Dorothy Rodenback, will speak on "The Place of Democracy in American Education."

Music will be presented by the A Cappella Choir of San Jose State College and solos by the Santa Rosa Junior College as well as by this college.

State officers for the year have been selected from site college, and their committee has already received letters from several groups who have signified their intention of attending the convention. Invitations are also being extended to members now attending the university.

All chapters of the organization will be presented with their charters at the Treasure Island meeting. Three applications for membership, San Luis Obispo, San Jose State, and one other college, if accepted, will also be given charters.

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, MARCH 8, 1939 No. 8

JOHN JULIUS — EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser — Business Adviser
Joan Nourse — Edward H. Redford

Bill Frantz — Managing Editor
Leonard Gross — News Editor
Ray Berns — Sports Editor
Isadore Maloff — Feature Editor
Dorothy Trood — Women's Editor
Janet Fellows — Club Editor
Sam Galstaun — Staff Photographer
Marion MacKillop — Staff Artist
Allen Martin — Business Manager
Edmund Wunsch — Assistant Business Manager

REPORTERS

Lucretia Antonicelli, Ethan Bernstein, Victoria Candido, Bill Canning, Jacqueline Davis, Janet Fellows, Lois Gipson, Louis Goldstone, Dave Johnson, Frances Manalo, Daniel Rosenblat, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Harold Unterberger, Frank Verducci, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer, they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Guardsman Always First In Use of Novel Features Presents 'Flight of the Starlark'

ALWAYS first in the use of novel features which make enjoyable reading, The Guardsman this week presents its newest addition, "The Flight of the Starlark".

Written by Louis Goldstone, an experienced science-fiction writer, this unique series of articles, or rather chapters in the main story, should prove to be of interest to the Junior College student.

The trip to the moon is deemed "entirely possible" by Goldstone, who spent many hours in technical research for the background of his story.

Critical letters of all types will be appreciated by the author of this newest unique feature of The Guardsman.

The College Student — A Walking Contradiction Of His Own Ideals

WHEN it comes to describing the college man, so many and varied are the paragraphic portrayals that he is at once a mastermind and a dolt, a playboy and a great student. None has so brilliantly painted the picture, says the Wisconsin Daily Cardinal, as Kent State University's dean R. E. Manchester, who sets the man-of-the-campus on his pedestal in the following manner:

"The college man is a living paradox. Most people cannot understand him and those who do come to their conclusions by indirect proof. He talks of the future but worships the past. He is liberal in his conversation but conservative in his action. He is radical in his opinions on politics, but elects stand-patters to the class offices. He demands freedom of thinking but defends with all his strength the traditions of his institutions.

"He preaches democracy yet supports the most rigid campus caste system. He demands that his university maintain the highest athletic standards, yet in the same breath demands a professional football team. He scoffs at his profs, yet defends them strenuously when they are criticized. He rebels against rules but sets up more rigid ones when given the opportunity. He hazes the high-school graduate who comes with a Boy Scout badge on his coat, but he covers his own vest with medals and keys. He invents and uses the most outlandish slang on the street, but reads and writes pure English in his room. He clamors for self-government, but doesn't want it after he gets it. He laughs at convention but insists upon it. He cuts classes the day before a vacation but comes back three days early.

From "What's Doing In The Colleges"
—Ginn and Company

AMS Fights Worthy Of Support; Outstanding College Boxers To Compete

ONCE again the Associated Men's Students are offering an excellent evening's entertainment to all members of the college. We are referring of course to the forthcoming AMS boxing matches.

Scanning the files of past endeavors such as this it is interesting to note that they have always been a success and have left the audience howling for more.

BETTER THAN EVER

There is no reason why such should not be the case again. This semester the AMS boxing championships promise to be even more successful than those held previously. Never before has the college had such a startling array of talent.

Of course, a prerequisite for a successful venture of this type is that the men students of the college turn out in full force and support it. Almost invariably the success or failure of any college activity depends upon the turnout it receives.

ACTIVE ORGANIZATION

The AMS, after having gotten off to a slow start at the beginning of the year, has since proved that it has become a well organized, efficient group, and under the supervision of this organization the "fights" will no doubt please and satisfy all who attend.

Next to intercollegiate athletics, boxing is the most popular sport with men of all ages. This has been proven time and time again by accurate statistics, therefore it is evident that a good percentage of the men of the college are interested in the manly art of self-defense.

FIGHTERS DESERVE SUPPORT

One can never tell; one of those boys in the AMS battles may have the stuff it takes to become a champion some day. Boxing is a tough, hard sport, and it deserves backing. Not many people are willing to have themselves mauled and slugged just for the fun of it. It is to be hoped that the college will give the fellows that stand up there and take it support.

—L. Gross

Prosperity Corner
By Sam Galstaun

1. Who was the first Dutch Governor of New Netherlands?

It might be interesting to mention, if not helpful, that this governor was a typical tyrant, and, indeed, looked like one, for he possessed a wooden leg and one eye.

2. Who was the inventor of the lightning rod?

This famous personage in American history is the founder of the weekly magazine, the Saturday Evening Post, and he is popularly known to have carried a loaf of bread under his arm when he arrived in Philadelphia.

3. Who was the famous writer of English novels who used the pen name of "Boz"?

4. Who is the person credited for the introduction of finger bowls in this country?

Incidentally, this person was one of the notables responsible for the Declaration of Independence, and later became a President of these United States.

5. Who said, "Lips that touch liquor shall never touch mine"?

6. What are the more popular names of the following famous women:

(a) Rebecca Rolfe; (b) Mrs. Arthur Hornblow; (c) Mrs. Raymond Guion; (d) Margaret Fitzpatrick; (e) Mrs. Andre Kostelanetz.

7. To whom did John L. Sullivan lose the heavyweight title in 1897?

8. Who was Queen Boudicea? (Correct spelling: for Boadicea.)

9. Who said, "It's much easier to be critical than to be correct"?

He was a member of Parliament (in England) of Jewish birth. Perhaps a more familiar saying would be helpful. When he was told to cease speaking on the floor of the House, he shouted, "I will sit down now, but the time will come when you will hear me".

10. What is the longest and yet the shortest thing in the world: the swiftest and the most slow; the most divisable and the most extended; the least valued and the most regretted; without which nothing can be done; which devours everything, however small, and yet gives life and spirit to all things, however great?

(Quiz Answers—Page 4, Column 3)

. . . while thinking . . .
By Leonard Gross

FRONT page news last week was the startling announcement that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt submitted her resignation as a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, because of their refusal to permit Marian Anderson, Negro singer, to sing in the Washington, D.C. Constitution Hall, which the D.A.R. owns and manages.

BERKLEYAN RESIGNS

Although in the past, it has been our policy to refrain from discussing the actions of the much publicized first lady, we feel that this incident is deserving of mention, especially since one of the prominent women of the bay area also resigned for the same reason. Dr. Elsie Mitchell, a resident of Berkeley remarked that she did not desire to be affiliated with an organization that was so narrow minded and biased.

"I do not care to belong to a society that violates any of the principles I cherish, chief among them being no race prejudice," Dr. Mitchell said.

The attitude adopted by the D.A.R. is surprising to say the least. One would think that an organization with so patriotic a name would be everlastingly pledged to the tenets of democracy. Evidently such is not the case.

D.A.R. DEFINITELY SNOBBISH

We are inclined to believe that their actions are due to a sense of superiority over the celebrated Negro singer. In other words, they considered themselves too snobbish to be mentioned in the same breath with a person of a different color.

Racial prejudice is a rotten and disgusting thing in any country, and although it is to be expected in some foreign nations, it should not rear its ugly head in the United States. There can be no possible excuse for such actions. Race, color, or religion should not make a particle of difference in evaluating human beings, and if the person in question has talent, the world should not be deprived of the privilege of seeing or hearing it.

Religious intolerance is just another way of denoting ignorance, and although the illustrious and saintly D.A.R. may feel that they had to save their good name for the sake of Washington society, it is our opinion that the rest of this country will in the future scorn any mention of their name, which is a just reward for any organization that masks its true colors under the guise of Americanism.

Presidential Notes
By Frank Verducci

FRIDAY, March 10, that is this coming Friday, should be a red letter day for college activities. In the afternoon the interclass track meet is to be held at Kezar Stadium, and that evening at the Verdi Club, Potrero Avenue and Mariposa Street, the Men's Club thrill-packed boxing bouts will be staged.

Promoter Dave Johnson says, "We want a big crowd and just because it is a men's activity doesn't mean that coeds should stay away. Every body with a student body card is invited to attend."

Getting to the track meet that afternoon the High Soph's will have a stupendous aggregation led by the diminutive Floyd Lawrence, who said "We expect this to be a great occasion, therefore hope to establish a tradition which will be perpetuated thruout the life of the college. This college as yet has not had any class friction, and it is hoped that this Track Meet will be the foundation which will establish class friction which will gradually foster and build the spirit which is now lacking." This should serve as a challenge to the other classes to attempt to clash the High Soph's in the meet.

Many times we have heard students remark that because we have no centrally located campus, and because we must travel from one portion of the city to another we call unfortunate. However, after visiting one of our neighboring Junior Colleges we are inclined to believe that we are just a bit luckier than the students of that college. For example, the auditorium which is the scene of the other college's rallies, is very small, so small that a person standing on the stage can reach out and practically touch the people in the front row.

Here, however, we have a wonderful auditorium at our disposal on a par with some of our best theaters. The other school's dances are held in their gymnasium, while our dances are held in the St. Francis, Veterans' War Memorial Building, and other prominent places. The school paper is about the size of one of our text books while ours is—well you know how good ours is. (Plug)

Fashions At Tea
By Marion MacKillop

RAM'S HORN
Ruffians Slammed As Jay Wright And Fellows Fells

● GET OUT OF TOWN!
Editor, The Guardsman:

In the account of a recent murder in Los Angeles, the daily newspapers state, "The principal of the school had sent out students armed with iron pipe to drive away perverts infesting the campus."

Fortunately, we do not have any of those creatures at our institution, but I recommend the same procedure for getting rid of the evil we do have—those loud monthed, publicity seeking, uncouth individuals whose sole purpose at college is to give it and its students an unsavory reputation through whatever means they have.

Last week's editorial prompting the judicial committee to deal with these persons who disturb rallies, let air out of tires, and generally commit mayhem was a fine attempt on your part of getting something done about this deplorable matter.

But it seems that the judicial committee's only function is to take away a student body card per semester, from some timid soul who meant no harm. The committee seems to be purposely avoiding the big offenders chiefly because these violators have too much influence.

Will we, the ones who are here for some purpose other than committing mayhem, have to resort to the use of iron pipes, or is the judicial committee going to come out of its lethargy?

J. C. Male

● SUGGESTS TWO COLUMNS
Editor, The Guardsman:

They tell me that the essence of journalism is to reflect every phase of life in the community that the newspaper represents. Is The Guardsman doing this? Why does The Guardsman not have a column reviewing the dance orchestras and movies in town?

This 'classical versus swing' feud that is taking place on our eighteen campuses, through The Ram's Horn, seems to be pleading for a such a column. If The Guardsman would have a column devoted to the lighter amusements it might satisfy the seemingly suppressed desires of those jitterbugs who have been airing their wounds in this column. It seems to me that there is room, yes, even NEED in this college for this type of column in our weekly paper.

If John Ward, in his After Dark, would make no mention of swing (not even for extra space) and would devote himself entirely to giving the opera house lovers what they want, and another column would devote itself entirely to swing and forget classical music even exists, everyone should be happy.

Then there would be room in The Ram's Horn for something else besides this now-tiresome argument. If there is not room for another column I am sure that Ward would be magnanimous enough to give up part of his space in order to satisfy 'the other half'. Until there is such a column as I have suggested The Guardsman will remain a far cry from TRUE JOURNALISM.

As for that notorious feud, I am only

An Innocent Bystander,
Janet Fellows

● READ CAREFULLY, PLEASE!
Editor, the Guardsman:

My letters should not be difficult to understand (even for you Mr. Toscanini). I DID SAY THAT I DON'T LIKE CLASSICAL MUSIC! I said that classical music has its place and should be kept there. The same goes for popular music.

I also DID NOT say that good music is judged by popularity. I said that there are more people who enjoy popular music than people who enjoy the classical type. The reason for this is, that to enjoy and to understand the most classical music, one needs more background and knowledge of music than most people have.

Popular music is usually made up of a simple tune and lyrics in English. Therefore, the great majority goes for the popular type. It is human nature to shy away from things that are not understandable.

I have one thing more to say to Mr. Toscanini and your Mr. Ward—oops, I mean Mr. Stokowski.

Will you please read my letters over until you are sure you understand them before you sit down and proceed to twist and distort my statements into something entirely different from the meaning I had in mind.

Sincerely yours,
Jay Wright

Cabbages & Kings
By Blue Pencil Bill

KEN PASQUALLETTE, the winner of the Whiskerino, has the finest collection of military music we have ever seen. His music library contains more than two hundred recordings.

• • •

WHO WOULDN'T BE?

Here's one passed on to us by Jack Bruton of the U.S.F. "Foghorn".

"Did my father leave an order with you for some wood?"

"I don't know, Miss. A man named Zell ordered some wood."

"Yes, that's right. I'm Gladys Zell."

"What?"

"I'm Gladys Zell."

"Oh, yes, of course. So am I."

• • •

DATES FOR RENT

"Dusty" Rhode has just turned a disadvantage into a paying proposition. The poor lad was disappointed in love and couldn't go to the High Frosh Jig. He wanted to attend the dance so badly.

Some time later, he discovered that several nice looking femmes in the college desired a date for the High Frosh dance also, but no one asked them. Dusty closed his eyes and imagined himself dancing with any one of these undated good-lookers—then lightning struck—Dusty was going to alleviate the pain, sorrow, and disappointment which accompanies the feeling of being unwanted.

Yes, he would start a date bureau, an escort service, no bums allowed. One could choose a date by means of the photographs on file, and pay a nominal fee to cover the cost of photographs and clerical work.

He didn't waste any time. Already he has a nucleus of the dates and his phone number is BA 8833.

This is an unpaid political advertisement.

• • •

At the EX-council meeting last week, Dean Browne announced that the Club Advisory Board is now under a stable head. We wonder if he could mean "Horseface" Hoffman.

• • •

ABOUT TONY GALENTO

Dave Johnson, Men's Club prexy, stalked into Joe Amori's boxing class last week to look over the prospects for the AMS championships Friday night. The first thing he saw as he came into the doorway was a short, stocky, hairy fellow murdering a punching bag—and he'd by d——d if it wasn't Tony Galento.

Dave closed his eyes and backed away. Then he looked around and recognized one of the other boxers and asked him who the stocky battler is. The lad answered, "You mean Tony Galento?" And Dave went berserk.

When he came to, the young man in question was facing him and consented to be interviewed. His name is Chris Gargaetas, is five feet, eight inches tall, weighs 215 pounds, and is a dead ringer for "Two Ton Tony" except that he has hair on his head and is modest.

• • •

Those-Who-Want-Their-Names-In-Print-Department:

BETTY MYRTICE SMITH
PHILLIP CORIN

• • •

FREE AD

San Francisco State College is not limited to die-hard athletes. Over there a group of bright, business-like buddies publish a humor magazine named "The Chaser", featuring George Petty, assorted humor and doo-dads this issue. It can be purchased at the Powell Street book store for fifteen centavos.

In the next issue, S.F.J.C. will be featured and some of the better looking girls of the college will pose for the style pictures. Watch for it!

AFTER DARK
By John Ward

ON our preferred list of new books is Gertrude Stein's volume on Pablo Picasso, the contemporary Spanish painter. For once Miss Stein's exasperating prose is inteligible and her ideas refeshing and really vital. She has known Picasso since he was a beginner in the Paris of the late 90's, and she was among the first to buy some of his paintings. Certainly Miss Stein is in a position emotionally if not rationally, to explain a bit about both Picasso's art and his life.

The high point of the book, however, lies in the many illustrations. Always there is something exciting about a well-illustrated book and this Picasso volume is beautifully profuse with its color plates and prints. On the whole the painting chosen for reproduction are either pertinent towards an understanding of Picasso's development or they are impressive proof that Picasso is far and away one of the most important artists alive today.

As in too many instances Miss Stein's book is a bit on the expensive side, but that is usually the case with all fine printing jobs.

• • •

SPLENDID GOYA EXHIBIT

A show of Rembrandt etchings is on exhibit at the de Young museum and should be of the greatest interest to art connoisseurs. All of which reminds us that the Palace of the Legion of Honor owns a set of the Goya "Disasters of War". It seems to us that not only is the time right for the display what with the Spanish affair nearing its end and the whole European situation so murky and unstable) but there is need of a good, substantial exhibit—the which S. F. does not have now (apart from the G.G.I.E. show). Certainly the Goya etchings would splendidly submit the food for contemplation that the permanent display of non-entities affords.

FINE ART DISPLAY

San Francisco has suddenly produced a fine batch of painting-on-display. After too long a period of artistics drouth (as far as the local galleries are concerned) this current sign of life is very encouraging. At Courvoisier's Geary street gallery, there is a nice show of paintings by Raoul Dufy the amusing and always lively French modern. Also there is an early Picasso (for sale at the modest sum of $2,500; who said art was for the masses?)

An extraordinary Breughal—the Tower of Babel—is on show at the Palace of the Legion of Honor. But why, why does the Palace of Honor have to be so difficult of access to those who do not have either the time or inclination to hike. Still, as one art enthusiast exclaimed, a Breughal is so rare an event and so important that it is worth a whole day's walking. But this is 1939 and progress or civilization or what-ever-you-call-it has the knack of making softies of sedentary souls.

Sartorial Modes • • • •
By Fashion Fanny

LAPEL gadgets, necklaces and bracelets of queer shapes and forms are still the fashion, and upon investigation we found that Martha Sleeper, "The Gadget Girl" would rather makes these pin and clips than star in moving pictures.

If decoy ducks and bubbling fish and grinning Congo masks have replaced sweet violets and pansies as proper adornment for ladies, it is all due to some crazy game the Sleeper "kids" played on rainy days.

Miss Sleeper grew into what advertisements promise, a healthy, beautiful young woman with perfect teeth, a winning smile and when Hollywood saw her, it jumped upon her with a contract. Her roles in moving pictures were usually that of a spoiled society beauty who held her man until some sweet thing came along.

TARANTULAS

She continued to make bugs and pins for her own costumes, and when she appeared one day on the beach with tarantulas marching in a row down her linen suit, people immediately wanted to know where they could get some. She carved by hand wooden decoy ducks three inches across and wore them on the lapel of her tailored suit. Again, "Where can I get some for my suit?" And that's when Martha Sleeper decided that maybe thousands of women might like to wear her gadgets. A friend of hers introduced her to a man who knew practically everyone in New York. He gave her a letter of introduction to a department-store buyer. When she left the store it was with an order for ducks and pineapples, palm trees and tropical fish.

BIG BUSINESS

When she went on tour with a road company, she would visit the local department stores and get orders. Stopping in Pittsburgh between rehearsals, she called on a buyer at the city's leading shop and gave him a sales talk. After she finished, the fellow just sat and mumbled and repeated what he had said, much to her surprise, "I'll take ONE GROSS of each."

Another step towards her famous business was to call on a noted producer of gadget jewelry. He thought it was a silly idea of hers, and told her he'd go to see the next movie she was in. A week later she called him and told him she had a few things to show him and wondered if he could get his associates together. There were one hundred and forty gadgets filling a small trunk and the display lasted from nine that night until one the next morning as Miss Sleeper displayed each one separately on her plain black dress.

SCHOOL SLATES

A necklace of dew-drenched strawberries. A collar of champagne bubbles interspersed with gold swizzle sticks. A comical black Gabriel with a golden trumpet. A necklace of wooden birds. A necklace of little school slates, bound in red with miniature sponges and sticks of white chalk. Magnificent evening clips made like grapes. A bracelet of Navajo silver buttons with a belt to match.

The men selected all but seven of the one hundred and forty gadgets. That was over a year ago. In more than fourteen months, more than two hundred thousand copies have been sold.

THE GUARDSMAN SPORTS

Men—Enter In Inter-Class Track Meet At Kezar Saturday

Women—Root Your Favorites On To Victory In Coming Cinder Event

RAMblings
By RAY BERNS

Two of the outstanding sports events of the semester will take place this week end. One of them, the Associated Men's Student's fights, are definitely an established custom at the college, while the other, the inter-class track meet, will institute a new activity—intramural athletics.

Giving promise of being one of the outstanding showmen in the fights, Hal Von Volkman, former Lowell High guard in 1934, has entered the 169 lb. class.

WEIGHED LITTLE

Von Volkman was a member of the famous Indian line that included Jerry Dowd who gained recognition at St. Mary's and other notables. At the time, Von Volkman weighed but 140 lbs.

The track meet is bound to be a success! Why? Because Floyd Lawrence, high soph prexy, startled yours truly with the following statement on the potency of the high soph aggregation entered in the meet: quote —— unquote.

JUST NOSING AROUND:

Paul Hjort, former Ram centerfielder, is now down at Riverside trying out with the St. Louis Cardinals, while Arnie Banta, former local third-sacker, is in the Brooklyn Dodgers training camp down in Florida.

While glancing over the little item in last week's Guardsman on what the sophomores are planning for sophomore week, we were rather amused to read that there will be a Sadie Hawkins event.

WOMEN CHASE MEN

If we have been correctly informed, the women of the college will be forced to chase the men over the Ingleside hills, and each woman will be forced to catch a man before she will be given a ducat to the jig that same night.

We can just see some of the more delicate, and shall we say, more timid, members of the fair sex in this college chasing after the men. Or can we?

Perhaps the following situation will crop up. The whistle blows. The men are off. Then women are off. They're all off. After seconds and seconds of strenuous chasing, Leaping Lena (any reference to any person, living or deceased, may be taken in any way you like) has cornered five men, all in one tree. Lena is hurriedly scampering up the tree in the approved monkey fashion to grab what she can grab. On the other hand, Petite Pauline, the rose of the valley, has been left at the starting post and is drying her weeping eyes on handkerchief after handkerchief supplied by about five hundred men who got stranded at the starting line with Pauline accidently on purpose. Ain't it awful?

Last semester, those in the know assured those that wanted to know, that Bud Welchers, popular football player, would be the recipient of a cool fifty grand in the near future. Putting on the silent act, Welchers refused to comment on the situation, but while skepticists scoffed and cynics were cynical, the football hero has gone out and bought himself a new car, a phonograph, records, etc. Something must have happened. You guess.

Inter-class Track Meet To Be Held At Kezar Saturday
Blockmen Will Assist Coach Russ Sweet In Running of Meet

With track mentor Russ Sweet on hand and on the lookout for potential varsity material, the college's first inter-class track meet will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, March 11, at Kezar Stadium.

The meet will be supervised by Sweet. He will be assisted by a Block Society contingent under the leadership of Ray Berns, Guardsman Sports Editor.

Sweet and Berns will act as official referees, while the Blockmen will take over the duties of timers, starters, and the like.

All prospective entrants in the meet are requested to report to Sweet, Berns, or to their class presidents at 9:45 a.m. Saturday.

Presidents To Lead

Leading their classes will be Low Freshman president Dave LeBaron; Lee Scarlett, High Frosh prexy; Dan Baker, Low Sophs, and Floyd Lawrence, popular High Sophomore dictator.

As this is the first meet of its kind in the college, all marks established will be set down in the books as records for future participants to try to surpass.

Many Events Scheduled

All the regular track and field events to be found on any track program, with the exception of the two-mile run, will be held, thereby offering the competitors many opportunities to try their skill.

Points will be awarded on a 5-3-2-1 basis, with the first four places earning the points in each event.

Sweet announced that the class winning the meet will have its name engraved on a perpetual trophy, and, if possible, trophies and other awards will be given the winners of the various events.

Because of the fact that the eligibility rules are a bit lax in this meet, any and all may compete.

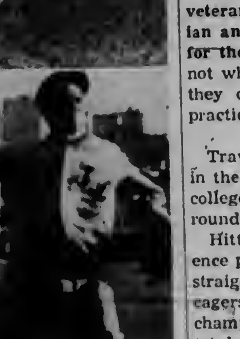
Remember—the place is Kezar Stadium; the time is 10 a.m., the date—this Saturday, March 11.

College Golf Tryouts Friday At Ingleside; Regular Team Considered

Tryouts for the college golf team will be held on the Ingleside golf course Friday, March 10, at 1 o'clock.

All wishing to compete are asked to do so.

To date, the turnout has produced four capable golfers, but according to Coach "Dutch" Conlan, interest has not been exhibited on a satisfactory scale.



Should the tryouts be successful, a regular team will be organized. Assurance by Conlan shows that meets with most northern California colleges will be at hand.

Gaddy's Lads In Horsehide Encounters

Deciding to cut classes because of a severe case of spring fever, Sammy Galstaun, Guardsman photographer, wandered down to Funston Field last week for want of something better to do.

Galstaun had his trusty camera along with him, and when he was sure they weren't looking, The Guardsman camera fiend snapped the above shots of the local baseballers.

In the upper left hand corner, Kent Baird, Ram short-patcher, is shown rounding third in the Mission game, and in the upper right hand corner, a Mission lad is rounding third.

Lower left, Coach Jack Gaddy wears a smile of victory, and lower right, Frank Nilan, local twirler, in action.

Red Rifleers Mangle Stanford Indians By 250 Points In Farm Match

Stepping away from the "big-time" competition, as offered by Stanford University's Varsity Rifle Team, the college Red Riflers continued their victory march by swamping the Indians on March 1, by a margin of more than 250 points, in the match held at the Palo Alto range.

Although the local Red squad had lost only one match preceding the encounter with the Stanford squad, it was generally felt that the Junior College squad was doomed to meet its second defeat. Scores of the match show that the opposite of this was true as the Red Riflers were never in danger during the entire match. In fact, Walter Voigt, fifth highest in scoring for the College, with 361 points, was seven points better than Bill Cameron, high shooter for Stanford.

College Riflemen Superior

Coach Fred McFarland was more than pleased in the results of the match. "It only shows to what heights this team has risen. I have contended all along that our men are superior shots to practically any other college shooters in this section of the country, barring none. Our many victories in winning the Golden Gate Bridge Championships of the San Francisco Rifle Association is proof enough of their ability," McFarland said.

Templeton High Scorer

Art Templeton copped high scoring honors with a total of 375 points to his credit. Following closely on the heels of Templeton was the sharpshooting Humphrey with 370. Charlie North with 368 and Cavagnolo with 364 added to the 361 made by Voigt brought the total to 1838 points.

Ram Netsters Crush Stanford Freshmen

As The Guardsman went to press, a late news flash came in revealing that Tom Wilson's Ram Tennisers defeated Stanford freshman squad, ten matches to two.

Results—Singles

Dee (S) d. Wagner (SF) 6-3, 6-3.
Canning (SF) d. Chapple (S) 6-4, 6-3.
Berns (SF) d. Patterson (S) 6-4, 3-6, 6-1.
Madamba (SF) d. Cahill (S) 8-6, 4-6, 6-3.
Pootsie Kun (SF) d. Neel (S) 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.
Kline (SF) d. Marshall (S) 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.
Christianson (SF) d. Webber (S) 5-7, 6-1, 6-1.
Dodson (SF) d. Brinckerhoff (S) 6-4, 6-3.

Doubles

Wagner-Canning (SF) d. Dee-Chapple (S) 6-2, 2-6, 6-4.
Patterson-Neel (S) d. Berns-Kun (SF) 6-4, 6-4.
Madamba-Kline (SF) d. MacDonald-Walker (S) 6-1, 6-4.
Dodson-Christianson (SF) d. Lane-Holm (S) 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

The Guardsman Presents All-Conference Casaba Five; Product of Sports Staff Master-Minds

The Guardsman presents for your approval (or disapproval) the all-conference basketball team as selected by the sports staff.

First Team		Second Team
Bob Alameida—Marin	f	Willie Blackfield—San Francisco
Tom Lathos—Menlo	f	Jack Harris—San Mateo
Bob Borich—Marin	c	Les Major—San Mateo
Ed Curcio—San Francisco	g	Hal Fischer—San Francisco
Al Opalinski—San Francisco	g	Ernie Allen—Marin

Alameida was a unanimous choice for one forward spot. In addition to being one of the leading scorers of the league, the lanky Mariner is an excellent ball-handler who received his preliminary training with last year's Strom Clothier's team which won the P.A.A. The second forward position, after much deliberation, was given to Lathos over our own Blackfield. Harris of San Mateo who is a repeat from last year eked out his team-mate Hal Marten for the last spot.

Borich of Marin and Opalinski, Ram ace, stood head and shoulders above the rest of the field in the pivot position.

After due consideration, it was decided that Borich, a potent scoring threat and a rugged lad would fit in best at the center spot, while Opalinski, one of the best players ever to don the red and white of San Francisco, was regarded as being capable of playing any position, and consequently, was placed at guard.

Because of his defensive ability, Les Major, 6 ft., 6 in. San Mateo star, was chosen over Ted Needham of Menlo for the center position on the second team.

"Big Ed" Curcio, San Francisco's high-scoring guard, was along with Alameida, a unanimous choice for his position.

Ernie Allen, Marin's colored flash, and Hal Fischer, lanky Ram rebound artist and defensive star, overshadowed all others when it came to picking guards for the second team.

WOMEN'S SPORTS PARADE
By FRANCES MANALO

Moonlight riding and picnicking at Lake Merced are the plans of the Riding Club for Saturday, March 11.

Invitation to attend is extended to every member of the college, but they are asked to see Laurine Bergin, adviser, or Dorothy Woods, manager to make arrangements for the horses.

Starting at 6:00 o'clock in the evening, the club will make its way around Lake Merced and then picnic there. Everyone is to bring her own lunch.

• • •

As a result of the meeting of advisers and presidents of the WAA, the Pacific Coast junior colleges have planned a schedule of sports days.

The colleges that met were Santa Rosa Junior College, San Mateo Junior College, Marin Junior College, San Francisco State, and San Francisco Junior College.

Planning of women's sports calendars took place so as not to conflict the days among the colleges. It was decided that the main California sectional sports days be held annually every spring.

The college will have a sectional sports day this semester, and this is to be the play day on Treasure Island.

In 1940, Santa Rosa will be hostess; in 1941, San Mateo; 1942, San Francisco State; 1943, Marin; 1944, San Jose Junior College, and in 1945, it will be the college's turn again.

• • •

Tentatively set for March 24, the Swimming Carnival is promising to be a big event.

It is to be held at the Y.M.C.A. on Golden Gate Ave., and there is to be an exhibition match of water polo.

Rumors that this semester's carnival will exceed that of last semester will be fulfilled.

Faculty against students will be the big game of the semester for the WAA basketball team. Hoping to hold their victory again this semester, the team will meet the women faculty on March 15. Last spring the students won by the slim margin of one point, and this time guarantee a great victory for them.

Close Shave For College Baseballers In 7-7 Tie With Mission Team

Jack Gaddy's Rampaging Rams had a narrow squeak at the hands of a classy Mission High nine, scraping up just enough runs to get off with a 7-7 tie in eight innings of baseball played on Funston Field last Wednesday. Originally scheduled for seven frames, the extra inning was played in semi-darkness in order to break the existing tie.

Except for a bad third inning in which the Bears banged out six hits and tallied five runs, Ram pitcher Frankie Nilan was in complete command allowing but two scattered bingles in the last five cantos.

Hernandez, Mission twirler, pitched a good ball until the seventh inning when he walked three batters and allowed a basehit which drove in the tying run.

Callagy, first sacker and Peroni, centerfielder, led the Mission attack.

Callagy banged out a homerun in the first inning and got a single in three trips to the dish. Peroni nudged out three hits as his part of the Bear offense.

Friedkin with a triple to his credit and McMahon who was on base all day long, starred for the Gaddymen.

Rams Defeat Lions 14-13 In Overtime Affair

Hits, runs and errors galore, coupled with screwy, unpredictable and indescribable 'baseball' featured the 14-13, 10 inning victory of the Ram horsehiders over Ras Johnson's Galileo Lion nine at Funston Field last week.

Frankie Nilan, starting junior collegian hurler, was shelled from the hilltop in the third inning after Galileo had gotten to him for seven runs.

Bill Leahy, Bill Rufus and Charley Christensen followed Nilan in that order but were unable to stop the continuous barrage of basehits.

Cresei, Paolucci and Carlico did mound duty for the Galileans.

The only bright spots in the long drawn out fracas were the home runs of Galileo's second baseman, Virgil Biunda and Ram centerfielder Bill Daneri.

WAA Celebrates Sports Day On Treasure Island, April 1; Many Other Colleges To Participate

April 1 will be the WAA Sports Day to be held on Treasure Island, according to Dorothy Sanderson, president of that group.

Invitations to participate in the sports day will be sent to ten northern California junior colleges: Placer Junior College, Menlo Junior College, Fresno Junior College, San Benito Junior College, Marin Junior College, Yuba J.C., Modesto J.C., Sacramento J.C., Salinas J.C., San Jose J.C., San Luis Obispo J.C., San Mateo J.C., Santa Rosa J.C., Stockton J.C., and Lassen J.C.

Ten members of each college will attend the sports days, making a total of a hundred invited persons.

The committees for the preparation of this day are: general chairman and toastmistress, Kay Lloyd; program chairman, Alma Koopman; luncheon, Thursa Scott; registration, Lucille Jacke; rules and regulations, Marion Dicke; invitations, Gloria Miller; hostess, Murial Girnelle; publicity, Polly Trenk; decorations, Frances Chin; transportation, Annette Schnick; equipment, Dorothy Nelson; entertainment, Margaret Meader, and rearrangements, Louise Dunn and Madalene Holmer.

Under the advisership of Vera Spencer, the WAA officers and committee chairmen are furthering their plans for this day. The sports that are to take place are still undecided.

Curcio, Opalinski Top Local Scorers As Season Ends
Rams Lose Title By Virtue of Two Losses To Marin

With the final curtain ringing down on the 1939 basketball season, Ram supporters can look on a season mingled with success and disappointment.

At the opening call, a host of veterans greeted Coach Dutch Conlan and a bright future was forecast for the Rams. However, the lads did not whip into shape as expected and they dropped eight of their twelve practice tilts.

Reach Semi-Finals

Travelling to Modesto to compete in the junior college tournament, the college quintet reached the semi-final round before bowing out to Modesto.

Hitting their stride as the conference play opened, the Rams won four straight victories. Meeting the Marin cagers in what proved to be the championship series, the local quintet dropped two close decisions. These defeats dropped the Rams into second spot in the conference standings and removed all hopes of a championship for the college, as Marin went on to win their remaining games and the title. Battling for second place in the standings, the Rams conquered San Mateo and Salinas in easy fashion to bring the season to a close.

Big Ed Curcio and Alex Opalinski proved the outstanding players on the Ram squad as they combined excellent team play with splendid individual performances.

Curcio Tops

Curcio, who ranks as the best guard in the league, won individual scoring honors for the season as he garnered 79 field goals and 40 charity tosses for a total of 198 points. Opalinski followed closely with 184 points, while Willie Blackfield rung up 133 markers.

In the conference play, Opalinski copped scoring honors with 105 points compared to 101 points by Curcio. "Big Ed" also led the team in the personal foul column as he committed 47 infractions during the season's play. Hal Fisher, steady rebound artist, was close behind with 40 fouls.

A peculiar record was hung up by George Bedrosian when his statistics for the practice games were exactly the same as those for the conference tilts.

Not one of the players on the present squad will return for action next year and Conlan will be hard pressed for talent. Unless an outstanding crop of freshmen enroll in the college next term, the Ram basketball stock is apt to fall.

Final conference standings:

	Won	Lost
1. Marin	9	1
2. San Francisco	8	2
3 San Mateo	6	4
4. Santa Rosa	4	6
5. Menlo	3	7
6. Salinas	0	10

Conference Scoring

Player	Games	Pts.	FG	FT	PF
Albrecht	7	4	1	2	7
Nicco	9	46	21	4	7
Blackfield	10	82	35	12	22
Burrowes	9	4	2	0	4
Opalinski	10	105	43	19	14
Wolf	10	27	12	3	10
Fischer	10	34	13	8	21
Bedrosian	10	34	13	8	11
Curcio	10	101	40	21	23
Manov	4	4	1	2	2
Pauli	3	2	0	1	1
Rouspil	3	0	0	0	5
LeBaron	1	0	0	0	0

Season Scoring Records

Player	Games	Pts.	FG	FT	PF
Albrecht	16	25	11	3	9
Nicco	16	68	30	8	14
Blackfield	21	133	56	21	38
Burrowes	18	10	5	0	8
Opalinski	20	184	72	40	25
Wolf	20	44	20	4	21
Fischer	21	96	35	26	40
Bedrosian	20	68	26	16	17
Curcio	21	198	79	40	47
Manov	11	13	5	3	9
Pauli	8	6	2	1	3
Rouspil	14	21	8	5	24
LeBaron	5	15	7	1	6

FG—Field Goals
FT—Free Throws
PF—Personal Fouls

RAM chops
By BILL CANNING

In pouring over the pages of last week's Guardsman, we are deeply moved at the potential plight of co-promoters Joe Amori and Davis Johnson anent the forthcoming Men's Club Fight program, and as it so seriously concerns Amori and Johnson, its attendance in round figures.

The story, (reading time: 3 minutes, 08 seconds) would indicate that that above partnership forming the brain-trust corporation of the semi-annual mitt slinging rodeo weeps copious tears these days because its respective principals fear no shortage of empty seats this Friday evening, when the Ram leather-merchants begin slapping each other around the Verdi Club's regulation squared circle.

COMPLEXES ABSENT

If Emily Post has posted any posters on how promoters should behave, Messers. Johnson and Amori would read that inferiority complexes among and within this sporting, enterprising gentry are conspicuous by their absences.

We boast no reputation for ability to render advice to the needy, but at the same time confidence is ours as we hereby donate a tip, gratis and with heartfelt wishes, to our famed promoters.

Invite the ladies, Joe and Dave! Tell them to come and bring their girl friends. Guys have dates on Friday evenings, and are loathe to bring their dates to the fights because there are few dates at the fights.

(Author's note: We have contacted Amori and Johnson on the topic meanwhile. Now read on.)

FRIDAY NIGHT IS LADIES NIGHT AT THE MEN'S CLUB FIGHTS!

• • •

COLLEGE HAS BACKGROUND

All of which, for no reason whatsoever, recalls the fact that the college, athletically speaking, forms the educational background for two types of Ram citizens.

These types are like political parties. They are "I'LL-BE-THERES" and the "WHAT-THE-HELLS". For your benefit, and even if you don't figure its for your benefit, we'll proceed to enumerate on the peculiarities, habitats and attitudes of these respective groups.

"I'LL-BE-THERES": This is the collection, unfortunately in the minority, of loyal, fun loving Ram students who support everything in the way of an activity staged by the college. Not so unfortunate, however, is the presence among this group of practically every student leader and officer in the institution.

IN ON EVERYTHING

The I'll-be-theres are in on everything. They back the excursions to other campi and follow the Ram teams in every sport ardently. Comment: Orchids.

"WHAT-THE-HELLS": This group of which about one to two of every ten students in the college are enrolled, knows little of what's going on, cares less. They are the people who condemn everything, praise nothing lest it be themselves.

These are the people, furthermore, who are the first to boast of any victory or commendable feat performed by the college, and do so in a manner that would indicate that they actually had something to do with the successful episode.

The "What-the-hells", in general, are a despicable lot, and have managed to render themselves very superfluous to the welfare of the college. Comment: Scallions.

What party do you belong to—"Ill-be-there," or "what-the-hell."

Well, even if it doesn't mean anything much, thanks a lot for reading it, Pal!

Hart Takes Second Place In Figure Skating Meet; Enters State Finals

Despite the fact that he had never before skated in competition, William Hart, low freshman student, by reason of some exceptional, fancy-trick skating, captured second place in the novice class of the Pacific Coast Amateur Figure Skating Championships held in Los Angeles last week.

Although he is but 18 years of age, Hart has been ice skating for some four years now and is reported to be an excellent prospect for future years. It is significant to note that this is Hart's first time in competition and yet he was able to take second place honors from a large field of expert skaters.

Fair Science Bldg. Favored By Many, Poll Discovers

"It's a great fair."

That was the opinion of more than two-thirds of the students of the college asked the question, "Were you disappointed when you went to the fair" Lack of completion was the primary cause for the vague disapproval of the remaining third.

Choices of the most popular single features were characteristic. For the men, the Science building held a heavy lead, approached only by the Telephone exhibit and the Palace of Fine Arts.

With the women, choices were somewhat different. For them, the vari-colored lighting effects were the finest feature of the entire exposition. The already world famous statue of Pacifica was the second choice, and the Hall of Science third.

In general, compiling votes of both men and women, the most popular features are the Hall of Science with its multitude of individual exhibits, the beautiful lighting effects, the Palace of Fine Arts with its magnificent collection of world renowned old masters, the Telephone exhibit, and that Mecca of candid camera fans, the impressive statue of Pacifica.

For its next poll The Guardsman asks for student reaction to the recent Block Society policing campaign. Fill in the following ballot and leave it in the Guardsman box.

Do you think the Block Society policing campaign was a success? If not, what do you think was its main fault?

Success..... Failure.....

.....

.....

.....

Junior College Association Will Convene This Month

In a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Northern California Junior College Association it was decided to hold the spring conference on March 25, at the Stockton Junior College and College of Pacific.

Professor Alvin Eurich of Stanford University will present the formal discussion of the topic: The Development of Social Competence Through a Curriculum of General Education in the Junior College.

All faculty members are encouraged to attend as the committee has outlined a very enjoyable program.

University of Chicago Announces Offer of Yearly Business Scholarships

Honor scholarships of $100 a quarter for one year are being offered by the School of Business of the University of Chicago to one or two outstanding graduates of junior colleges throughout the country who plan to continue their education in business.

A number of half scholarships are also available.

The awards are to be based upon the merits of the student as judged by a committee from the evidence consisting of scholastic ability, extra-curricular activities, and intellectual capacity submitted by the candidates.

Quarterly renewal of the scholarships will rest upon the individual's maintenance of a satisfactory scholastic standing.

It is stipulated that it is not necessary for students to have majored in business subjects in junior college. Preference is given those candidates that have extended their work in junior college to a broad, general education.

Applications for recommendation should be in the hands of F. Grant Marsh, Business director, not later than March 13.

At present, the college is represented in Chicago by David Mooney, a graduate of '37. Reports from time to time indicate that Mooney is doing highly satisfactory work.

President Cloud To Return To City By Friday; Announces Successful Trip

From a telegram received recently by Edna Denhard, of President A. J. Cloud's office, President Cloud reports that his trip to various Eastern cities has come to a pleasant close and that he intends being on duty at his desk tomorrow or Friday.

President Cloud has been attending the convention of The American Association of Junior Colleges at Grand Rapids, Missouri and the meeting of the National Education Association at Cleveland, Ohio.

Having concluded his business at these meetings, President Cloud has been visiting Chicago, New York and other eastern cities to compare the way junior colleges are run in that section of the country with the procedure on the Pacific Coast.

President Cloud is returning to San Francisco through the scenic Canadian Rockies and writes that he is anxious once more to "assume my duties at the best of the junior colleges" and "to see our own World's Fair for the first time."

CLUB SCHEDULE

NAME	Type of Meeting	TIME	PLACE
*Alpha Delta Epsilon	No plans
Alpha Gamma Sigma	Business	March 9, 2:30	Galileo
Alpha Phi Omega	Business	March 14, 8 p.m.	3622 Baker Street
Army-Navy	Business	March 8, 2:10 p.m.	Galileo, Room 205
Astronomy	Business	March 13, 7 p.m.	Galileo Observatory
Beta Phi	No plans
Block S. F.	No plans
Beta Tau	No plans
*Chess	Match	March 10, 7:30 p.m.	Indefinite
Chinese	No plans
Forestry	No plans
*Forum	Discussion	March 10	Indefinite
French	Discussion	March 16, 7:36 p.m.	Indefinite
George Washington	Business	March 15, 2:15 p.m.	Galileo 202
Home Econ. Ass'n	Business	March 8, 2:15 p.m.	Galileo, Room 317
Hotel-Restaurant	Social	March 17	Indefinite
*Italian	Discussion	March 8, 8 p.m.	1945 Mason Street
Iota Chi	No plans
Japanese Students	Business	March 15, 8 p.m.	Sturges Memorial Hall
*Lambda Chi	Business	March 9, 8 p.m.	Western Women's Club
Music	Business	March 16, 7:30 p.m.	2269 Francisco Street
Newman	Business	March 20	St. Mary's Cathedral
*Nathaniel Bennett	No plans
*Omicron Phi Pi	Business	March 10, 7:30 p.m.	554-30th Street
*Peace Society	No plans
*Phi Alpha Omega	Business	March 13, 8 p.m.	2701 Rawson St., Oakland
*Phi Rho Pi	No plans
Phi Beta Rho	Init.—Dinner-Dance	March 30	Palace Hotel
Phys. Ed. Majors	Business	March 15, 1:30 p.m.	Galileo Cafeteria
Pi Mu Gamma	Basketball game	March 9, 8 p.m.	Salvation Army Court
Pick & Hammer	Business	March 13, 8 p.m.	170 Lunado Court
*Radio Engineers	No plans
Rifle & Pistol	Business	March 10, 4 p.m.	Rifle Range
*Sigma Delta Chi	No plans
Tarbuth	Social	March 12, 8 p.m.	309 Pace Street
Tri Epsilon	Basketball Game	March 8, 8 p.m.	Aptos Junior High
Women's Service Society	Business	March 13, 4:30 p.m.	Galileo 200

*Denotes unchartered clubs

Flight Of The Starlark

Reported By Louis Goldstone

(CHAPTER ONE)

A PROBING finger of light flickered momentarily across the silvery prow, blazed back from the massive indented letters that spelled: STARLARK.

Scores of other beams fluttered restlessly, converging on the huge cylinder; filtering through the maze of scaffolding that surrounded the hundred foot hull. Arc-lights crackled and fumed, and sweating newscasters ransacked their brains for adjectives.

Outside the mad ares of frantic confusion, the crowd was massed in all directions as far as the eye could see. People . . . fifty, a hundred thousand of them . . . waiting, hushed and expectant, with five hundred special cops to keep them roped off from the area of activity . . . and the STARLARK.

Starlark Off To Moon!

It rose up in the very midst of that insane jumble. A long, gently tapering monster of dural and carbon-steel. It stood poised, seemingly eager to shake loose from its massed supports and hurtle into the cool desert night. THE STARLARK'S base, studded with banks of rocket tubes, was hidden . . . sunk deep in a gaping concrete-lined pit . . . but the bullet-like nose, a hundred feet in the air, mirrored the rays of Orion.

The siren in a high tower began to shriek with nerve-wracking monotony. The vast mob sucked in its breath and then cut loose with a yell that rocked the earth and shattered the skies. People surged forward, only to be repulsed by the iron ring of police. Necks were craned, children lifted to parent's shoulders. The cops risked life and limb by turning their backs on the milling throng to watch the greatest adventure in human history. The beleaguered newscasters kept on babbling . . .

". . . World-wide attention is focused on this epoch making . . .

Undoubtedly, the STARLARK's voyage represents the most daring attempt . . .

". . . and this beautiful machine, costing twenty-million dollars . . .

". . . Intrepid explorers of the unknown . . .

Three roughly dressed figures, unimpressive in the revealing blaze of floodlights, dwarfed into insignificance by the towering monster above them, climbed over the pit's edge, and waving to the multitude, which thundered anew in reply, mounted a short causeway leading to the STARLARK's main port.

"Lewis, Semming and Franck are entering the STARLARK now . . . there they go, no, they're stopping at the port . . . they're waving . . . and listen to that crowd!!!!

"Interplanetary travel . . . the dream of mankind since the beginning of time . . . about to be realized . . .

"The amazing speed of 25,000 miles per hour, which the STARLARK must attain to escape Earth's gravity . . . it is estimated . . .

". . . will be the first men to reach the Moon! If they succeed, their names will go down in history . . .

Forty seconds to go . . . 20 seconds . . . Silence descended like a shroud. Thousands of white faces gleaming in the dark. Thousands of bodies suddenly and strangely chilled in the night air. And the STARLARK . . . a monster silver bullet in the flare of the lights.

Ten seconds . . .

A muffled cadence, low almost beyond hearing, trembled in the ground. Strident raspings from the now redly glowing pit . . . now a thunderous hiss as the oxy-hydrogen fuel spurted into the firing chamber . . . and an all-consuming gout of white flame . . .

Those few present who were not blinded by the awful glare, those who were not buried unconscious in the ground by the stunning concussion, saw the STARLARK depart.

They saw it mount, at an ever increasing velocity, trailing a pillar of fire and sparks. They followed it for ten seconds until it vanished, a burning ember against the black sky.

If ever a shot was "heard 'round the world", it was the blast of the STARLARK'S stern tubes as she roared skyward from a California desert.

"STARLARK" OFF TO MOON!
Spacecraft Leaves From Mojave
In First Interplanetary Try!

Every telescope on Earth followed it continuously during the most eventful fifty hours in history.

THE CONQUEST OF SPACE!
Explorers Pilot "Starlark
On Earth-Moon Voyage
The world talked of nothing else . . .
MOON FLIGHT BEGINS!

And at a distance of 45,000 miles from Earth's surface, the STARLARK, its rocket tubes flaming soundlessly in the envelopping nothingness, fled, phantomlike, into the maw of eternity . . . Continued next week

Block SF Society Short Of Funds; Rumored No Dance This Semester

Shortage of funds this semester may result in changing the traditional college dance sponsored by the Block SF Society into some less expensive and pretentious affair, announced Mel Peterson, group president.

Exgensive damages to the Galileo building during the course of a club dance last semester has made impossible the evening use of the gym for future affairs of the same nature. This deprives the society of excellent facilities formerly enjoyed and contributing so much to the success of the affairs, and will make necessary the hiring of a hall if a dance is to be held.

"Funds at the disposal of the society for social purposes are rather limited, and while they assure some type of entertainment, unless suitable and inexpensive dancing facilities can be obtained the dance will have to be canceled," said Peterson.

Block dances in the past have been notable successes, and the canceling of the dance this semester will rob the social calendar of an outstanding event. Last semester's colorful "suppressed desire" dance on Armistice Day afforded many college students the opportunity to practice for the fiesta spirit by dressing in keeping with their long-suppressed wishes.

A Cappella Choir To Sing For Explorer's Club Tonight At Sir Francis Drake

Members of the A Cappella Choir will sing for the Explorer's Club at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel, tonight, March 8, according to Flossita Badger, choir director.

Representing the choir will be Patricia Keefer and Bob Scott, popular duo, and the male quartet composed of Bill Jackman, Arnold Chapin, Bob Scott, and Everett Wallace.

The group will offer a number of songs among which will be La Ci Darem La Mano, from Don Giovanni by Mozart; Thine Alone from Victor Herbert's Eileen; Shortenin' Bread; Long, Long Ago, and Old Man Noah.

Miss Badger also announced that the choir will be presented as a special feature of the AWS Fashion Tea, March 14.

Miss Jo Chapman is the basketball coach of the Martin College Varsity.

CALIFORNIA SPORTS SHIRT $5

YOU DON'T HAVE TO WEAR A SCARF AND YOU DON'T HAVE TO WEAR A NECKTIE... BUT THAT'S THE WAY ESQUIRE SHOWED THIS POPULAR ROOS SPORTS SHIRT. TAILORED OF WORSTED AND RAYON GABARDINE... IN MAROON, NAVY BLUE, TAN OR GREEN

ROOS BROS
MARKET AT STOCKTON

Library Browsing

Among the library's magazines we have read this week we have again chosen the material that we think is outstanding.

Listed among the movies that the public should see this month the Motion Picture Review Digest recommends Pygmalion. It has been highly acclaimed by all the critics as rich entertainment, splendid acting, mature, subtly amusing, and clever adaptation by the movies from Shaw's play.

Covering this week's foreign affairs the February 22, 1939 issue of The New Republic offers the timely editorial, Popes and Politics. In the same issue The Betrayal of the Refugees, written by a Frenchman and based on the fate of the earlier refugees, gives the prophecy of what may happen to those Spaniards who have fled across the French border.

In the Monthly Labor Review, January, 1939, one of our important labor problems, Labor Mobility and Relief, is studied and discussed with understanding. In the same issue Basic Problems of the National Economy is interestingly presented, and also Medical Aid Under Workmen's Compensation Laws provides pleasant and informative diversion.

For those who have not discovered how to use the college library we have prepared a list of subjects and the class number under which these subjects are shelved.

Arts, Fine	700
Arts, Useful	600
Biography	900
Economics	300
Literature	800
Natural Sciences	500
Philosophy and Psychology	100
Phylology	400

Books numbered from 100 to 370 are in the downstairs lobby of the Extension building; fiction and novels are also in this lobby. Books numbered from 320 to 980 are located in the book store upstairs. Old issues of magazines, reference books, and encyclopedias are in the college study on the seventh floor of the P.G. and E. Building. Latest issues of periodicals are in the reserve book room in the Powell Street building, and here, also, are the books that have been reserved for special classes.

Membership of Club Advisory Board Raised To 30 With Approval of Six New Charters At Meeting Last Week

Approval of six petitions for charters at the last meeting has raised the membership of the Club Advisory Board to 30 clubs. Only six or seven organizations are now left unchartered and without official position as college groups, announced Hal Hoffman, president of the board.

The newly elected clubs are the Peace Society, Forum Club, Home Economics Association, Alpha Lambda Chi, Omicron Phi Pi, and the Block S. F. Society.

Elimination Friction

Inclusion of the latter organization, which had previously withdrawn on the grounds of "nothing to gain" eliminates the possibility of friction between the board and outside groups, leaves the way open for uninterrupted board activities.

Louise Jameson, newly appointed chairman of the restricted social clubs committee, announced that the inter-fraternity and sorority dance will be held April 15.

"The Century Club has been secured for the affair which is open to all members of the restricted social organizations.

Club Members Only

"One bid will be offered to each member of the fraternities and sororities. If they do not intend to use them, the bids will be offered for sale to the student body," said Miss Jafneson.

To stimulate non-member clubs to submit petitions, the following purposes of the board are reprinted from The Guardsman of April 6, 1938:

The board will

1. Serve as an authorative catalogue for group activities of the various college organizations.

2. Act as a clearing house to develop cooperation among the clubs and to eliminate any friction that may arise.

3. Be a group of which the main functions shall be to erect and judge standards by which clubs, societies, fraternities and sororities may be granted charters.

4. Make recommendations on all legislation pertaining to club affairs that would come up before the Executive Council.

5. Aid groups that have organizational problems or new clubs that need assistance.

Time Slips Due March 17; Redford Wants Waiting List

NYA time slips must be turned in to Thomas O'Neil, faculty member, Friday, March 17, by 1:30 p.m. if students want to receive their pay checks on time.

Applications on the waiting list should come in to see me immediately" said Edward H. Redford, college NYA director. "There are still several vacancies to be filled."

Postponing of the Low Soph dance from March 24 to March 31 has made it possible for members of the faculty to attend.

As the date stood, faculty members could not attend because of appointments in Stockton the next morning, and they would not be able to arrive there on time.

Plans and preparations for this dance will take place at the next Social Committee meeting, according to Miriam Dunne.

Farm population in the United States is about the same as in 1910; the number of people in towns has increased.

UNDERWOOD JUNIOR

For all who write!

People in every walk of life can enjoy the advantages of rapid, easy typing. No matter what your writing need may be you'll find the UNDERWOOD JUNIOR PORTABLE will meet your requirements.

Manufacturer's Price $39.50
OUR PRICE $28.50

An advantageous buy of a quantity of these Models permits us to pass this saving along to you. You will have to act quickly as supply is limited.

San Francisco Typewriter Exchange
581 Market Street SUter 4724

ADVERTISING RATE:
1-50 inches ..... 70c an inch
51-150 inches ..... 60c an inch
151-up inches ..... 50c an inch

JUST AROUND THE CORNER
FOSTER'S LUNCH SYSTEM
470 STOCKTON
The best food in town for the least money
Why not drop in between classes for a snack or a full course meal?
Gather with your fellow students on our second floor

Musical Students Invited To Attend Piano Concert

Music-minded students are invited to attend the concert of Casadesus, the renowned pianist, with the Music Club. Casadesus is appearing in San Francisco with the Symphony Orchestra at the Opera House on March 25. The club plans to secure a block of seats at 55 cents each. Those who are interested should see Tina Arlari or Arthur Becker before March 11 to secure more definite information.

AWS Fashion Show

(Continued from page 1)

Joan Hart, Violet Burgess, Nancy Ross, Miriam Dunne, Barbara Currier, June Dunnigan, Betty Calhoun, Betty Chrysler, Shirley White, Jeanne Colliers, Kathleed McGarvie, Lois Gipson, Frances Kosta, Mary Sarrati, Betty Roth, Harriet Marker, Margaret Ward, Peggy Kamper, Lorraine McGill, Lillian Auyeng, Patricia Rusk, Barbara Cresgi, Muriel Nolan, Helen Hansen, Loraine Johnsen, Jacqueline Davis, Nancy Collerd, Barbara Stahlman, Amy Wilterdink, Jarry Fisher, Adele Kuhn, Jean Kelly, Patricia McKenna, Marie Louise McNutt, Doris Schnacke, Frances Herndon, Margaret Giddy, Denise Desurpey, Louise Goodman, and Phyllis Learned.

More than a thousand years ago the water level of the Great Lakes was apparently 28 feet higher than today, says a University of Michigan geologist.

Date Of Low Sophomore Dance Changed To March 31; Judicial Committee To Convene Tomorrow For First Time

Convening for the first time this semester, the Judicial Committee will meet tomorrow to take action on the student whose Associated Student card was taken up at the High Freshman dance held February 21. The meeting will take place in Room 261 immediately following the Executive Council meeting.

Members of the committee promise swift action, and it is their hope that this will be the last case of its kind this semester.

—ANSWERS—

1. Peter Stuyvesant; 2. Benjamin Franklin; 3. Charles Dickens; 4. Thomas Jefferson; 5. It is the title of a poem by Harriet Glazebrook; 6. (a) Pocahontas, (b) Myrna Loy, (c) Jeannette MacDonald (Mrs. Gene Raymond), (d) Gail Patrick, (e) Lily Pons; 7. James J. Corbett; 8. Queen of the British tribe Iceni, first century A.D.; 9. Benjamin Disraeli; 10. Time.

Read Serial Starlark Off To Moon Page Four

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

The Guardsman

SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Forum Magazine Deadline Postponed To March 24

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 1939 No. 9

Judicial Council Votes New Policy; Punishment Cited

Offenders To Be Treated As Wayward Children, Says Prexy

After considerable discussion, the Judicial Committee decided to adopt a new, more aggressive policy at the first meeting of the group held at Galileo last week.

The major point of the new policy is that the committee has commissioned the Executive Council and all instructors to report misdemeanors to the committee, who will act upon the case.

Frank Verducci, Associated Student's President and ex officio member of the judiciary group, has appointed all members of the Executive as deputies of the committee to assist in bringing offenders to light.

Grounds Stated

All acts pertaining to the college and committed by students of the college whether perpetrated on the campus or not, will be considered grounds for bringing one before the committee.

In answer to a question as to just how far the committee will go, Verducci said, "the students in the college are supposed to be just one big happy family, and it is the intention of the committee to see that all offenders are treated as if they were wayward children."

Beneficial Punishment

The punishment, if any, meted out by the committee, will not be on the physical side, but will be a sort of "beneficial punishment designed to help the offending student."

Dorothy Trood, Adele Kuhn, Ray Berns, and Howard Cloud, members of the judiciary group who voted unanimously to adopt the new policy, hope that it will result in the prevention of minor offenses about the college.

Two Convictions

Three cases were discussed and tried at the initial meeting, with convictions of two of them, and dismissal of the third.

The student body card of one of the members of the college was confiscated for an indefinite period because of an infraction of the rules set forth on the back of the card, while the student who recently committed "minor arson" was severely reprimanded and warned against further violations.

In the third case which concerned the letting of air out of automobile tires, the accused person was absolved of all blame and dismissed because of lack of evidence.

Future Hotel Men At Work

Too engrossed in their work to smile for the cameraman are the above pictured students of the Hotel and Restaurant Division, shown celebrating the third anniversary of the division. In the upper left hand corner, Clark Chittick tabulates expense accounts while Frank Parry, instructor, approvingly watches.

Lower left, Ernest Godfrey makes certain that the choice bit of prime rib roast is as tender as it should be for the palates of the customers.

In the upper right, the proper method of cutting a tempting morsel from a Virginia Baked Ham is shown.

In the bottom right, Robert Klinger, left, and Lester Ashbury, right, serve Mrs. Hilda Watson, of the division, while Tom Duffy, maitre d' hotel for the hotel men's luncheon, instructs his waiters in intricate service details.

Low Sophomore Dance Mar. 31 In Fairmont Gold Room; Music By Warren Ringen

Plans for the Low Soph dance to be held on March 31 were discussed at the last social committee and the dance will take place at the Fairmont Hotel's Gold Room.

Further discussion on the dance provided that the dance is to be informal, that is, the women may wear street clothes.

Music for the evening will be provided by Warren Ringen and his orchestra, and dancing will continue from nine to twelve.

Completion of the plans will take place at the next meeting, according to Miriam Dunne, head of the committee and vice-president of the Associated Students.

Third Anniversary Of Hotel Division Will Be Celebrated This Saturday

With a current 100 per cent employment among students who have completed the two-year course, the Hotel and Restaurant Division celebrates, on March 18, the third anniversary of its organization.

First technical curriculum established at the college, the hotel and restaurant training program has attracted wide attention among educators and has won unqualified support and endorsement from leaders in the hotel and restaurant industry.

Jobs Offered

According to J. Graham Sullivan, co-ordinator, "Not only are all graduates presently employed in the industry, but we are already receiving offers of permanent positions for qualified graduates who may be available in June."

"This is in addition to employment opportunities now being offered to students who must fulfill requirements for ten weeks' employment during the school vacation period this summer," he continued.

Easter Tour

Unique demonstration of the enthusiastic cooperation on the part of San Francisco hotel operators is the state tour to be undertaken during the Easter vacation week by eight personally sponsored and especially selected students.

Each of the eight will be named a special representative of one of San Francisco's leading hotels, the operator of that hotel having pledged certain financial and sponsoring obligations to make the trip possible.

Objects Listed

Object of this tour will be twofold. First, the student will be given notable opportunity to study the operation of outstanding hotels in the cities visited, and second, he will be called upon to present to hotel operators and to civic bodies of those cities a close-up view of the attractions of San Francisco and the Golden Gate International Exposition.

The student will also endeavor to direct a portion of local travel toward that particular San Francisco hotel which acts as his individual sponsor.

Hotel Men Help

"Local hotel men, who are making this tour possible," said P. Tremain Loud, president of the California Northern Hotel Association, "are the operators of the Hotel Californian, the Mark Hopkins, Manx, George Thompson Hotels, the Palace, St. Francis, Sir Frances Drake, and the Benjamin Franklin Hotel of San Mateo."

Administered as a part of the California Plan for Vocational Education, the hotel division is fittingly located at this college, where in a city famous for its hotels and restaurants, students have unusual opportunities not only for industrial employment but for observing the operation of the many great hosteleries and cafes.

Ready Speaks

Recently a guest speaker of the Hotel Division was Frank Ready, manager of New York's famous Waldorf Astoria Hotel. His topic was Methods of Training at the Waldorf Astoria. Also a guest with Ready was Guy Toombs, manager of the Hotel Utah in Salt Lake City.

The Waldorf-Astoria is recognized as the outstanding hotel training organization in the country. Lucius Boomer is director of the training school.

Alpha Gamma Sigma Meet Next April Attracts State Wide Interest In College

Considerable interest is being shown in the statewide convention of the Alpha Gamma Sigma junior college chapters throughout California to be held on Treasure Island, April 1, all fool's day.

The program for the day will be presided over by James Henry and Dorothy Rodenback.

Letters have been received from several groups signifying their intention of attending the convention. State officers of the year, selected from this college, and their committees are busy with plans for the day and invitations being sent to members attending the university.

Students who have had three semesters of college work with a grade average of 2.3, exclusive of physical education, are entitled to the perma-

March 24 New Forum Deadline; Judges Named

Contributions On Social Problems, Foreign Policy Urged

Deadline for the Forum Mazazine, annually produced college literary publication, has been extended 10 days to next Friday, March 24.

Now in its third year of existence, the Forum is an outlet for the writings of college students who desire to have their material published and placed before the entire student body.

Judges Listed

William Goss and Frederick Bracher, faculty sponsors, and John Cummings, Forum editor, will act as judges to award the prize, a book, for the best single contribution not exceeding 1500 words (no minimum).

Any type of literary endeavors, short stories, poems, plays, satires, essays, political discussions, are welcomed.

Special Topic

Contributions are especially desired, presenting either side of the following question:

"Should the United States Adopt an Aggressive Policy Toward Dictators?" Contributions on political and social questions of the moment are also desired.

The book will be presented to the winner at the Forum Club banquet at the end of the semester.

Color Pages

Several pages will be devoted to original art work such as blocks in wood and linoleum in black and white, and colors. Those interested in submitting such work are urged to see John Cummings immediately.

Early in May the Forum will be published. However, tickets must be purchased in advance as the number of copies printed is dependent on the number of tickets purchased.

Tickets will go on sale the week following Easter vacation at 15 cents a copy.

High Freshman Dinner Dance This Friday; Final Arrangements Tomorrow

All high freshmen are urged by Lee Scarlett, class president, to attend a special meeting Thursday at 2:20 o'clock in Galileo Auditorium.

Purpose of the meet is to select the menu and hour for the informal dinner dance to be held at the Lake Merritt Hotel in Oakland Friday, March 17. High freshmen are officially excused from classes to attend, it was authoritatively reported.

"I also wish to announce that we have been able to obtain a special reduction, so the former price of $1.25 per person has been reduced to $1.00," Scarlett announced.

Must Sign Up

"It will be necessary for those intending to sign up today at the latest to insure reservations," Scarlett continued. "Thirty-five couples have already signed up so we will be assured of a good crowd."

Students interested are reminded that one member of each attending couple must be a high freshman, with the exception of special guests.

Street Dress Mode

The committee has voted street dress as the fitting attire for the occasion, reservations for which may be made by contacting Art Pomares, dance committee chairman.

"High freshmen will be given opportunity at the meeting to select the menu for the dinner," he said, "and we are really offered a diversified list from which to select."

Guests Invited

Special guests invited include Dean and Mrs. Edwin C. Browne, Verrel Weber and Nelson Wells, class advisers and Mr. and Mrs. Glen A. Noble, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sandys, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Mohr.

The Lake Merritt Hotel has an outside glass-enclosed dining room which overlooks the waters of Lake Merritt.

nent Alpha Gamma Sigma pins. Membership blanks may be secured from Mary Jane Learnard, assistant secretary, or from Alice Cooper, club adviser. Those who have paid a deposit on the pins, may now secure them at the Galileo bank.

PRESIDENT CLOUD RETURNS TO DESK, ANNOUNCES TRIP HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

Recently returned to the college from "a most interesting and profitable trip" as one of three delegates of the San Francisco School Department to two conventions in Cleveland, Ohio, and Grand Rapids, Michigan, respectively, President Cloud is once again assuming his duties as President of the college.

President Cloud's first stop was at the convention in Cleveland, Ohio, of the American Association of School Administrators, a department of The National Education Association.

Large Representation

Some fifteen thousand school administrators from all parts of the country were present, with about one hundred and fifty California representatives.

President over by John F. Brady, chief deputy superintendent of San Francisco Public Schools, the meeting under his supervision was handled "in masterly fashion."

Californian Presides

John W. Sexson of Pasadena, another Californian and president of the association, presided over another meeting where junior college problems were discussed.

Leaving Cleveland at the conclusion of the convention, President Cloud then journeyed to Grand Rapids, Michigan, to attend the convention of the American Association of Junior Colleges, headed by Nicholas Richtorf of San Bernardino Junior College.

Enlightening Program

The program was "most enlightening" being devoted to presentation and discussion of junior college problems. Many of the addresses dealt with curriculum questions.

With about twenty California junior college representatives present out of about three hundred this convention lasted only three days, but was packed with highlights.

Junior College Problems

As an example, one program was devoted to five minute answers by some 20 junior college administrators to one of the two following questions:

1. What is the most significant thing your junior college is doing this year?

2. What is the biggest problem your junior college has faced this year?

President Cloud was asked to represent the California delegation at the annual dinner, by presenting greetings from the far west.

Women's Tea Held Tuesday Pronounced Huge Success; Stylist, Choir Featured

Voted an undebated success, the Associated Women Students' fashion tea held yesterday was attended by more than 300 women students and guests, according to Dorothy Trood, AWS president.

Featured on the program were Frances Shoup, prominent style commentator, and the college A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Flossita Badger.

Miss Shoup, presented through the courtesy of Claire Cuneo's Home Economics Association, displayed a complete fashion review.

Choir renditions were divided into two groups and included selections by Bach, Morley, Leslie, Foster, and Wood.

Among other hostesses were Janice Noble, Norma Kelley, Constance Cole, Marion Berti, Rita Hand, Mary Miller, Dorothy Thelde, and Joy Anna Meek.

Building Strikes New Snag; Reasons Given

Facts For Delay In Construction Of Long Awaited Campus Revealed; Letting Of Contracts Postponed

By Leonard Gross

Coming on the heels of the announcement that bids for the college buildings had been submitted, J. A. Ormond, Secretary of the Board of Education, last week granted an exclusive interview to a Guardsman reporter for the purpose of explaining the reasons and facts for the delay in the construction of the long-awaited campus.

"The entire affair has been marked by delay after delay until it seemed as if nothing would be accomplished. These delays, however, have turned out to be the result of unavoidable complications," Ormond said.

Select Balboa

It was in June, 1936, that board officials first looked for a site for the new college. After surmounting many obstacles and after a long period of time had elapsed, the present site at Balboa Park was selected.

From the standpoint of climate, transportation, and space required, the present location was considered superior to any considered previously.

Complications Rise

Complications arose, however, when it was learned that the property was owned by the Park Commission. Clearance was not accomplished until the latter part of 1937.

To construct the college it was found necessary to present a bond issue to the citizens of the city, as the amount of money involved was too large to go into the Board of Education budget. Not only that, but passage of the bonds insured government funds to aid in the construction.

Rip-Roaring Campaign

After a rip-roaring campaign by the students of the college which included personal electioneering, speech making, letter writing, and personal telephone calls to voters, the bond issue, providing funds for a new campus was passed.

Requests for PWA funds were pieced with the government, but because of unforeseen difficulties there was a continual delay, although there was always the lingering hope that the government might finally grant the request.

Washington' Promises

However, it was not until September, 1938, after the bonds had been voted, that definite information was received from Washington that they would provide 45 per cent of the necessary funds.

Board Draws Plans

Meanwhile, anticipating the government's move, the Board of Education proceeded to draw plans, and appoint architects. "Contracts for the construction of the foundations for the science buildings were awarded January 18, 1938," Ormond explained.

Upon receiving official notification that the government would participate, the architects were requested to proceed at once with the plans.

Plans Approved

The plans were approved October 29, 1938, and a statement was sent to Washington giving the estimated cost of the science unit as $967,000 with anticipated opening of bids on December 7.

This meant that work would start

(Continued on page 4, column 5)

Building Status in Brief

News of another delay of twenty days followed the information from the Board of Public Works that the recently opened bids on the construction of the main colleges' building at Balboa Park were $140,000 more than were expected.

Lowest total bid for the construction of the science building, complete with electrical and mechanical equipment, was $1,210,991. The bids were opened in the Board of Public Works Assembly Room in the City Hall.

Lowest bidder on the construction of the science building was the Clinton Construction Company with a bid of $919,000. The foundations were laid in 1938.

As a result of the large sum in excess of the Board of Public Works' estimate, the Board of Education ordered a further investigation by the architects in an attempt to cut costs.

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 1939 No. 9

JOHN JULIUS .... EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser — Business Adviser
Joan Nourse — Edward H. Redford

Bill Frantz .... Managing Editor
Leonard Gross .... News Editor
Ray Berns .... Sports Editor
Isadore Maloff .... Feature Editor
Dorothy Trood .... Women's Editor
Janet Fellows .... Club Editor
Sam Galstaun .... Staff Photographer
Marion MacKillop .... Staff Artist
Allen Martin .... Business Manager
Edmund Wunsch .... Assistant Business Manager

REPORTERS

Lucretia Antonicelli, Ethan Bernstein, Victoria Candido, Bill Canning, Jacqueline Davis, Janet Fellows, Lois Gipson, Louis Goldstone, Dave Johnson, Frances Manalo, Daniel Rosenblat, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Harold Unterberger, Frank Verducci, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Patience Required In Final Delay of Building Construction At Balboa Park

"IT may be said with certainty that the Junior College will occupy its own quarters in Balboa Park within the coming year."—J. A. Ormond, Secretary of the Board of Education.

Three long years have elapsed since the idea of a junior college at the Balboa Park site was considered. During these three years construction has been started and postponed, contracts let and taken up, money appropriated and re-appropriated. Only these facts were publicized. Behind the scenes hundreds of people were working to place the dignified, strong buildings they had planned on the site. Through all the disappointments they had faith in their plans and continued working to carry them out. These facts were not publicized.

The construction of the three educational buildings on a large plot of ground costs several million dollars. A project as large as that has so many complications—so many people must be dealt with, that it requires a great deal of time to straighten out.

According to the people working in the background, the 20 day postponement will be the last time-obstacle in the path of the junior college buildings. The story on page one explains the reasons for the delay, and the people working behind the scenes have decided that this time the buildings must be constructed.

No doubt, many of the students at the college are impatient with the numerous delays, but the fulfillment of the dreams of every student who has ever attended the college is so close that it is hard to realize the facts.

It requires patience. After three long years of waiting for the new college buildings, what are twenty days? B. F.

In a generation so pressed with vital problems, "learning for learning's sake" or "study for discipline" are dead slogans for youth who have a burning desire to know the answers to those problems that face them.—President Fred Engelhardt, University of New Hampshire.

If I could, I would write indelibly upon the mind of every college man and woman in America this axiom: the opportunity for personal culture depends on the state of group culture.—President William H. Cowley, Hamilton College.

Enrollment at the University of California this semester has greatly increased over that of last year. 15,105 students are expected to register at the big Berkeley plant before the turnstiles stop clicking.

Diogenes Quest Is Ended; Honest Man Found In Study Hall

THERE is an old adage that says "honesty is the best policy." Although some persons are liable to look upon this ageworn bit of philosophy with a laugh and a shrug of the shoulders, it has recently been brought to our attention that at least one of the students of the college observes it.

Last week, in the study hall at the Powell Extension Building, during the passing time between the 9 and 10 o'clock classes, a student approached the instructor in charge of the study hall with a tightly wadded one dollar bill that he had picked up on the floor while passing out. Giving it to the instructor he said, "This is not mine, I found it underneath a chair." Without giving his name, the student left the hall.

The owner of the money returned and found it waiting for him, and at the present time is no doubt thanking his lucky stars.

An example such as this is indeed indicative of real honesty. The student who returned the money did not give his name, probably feeling that he had done nothing out of the ordinary. Of course, that is to a certain extent true, but many persons placed in a similar position would have acted differently.

One is reminded of the old fable about the Greek philosopher Diogenes who searched endlessly for an honest man. Although it has been a long time since the age of Diogenes it looks as if his search was not entirely in vain, for evidently in this, the 20th century, a person of real honesty has been discovered.

To the anonymous student, we extend our sincerest congratulations. Although the country may be going to the dogs, as some say, there are still enough people left to appreciate an honest man. More power to him.

—L. Gross.

Prosperity Corner
By Sam Galstaun

1. What is a free admission pass called?

It is named after a famous woman rifler, who, according to the story, was able to shoot off all four corners of a paper card. In recognition of this deed, the free pass, besides bearing her name, has holes in its four corners.

2. What was O. Henry's real name?

3. Who was the Greek who was killed by an arrow in his heel?

You most probably are acquainted with some of the legends in Homer's Iliad. In one of his tales he wrote of a young child who was dipped in the River Styx by his mother, and thereby was made invulnerable in all places except the heel. He became a war hero, but one day a stray arrow found its mark in his left heel and caused his death.

4. What nationality is Boris Karloff?

5. Who was known as the "Little Corporal"?

Familiar portraits of this small but dreaded personage have shown him standing with one hand inside his coat. However, that pose was not to represent the power and sternness of a dictator, but rather an ease for his acute indigestion.

6. What is another name for Helvetia?

7. What European nation bought Manhattan Island from the Indians?

The price paid for the island was approximately twenty-five dollars. Tales have been written about this deed as the greatest fraud in history, for the articles of exchange were a set of beads and a bottle of whiskey.

8. What famous stage actress popularized the lines "That's all there is—there isn't any more"?

9. Who is the originator of the fictional criminal Fu Manchu?

It probably would not be helpful except for further enlightenment, that the real name of this novelist is J. Sansfield Ward. He has written also such popular fiction novels as "The Day the World Ended," and "She Who Sleeps".

10. Who wrote:

"And if the Wine you drink, the Lips you press,
End in what All begins and ends in—Yes;
Think then you are Today what Yesterday
You were—Tomorrow you shall not be less"?

(Quiz Answers—Continued on page 4, column 2)

. . . while thinking . . .
By Leonard Gross

IN a dynamic denouncement of the totalitarian countries of the world, President Roosevelt last week accused the dictatorships of suppressing religion, personal liberty and property rights, and gave warning that the United States stands with other democracies in opposing "the return of forms of government which have proved their tyranny and instability alike."

Replying to the President's accusation, the leaders of the German Reich vehemently declared that there was no persecution of religion in Germany. We wonder what they call the destruction of Catholic and Jewish churches, the mistreating of priests and rabbis, and the curtailing of all privileges heretofore enjoyed by persons of these creeds. If that isn't religious persecution, what is?

• • •

HITLER AIDE TURNED DOWN

Captain Fritz Wiedemann, new German consul general for San Francisco, arrived in town last week. On the surface this does not appear to be anything extraordinary, but the fact that he was refused admittance to one of the prominent downtown hotels is to our way of thinking a very striking bit of news.

Although many persons in this country are very much opposed to Nazism, it is rather narrow minded to refuse one lodging because he is a Nazi. Besides being unhospitable to a foreign guest, it is a petty trick that cannot be justified, even on the grounds that such might be the case if the situation were reversed and an American were traveling in Germany. Two wrongs do not make a right.

• • •

Little did Mrs. Hitler know the Fuehrer she was raising when Adolph was born. (This is not original with us.)

• • •

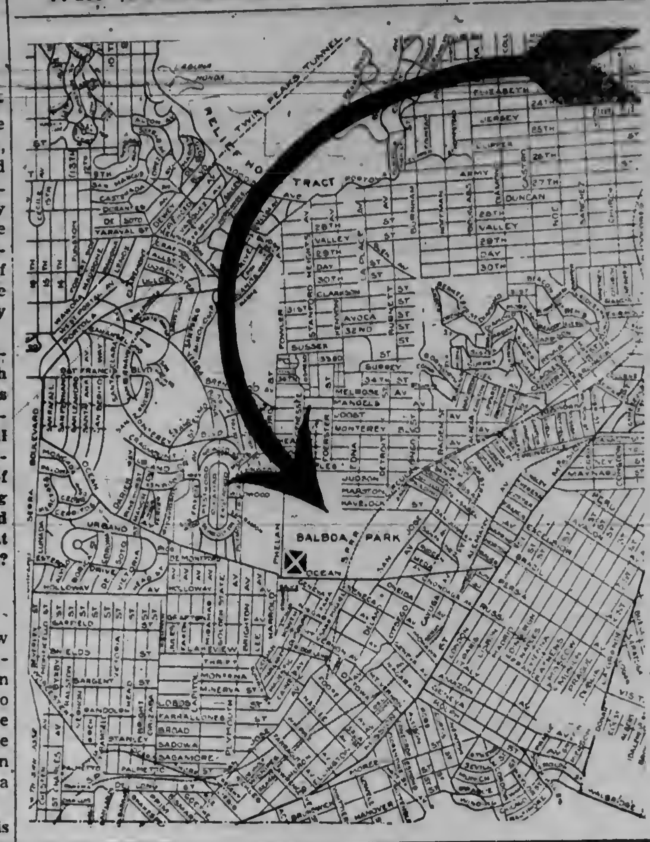
ABOUT FACE

The Japanese government in a recent announcement declared that in the future its foreign policy will strive for friendly relations with the United States and Great Britain. Denying that the country is in any sense a totalitarian nation, an official spokesman said, "It is necessary that the new order in East Asia involve an understanding with Britain and the United States." Surprising how gentle the Nipponese have turned out to be. Could it be because they are infinitely more clever than most people suppose and believe in being friendly to both sides? Perhaps, however, we are judging Japan too harshly. It is quite possible the government is sincere in its efforts. If so, more power to them.

Presidential Notes
By Frank Verducci

DURING every semester there is always someone ready to criticize the student leaders of this institution. Especially this semester has criticism been leveled at the lack of organization in the student affairs of the college. This lack of organization has not totally been the fault of the student officers. Rather it has been due to the lack of preparation and training that each person possessed before assuming office. Very frequently the student leaders, had they known what to do and how to do it would have carried out the affairs successfully.

HANDBOOKS TO RELIEVE CONDITION



To remedy this situation, this semester's Executive Council has been busily engaged in making handbooks in which the next semester's leaders will be able to refer to whenever they are in doubt as to what should be done. It is believed that these handbooks will result in the officers becoming more competent, which will result in the ever present critics having nothing to criticize, and they, therefore, will have to pack up and go elsewhere.

BRING PROBLEMS TO COUNCIL

The Executive Council convenes every Thursday at 2:30 o'clock. All students are invited to attend. If you are confronted with any problem pertaining to college affairs, bring them to the council where they will be discussed. Make it a point to drop in any Thursday at 2:30.

Everyone else has been doing it, so we too must offer our congratulations to Captain McFarland and his rifle club for their splendid rifle team and their most enviable record. If anyone has ever done anything to raise the prestige it certainly has been this semester's rifle team. The members have gone out and walloped every team in sight, including Stanford University.

Will Construction Soon Begin Here?

RAM'S HORN
Short and Sweet; Some Liked "It", Some Didn't

• DIME NOVEL TRIPE?

Editor, The Guardsman:

After reading the short story by Bill Frantz, which appeared in a recent edition of The Guardsman, I said to myself, to coin a phrase, "Orchids to Bill Frantz."

However, after plowing through the "Flight of the Skylark" and reading at the end "continued next week," all I could say was, "Ye Gods! Is there going to be more?"

Dime novel stores may be fine—in dime novels—but not in our college paper.

If Mr. Goldstone enjoys this sort of slush, he can get all he wants from various magazines without cluttering up our weekly.

Yours truly,
Doris Schnacke

Editor, The Guardsman:

Bouquets again to Mr. Goldstone! His feature entitled "Flight of the Starlark" enlivens a page long cluttered up with stale stories and canned features.

I hope that Mr. Goldstone's deviation from the usual journalistic feature won't be shunted too casually from the paper, because of the customary criticism of the reader too lazy to read.

Let this feature live for at least a few more editions, please, before "casting the die."

Sincerely,
I. Care

Editor, The Guardsman:

We enthusiastically recommend the reading of Lou Goldstone's serial.

Charles Blenio, Tony Martin, H. W. Frister, Jim Keys, Walter Stayart.

Editor, The Guardsman:

Louis Goldstone's "The Flight of the Starlark" is just what we've been waiting for. How about some more of the same?

Carl McCutcheon, Angelo Ferrari

• A FAIR ATTEMPT

Editor, The Guardsman:

Your new feature, "Flight of the Starlark," while slightly over-saturated with excess adjectives, is quite a fair attempt of the writer to present the poor reading public with something unusual from the material you have been feeding us.

Although it is quite evident that the writer has been reading too many pulp magazines, I at least give him credit for having quite a vivid imagination.

In the event that Mr. Goldstone has not finished the remaining chapters of this imaginative story, may I offer a suggestion to him? It's just possible that your story could be a success without the use of so many adjectives. I must say, however, that I could find no technical errors within the copy.

In summing up these ramblings, I say "If you can end the story logically, I at least, will forgive and forget the slight errors which may occur."

Sincerely,
Justin Fun

• TWO SIDES TO EVERY STORY

Editor, The Guardsman:

Louis Goldstone's "Flight of the Starlark," in my opinion, is the ultimate eradication of the main criticism of The Guardsman. That is: Due to the present set up of the college, the students are not well acquainted, therefore Names Do Not Make News. With this novel series by the well qualified Mr. Goldstone, new interest in The Guardsman will inevitably be built up.

Congratulation to The Guardsman for realizing this fault and accepting Mr. Goldstone's unusual talent so wholeheartedly.

Sincerely,
Robert Chilcote

Cabbages & Kings
By Blue Pencil Bill

THIS is the time of the year when poor grades, excessive cuts and a resulting lack of interest in scholastic activities lead one toward escaping reality. Our favorite escape is planning to sign on as a deckhand on any decent ship bound for a faraway, romantic port.

Why stay here and try to pass a course we've been cutting for the past month or so when Tahiti and Singapore beckon? Why crack the book at this already far-gone period of the semester when we could be sailing on the blue ocean and gaze out at the rolling water?

The instructor is sore at us anyway . . . We can get a new lease on life after this poor attempt at education . . . We've been in a rut for a month now and it's no use keeping up the same old grind of walking into the same classroom, sitting down in the same chair, with the same faces around us, and listen to the same instructor lecture on the same material.

The calendar caught up with us, and a dozen term papers are due . . .

We've got the Midterm Blues so badly that we aren't even finishing this story.

"Try some molasses and sulphur, Bill."

"Don't mind if I do."

• • •

Fly and Waiter Joke No. 17393.

Customer: Waiter, there's a fly in this ice cream.

Waiter: Oh, so he likes winter sports.

• • •

CALLING BRYANT 709

Our pal, Torchy Blanc Burdick, kept her eyes and ears open for this item.

"This week's brilliant example of brainwork is the student of the college who, through some ingenious method of his own, acquired the telephone number of a sophisticated young lady, and the next evening called her. Imagine his surprise, when a lilting "hello" emanated from the receiver. He coughed once or twice and then hung up. He didn't know who to ask for. He'd forgotten to get her name."

• • •

PATHOS ENTERS

Now here's a sad story proving that crime doesn't pay.

Sam Galstaun, The Guardsman staff photographer, bought himself a movie outfit, complete with extra-fancy lenses. He purchased several movie camera books and the finest films possible. Soon Sam had the moving picture technique down pat and he decided he would attempt color work.

Now don't misjudge Sam—but he purchased tickets to the Ballet at the Opera House to take pictures of the Ballet in action. He knew beforehand that the photographing of the Ballet was not permitted. He knew that they would confiscate his pictures if he were caught. He knew that the motion picture company had to pay the Ballet $10,000 to allow Mischa Auer to say that said Ballet stinks.

Well, Sam hid the camera in his overcoat and went to his seat. During the Ballet he had taken several beautiful color shots during the times when the orchestra was playing. That was very clever—the ushers couldn't hear the whirr of the camera in action. At the close of the performance, Sam took the films out of the camera, handed them to his brother and left in the opposite direction so that if he were caught with the camera the ushers wouldn't know who had the film.

When Sam got home he was very satisfied with the evening's work. The following day he sent the film to the developing company who sent the film to its Los Angeles factory to take care of the technicolor work. A week later Sam received a letter from the company stating that the films he sent them were ruined in one of their developing machines.

• • •

NAMES IN PRINT

Those-who-want-to-see-their-names-in-print-department:

ANNA LEE SMITH, who wants to see her name in print as a tennis player.

• • •

They were sitting alone in the moonlit garden. Not a word broke the silence for half an hour. Then—

"If you had money," she said, "what would you do?"

"Well," he paused to think, and then answered, "I'd travel."

He felt her hand slide into his. When he looked up, she was gone. In his hand was a nickel.

• • •

DATE BUREAU EXPANDS

"Dusty" Rhode's date bureau has extended to S. F. State College, where Ed Hutshing will act as representative. Don't quote us but there are several good dates on file.

By the way, Dusty and his partner Al have made out a set of rules regarding conduct—everything's on the up and up.

Sartorial Modes
By Fashion Fanny

COSTUMES for the Fair are still being talked about, and in many new and interesting ideas and colors. One of the lovelier three piece suits seen was of the new fuchsia shade, the skirt was trim but pleated for walking and action. The smart collarless jacket was buttoned down the front and belted at the waist.

EXPOSITION ENSEMBLES

The coat and dress ensemble is going to be worn a lot this summer at the Exposition, and one delightful model was wearing a fitted coat with zipper-closed pockets, fully lined and all wool. Under this, a crepe print dress. Selected in one of the college shops is the suit dress ensemble in the new nub wool. The dress has the smart gored front fullness, softly draped bodice under the smartly cut and fitted jacket.

"Dutch Boy" model for Fair feet is seen this week in a different version from the other "Dutch Boy's". This model has the perforated vamp for coolness, the platform sole and elasticized insert connecting heel and toe.

WHITE VIOLETS

Brighten up your dark dress with touches of frothy white organdie, crisp white violets, some of the new chunky jewelry, a fascinating clip by Martha Sleeper, a new belt of kid in a spring color. Add bits of red to your navy blue and black—a red carnation, red gloves, perchance a red belt, or even a red sailor straw trimmed to match the costume.

For spring madness in the way of formal wear—a very full black and white checked taffeta skirt with a white silk blouse with short puff sleeves and a red suede belt about three inches in width. A delightful dress in blue organza topped with a quilted evening wrap and elbow length sleeves.

EXERCISE ESSENTIAL

Even though you may have just bought your new Easter outfit, you feel that something is lacking and perhaps you're right. During the winter months, when it's cold outside, we're contented to sit at home and eat without exercising a little. Try walking around a large room with a book on your head for five minutes, keeping the back straight. You will find that you can't hunch your shoulders or slouch, or curve your back in, and keep a book athwart your pate. To acquire a graceful, easy carriage, master this exercise! No college woman looks well with a sloppy carriage even though she may be a "well-dressed" young woman.

AFTER DARK
By John Ward

TO say something has guts may be on the coarse side, but intestinal fortitude is a poor substitute, and when one wants to be blunt and to the point, guts is exactly the right word. Guts is what the American film industry had in 1914 and guts is what it hasn't today.

This was brutally pointed out to us by D. W. Griffith's The Mother and the Law, filmed in 1914 and reproduced in San Francisco last week as a part of the historic film series at the San Francisco Museum of Art. Aside from the purely curious and antiquarian attitude with which one watches an early, crude, searching movie, we found added in this instance an incredibly vital and potent reaction.

SOCIAL PROBLEMS FILM

The Mother and the Law is a brutal and disarming social criticism, a two-fisted fight for the underdog, the weak and the poor. The story is primarily taken from, of all things, the Report of a Federal Industrial Commission, and deals with strikes and men driven to crime by an unfriendly society, of ruthlessly bigoted welfare groups. It is cut from the same cloth as Theodore Driser's novels and it has guts; it says something and says it well and with all the sincerity it can muster. Even today some of its scathing, overdrawn criticisms could be applied with tangible effect.

Just where, in the car load of tripe Hollywood exports these days, will you find something said and said well and sincerely? Certainly not in a Boy's Town with its formulae for tears, nor in a Blockade with its half-formulated, half-expressed ideas and pleas!

Tonight the second in the series of historic films, Birth of a Nation, will be shown at the museum. It is open to the public, and there is an admission charge.

FRENCH FILMS HAVE NOVELTY

The two French films now playing in San Francisco are as delightfully French as they are delicious entertainment.

Sacha Guitry's Story of a Cheat (playing at the Clay St. Theatre) is a smart, smooth and rather naughty comedy of the worldly kind. Amusing and beautifully handled, it stars Guitry as writer, director, actor and narrator—doing a bang up swell job of all four.

Presented as an autobiography (with scattered lessons in how to cheat at cards) it rambles through the hero's childhood (when 11 of his family die after eating toad-stools, leaving him alone in the world), through his adolescence (when he rapidly falls in and out of love countless times as all young should), and ends up with his career as a cheat and then as a cheat reformed. Certainly an amusing and chic experiment in film comedy.

"BALLERINA" ENCHANTING MOVIE

Ballerina (at the El Presidio) is an enchanting and nostalgic bit about ballet, beautifully directed and filled with many elegant shots of the dance. A balletomane's feast, Ballerina should appeal to anyone who enjoys the glamor and glitter of the Ballet Russe, who enjoys something a bit precious but very refreshing and a trifle strange. Obviously the modern replica of the classic ballet is a distant and wonderful escape from the woes and realities of newspaper headlines. It is a wonderful escape and Ballerina accomplished the trick in short order.

THE GUARDSMAN SPORTS

RAMblings
By RAY BERNS
Paul Rippon Stars At College of Pacific; Block Society Issues Challenge

Not so very long ago in this column, we quoted from a College of Pacific publicity release concerning Paul Rippon, former local basketeer, now caging at Pacific.

The release stated, in part, "that Rip was the Pacific basketball team." The gentleman who concocted that statement wasn't lying.

Recently, we were up at Stockton and witnessed a basketball game between Pacific and the University of San Francisco, which the Dons won, 32 to 29.

"RIP" OUTSTANDING

If it hadn't been for "Rip," Pacific wouldn't have come close to gathering 29 digits. At the end of the first half, the score was 16 to 12, USF leading Rippon. In addition to chalking up 18 points in the game, "Rip" played an outstanding floor game.

In the recent Stanford frosh-Ram tennis encounter, Larry Dee, Indian ace, waxed Hal Wagner, local netman. Again? If memory serves us correctly, the pair have met six times in the past year, and Dee has emerged victorious on each occasion. After all, Hal, there must be a limit.

Bill Canning, Guardsman sports writer, who handled RAMchops in the absence of Jack Schmale a few weeks ago, popped up with a question that amused us no end. Bill wanted to know, "If San Francisco high-school basketball is better than Oakland's, why is it that the Oakland stars score twenty and thirty points in one game, while the San Francisco high-scorers are lucky if they ring up ten?"

PROVERBIAL TRIANGLE

Conversing with scribblers on local dailies, we find that two of the East-Bay schools were recently involved in a quarrel, one of the schools charging that the basketball team of the other one had allowed a player of a third school to score unmolested. It seems that this cager set a new scoring record, breaking the previous record held by a player from the first school.

And there you have it! We can just see Galileo allowing Lowell's Pete Delos to score unmolested and set a new record, or, Lowell allowing "Troop" Sperry of Galileo to score a few free buckets. Yes, we can—not!

BLOCKMEN ACT

We find that the Block Society, has, to promote intra-mural athletics, challenged any and all organizations in the college to athletic contests.

It seems that some of the lads believe that the losers buy the winners a dinner or something, to create interest in the contest. Aw, come on, fellers, remember, sports for sport's sake. Besides, you've got yours.

Jottings: In one of the Olympic Club-Young Mens Institute basketball games for the P. A. A. title last week, Sally Rand opened the second half, by tossing up the ball for the center jump. Before doing so, she presented Paul Jaeger, and Arv Hedman, rival centers, with a rose. Jaeger scored six points in the next three minutes, while Hedman made none. How does it feel to be cold-blooded, Arv? . . . Bob Schoenstein, John Verducci, and Mel Chickazola, Ram Footballers, have all taken leaves of absences from the college . . . We hear that one of the class presidents was the winner of the rat races at the Shalimar after the fights last Friday night.

Looking for a piece of chalk to illustrate on the board one of his points in a Political Science lecture the other day, Doc Sewell, popular instructor, was interrupted by George "Specs" Bedrosian, varsity basketballer, with "pardon me, Doc, but you'll find a big piece of chalk on that hook." Blackfield, Curcio, Fischer, and Lawrence, in unison, "aren't you sweet?"

FISTICUFF IMPRESSIONS

"Slats" Slattery, seconding one of the fighters, and Bob Fex, in the crowd, amusing all present with a never-ending line of Irish banter, better known as the shoveling of the blarney.

Allen Williams, a former AMS prexy, and Don Mix, associate students' head a year ago, lending dignity and decorum (to quote Mix) to the occasion by appearing as judges.

Crowd Comments: Hit him on the head . . . Stop that bloody battle . . . Hey, O'Brien, where did you get that Chinese slingshot . . . Ooh, what a bunch of bums . . . Stop making love, Chick . . . Kill him, Chick (a female voice) . . . Let's call the whole thing off and all go home . . . You're a sadder but wiser man, McNamee . . . Just call him Canvasback . . . If you keep hitting that canvas much more, you'll be getting callouses on your back, Dolman.

Recognizing the fact that the gals were invited, Bob Fex, one who is afflicted with nerves, brought Helen Culp along to hold him down, Jan Blomquist, one of the battlers, brought Betty Nelson along to cheer him on, and Floyd Lawrence, one of the boys, brought Eve Patton along.

RAM chops
By JACK SCHMALE
Specialist Prepares Fight Statistics; Lawrence Plans Sophomore Week

RAM CHOPS

Whilst pondering over the prints, pounding over the pavements and puzzling over the pulse of the public in a hopeless endeavor to uncover some suitable material to present before the Associated Students of San Francisco Junior College in this weekly assortment of nothingness, we respectfully resort to a few timely statistics.

Now statistics are oft-times uninteresting to the casual observer, but equipped with the findings of our technical staff of statistically minded statistics gatherers, we proudly present some facts and figures that should be of intense interest.

FIGHTS YIELD DATA

The Men's Club Fights, colossal promotion last week of Joe Amori and Dave Johnson, yield an almost inexhaustible supply of data. For instance, Phillip Isenglass, our fistic specialist, divulges that there were 31,971 right hooks, 27,990 left jabs, 587 uppercuts, 17 haymakers, four tomatoes and an aged egg thrown during the evening's festivities at the Verdi Club.

It is with unchecked pride that we come right out here in bold print and state that, thanks to the unselfish and exacting efforts of Mr. Isenglass, the fight figures comprise one of the neatest scoops ever scored in San Francisco (local papers please copy).

Forgetting the fight program proper, one Ivan Tanglefoot, our dancing expert, was on hand at the Shalimar Bowl immediately after the slugging bee to record a few figures in his department as the Rams and Ramettes indulged in an exhibition of mass jitterhugging at the downtown whirlatorium.

WHAT-A-MAN IVAN

Ivan, known to his more intimate buddies as "Slapsey Maxie" Tanglefoot, came through admirably with another exclusive yarn, revealing that 148,771½ steps were taken to the rhythmic strains of Fred Nagel and his partners in lullaby. Not only these facts are credited to Ivan, but more. For instance, his computations reveal that if all the power used in executing 148,771½ steps were harnessed into one unit of potency, the controlled force would be sufficient to blow a city block, three mail boxes, two-thirds of the Russ Building, a Cadillac Sixteen and the Tower of the Sun from here to a point 66.4 kilometers from the Los Angeles City Hall.

Ivan, you see, is a pretty smart hombre. He sold Einstein the relativity theory for six marbles and a box kite at the tender age of three. Nice going, Ivan.

LAWRENCE IS AMBITIOUS YOUNGSTER

Most promising newcomer to our research department is an ambitious kid named Floyd Lawrence. Lawrence is soph president, and is combining business with business in his plans for Sophomore Week this semester. Floyd has concluded that 10,576 square inches of delicious roast beef rare will be devoured by Ram students at the soph barbecue. His other findings show that if all the spaghetti to be consumed at the event were laid end to end, the strings would span the Atlantic and stretch to Florence, Italy. If equipped for sound, the assemblage at the soph barbecue could listen to one of Mussolini's famous fireside chats, fire 'n' everything!

• • • • •

Frank Verducci, fast talking prexy, has signed Ivan Tanglefoot to a contract for March 24. Frankie is desirous of procuring statistics at the same Shalimar Berl, where on that Friday evening, the college will dance to a "name band."

Characters, experience preferred, are asked to start acting a bit teched for potential roles in our next "a la Joe's J. C." epic, slated at the next rally, March 29. The story? Shucks, that a secret!

Dress rehearsals will be held Wednesday night for the college wrestling show.

Men's Club Bouts Proclaimed Huge Success By All In Attendance; Crown Fights Feature Program

Romley Wins Decision Over Weickers In Slugfest; Chickazola-Laski Grudge Match Is Love Affair

Almost unanimously acclaimed as the best fight program in the college's history, the Associated Men Students' fisticuffs series last Friday night packed the Verdi Club with a yelling throng, including a goodly number of woman guests.

Franklin "Doc" Sewell and Bill O'Neill acted as judges, Dave Johnson, Men's Club president was M. C., and Joe Amori performed as referee in presenting a lengthy and talented array of boxing to the spectators.

Business started with Ed Baca, 139 pound champ, taking a k.o.-towel decision from Ed Porter in three wild rounds. Baca kept his opponent at bay in the first frame, and took the offensive in the second, finally walloping Porter to the canvas in the third, after batting him all over the ring with rights and left to the head.

Johnson Takes Decision

Clark Johnson, at 169 pounds, come out fighting from the start in the second bout, bloodying Ben MacNamee and taking a clean-cut decision in the first round, when Amori halted the fight.

Mel "Adonis" Chicazola met Jack Laski next, in what was reputed to be a "grudge beef." Both contestant, however, were very affectionate during the first ronnd, before Chicazola slugged Laski to the ropes in the second, taking the decision.

In the 149 pound class, Allen Larson slapped Bob Bates dizzy in the first, the bout again being stopped by Amori, and Larson taking an easy decision.

Later in the evening, Larson met Dick Baker of the University of Nevada in what was slated to be an exhibition match. But Larson was quite serious about it, as shown by the fact that he laid out his opponent with a barrage of left and rights to the button.

Hal Von Volkman, packing short arms with plenty of wallop, slugged out a decision over Frank Brickwedell in three rounds. Von Volkman had the edge from the start, peppering his opponent's head with all kinds of stuff.

Von Valkman Wins Again

Happy about the whole thing, Von Volkman came back again in the evening's final match to decision Clark Johnson in a gruelling slugfest.

Heavy Jan Blomquist slapped, smacked, and slugged Chris "Tony Galento" Gargaetas into submission in three rounds, in a later bout. Blomquist was just a little too quick, and too aggressive for "Tony".

One of the evening's features was the Wieckers-Romley duel. It was a tough one. Romley took the decision by virtue of terrific rights to Wieckers' head. Those blows shook the rafters and hurt the audience. Wieckers shook them off, but couldn't keep away from the repeated poundings at the same spot.

John Matiasic showed tricky footwork in a really good bout with Jack Laski. It was more or less even, the decision being a draw.

Two Clown-Bouts

Not to forget the "Clown-Bouts". There were two.

In the first, Mel Chicazola battled Charlie O'Brien, Frank Nilan and the referee. After six minutes of concentrated mayhem, O'Brien took the decision for causing the most agony.

Ken Pasqualetti kicked Bob Dolman out of the ring in a "wrestling match," and in turn had his own schnozzle dragged around on the ropes. Amori, acting as referee, capably disposed of both combatants when they showed signs of becoming rambunctious. Nobody knows yet who won . . . if any?

Netmen Open Conference At Santa Rosa; Wilson Plans Southern Trip

Traveling to Santa Rosa this Friday, Coach Tom Wilson's net squad, rated as the best in the history of the college, will open defense of its conference championship against a supposedly weak Bear Cub team.

Performing in the number one spot for the Rams will be Harold Wagner, high ranking Junior Davis Cup player, while Bill Canning, another Junior Davis Cupper, will hold down the second singles assignment.

Positions Subject to Change

Ray Berns, veteran of last year's campaign, and Bill Madamba, former Commerce flash, will take care of the third and fourth singles, with Bob Kun holding forth in the fifth spot. All positions are subject to change, however, as Wilson may deem it necessary to shift his lineup to obtain more balance.

Wagner and Kun will probably form one doubles combination with Berns and Canning combining to form the other.

Believing he has a well rounded squad, capable of taking the measure of any junior college in the state, Wilson has lined up a strong schedule which should keep the lads busy till the conference playoff in May.

Menlo After Santa Rosa

Following the conference opener at Santa Rosa, the local racqueteers will take on the Menlo squad, March 22, on the peninsula courts, and Salinas, March 25, on the latter's home grounds.

Easter week will find the Ram netsters in Los Angeles engaging a number of strong southern aggregations. Numbered among them are the UCLA frosh, Los Angeles City College, and Fresno State. The schedule for the trip has not been completed, however, as Wilson has hopes of pitting his team against three or four other southern schools.

Other Teams Approached

Pasadena Junior College and USC frosh have been approached and the Ram mentor should receive an answer some time this week.

First opportunity for Ram supporters to view their team will be April 10, when the lads engage the USF varsity on the Palace of Fine Arts courts. The playoff between the coast section winners and the valley champions will be held on neutral grounds, April 29, with the junior college tournament scheduled for May 5 or 6 at the Palace Courts.

Tennis Schedule

March 17—Santa Rosa at Santa Rosa
March 22—Menlo at Menlo
March 25—Salinas at Salinas
March 31—Modesto at Modesto
April 1—Fresno State at Fresno
April 3—UCLA Frosh at UCLA
April 4—LA City College at LA
April 10—USF at Palace
April 15—San Mateo at Palace
April 22—Marin at Palace
April 25—Santa Clara at Santa Clara
April 29—Coast and Valley playoff
May 5-6—Junior College Tournament at Palace

College Doubles Play Set For Palace Courts; Wagner, Canning Favorites

Under the direction of Coach Tom Wilson and Bertha Keller, respective coaches of the men's and women's tennis classes, the second annual doubles championship of the college will get under way this week on the Palace courts.

Favorites to capture the men's doubles title will be Harold Wagner and Bill Canning, top ranking Ram netmen. Ray Berns and Bob Kun, second ranking combination of the college, will provide stern opposition for the favorites, as will the strong team of Bill Dodson and Ray Kline.

The mixed doubles event will find Wagner pairing with Rema Corbett to share the favorites' position with the strong entry of Bill Madamba and Tillie Huddleson. Another strong couple to be reckoned with is Kun and Virginia Heins, the latter having held rankings in Northern California. Berns will team with Anna Lee Smith, while Canning has entered with Jean Paque.

Enthusiasm has waxed high for this tournament and a large entry list has been turned into the instructors, who will post the draw this week.

World-Famous Yogi Returns To Scene of First Great Triumph; Tennis Instruction

Once again, with or without your permission, that eminent soothsayer, psychologist, diagnostician, instructor, and . . . (oh, this could go on forever) the Yogi, returns with his views on pertinent questions.

This issue, the Yogi will answer those who have asked the question, "how may I develop a winning tennis game?"

We Do Mean You

To our ardent pupils who have raised this question, we say, if, at the end of this article, you feel that you still will not be able to win at the game of tennis, you can go plumb straight . . .

There is one cardinal rule that you must remember if you wish to develop a winning game; never try to win points, always make the other fellow lose points.

How much easier it is to win a point by calling one of your opponent's shots out, than to sweat like the very devil and work for an honest point.

Always remember that if your opponent's ball is six inches inside your court, it is out! If your ball is six inches outside the court on his side of the net, it is in!

Resort to Three Methods

Of course, in the latter case, one must realize that the opponent has a right to say whether the ball was in or out on his side, and consequently, one must resort to one of three methods to gain such a point.

The three methods may be labeled physical, verbal, and super-physical.

Naturally, the first course is the physical method. If he calls one of your out balls out, stare across the net at him with a look of amazement on your face. Lift your eyebrows in apparent bewilderment.

Use Second System

In the event that the first method doesn't work, fall back on the second one, the verbal method.

One must start out gently on the verbal method. For instance, "how was that ball back there?" If he replies that it was out, be firm, stand on your rights, use a little more force, say, "what's the matter, are you cock-eyed? That ball was good." If you are adamant, you will usually get the point.

Sometimes, one encounters on the court an opponent who is susceptible to neither the physical or verbal methods. Tennis is supposedly a gentleman's game. A fellow of that sort should not be allowed on the court—he is a cad.

It is imperative, therefore, that when one meets up with men of this calibre who respond to neither of the first two systems, one brings into play the third and results-guaranteed system—the super-physical method.

Manufacturers in Favor

In the super-physical method, one strides to the net in a menacing manner, jumps over it, walks up to his opponent, and calmly proceeds to beat his opponent's brains out with a tennis racket (racket manufacturers favor this method).

Don't feel that you are being left in a lurch by the Yogi if you resort to the super-physical method. What to do with the body? Ah hah, elementary, my dear readers, elementary.

We will cite you an illustration from our own scrapbook on how to dispose of the body, one of our favorite and more-popular ways.

After administering the death blow to one of our opponents, we hurried to the nearest meat-grinder and proceeded to grind. Our crime was not discovered for a year, and when we were tried and the district attorney asked for a conviction, every person on the jury burst out in unrestrained laughter. We were fined $2.00, and asked not to use a meat-grinder again because the local butcher's hamburger was already under suspicion.

College's Golf Team To Be Named This Week; Romey Twins Nucleus of Squad

Coach Louis "Dutch" Conlan has announced that the college's official golf team will be named this week.

Having had four boys at hand, Conlan held a tryout match at Ingleside Course to determine who the balance of the squad would be. Final results are now being checked.

The team will be built mainly around the Romey brothers, Gordon and Ray, as well as the veteran, Bill Hoffman.

The golf turnout convinced Coach Conlan that the team will be strong.

First College Inter-Class Track Meet Won By High Frosh; Larry Korchet, Bob Mc Guire Pace Sophs

New Varsity Prospects Discovered In Event; Russ Sweet Pleased, Lawrence Indifferent Over Final Outcome

Wallowing through a sea of mud, the high freshmen of the college did themselves proud by scoring seven less points than the combined total of their opponents, and walking off with the first inter-class track meet at Kezar Stadium last Saturday.

When the final results had been tabulated, the high frosh had chalked up 61 points as against 41 for the high sophs, who placed second, 15 for the third place low sophs, and 18 for the entering freshman class.

Two Double-Winners

Bob McGuire, blond speed demon, and Larry Korchet, veteran weight man, were the only double winners of the day, McGuire copping the 100 yard dash in 10.2, and the 220 in 24 flat, and Korchet throwing the discus 134 ft., and putting the shot 38 ft. 8 in.

Incidentally, both men are members of the high soph aggregation contributing 20 points between them to the high soph total.

Several new varsity prospects were uncovered in the meet. Charles Klingler who placed third in the mile and second in the 440, Bill Norman who ran a strong fourth in the 880, and Kent Jorgensen who drew down a second place in the high jump, are all considered outstanding prospects by track mentor Russ Sweet.

Sweet Satisfied

Commenting upon the performances, Russ said, "because of the fact that the track was muddy, the times were not quite up to par. I do think, however, that the nucleus for an excellent track team was displayed in the field."

Results

Mile Run: Won by Henry (H. F.); 2nd, Clifford (H. F.); 3rd, Klingler (H. F.; 4th, Rankin (H. F.). Time, 5:05.

100 yd. Dash: Won by McGuire (H. S.); 2nd, Moisan (H. S.); 3rd, Emery (H. S.); 4th, Ida (L. S.). Time, 10.2.

440 yd. Dash: Won by Goppert (L. F.); 2nd, Klingler (H. F.); 3rd, Finn (L. S.; 4th, Tong (L. S.). Time, 56.5.

70 yd. Hurdles: Tie between Bitgood (H. S.), and Raine (H. F.). Time, 9.8.

880 yd. Run: Won by Clifford (H. F.); 2nd, Goppert (L. F.); 3rd, Henry (H. F.); fourth, Norman (H. F.). Time, 2:13.5.

220 yd. Dash: Won by McGuire (H. S.); 2nd, Finn (L. S.); 3rd, Goodman (H. F.); 4th, Emery (H. S.). Time, 24 flat.

Shot Put: Won by Korchet (H. S.); 2nd, Bitgood (H. S.); 3rd, Sparber (H. F.); 4th, Manuel (H. S.). Distance, 38 ft. 8 in.

Javelin: Won by Van Slyke (H. F.); 2nd, Foye (H. F.); 3rd, Grant (L. S.); 4th, Moisan (H. S.). Winning distance, 158 ft. 4 in.

High Jump: Won by Raine (H. F.); 2nd, Jorgensen (H. F.); tie for third between Kitagowa (H. F.) and Hagen (H. F.). Winning height 5 ft. 10 in.

Discus: Won by Korchet (H. S.); 2nd, Grant (L. S.); 3rd, Moisan (H. S.); 4th, Van Slyke (H. F.). Winning distance, 134 ft.

Relay: Won High Frosh (Goodman, Nouman, Clifford, Henry); 2nd, Low Sophs; 3rd, Low Frosh; 4th, High Sophs.

New Hurler Sets Down Santa Clara Frosh; Ram Horsehiders Triumph 8-1

Charley Christensen, new-found Ram hurler, amazed by twirling a near perfect game against the Santa Clara Frosh on Mission Field, Santa Clara, last Tuesday afternoon. Christensen, nicked for but two scratch hits, led the Powell Hill Hitters to a lopsided 8 to 1 victory.

Formerly a versatile, all around baseballer, "Christy" took his turn on the hilltop when Coach Jack Gaddy found a shortage of dependable hurlers, and then proceeded to turn in the most masterful exhibition of moundsmanship displayed by any Ram pitcher thus far this season.

In Complete Command

Showing a fair fastball, a pretty good curve and a cool attitude, Christensen was in complete command of the situation at all times and was given no trouble by any of the Santa Clara batters, with the exception of Graham, Colt leftfielder, who managed to get both hits, a slow roller over second and a "blooper" to right.

Opposing Christensen on the rubber, was John "Lefty" Collins, formerly a star pitcher with St. Ignatius High. Pitching but three innings, Collins held the Gaddymen in check allowing one hit and two unearned runs. Franzoia and Matula succeeded Collins on the mound.

Franzoia hurled good ball for three frames, allowing but two hits, by Friedkin and McMahon. The Rams banged out three hits and tallied four times in a wild seventh inning.

Big Inning

Frank Rahmer, Ram third sacker, was safe when catcher Royer of the Prune Valley team, misjudged his high pop-up in front of the plate, the ball landing in fair territory. "Specs" Geruhgty was safe on Sheehan's miscue. Charley Christensen fouled out to Royer, Mickey McMahon was out on an infield fly, and Baird, Friedkin and Mustanich followed with three successive bingles, driving in the four runs. "Nuggets" Rufus grounded out, Dooley to Collins, ending the inning.

Santa Clara tallied its lone run in the eighth. Graham doubled down the right field foul line, the ball actually kicking up a puff of the white lime used to mark the foul lines, went to third on Petroni's infield out and scored on another infield out by Newby.

Lead Rams

Friedkin and Mustanich led the local team with two hits apiece, while Graham of the Colts got the only two hits off Christensen.

Score:	R.	H.	E.
San Francisco Jr. College	8	10	1
Santa Clara Freshmen	1	2	8

Batteries: Christensen and Mustanich; Collins, Franzoia, Matula and Royer.

Women's Sport Parade
By FRANCES MANALO

Posture tests next week have made it necessary for the basketball team to change the date of their big game from March 15 to March 29.

The team has been playing a two-court basketball game instead of three-court as in previous semesters.

• • •

Mixed doubles tournaments will be started on March 24, and all who wish to play are asked to sign up before that date.

It is traditional that winners of the tournament have their names engraved on The Guardsman trophy. Tillie Huddleson and Harold Mitchell have triumphed the two preceding semesters.

Matches and practices are to be arranged by the players.

On April 15, the golf class will have a putting tournament with the high schools, and the classes are training now to perfect the various strokes and win over the opponents.

• • •

A ride to Jack London's ranch is the next event in line for the Riding Club and that will be on April 29.

• • •

WAA baseball is proving that the women are no sissies. Hard ball is being played on a larger diamond. Previously, the club was playing softball on a small diamond, but now the club has advanced.

• • •

Folk dancing and a dinner at the Swedish Applied Arts on April 13 will be the next event of the dancing class.

Student Opinion Votes Policing Campaign Failure

By DAN ROSENBLAT

Recent activities of the Block S. F. Society in attempting to police the stairway and sidewalk in front of the Powell Street building have not met with much success in the opinion of students interviewed by the Poll during the past week.

Policing Fails

Asking the question, "Was the Block Society's recent policing campaign a success or failure?" the survey found almost 80 per cent of the students of the definite opinion that the campaign was a failure. Three per cent voted partial success; the remainder felt that complete success had been obtained.

Composite Opinion

A composite of student opinion feeling that the campaign was a failure would read approximately as follows:

"I don't believe that college students need to be policed or regimented in any way. Conditions on the stairs may not be very satisfactory, but an appeal to student cooperation should have been tried, rather than to have let one or two blockmen push students around from time to time. The block had a nice buildup, but they didn't use it. A few of them tried, but they all gave up too soon to get anything done."

All students voting the campaign a success did so by means of The Guardsman ballots, rather than as a result of personal interview. Because of this, no reasons supporting the success vote have been received, the ballots turned in being all blank with the exception of a single cryptic "good work".

Abolish Electioneering

For its next subject the pool ventures somewhat timidly into the dangerous field of straw votes, a field which has already proved the doom of so reputable an organization as the Literary Digest. A few weeks ago the Executive Council approved a ruling forbidding the practice of any type of electioneering. Sometime in the future the subject will be placed before the student body for a final vote. Check your opinion in the matter on the following ballot and turn it in to The Guardsman box.

Do you think electioneering should be abolished in the college?

..............Yes ....No

Some of the Yellowstone Park bears are hibernating in steam-heated dens, warmed by hot springs.

Library Browsing

By JANET FELLOWS

While looking through the magazines in the reserve book room, we discovered some interesting reading material, and we wish to share our enjoyment with other students who spend their leisure hours in reading.

In the Motion Picture Review Digest, February 27, 1939, Four Girls in White is said to be appealing entertainment with an awe-inspiring hospital background. Other critics deem the picture to be exciting, emotional, and a good production, with commendable social values. It is also acclaimed to be realistic, educational, and enjoyable entertainment for adults.

Made for Each Other is acclaimed to be an amusing comedy as well as touching, beautiful, and thrilling. Carole Lombard and James Stewart, the stars in this picture, are praised for their fine acting.

In the business world The Wall Street Dream Market in the Forum magazine, March, 1939, is a humorously pessimistic outlook on the nation's stock exchanges and the people who have chosen this field as their occupations.

The surprising article, Higher Taxes, Please in the same issue gives an unheard of slant on the age old income tax complaints. This opinion seems to be free of over-throwing-the-government, or making-the-citizen-unsatisfied appeals. It is not only stimulating and enlightening, but humorous as well.

The New Republic, March 8, 1939, the current events magazine, runs the educational article, The Armament Bandwagon. The author does not approve of this country selling airplanes to other nations, and gives substantial reasons for his disapproval.

In the same issue Has Mr. Dies the Floor? presents the results of a student poll at the George Washington University in Washington, D. C. The students filled out questionnaires asking their opinions of the people and organizations attacked by the Dies committee. The purpose of the experiment was to ascertain the affect of the propaganda about this case. The results of the poll were rather amusing.

QUIZ ANSWERS

(Continued from page 2)

1. Annie Oakley. 2. Sidney Porter. 3. Achilles. 4. English. 5. Napoleon Bonaparte. 6. Switzerland. 7. Holland. 8. Ethel Barrymore. 9. Sax Rohmer. 10. Omar Khayyam in his Rubaiyat.

College Delegates To Attend Fresno AWS Convention

Representing the college, four women will attend the Associated Women Students' convention of Northern California March 17 and 18 at Fresno State College, declared Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser.

"We are also pleased to announce that our college will have an active part in the entertainment, as Dorothy Trood, AWS president, has been asked to deliver a ten minute address at the convention," Miss Dougherty said.

Miss Trood has chosen as her topic, Social Activities of the Associated Women Students.

"Our other representatives will include Margaret Meader, Helen Culp, and Dorothy Sanderson, Women's Athletic Association president," Miss Dougherty added.

In addition to these women, others are planning to attend as unofficial delegates, differing from the formerly mentioned in that they are not allowed to vote while at the convention. Women who choose to undertake personal traveling expenses may attend as unofficial members.

"As the location of these affairs varies each year, our college will have an opportunity in the near future to play hostess to the many representatives from other colleges," Miss Trood explained.

As is customary at such reunions, a complete program of activities and entertainment has been previously planned by the college selected to be hostess, this time Fresno State.

"Among other activities which are not revealed to the representatives until the actual convention time arrives, will be a tea, similar to our get acquainted affairs, a dance held on the last night of attendance, and a special breakfast to be held Sunday morning," Miss Trood said.

In her address Miss Trood plans to reveal the actions of the AWS in this college and discuss events which would better the organization and promote general interest among the women.

Dorothy Canavan and Marian Frazier were among the women selected from the college to attend last year.

Newman Club Invites College To Discussion

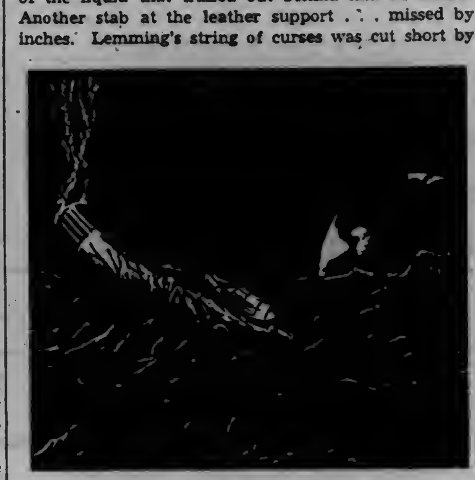
All students of the college are invited to attend the next meeting of the Newman Club to be held March 20, in the clubroom at St. Mary's Cathedral. There will be an open forum and the topic for discussion is "Present Day Social Problems."

Flight Of The Starlark

Reported By Louis Goldstone

CHAPTER TWO

OLD Earth, its daylit hemisphere glowing with a soft copper hue, the patchy greens and grays of continents half veiled by mist, hung stolidly in the void some 200,000 miles astern of the STARLARK'S rear jets.



Ahead and slightly to one side, the Moon grew ever larger as it pursued its ancient orbit toward the appointed meeting place.

The STARLARK sped silently on, carrying with it the hopes and prayers of a world . . . and Man's expanding dreams of cosmic empire.

* * *

Half-way point . . . That incredible region of infinity where the gravitational pull of the Moon balances that of Earth. Result: no direction of "up" or "down" . . . absolute weightlessness . . .

Lemming floated slowly across the interior of the STARLARK'S navigation cabin. He grasped vainly with one hand for a leather strap suspended from the nearest wall; in his other hand was a slender-necked water bottle, which, as he moved, oozed great bubbles of the liquid that trailed out behind him in midair. Another stab at the leather support . . . missed by inches. Lemming's string of curses was cut short by a groan from the other end of the compartment. Lewis lay white-faced, eyes closed, securely strapped down to the small metal bunk. Vertigo and extreme nausea had stricken him on entry into the "weightless zone". He raised a free hand to wipe cold sweat from his face.

They Had Reached the Moon!

"It's all right . . . we'll pass into the Moon's attraction any minute now." Franck turned his attention from the STARLARK'S course long enough for these few words.

"Just take it easy." He plunged back into a maze of calculation. It had been predicted as far back as 1938 that when interplanetary travel came, it would be easier to train skilled mathematicians to fly rockets than to teach pilots to perform the needed computations . . . This first spatial voyage only served to bear out that contention.

A minute . . . Five minutes . . . An hour . . .

All-pervading silence, silence that shrieked even louder than the now unused rocket tubes, filled the ship.

"We're falling fast now," Franck was saying, "and if we're the least bit off our schedule . . . a minute too fast or too slow . . . we'll either smash up against the Moon or miss it completely and keep on going out in space forever."

Luna loomed bloated and lifeless in the viewplate. Each passing moment saw it increase visibly in size. It filled the screen, and now only a quadrant was visible. The terminator, ragged dividing line between Lunar day and night lurched by . . . Copernicus rolled into view, above it the blackened plains of the Bay of Rainbows. The crumpled Appennines to the eastward . . .

* * *

Deceleration! The STARLARK'S forward tubes blasted out at the touch of a key, retarding the terrific velocity of the Moonward plunge.

The three men were crushed gasping against the cabin walls as the mighty surge of power licked out into space . . . The STARLARK changed its course, moved eastward across the sharp terminator into the night side of the Moon.

* * *

The eyes of the world caught brief, bright flashes of the STARLARK'S exhaust silhouetted against Luna's ebon night surface. The Earth screamed in jubilation. The trip was almost completed. Now if the STARLARK could only land safely . . . and return . . . Man's initial venture into the unknown would be successful . . . Minute by minute, hour by hour, Earth held its breath . . . watched those pinpoint flashes course with infinite slowness across the Moon, watched them disappear behind Luna's eastern rim and went made with anxiety until at length they reappeared to the west. The STARLARK was circling the Moon, braking its speed preparatory to a landing . . . Earth's billions watched those darts of light, and forgot all else . . .

* * *

The STARLARK hesitated for a moment, then plunged downward. Its forward tubes blasted a swath of rock and ancient dust . . . It bounced from the ramparts of a jagged crater-rim, nosed around, and slid for a mile across the Lunar plain, piling up a mountain of debris before it. Its long trim lines were deeply scored. One of the retracted metal wings had snapped wide on the first impact, and was now a torn, crumpled mass. Shiny fragments cluttered the vessel's wake.

But it had reached the Moon!

After a while, three figures, grotesquely clad in protective suits, issued from the STARLARK'S main port. As they stepped forth, they sprang high above the ground and floated slowly downward, to land in a cloud of thick metallic dust that settled quickly. They lumbered awkwardly. The slightest excess muscular effort sent them sprawling skyward. They were unaccustomed to a gravity only 1/6 as powerful as that of Earth.

Glassite helmets bobbed up and down as they ascended a small nearby ridge. Standing on its crest, they could see the Earth, undimmed by a Lunar atmosphere, hanging just above the horizon. It had taken on a faint bluish tinge, but the land-masses were clearly marked.

North America was fast sinking into the shadow of night, and as they looked more closely, they saw tiny points of light on the continent. The lights of New York blazing out, Chicago shone as a livid dot farther west . . . and on the shore of the Pacific a tiny eye flashed as San Francisco fled into darkness. . . .

Business Students Employed; Lecture Series Planned

That the students in the college business courses are in popular demand was pointed out by F. Grant Marsh, business director, Thursday, when he told of the recent employment of Betty Calhoun and Ralph Carruthers, both fourth semester students.

Miss Calhoun has been temporarily placed and Carruthers is working for the National Bank Examiners. More demands for students to work than can really be taken care of are constantly being made to the Retail Merchandising classes.

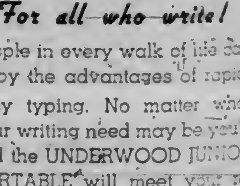
Carrying forward the program of having outside Insurance executives lecture to classes, the General Insurance class heard Nelson Davis, manager of the General Life Insurance Co., and a member of the College of Life Underwriters.

Davis' theme was "The New Way of Buying Life Insurance." He traced the history of life insurance from the early forms of short term speculative gambling up to the present scientific type of trust institution.

Indicating the new social and business responsibilities arising from modern life which call for varied forms of life insurance, Davis compared the complete economic system of today with that of our forefathers.

"This new pattern of needs can be more accurately tailored to twentieth century living through the employment, not of hit and miss buying, but of definitely programmed insurance," Davis concluded.

Friday Marks Last Day To Present Applications For Admission Into HEA



Claire Cuneo, Home Economics Association adviser, announced Friday that today and tomorrow are positively the last days for aspirants to present applications for admission into the association.

"The reason for the deadline is because haste is imperative to complete reservations for the initiation dinner. Initiation ceremonies will take place at Sigmund Stern Grove tomorrow afternoon at 4:30," Miss Cuneo said.

A special meeting of the initiation arrangements committees will be held at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon in Room 317 at Galileo High School. Application blanks will be available there at that time, or they may be secured from any of the officers of the association.

"To those members who wish to join the Home Economics Association, I extend my cordial invitation. The purpose of the association is to aid those women interested in acquiring a practical knowledge of dress, hair styles, and clothing materials," Miss Cuneo concluded.

UNDERWOOD JUNIOR

For all who write!

People in every walk of life can enjoy the advantages of rapid easy typing. No matter what your writing need may be you'll find the UNDERWOOD JUNIOR PORTABLE will meet your requirements.

Manufacturer's Price $39.50

OUR PRICE $28.50

An advantageous buy of a quantity of these Models permits us to pass this saving along to you. You will have to act quickly as supply is limited.

San Francisco Typewriter Exchange

591 Market Street SUtter 4734

CLUB SCHEDULE

NAME	Type of Meeting	TIME	PLACE
*Alpha Delta Epsilon	No plans
Alpha Gamma Sigma	Business	April 6, 2:00 p.m.	Galileo
Alpha Phi Omega	Business	March 28, 8:00 p.m.	Indefinite
Army-Navy	Inspection	March 19, 9:00 a.m.	Galileo
Astronomy	Observation	April 1	Lick Tower
Beta Phi	No plans
Block S. F.	Business	March 21, 7:30 p.m.	Galileo, Room 458
Beta Tau	Business	March 20	2261 - 17th Avenue
*Chess	Match	March 18, 7:30 p.m.	Indefinite
Chinese	No plans
Forestry	Social	March 17, 7:30 p.m.	1434 Funston
Forum	No plans
French	Discussion	March 16, 7:30 p.m.	Indefinite
George Washington	Business	March 15, 2:15 p.m.	Galileo 202
Home Econ. Ass'n	Business	March 15, 2:30 p.m.	Galileo, Room 317
Hotel-Restaurant	Fair Tour	March 18, 11:00 a.m.	Ferry Building
*Italian	No plans
Iota Chi	Social	March 30, 8:00 p.m.	Western Women's Club
Japanese Students	No plans
Lambda Chi	Social	March 30, 8:00 p.m.	Western Women's Club
Music	Business	March 16, 7:30 p.m.	2269 Francisco Street
Newman	Business	March 20	St. Mary's Cathedral
*Nathaniel Bennett	No plans
Omicron Phi Pi	No plans
Peace Society	No plans
*Phi Alpha Omega	Business	March 26, 8:00 p.m.	Indefinite
*Phi Rho Pi	No plans
Phi Beta Rho	Init.—Dinner-Dance	March 30	Palace Hotel
Phys. Ed. Majors	Business	March 15, 1:30 p.m.	Galileo Cafeteria
Pi Mu Gamma	Speech	March 15, 7:30 p.m.	Homewood Terrace
Pick & Hammer	No plans
*Radio Engineers	No plans
Rifle & Pistol	Business	March 17, 4:30 p.m.	Rifle Range
*Sigma Delta Chi	No plans
Tarbuth	Discussion	March 26, 7:30 p.m.	300 [illegible] Street
Tri Epsilon	No plans
Women's Service Society	No plans

Visits To KFRC, KSAN Planned By College Radio Department In Near Future

Embryonic radio technicians, under the direction of Lowell M. Hollingsworth, head of the college radio department, will visit radio stations KSAN and KFRC sometime in the near future.

The radiomen have already been shown through the main Telephone Building, located at 455 Bush Street. During the tour of inspection they had the opportunity of studying the operation of the telephone system.

"The visit to the Phone Company," said Hollingsworth, "stimulated work of the students no end, and I am sure that when we have paid a visit to the local radio stations, the work that we are doing on transmitters will also be speeded up."

Located at the Samuel Gompers trade school, the radio students study only the technical side of radio science. It is hoped that soon, courses dealing with script writing, direction, acting and all of the duties necessary for the complete operation of a radio station, will be added to the college curriculum.

A Cappella Choir Scheduled To Broadcast Over Radio

Under the auspices of the Parent Teacher Association, the A Cappella Choir will be featured in a half-hour program to be broadcast over station KSAN, Monday morning, March 30 at 11:30, Flossita Badger, music director announced.

The program will include numbers by Patricia Keefer and Bob Scott, popular duo, and the male quartet composed of Arnold Chapin, Bill Jackmann, Everett Wallace, and Bob Scott.

Tomorrow Is Last Day To Buy Tickets For Piano Concert

Tomorrow will be the last day for students to buy tickets to go with the music club to hear the brilliant pianist, Casedesus. Casedesus is appearing in San Francisco at the opera house with the symphony orchestra. The club is going to hear the renowned pianist on March 25; tickets will cost 55 cents. "Those who wish to go should see Tina Ariani or Arthur Becker immediately," announced the president of the club, Gene Boomer.

Building Status

(Continued from page 1)

one week later, giving an anticipated completion date of November, 1939.

These plans went through the necessary red tape and finally reached Washington.

Government Objects

Unfortunately, government officials at the nation's capitol objected to several minor details and returned the plans for corrections.

Not until February 7, 1939, were the plans ready for final approval. At this date the board gave instructions for bids to be called for.

Bidding Opens

The bids were opened last Wednesday, March 8. The lowest bid submitted was a total of $1,210.991 for the construction of the academic buildings.

This figure includes construction, mechanical devices, electricity and plumbing, but is approximately $140,000 over the amount of money allotted for the project.

In a final remark Ormond said, "PWA requirements say that the project must be completed by June, 1940. However, we hope to have the work done prior to that time."

Posture Tests For Women Given Regularly At Galileo By Gym Instructors

Posture tests are now being given to all women Freshmen on Mondays and Wednesdays at 3:30 o'clock and on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 2:30. These tests can be taken by all women of the college.

Purpose of these tests is to show the students just how they appear to others when they walk, stand, and sit. The tests also show if the student is accurate, fast, and alert.

First, a silhouette for posture is made to show where improvement is needed, then, a test to show the condition of the feet. Different tests are given to bring to light the faults of the student in walking up and down stairs, lifting things from the floor, and the plumb-line test.

After completing the tests the students have a conference with one of the instructors to see what improvements can be made and what can be done to help correct bad posture.

"These posture tests are helpful to the average college woman because they show just how the student appears to her fellow students," Bertha Mae Keller, physical education instructor, said.

Second Midterm Period Ends Friday, March 24

End of the second midterm period will be March 24, according to Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar of the college. One week following this date, students of the college will be given a vacation which will run from April 3 to 10.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

FOSTER'S LUNCH SYSTEM

470 SUTTER

The best food in town for the least money

Why not drop in between classes for a snack or a full course meal?

Gather with your fellow students on our second floor

MAKE YOUR MIDTERMS EASY

Study Helps

Review With Outlines of Your Courses

Zoo. 10	Eng. 1B	Bus. 51A-51B
Hist. 4A-4B	Econ. 1A	Chem. 1A-1B
Hist. 45-47	Econ. 11	Chem. 53A-53B
Eng. 19A-19B	Econ. 40	Sociology 1A-1B
Geology 1A-1B	Botany 1A-1B	All Math.
Physics 1A-1B	Hist. 9	All Languages
	Psy. 1A-1B

AND MANY OTHERS

JUNIOR COLLEGE STUDENT STORE

518 POWELL

A Capella Choir Assembly Next Tuesday

The Guardsman

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Two Days Left To Submit Material To Forum

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22, 1939 No. 10

Soph Barbecue 'History Maker' At Balboa Park

Lawrence Expects 2000 At May Day Class Extravaganza

Radiating confidence in abundant quantities, Floyd Lawrence, president of the High Sophomore Class is so certain that the High Sophomore Week barbecue at Balboa Park on May Day, will be "the biggest thing ever to happen in the history of the college" that he has conservatively estimated the number of guests he expects at this huge outing as "somewhere around two thousand".

With high hopes of surpassing in grandeur and sheer immensity Governor Olson's Inaugural Barbecue of a month or two ago, Lawrence today stated that plans for the broiled beef barbecue to be held amidst "the beautiful and awe-inspiring" surrounding of Balboa Park are fast being whipped into shape.

Plans Draw Acclaim

Slated to mark determined occupation of the campus site for an entire day and featuring real Southern barbecue prepared in the inimitable style of the college hotel division and its baronial barbecuers, PLUS the highly touted Sadie Hawkins event, the plans caused Lawrence to bubble over with enthusiasm for the contemplated success of this immense undertaking.

Open to everyone with an appetite, a flair for having a good time, and the mere sum of fifty cents, the event will bring together in the congenial atmosphere of Balboa Park, students, alumni, instructors and their wives, and the High Sophomores who can not be called students because they are just at the awkward stage.

Open To All

Issuing an invitation to anyone connected in any way with the college, Lawrence wants everyone to share the delicious barbecue, the beautiful surroundings, and to imbibe

(Continued on page 4, column 4)

Dates Of Women's Tourney Week Changed To April 20, 26; Tentative Plans Made

Dates for the Women's Athletic Association Tourney Week have been officially changed, to Thursday, April 20 through Wednesday, April 26.

With the changing of the Tourney Week date, the association finals dates also had to be changed.

Dates Given

As they stand now, the sports finals dates are as follows: Ice Skating Carnival is to be held on April 21 from 10:30 a.m. to 12 o'clock, and all members of the college are invited to attend this carnival; the Golf Putting tournament will follow on April 22 at Funston; on the same day, a spectacular Horse Show will be the next event after the putting tournament; the Modern Dance class will see Humphrey Weideman; another big event will be the Swimming Meet between WAA members at the YWCA on April 25.

Tourney Week will close on Wednesday, April 26, with the semi-annual banquet. Plans for the banquet have not yet neared completion, and only tentative plans are now in existence.

Committees Listed

Committees that will arrange and have general charge of Tourney Week are headed by general chairman, Marjorie Radke; invitations, Gloria Miller; decorations, Daisy Tani; entertainment, Rose Davis; program, Constance Wong; arrangements, Alma Koopman, and re-arrangements, June Tanaka.

More events are being planned, but as yet many of the present events are only tentative. At the end of Tourney Week, all women students will be able to attend the banquet that is being planned.

During the past semesters, Tourney Week has been one of the biggest events of the WAA. Previously, members of the athletic associations of the high schools have been invited to attend during this week, this semester tentative plans are being considered.

Women's Annual Sports Day Re-scheduled at Fair

The annual sectional Women's Sports Day for all Northern California is to be held on Treasure Island on April 15 instead of April 1 is official, according to Dorothy Sanderson, president of Women's Athletic Association.

This coming Sports Day is the first Intercollegiate Sports Day to be staged on the World's Fair grounds. Because of this, the WAA is expecting to hold many great events at the Island, among which is a horse show.

Meet Scheduled

On Tuesday, April 14, the committee chairmen are to meet at Vera Spencer's home to discuss the present plans and add more events to the plans. The general chairman for this extravaganza is Kay Lloyd.

Invitations will be sent to ten Northern California junior colleges to participate with the college in the events that are to be staged.

Functions Planned

Among the functions that are being planned are team games, individual sports, and demonstrations. The sports and games are to be social rather than competitive.

There will also be demonstrations of team games, and a new game that is at present being played at Stanford University.

Later Announcements

Further plans will be announced after the committee chairmen and Vera Spencer, sponsor of WAA, have met and discussed the tentative arrangements.

This Sports Day is the first of the list that has been scheduled by the various junior colleges in Northern California. San Francisco Junior College was the first one to hold a Sports Day according to the schedule.

The ten junior colleges that invitations are to be sent to are not yet definite, and it is rumored that more then ten will be invited to participate in the Sports Day.

Pomares Holds 'Surprise' For Final Rally Wednesday

Admitting that he has been saving his "surprise attraction" for the last rally of the semester next Wednesday, Art Pomares, chief college cheer coaxer, radiated confidence in anticipation of the rally.

Pomares declares, "There is no question but that this rally will far surpass all others presented this semester.

Surprise Personality

"Besides a 'surprise personality,' the rally committee and I have engaged the services of Jack Schmale and Ray Berns, playful playwrights to stage another of their masterpieces at this rally."

Although the nature of this attraction is also held as a surprise, Schmale disclosed that the theme of his play is taken from Treasure Island's Gayway.

Companion Features

Companion features to these attractions will also add to the entertainment value of the rally, according to Pomares.

Believing that the popular music recorded over the sound system and played at the rallies is pleasant to listen to, but not in any way pep-instilling, Pomares has engaged the services of the college glee club to record The Victory Song on a phonograph record.

Browne Endorses

Endorsed by Dean Edwin Browne as a "novel and brilliant idea" the record will be played for the first time at next week's rally and at all rallies in future semesters.

Although this will be the last rally of the semester sponsored by the rally committee, the Block S. F., the High Sophomore, and the nomination rallies have yet to be presented.

Dorothy Trood, Janet Ball To Represent College In Convention At California

Invited to send two representatives, the college has selected Janet Ball and Dorothy Trood, Associated Women Students' president, to attend the Central California Intercollegiate Conference to be held at the University of California, Sunday, March 26, according to Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser.

"The conference will start at 9:30 in the morning, and will continue until 5:30," Miss Trood declared, "and the entire day will be crammed with interesting activities."

This is an annual affair for women to which each college and junior college in Central California sends at least one delegate. It includes round table discussions on such matters as activities, the honor system, housing, house rules, orientations and organization, as well as a luncheon, a tour of the campus and informal entertainment.

"Many of the representatives from the more distant colleges are planning to come a day early and attend the Exposition," Miss Trood continued.

The more detailed program will be revealed at a later date.

A Capella Choir From College of Pacific Will Appear In Lecture Hall

Presenting one of the first programs of its annual concert tour, the A Capella Choir of the College of Pacific will appear in the Extension Building lecture hall next Tuesday, March 28, at 11:15 a.m.

Completing its twenty-third successful year, the choir of thirty-two picked voices under the direction of J. Russell Bodley has the distinction of being the oldest unaccompanied choral group on the Pacific Coast.

Students Compete for Choir

Personnel of the group is chosen by competition, open to the entire student body, on the basis of voice quality, ability to read music, and general musicianship.

The repertoire is made up of the finest choral music including sacred, folk, and secular songs. Several of Bodley's own compositions are carried by the choir.

Choir on NBC Programs

Earlier in March the Pacific A Capella Choir broadcast a transcontinental program over the National Broadcasting System. As well as a broadcast over the coast hook-up, the choir has made several recordings.

Praise of the choir has been exceedingly high this year, which indicates a very successful concert tour, taking the choir from the San Francisco Bay district to the Los Angeles region, where the group is to be the guest performers of the California Western Music Educators Conference at Long Beach.

On the Pacific campus, the choir presents two complete programs each year in addition to choral offerings in chapel and at Christmas.

AWS Conference At Fresno Pronounced Huge Success By Returning Delegates

Among the local delegates attending the Associated Women Students annual conference held at Fresno March 17 and 18 were Dorothy Trood, AWS president; Margaret Meader, Helen Culp, and Dorothy Sanderson, Women's Athletic Association president.

"Our stay was made most enjoyable, and Fresno State College should be congratulated on the excellent way in which [illegible] played hostess to the women representatives," Miss Sanderson declared.

End of the second midterm period, next Friday, March 24, was revealed by Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar. "Cinch notices will be released to students who have received unsatisfactory grades for the period just ended," Miss Learnard warned.

Members of the faculty will attend the Northern California Junior College Association meeting in Stockton on Saturday, March 25.

President Cloud To Receive LL.D. From St. Mary's

In recognition of 39 years of devoted and fruitful service to public education, climaxed by his constructive work at this college, President Archibald J. Cloud will receive an honorary degree of doctor of laws from St. Mary's College. The degree will be awarded President Cloud at the commencement exercises of St. Mary's College on May 15, by Brother Albert of that institution.

Largely responsible for the development of some of our most valuable educational associations, notably, the California Teachers' Association, the California Society of Secondary Education and the Western

The Chief

President Cloud

Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, President Cloud, through his untiring efforts to better the cause of education has earned an enviable reputation and a place in the hearts of both students and educational leaders alike.

A strong believer in education, President Cloud has devoted his entire efforts to this field since his graduation from the University of California.

Record Worthy

Highly instrumental in obtaining the Balboa Park site for the new college buildings, President Cloud's record of achievements is highly reflective of his diligent efforts.

As the founder of the California Society of Secondary Education and its president from 1924 to 1934, as the founder, and secretary-treasurer of the Western Association of Colleges and secondary schools since 1928, as a member of the California Council of Education since 1911, President Cloud has also been chief deputy superintendent of schools, a member of many educational and fraternal societies as well as the plain man who is at once a teacher, author, administrator, builder, and friend.

Tribute Plus Recognition

The awarding of this distinction upon President Cloud is not only a tribute to this great man, but a recognition of what he has accomplished at this institution. It should mean as much to every student in this college as it does to the Chief himself.

Because he has won the Board of Education and the people of San Francisco to such an understanding

(Continued on page 2, column 4)

JONES FAMILY MEMBER RELATED TO HJORTH

Unknown to most students, the Jones Family of motion picture fame, is related to the college. Indirectly, of course. Young George Ernst, who plays the banker of the family, is the son of Ernst Hjorth, instructor in charge of chef-training in the Hotel and Restaurant Management Division.

Ernst Junior will have his first starring role soon when he will play opposite Jane Withers in her forthcoming picture.

WAA Hoop Artists Vie With Faculty Team Today

Most important game of the semester for the Women's Athletic Association basketball team, the faculty-student game will take place this afternoon at 3:30 at the Girl's Gym at Galileo.

During the past weeks, the student team was seen training under the instruction of Vera Spencer, and the women on the team have figured out many tricky plays which they intend to outwit the faculty team with.

Try Landslide

Meanwhile, the physical education instructors of the women's department will try to win over their opponents with a score that will disillusion that other team.

Last spring, the faculty was defeated by only a small margin, the students sank one basket in the last quarter and kept that slim margin during the last minutes of the game.

Get Banged Up

During practice last week, members of the student team were so engrossed in their training, that by the time they had finished, every member left the gym with cuts and scratches.

The manager of the team, Marjorie Radke, remarked, "The team has been training and show much improvement, I am sure we will give the faculty team a hard fight for the victory. I hope that all those who are interested will come out and see which team will come out the victor."

Faculty Confident

Members of the faculty team are confident that they will be victorious. Last spring, the gym instructors on the team were Vera Spencer, Verrel Weber, Bertha Mae Keller, Laurine Bergin, and from the Registrar's office were Mary Perry, and Mary Jane Learnard; the same instructors are expected to meet the student team again this semester.

The game is this afternoon, and the students are invited "to attend the event, and cheer the fighting teams to victory."

Alpha Gamma Sigma Plays Host In State Convention

Letters are steadily coming in from chapters of the Alpha Gamma Sigma society throughout California accepting the college invitation to attend the statewide convention of the organization on Treasure Island, Saturday, April 1.

Presided over by James Henry and Dorothy Rodenback the program for the day will be as follows:

10:00—Registration in California Hall.

10:10—Welcome by President A. J. Cloud.

10:15—Music by the college A Capella choir and solos by various students.

10:35—Presentation of charters to the new chapters.

10:45—Music by the San Jose State College choirs.

11:05—Panel discussion of the conference theme: The Purpose of Education in American Democracy.

12:00—Luncheon in the Administration Building.

1:30—Music by the Santa Rosa Junior College Symphony Band.

2:00—Address by Dr. Robert Sibley, University of California Alumni secretary.

2:30—Tour of the Exposition grounds by the delegates under the leadership of the college members.

9:00—Dance in the California Hall.

Alpha Gamma Sigma permanent membership pins may still be secured at the Galileo bank by all students who have had three semesters of college work with a grade average of 2.3, exclusive of physical education.

The scholarship society has existed in the college for three semesters. It was inaugurated by Alice Cooper, present faculty adviser of the society.

Journey To Exposition Features Hotel, Restaurant Anniversary Celebration

As part of the anniversary celebration of the Hotel and Restaurant Management Division, students made a field trip last Saturday to the Golden Gate International Exposition.

Harry Green, student of the division, was a guest of Kent Morris of the Pan-American Airways at the Exposition a few days ago.

Green went to discuss possibilities for future employment on the airlines. He was conducted through the new 74-passenger clipper ship and made a complete tour of the permanent hangars on Treasure Island.

Rutledge Works

Carl Rutledge, student of the division, has been engaged by George D. Smith, manager of the Mark Hopkins and Fairmont Hotels, to act as assistant to the catering manager at the Exposition.

Terry Sandelin, also a student of the division, has been given a permanent position at the Stewart Hotel.

Klinger Runs

Bob Klinger of the hotel division recently threw aside his cooks uniform and, in exchange, donned a track uniform. It is reported that he is a success at both cooking and running. Last Friday he went with the track team to Stanford.

Two new short term (10 week) courses are being given by the hotel division. One is to be given by Walter G. Swanson, manager and vice-president of the San Francisco Convention and Tourist Bureau.

Public Relations

The course will deal with public relations and methods of holding and

(Continued on page 4, column 5)

Board of Education To Act On Revision Of Building Plans Sometime This Week

During the past week, plans for the new college buildings were studied by both administration officials, and the architects in charge in the hope of discovering a way of cutting down construction costs.

The results were submitted to the Board of Education yesterday, and have not as yet been announced. It is hoped, however, that all difficulties in regard to the long awaited campus have finally been smoothed out.

At the last meeting of the Board it was discovered that the lowest bid submitted, $910,000 by the Clinton Construction Company was $140,000 in excess of the amount allotted for the project.

Because of this, the Board ordered the architect, once again to look over the plans. It was announced that if any changes in structure were contemplated, it would take two months for the revisions.

Initiation Tea Held Last Thursday For New Members Of Home Economics Assoc.

Home Economics Association members held their initiation tea last Thursday, receiving into the group the following women: Audrey Brugge, Jeanne Gaughan, Barbara Stahlmann, Mary Jane Beckes, Janet O'Leary, Georgette Allari, Virginia Peach, Kathryn Bowman, Violet Grassow, Leah Fontana, Helga Friedricksen, Dorothy Rust, Marion Schrick.

Claire Cuneo, association adviser, in announcing tentative plans for the duration of the semester said, "Concluding the association's activities for the semester with a May Day tea in honor of the officers, the schedule will include a Home Economics Association Day at Treasure Island, a visit to the Mandarin theater in Chinatown to view the costumes worn by the Chinese actors, a meeting at Sloane's furniture store where Edwin Hunt, director of model homes, will give an illustrated talk on the selection of textiles for interior decoration, and a visit to two of the model homes being constructed and furnished throughout California by prominent California architects and decorators."

Forum Magazine Deadline Nears; Material Needed

Book Offered As Prize For Best Contribution; Art Work Desired

Friday, March 24, is the deadline for all contributions to the Forum Magazine, literary publication written by and for the students of the college.

In its third year of existence, the Forum is serving as an outlet for the writings of students who desire to have their material published and placed before the entire student body.

There is still a request for short stories, plays, poems, essays, satires, political discussions, contributions dealing with either side of political and social questions of the present day.

New Topics

However, topics, such as Should the United States Adopt an Aggressive Policy Toward Dictators?, Should the United States Boycott German Goods or Not?, The Czecho-Slovakia Republic Is Wiped Off the Map—Will Danzig and Ukraine Be Next? are also desired in lieu of recent events, say the editors.

As an added inducement to ambitious students, a book will be awarded by the judges, John Cummings, Forum editor; William Goss and Frederick Braeher, faculty sponsors, to the winner of the best single contribution not exceeding 1500 words (no minimum) at the Forum Club banquet at the end of the semester.

Call for Art

Art students interested in submitting original art work, such as blocks in wood and linoleum in black and white and colors, are urged to see Cummings for further information.

Following Easter vacation, the Forum Magazine will be distributed. Tickets, selling for 15 cents, must be purchased in advance, as the number of copies printed is dependent on the number of tickets purchased.

C. Mooney Recommended For University of Chicago Business Scholarship

Clyde Mooney, fourth semester student and a member of the college Alpha Gamma Sigma honor society, is the only student to be recommended to the University of Chicago Business Scholarship committee, F. Grant Marsh, business director, announced Thursday.

Mooney, who is a commerce major in lower division work, has an excellent record, his grade point average being 2.5. His brother, David, was the recipient of the award for 1937.

Plan Merchandising

Tentative plans for the Retail Merchandising classes are being formed. There is the possibility that a new section for beginners will be instituted.

To enter the Merchandising class the student must have a C average and have been at the college for at least one semester.

Meet Daily

The present Merchandising classes meet every day in the Holbrook Building from 9 until 11 o'clock. On Tuesdays and Thursdays they are given window display work by Teall Messer of the art department. The course consists of classes in Merchandise Analysis, Store Mathematics, Store English and Window Display.

Members work 15 hours a week in downtown department stores selling, marking merchandise, or working in stock rooms.

The George-Deen Act, which instituted the merchandising classes has stipulated that all students must work in the distribution of merchandise, no office or clerical work is allowed.

Gives Qualifications

As given by Virginia Gohn, class instructor, qualifications for the ideal store employee are alertness, poise, neatness, and a general tall structure.

These qualifications are also necessary for the members of the merchandising class.

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22, 1939 No. 10

JOHN JULIUS..........EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser — Joan Nourse
Business Adviser — Edward H. Redford

Bill Frantz..........Managing Editor
Leonard Gross..........News Editor
Ray Berns..........Sports Editor
Isadore Maloff..........Feature Editor
Dorothy Trood..........Women's Editor
Janet Fellows..........Club Editor
Sam Galstaun..........Staff Photographer
Marion MacKillop..........Staff Artist
Allen Martin..........Business Manager
Edmund Wunsch..........Assistant Business Manager

REPORTERS

Lucretia Antonicelli, Ethan Bernstein, Victoria Candido, Bill Canning, Jacqueline Davis, Janet Fellows, Lois Gipson, Louis Goldstone, Dave Johnson, Frances Manalo, Daniel Rosenblat, Jack Schmale, Gordon Soliman, Harold Unterberger, Frank Verducci, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Newspaper Still Holds To Four Of Five Functions Potent In America

IN the long history of the newspaper, crises have regularly occurred to affect its policies and developments. Today one is in the process of determination in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, that draws the attention of editors throughout the country and should interest students who are aware of the momentous changes imminent in sociological conditions.

In Wilkes-Barre a strike was called against newspaper publishers. Newspapers ceased publication immediately. The argument has long been that business could not profit unless newspapers were published to carry advertising. Business in Wilkes-Barre, according to reports, is flourishing without the medium of newspaper advertising. Advertisers distribute their messages by means of a sort of shopping news. The conclusion might be then that newspapers are not necessary to the welfare of the people.

Such a conclusion would indeed be hasty. There are other facts that must be considered.

The population of the city of Wilkes-Barre is less than 100,000. The population of Berkeley, California, for example, is close to that figure.

Investigation here shows that most of the citizens of Berkeley subscribe to a metropolitan newspaper, as well as to their own locally published newspaper. Investigation, if it were carried on in Wilkes-Barre, would probably show similar results, that most of the citizens of Wilkes-Barre subscribe to a metropolian newspaper, from which they learn of the news of the day.

As long as the newspapers of America uphold and respect the precepts of their Constitution-given freedom of the press, so long will their function be to Inform, Instruct, Mould Opinion, Entertain, and still fifth though an important fifth, Carry Advertising.

Simply because business flourishes where there is no newspaper locally published to carry advertising, is no proof that the newspaper is an unnecessary feature in the lives of the people, and an unimportant instrument in the sociological development of the nation.

Responsibility—A Necessary Asset Should Be Acquired In College

IT has been said by many that one of man's greatest assets is his ability to shoulder responsibility and carry through with it. If this is so, we wonder what will be said a few years hence when those who are attending college now, will have to get out in the world and accept a certain amount of responsibility.

PREVIEW OF FUTURE CITIZENS

College is a good barometer. Since college students are treated as adult men and women, it serves as a sort of preview of the kind of material that will constitute the next generation.

Unfortunately at the present time, the outlook is not overly favorable. Many educators have said that the main fault with the student of today is that he [illegible] responsibility. It is hard to determine just what causes this. It may be due to a feeling of playing the old "army game," commonly known as 'passing the buck," meaning shifting the job or responsibility to someone else. Or perhaps it comes about because the person who has the responsibility does not have the ability to carry it or is not interested.

AFRAID OF RESPONSIBILITY

Regardless of the cause the fact remains that a sense of responsibility is not there, and should be. In the chaotic condition of the world today everyone must resign themselves to the fact that they will have to carry some responsibility.

Some are afraid of it, regarding it as an ogre that will devour them; others feel that it is too much trouble. Both attitudes are wrong. Responsibility should neither be feared nor be shunned, for the ability to shoulder it determines whether a man will be successful or just one of the crowd.

RESPONSIBILITY AND SUCCESS

We all like to stand out over our fellows, not because we feel we are better than they, but because it is a human trait to want to elevate oneself above the ordinary run of life.

Doing this is an impossibility without taking on a certain amount of responsibility. Look around at the students of this college. The ones who are most successful are those who have accepted responsibility. It may be a little tough at first, but as time goes on it will become natural, and will add zest to college life.

—L. Gross

Student Strikes Show Irresponsibility; A Method of Crying For Wants

STUDENTS of the University of Pittsburg went out on strike last week, interrupting classes, and causing a general chaos on the campus. For what?

It started out to be a protest against the ousting of one of the faculty members, but as the day wore on placards pleading for the survival of the football team, among others, were seen on the campus. The lack of purpose, or perhaps the divers protests, are only one more proof of the ignorance and incoherence produced by mob psychology.

DO UNIVERSITIES PRODUCE CLEAR MINDS?

Universities are supposed to produce clear-minded thinkers, too intelligent to be swayed by soap box speeches. Civic-conscious individuals have donated college scholarships to worthy young men and women, faithfully believing in the theory that an educated nation germinates a land of more intelligent citizens.

According to this theory students obtaining a higher education would not be the type to achieve their aims by rioting; they would, instead, attain their goals by peaceful and logical methods.

Does the Pittsburg strike prove the theory of education a false one? Can all persons, whether trained to be propaganda disbelievers or not, be moved by an eloquent speech-maker?

ADOLESCENT ACTIONS SCORED

High schools have gone on strike en masse for various reasons and now it has come to university students. If these students, who are adolescent enough to think that they can get what they want by screaming for it and acting like spoiled children are allowed to continue their stupid striking and are pacified by having their demands granted how can we expect them, as citizens, to be able to govern themselves? Is university training failing in its purpose to graduate a higher type of generation for the country's future citizenship?

—J.F.

Prosperity Corner

By Sam Galstaun

1. What famous dance orchestra leader was seriously injured while playing football for the University of California?

In 1922 the University of California met Stanford in their traditional football encounter. During the course of the game a California player was critically injured, and had to be carried off the field on a stretcher. A medical examination showed that he had received a fratured spine.

At the university he was extremely popular with his six-piece dance band, and after his recovery, was fortunate to receive a job for his orchestra at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley. Odd jobs followed, and shortly after he received a long engagement at the Golden Gate Theater in San Francisco. From there he journeyed eastward, gaining rapid recognition wherever he went.

2. Who built the first linotype machine?

3. What two great painters did not sign their names to their pictures?

One of these men, because of his innate vanity, expected that his work would be recognized without his signature, while the other considered himself unworthy of the products of his inspiration.

4. What is the weight of a soldier's pack when fully equipped?

5. What is the correct definition of the word "sophistication"?

The common usage of this word usually connotes worldly wisdom. This, however, is not its primary definition.

6. How long does it take a ship to go through the Panama Canal?

7. Who wrote the book, "How to Lose Friends and Alienate People"?

Most of us are familiar with the book, "How to Win Friends and Influence People" by Dale Carnegie, but few are acquainted with its little sister "How to Lose Friends and Alienate People". This book, the author states, is intended for the "unfortunate", who constantly find themselves surrounded by their "pals".

8. What is the science of speech sounds?

9. [illegible] is the beginning of what famous poem:

"Once upon a midnight dreary, while I pondered, weak and weary,
Over many a quaint and curious volume of forgotten lore—
While I nodded, nearly napping, suddenly there came a tapping,
As of someone gently rapping, rapping at my chamber door."

10. Which is further east, Reno, or Los Angeles?

(Answers on page 4, column 7)

. . . while thinking . . .

By Leonard Gross

IN A three hour speech last week, Josef Stalin, Soviet dictator denounced the policies of both the democracies and the dictatorships of the world, declaring that both were looking out only for their interests and were attempting to tangle the world in war.

It seems rather strange that one should throw mud at the rest of the world and completely forget that he need not throw any further than his own doorstep. In the eyes of the world Stalin is as much a dictator as Hitler or Mussolini. We have never noticed that Russia is ruled by anyone other than Stalin. Certainly the manner in which the Soviet nation rids itself of persons opposed to the government would give the impression that exceptionally harsh treatment (which is seemingly one of the traits of a dictatorship), is used in Russia also.

BRITISH HELP CHINA

From Tokio recently came the statement that the Japanese government was angered over a new British loan to China of some 25 million dollars. It seems that the Nipponese termed it an unfriendly act on the part of Great Britain to advance money to their hereditary foes.

That is rather a biased attitude to adopt, especially since England, after having spent a lot of money in China, cannot be blamed for attempting to safeguard her interests. We feel sure that if Japan were in dire straits she would be glad of any help. Of course, the Japanese cannot be expected to see it this way, since the recent loan will prove another obstacle in their drive to subdue China.

PERSONAL TO DRUNKS

Returning to events closer to home, we find that a bill is before the state assembly to make it unlawful for drunk pedestrians to use the highways. This is interesting to the extent that in the past many bills have been advanced to curb intoxicated drivers, but this is the first to deal with pedestrians.

As suggested in this column a few weeks ago, Brazil and the United State recently signed a trade treaty aimed at combatting Nazi and Italian economic inroads. This step marks the first of many financial and economic treaties with the nations of South America, and is probably one of the best moves the United States could make to safeguard the integrity of the Monroe Doctrine. We may rest assured however, that once contact is lost with the South American countries, our troubles with the Fascist nations will be increased tenfold.

RAM'S HORN

● LIKES ELECTIONEERING

Editor, The Guardsman:

On the accompanying ballot you see that I voted "No" on the topic of the week: Should Electioneering Be Abolished In The College. I wish to go further and explain my reasons for the stand I have taken.

1. We are living in one of the few democracies left in the world.

2. Our system of education is part of our democracy.

3. S.F.J.C. is part of our education.

4. Therefore, S.F.J.C. is a part of the democratic system and should be allowed to continue in a democratic manner.

I would like to see what would happen if a person or group of persons would try to stop electioneering in our city, state, or national elections. It couldn't be stopped because in order to stop it there would be two sides developed and they would electioneer against each other.

The very fact that a student runs for an office shows that he has an interest in the college and politics. Electioneering is part of politics, and its principles and reactions should be experienced in order to complete an education. Where is there a better place to receive the education than in a college?

Yes! There is the argument of a candidate not having the money to compete against the rival candidate. This a point, but a weak one. The candidate must have a few supporters to start with. If the supporters have the spirit and faith in their candidate that they should have, they would create a fund for the purpose of campaigning.

I think that the proper step would be to abolish the idea of abolishing electioneering altogether and insert a clause requiring each candidate to file an account of all expenditures and source of income, used in the campaign.

I believe that electioneering brings about the spirit of the student body and convinces them that they should vote. Look at the total vote last semester. Yes, there was electioneering.

Slim Thorogood.

MEMORIES OF MARCH 17

By Marion MacKillop

Sartorial Modes

By Fashion Fanny

HAIR styles, like everything else, have changed for the best. Hair is at least three inches all around, but can be longer in the back. With warm weather advancing into town rather early this year, and many visitors in town, why not fix up your hair?

HAIR STYLING

First of all, have it thinned. You will feel a lot better without so much hair. Then, not just because fashion talks about having hair styled for the face, go to someone who has had experience in styling hair that is youthful for the college woman.

Soft, flattering curls, at the nape of the neck are very becoming for some, while the swirl in back with pin-curls over the ears tends to make one look "like a breath of spring".

RIBBONS IN HAIR

If one has the hair styled in the right way, it isn't hard to get the knack of doing it after a while. For evening, fresh flowers in the hair make a delightful spring picture.

Ribbons in the hair are ever popular, or a bow about the size of small plate to match the formal. A small jewelled clip in the form of flowers or vegetables is always good.

If a person has an angular figure she should avoid straight lines. This type needs all the curves possible. Wear clothes that are fitted at the waist, hips and wrists. A tiny waist, slender hips, and wrists are the best points. A skirt belling from a nipped-in waist will give her grace.

COVERED NECKLINES

She should wear covered necklines. The new white, white frilly blouses are grand. Wear fabrics with body such as, velvets, taffetas, brocades, broadcloths which are kind to the angular figure.

Avoid the strictly tailored hats. The new straw hats with yards and yards of foamy veil and flowers are better than a severely straight sailor. Also avoid tailored accessories, but choose every accessory with an eye to femininity.

EXCLUSIVE EXERCISE TIPS

While waiting for your change, puff out your cheeks and upper lip. This exercise will overcome hollows and character lines. If the salesman looks at you as if you have the mumps, think nothing of it.

To strengthen ankles for skiing, ice skating and other active sports wiggle toes in the bath, one foot at a time. After the bath, try picking up a marble with the toes. It's grand for the feet.

Sit on a different side of the street-car each day. Even though you say you're reading, your eyes will wander. This is a good exercise for the eyes.

Whenever you're out in the fresh air, breath deep, expand the chest, count three and then exhale slowly.

Cloud Honored

(Continued from page 1)

and appreciation of this college that plans are going forward for the actual construction of new buildings, this reward to one whose work is so well done is a reward not so much to one whose work is finished, but to one who is still in the thick of the fray.

It is a great tribute to a man who has attracted nation-wide attention and commendation, a man modest in his accomplishments, yet one of the guiding lights of education in the bay region.

AFTER DARK

By John Ward

MARTHA GRAHAM, the great unintelligible mark of modern dance for most people, performed her American Document here a short while past. An obvious and beautifully conceived and executed piece of pro-democratic propaganda that America needs lots of these days, American Document aroused some interesting opinions in a few of our acquaintances.

One wise friend remarked, in the words of the late Justice Holmes: "A vindication of the obvious is sometimes more important than an elucidation of the obscure." And to add a bit: "American democracy is just old enough to be obvious and just young enough to be secure from colorful enemies."

One foolish friend remarked to us following the performance: "Democracy is an insipid theme for any work of art. To which we quickly smiled and jotted down among our mental notes: escapist, art for art's sake, firmly entrenches in a fine old ivory tower."

INDIFFERENT ATTITUDE

We may be more sophisticated and more democratic in our outlook than more sedate and older countries. But we may also have carried this nonchalant American attitude to an extreme. It is all well and good to laugh loudly when a feather-brain dashes across the stage waving an American flag for all he's worth. In Germany today, for instance, the audience rises to a great Heil! Not that we defend such outlandish and blind patriotic ardor, but we in America should not be so blase about the matter. If democracy is an insipid theme for art just what theme is valid? And just what god is democracy anyway? Our foolish friend is quite like the ostrich with its proverbial old head in the sand. Just who is going to protect the remainder, that's what we should like very much to know.

BIRTH OF A NATION

The second in the historic films series at the San Francisco museum of art was The Birth of a Nation. Seeing it was a trifle like taking in all of the exhibition palaces at the G. G. I. E. in one afternoon. Ponderous, long-winded, antiquated, the Birth of a Nation is primarily a museum piece of the first water. On occasion it rears up with a fine scene, a strong idea, a fully expressed criticism. (D. W. Griffith did not have to worry about pleasing the Hayes-Breen offices with re-polish, polite re-hashings of history. Griffith could at least approximate reality.)

HAS ITS POINTS

Hardly as consistent and vital a film as last week's The Mother and the Law, the fault may lie in the huge span of action, events, and people in this American epic. One can't trace the beginnings of a war, the war itself and then the reconstruction of the country after the war without making some peculiar and frightening mistakes and ommissions. Such is the sad case of the Birth of a Nation. As a film, however, it was far more worth the seeing than any of the current Hollywood dribble. (See: Wife, Husband & Friend, for reference.)

Tonight the final showing of that great tear-jerker, Broken Blossoms, with Lillian Gish and Richard Barthelmess (vintage 1919), will be given at the San Francisco Museum of Art in Civic Center.

Cabbages & Kings

By Blue Pencil Bill

ART POMARES, head yell leader, has Miss Albany's picture in his binder. He claims that it costs a dime to take a look at her. "i don't go for looks," he says. If Miss Albany reads this we hope she doesn't get sore because Art didn't want it printed.

TSK! TSK!

On the corner of Market and Montgomery Streets, outside the oldest bank in the city of San Francisco, stands a bum. He is no ordinary bum because he is selling something—The Hobo News, ten cents per copy. We don't get it but the headline on the Hobo News is—"Hoboes Rap Communism."

• • •

"Hello, is this the Jones Fish Market?"

"Yes, sir."

"Got any fresh fish down there?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, don't let them get away with anything, sister."

• • •

MODEL BOY

Next time you pass one of the Gilmore Gas "Swing Along Without a Jitter" signs, notice the resemblance between the high school boy in the jillopi and Floyd "Dream Man" Lawrence.

• • •

Maybe it's a fad, but the Powell Street Book Store installed one of the phonograph record machines—you know, the kind you put nickels into. Every eating joint, every xxxx (censored) parlor and entertainment places, in general, have one or more of these musical nickel-moochers.

We wondered why the Book Store put the phonograph machine on the floor, as we don't recognize the connection between a store selling school supplies and a place of general entertainment.

Whether the Book Store is a place of entertainment or not, the junior college jitterbugs are dropping their five cent pieces in the phonograph slot. For statistics, we refer you to our friend, Jack Schmale's friend, Ivan Tanglefoot.

• • •

—As all husbands have said at one time or another: "Yes, pet."

• • •

AFTER DARK

John Ward is now working After Dark at the Fairgrounds—he ushers at the six-day bike races. Next week he will be working at the A. A. U. Basketball Tourney. It seems that the ushers at the Opera House received a majority of the bike race jobs. "Poll of Opinion," Rosenblat comments, "Since when has the Opery House been a prerequisite to the six-day bike races?"

• • •

NAMES IN PRINT

Those-who-want-to-see-their-names-in-print-department:

ROY KAWASHIRI

• • •

CARL THE GREAT

There is a faction at the college which is upholding Carl McCutchen as the uncrowned 129 pound boxing champ. It is believed that they couldn't find anyone good enough for him to meet.

There are 155,000 students enrolled in the 556 junior colleges in the United States.

Presidential Notes

By Frank Verducci

TO enjoy ourselves at a dance is our every wish and desire. This desire can become a reality if you take a tip and dance to the smooth, rippling, rhythm of Bob Saunders orchestra. For this Friday night, March 24 is San Francisco Junior College night at the Shalimar Bowl.

This dance will really be a fun-fest because we will be out to paint the town red (and white). Our yell leaders will be there to lead us in some yells, Bob Saunder's orchestra will sing and play our school songs and then we're going to have an array of [illegible]nt that will knock you for a loop.

TICKETS ON SALE

Besides these extra features, we will be able to swing and sway to the same orchestra that every one enjoyed so much at last semester's Sophomore Formal. Tickets will be distributed among the students this week.

Be sure to get one of these because one of these tickets and the wee sum of one quarter will insure your admission to the grandest time you have ever had. Come one and all and bring your friends. Remember we'll be seeing you at the Shalimar Friday night.

Now as you all know this is the second MIDTERM WEEK and we, as students in good scholastic standings, (we hope) must start studying or else. Therefore we'll end this column by saying "lots of luck in your midterm examinations."

GUARDSMAN SPORTS

Ram Track Brigade Scores Win Over Menlo Junior College In First Dual Meet At Stanford University

Bob McGuire Captures Both Sprints In Easy Fashion; Quarter-Mile Phenom In Person Of Bob Klinger Uncovered

Paced by a sprinter of national reknown, Bob McGuire, and Bob Klinger, a virtually unknown quarter-miler, Russ Sweet's Ram tracksters opened their dual meet season with a 67 to 55 victory over the combined forces of Menlo Junior College and Palo Alto High School at Stanford University last Saturday.

McGuire romped to easy victories in the 100 and 220 yard dash events, defeating Murphy of Menlo in the shorter distance, and nosing out team-mate Stern in the furlong.

Score Clean Sweep

The locals scored a clean sweep in the quarter-mile, Klinger winning the event in the excellent early season time of 51.8, followed by Bob Goeppert and Sam Tong.

San Francisco displayed a noticeable weakness in the weight events, however, failing to place a man in the first three in both the shot put and the discus.

Clifford Good Prospect

Bill Clifford, Ram distance star, finished second to Murphy of Menlo in both the mile and half-mile. Clifford is only a high freshman, and Sweet is expecting great things of the lad later in the season and next year.

The results:

100 Yard Dash: Won by McGuire (SF); Murphy (M) second; Stura (PA) third. Time—10 seconds.

220 Yard Dash: Won by McGuire (SF); Stern (SF) second; Harris (M) third. Time—22.5 seconds.

440 Yard Dash: Won by Klingler (SF); Goeppert (SF) second; Tong (SF) third. Time—51.8 seconds.

880 Yard Run: Won by Johnson (M); Clifford (SF) second; Klingler (SF) third. Time—2 minutes, 5.4 seconds.

Mile Run: Won by Johnson (M); Clifford (SF) second; Smith (PA) third. Time—4 minutes, 49.5 seconds.

Low Hurdles: Won by Bitgood (SF); Needham (M) second; Sparkes (SF) third. Time—26.2 seconds.

High Hurdles: Won by Raine (SF); Bitgood (SF) second; Murphy (M) third. Time—16.2 seconds.

Javelin: Won by Grant (SF); Steers (PA) second; Faye (SF) third. Distance, 140 feet.

Shot Put: Won by Murphy (M); Steers (PA) second; Denmark (PA) third. Distance, 40 feet.

Discus: Won by Steers (PA); Denmark (PA) second; Zehman (PA) third. Distance, 113 feet.

Pole Vault: Won by Taggart (PA); Perry (SF) second; Groswich (SF) third. Height, 11 feet, 6 inches.

High Jump: Won by Raine (SF); tie for second among Flagan (PA), Stura (PA) and Murphy (M). Height, 5 feet, 8¼ inches.

Broad Jump: Won by Palmer (M); Ida (SF) second; Morrison (SF) third. Distance, 20 feet, 8 inches.

880 Yard Relay: Won by San Francisco J. C. (Team composed of McGuire, Schneider, Stern and Goodman). Time—1 minute, 35.4 seconds.

Bob Paine, lanky San Francisco timber-topper and high jumper, won his two specialties. Raine tripped over the high barriers in 16.2, and soared through the ozone, 5 ft. 8 in. Fred Bitgood finished second to Raine in the high hurdles, and won the lows in 26.2.

Weakened Ram Net Squad Administers Drubbing To Santa Rosa Tennis Team

Journeying to Santa Rosa last Friday, a weakened Ram net squad administered a thorough drubbing to the Bear Cub team by winning six matches to their opponents none.

The entire Ram squad breezed through their matches in easy fashion, as they failed to drop a set. Longest match of the day lasted no longer than twenty minutes.

Canning, Kun Win

Bill Canning defeated Stan Jenkins 6-1, 6-0, in the first singles encounter, while Bob Kun blasted Bob Berner off the courts with a 6-0, 6-1 drubbing. Ray Kline and Bill Madamba showed surprising strength in winning their tussles in easy style.

Doubles play proved equally as easy for the local netmen as they lost but one game in the two matches. Canning and Kun won 6-0, 6-0, while Kline and Madamba won 6-1, 6-0.

Squad Weakened

Although the squad has been weakened by the loss of Harold Wagner and Ray Berns, it should have no trouble annexing the conference title for the third straight year.

Today the locals will journey to Menlo to engage the peninsula lads in the second conference tussle, while Saturday Wilson's lads will face the Salinas squad on the latter's courts.

RAM chops

By JACK SCHMALE

Possessed of the customary civic pride usually identifying a native son, and therefore with keen interest in the general welfare of the current Golden Gate International Exposition, we are deeply moved at the plight of Sports Director Art McChrystal and saddened by the chill that Mr. and Mrs. John Public have turned on unfortunate Art and his Treasure Island athletic enterprises to date.

MAJORS SPORTS A MAJOR FLOP

Now Art is a likeable fellow, and deserving of better treatment by Fair-going sports-loving citizens. He has given considerable of his time and thought and gone far out of his way during the past year or so to present major attractions along athletic lines in the shadows of the Sun Tower. But what have these labors brought him? Little more than a headache, and scarcely enough gate receipts for a bromo seltzer cure.

Attendance was so nil at the six-day bike race last week that room on the track, and even spare bicycles would have been available for the average crowd to whirl into the race and challenge the Brethren Peden or Kilian and Vopel to a one-mile sprint.

MAJOR LEARNS BITTER LESSON

The six-day whirl to nowhere and return was to have been the true test of whether the Treasure Island locale would help or hinder major sporting events. If the pine saucer stampede, in previous years always a gala success on the mainland, can't do it, what show can?

McChrystal and his Exposition management by this time have learned that Ma and Pa Public refuse to tack an additional fifty cents a copy for admission to the Island, transportation costs to and from, onto their sporting event budget, to say nothing of extra time expended en route.

No one can be blamed. It just doesn't seem to work well either for producer or consumer. The lesson is over, but my, wasn't the tuition high!

BACK TO THE CITY

The scenes of many events on the Exposition's athletic schedule will be shifted back to town, it is understood. The Ram footballers possibly would have tangled with Sacramento in the neighborhood of the Gayway or matched touchdowns with S. F. State within chopstick distance of the Chinese Village next fall, but alas, wouldn't it have been awful if the rooting sections were lured away to the Peruvian exhibit or the Hall of Science between halves?

TANGLEFOOT SIGNS!

College jib artists planning on attending the S. F. J. C. Night Friday evening at the Shalimar Bowl will be delighted to know that Frankie Verducci, our quarterbacking prexy, has lured Prof. Ivan Tanglefoot, dancing statistics expert, to sign a contract. Tanglefoot, one of the world's most efficient statisticians, will be on hand to compile some facts and figures as Mr. and Miss Ram whirl dervish to the ear-pleasing music of Bob Saunders and company.

As a special attraction, Tanglefoot promises to reveal not only how many steps are taken by the mass gathering of steppers all evening, but how many rah-tah-tahs Saunders' drummer applies to his noise makers all evening. The Professor will also treat the happy throng to an Arctic hula during an intermission. He says you'll just adore this new little number, learned in an Eskimo rat race last summer. And all for just a quarter.

What's-a-matter, don't you believe it?

SPEAKING OF AVERAGES

Lightning struck the barn of John Ingram, of Sheridan, Ark., destroying the structure and two mules. Putting faith in the old saying that lightning never strikes twice in the same place Ingram rebuilt the barn in the same location. Four weeks later lightning again struck the barn and destroyed it and two more mules.

Out For Season!

—Courtesy San Francisco Examiner

Pictured at left executing a difficult backhand shot is Hal Wagner, Ram net ace, who has been declared ineligible for the season because of interclub play.

Wagner started playing the game at the tender age of 13 at Golden Gate Park, appropriately known as the "cradle of champions."

The chubby Ram netster was a member of the Poly High tennis team for three years before entering the college.

While at Poly, Wagner was a member of two championship teams, and in individual play, went to the finals of the A.A.A. doubles one year, and was the runner-up for the singles title the following year.

Last year, Hal led the local tennisers through a season marked by two defeats, neither of the losses counting in conference competition. The Stanford freshmen team and a squad from Los Angeles Junior College were the only aggregations able to inflict a defeat upon the Rams.

Although not eligible for conference play, it is believed that Wagner, together with Ray Berns, Will Dodson, Fred Castanada, and Carl Christianson, the other "ineligibles," will compete in non-conference matches.

Pin-Smashers Subjected To Crushing Defeat In Match With Salinas Keglers

One of the worst performances ever staged by Joe Amori's Ram bowlers allowed Salinas Junior College pinmen to return to Lettuceville with top honors in last Friday's 2208 to 2135 encounter at Golden Gate Recreation.

Absence from the lineup of veterans Ben Papapietro and Walt Gardner created a situation too difficult to overcome, as the locals ridiculed themselves in piteous consistency of 729, 710 and 690 team games.

To replace Gardner, Amori alternated an inexperienced trio, Jack Lloyd, "Mac" McGinnis and Allen Williams, whose combined efforts amounted only to 320. "Bach" Bacigalupi was inserted for Papapietro and emerged with high local series, 494.

Fred Wilke, Salinas anchor man, pounded the maples for a nice 558 series.

Box scores:

Salinas J.C.	Games	Total
Scattini	135-171-150	456
Nardiello	121-164-117	402
Marchi	126-146-133	405
Vella	127-124-136	387
Wilkie	187-173-198	558
Totals	696-778-734	2208
S.F.J.C.	Games	Total
Schmale	151-143-158	452
Maslach	152-145-127	424
Alternates	92-132-96	320
Bacigalupi	186-156-152	494
Cloud	148-134-163	445
Totals	729-710-696	2135

Tryouts For Golf Team Completed; Hall, Romey's Lead Local Divot-Diggers

Golf results from tryouts held at the Ingleside public course recently, have now been completed. Minus the veterans John Hall and Gordan Romey, the score card for 18 holes read: Bernard Rice, 74; Bill Hoffman, 80; Roy Romey, 79; Edwin Canepa, 87; Warren Boone, 96, and Louis Musso, 102.

Although the scores indicate fair early season form, the weather during the meet was quite unfavorable. Rice's showing was met with hearty approval by Coach "Dutch" Conlan, as he was only 3 over par.

The team is now definitely composed of the following: Hall, the Romey brothers, Rice, Hoffman, and Canepa. Boone and Musso will be used as substitutes. The schedule is now in the making.

WOMEN'S SPORTS PARADE

By FRANCES MANALO

To show what the Women's Athletic Associations of various junior colleges have to offer, Fresno State College requested an exhibit of some subject matter from the WAA for the Fresno State College Convention.

On their trip to the Fresno convention, Vera Spencer, sponsor, and Dorothy Sanderson, president, will take the WAA Scrapbook and WAA awards that have been mounted.

The scrapbook, which has been cared for by Murial Grinelle, secretary, has had her artistic touch added to bring the book up to date.

President Sanderson, and Sponsor Spencer have been racking their brains for the last week trying to condense a trunk full of clothes, and so on, into one overnight bag to take with them to the convention.

Plans for the National Convention of the American Federation of College Women to be held on April 12, 13, 14 will soon be nearing completion. The convention held only once every three years is to take place on the University of California campus.

The A. F. C. W. is a national association and representatives from all over the United States will be present at this affair. Two outstanding discussions will be "Women's Athletic Standards and Ways of Promoting Them," "These Standards Among College Women," and "Responsibility of College Women in Community Athletics and Recreation." Besides these there will be recreational and social functions and an opportunity to visit the World's Fair on San Francisco Bay.

Progress is being made in promoting interest in membership in the A. F. C. W. by Annette Schunick for junior colleges of the Western section. To date there are only three junior colleges of this section that are members, namely: San Mateo Junior College, Marin Junior College, and the San Francisco Junior College. This membership drive will be carried out by corresponding with 43 junior colleges, two of which are in Arizona, one in Utah, and one in Washington.

• • •

The newest thing in the women's basketball is that while Vera Spencer, instructor, was giving posture tests to the Freshmen, the team started with a regular boy's game of basketball. Maybe they feel it will give them better training for the Faculty game today.

While the "boy's game" was taking place, two novice referees, who were taking a course in officiating, were trying to keep pace with the "wild and rugged" women's team.

Local Baseballers Lose Double-Header To Capitol City Nine At Sacramento

A one time rampaging Ram baseball team, now wracked by the ineligibility and illness of three key players, was nearly wrecked in Sacramento last Tuesday afternoon when it suffered a double set-back at the hands of Bill Sims' capital city junior college nine by 12 to 8 and 7 to 3 scores.

Sorely missing the services of second baseman Mickey McMahon, first baseman Rubin Friedkin and pitcher Frankie Nilan, the team, although outhit, erred its way to defeat in the first fracas by committing four miscues at most inopportune times.

In a wild and wooly initial contest, 34 hits were banged out by both teams, Sacramento garnering 18 and the locals getting 16.

San Francisco used three pitchers, Curcio, Aleo and Rahmer, while Kirtlan, starting Sacramento hurler went the full nine frames.

Sacramento scored in every inning except the first, fifth and eighth, while the local ball players were held to but two runs for the first six cantos.

Ed Curcio, who also started the second game, gave up four runs and five hits in the two innings that he toiled on the mound. His trouble started in the second inning, when third baseman Jourgensen, of the Panthers, slammed out a long triple to center-field with the bags bulging, driving in the three runners ahead of him and scored later on an infield out.

At this point, Coach Jack Gaddy sent Charley Christensen in to relieve Curcio. "Christy" held the Sims coached nine in check until the sixth when he was nicked for three runs on two hits.

For the Rams, Frankie Rahmer, third sacker, pumped out six hits in eight tries at the plate in the double header. He was followed by shortstop Kent Baird who laced out five bingles in nine attempts, including two triples.

Catcher Bertolini, pitcher Kirtlan and first baseman Polandech of Sacramento each hit three in the first game while third baseman Jourgensen and relief first sacker Larcai, got three and two hits respectively in the nightcap.

State College and the WAA tennis had a Play Day last Saturday at the Palace of Fine Arts. Ten girls were invited from State, and after participating in tennis tournaments, the women enjoyed lunches that were brought for the guests.

Title Aspirations Of Net Squad Given Sudden Backward Jolt As Ram Tennisers Declared Ineligble

Hal Wagner, Ray Berns Lost To Squad On Eve Of Conference Play; Victims Of Long Standing State Ruling

Championship hopes of the college tennis team received a sudden setback last week on the eve of the conference opener at Santa Rosa when Registrar J. Paul Mohr informed Coach Tom Wilson that five of his first nine netmen were ineligible to compete in conference play.

Heaviest blow to the squad will be the loss of Harold Wagner, top ranking netster of the college, and Ray Berns, third ranking player. Other ineligible players are Bill Dodson, Carl Christensen, and Fred Castenada.

Wagner and Berns are victims of a rule being enforced by the conference officials. Both lads have been competing in the Northern California Inter-Club matches, Wagner with the strong California Tennis Club and Berns for the Golden Gate Bees.

The ruling that has forced the Ram aces to the sidelines, states that no player may compete on another organized team after the college matches have started.

Dodson should return to the squad at the end of the second mid-term period, while Christensen will probably be eligible for the second conference match to be played against Menlo on the peninsula courts today. The former will be reinstated if he fulfills the necessary scholastic requirements to which an athlete must conform. Christensen has only to fill out his application, which must be forwarded to the conference heads a week before he competes. Castenada is permanently on the sidelines as he is a transfer from the University of California.

College Title Possible

Although the announcement that Wagner and Berns are through for the season would appear to be the death knell of the college championship hopes, Ram supporters should not despair, as remaining players should be enough to carry the local college to the title.

Bill Canning, formerly holding down the second singles assignment, will move up into the coveted top spot, while Bob Kun, veteran of last year's championship squad, will perform in the second position, with Billy Madamba filling in at the third spot.

The only other eligible player is Ray Kline, newcomer from Oakland, who moves from the sixth spot to the fourth position. Although Wilson has had little time to ponder over his doubles combinations, he will probably place Canning and Kun in the first spot, with Madamba and Kline in the other.

Madamba Eligible

There was some doubt in Wilson's mind in regard to the eligibility of Madamba, who had also competed for another team. The mentor immediately placed the matter before Mohr, who eased the mind of the coach by declaring Madamba eligible. Had the latter also been through for the season, Wilson would have been forced to cancel the Santa Rosa match, as he had no netster to replace Madamba.

Wilson's dream of having a team that could compete on equal terms with the top college teams has been dealt several shattering blows this year. First casualty was Edwin Amark, high ranking Northern California player, who dropped out of school in favor of a job. With the removal of Wagner and Berns it would appear that the coach's dream will not yet be fulfilled.

Mozart accomplished the marvelous feat of turning out three symphonies in six weeks; the symphony in E-flat major, the symphony in G minor, and one in C major.

Four states—Arizona, Utah, Montana, and Nevada—produced four-fifths of the copper mined in the United States in 1938.

RAMblings

By RAY BERNS

Jack Schmale, the old RAMchopper man, was right again as usual. With great pomp and ceremony, therefore, we once again doff our oft-doffed derby to his psychic propensities.

In Schmale's column a week or so ago, he gave definitions of the "I'll Be There's", and the "What The Hell's," and predicted that the "I'll Be There's" would be at the Men's Club fights, and the "What The Hell's," running true to form, would stay away in droves. After viewing those present, we can do nought but give Schmale an extra gold star on his already star-studded calendar.

SPORTS WRITERS AT CHRONICLE

Tim Guiney, (more recently from State College), Jerry Flamm, and Dick Simpers, all former Guardsman sports writers, are now gainfully employed at the Chronicle. Flamm's job is perhaps the hardest of all—he carries photos back and forth from Treasure Island. Simpers and Guiney are both employed in the editorial department.

Now it can be told! The truth is out! Why did the high soph track team finish in second place, 20 points behind the high frosh, in the recent inter-class track meet? You want to know (oh, you don't, heh?) We will tell you.

COUNTED THE HOUSE

It seems that the team captain (you know who) told the lads to save themselves. After counting the number of customers in the house, the captain (you know who) decided that the "take" was not large enough for the lads to extend themselves. In short, the cash register didn't contain the old shekels. No dinero, no performance.

Flash! Willie Blackfield, Ram basketballer, is now trying his hand at varsity baseball. Blackfield, a pitcher by choice who is reputedly a curve ball specialist, has been working out daily at Funston with Gaddy's horsehiders, and, according to all reports, is an excellent prospect. If Blackfield comes through, he will prove a welcome addition to the team for the hurling staff has been somewhat depleted what with the ineligibility of Frankie Nilan, and the withdrawal from college of Ed Curcio.

ANYTHING FOR A LAUGH

Over at Treasure Island last Saturday night, some of the lads were given a chance to show their acting ability. Wells Fargo sponsored a play and, for some unknown reason, decided to use local talent. Antonio Manov played the part of a colored lad, that versatile character, Floyd Lawrence, carried off two parts, Abe Lincoln, and a stage-coach driver, McCabe, and from now on, Elmer Hubacker will be known as "Pony Bob."

Minor Rambling: For one who has never fought before, Allan Larson, winner of the 149 pound title in the Men's Club bouts, shows a world of potentialities . . .

Modern Mayan Indians in the American tropics live in houses very like those built by their ancient ancestors and shown in fresco paintings.

Rent REMINGTON NOISELESS TYPE-

NEED A TYPEWRITER? . . .

WRITERS at same cost as noisy machines . . . All carriage widths, type styles, keyboards . . . Also standards, portables . . . Rental from manufacturer guarantees QUALITY.

Remington Typewriter Division
Remington Rand, Inc.
509 Market Street Phone: DOuglas 8600

POLL OF Opinion

By DAN ROSENBLAT

WHETHER or not electioneering and campaigning in any form should be allowed in student body elections brought out the closest vote of any poll heretofore, with the negative holding a slight lead. Actual percentage figures show that 53 per cent of students interviewed did not favor the abolition of electioneering, while 47 per cent agree with the executive council's action in abolishing the electioneering procedure.

Controversial Subject

This does not in any way constitute a prediction of what the results will be when the question is put before the student body as a proposed constitutional amendment, but does in some measure show how divided opinion is on the subject. Those feeling that electioneering should be abolished held that extensive campaigning is an expensive procedure, which naturally gives a decided advantage to students with larger financial facilities. Abolishing of all use of printed cards, radio broadcasts and other forms of propaganda will, it is felt, even up the race and allow elections to be decided solely on the merit of the candidates and the impressions made by their speeches at candidates' rallies.

The opposite view feels that elections in the college should be conducted as nearly as possible on the same lines as regular civic elections, allowing candidates the use of such "bright ideas" as they may be able to devise in order to secure attention to themselves and their platforms.

College Colors Poll

This week The Guardsman will attempt to sound student opinion on the question, "Do you think that the college colors and nickname are good ones?" The colors, red and white, and the familiar nickname "Rams," were decided upon by the vote of the student body when the college was first formed.

However, with a few exceptions the original student body has found its way to other institutions, and it is possible that the present student body does not feel favorable to the original decision. Rumor has it that the colors were chosen because of the large number of Lowell High School graduates in the first group of students attending the college, but the nickname appears to be an original idea.

Fill in the following ballot and leave it in The Guardsman box today.

Do you approve of the college colors?

Yes..... No.....

The nickname?

Yes..... No.....

Suggestions for changes .....

Century Club Scene Of Initial Organization Hop

First semi-formal dance of the restricted social organizations committee of the Club Advisory Board will be held Saturday, April 15, at the Century Club, announced committee chairman Leslie Jameson.

Bids will be distributed to the members of the fraternities and sororities next Friday.

Any bids not desired by the members of the restricted organizations, together with a limited number in the hands of the dance committee, will be for sale to the student body at one dollar per couple.

Dance at Nine

Members of the committee from whom bids may be obtained are Louise Jameson, Francis Herndon, Phil Whaley, Nancy Ross, Tom Emery, and Art McLean.

Local talent from the clubs represented will add to the entertainment and dancing which will begin at 9 o'clock.

Other activities of the board include a basketball league, whose schedule will be completed next week. Teams expected to enter the league include the Pi Mu Gamma, Beta Tau, Tri Epsilon, Beta Pi, Iota Chi, and Hotel and Restaurant Division.

Challenge Winner

The winner will be challenged for the interclub championship by the Blood Council.

Next regular meeting of the board will be held tomorrow in Room 101. It is planned that Paul M. Pitman, assistant to the president, will address the organization on the administration's view of the board and the reasons for its formation.

World's Fair Pageant Set For April 26, 27

Presentation of the World's Fair Pageant, sponsored by the San Francisco School Department, has been definitely set for two nights, Wednesday, April 26 and Thursday, April 27, as a part of Public Schools Week observance.

"At the present time the entire production is coming along nicely," Miss Marie Weiler, supervisor for the pageant, said.

It appears probable that the pageant will also be presented in July as a climax to the annual convention of the National Education Association, to be held in San Francisco.

Prunes with hay are being fed livestock.

University Of Chicago Offers 12 Scholarships

To be awarded on the basis of a competitive examination, the University of Chicago is offering 12 scholarships of $300 full tuition, and 12 of $150 half tuition to any regularly enrolled Junior College student.

The student, who must have completed not more than two years of college work at the end of the '38-'39 year may compete with the approval of the president of the college.

Mid-year graduates are eligible if they have taken no further instruction in college subjects.

Six-Hour Examination

The examinations will be held at each participating college on April 22, 1939 from nine a.m. to five p.m.

It will consist of a single six-hour examination in two parts containing questions from the following subjects: Language, Literature, History, Philosophy, Psychology, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Botany, Zoology, Physiology, Economics, Political Science, and Sociology.

Any section of the examination is optional, the student being able to win a scholarship by answering a large number of questions in a few subjects or by answering a few questions in a number of sections.

More Details Available

Applications should be made to the president of the college at an early date since the supervisors of the examinations must have made arrangements for the examinations with the University of Chicago not later than April 1, 1939.

Further details may be obtained from President Cloud or by writing to the University of Chicago.

In addition, the University is offering thirteen scholarships of full tuition and thirteen of half tuition to be awarded upon applications or recommendations, to students of high scholastic standing who possess qualities of leadership and who give promise of rendering a high type of service in college.

Direct Applications

Applications are to be made directly to the Committee of Scholarships and the Entrance Counselor, University of Chicago for admission blanks.

These blanks are necessary before a decision can be made, but a student may take the competitive examination before filing application.

Failure to win an award in the competitive examination does not affect the consideration of applications or recommendations.

Junior College Council To Hold Tea Next Thursday

The all members of the Junior College Council are being asked to attend a tea to be held on Thursday, March 30, in Room 212 of Galileo, was made known by the president of that organization, Joseph Williams.

The purpose of the tea will be purely social, according to Williams. "All members of the council, including the five student members, and the parents of the college students are cordially invited to attend," Williams announced.

College A Capella Choir To Sing For Convention

A Capella Choir members will be presented at Alpha Gamma Sigma convention April 12 at 10:15 a.m. on Treasure Island, Flossita Badger, choir director, announced.

A Capella Choir members will be presented at Alpha Gamma Sigma convention April 12 at 10:15 a.m. on Treasure Island, Flossita Badger, choir director, announced.

The choir will illustrate a skit by Charles Dennis, director of music of San Francisco public schools, which traces the evolution of unaccompanied music from La Palestrina, in the 16th century, to present day 20th century music.

Farm population in the United States is about the same as in 1910; the number of people in towns has increased.

Sophomore Week

(Continued from page 1)

Ingleside for; to compete in the football passing, punting, the steeple chase races and other contests now being planned, but above all, to join in the fun of the, Sadie Hawkins event.

Admission to the free dance on the same night will depend on the individual's hunting prowess in the Sadie Hawkins event.

Run, Sheep, Run

At some time in the afternoon's festivities all the males will be herded together by a staff of competent sheep-herders and rounded into a special corral for the purpose. The women present will be permitted to mill around the corral looking over the prospects. At a given signal the ropes will give way.

Then the males will run(?) to escape the scheming women, while the women will hotly pursue them over the cement foundations of the new college. As soon as the women hag their prey, they tag him and says, "You're It". Which means that he is honor bound to attend the night's dance in her company.

Played to The Flight of the Bumble Bee, this event supposedly has more thrills than all the events on the Gaywray rolled into one.

Preparedness Is Fun

'In issuing his personal invitation to attend, Lawrence stated, "Reserve May Day, May 1, that is, on your calendar for this event. They can have their preparedness parades in Russia and in Germany, but if you really want to participate in something different, 50 cents will see you through."

Tickets will go on sale soon.

The high sophomore class will have a meeting this Friday at which all the plans will be discussed and heard.

WHAT A SYSTEM!

The traffic cops of Bucharest, Rumania, do not bawl-out anyone, and have no heated arguments. Having taken an offending motorists number in silence, the officer returns to his post in silence. Bucharest has installed deaf mutes as traffic policemen.

UNDERWOOD JUNIOR

For all who write!

STUDENTS

You need a portable in your home. We are offering a limited number of Royal Varsity Models at $32.70. Manufacturers price $42.50.

This Is What You Get

New typewriter complete with ease; standard office keyboard; back spacer, margin stop and bell; line finder for writing on ruled lines and filling in.

It has every essential for office or home use. May be purchased on easy terms. Trade in accepted. See it at 591 Market St. or call SUtter 4734 for home demonstration.

San Francisco Typewriter Exchange

591 Market Street SUtter 4734

CLUB SCHEDULE

NAME	Type of Meeting	TIME	PLACE
*Alpha Delta Epsilon	Business	March 23, 11:30	Golden Gate Park
Alpha Gamma Sigma	Business	April 1	Treasure Island
Alpha Phi Omega	Business	March 28, 8:00 p.m.	Indefinite
Army-Navy	No plans
Astronomy	Observation	April 1	Lick Tower
Beta Phi	Dance	March 31, 8:30 p.m.	Presidio
Block S. F.	No plans
Beta Tau	No plans
*Chess	Match	March 25, 7:30 p.m.	Indefinite
Chinese	No plans
Forestry	No plans
Forum	Discussion	March 24, 8:00 p.m.	Indefinite
French	Discussion	March 30, 7:30 p.m.	237-21st Avenue
George Washington	No plans
Home Econ. Ass'n	No plans
Hotel-Restaurant	Basketball Game	March 23,8:00 p.m.	Hamilton Church
*Italian	No plans
Iota Chi	Social	March 30, 8:00 p.m.	Western Women's Club
Japanese Students	Roller Skate	March 24, 10:00 p.m.	Ambassador Rink
Lambda Chi	Social	March 30, 8:00 p.m.	Western Women's Club
Music	Business	April 11, 8:00 p.m.	1140 Oakland Ave., Piedmont
Newman	Business	April 3, 8:00 p.m.	St. Mary's Cathedral
Omicron Phi Pi	Discussion	March 26	Indefinite
Peace Society	Discussion	March 30, 8:00 p.m.	1495-7th Avenue
Phi Alpha Omega	Business	March 26, 8:00 p.m.
Phi Beta Rho	Init.—Dinner-Dance	March 30	Palace Hotel
Phys. Ed. Majors	No plans
Pi Mu Gamma	Speech	March 29, 7:30 p.m.	Homewood Terrace
Pick & Hammer	No plans
*Radio Engineers	No plans
Rifle & Pistol	Business	March 24, 4:00 p.m.	Rifle Range
Tarbuth	Discussion	March 26, 7:30 p.m.	300 Page Street
Tri Epsilon	Basketball game	March 25, 8:00 p.m.	Aptos Junior High
Women's Service Society	No plans

RED AND BLUE RIFLE TEAMS TO ENTER BAYSHORE MEET SUNDAY, COMPETITION KEEN

"A champion is always in training." This axiom has always been true, and this semester's rifle squad finds itself no exception to the rule.

Under the instruction of Coach Fred McFarland the college's Red and Blue Rifle Teams are preparing for the Bayshore Meet on next Sunday, March 26, in which McFarland has entered both teams.

"After competing in the Bayshore meet, we travel to Berkeley on Saturday, April 1, when the Western Division National Intercollegiate Matches will be held on the University of California Rifle Range."

"We are entering both of the men's teams and one team of women. Although we are not sure of winning first place, we are reasonably certain of placing high in the final standings," McFarland explained.

Physical Ed Convention Slated Here, April 2-6; P.E. Majors To Participate

Of interest to all physical education instructors is the announcement that the National American Association for Health and Physical Education, will meet here April 2 to 6 at the Civic Auditorium and Hotel Whitcomb.

Bertha Keller, faculty member, is National Publicity Chairman of the organization. Other faculty members having an important part in the forthcoming convention are Alice Potter, Yertel Weber, Laurine Bergin, Russell Sweet, Louis Conlan, and Joseph Amori.

"The Spirit of American Youth" is the slogan of the convention which intends to discuss health and education problems such as coeducational recreation, new games, and sports.

To stimulate the interest of physical education majors and recreation students, a special session has been planned for April 6. Physical education students may attend by paying a nominal fee.

Hotel Division

(Continued from page 1)

managing conventions. The other course will be statistical in nature and will be given by a representative of Dean Witter & Co.

All students of the college may audit these courses. Those desiring to do so should get in touch with J. Graham Sullivan, co-ordinator of the hotel division.

Students On NYA Waiting List To See Redford

Students on the NYA waiting list are requested to see Edward H. Redford, college NYA director, immediately.

Jobs may not be available for all on the list because of the conflict of hours and the type of work," said Redford.

Music, Speech Dep'ts Featured In Air Program

Sponsored by the Wells Fargo Bank of San Francisco, members of the music and speech departments were featured in a fifteen minute program over the Columbia Broadcasting network in the Wells-Fargo building on Treasure Island last Saturday.

The college male quartet supplied the musical background for a dramatic skit in which members of the speech department participated.

Participants Listed

Those taking part were Bob Scott, Arnold Chapin, Everett Wallace, Bill Jackmann, Floyd Lawrence, Tony Manov, Lillian Phillips, Charles Henry, Bill Switzer, Ifill O'Neill, Tom Paull, and Elmer Hübacher.

The skit which depicted the evolution of the Wells-Fargo Pony Express to the present-day Wells-Fargo bank was divided into seven parts, each of which played an important part in history.

Badger, Weller Direct

Flossita Badger, choir director, was in charge of the music, and Marie Weller, pageant director, supervised the dramatics.

Songs rendered by the quartet were On, Susanna, Year of Jubilee, Wait for the Wagon, Battle Hymn of the Republic, Arkansas Traveler, Tenting Tonight, and Lying in the Straw. California Here I Come.

Japanese Student Society To Hold Skating Party

Open to all students of the college, and sponsored by the college Japanese Students Club, a roller skating party will be held this Friday, March 24, at the Ambassador Rink, Geary and Fillmore streets.

The party will begin at 10:30, and continue until after midnight. Admission to the affair is 35 cents.

Fairmont Gold Room Scene Of Next Dance March 31

As announced last week, the Low Sophomore dance is definitely set for March 31, in the Gold Room of the Fairmont Hotel. Students of the college will dance to the strains of Warren Ringen's orchestra.

Although the theme of the affair is still indefinite, it has been decided that it will be informal, and admission will be by one Associated Student card per couple.

More than a thousand years ago the water level of the Great Lakes was apparently 28 feet higher than today, says a University of Michigan geologist.

Aside from 1906 last year was Alaska's biggest year in gold producing.

It's nice (and practically necessary) to have a

CASHMERE SWEATER

$8.95 $5.95

And it's nicest to have one of these new square-necked ones . . . pure cashmere in swell-elegant colors . . . and not sky-high in price.

Roos Bros

MARKET AT STOCKTON

Library Browsing

By JANET FELLOWS

In the reserve book room this week we read, with other interesting material, an article in the March 15, 1939, issue of The New Republic, Teacher's Fight for Democracy by Jerome Davis, president of the American Federation of Teachers. Davis completely denies accusations by the Dies Committee and other organizations that the Teacher's Federation is communistic. To the contrary, the American Federation of Teachers is fighting for democracy, not against it.

Among other editorials in the same issue is Plus the Peacemaker, which states the possibilities of a pope entering in national politics and influencing the world toward ideals of peace.

Movies reviewed in Motion Picture Review Digest, February. 27, 1939, are Cafe Society, which is said to be despite its hilarious spots, dull. Other critics say it has a clever, fast-moving dialogue. In the cast are Fred MacMurray, Madeline Carroll, and Shirley Ross.

Wings of the Navy is also reviewed in this issue. This picture will be in charge of the, music, and Marie Weller, pageant director, supervised the dramatics.

Songs rendered by the quartet were On, Susanna, Year of Jubilee, Wait for the Wagon, Battle Hymn of the Republic, Arkansas Traveler, Tenting Tonight, and Lying in the Straw. California Here I Come.

The WPA—Loafers or Workers? in Forum, March, 1939, gives information about the type of people who are on the WPA and what they do.

In the same issue Hitler's Aerial Triumph gives all the news about the Nazi's aerial rearmament program; what Hitler's government has accomplished, how worthy his air forces are, comparison of Germany's with Russia's, Italy's, Britain's, the United States', and France's air forces, and what the probable outcome will be should there be another world war.

Faculty members who offer advice to students who seek information about occupations and how to get them may be aided by the books listed below. All of these books are in the college library.

—Choosing Your Life Works, Rosegarton; Finding Your Job, Shibe; How To Find and Follow Your Career, Reilly; Men Wanted, Maule; Occupations, Brewer; Make Your Own Job Opportunities In Unusual Vocations, Ryder.

ANSWERS

(Continued from page 2)

1. Horace Heidt. 2. Mergenthaler. 3. Stuart (vain) and Botticelli (modest). 4. 6½ lbs. 5. Misrepresentation; lack of simplicity. 6. 10 to 12 hours, without delays. 7. Irving Tressler. 8. Phoneties. 9. The Raven, by E. A. Poe. 10. Los Angeles.

In the heat wave of August, 1936, Concordia, Kansas, reported that the temperature reached 116 degrees.

Cinch Notices Out This Week; Look In Mailbox

The Guardsman

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Dance Friday Nite As Guests Of Low Sophs At Fairmont Hotel

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, MARCH 29, 1939 No. 11

College Soldiers Study 'Big Gun' Technique At National Guard Armory

Shown above are pictures centering about the college military science classes which, in addition to routine class room work here, train every Wednesday night at the National Guard Armory, 14th and Mission streets. Members of the class are all enlisted men of the 250th Coast Artillery, California National Guard who are training as officer candidates. (Top) Gathered about Colonel D. P. Hardy, commanding officer of the 250th, are, from left to right, Captain M. Meyer, 250th; Major P. A. Biehl, CAC; Colonel Hardy, Major C. A. Whitaker, CAC, and Lieutenant James Hughes, ORC, instructor of the classes and also of the college Political Science Department. (Second) An auxiliary weapon of the local "Big Gun" regiment is the anti-aircraft machine gun. Shown manning one of these are: left to right, Earl Greer, Harvey Kinnsian; and John Procter, (Third) Accurately working out the exact range of an imaginary enemy ship in the "plotting room" are: left to right, John Stahmann, Sergeant James Huntsman, Bob Raine, Austin Chaney, Earle Greer, and Bill Franis. (Fourth) Becoming acquainted with the internal working of an army truck are; left to right, John Stahmann, Bob Raine, and Shipley Prugh. Not shown in these pictures is the 155-mm cannon, the basic weapon of the 250th, which weighs 15 tons, taking a 10-ton truck to pull it.

Military Science Class Visits Marin County Defenses

Students To See 12-Inch Cannon In Action At Fort Barry

To observe and study several types of harbor defense armament, the college military science classes trek to Marin County, April 12.

This is to be second of a series of three field trips this semester.

The first was an afternoon and evening demonstration of anti-aircraft artillery by the newly organized 65th Coast Artillery, stationed at Fort Winfield Scott in the Presidio.

Features Anti-Aircraft

The initial field trip featured the latest air-defense guns and searchlights, as well as various sound locators and range-finding equipment.

The coming field trip is to be a study of the armament located on the north side of the Golden Gate.

12-Inch Guns Included

This includes the 12-inch guns at Fort Barry, the installations at Fort Baker and possibly the recently installed 16-inch guns at Fort Cronkhite.

The latter are the heaviest type of coast defense gun in use by the United States.

To Fire Cannons

Included in the demonstration at Fort Barry will be the actual firing of "Battery Wallace," a group of two 12-inch guns.

The firing will be done by a regular army detail.

The trip will be under the supervision of Colonel David P. Hardy, commanding officer of the 250th Coast Artillery, to which the college military classes are attached. Major P. A. Biehl, CAC, will be in actual charge.

Travel in Cars

Transportation is to be provided by the 250th Coast Artillery in the form of reconnaissance sedans.

Organized this semester, the military science classes have as instructor, Lieutenant James S. Hughes of the Officers Reserve Corps, who is also a political science instructor at the college.

Systematic Approach

In reality, the military science course is a systematic approach to the army ten series extension course. Successful completion makes one eligible for appearance before an army board of examiners for a commission as second lieutenant in the Coast Artillery Corps, United States Army.

If the commission is received, it can be taken either in the California National Guard, California National Guard Reserve, or the U. S. Army Reserve, at the individual's discretion.

The course normally covers two years, with concurrent enlistments in the 250th Coast Artillery, California National Guard a prerequisite.

Building Status Decided Upon At Meeting of Board; Results Not Yet Known

Postponement of action until Tuesday, on the awarding of contracts for the college science unit, was decided upon at the meeting of the Board of Education last Friday.

Results of the meeting held yesterday have not as yet been announced. However it is rumored that the present bids will be accepted and construction will begin very shortly.

Plans Studied

The plans have been studied by both architects and administration officials during the past two weeks, with an eye to changing them so that the cost may be decreased, since it is at present $140,000 over the amount of money allowed for the project.

Acknowledge Recognition

At Friday's meeting, recognition of the students part in electioneering for the passage of the bond issue for the necessary PWA funds was acknowledged by members of the board.

Opinion expressed was that all the work on the part of the students would not be in vain, and that although there has been much delay and confusion, the attainment of the college's goal for the past four years will soon be accomplished.

Rally At Galileo Auditorium Today; Surprise Planned

Last Of Semester Given By Committee At 2:30; New Talent Promised

Final rally of the semester staged by the rally committee will get under way today at 2:30 o'clock in the Galileo High School Gymnasium. With plans completed for the event, Art Pomares, head yell leader, is depending chiefly on his "surprises for the success of the rally.

With Pomares working on one of his "surprises" before he has a chance to back out, it appears as though the main attraction will be the latest of Jack Schmale's epics.

Completed and the cast of "characters" selected, the play, according to Schmale, father of the blessed event, is the best he has yet produced.

Theme From Gay Way

Although its nature is not to be divulged, Schmale is depending upon the enthusiasm his last "Joe's J. C." created, to draw the customers into his latest. The theme of this unchristened play is taken from Treasure Island's Gay Way.

The phonograph recording of The Victory Song will be played for the first time at this rally. Credit for the recording goes to Art Pomares, who conceived the idea to take the place of the popular music usually played. The record will be utilized at this and at all future rallies.

The usual run of peppy yells, brief talks and local talent will comprise the remainder of the program, Pomares said.

Substitutes Ready

In the event that the two "surprises" Pomares contemplates should fail to materialize, attractions from neighboring high schools will be employed.

That all students must report to their 2:30 classes and may then proceed to the rally, is the procedure expected.

Although this is the last rally sponsored by the rally committee, the Block SF, Army and Navy symposium, High Sophomore, and nomination rallies have yet to be presented.

$1000 and Trips Offered To Winners of Essay Contest; Students of College Eligible

"One thousand dollars in cash and two-all-expense trips to the New York World's Fair for an essay of 1,000 words on How Advertising Benefits the Consumer."

Those are the opportunities that are offered the winner of the essay contest being sponsored by Advertising Age, the National Newspaper of Advertising.

Open To Students

Anyone enrolled as an undergraduate student in any college, university, high school or secondary school in the United States or Canada during the period of the contest is eligible to enter. There are no restrictions of any kind.

The contest is divided into two sections, one for college and university students, and the other for high school students. There are thirteen prizes in each group. The college student who writes the best essay in his section will get $250 in cash, plus a complete, all-expense trip to New York and the World's Fair, where their prizes and awards will be presented to them. Second and third prizes and the ten honorable mentions, also apply equally to each section.

Rules Given

The rules for the contest are simple. Essays must not exceed one thousand words and must be written or typewritten, on one side of the paper.

Contestant's full name, school or college, course, class year, and complete home address must be given on a separate sheet of paper attached securely to the manuscript.

Manuscripts must be mailed to Contest Secretary, Advertising Age, 100 East Ohio Street, Chicago, and

(Continued on page 4, column 5)

LATE FLASH! The appearance of "the big radio celebrity", originally intended as the "big surprise" of today's rally, has fallen through. Yell Leader Art Pomares must of necessity depend entirely on Jack Schmale's play for the success of the rally.

Low Sophomore Dance Friday At Fairmont Hotel

Orchestra Of Warren Ringen To Play In Beautiful Gold Room

With the strains of Warren Ringen's ten-piece orchestra, the Low Sophomores will dance at the Gold Room of the Hotel Fairmont this Friday, March 31.

Planned by the social committee, the dance will be in honor of the class, and those who are planning to attend the affair may do so in informal clothes, Miriam Dunne, chairman, announced.

Because the theme of the dance will not be revealed preceding the dance itself, bids for the occasion will be presented when students are admitted to the dance Friday.

Student Card Admission

As in all previous dances staged at the hotels, the admission to the event will be a student body card for one couple.

It is rumored that the attendance of this affair will be twice the size of the Low Soph class. The plans for the dance have been set by members of the social committee.

The next meeting of the social committee will be the planning of the theme, place, bids, decorations, and all of the trimming of the High Sophomore formal which will be held during Sophomore Week.

Success Promised

Miriam Dunne, head of the committee, has told of the successful turnouts of the previous dances held this semester and has promised an even greater success for the coming Low Soph dance.

Added to the soft strains of the music of the evening will be the atmosphere of the hotel's Gold Room. The Fairmont Hotel has not had the privilege of holding any of the college dances there this semester, and promises of more affairs there in the future have been rumored.

Red Rifle Team Defeats University Of San Francisco By 70 Points

Defeating a clever, inexperienced team from the University of San Francisco, the college Red riflers won their first intra-school match since their victory over Stanford by a score of 911 to 841, on March 17.

At no point during the match were the locals headed as they continued their lone string of victories to the 15 mark; George Stewart with 185 led the Red team in points scored. He was closely followed by Alex Templeton with 184 and George Humphrey with 183 digits.

The Don squad was led by Art Colson who managed a 177, defeating team-mate Walsh for team honors by one point. The U. S. F. total of 841 is exceptionally high when one considers that this is the first match the Don team has competed in since the inception of shooting at the San Francisco University.

"I am pleased with the showing that our squad made; however, the fine score of this Don team in its first competitive match is certainly an indication of the type of competition we are bound to be up against in future matches with this young squad," Coach Fred MacFarland remarked.

Scores for the match are listed below:

Red Riflers—911		U.S.F.—841
G. Stewart	185	Colson	177
A. Templeton	184	Walsh	176
G. Humphrey	183	Golden	169
W. Gibson	181	Stoppel	160
C. North	178	Dandy	159

NYA Pay Checks Mailed To Students March 28

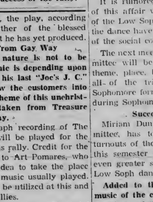
Pay checks will be mailed to all NYA students Tuesday, March 28, according to Edward H. Redford, college NYA director.

Because many students have dropped out of school and others have obtained outside employment, more students have been placed this semester than previously.

Time slips will next be due on April 17.

Alpha Gamma Sigma Convention Saturday

Statewide Delegates To Convene In California Hall As Guests Of The College; Interesting Program Planned



Delegates from statewide chapters of Alpha Gamma Sigma will convene in Treasure Island's California Hall, Saturday, April 1, as guests of the college chapter's convention.

Buses will bring as many as twenty-four representatives from a single college.

Society President Plans 'Great' Convention Program

"Alpha Gamma Sigma President James Henry," say members of that group, "has supervised the planning of Saturday's convention program to such fine proportions that it should

Heads Program

James Henry

for overshadow any like activity that group has sponsored in the past."

Presided over by James Henry and Dorothy Rodenbeck the program for the day will be as follows:

10:00—Registration in California Hall.

10:10—Welcome by President A. J. Cloud.

10:15—Music by the college A Capella choir and solos by various students.

10:35—Presentation of charters to the new chapters.

10:45—Music by the San Jose State College choirs.

11:05—Panel discussion of the conference theme: The Purpose of Education in American Democracy.

12:00—Luncheon in the Administration Building.

1:30—Music by the Santa Rosa Junior College Symphony Band.

2:00—Address by Dr. Robert Sibley, University of California Alumni secretary.

2:30—Tour of the Exposition grounds by the delegates under the leadership of the college members.

9:00—Dance in the California Hall.

Physical Education Group To Convene Here in April; P. E. Majors To Attend

Participating in the 44th annual convention of the American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation on April 3 to April 6, Iantha Mae Keller, physical education instructor, is acting as publicity chairman.

This coming convention will be of special interest to all physical education and recreation majors as there has been a special session planned for April 6.

Leaders Named

Acting as president at the convention sessions will be Dr. Frederick W. Cozens, University of California at Los Angeles; John C. McGlade, Deputy Superintendent of San Francisco Schools, and Catherine Worthingham, Department of Hygiene and Physical Education, Stanford University, are local convention managers.

For the convention, the San Francisco committees provide a program which gives representation to all sections of the country and in which authorities from the East, Middle West, Pacific Coast and Southwest will participate and give their viewpoints and ideas on health problems.

Physical education and recreation programs for meeting the needs of youth in a changing social and econ-

(Continued on page 4, column 4)

Deadline for luncheon reservations in the Administrative building on the island is Wednesday, March 29. Blanks sent to the college members of the society must be signed and returned to Alice Cooper, faculty adviser.

"All Are Welcome"

"All members of the college chapter and as many students of the college who desire to attend the convention are welcome," said Miss Cooper.

Inaugurated by Miss Cooper, the college chapter of the Alpha Gamma Sigma has been in existence for three semesters.

Cloud Will Open

President Archibald J. Cloud will open the statewide meeting which will be presided over by James M. Henry and Dorothy Rodenbeck.

Officers of the college chapter for the semester are James Henry, president; Dorothy Pilgrim, vice president; Dorothy Rodenbeck, secretary.

Committees Listed

Advisory Committee: Helen Dubois, John Dubois, Violet Burzess, and Rose Mary Jelinek.

Contact Committee: Mitzi Rol, Charles Lambert, George Hoffman, Harold Kren, Dorothy Pilgrim, Dorothy Rodenbeck, James Henry, John Doran, Jane Tamaka, and John Matjasich.

Faculty To Attend

Faculty members from the college and from the university will also attend the convention.

"This convention will be the most important affair of the year for the college chapter," predicted Henry, president of the society.

Applications For Retail Merchandising Enrollment Should Be Made Now

F. Grant Marsh, business director, revealed Thursday that applications for enrolling in the Retail Merchandising classes for the Fall semester may be made directly to him from now on.

"It is advisable," Marsh said, "to make applications early as the classes are sure to be crowded."

Members of the Retail merchandising classes are given part time jobs, averaging a minimum of six dollars a week, with their class work.

Henry Martin, Manager of the Standard Forms Bureau of San Francisco was the lecturer for the general insurances class of the college, March 20. His subject was the rise of the fire insurance business in the United States.

Martin traced the steady progress and business peculiarities of fire insurance and discussed its expansion of coverages to include such modern forms of contracts as rent and rental value insurance, use and occupancy insurance and profits insurance.

In closing his talk Martin expressed a keen appreciation of the practical idea behind the insurance training courses at the college and volunteered his full cooperation in any further projection of the course work.

Forum Magazine On Sale After Easter Vacation

John Cummings, Forum editor, and William Goss and Frederick Bracher, faculty sponsors have been deluged with material for the Forum Magazine, literary publication of the college. The magazine, which promises to excel all previous publications because of several extra pages devoted to original art work in wpod and linoleum, will be put on sale the week following Easter vacation.

Tickets, selling for 15 cents, must be purchased in advance, as the number of copies printed is dependent on the number of tickets purchased.

Winner of the best single contribution not exceeding 1500 words will be presented with a book at the Forum Club banquet at the end of the semester.

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, MARCH 29, 1939 No. 11

JOHN JULIUS....EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser — Joan Nourse
Business Adviser — Edward H. Redford

Bill Frantz....Managing Editor
Leonard Gross....News Editor
Ray Berns....Sports Editor
Isadore Maloff....Feature Editor
Dorothy Trood....Women's Editor
Janet Fellows....Club Editor
Sam Galstaun....Staff Photographer
Marion MacKillop....Staff Artist
Allen Martin....Business Manager
Edmund Wunsch....Assistant Business Manager

REPORTERS

Lucretia Antonicelli, Etban Bernstein, Victoria Candido, Bill Canning, Jacqueline Davis, Janet Fellows, Lois Gipson, Louis Goldstone, Dave Johnson, Frances Manalo, Daniel Rosenblat, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Harold Unterberger, Frank Verducci, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Comes The Time To Praise Ourselves; College Activities Especially Successful

OCCASIONALLY the time comes when it is justifiable to praise oneself. A job well done brings individual satisfaction. The same is true in the life of a college. This semester particularly the college has a right to be proud of its activities.

For the first time in the history of the college, a used book exchange was attempted and proved itself successful. Needless to say, it was a welcome benefit to many students needing used text books.

Rifle Teams Win All Events

Throughout the entire semester, the college rifle teams have been winning every competition they have entered. Too much praise cannot be given the teams for their consistency. It is enough to win once in a while, but when an organization wins all the time it is indeed remarkable.

It says a great deal for any team that can, by dint of hard work, remain on top throughout many hectic encounters.

Of course, the recent Whiskerino will not be soon forgotten. Acting as a tie-in with the opening of the Golden Gate International Exposition, it did its part to provide color to San Francisco during the pageant, and served to show that the students of the college were willing to contribute to the spirit of the occasion.

Hotel, Restaurant Keeps Place

As in past semesters, the Hotel and Restaurant Division has managed to keep its name foremost among the active divisions of the college. Playing host to the prominent hotelmen of Northern California, and celebrating its third anniversary were only two of many activities.

One of the biggest events this year will be the Fair Pageant. Although students from all the schools in the city are participating, it is rumored that the principal roles have been given to members of this institution, proving to some cynics that junior college students seem to possess more ability than is commonly supposed.

Student Administration Reorganized

Reorganization of one of the major sections of student administration was evidenced by the revision of the Club Advisory Board, which was in such a pitiable condition at the beginning of the semester.

Now, because of the hard work done by the present officers of the organization, it can be considered successful in every sense of the word, especially since almost every club in the college is now a member of the board. This condition has never existed before.

Honor Society Plays Host

Alpha Gamma Sigma, college scholarship society, has also distinguished itself. Playing host to all the Alpha Gamma Sigma chapters in the state at a convention at Treasure Island, the society will shoulder great responsibility in caring for the many delegates that will arrive here very shortly.

State officers for this year have been selected from the college, proving that for the present this institution is the center of scholarship activity.

High Frosh Also Active

Attention should be called to the unprecedented activity of the High Freshman class this semester. Never in the past history of the college (if activity is any indication), has there been such an up and coming group led by efficient officers. Congratulations should be extended to all members of this class for the active part they have taken in the work and play of the college.

Radio Program—A Novelty

One of the most recent activities of students of this institution has been the radio program aired from the Exposition under the sponsorship of one of the city's most prominent banks.

Last week, a letter from the president of the bank was received commending the students who took part and expressing the opinion that it was hard to believe the program was put on by inexperienced college students, so professional did it sound.

Turning to the music department, the A Capella Choir has been featured at many colleges throughout the bay area and has also sung at Treasure Island.

Chief Was Active Too

President Cloud, after receiving many honors at various times, will soon receive an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from St. Mary's College.

In summary, let us but say that it is evident by the recent actions and activities of the students of the college singly, and as a whole, that never again will anyone be able to say that there is no need of a junior college, on the grounds that it does nothing of interest or importance. We have proved that opinion to be erroneous and shall continue to do so in the future.

L. Gross

Prosperity Corner

By Sam Galstaun

1. What famous poet wrote Paradise Lost?

This English poet had an eye affliction which later developed into blindness. If his eye sight had not left him, be probably would not be remembered today as a great poet, for it was with this handicap that he was able to produce his masterpiece. As the story goes, he dictated the words as they came to him, and forced his daughters with a whip to copy them down.

2. What President of the United States has been honored by a foreign stamp issue?

3. Who first used the title of "emperor"?

Although he did not use the word "emperor", he used the equivalent of it in Latin. He is particularly famous for having once said, "veni, vidi, vici" (in translation it means; I came, I saw, I conquered). He met his fate by being stabbed to death on the "Ides of March" (March 15) by a group of conspirators.

4. What unit is used when calculating the speed of a ship?

5. Where in the United States was the State of Franklin?

In 1784, shortly after the Revolutionary War, the original thirteen states were in search for new territory. In honor of Benjamin Franklin the newly acquired state bore his name, but soon after that name was abandoned and a new one attached.

6. What country has neither an army nor a navy?

7. What Queen popularized the wearing of silk stockings?

This question should be particularly interesting to women including Fashion Fanny. Although this queen was far from being effeminate, she was nevertheless quite vain.

8. What is it that men do not want, but once they have it they would never part with it? (thanks to Mr. Paul M. Pitman)

9. Who wrote:

Water, water, everywhere,
And all the boards did shrink;
Water, water, everywhere,
Nor any drop to drink."?

10. What is dry ice made of?

—(Quiz Answers—Page 4, Column 4)

. . . while thinking . . .

By Leonard Gross

EVENTS of world wide importance during the past week have occurred so suddenly and dramatically that it is to a certain extent difficult to know where to begin. This week we shall deviate slightly from our usual custom and present a brief glance at the world about us.

WORLD WIDE CHAOS

England and France are in the throes of an internal upheaval as a result of the current Nazi scare, and are attempting to put on a bold front but not succeeding very well; Germany is in her glory, gloating over her recent territorial acquisitions, and secure in the belief that she has nothing to fear in continuing her lawless attacks on peaceful countries.

It is impossible to neglect mentioning the little that is left of the Balkan states. Needless to say, they are living in an atmosphere of uncertainty and constant fear, not knowing their actual status from one moment to the next.

PREPARING OR FIGHTING

Another dictatorship, Italy, is growling and grumbling at everyone in general and France in particular, realizing that she is being completely overshadowed by her fellow Fascist nation, and feeling that she must say something to maintain her prestige; Russia is slowly but surely gearing itself for war with the mighty German military machine, and is at the same time keeping a wary eye on the actions of the Japanese; Japan meanwhile is still plugging away at China, spending millions of dollars and sacrificing millions of lives in a venture that will never actually result in victory; ancient China, a buffoon of fate, is wearily resisting the attacks of the Nipponese hordes, and is gradually swallowing them.

We will not even attempt to discuss the pitiful condition of Spain today. The situation is already well known by the general public.

SOLUTION DIFFICULT

Now let us glance at the United States. In comparison with the rest of the world everything is serene and peaceful. Even here, however, are difficulties, internal strife, labor disputes, and minor rumblings of the agitated state of affairs existing in Europe and Asia.

It is enough to make one pause and wonder how long this chaotic situation will last, and when it stops, how it will stop. Unquestionably a solution must be found. The world cannot continue in such a hectic, agitated, pitiable condition—yet how can it be changed? The question is a difficult one, and we frankly confess we are at a loss to answer it.

Sartorial Modes

By Fashion Fanny

CALIFORNIA is fast becoming well-known for the smart sport clothing produced up and down the Pacific coast, and in Pasadena we find Cool-ees, attractive and impudently gay slippers and playshoes. They come in a riot of colors, delightful cushioned soles, and rather tailored. They're intended for comfort . . . also to make the feet look smaller. Cool-ees come in soft satins for indoor lounging; in leather, in duckskin and other sterling fabrics for active sports, for the beach, or for just being smartly at ease. You'll like cool-ees and they're available at leading stores. Try some play suits and other clothes made for active sports that are designed and produced right here in California.

MISS COLLEGE GIRL

Designers never seem to tire of reaping new ideas for the college girl for she's lively, direct and forward-looking. Miss College Girl likes simplicity and softly tailored things, so this spring she chooses a grey flannel suit with a pert short jacket. Peter Pan collar and an easy skirt that she'll swing along when on shopping tours or sight-seeing at the Fair. For teas, Sundays or trips to town a coat of amethyst Julliard wool parting over a dress of amethyst-and-white silk. For accessories black patent toe-less-heel-less shoes, with matching patent bag, a pique bonnet trimmed with grosgrain ribbon and Kislav Social Registers, aristocrats of gloves.

SUEDE POUCHES

Bags this spring have the women all agog over them for they're pouchy and big and just adorable. The pouch overarm bag in suede seen at a local spot looks as if it wouldn't hold a compact, much less a comb, but upon investigating it, the roominess found inside was simply something to talk about. It's grand for everyone, for it has style and color, plenty of room for those who carry everything with them, and it's large for the new spring costume demand.

It's much easier to carry a bag with an overarm strap than the envelope type that keeps slipping down from under the arm all the time. Smart people are carrying bags with handles this year—so convenient.

AFTER DARK

By John Ward

CURRENT DIGRESSIONS:

IN one of his less notorious books John Strachey presents this idea: there are two kinds of fascists, conscious and unconscious. In detail it is obvious that there are many other categories, as with any large group, but for the moment let us consider Strachey's general observation. He exemplifies his idea by showing how a man like T. S. Eliot, one of America's great expatriate poets, believes in many of the tenets of German fascism (racial snobbishness, for instance) though Eliot himself denies any sympathy with the Hitler regime.

To put it into a simple formula, some men become fascists by reverse motion just as two men may both become atheists one by going to church, the other by never going. And often they may both reach the same conclusions. Usually defeatist conservatives like Eliot, or glorious fools like the Italian tenor Gigli, see in fascism a sort of last ... status quo. And Eliot comes to such a belief by a strange mental process (reaction tacks apparent fascism and yet accepts tacts aparent fascism and yet accepts it intellectually . . . perhaps because fascism is, in theory and practice, revolutionary conservatism.

Now, to digress: no matter how bitter one can become over Gigli's recent remarks about the glory of Italian fascism and the horrible state of affairs in America, he is still a superlative tenor. Just as Iturbi, pro-Franco or no, is still a very great rococo pianist. Though politics colors our whole existence these days, let us still keep an objective point of view. America made some silly mistakes during the last war as regards art and literature, (no German music, etc.) and there is no need to revive or repeat them.

Recently we were present at a gathering given for Herr Weidemann, Nazi consul for San Francisco. Between the heils and Hitlers we became quite violently angry. It isn't a pleasant or a decent business to see American citizens hailing a foreign government with all the ardour of a band of revivalists. But, rotten as the whole affair seemed, we would rather fight for their right to assemble than to deny them that privilege. After all, that right to assemble is one of the great differences between America and Germany today. It may be baiting the hurricane or inviting disaster, but to deny the Nazi's that privilege would be to alter the whole tone of our constitution, and brave is the man who does that, and foolish.

All of which leads us to a last digression: the American Nazi Bund is far more admirable than that organization which recently refused to permit a singer to use one of its buildings because she belonged to another race. At least the Nazis declare their policies and their allegiance. Not so the ultra-super-American group. They are the great conservative snobs who declare the German racial persecutions barbaric and in turn foster racial prejudice in the U. S. A.

Convention

By Marion MacKillop

RAM'S HORN

Critic Trips Ward; Social Committee Gets Timely Advice

● COULD JOHN HAVE ERRED?

Editor, The Guardsman:

Mr. Ward, I realize, of course, that you want publicity. Your little discourse on the picture, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," proves that you were seeking not to criticize the picture, but to gain much-needed publicity for your column.

In view of that fact it is not unnatural that in your column "After Dark," of the February 15 issue, you once again set out to use a little adverse criticism, this time upon the pitfalls of modern swing music and the effect it has upon the younger generation.

I am not especially anxious to bring you notoriety Mr. Ward, but it interests me strangely that you have contradicted your statements of the February 15 issue with your rantings in the March 15 issue. In short, Mr. Ward, you have slipped. Tsk! Tsk!

February 15: "When anything acts as a pure escape from a necessary reality it is to be condemned. And as far as we can see into the scene swing music is the escape of young America to too great an extent. The youth of America, who should be the first in the field when it comes to understanding the issues at variance in the world today, are running from facts and figures in a mad rush from reality."

Commenting upon the French film, "Balerina," at the El Presidio Theatre in the issue of March 15; "Ballerina is an enchanting and nostalgic bit about ballet, beautifully directed and filled with many elegant shots of the dance. Obviously the modern replica of the classic ballet is a distant and wonderful escape from the woes and realities of newspaper headlines. It is a wonderful escape and Ballerina accomplished the trick in short order."

Now then, Mr. Ward, you have placed both swing music and the ballet in the same footing. Both, (according to you) help one escape from reality. Yet, you condemn one and praise the other. Why? It wouldn't be because your mind dwells only in circles of esthetic beauty, or would it? Then again you might be seeking much needed publicity or the free passes you might get for this type of writing. Or perhaps, it was just a downright slip on your part. Watch yourself, John.

Sincerely,

Amused

● McCUTCHEN VERSUS BACA

Editor, The Guardsman:

I'd like to straighten out a subject which appeared in the last issue of The Guardsman, March 22, 1939. The subject is that of acclaiming one, Carl McCutchen, as 129-pound champ.

I feel that a great injustice has been done to the A. M. S. because the people concerned with the A. M. S. FIGHTS went to great measures to find fighters of the various classes to fight in their show. The day before the fights they had a weigh-in to determine which class the fellas should fight in. I happened to be at that weigh-in, in fact I happened to be in the fights.

I didn't see Mr. McCutchen at the weigh-in nor do I believe that Mr. McCutchen went to any extent to enter the fights, because I'm sure that Mr. Amori could have found him an opponent. You see I weighed in at 130 pounds which enabled me to be eligible for the 129-pound crown but no opponent could be found in this division, so I had to fight in the next division.

I felt that since I was qualified to fight in the 129 division and since no opponent in the 129 division showed up I should be awarded the 129 crown, but apparently Mr. McCutchen thinks differently. I say if Mr. McCutchen wants the 129 crown let him fight for it. And if he's looking for an opponent may his searching cease here and now.

Sincerely,

Eddie Baca, a Boxer.

● THEY'RE INVESTIGATING

Editor, The Guardsman:

Of all the disappointing stories I've ever read "The Flight of the Starlark" is the worst. Not that it wasn't fine as far as it went, but where's the rest of it? Just as I was getting interested in the story you decide to leave them in the wilds of the unexplored moon.

What's the matter, did your reporter lose communication with the moon, or did he suffer a lapse in his imagination?

Still worse than "The Lady and the Tiger" with its disappointing ending was your "Flight of the Starlark."

If I have completed my two years at this institution before your reporter decides to bring these scientists back to our earth, I would greatly appreciate your forwarding the concluding chapters of this story to the address I am enclosing, as I simply must satisfy my curiosity as to the fate of these gentlemen and as I am greatly interested in agricultural conditions on the moon.

Sincerely,

Ima Leffing

● WANTS SEMI-FORMALS

Editor, The Guardsman:

Although I in no way wish to cast any reflections on the social committee of the college, during my two semesters here, one fact has always puzzled me. Why is it that with the exception of the Low Freshman dance at the beginning of the semester, none of the dances sponsored by the student body are semi-formal? Not that it is the most important thing in the world but it seems to me that other ... have several ... formal occasions, why not this one?

I am just curious and as a member of the Associated Students feel that I have a right to inquire as to something that appears very unusual in a college. Let me add that I am not the only one that is puzzled by this situation, but several of my friends have also voiced the same opinion. I would like an answer to this letter from someone in a position to speak authoritatively on the subject.

Sincerely yours,

Nome Deplume

Cabbages & Kings

By Blue Pencil Bill

INFORMATION: The Art exhibit at the Fairgrounds has four types of police guards. Lloyds of London's insurance guards, San Francisco city police, State troopers, and special Exposition guards.

• • •

More information: The cashier at Carl Wilke's is Mary June Rawlins, the daughter of the manager. According to steady customers Mary June is nineteen years of age, a high school graduate, and she is working until the fall semester when she will enter university. Needless to say, she is pretty.

• • •

ALL ABOUT AQUATIC PARK

Knowing of nothing better to do with our time between 12 o'clock and 2:30 classes, we dropped into the Aquatic Park building to see what the papers were raving about. We reached the front steps and a blue and gold uniformed guard opened the door for us, and tipped his hat. We, being of gentlemanly stock, in turn tipped our hat to him.

Our first impression of the building was highly colored by the odor of fish and was assisted by the swingy strains of ". . . have some sea food —Mama! Shrimpers and rice . . ." We discovered later that the music came from one automatic phonograph machine, a nickel a record. The phonograph machine is on a balcony facing the bay. Gordon Fluno and his best girl were dancing on the balcony to the music from the phonograph—they were casually noticed by a trio of blockmen, standing with their backs to the sun.

We then went below and outside into the hot sun. (There was a hot sun the day we went out there.) We don't believe we were the first member of the college to discover the beauties of Aquatic Park because we counted a couple of dozen fellow students sunning themselves.

Out in the little harbor two slim, one-man shells sped across the water. When they came closer, we got a good look at the oarsmen—they were Elmer Hubacher and Wilton Latz.

MUSIC, WATER DRAW STUDENTS

We then sat down in the white grandstands and listened to the "One O'Clock Revue" which came from the loud speaker systems in the two large pylons at the extremes of the park.

Aquatic Park is rapidly becoming so popular with the students of the college on sunny days that we believe the administration may as well mark it down as another of the campi. Attendance at Aquatic Park is only optional to students with afternoon classes at Galileo.

• • •

"Did you knock 'em cold in the Sociology midterm, Bill?"

"Yeah, zero."

• • •

IT'S PLUG TIME

This is just about the time of the semester to scatter bouquets around for political reasons.

To Art Pomares, the personality kid, we proffer a bouquet of roses—about four of them. Art has given the student body one of the finest series of rallies in the history of the college. He did not expect us to mention it, but he intends to stay in campus politics.

Miriam Dunne deserves a batch of orchids for her admirable efforts as social chairman. (Put it on Verducci's swindle sheet, Mr. Florist, he giving her some too.)

If there are any students in the college more deservant of praise than the above-mentioned politicos, send us their names and we'll give them full recognition.

Presidential Notes

By Frank Verducci

ATTEND today's rally for a swell time. This is the last rally to come under the auspices of the rally committee so let's make a colossal success of it. This will also probably be Art Pomare's last appearance before the students this semester, so give our cheer leader a real send off. All 2:30 classes will be officially excused after roll call, so drop around; it's free.

Don't forget that this Friday night will be the last dance held under the colors of Miriam Dunne's Social Committee. This dance will be in ... of the Low Soph Class ... to take place at the Fairmont Hotel. Music by Warren Ringen and his hot cha boys.

ELECTION TIME NEARS

The semester is more than two-thirds complete and it won't be long before the students will be confronted with the task of choosing next semester's officers. Start looking around and if you know someone who might have the makings of a good leader see that he is nominated. This semester we expect to see a record vote cast and more excitement and interest than ever before.

Support Intra-Mural Basketball Started By Club Advisory Board

Follow Swami's Course Of Instruction On Baseball!

RAMblings

By RAY BERNS

It seems that there is a certain clique in the college sponsoring Carl McCutcheon as the "uncrowned" 129 pound boxing champ. We can go them one better. In our possession (we're his manager) is the "Spanish Terrier," Rafael Arce, the "uncrowned" 119 pound champion.

On behalf of Arce, we challenge any and all comers to a battle (it's not our nose). Boasting a two-fisted attack and a fierce countenance sure to strike terror into the hearts of his opponents, Arce appears destined to be the fistic sensation of the year. Quite a lad, this "Spanish Terrier."

Remark Overheard

While indulging in our customary habit of wasting time in the Study Hall at Powell street last week, we overheard one of the lads make derogatory comments as to the ability of certain members of the bowling team.

Snorting disgustedly over the fact that one of Amori's pin-smashers had bowled a feeble 96 in the recent Salinas match, this lad remarked that he had knocked over a neat 200 in practice. Can such things be? Uh, huh. Our solution to the problem is that said critic should go out for the bowling team.

Netsters in Danger?

It certainly looks like our "weekened" tennis squad is going to have a tough time winning the conference the local's strongest foe, dropped a six the local's strongest foe, dropped six to three decision to St. Ignatius High School at San Mateo last week. Carl Joost, San Mateo star, was the victim of an upset by Ed Walsh, Wildcat No. 1 man. If Bill Canning doesn't watch out, Joost will give him trouble. Yeh. Incidentally, Fred Castenada, one of the Ram "ineligibles" who was holding down No. 7 spot before he was cast out, is a former Guatemalan National men's singles champion.

Those Block Society keys that have been made up for the Monogram Men are certainly the "real McCoy." Frank Verducci has asked us to inform the lads that the keys are ready. Lay off the milkshakes, men, and contribute your little stipend so that an order for the keys may be placed.

Intra-mural Sports

The Club Advisory Board is sponsoring an intra-mural basketball league. Although we're not located on a central campus, the move is certainly a step forward in intra-mural athletics and should be supported.

Revelation: Have you ever heard of the "Secret Seventeen," an organization aiming to take over athletics in the college? There, the die is cast, the secret is out! So what!

Prediction: Tony Galento, the Jersey Guzzler, who is reputed to have a wooden leg, over Joe Louis, the Brown Bomber, in their forthcoming fistic encounter for the heavyweight championship of the world. For gosh sakes, don't tell anyone we told you!

Wilson's Tennis Team Gains Lead In League Play

Canning Wins First Singles Match; Squad Leaves For Southland

Coach Tom Wilson's varsity tennis squad gained a slim lead in the conference race last week by turning back a surprising Menlo squad 6 to 0 on the peninsula courts.

The favored Ram netmen were given a stiff battle by the peninsulars, who showed unexpected strength. The outcome might easily have been disasterous for the over-confident Rams had they not applied the pressure at critical moments.

Canning Escapes Defeat

Bill Canning, top ranking netman, narrowly escaped defeat at the hands of Andy Roberts in the first singles encounter. The former was forced to win six straight games after being down 0-4 in the deciding set. Final score was 6-0, 5-7, 6-4.

In the first doubles engagement, Canning and Bob Kun were forced to come from behind after trailing 1-5 in the third set. The lads, urged on by the sideline coaxing of Wilson pulled the match out of the fire by winning six straight games and the match 3-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Forced to Three Sets

Ray Kline and Bill Madamba were also forced to three sets in the second doubles encounter. After dropping the first set at 9-7, the lads came back strong to win the 7-9, 6-2, 6-2.

Although Kun played erratic tennis in his singles match he was able to outstroke his Menlo rival to win in straight sets. Kline and Madamba also turned in impressive wins in their singles tussles.

The local squad has yet to drop a match in conference play and should have little difficulty in annexing the title for the third straight year. Toughest opposition for the Rams will again be furnished by San Mateo, runer-up in the last two campaigns.

Will Leave for South

Under the leadership and guidance of Wilson, the Ram netmen will leave for the southland this Friday to engage the strong southern aggregations.

Stopping en route, the local lads will take on Modesto Friday afternoon and Fresno State Saturday morning. Monday the Rams will face the U. C. L. A. frosh and Tuesday the Los Angeles City College.

Members of the Ram contingent invading the south will be Bill Canning, Bob Kun, Bill Madamba, Ray Kline, Bill Dodson, Coach Wilson, and manager Clyde Mooney. The trip is expected to last in the neighborhood of five or six days.

Perpetual Mixed Doubles Trophy

Pictured above is the perpetual Mixed Doubles Trophy donated three years ago by The Guardsman. Members of the varsity tennis squad will team up with the college's outstanding women players to vie for the cup this week at the Palace courts. Favorites include Hal Wagner and Rema Corbit, Bill Madamba and Tillie Huddleson, Anna Lee Smith and Ray Berns, Bill Canning and Jean Paque, and Bob Kun and Virginia Hein.

Russ Sweet's Tracksters Routed By San Mateo; Rain Forces Netsters To Turn Pin-Smashers

Local Lads Display Versatility, Fortitude Characteristic of Ram Athletes; Wilson Proves 'Natural'

Upon arrival in Salinas last Saturday to participate in a conference match with the Salinas netsters, Coach Tom Wilson's Ram tennisers found that old Jupiter Pluvius had preceded them, whereupon they proceeded to the Salinas bowling alleys, and, with the versatility and fortitude of local college athletes, engaged in a pin-smashing tussle amongst themselves.

Wilson proved quite adept at the age-old art of bowling, managing to keep the ball on the alleys a majority of the time and knocking over the pins in the approved fashion.

Kun Best

Best pin-smasher of the undergraduate group was Bob Kun, he of the enlarged proboscis, who bowled games of 103 and 104.

After astonishing the natives with their astounding exhibition, the lads enjoyed a sumptuous repast at one of the Salinas hostleries and then made for home sweet home.

'Iron Man' Steers Chalks Up 21 Points; Bob McGuire Captures Century, Furlong For Local Squad

Led by "iron man" Les Steers, San Mateo Junior College's track and field forces routed Russ Sweet's Ram cinder brigade, 90 to 32, in a dual meet at San Mateo last Saturday.

Steers tallied 21 points in all, copping firsts in the 120 yard high hurdles, high jump, and javelin, and finishing second to team-mate Les Major in both the shot put and the discus.

Only Four Firsts

The locals were able to garner but four first places, Bob McGuire capturing the century and furlong, Bill Perry winning the pole vault, and Pete Ida copping the broad jump.

In one of the best races of the day, Bob Klinger, new frosh sensation, finished a close third in a 50.6 quarter-mile behind two San Mateans, Hyde and Olsen.

Conlan's Divot-Diggers Will Meet San Francisco State At Ingleside Course

San Francisco State will be the first foe of the college golf team this season announced "Dutch" Conlan, Ram coach. The meet is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at the Ingleside course.

Led by Bill Hoffman and the Romey brothers, Roy and Gordon, Coach Conlan expects the final scores to be close.

To date, Conlan's "putters" have been practicing consistently. Their showing has set them on par with the opposing Staters.

WOMEN'S SPORTS PARADE

By FRANCES MANALO

In order to take the "squeaks" out of their Swedish folk dancing, members of the folk dancing class will attend the Swedish Applied Arts Svengard at 2016 Pacific avenue on Thursday, April 13.

A typical Swedish dinner will be served. It will be cooked in the style of the Swedish people. After the dinner, the class will participate in folk dancing. First, the members will witness the work of the Swedish Applied Arts School.

Invitation is extended to all to attend this promising affair. The cost of the dinner will be a dollar. All those interested, whether WAA members or not, should see either Viola Gibson or Vera Spencer, sponsors, before the week of Easter vacation as reservations must be made in advance.

• • •

Correction made on the time of the Ice Skating Carnival—it is from 10:30 p. m. to 12 midnight and not in the morning as previously announced.

• • •

Marie Heiser and Harriet Marker were the guests of the Golf Club last Saturday, the women were members of the San Mateo Junior College Golf Club.

The reason for the visit to the college Golf Club was the putting tournament that was held at the Crystal Springs Country Club. This event ... a mixed tournament.

A luncheon that was ... by all those who attended was the conclusion of the day's events.

• • •

Any WAA women who are at all interested in serving on the committees that have charge of the Play Day at the Fair, are requested to sign up at the Girls' Gym at Galileo, or to speak to any of the WAA Council. The cooperation of the women in this matter will be appreciated by all those concerned.

Faculty Basketball Team Defeats Student Squad In Thriller; Bergin Stars

It seems that the faculty basketball team carried out its threat to disillusion the student team when it turned out to be the victor between the faculty and students last Wednesday.

Students were faced with the score of Faculty 14, Students 11.

Rousing cheers were sent up by the spectators when Captain Laurine Bergin, of the faculty team, unknowingly kept the ball out of play by concealing it beneath her full-skirt gym costume.

The losing team's disappointment was drowned in refreshing oranges that were passed around among spectators as well as the players.

Both teams put up a hard fight for the victory but the faculty was just one goal ahead of the students during the whole game.

Yogi Introduces Newest Psychic Phenom To Impatient Guardsman Supporters

This week, we the "Yogi" takes great pleasure in presenting our illustrious cousin, the "Swami," who will deliver a little treatise on the fine art of watching a junior college baseball game.

Statistics show that not quite 90,000,000 men, women and junior college students watched the junior college baseball games last year without understanding any more about it than the coaches on the field. This is a sad state of affairs, especially when you consider that all they had to do was to write to The Guardsman and ask for our ten handy rules for watching baseball intelligently.

Once digested, these rules will become so much a part of the spectator that people will have a hard time telling them apart—the rules and the spectator.

Rules Formulated

These ten handy rules were formulated for watching baseball intelligently with the brains as well as the heart, lungs and gizzard. The rules are simple and straightforward, but strictly up to date. You probably are counting on cutting a couple of classes in the next few weeks in order to watch the Rams in action. If this is true, proceed as follows, leaving no fingerprints:

1. Select your seat carefully. Most people fight for a seat behind the home plate, but that's no place to watch a game from. You catch the action at the plate, but not at the bases where most of the dirty work goes on. My tip is buy up all the seats in one row—say, Row R (for Ram)—from the leftfield wall to home plate and from there down the first base line to the rightfield wall. By following the horsehide around the park you don't miss a trick. A modest outlay of $220, not including box lunch or Muny car tickets, should cover expenses.

2. Most people watch the batter. Forget about him. Keep your eyes glued on the base umpire. There's a heel for you. He wouldn't give his own mother the right time.

Keep Ears Peeled

3. Keep your ears peeled for the cry of "Play Ball!" by the umpire. This cry is similar to that made by the quarterback in football only the quarterback calls "Shift." There are three shifts in football—8 a. m. to 4 p.m., 4 p.m. to midnight, and midnight to 8 a.m. The last-named shift is known as the dog watch and counts three points (in football?).

4. The run is mighty important in modern baseball. Before going to the game, look up the meaning of "run" in your guide book. I would tell you myself, but I'd be violating a confidence.

5. There are five fundamental systems—Rockne, hunt and peck, Warner, National Broadcasting and Paramount. The Rockne system is based on the open shop. The Warner system relies on the wingback, while the hunt and peck system depends on the bentneck. The others give you the double feature plus cartoon and educational short.

Count Downs

6. Keep careful count of the downs at all times. There are four downs in football as opposed to three in drowning, 25 at Suffolk and none in baseball.

7. As a general thing, the manager calls for a bunt on the third strike unless the team is really going some place. If the team is going some place, he ... a note saying: "Back in an hour."

8. Cussing at baseball games is prohibited, but definitely.

9. If you expectorate at baseball games don't expectorate.

10. Don't overstay your welcome. When the players have left the field and the umpires have gone home to dinner with the wife and kiddies, you can be pretty sure the game is over and you are just in the way. Why be a cad?

Ram Baseballers Drop Two Games To Mountaineers

Pitcher's Duel In First Game; Second Battle Is Comedy of Errors

Placer Junior College Spartans came into town last Saturday morning all set to take a double shellacking from the Ram baseballers on Funston Field that afternoon, but instead went home with a couple of wins. The "mountain boys" scored a 10-4 victory in the opener and repeated with a 4-2 win in the nightcap.

In the initial fracas, pitchers Christensen of San Francisco and McKenzie of Placer hooked up in a mound duel that lasted until the ninth inning when the Spartans blossomed forth with a bewildering hunting attack and pushed over six runs before the floundering "Frisco Gang" could get the side out.

Tally Three Times

The second game, not unlike the first one, was a pitchers' battle between Leahy of the Rams and Reid of the Spartans. This duel lasted until the sixth canto when the "mountaineers" tallied three times on three hits and an error by Ram second baseman Gerughty, which enabled them to romp home with a 4-2 triumph.

The visiting Placer bunch won the first game when they took advantage of a decidedly weak point in the Ram defense . . . covering bunts. When they found that it was easier to dump (bunt) the "rock", they went ahead and did it, much to the amusement of the fans and chagrin of the Rams.

Comedy Masterpiece

Dunn and Hoff were both credited with base hits when they beat out a couple of bunts, Rambo sacrificed them along and Pilliard squeezed home Dunn with the first run of the frame. Takasbie was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases, McKenzie was safe on Gratoit's error, Hoff scoring on the play. Keskeys was safe when his bunt was bobbled. Pilliard denting the rubber with the third run of a wonderfully directed, one-inning, comedy masterpiece.

Brattin forced Takashie at the plate and then Knezevich, a big, bearded shortstop kept the act moving by squeezing home McKenzie. Dunn followed Knezevich and got his second hit of the inning, a bunt which scored Brattin with the final tally of the reel. Hoff, who had previously hit, fanned to end the foolishness.

The sixth inning of the second contest meant the downfall of the Ram in that game. As mentioned elsewhere in the article, the Spartans put together three hits and an error and came out with three runs . . . enough to win the ball game.

Dunn Outstanding

Outstanding batsman was third baseman Dunn who grabbed hitting honors in the first game with four hits in six attempts . . . as many hits as the entire Powell Street outfit could get for itself. In the second half of the double bill, Pilliard of Placer knocked out three blows in as many trips to the dish.

1st Game Score	R	H	E
Placer Junior College	10	11	3
San Francisco J. C.	4	4	5

Batteries: McKenzie and Pilliard; Christensen and Mustanich.

2nd Game Score	R	H	E
Placer Junior College	4	7	2
San Francisco J. C.	2	4	4

Batteries: Reid and Brobarg; Leahy, Aleo and Mustanich.

RAM chops

By JACK SCHMALE

Tempted as we are to sell the story to Horatio Alger, loyalty to this institution compels us to favor The Guardsman with the exclusive yarn of Bob Klingler, college freshie, whose newly acquired fame centers around running 440 yard dashes for Russ Sweet's cinder-skippers.

It seems that young Klingler is bedecked with all the earmarks of quite a quartermile performer, if the rapid progress of his spanking new career will prove an indication of what's to come from the modest youth.

Those who failed to opportune themselves to a glimpse at the first interclass meet two weeks ago at Kezar Stadium missed witnessing the actual debut of Mr. Klingler, who was initiated into the one-lap event by running second.

The fact that the boy failed to achieve tape-breaking honors in his initial trial, however, did nothing to dim Coach Sweet's anticipation. Our mentor, who yet is credited with the Pacific Coast Conference 100 yard dash record, is a stellar performer from 'way back, and should recognize ability when he sees it.

Sweet Gives Pointers

Sweet recruited Klingler for service on the Ram squad, although even at second best, his clocking in the quarter exceeded 56 seconds. Undaunted, and a man of great perception, Montana Russ handed the kid a few pointers, and lo, the following week his second trial, in practice, measured 53.6.

A week ago Saturday, with the Ram aggregation en route to victory over Menlo in a Peninsula meet, Mr. Klingler's charmed third time amounted to 51.8 seconds. Now, 51.8 is real alacrity on any oval measuring 440 yards, and if our new find can shave seconds so consistently on his performances to come this season, looks like we'll really have something.

Now, The Guardsman dashed pressward beforehand, but our expectations were that Klingler would closely approach 50 flat seconds in last Saturday's meet at San Mateo.

Now, Mr. Alger, if you're still interested, take it away . . . for six hundred and forty-three smackeroos.

As the situation stands at present, we feel a charitable obligation to express condolences to Jack Gaddy on behalf of his sad predicament as head man of a winless baseball team—or what's left of it.

Mid-Terms Destructive

Poor Jack was dealt a destructive blow by the last mid-term session, and the supplementary cinch notices knocked the ex-admiral and his pastimers all over the academic lot. It would require considerable space to name the list of subsequent ineligibles, but darn it, that's the reason why Jack's gang hasn't recorded any conference accomplishments as yet.

Maybe tennisers are just smarter than baseballers. Anyway, look at Tom Wilson, super-successful Ram tennis coach. Tom's racket swingers, going into Saturday's matches at Salinas, were not only listed as undefeated in conference team competition, but had yet to lose a single individual match as well. Nice going, Tom. Same to you, boys.

Joe Amori's Rambowlers are at it again. They'll be tossing alley grapefruits at the Redwood City maplesticks tomorrow evening in an attempt to polish off what Menlo Junior College has to offer in the way of a bowling team. If you're driving down the Peninsula tomorrow night, stop in at Redwood around 8 o'clock and watch us upset the wooden targets.

Results Of Saturdays Track Meet With San Mateo; Rams Lose To Strong Bulldog Squad Winning But Three Events

Mile Run: Tie for first between Moore (SM) and Scrabble (SM); Shiba (SM) third.

100 Yard Dash: Won by McGuire (SF); Beeney (SM) second; Oates (SM) third.

120 Yard High Hurdles: Won by Steers (SM); Holloway (SM) second; Bitgood (SF) third.

440 Yard Dash: Won by Hyde (SM); Olsen (SM) second; Klingler (SF) third.

220 Yard Dash: Won by McGuire (SF); Beeney (SM) second; Matulich (SM) third.

880 Yard Dash: Won by Moore (SM); Olson (SM) second; Clifford (SF) third.

220 Yard Low Hurdles: Won by Holloway (SM); Sparba (SF) second; Bitgood (SF) third.

Relay: Won by San Mateo (Scrabble, Moore, Olson, Hyde).

Shot Put: Won by Major (SM); Steers (SM) second; Roberts (SM) third.

Pole Vault: Won by Perry (SF); Groswird (SF) second; Walkup (SM) third.

High Jump: Won by Steers (SM); Walkup (SM) second; Kitagawa (SF) third.

Javelin: Won by Steers (SM); Walkup (SM) second; Grant (SF) third.

Discus: Won by Major (SM); Steers (SM) second; Walkup (SM) third.

Broad Jump: Won by Ida (SF); Altman (SF) second; Walkup (SM) third.

POLL OF ... Opinion

By DAN ROSENBLAT

"Our colors, red and white," are still as popular as they were on the day of their adoption, according to a poll of student opinion asking the question, "Are you satisfied with the college colors and nickname?" Not so fortunate was the nickname which itself a poor second to such colorful substitutes as "straphangers" and "wanderers."

Actual tally of votes show that the colors were held satisfactory by 73 per cent of students polled, frowned upon by the remaining 27 per cent on a variety of grounds, including their resemblance to Stanford.

NICKNAME DISLIKED

"Rams" found favor with only 40 per cent of the student body on such grounds as, "If it's good enough for Fordham, it's good enough for us." Sixty per cent felt that Fordham was not sufficient justification for the use of such a nickname, could suggest few substitutes other than "straphangers."

PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE

Having nearly exhausted pollable subjects relative to the college, we move into larger fields with a poll of favorites in the 1940 election race. On the following ballot write the name of the man whom you believe to be the best choice for the Republican and Democratic nominations. For the information of those not acquainted with the likely possibilities, there follows a list of the most often mentioned candidates. Democratic: President Roosevelt himself for a third term, Vice President Garner, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, and Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins.

Republicans: Senator Arthur Vandenburg, Robert A. Taft, and Thomas Dewey. Take your choice and put your ballot in The Guardsman box.

Who is the best man for the presidential nominations in 1940?

Dem. ....

Rep. ....

College Debaters Meet San Jose State April 11; Pump Priming Is Subject

Pump-Priming will be the subject of a debate between the college and San Jose State on April 11. The contest will be held in Room 104 at 12 m.

The college team of Charles Henry and Les Mullins will argue against the resolution that "the federal government should at once cease to use public funds and credits for the purpose of stimulating business".

On March 30, the same question will be discussed at San Jose State, this time with the college taking an affirmative stand.

Regarding last week's debate at the University of California, Lloyd Luckmann, speech instructor, lauded the college team for a performance which, he said, earned high praise from the Berkeleyans.

Army, Navy Club To Sponsor Symposium In Lecture Hall April 13

For the first time in its history, the college Army and Navy Club is planning to sponsor a symposium and open forum on a subject of general interest and vital to national defense.

The program will be held in the Powell Street Lecture Hall on Thursday, April 13 at 11:00 o'clock. The topic to be discussed will be the Pacific Problem and the Pacific Policy of the United States.

The assembly is open to all students of the college and will feature several prominent faculty members as guest speakers on this important subject.

Three Addresses Planned

Tentative plans include addresses by Lloyd Luckmann, political science instructor; F. Grant March, U. S. N., retired and Naval Science instructor, and Gertrude Bolton, instructor in history and economics.

Commander Marsh will discuss the Pacific Problem from the military and naval tactical standpoint; Miss Bolton will review the problem's economic angles; Luckmann plans to present the political and ideological aspects.

Forum To Follow

Following ten-minute talks by each of the three speakers, there will be a period for questions from the audience.

This method of open discussion has proved extremely effective in the past, and should represent a welcome innovation in college technique.

Opinions Given

Questioned as to the advisability of such a symposium, several faculty members replied in the enthusiastic affirmative.

Dean Edwin C. Browne . . . "I am heartily in accord with any student assembly activity that brings before us existing conditions, and permits intelligent discussion on matters pertinent to the welfare of our nation."

John E. Ross . . . "It seems appropriate that such a program should be held in order to clarify the important issues facing us today."

Hughes Stresses Reason

James S. Hughes . . . "One of the most important problems facing the United States today is the question of our position in event of war. Any decision as to a course of action should be based on knowledge and reason rather than on propaganda and emotion.

"Therefore I believe that an assembly of this kind is a most valuable method of providing an opportunity for the students of this college to secure information constituted of the knowledge and combined opinions of authorities in the field. Such information forms the basis of a reasonable approach to the solution of this important problem."

It is probable that the nature of the Army and Navy Club Symposium will prove of great interest to all students, particularly with the question period providing an opportunity for the acquisition of specific, authoritative opinions by the prominent lecturers.

New Vice-President Of Club Advisory Board Elected

Election of the third vice president to hold office during the present semester was the major item of business of last week's Club Advisory Board meeting.

Elmer Hubacher, representing the Block SF Society, was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the withdrawal from the college of Harold Goldsworthy.

Because of the illness of President Harold Hoffman and the temporary vacancy of the office of vice-president, the chair was occupied by James S. Hughes, faculty adviser to the Board.

Recommended for a charter was Alpha Delta Epsilon, whose application is the thirty-first to be approved this semester. Permanent charters have been printed, and will be distributed to the representatives of the board at the next meeting.

Suggest To Council

Because 85 per cent of the college's organizations are now chartered, the board felt it justifiable to address a letter to the Executive Council indicating its opinion that only chartered clubs be afforded routine publicity in The Guardsman.

"None but chartered clubs have legal status in the college, according to the constitution of the Associated Students, so it seems reasonable that they should be the only groups to receive the benefits of the official college paper," said Hughes.

Next meeting of the board will be held April 13, at which time nominations for next semester's officers will be received.

Home Economics Assoc. Plans Trip To Treasure Island; Meeting Today

Home Economics Association members are urged to attend the meeting to be held today at 2:15 o'clock in Room 317 at Galileo High School, for the purpose of making plans for the trip to Treasure Island and to discuss the requirements for those planning to make the trip.

"The group will be limited to 20 women with preference to be given those members of the association who are present at the meeting to sign up. If a sufficient number of members do not sign up to go, girls from the Home Economics classes will be considered to complete the 20," Claire Cuneo, association adviser, said.

CLUB SCHEDULE

NAME	Type of Meeting	TIME	PLACE
Alpha Delta Epsilon	No plans
Alpha Gamma Sigma	Convention	April 1, 10:00 a.m.	Treasure Island
Alpha Phi Omega	No plans
Army-Navy	No plans
Astronomy	Observation	April 1	Lick Tower
Beta Phi	Dance	March 31, 8:30 p.m.	Presidio
Block S. F.	Business	April 11, 8:00 p.m.	Galileo
Beta Tau	No plans
Chinese	No plans
Forestry	Business	March 29, 5:20 p.m.	Galileo, Room 360
Forum	No plans
French	Discussion	March 30, 7:30 p.m.	237-21st Avenue
George Washington	No plans
Home Econ. Ass'n	Business	March 29, 2:15 p.m.	Galileo, Room 317
Hotel-Restaurant	No plans
Iota Chi	Social	March 30, 8:00 p.m.	Western Women's Club
Japanese Students	No plans
Lambda Chi	Social	March 30, 8:00 p.m.	Western Women's Club
Music	Business	April 14, 8:00 p.m.	1140 Oakland Ave., Piedmont
Newman	Discussion	Indefinite	St. Mary's Cathedral
Omicron Phi Pi	Business	March 31	Indefinite
Peace Society	Discussion	March 30, 8:00 p.m.	1495-7th Avenue
Phi Beta Rho	Init.—Dinner-Dance	March 30	Palace Hotel
Phys. Ed. Majors	Business	April 3, 8:15 p.m.	Civic Auditorium
Pi Mu Gamma	Speech	March 29, 7:30 p.m.	Homewood Terrace
Pick & Hammer	No plans
Rifle & Pistol	Business	March 31, 4:00 p.m.	Rifle Range
Tarbuth	Election	April 22, 7:30 p.m.	300 Page Street
Tri Epsilon	Basketball game	March 29, 8:00 p.m.	Aptos Junior High
Women's Service Society	No plans

Students of College A Capella Choir Elected Madrigals

For the second time in the past two years the college A Capella Choir has contributed to the exclusive San Francisco State College Madrigal choir.

This announcement was made by Flossita Badger, choir director, when she told of the election to the Madrigal of Kay Warner and Harold Wachter, the latter, at one time president of the local choir.

Joins Opera Company

At the same time, Miss Badger announced that Ellot DeWitt, also a former student and choir member has joined the San Francisco Opera Company.

Miss Badger will be one of the speakers at the College Sections Conference in Los Angeles on Monday, April 3. Her topic will be "The Problems of College Music to be Presented From the Standpoint of the Junior College."

Miss Badger Praises

"The conference, which attracts music teachers from all parts of the nation, is concerned mainly with the teaching of music from kindergarten to university," Miss Badger said.

"Probably the highest praise that can be attributed to it," she continued, "is the fact that the instructors spend their Easter vacation there and use their own money to travel to and from it."

Appears On Air

The A Capella Choir appeared over station KSAN in a half-hour program last Monday under the auspices of the Parent Teacher Association.

A talk by William Switzer on the activities of the college music department, numbers by the choir, the male quartet, composed of Arnold Chapin, Bill Jackmann, Everett Wallace and Bob Scott, and the choir duo, Patricia Keefer and Bob Scott were featured.

The choir will appear again at the Alpha Gamma Sigma convention on April 1 at 10:15 o'clock on Treasure Island.

P. E. Convention

(Continued from page 1)

omic order will also be a part of the program.

Highlights include sections on safety education, the dance, and a demonstration of sports, dancing and other recreation activities carried on by the San Francisco Recreation Commission at the city's playgrounds and recreation centers.

Slogan Characterizes Meet

The Spirit of American Youth is the slogan of the convention which is being carried throughout the program by the use of Dr. R. Tait McKenzie's design for the association seal, as well as by the emphasis in general session and section programs and demonstrations.

As certain sections of the convention will convene at the Civic Auditorium and the Hotel Whitcomb, the sports demonstration will be staged Wednesday night, April 5, in the auditorium. These events will be under the direction of Josephine Randall of the local Recreation Commission.

Fair Trips Planned

By way of lighter entertainment the Hospital Committee, working with the city's Parent Teacher units, has scheduled a series of Exposition trips and tours about San Francisco.

The physical and recreation majors who are interested in attending parts of this convention may do so for a nominal fee, it was revealed.

Powell Street Building To Have New Doors

Because workers are busy fitting in new doors inside the main entrance students are using the lower entrance at the Powell Street Building, college to enter and exit as a means to an end.

The doors will be entirely different from the old portals in which students had to exert no uncertain amount of energy to push and pull the barriers open.

Instead, the new set of doors will be of the swing "to and fro" variety, which will enable the Extension attenders to enter without going thru any extremes.

Completion of the renovation will have been made by Monday.

QUIZ ANSWERS

(Continued from page 2)

1. John Milton. 2. George Washington; France, 1927; Poland, 1932. 3. Julius Caesar. 4. Knots per hour. 5. It is now Tennessee. 6. Iceland. 7. Queen Elizabeth (1558-1603). 8. A bald head. 9. Samuel Coleridge, "Rime of the Ancient Mariner". 10. Compressed carbon dioxide.

LOST AND FOUND

One gray overcoat and one black overcoat have been found and are being kept in Dean Browne's office. Owners may reclaim these articles upon proper identification.

Meeting On Electioneering Proposal To Be Held On April 25 or 27

Tentative scheduling a meeting of the Associated Students for either April 25 or 27, that the proposed amendment concerning electioneering in the college may be voted upon, was the highlight of the Executive Council's meeting at Galileo last Thursday.

Principal business of the council, that of hearing the report by college press representative, Jack Schmale, was postponed a week to the next regular business meeting of the council because of the absence of Schmale from the gathering.

Effective May 5

By scheduling the business meeting of the Associated Students of the college for April 25 or 27, the Executive Council was of the opinion that if the proposed amendments were approved by the men and women of the college it could be put into effect at the next student elections which will be held on May 5.

"Although the Executive Council has fully approved of the proposed amendment, it will be extremely interesting to see the results which will be obtained when the students vote," President Frank Verducci stated. "The poll of opinion, operated by The Guardsman, indicated that student opinion was evenly divided on the matter," he added.

Abolish Electioneering

The amendment, as approved by the council, proposes the abolition of all use of printed cards, radio broadcasts and other forms of propaganda in student elections as has been the practice in past elections.

Elmer Hubacher, newly elected vice-president of the Club Advisory Board and representing that group at the council meeting, announced that the Club Advisory Board was desirous that all unchartered clubs and organizations within the college be denied advantages granted chartered organizations.

Grounds for this action was, "simply that those clubs and other unchartered organizations were noncoperative and of little consequence in the interest of the students," Hubacher said.

Students Of Hotel Division To Tour State Next Week

With seven leading hotel operators of San Francisco and the peninsula undertaking financial and personal sponsorship of the expedition, seven especially selected students of the Hotel Division will make a tour of central and southern California during the Easter vacation week.

The students selected for the tour are Carl Rutledge, Clark Chittick, Terry Sandelein, Duffy Tom, Bob Klingler, Don Sands, and Lee Scarlett. Alternates are Cynthia Richardson, Sterling Silver, and Tully Cornick.

Represents Hotels

Each student will act as special representative of one of the following group of hotels, the managers of which make the trip possible: St. Francis, Mark Hopkins, Fairmont, Sir Francis Drake, Manx, Californian, Thompson Hotels, and the Benjamin Franklin in San Mateo.

The tour is planned to serve a twofold purpose of educating the students through travel and observation of outstanding hotels, and of allowing them to present greetings from San Francisco and Treasure Island, as well as the personal greetings of individual local hotels.

Arrangements have been made in detail through the efforts of George Thompson, general manager of Thompson Hotels and president of the California State Hotel Association, and through Gordon W. Dennis, chairman, Trade Development Committee, San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Browne, Sullivan Lead Group

The college group, headed by Edwin C. Browne, dean of men, and J. Graham Sullivan, co-ordinator of the hotel division, will leave San Francisco Monday morning, April 3, and will stop for luncheon that day with Jack Mathews, manager of the Hotel Senator, Sacramento, where they will be the guests of the hotel, and of the Sacramento Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Monday night will be spent in Fresno, at the Hotel Californian, through the courtesy of Harry Stockbird, manager, and will also be received by the local Chamber of Commerce. Luncheon on that date will be served the party at the El Tehon, through the courtesy of A. C. Armbruster.

Tour Includes Los Angeles

In Los Angeles, for a stay of two nights, the party will be the guests of Ernest Drury at the Rosslyn Hotel.

On Wednesday, after having been received by the Chamber of Commerce they will leave for Santa Barbara, and from there will visit the Monterey peninsula making their final overnight stop at the Hotel San Carlos, Monterey, through the courtesy of Peter W. C. Watson, manager.

Forestry Students Camp In Marin During Vacation

All students of the college are invited to Little Carson Falls, in Marin County during Easter week, to view the model camp installed there by members of the college Forestry Club.

The most practical methods of camping and many other interesting exhibits will be shown to anyone interested in visiting the location.

About ten men of the club are going on the trip, which is a semi-annual outing of the organization.

Essay Contest

(Continued from page 1)

must bear on their envelope the notation "High School" or "College," designating the proper division to which the essay is eligible.

To be considered, manuscripts must bear a postmark not later than midnight, April 23, 1939.

All manuscripts will be the property of Advertising Publications, Inc., and may be published or reproduced in any manner which Advertising Publications may designate. No manuscripts will be returned.

The decision of the judges will be final. In case of tie, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

Fourth Contest

This is the fourth successive time Advertising Age has conducted this contest. In 1938 two members of California colleges won prizes. One student of the University of California won the second prize of $250.00; the other, a student at Stanford University, won honorable mention and a prize of $10.00.

Letter Received From Wells Fargo Bank; College Students Congratulated

Last week, President A. J. Cloud received a letter from B. R. Motherwell, president of the Wells Fargo Bank, heartily commending the students of the college who took part in the recent Wells Fargo radio program aired over station KSAN at the Exposition.

Mr. A. J. Cloud, President

Dear Mr. Cloud:

May I congratulate you, your faculty, and your student body most heartily upon the splendid performance of the Wells Fargo sketch on the Columbia Broadcasting System last Saturday afternoon.

It is hard to believe that the whole thing was prepared and presented by people inexperienced, I am told, in radio technique. The play had all of the verve and movement of a professional production.

Please extend our thanks to Miss Weller, Miss Badger and to the other members of the coaching staff, and to the personnel of the company.

Very truly yours,

R. B. Motherwell

President

Registrar's Office Will Issue Second Midterm Cinch Notices This Week

With the second midterm period coming to a close last Friday, March 24, the cinch notices are now being compiled by the college office.

The notices will be issued some time this week and should reach the homes before the Easter vacation, which runs from April 3 to 10.

Cinch notices being sent to freshmen students will again be addressed to the parents.

Students of the college who are bridge minded (not Golden Gate or Bay) and under 19 in age are eligible for the Contract Bridge Contest which will be held in May in the Court of the Flowers at Treasure Island.

Classes in bridge are being held at Breuner's Dept. Store in Oakland and at the Bellevue Bridge Studio, San Francisco, where "Teen" age clubs are organized.

WHEN IT'S THE BEST YOU WANT

Try 500 Sutter St.

At Powell

The Food Is Good

Library Browsing

By JANET FELLOWS

In trying to keep up with the periodical European crises we have turned to Time magazine, March 6, 1939, in the Foreign News section. Here we found worth-while news about Poland—how her foreign relations stand, Hungary—the Nazi troubles, and India—her Gandhi, Mr. Bose, and persistent struggle with the British for home-rule.

March 20's Newsweek reports, in Gouge No. 2, sanely and informatively Hitler's newest promenade through Central Europe, and its significance.

MOVIES

Yes, My Darling Daughter in Motion Picture Review Digest, March 20, 1939, is beautifully and artistically photographed, has a brilliant cast and sparkling dialogue, is a departure from usual Hollywood stuff, lacks subtlety, is slightly strained, has faultless direction, and turns clever satire into broad farce, are only a few of the critics' comments on this Hollywood production.

You Can't Cheat an Honest Man, with W. C. Fields, Edgar Bergen, and his two chunks of wood, Charlie McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd, did not rate many bells from the wiseacres. The plot is weak and the humorous spots are few and far between.

VOCATION

In "Occupations," the vocational guidance magazine, Government Agencies and Vocational Guidance, is a discussion of all such agencies provided by the government for brief reports of vocational guidance information and activities. The article includes details concerning the activities of the National Youth Administration.

A Class in Careers for Women ventilates such a class at the University of Toledo, and its results.

Again this week we are listing a few vocation-books for the use of faculty members.

My Vocation, by Eminent Americans, Lockhart; How You Can Get a Job, Gardiner; Job Satisfaction, Hoppock; How to Be a Successful Secretary, Scott; The Up-to-Date Waitress, Hill; Writing as a Career, Uzzell.

Junior College Council To Hold Tea In Cafeteria

Engaging in its first major activity of the spring semester the Junior College Council, under the direction of Joseph Williams, president, will act as host to the faculty, students and parents tomorrow afternoon in the faculty cafeteria at Galileo at 3:30 o'clock p.m., when a tea will be held.

"The tea is being held for the same purpose that this organization had in mind last winter at the Christmas party. All members of the Junior College Council, together with other members of the faculty, parents, students and friends of the college are urged to accept our invitation which will bring them in closer contact with what the college is doing," Williams

HARRY OWENS AND HIS ROYAL HAWAIIANS

In the Mural Room

HOTEL ST. FRANCIS

For reservations call

Dan Mulholland . . . WE 8952

STUDENTS

You need a portable in your home. We are offering a limited number of Royal Varsity Models at $32.70. Manufacturers price $42.50.

This Is What You Get

New typewriter complete with case; standard office keyboard; back spacer, margin stop and bell; line finder for writing on ruled lines and filling in.

It has every essential for office or home use. May be purchased on easy terms. Trade in accepted. See it at 591 Market St., or call SUtter 4734 for home demonstration.

San Francisco Typewriter Exchange

591 Market Street SUtter 4734

Women! Big WAA Playday, Treasure Isle Saturday

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

The Guardsman

SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Attend Tomorrow's Symposium By Army-Navy Club On Vital Problem

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, APRIL 12, 1939 No. 12

Campus Women Display Sport Dexterity

With the inauguration of spring, the women athletes of the college endeavor in their traditional sports-day to exhibit their talents in competitive group recreation. One day of the year is set aside for this contest, and in the above pictures we find some of the women students limbering their muscles for the crucial day, April 15. (Picture 2) Helen Culp has just hit the "apple" with Marge Meader catching for her. The camera is quicker than the eye, for in Picture 1 Helen Culp is almost rounding first base with Jeanne Kelly on the point of tagging her out. Lucille Jacke (Picture 3) has been selected, because of her ability, to pitch for one of the teams. Tennis is also to be represented. (Picture 4) Marjorie Radke is practicing a "back-hand", while Jeanne Kelly (Picture 6) attempts a serve. College Dianas likewise will show their marksmanship as (Picture 5) Kay Lloyd and friend pose as Cupids, while Marie Heiser (Picture 7) and Marion MacKillop (Picture 9) will cast their bit for golf. Kay Lloyd (Picture 8) will act as General Chairman for the day.

Sports Day On Treasure Island Saturday Biggest Event Of Year For College Co-eds

Biggest event of the year for the women athletes of the college will be the Women's Athletic Association Sports Day, Saturday, April 15, at Treasure Island.

Preparations for the events are progressing and are expected to be completed soon. All work and plans for the sports day have been directed by Kay Lloyd, toastmistress and general chairman.

Visitors from ten junior colleges in Northern California will participate. Registration begins at 10 a.m. Athletic events will start after registration.

Volleyball, Archery First

Volleyball tournaments start at 10:30 and end at 11:15 a.m. The archery tourney, played at the same time, will shoot Columbia rounds.

At 11:30 golf players will participate in a putting tournament, followed by a badminton game indoors.

Following these sports, baseball teams under the direction of Elizabeth Carlson and Lucille Jacke, who organized the teams, will play softball games on two diamonds.

Hostesses In Costumes

This is the first women's sports day to be held on Treasure Island. The hostesses, under the direction of Muriel Grenelle, plan to be in costume to greet the visitors at the gate, present them with participant passes, then guide them to the Sports Field for registration. Each woman, upon registration receives an insignia identifying her and naming the sport in which she is to participate.

Committees working with Miss Lloyd are headed by Alma Koopman, program chairman; Thursa Scott, luncheon; Lucille Jacke, registration; Muriel Grenelle, hostess; Polly Trenk, publicity; Gloria Miller, invitations; Marion Dicke, rules and regulations; Frances Chin, decorations, and Annette Schunick, transportation. Other committees are composed of Dorothy Nelson, equipment; Margaret Meader, entertainment; Louise Dunn and Madalene Holmer, rearrangements.

Luncheon at 1:15

Luncheon and entertainment begins at 1:15 o'clock, entertainment to be furnished by the dancing classes. Box lunches, costing the women athletes only twenty-five cents is expected to save them from a greater expense.

Following the luncheon, a tour of the exposition with the San Francisco women acting as guides will complete the day. All visitors will be given a map and a complete program of the days events at the fair.

WAA To Hold Ice Carnival At Sutro's

Adding to an already overcrowded list of activities this semester, the Women's Athletic Association is sponsoring an ice carnival at Sutro's rink, Friday night, April 21, at 8 p.m., according to Eleanor Wildhagen, skating manager.

The affair, open to all members of the college will feature racing and figure skating. Admission is 30 cents with skates, and 50 cents including skates. These are special rates accorded the college for this occasion.

Although several students of the college have entered Ice Carnivals held in the past, this is the first time such an affair has been sponsored for the college itself.

Ice skating, a comparatively new sport at this institution, has been gaining popularity ever since its recent inception, and promises soon to be one of the major activities of the college.

Advisers of the group are Bertha Keller, physical education instructor, and Joseph Williams, instructor of geography.

In an announcement to all students Miss Keller said, "We hope to have a large attendance at the carnival and promise everyone who attends an excellent time."

La Crosse Featured At Fair Play Day

Special event at the WAA Sports Day will be a lacrosse demonstration by students of Stanford University and Mills College.

The game was introduced on the coast by an Englishwoman, Cecily Bartle. The game proved to be so interesting that spectators came out of the stands to participate, according to rumors.

Rumor Prevails

Available reports fail to reveal any clear pictures of how the game is played. Rumor has it that there are players. There are also supposed to be sticks with baskets on the ends. One idea is that a ball is thrown back and forth and caught in the basket.

Further conjecture suggests another method of play where each player holds one of these sticks with the basket on the end in the air and has one hand free to protect the basket from the ball which is thrown by the opposing side.

More Variations

When the players get really good, they can balance the basket on one foot so that they can use two hands to protect the basket. Experts at the game can balance the basket on their heads, use one hand to protect the basket and the other hand swing the stick at enthusiastic spectators who wish to play the game.

Attend and Learn

Only a few rules and regulations limit the game thus making possible a great variation of stances, styles, etc.

The best advice to readers is to attend the exhibition Saturday and discover exactly how the game is played.

Associated Student Cards Seized; Lending Law Cited

Fourteen Offenders To Be Dealt With By Judicial Committee

Setting an all time high for the number of Associated Student cards confiscated at a social function of the college, Dean Edwin C. Browne last week disclosed that 14 cards were taken at the Low Sophomore dance Friday, March 31.

The cards taken have been turned over to the Judicial Committee which will act upon them in the usual manner.

Express Surprise

Members of the social committee on guard at the entrance to the dance expressed great surprise that the students were "foolish enough to believe that they could get in under false pretenses."

"This affair should serve as a concrete lesson to anyone contemplating loaning his card, since it is a foolhardy venture and is embarrassing to both lender and borrower," Dean Browne remarked.

Convene Soon

Although the next meeting of the Judicial Committee has not as yet been announced, it is expected to convene very shortly in order to deal with the present situation.

Punishment will be meted out according to the seriousness of the charge, and all offenders will be subpoened to appear before the judiciary body.

Verducci Speaks

Frank Verducci, Associated Students president, in a statement to the students of the college as a whole said, "We cannot stress too strongly how important it is that you do not loan your cards to any outsiders. These affairs are for students of the college alone and no one else is desired."

The ruling, though a strict one, is considered by student leaders to be entirely just, and was decided upon after a great deal of deliberation by college officials.

Everybody Present

At previous dances, supposedly only for members of the college, students from all the high schools of the city, and members of other universities and colleges were present in such large groups that it was absolutely impossible to dance.

Student leaders then decided to do something to safeguard the rights of those who join the Associated Students each semester.

High Freshman Meeting Today To Discuss Marin Picnic April 23

High freshmen are urged by Lee Scarlett, class president, to attend a special meeting today, at 2:30 o'clock, in the Galileo Little Theater to complete plans for the Muir Woods, Marin County picnic, tentatively scheduled for Sunday, April 23. Class members, according to Scarlett, are officially excused from classes.

"We have checked on expenses," he declared, "and find that the entire trip can be made for $1.00 per person, including both ferry and bus fare."

Plans are only in the making, it was authoritatively announced, but general procedure will probably be to take the 8:15 a.m. ferry from the San Francisco Ferry Building, and change to the bus, thus arriving at the beach about 9:30 a.m.

"A compromise has been made among class members, and they have agreed to spend one-half of the day swimming, and the remaining time hiking into Muir Woods," Scarlett continued.

Lunch arrangements are as yet incomplete, however, it has been suggested that the women attending provide these refreshments.

The selection from which this locale was chosen included a Santa Cruz excursion, voted a little expensive, one to Stinson Beach, a rather rough trip, Fairfax Park, some 12 miles from Sausalito, or the one agreed on, Muir Woods, more suited to the majority of voters.

Symposium Tomorrow On Question Of Vital Interest

Three Aspects Of Problem To Be Discussed By Faculty Speakers

Army and Navy Club Symposium on The Pacific Problem and Pacific Policy of the United States will feature three prominent faculty speakers at 11 a.m. tomorrow in the Powell building lecture hall.

Speakers will view the topic from the three aspects with which they are most familiar. Following their addresses, the assembly will be thrown open to discussion of questions from the audience.

Lloyd Luckmann, instructor in political science, will view the topic with an eye to its political and ideological connotations.

Consider Politics

Consideration will be given to the United States' political interests in Hawaii, the Philippines, South and Central America.

The "whys and wherefores" of the spread of foreign ideologies in the Pacific Area and their effect on political spheres of influence of the United States will be presented by Luckmann.

To Discuss Economics

Gertrude Bolton will bring in the problem's economic angles. Trade and commerce with Pacific possessions and foreign nations of the Far East and Latin America will be discussed.

Miss Bolton, popular history and economics instructor, will explain and evaluate these commercial ties.

Commander Marsh Speaks

An exposition of the military and navel strategy which must be employed in the Pacific should war come, will be delivered by Commander F. Grant Marsh, college instructor in business and naval science classes.

"The peculiar geographical situation of the United States would make war in the Pacific a war of paradoxes, and would undoubtedly place almost insurmountable obstacles in the path of any campaign of aggression," said Marsh. It is his intention "to show just how we will defend ourselves if we should ever be called upon to do so."

Go Beyond Tradition

Because of the numerous questions tomorrow's Symposium is certain to elicit, the Army and Navy Club decided to go beyond the limits of traditional assembly practice by allocating a period of time to further discussion by means of questions from the audience.

"The questioning of the speakers by the audience," observed T. Gordon Soliman, Army and Navy Club president, "contributes immeasurably to the fuller understanding of any problem by all concerned. This 'Town-Meeting' method of open discussion has come into its own recently, and has met with wide success.

Half-Hour Forum

The three speakers will consume an aggregate of approximately thirty minutes, after which questions from the audience will be received and answered for the duration of the hour.

All students and faculty members are invited to be present by the Army Navy Club.

Graduates Fitted For Caps, Gowns During Next Week

Students who graduated from the college last December and those who intend to graduate in May are requested by Marion Turner, class adviser to report for cap and gown measurements either at Room 726 in the P.G.E. building from 9:30 a.m. to 12 M. on Thursday or Friday, April 20 and 21 respectively, or in Room 260 at Galileo on Thursday, April 20 from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

"It is imperative that all graduates take care of this important matter immediately as we have many matters to attend to and must get them done quickly." Miss Turner said.

The measurements will be taken under the supervision of John L. Pastorino of the California Cap and Gown Co. Pastorino will be present only at the times mentioned, previously so it is important that all students report on the days stated.

ELECTIONEERING ASSEMBLY SET FOR THURSDAY, APRIL 27, GALILEO AUDITORIUM

Urging one hundred per cent attendance, Frank Verducci, president of the Associated Students, announced that he has selected Thursday, April 27, as the date of the assembly for discussion and vote on the proposed electioneering provision to be made in the Associated Students' Constitution.

With Verducci presiding in his role of president, all students present will hear the reading of the proposed amendment. Discussion will follow, a motion will be made and seconded, and a final vote will be taken.

Verbal Electioneering Only

Wholeheartedly endorsed by the executive council, the proposed amendment states that no candidate for a student office shall engage in any form of electioneering other than verbal. All forms of card distribution, parties, posters, parades, and other forms of campaigning involving monetary matters will be eliminated providing the amendment is made. Candidates will depend solely on their oratorical abilities to carry on their campaign.

Aimed at putting all electioneering candidates on an equal footing, this method of "soap box" campaigning is the only one allowed in most major colleges of the Pacific Coast area. So complex has this problem become that a candidate for office in a Southern California institution spent over seven hundred dollars to insure his election victory.

Effective This Semester

In the event that the proposed amendment should be passed by the vote of the students present, it is likely that it will go into effect at the coming election.

"It is absolutely imperative that we have a major portion of students present at this assembly," stated Verducci, "as only then can we have a successful meeting.

Peace Society To Sponsor Assembly Next Thursday; Landauer To Speak

Emphasizing student determination in the cause of world peace, the Peace Society of the college is sponsoring its annual assembly in the Lecture Hall at 11 a.m., Thursday, April 20.

Speaker of the occasion will be Dr. Carl Landauer, associate professor of economics at the University of California. Dr. Landauer, who fled the Nazi regime in Germany five years ago, has a widely known reputation as an authority on European affairs. His subject will be, Force Or Justice in International Affairs.

Following Dr. Landauer's speech will be an address by Robert Porter, vice president of the Peace Society. He will outline for the first time the new general policy that the society will follow in its striving for peace.

"We hope that in view of the continual tenseness of the European scene and the general warlike attitude of the world, the students of this college will give some thought to the necessity of preserving peace. We are asking as many of the college as possible to attend this rally and hear a forceful argument for peace by a well qualified speaker," said Dorothy Pilgrim, president of the society and chairman of the occasion.

Time Slips Must Be In To O'Neill By Monday

NYA time slips must be turned in to Thomas O'Neill at the Powell Street office on April 17 by 1:30 p.m.

"Many students obtained NYA work and many made up working hours during the Easter vacation," said Edward H. Redford, college NYA director.

Club Advisory Board Nominates Tomorrow, 1 P.M.

Semi-Formal Dance At Century Club Saturday April 15, Murphy Plays

Nominations for next semester's officers of the Club Advisory Board will be received at tomorrow's meeting at one o'clock in Room 101, announced Hal Hoffman, president of the board.

In the absence of regular faculty adviser James S. Hughes, his place will be taken by Edwin C. Browne, dean of men.

Eligibility Ruling Stressed

"Organizations that have changed their representative on the board since submitting their charter applications are reminded that notification to that effect in writing must be given the secretary before their new representatives are eligible for office," warned Hoffman.

Engraved charters for all member clubs have been secured and will be distributed at tomorrow's meeting. All organizations are urged to have a representative on hand to obtain their charters.

Dance April 15

Completion of plans for the semi-formal dance of the restricted social organizations committee make it possible to obtain bids from the members of the committee at one dollar per couple. The dance is to be held at the Century Club Saturday, April 15, with the music of Eddie Murphy.

Members of the committee from whom bids may be obtained are Louise Jameson, Art McLean, Francis Herndon, Phil Whaley, Nancy Ross, and Tom Emery.

Tale's At The Beach Alternate Locale Of High Soph Barbecue And Outing

In the event that adverse weather conditions should upset High Sophomore President Floyd Lawrence's plans for the large outing and barbecue to be held on May Day at Balboa Park, the committee in charge of affairs for the occasion has selected Tate's at the Beach as an alternate locale.

Well pleased with the inquiries and interest shown by both students and alumni alike, Lawrence stated that the enthusiasm being shown exceeds his highest expectations.

Soft Ball Featured

With plans fast being whipped into shape by the committee, Lawrence disclosed that the event will not only feature the widely discussed Sadie Hawkins event and the broiled barbecue prepared by the hotel division, but that a soft ball game between the varsity and alumni has been arranged; entertainment of all kinds, and contests of competitive and cooperative nature are being contemplated.

Slated to start in the morning, the barbecue, according to Lawrence should last until 5 or 6 o'clock p.m., whereupon the revelers will depart for the informal dance at a place yet to be chosen.

Dance At Country Club

The California Country Club has been selected by the High Sophomore Class as the site for the High Sophomore formal dance. At the present time, five big name orchestras are being considered to furnish the music for the affair. According to the opinions of the committee, the best one of the group will be chosen. The final choice will be announced at a later date.

Tickets for both the barbecue and the formal will go on sale soon.

A Cappella Choir Broadcast From Treasure Island Today

Today at 3:30 o'clock, the college A Cappella Choir under the direction of Flossita Badger, music instructor, will be presented over a transcontinental National Broadcasting Company hook-up on Treasure Island.

The program, one of the several that will be presented under the National Educational Association during its conference here, will be entitled The Development of Song.

The local choir has been selected to sing as a representative of the work that is being accomplished in western colleges.

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, APRIL 12, 1939 No. 11

JOHN JULIUS ..... EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser ..... Business Adviser
Joan Nourse ..... Edward H. Redford

Bill Frantz ..... Managing Editor
Leonard Gross ..... News Editor
Ray Berns ..... Sports Editor
Isadore Maloff ..... Feature Editor
Dorothy Trood ..... Women's Editor
Janet Fellows ..... Club Editor
Sam Galstaun ..... Staff Photographer
Marion MacKillop ..... Staff Artist
Allen Martin ..... Business Manager
Edmund Wunsch ..... Assistant Business Manager

REPORTERS

Lucretia Antonicelli, Ethan Bernstein, Victoria Candido, Bill Canning, Jacqueline Davis, Janet Fellows, Lois Gipson, Louis Goldstone, Dave Johnson, Frances Manalo, Daniel Rosenblatt, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Harold Unterberger, Frank Verducci, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

First Occupation Of Balboa, In Sophomore Week, To Become 'The Greatest Tradition'

PLANS are, and have been for some time, under way for the biggest Sophomore Week ever seen by the college. Early this semester, the plans were formulated and presented to their class by the High Sophomore officers.

These officers with their industrious committee members are to be commended for the expedite manner with which they worked in order to "put over" one of the greatest traditions at the college.

In its infancy, way back when the college was new, "Soph Week" was little more than a period of time starting with perhaps a rally and ending with the Formal Dance.

Gradual Growth of 'Soph Week'

Gradually other phases were invented to take their places along with the first events. Gradually the college in general came to look forward more and more to the tradition which serves to express farewells to the college from the Sophomore Class as well as to give the college opportunity to fete the graduates.

Chief innovation, this year, is a "Sadie Hawkins" Day and Barbecue to take place on May Day on the Balboa Park campus where construction of college buildings is under way, according to latest reports.

To Give Celebration Day

This new phase will probably become the greatest tradition of all not on account of the "Sadie Hawkins" aspect, but because May 1st will give to succeeding future college generations a day to celebrate the first occupation of the San Francisco Junior College campus.

It is certainly fitting that a graduating class, the third one to have completed the full two-year course, and perhaps the largest one so far, should start its week of sad celebration in the new campus.

The High Sophomore class officers, with whom the idea originated, should be given credit for instituting what is to become "The Greatest Tradition".

Army, Navy Club Symposium Tomorrow Features Excellent Topic And Speakers

TOMORROW, a very timely assembly is being held. Sponsored by the Army and Navy club of the college, the assembly will deal with the "Pacific Problems and Pacific Policy of the United States".

With the world in its present state, a meeting such as this is especially valuable to anyone at all interested in world affairs. The Pacific area is at the present time one of the danger zones of the world. Although overshadowed to a certain extent by recent happenings in Europe, it is still of great importance to persons living on the Pacific coast.

A symposium such as the one tomorrow will serve to present the various phases of the problems of this area in an unbiased light so that the student may listen to all angles and judge for himself.

It has been said that one of the greatest faults of the education system in the United States today is that it does not deal adequately with present day problems, but stays more in the field of theoretical study. During the past few years, the tendency has been to get away from this type of education into the more practical fields. Thus where in the past such symposiums were not considered as part of an education, today they take on an aspect of great importance.

Although it is not the intention of this editorial to preach, we do advise any students of the college interested in learning something of present day affairs to attend the assembly with the assurance that it will be time well spent.

—L. Gross

Success Of Recent Graduates Shows Constructiveness Of Junior Colleges

THE junior college has long been the subject of much criticism and caustic comment by many persons throughout the nation on the grounds that they are institutions where one goes to loaf and as far as educational value goes, are practically worthless.

Needless to say, they are wrong. In a recently published list of University of California students elected to Phi Beta Kappa are three graduates from this college. Membership in this society is highly prized and is limited to only the students attaining the highest degree of scholarship. It might be well to mention that only 105 students were elected to the scholarship group.

Which just goes to show that the scoffing cynics can be wrong, and that there is a place in the educational field for the junior college.

—L. Gross

Prosperity Corner
By Sam Galstaun

1. What English king stood on a stool during his coronation?

He was so much shorter than his consort, Mary, that during his coronation he was obliged to stand on a stool.

2. Who was the only "Commoner" who was ruler of England?

3. A chain is composed of how many links?

A chain is determined by a specific number of links, which is contrary to the belief that a chain may be composed of any number of links.

4. Is more automobile traveling done on streets or on country roads?

This is not an advertisement for a gasoline company.

5. What is the oldest college in the United States?

6. What famous musician and composer walked about one hundred and fifty miles to study music?

He is popularly known as the Father of Music. In his time, and until the day of Beethoven, musicians were rated on a social level with hired help. He is known to have written more music than any other composer, and to have had more children than most people (being the proud father of some twenty-one off-springs).

7. Who wrote:

"East is East, and West is West,
And ne'er the twain shall meet".

8. A hunter walked five miles south, then proceeded eight miles east. He saw a bear and shot it. What was the color of the bear? (Thanks to Bill Kreuzer)

9. What is the name of the street in Paris where famous dressmakers and milliners are located?

Paris is beyond doubt, considered the nucleus of fashions. To some, excluding "Fashion Fanny," this question may seem too difficult, but the name of this street is probably more famous than Broadway in New York.

10. What are the names of the five Great Lakes?

(Quiz Answers—Page 4, Column 7)

AFTER DARK

By John Ward

ONE of the more confused critics of modern architecture, himself an architect, recently criticized the Federal Building on Treasure Island as nothing short of a complete waste. Asked why he found it so, this fellow replied that the whole thing was too simple. Just plain surfaces, square blocks: "a kid could do it without even learning how to draw," was his culminative blow. All of which seemed like a plug for more San Francisco city halls, more complicated blue prints, more work for the architect, more money for the architect.

SIMPLICITY MEETS NEEDS

We should like very much to know what's wrong with simple architecture? Why must we abhor simplicity? If it is possible to plan a building in six straight lines, no ornaments, pillars, window-boxes, etc., and if said building utilizes all the space available, fills a definite need (like the Key System terminal)—what exactly is wrong with it? Absolutely nothing as far as we can see.

Automobile designers have been making radical changes in the form of auto bodies the past few years seeking to do away with a certain amount of wind pressure. In so doing they have given simple, practical lines to their cars. Utility, symmetry, simplicity—three good, safe guides. And if such a process is applicable to automobiles, what's the matter with applying it to buildings? Nothing is dreadful than those Victorian moles; all, pretense, no comfort!; nothing more appalling than the American vintage of house: no windows, all doors.

AQUATIC PARK A GOOD JOB

Streamlined architecture makes the Aquatic Park building a superlative job (even though the interior decorating is pretty much of a mess). In the first place it is built for a practical use and as such it meets all requirements with a minimum of complexity. Aesthetically it is one of the few architectural treats in the whole bay region. Also it has lots of windows.

America has been a walled town for too long—what it needs are lots of windows—lots of air, etc., including sun. Imagine the healthy shock of being able to see the sky, etc., all day from inside a house! Of course the problem of lots of windows and nothing but three apartment houses and a back yard to look at has not been solved. But for the sake of cheer, health and freedom: let windows be profuse. Even if it means urbanizing instead of communizing.

PRACTICALITY FIRST

Needless to say plate glass is not the only feature of streamlined architecture (though it is important)—it just happens to be one of our fetishes. Another important element in this new idea of building is its practical nature, some of the more radical architects going as far as to advocate building houses to suit the tastes and desires of the future occupant. Strange such an idea should be considered radical! And included in the idea of simplicity is doing away with such things as a wee dining room and a not so wee parlor.

COMFORTABLE NOT CRAMPED

What's the use of cramped quarters? How much more sane it is to build a three room house with all the rooms comfortable and spacious instead of six room house where comfort resides in cramming the radio, sofa, five chairs and a grandfather's clock into the equivalent of a tiny sized closet (with two small windows, at that, and, to be conservative, three doors).

What America needs is a home that can be lived in, office buildings that are at least pleasant if not down-right cheerful, and public buildings (such as city halls, for instance) that not only look healthy but are healthy (with maybe less genuine guilt and more light: the better to read accounts by, perhaps?).

. . . while thinking . . .
By Leonard Gross

LAST week, in the now German governed city of Prague, a demonstration of the military might of the Reich was demonstrated in a parade through the center of the city. Heavy artillery, tanks, and motorized units rolled along the streets, while fighting plans thundered overhead.

JUST A REMINDER

The parade must have served as a concrete reminder to the Czechs that they are no longer a free nation, but are just another part of a "greater Germany". We suspect that the underlying purpose of the demonstration was just that, to let the citizens of Prague tremble at the sight of the German troops and realize that they are a beaten and conquered people. Oh well, nothing like kicking a man when he's down.

* * *

Japan and Soviet Russia have at long last signed a fisheries agreement to settle a controversy which had disturbed diplomatic relations for some time. The argument was over fishing rights off the coast of Siberia and threatened graver trouble between Tokio and Moscow until the dispute was amicably settled a week ago.

Thus one source of threat to Eastern peace is ended, at least for the time being. Hard as it may be to believe, it looks as if the two nations in question are more interested in peaceful settlements than warlike maneuvers. Something rather unusual in this day and age.

* * *

PRESIDENTIAL TERMS

Well, it looks as if the people of France have no objections to having the same President for a great length of time. Last Wednesday in Paris, President Albert Lebrun was re-elected to the chief executive's post of the French republic for another seven year term, making it 14 years he will have served his country in that capacity.

We wonder what would happen here if such a thing were suggested? Lebrun was elected again as a symbol of national unity against war dangers, a nice way of putting the fact that he has been successful for seven years and the French feel that he deserves another seven, which to our way of thinking isn't a bad idea.

We won't go into the pros and cons of a third term for a President of the United States, suffice to say that although it is possible, it is highly improbable, because of a precedent set by a tired old man who only wanted the peace and quiet that Mount Vernon could give him.

* * *

MONKEY SEE MONKEY DO

Once again Benito Mussolini has attempted to imitate his master, Hitler by taking a swing at the comparatively defenseless nation of Albania. We must say one thing for Mussolini, he doesn't take any chances. It isn't very dangerous picking on a little country that can hardly fight back. This incident is reminiscent of the time the Italians trod upon another small nation, Remember Ethiopia?

* * *

BRITISH AWAKEN

The British Empire it seems, has finally awakened to the totalitarian threat of supremacy. At least all indications seem to point that way. The recent move to ally with Poland in a mutual defense agreement, gives promise of greater efforts to come. Yes, the British lion is once again growling, and it may be well to remember that the English are noted for being slow to anger, but once angered, hard to placate.

* * *

Although it is hard to realize, the war in Spain is finally over. The greater task however, is still to be confronted, meaning of course the rebuilding of what was once a beautiful country. Reconstruction is something that cannot be done alone, it needs outside help. This gives the democracies a great chance to win Spain to their side of the struggle. We wonder how Franco is going to act, since he cannot afford to refuse the democracies' offer of aid, and at the same time cannot offend Italy or Germany, without whose help he would never have won the war.

* * *

BOOMERANG

We see where Marian Anderson, the great singer, after having been refused admission to Constitutional Hall in Washington, D.C. by the D.A.R. sang in Washington anyway. Easter Sunday was the occasion, and many prominent statesmen were present at the affair which was broadcast throughout the nation. It looks as if the D.A.R. completely succeeded in making themselves appear ridiculous and snobbish in the eyes of the American people.

SYMPOSIUM By Marion MacKillop

Sartorial Modes
By Fashion Fanny

FASHIONS originate in odd ways but one of the most interesting is the use of the hair ribbon. During a royal hunting party the Duchess of Fontanges lost her hat. Her hair fell over her shoulders in unruly locks. Not to be daunted she gathered them high on her head and tied them with ribbon. The next day all the ladies in the court were wearing their hair in the same manner.

STONE CLIPS

Get one of those made clips to cheer you up, if you need it. The main point of them, though, is not their fey design—but the big, square-cut, make-believe stones that are used as the "body" of them. One is a jack-in-the-box with a huge, impressive topaz for a box; one other is literally a man in the dog-house, the house being a house-sized aquamarine. The rest of the design is worked out in small jewels and gold metal.

Shoe fashions come, and shoe fashions go, but the opera pump remains a constant star. Have a pair for tweeds; a smooth, colored calfskin pair for casual suits; patent leather or kidskin for dresses; and, as summer comes, brown-and-white, of course.

VOGUE'S EYE VIEW OF THE PARIS IMAGE . . .

What will you look like? By day, laundered and pressed and frilled like a young cherub. (A young cherub with a grasp of things.) One of the new pieces for lingerie touches is cut-out —Schiaparelli sets a lace-trimmed white organdie coxcomb on a high crowned hat of black straw. You'll wear gaunt baggies, belted and bound and trimmed with decorative braid. By night, you'll look like a family-portrait in a gathered-skirt dress, or like your own 1939 self in a plume or flower print, or a sheath slim as a piston.

What will you sound like? Like a whisper when you walk, because Paris is putting starched or taffeta petticoats behind skirts. At last you'll rustle richly—most feminine of sounds—in sibilant surah or taffeta or satin.

What will your face show? New liveness, new freshness. You'll look scrubbed and rosy, or as delicately pale as a moonflower. Your lids will be childishly shadowed; your lips and finger-tips pink and appealing.

What will your fragrance be? Something from your great-aunt's garden, perhaps; carnation or clove pinks or violets; scent or pomander or sachet.

What will they say about you? That your waist can't measure more than eighteen inches. That you look too feminine and appealing to be allowed to vote. That you're demure; provoking. Gallant, soul-satisfying compliments will again be voiced—because your 1939 portrait painted by Paris, calls for them.

Announcement was recently made of the wedding of attractive titian-haired Phyllis Elizabeth Kaiser and Charles Henry Hoester, which has been kept a secret.

A February wedding that came as a surprise was that of Marjorie Wright. WSS president last semester, Miss Wright married Elmo Le Arthurs of this city.

* * *

The male bowfish does not seek a mate, but builds a nest and then waits for a female to "propose" to him.

RAM'S HORN

● NOT KNOTS BUT????

Editor, The Guardsman:

I can't imagine what the title of your column "Prosperity Corner" means, but from its contents, I imagine it is a quiz. Now my teachers always told me quiz questions should be answered correctly.

If you will look at Question Four of March 29's Guardsman, you will see you defined the unit for the speed of a ship as "knots per hour". That is an acceleration unit, not a velocity unit.

Webster defines a knot as one nautical mile per hour. Therefore, a knot per hour is one nautical mile per hour per hour.

A Disgruntled Engineer

* * *

● THESE FISH EATERS

Editor, The Guardsman:

I note with considerable interest recent newspaper accounts of live gold fish, worm, and reptile eating contests in several of the larger colleges of the country.

While I personally do not relish eating live gold fish as I'd much rather prefer pickled herring and decapped sardines; the publicity such events create cannot be overlooked. From unquestionable authority I learn that slimy, wiggly, weather-beaten worms afford an excellent noon day snack and are most easily digestible. Their particular advantage is that they are easily accessible, as the worm market has not been cornered as yet.

For some time now, I have been under the impression that this institution boasts a publicity director whose duty it is to ascertain that this college breaks into print every so often in some paper other than The Guardsman.

While I have no bone to pick with that esteemable gentleman (nor gold fish either) I feel that he will have failed as miserably as the publicity man who couldn't get a ping for Marion Davies in Louella Parson's column if his nimble brain doesn't devise some pastime equally as fascinating for the sake of publicity.

Although this type of publicity may be somewhat repugnant publicity at any cost, divorcible or unfavorable, always seems to do some good.

New Student

Graduates Elected To Phi Betta Kappa At Univ. of Calif.

Included in the recently published list of University of California students elected to Phi Beta Kappa are three graduates of the college. Margaret Rose Cecotti, Mary Judith Facci, and Dorothy Grace Fidian, all seniors at the university, are among the 105 students notified of their election to highly prized membership.

It was two years only 700 students were elected each year, but because of an unusually large number of seniors whose grades qualify them for membership the number has been increased with the addition of five extra members.

Qualifications for Phi Beta Kappa include not only superior scholarship, but also prominent participation in an extra-curricular activity.

Cabbages & Kings
By Blue Pencil Bill

THE new "Chaser" is in the bookstore! This month it features the Folies Bergere and several pro-swing articles. Still sells for fifteen cents per copy.

* * *

THUMBNAIL SKETCHES

Grant Thompson — Dan Cupid in long pants.

Those fellows who come to class at the Extension Building in riding habits — Powell Street Cowboys.

* * *

HUGH DOESN'T DISAPPOINT

A stone's throw from the Powell Extension Building is the skyscraper Sir Francis Drake Hotel where many of the Hollywood notables reside during their visits to San Francisco.

Just before Easter vacation Hugh Herbert, of the curly fingers and impeccable laugh, stepped into the hotel lobby and a new bookkeeper looked at him. We don't blame her because Mr. Herbert looked exactly the same as he does in pictures.

Mr. Herbert sensed that someone was staring at him. He turned around, saw the little bookkeeper, and thought a second. Then he went "woo woo" for her, smiled, tipped his hat, and registered.

* * *

YOUR INVESTMENT

Politics is not our racket but we felt it would be of interest to the students of the college to inform them how their semi-annual investment is represented.

You see, there is a body which is called the "Executive Council". It meets every Thursday at 2:30 p.m. in Room 561 at Galileo.

We just wanted you to know — that's all.

EX-COUNCIL

Maybe we should elucidate. The Executive Council is composed of ten students, the Associated Students' president, vice-president, secretary, and yell leader; president of the AMS, AWS, WAA, Club Advisory Board, Men's Athletic Council, and the Publications Board representative. It can be seen that a majority of these representatives are elected directly by the students of the college—meaning you.

The point of the message is: You make an investment in the student activities of the college every semester—make certain that you elect an Executive Council capable of giving you the best return on your investment.

* * *

We were pleasantly surprised to hear Tom Coyne's song "I Can't Lose That Feeling For You" which he played at a recent rally. Listen for it on the "Big Ten".

* * *

NAMES IN PRINT

Those who want to see their names in print department:

CHARLIE OSWALD
JEAN PAULINE ROSS

CONTRIBUTION DEPARTMENT

Dear ed J. Bruton saves our neck for this issue by printing this excchange:

He was a clock watcher.
He was habitually late.
He only half did things.
He didn't study up for his job.
He associated with his inferiors.
He didn't strive for promotion.
He didn't have to—
He was the president of the company.

* * *

Did you know that Bill O'Neill is Eugene O'Neill's younger brother? It would be unfair to the readers to leave that statement as is because Bill's brother is not the noted dramatist.

* * *

How come no one at the college has tried eating live goldfish or worms? All the other colleges are doing it—and look at all the publicity they get. Let's have a little life on the scattered campus. Because the Block Society is the liveliest group in the college we would suggest they sponsor the Goldfish Eating Derby in place of the dance which they can't afford this semester.

* * *

VITAL STATISTICS

Women are eating too much—and there are figures to prove it.

REDUCED PRICES ON NEW PHILCO
Auto Radios
$39.95 sets reduced to $29.95
$29.95 sets reduced to $21.95
LIBERAL ALLOWANCES MADE ON OLD RADIOS
Reconditioned Sets
Fully Guaranteed From $10.95
TERMS AS LOW AS
50 CENTS PER WEEK
BRUNTON'S
1460 Pine Street

Aquatic Ace!

—Courtesy San Francisco Examiner

Pictured above is Helen Crlenkovich, nationally-known diving star who will compete in the National Championships which will be held Friday night, April 21, at the Fairmont Plunge. Miss Crienkovich, a student of this college, will oppose Marjorie Gestring, national champion. Good luck, Helen!

RAMblings

Fortune Finally Deserts Soccer, Tennis Mentor; "Battle Of Century" Set

By RAY BERNS

After two years, five hours, three minutes, and forty seconds of good luck, Tom Wilson, tennis and soccer mentor, has finally been forced to bow to old man Fate.

To enlighten those that wish to be enlightened, Wilson's soccer and tennis teams have won the conference championship for the past two years but it seems that the day of good fortune has passed.

SOCCER LEAGUE DISBANDED

The junior college soccer league was disbanded last year, and Wilson's shin-kickers were forced to participate in the Northern California, and a few of the other smaller universities. Result—no championship.

Wilson's hopes for a tennis championship were dealt a blow when four out of nine varsity tennisers were declared ineligible at the beginning of the season but it was hoped that the remaining netsters would be able to carry on.

Things ran smoothly for the first two conference matches, but, at the end of the last midterm period, Wilson was deprived of two of his remaining five players. In other words, if that tennis squad still wins the title, Wilson is a miracle man.

NEWS FLASH:

Jack F. Banta, ace Trojan fullback, quits Troy.

Trojan stock drops 16 3/8 per cent.

GOES INTO MOVIES

Hollywood snags ace fullback from "Howie" Jones. Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce protests. Banta upon leaving, said, "I never could 'get around' a pigskin or a California end—I went through 'em, but from now on, it's Hedy Lamarr for me—oh foe."

Three remaining Trojan fullbacks, Bill Sangster, Bob Peoples, and "Jive" Musick inform Banta that they will hold down the fort.

Banta's leaving breaks 6,000 Trojan coed's hearts.

The University of Southern California's firm San Francisco supporters, "Doc" Sewell and R. D. Dolman, when asked for a statement, said, (quote) Dammit (unquote).

"Howie" Jones treatens to withhold Banta's salary—Banta protests—Hedy protests—Sewell protests—Dolman protests—we all protest—so what!!!!! (No salary).

HUBACHER TAKES OVER

Getting back to the more concrete things of life, Elmer Hubacher, former crewman and newly elected Vice President of the Club Advisory Board, informs us that a complete schedule for the intra-mural basketball league has been drawn up, and requests the support of the students of the college. Hubacher who steps into Hal Goldsworthy's shoes as director of the sports program is fully qualified to handle the job, and, if given support, should make a success of it.

Receiving our information from that rather vague source, "The RAMline," that news circuit which corresponds to the undegworld's grapevine, we find that Frankie Verducci will be back in college next semester and intends to run for Yell Leader.

After absorbing terrific punishment on the gridiron for the sake of dear old alma mater for the past two years, Verducci is now going to attempt to whip the student body into a frenzy. More power to you, Frank.

BATTLE OF THE GIANTS

After many verbal tiffs, Carl McCutchen and Eddie Baca, the two claimants for the 129 pound boxing championship of the college have finally agreed on a date of the battle—it's tomorrow.

If anyone's interested in the outcome, send a self-addressed envelope along with $10.00 to cover the cost of postage, and our lunch for the next week) to us, and we will be glad to send you the result. And in addition, (we're sneaking this in), if you want the latest on the hoss races, we will be only to glad to oblige you—for a small consideration.

Men of the college, we give you, Eddie Watt and Mr. Ward is an exponent of the Ward system of physical development.

RESIDES IN POLK DISTRICT

Residing in the Polk district of our great metropolis, Ward arises each morning (rain or shine) and dashes down Polk Street to Aquatic Park. He then proceeds to take a dip in the icy water of San Francisco Bay. Ward then breaks all records coming back up Polk Street, consumes a hearty breakfast and walks to school. Ain't it grand?

When asked if he ate goldfish, Verducci said, (quote) Hell, yes (unquote).

Buccaneer's Swamp Local Baseballers; Rams Outhit Rivals In First Contest

Jack Gardner's Buccaneery of Modesto Junior College administered two sound thumpings to the hapless Ram baseballers in a recent double-header which was shown for the edification of the Modesto fans at the Municipal ball orchard in Modesto. The scores were 11 to 7 and 3 to 1.

The first game was a conglomeration of all types of baseball. Hits there were thirteen of them for the Rams and six for Modesto. Errors were plentiful and most of them were committed by the Ram and runs ... well the score was 11 to 7. In short, the game was interesting because of the eccentric baseball displayed by the two clubs.

Outhit Valley Rivals

The strangest thing about the contest was the fact that the Rams outhit their valley rivals 13 to 6 yet lost by 4 runs. If the game went according to Hoyle, or Doubleday, the Rams should have emerged winners by more than the score by which they were defeated.

Charley Christensen and Harry Aleo hurled for the Rams and "Bereley Bud" Hansen assumed the mound chores for the hometowners.

Christensen gave way to Aleo in the second inning after five runs were scored off of him—also two went the rest of the distance and with the exception of the seventh frame, in which the Pirates tallied four unearned runs, performed creditably. Pirate Hansen was never in trouble.

Gaitbaith Pitches

Outstanding features of the second contest were the pitching of Weaver Galbraith, formerly an outfielder, and the long distance hitting of McCloud and Lindsay. McCloud smashed out two doubles and a triple while Lindsay hammered one of Galbraith's best pitches far and wide over the center field wall.

The Modestans tallied once each in the third, fourth and fifth cantos, while the Gaddymen were able to dent the rubber dish once during the game and that in the 4th inning.

RAM chops

Join In The Fun—Become Member Of The "El Flunko" Club; Lawrence Is In Again

By JACK SCHMALE

Buzzin' around . . .

Hey fellas, have you joined the new organization? It's called the El Flunko Club, and at present consists of around a dozen star members of the baseball, track, and tennis teams. It's lotsa fun, and to become eligible, just see any one of your instructors. He'll okeh your eligibility.

It seems that five postimers and three racquet wielders haven't been performing as efficiently as they might in the academic branch of this institution, and as a result, have automatically become excommunicated from all official contacts with their respective fields of athletic endeavor.

ADDS GRAY HAIRS

This process, and the subsequent organization, has invited many premature gray hairs to the men's physical education department, as you may readily believe.

I say, chappies, you wants join? It's a cinch to get in!

* * *

Mr. Robert Parker, who dispenses information in various and sundry branches of history, may achieve fame in a most indirect manner.

Mr. Parker has a Mr. Howard Cloud currently enrolled in his History 39 class. Mr. Cloud, it seems, aspires toward song writing. Well sir, Mr. Cloud, nice as you please, completed a potential successor to Star Dust a week ago during one of Mr. Parker's classes, and credits the latter with some sort of inspiration. Mr. Parker might do well to investigate any impending royalties, and demand his cut. Right's right, ain't it?

* * *

LAWRENCE WANTS PLUG

Another upstanding young man, Soph President Floyd Lawrence, was just in Floyd was quite insistent on getting a plug for his Sophomore Sweetheart contest, which will be held as a feature on the Soph Week program. Floyd says he'll take the winner to lunch. Dixie McCormick is defending the title from last semester. By the way, we don't often toot our own horn, but this news is a quick little scoop. Pretty good, huh? Thanks, Floydie-boy.

* * *

Lee Eisan's spring footballers, consistently inconspicuous since the opening of the semester, should be about due for a blast herein. Understand Lee plans to outfit the boys in full regalia beginning this week for some contact and scrimmage work. Hear tell of some pretty fine looking prospects working out in preparation for the nine-game sked next fall.

* * *

SLATTERY IN—VERDUCCI OUT

San Jose State College, newly acquired home of Glenn Scobey Warner, pulled an exchange during the past few weeks. While Treacy "Slats" Slattery, former Ram basketball ace, withdrew from the Garden City educational foundry recently, Johnnie Verducci, ex-Ram quarterback, checked in at the same institution a few days ago.

Wilson's Tennisers Drop Six Straight Southern Matches

Flight Into Space!

Striking a pose of unparalleled beauty in the above photo, pretty Patty Robinson is shown practicing for the forthcoming championships at the Fairmont Plunge.

Miss Robinson, along with Helen Crelenkovich, will match ability with the kingpin of feminine divers, Marjorie Gestring.

Formerly a student of Galileo High School, Miss Robinson has achieved fame under the tutelage of Phil Patterson, Fairmont Plunge swimming instructor. Good luck, Pat!

Ram Netsters Unable To Score One Victory

Bob Kun Declared Ineligible On Eve Of Departure For Southland; Canning Wins Four Out Of Six Singles Encounters

What's left of Tom Wilson's varsity tennis squad, the shattered remnants of a once powerful aggregation, "injvaded" the southland last week and came home sadder but wiser after dropping six straight matches to the potent southern colleges.

Weakened at the start of the conference season by the loss of Harold Wagner and Ray Berns, the local squad was given another setback when Bob Kun, second singles player, was declared out of competition on the eve of the team's departure for the south.

Moonie Plays Sixth

The squad was forced into such a state of disunion that Manager Clyde Moonie was compelled to play the sixth singles. Wilson was forced to revise his doubles combinations at the last minute and the result was fatal, as the lads won only three doubles matches during the entire trip.

The first match of the tour was played against the Modesto squad on Friday afternoon and the lads receipted for a five to four licking. At the conclusion of eight matches the score was tied at four matches apiece. With the outcome resting on the third doubles, the Rams went down to defeat.

Fresno Wins 6-3

Journeying to Fresno State, the local squad found the heat too much for them as they dropped a six to three decision.

Sunday proved a day of rest for the Ram netmen but Monday the lads were back on the courts, this time to face the strong U.C.L.A. frosh team on the Westwood grounds. The result was disastrous as the local lads were overwhelmed six to one. The Ram victory was registered in by Bill Canning, who turned back the first singles player, Bob Stanford, member of the Southern California Junior Davis Cup squad, 6-1, 6-2.

Madamba Best Performer

Santa Monica Junior College was the next opponent of the Rams, and the local squad again found itself on the short end of the score, this time four to three. Billy Madamba, second singles player tossed in the best performance for the Rams as he turned back his opponent 6-3, 6-3.

Wednesday morning the Rams went down to defeat at the hands of Los Angeles City College by the score of six to one, with Bill Canning registering the lone Ram victory. Bill Madamba played the longest match of the tour as he battled three hours under a hung sun against Ed Craigmile, before bowing out 8-10, 7-5, 14-12.

Canning Wins

Bringing their disastrous tour to a close, the Rams went down to defeat at the hands of Glendale Junior College, eight to one. Again the only Ram victory was turned in by Bill Canning, who turned back his opponent, Pete Keller in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2.

With the Ram squad weakened by the loss of its key stars, the conference race will now be thrown wide open. The battle for the top spot will probably be between the local squad and San Mateo, with Marin holding an outside chance of sneaking into the winner's spot.

San Mateo Match Next

Saturday the local netmen will entertain the San Mateo squad at the Palace of Fine Arts courts in what should prove to be the championship battle. If Bob Kun returns to the fold, the Rams should win, but without him the going will be tough.

The members of the squad that competed in the southland were Bill Canning, Bill Madamba, Ray Kline, Bill Dodson, Fred Hoshiyama, and Clyde Moonie.

have been put ahead one day.

Of most importance is the Horse Show which is to be held on Saturday, April 22.

Plans for the Tourney Week are being made under the General Chairman, Marjorie Radke, and the committees under her.

WOMEN'S SPORTS PARADE
By FRANCES MANALO

Delegates to represent the college Women's Athletic Association at the American Federation of College Women National Convention at the University of California campus are Dorothy Sanderson, president of WAA and Marjorie Radke.

Miss Sanderson To Speak

At the request of the A.F.C.W., Miss Sanderson will speak at the Convention on the discussion topic Development and Responsibilities of the Student Leader.

This subject is one of the discussion questions under the topic, Women's Athletic Standards and Ways of Promoting These Standards.

The group that will discuss under this topic is to meet today at 2 o'clock until 3:15 o'clock.

Plans for the National Convention are progressing very nicely, and it is just a month away.

* * *

W.A.A. Paddle Canoes

Plans are now under way and are being discussed by members of the WAA life saving class and advanced swimming to start work on new lessons with canoes for new life saving techniques.

These classes plan this new work for Wednesday night, April 19. Working together with the classes will be the WAA council, and anyone else who is interested may attend.

The Crystal Palace plunge will be the scene of swimmers struggling with canoes and making efforts to save their fellow class members.

* * *

Swedish Folk Dancing

Tomorrow night will be the time when all members of WAA dancing classes will witness the genuine Swedish Folk Dancing, when members of the Swedish Applied Arts School will demonstrate, and later the folk dance class will participate in the dancing.

The dancing classes will attend the Swedish Applied Arts Svengard at 2016 Pacific Avenue.

* * *

Tourney Week Soon

Activities of the WAA are climaxed each semester by the Tourney Week, at which time the sport programs of the year are finished in final matches, tournaments, team games, and dance programs.

As it is known, this week is always full of excitement and competition.

Tourney Week is officially ended with a banquet. Each semester the banquet committee chooses a theme. For the first banquet, at which the organization has just set out, the theme was Embarkation. At the second banquet, the WAA searched for the ideals of the Women's Athletic Association; The Hunt was the theme. The third banquet had Time Marched On as the theme; the fourth, International Friendship; and last semester's theme was Co-educational Sports, and the men of the school were invited.

Tourney Weeks of the past semesters have shown progress in the organization and have been enjoyed by members of the WAA.

This semester's Tourney Week will be held soon, and WAA members are anxiously looking forward to this event. The dates for the Tourney Week are April 19 to April 25; they

Sweet's Cindermen Collide With Marin, Menlo At Kentfield

Rals Sweet's cindermen will figure in a triangular meet on Saturday afternoon, colliding with Marin and Menlo on the Kentfield oval at 2 o'clock.

The Rams will experience no novelty in pacing the Menlo harriers, having defeated them in a dual meet earlier in the season on the Peninsula. Marin, however, is said to boast a strong and well balanced squad.

Bob McGuire, blond sprint ace, quarter-miler Bob Klingler, hurdler Fred Bitgood and broad jumper Pete Ida will be expected to do most of the local point collecting.

Competing in one of the "informal" meets held at Stanford University, Groswird cleared 12 ft. 6 in. in the pole vault against leading university performers.

Staters Shellacked By Conlan's Golfers At Ingleside Course

Starting out in great style, the Ram divot diggers shellacked the San Francisco Staters, 8½ to ½, at Ingleside golf course recently.

It was the season's first contest for Coach "Dutch" Conlan's men and their performance was excellent.

Bill Hoffman, Ram star, was like the weather. The temperature was close to 70 degrees and Hoffman's score was 71.

Teamed with the experienced Ray Romey, Hoffman's long drives enabled the pair to win their match going away.

Official scores of the match read: Gordon Romey and Barney Rice defeated State's Dick Hawkins and Lloyd Sagon, 2½ to ½. Roy Romey and Bill Hoffman won over Harry Roberts and Don Portiello, 3 to 0. Finally, Ed Canepa and Jim Hall putted to victory over Dave Schultis and Red Lewis, Golden Gaters, 3 to 0.

Favorite Duos Meet In Opening Round Of Mixed Doubles Tourney At Palace

Diverting from the usual custom of seeding outstanding teams, Bertha Mae Keller, women's tennis instructor in charge of the annual mixed doubles tourney, made no draw for the tournament last week and received a rather unexpected surprise.

Out of the five favored duos entered, Rema Corbitt and Hal Wagner, Jean Paque and Bill Canning, Anna Lee Smith and Ray Berns, Tillie Huddleston and Bill Madamba, and Virginia Hein and Bob Kun, four will meet in the first round with the winners playing each other in the second.

The luck of the draw has pitted Miss Corbitt and Wagner against Miss Huddleson and Madamba in one first-round match, while Miss Smith and Berns will meet Miss Paque and Canning in the other opening set-to with the winners scheduled to battle in the second round.

Mine Hein and Kun, semi-finalists in last year's tourney, were the only favored duo receiving a smile from "the Gods," as they were cut into the lower half of the draw which offers little or no opposition.

According to general opinion, however, the eventual winners of the tourney will emerge out of the four "ill-fated" duos who clash in the opening rounds.

Matches will be played the next few weeks at the Palace of Fine Arts courts with the college champions being determined in the near future.

Local Lad Takes Second Place In Island Fencing

Harry Mortimer, Ram student, brought glory to himself and fame to his college by capturing second place in the Northern California Fencing Championships held at Festival Hall on Treasure Island recently.

Mortimer twice defeated Mr. Schnyder, 1937 Pacific Coast Champion, once in the semi-finals and again in the finals, Bill lost to the champion, [illegible] for first place to break the tie.

POLL OF Opinion

By DAN ROSENBLAT

Hull, Roosevelt or Garner against Dewey in 1940. Asked the thought-provoking question, "Who, in your opinion, is the best man for the Republican and Democratic nominations for President of the United States in 1940?" students interviewed showed their divided preference among the Democratic candidates and their unanimity of opinion with regard to the Republicans.

Democrats Undecided

Votes for the best Democratic candidate were split almost evenly between Roosevelt for a third term, Vice-President "Cactus Jack" Garner, and able Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Trailing badly was Postmaster General James Farley, who despite a boast that he knew 50,000 people by their first names, apparently failed to provide himself with a large circle of friends in San Francisco. Such prominent would-be presidential timber as Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins and Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes proved themselves to be little more than kindling wood by failing to register a single vote.

Dewey Demanded

On the Republican side, matters stood much clearer. Far and away the favorite is racket-busting Thomas Dewey, New York's famous district attorney. His recent successful prosecution of Jimmy Hines made him a heavy favorite in a recent similar Gallup Poll, and may well have been a factor in the decisive 77 per cent vote he received at the college.

Poor second in the Dewey was long time presidential aspirant, Senator Borah of Idaho, still mildly popular with conservative elements, but apparently small competition for the New Yorker. Weakly supported were Senators Taft and Vandenberg; neither apparently able to "cash in" on their respective reputations, the former as the son of the late President Taft, the latter as the best dressed man in the United States Senate.

Completely tabulated results follow:

Democratic nomination
Roosevelt	33 per cent
Hull	29 per cent
Garner	29 per cent
Farley	5 per cent
Republican nomination
Dewey	77 per cent
Borah	11 per cent
Taft	6 per cent
Vandenburg	6 per cent

Neutrality Issue

Next "poll of the week" delves into student opinion on the highly important question of whether or not America can stay out of the next general European war. Possibility of American participation is of vital importance to students of college, and therefore of military age. Consider carefully the possibilities, then mark your conclusion on the following ballot.

Do you think American can keep out of the next general European war?

Yes ..... No .....

Initial Business Meet Scheduled For April 27

Definitely setting Thursday, April 27, as the meeting date for the semester's first general business meeting of the Associated Students, the college Executive Council made its second decisive move toward terminating past electioneering practices.

President Frank Verducci expressed his approval of the date set by admitting, "In setting the date in April for this important meeting, the decision reached may be applied in the election to be held on May 5."

Time Limited

Although the only proposed business for the meeting is the ratification of the electioneering amendment to the student constitution, it is believed that the time allotted for the gathering will not allow any further business to be discussed.

Approval of the council of Mel Peterson's request that the Block Society be allowed to transfer the use of its fund for the semi-annual dance to that of sponsoring a barbecue for local prep athletes was unanimously expressed. Petersen, Block SF president, explained, "the money allotted is not sufficient for the Block Society to sponsor its customary dance."

Locale An Obstacle

Dave Johnson, president of the Associated Men Students, announced that he had completed plans for the Men's Club semi-annual barn dance but had been unable to get official approval for the Devonshire Club as the locale of the dance.

Johnson requested that the Executive Council approve the selected situation but met with opposition from several members of the Council on the grounds that, "perhaps a suitable place might be found within the limits of the city wherein the dance could be held under official supervision."

Press agent Jack Schmale read his annual report which was highly acceptable and commendable if the vote of the Council is to be considered as a criterion.

Henry Announces Complete Success Of Convention

Complete success of the statewide Alpha Gamma Sigma convention held on Treasure Island April 1, was announced by James Henry, president of the organization, last week.

The scholarship convention was highlighted by visits from distinguished educators, who spoke before the assembled audience. "I am quite sure that all those who attended the meeting enjoyed themselves, especially those students from out of town who had not seen the Fair," Henry said.

The number attending was estimated at about 200, which is considerably more than was anticipated.

APRIL 21 SET AS COLLEGE HOME ECONOMICS DAY AT GGIE; 60 WOMEN EXPECTED

April 21 has been definitely set as San Francisco Junior College Home Economics Day at Treasure Island, Claire Cuneo, association adviser announced Thursday. Approximately 60 women from the Home Economics Association and the Home Economics 61 class and their friends are expected to attend as contrasted to a previous statement that the group would be limited to 20.

Application blanks for the trip may be secured from Miss Cuneo in Room 317 at Galileo High School at any time. Women expecting to go should plan to attend the meeting to be held today at 2:15 p.m. in Room 317 at Galileo, Miss Cuneo said.

The program will include luncheon on the island to be followed by a tour of the island during which the group will pay particular attention to the displays of the Oriental building, interior decoration, textiles, textile process, and foods. At 4 o'clock the group will view the Cavalcade of the West, and after dinner will attend the Federal Theater Project performance.

Forum Magazine To Go 'On Sale' Next Week At 15 Cents The Copy

Copies of the Forum Magazine will go on sale sometime next week for 15 cents a copy, editor John Cumming was announced. Tickets must be purchased in advance as the number of copies printed will be determined by the number of tickets purchased.

Every student of the college should, if possible, obtain one of these copies, since the Forum Magazine is a representative of what the college can do in the way of literary endeavors, Cumming urged.

"Winner of the best single contribution not exceeding 1500 words will be presented with a book at the Forum Club banquet at the end of the semester," Cumming revealed.

Byington, Local Attorney, Speaker At Commencement

Lewis F. Byington, prominent attorney and chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of San Francisco will deliver the commencement address at the graduation exercises in the Opera House on May 19, according to recent word from President Cloud.

Reportedly a top noteh public speaker, Byington is an accepted authority on California history and government affairs. He is past Grand President of the Native Sons of the Golden West and was also President of the Board of Freeholders.

Lauded by President Cloud as an excellent orator, Byington's address will touch upon his experience and advice to the graduates, elaborating upon such subjets as government, citizenship, and character.

Red Rifle Team Takes Second Place In Tournament; Loses To U.C.

Copping second honors in the National Intercollegiate Western Division Rifle Tournament, the college Red Riflers almost managed to add the name of the University of California to their long list of victims, but missed by eight points of winning the tournament held at Berkeley on April 1.

Heralded as the finest rifle squad ever to represent the college, the Red Riflers gave the highly vaunted California team the "scare of their lives and reputation," according to Coach Fred McFarland.

U. C. Favored

Although the California squad was an odds-on favorite, its total of 1837 points was only seven greater than the 1830 piled up by the college. Stanford University, conquered a month ago by the Red Riflers, slipped into third position in the final rankings with a team total of 1583.

"We are not offering excuses for losing to the Bears, but it might have been California losing by eight or ten points had it not been that two of the first squad members, Garry Stewart and Henry Cavagnolo, were stricken with influenza and were unable to compete with the team," McFarland explained.

Bears Rated

The fact that California only won by seven points does not mean they are weak. On the contrary, the Bears are rated as probably the strongest college unit in the country.

In fact, Taylor and Vander Hayden, Bear aces, were two of the eight college men placed on the honorary Intercollegiate all-American Rifle Team. Order of the Golden Bullet, in 1937 and 1938 respectively," he added.

Al Templeton, college sharpshooter par excellence, shot the highest score for the Red Riflers when he totalled 371. Hanson of the California team led the shooting with 375.

McFarland Praises

Coach McFarland had nothing but praise for the entire team with special congratulations directed to Charles North who annexed third spot in the tournament for individual marksmanship.

"This tournament terminated the shooting in competition for the season. Beyond all doubt, San Francisco Junior College has the finest rifle squad, excepting California, in this section of the United States," McFarland beamed conclusively.

Place Of Fair Pageant Changed To Opera House

As certain factors have prevented the presentation of the Pageant on Treasure Island, it will take place at the Opera House in the city.

This was made official last week by Marie Weller of the college faculty, and supervisor of the affair. Another change in the Pageant, was that the personnel of this great presentation was cut down to fit the stage of the Opera House.

As Public Schools Week will come in April, the Pageant is to be considered part of the Public Schools Week program, and is to be presented on two nights, April 26 and 27.

Building Construction Scheduled To Start

Actual construction on the science building of the college are scheduled to begin any day this week, was the announcement received from official sources by administration officials.

Although there have been many complications and delays, it is definitely certain that the obstacles in the way have been removed, and all indications point to a speedy construction of the buildings.

Anticipated completion date is April 1940. According to PWA requirements the work must be completed by June of that year.

ADVERTISING RATE:

1-50 inches	70c an inch
51-150 inches	60c an inch
151-up inches	50c an inch

HOTEL, RESTAURANT GROUP HOLDS SEMI-FORMAL DANCE AT MARK HOPKINS

Hotel Mark Hopkins will be the scene of an informal dance to be given by the Hotel and Restaurant Management Society Friday night, April 21 at 9 o'clock.

All students who wish to come are invited to join the Society in this outstanding social affair. Bids will be $1.25 per couple, which will include cover-charge.

"Those who buy their bids first will get the best seats!" announced Lee Scarlett, vice-president of the society. "Joe Reichmann's orchestra will provide the music in the Peacock Court, where we will have a section to ourselves. It will be an informal affair and all members of the college are welcome."

Bids may be obtained in Room 104 at Galileo or from Carl Rutledge, president of the society, or from Scarlett.

Returning Students Asked To See Advisers Soon

Students returning to the college next semester are asked to see their advisers immediately to make out tentative program lists, Mary Jane Learnard, assistant registrar, announced. To facilitate appointments the registrar has released the following partial list of advisers who have reserved special times at which they may be consulted by students.

Louis Berman, Tue., Thur., 3-4:30 p.m. 452.

Chester W. Clark, Wed., Fri., 9:30-11 a.m., Powell St. Lobby.

Edwin A. Cranston, Tue., Thur., 9-10 a.m., Powell St. Lobby.

George L. Green, Daily, 3-4:30 p.m. 464.

Lloyd D. Luekmann, Mon., Wed., Fri., 3-3:30 p.m., 458.

William K. Mayo, Mon., Wed., 2:30-5:30 p.m., Tue., Thur., 8:15-11:05 a.m., 353.

Glenn A. Noble, Mon., Tue., Wed., Thur., 3-4 p.m., 358.

Don Perham, Mon., Wed., 10-10:30 a.m., Powell Lobby.

T. R. Porter, Mon., Tue., Wed., Thur., 3-4:30 p.m., 361.

Edward E. Sandys, Mon., Wed., Fri., 10-10:30 a.m., 12-12:30 p.m., Powell Lobby.

Nelson A. Wells, Tue., Thur., 3-4:30 p.m., 312.

U.S.F. ANNOUNCES ANNUAL SCHOLARSHIP OFFER; CLOUD GETS INFORMATION

Continuing its annual offer of scholarships to men students of the college, the University of San Francisco through Rev. William J. Dunne, president of the University, notified President Archibald J. Cloud that two scholarships will again be available this semester.

The University of San Francisco scholarships provide free tuition in the College of Liberal Arts. One of the scholarships covers the expenses of a two year tuition while the other is for a one year period.

Men Eligible

Regular men students, who are completing their third or fourth semester of study at this college and have maintained an average of B or better in their university grade studies, are eligible for the scholarships.

Those men students of the college who are interested in qualifying for either of these two scholarships are asked to file applications with the University of San Francisco Scholarship Committee by May 1.

Members of the college faculty appointed to the scholarship committee are John Selig, chairman, Mary Jane Learnard, Francis Colligan, Lloyd Luckmann and Jack Gaddy.

Cloud Pleased

President Cloud expressed pleasure upon hearing of the scholarship award. "It pleases me greatly that once more the men students of this college are being offered these worthwhile opportunities.

"I am also grateful for the appointment of John Selig as chairman of the committee from this college.

"In the past, four of our students have been recipients of these scholarships and I am hopeful that other men of the college see fit to take advantage of this opportunity."

U.S.F. Awards

The President and the Administrative staff of the University of San Francisco will award the scholarships upon the basis of merit as evidenced in the filed applications and the records of eligible students.

The action of the University authorities is final and under no conditions are they transferable.

AWS Tea-Dansant To Have Century Club As Locale

In honor of High Sophomores, and sponsored by the Associated Women Students, an afternoon Tea Dansant will be held May 4 from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Franklin Street Century Club, according to Margaret Dougherty, AWS adviser.

"Last semester's affair of this type was such a decided success, we have agreed to try again to please the majority," declared Dorothy Trood, AWS president.

The population of the continental United States increased .7 and 1 per cent in the past year according to the estimate of 130,215,000 people as of July 1, 1938.

Library Browsing

By JANET FELLOWS

In the library this week there are newer editions than those we have reviewed. Because of the vacation, however, we were unable to review them in time for this edition.

Movies

In Motion Picture Review Digest, March 13, 1939 we have picked the reviews of the pictures. Adventures of Huckleberry Finn and Never Say Die. The former is, according to the reviews, an excellent adaptation from the widely-read and well-loved book. The acting, direction, and scenery are inspiring and the plot is well developed and holds interest throughout. It is a picture for old and young alike.

Never Say Die, with Bob Hope and Martha Raye, is not favored with all the critics. It is thought, by some, to be "a little vulgar in spots". Others think the picture is consistently hilarious throughout the entire film, while some hold to the contrary.

National News

In The New Republic, March 22, 1939, the SEC, Wall Street, and the present administration's stand in business is questioned in Back to 1929? The fervent hope is that the administration will not abandon one of the New Deal's finest reforms for political reasons.

The WPA: Going, Going— in the same issue is about Congress' desire to abolish relief. This article seems to favor the pros and skirn over the cons.

Foreign Affairs

Foreign Affairs' Stop-Hitler Drive in the March 27, 1939 issue of "Newsweek" compares Hitler's march on what was left of Czecho-Slovakia to Napoleon's march through Central Europe more than 100 years ago. France's, Great Britain's, and the United States' reaction to this latest agression of Hitler's is reviewed, and so is that of Holland, Switzerland, and other countries too near the Hitler's feet ease, as well as the significance of the Fuehrer's drive on "the poor, defenseless people of Czecho-Slovakia".

Vocational Interest Books

Careers In Advertising and the Jobs Behind Them, James; Life Earnings In Selected Occupations In the United States; Clark.

Vocational Biographies

Jay Cooke, Private Banker, Larson; Morgan the Magnificent, Winkler.

ANSWERS

1. William III. 2. Oliver Cromwell. 3. One hundred links. 4. The average of each is about even. 5. Harvard, founded 1636. 6. Johann Sebastian Bach. 7. Rudyard Kipling. 8. Whitney has to be a polar bear, because the conditions of the problem will hold true only at the poles. 9. Rue de la Paix. 10. Superior, Erie, Michigan, Huron, Ontario.

STUDENTS

You need a portable in your home. We are offering a limited number of Royal Varsity Models at $32.70. Manufacturers price $42.50.

This Is What You Get

New typewriter complete with case; standard office keyboard; back spacer, margin stop and bell; line finder for writing on ruled lines and filling-in.

It has every essential for office or home use. May be purchased on easy terms. Trade in accepted. See it at 591 Market St., or call SUtter 4734 for home demonstration.

San Francisco Typewriter Exchange

591 Market Street SUtter 4734

Rent REMINGTON MONEY-SAVER TYPE

NEED A TYPEWRITER? . . .

WRITERS at same cost as noisy machines . . . All carriage widths, type styles, keyboards . . . Also standards, portables . . . Rental from manufacturer guarantees QUALITY.

Remington Typewriter Division
Remington Rand, Inc.

509 Market Street Phone: DOuglas 8600

CLUB SCHEDULE

NAME	Type of Meeting	TIME	PLACE
Alpha Delta Epsilon	No plans
Alpha Gamma Sigma	Business	April 20, 2:00 p.m.	Galileo
Alpha Phi Omega	No plans
Army-Navy	No plans
Astronomy	Business	April 17, 8:00 p.m.	Galileo
Beta Phi	Business	April 17, 8:00 p.m.	3040.22nd Avenue
Block S. F.	Barbecue	April 24, 8:00 p.m.	Sigmund Stern Grove
Beta Tau	No plans
Chinese	No plans
Forestry	Business	April 14, 7:30 p.m.	Galileo, Room 360
Forum	No plans
French	Discussion	April 21, 8:00 p.m.	Indefinite
George Washington	No plans
Home Econ. Ass'n	No plans
Hotel-Restaurant	Dance	April 21, 9:00 p.m.	Mark Hopkins
Iota Chi	No plans
Japanese Students	No plans
La Iga Chi	Business	April 14, 8:00 p.m.	Western Women's Club
Music	Business	April 14, 8:00 p.m.	1140 Oakland Ave., Piedmont
Newman	Discussion	April 17, 8:00 p.m.	St. Mary's Cathedral
Omicron Phi Pi	Business	April 14, 8:00 p.m.	2340 Francisco St.
Peace Society	Discussion	April 21, 8:00 p.m.	Indefinite
Phi Beta Rho	Business	April 12, 7:30 p.m.	2358-30th Avenue
Phys. Ed. Majors	No plans
Pi Mu Gamma	Business	April 12, 7:30 p.m.	Homewood Terrace
Pick & Hammer	Business	April 14, 7:30 p.m.	Galileo, Room 360
Rifle & Pistol	Business	April 14, 4:00 p.m.	Rifle Range
Turbuth	Election	April 23, 7:30 p.m.	350 Page Street
Tri Epsilon	Basketball game	April 12, 7:30 p.m.	Aptos Junior High
Women's Service Society	Rummage Sale	April 21 and 22	Indefinite

Attend Assembly On Peace Tomorrow, Powell St. Lecture Hall

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

The Guardsman

SAN FRANCISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Tourney Week Starts; Women Offer Program Of Varied Events

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, APRIL 19, 1939 No. 13

Sports Gigantics Climax This Week In WAA Games, Ice Show

Women's Athletic Finals April 19-25; Banquet Will Top All-Star Calendar

Sutro's Scene of Polar Carnival; Students, Profs Compete In Varied Events

Today marks the "beginning of the last" in women's athletics. From April 19 to April 25 is Tourney Week, the week in which the sports are brought to a climax with finals, games, and the results are announced.

This semester the Tourney Week committees have completed their plans under the general chairmanship of Marjorie Radke. The other committees under Miss Radke are as follows: Peggy Kamper, invitations; Daisy Tanl, chairman of the decorations committee and Doris Cameron, Barbara Walsh, Barbara Rose, and Lucille La Favor; entertainment—is the work of Rose Davis, chairman, and Helen Culp, Geraldine Fisher, and Jeanne Kelly.

Students Arrange Program

The program for the whole week was prepared by Constance Wong and Tamara Nikole; arrangements by Dorothy Crangle, Annette Schunick, Marion Dickie, and Helen Godman. Final re-arrangements were taken care of by June Tanaka, Theresa Teshima, Dorothy Needlehauser, and Louise Kinterman.

Tentative plan of inviting various high schools to participate in the sports during Tourney Week has become definite, according to Annette Schunick. The high schools that are to be presented are Lowell, Commerce, Balboa, Polytechnic, and Galileo.

Compete Against Preps

Members of the Girls' Athletic Associations of these high schools will compete against the women of the college in badminton, baseball, swimming, and basketball.

The basketball team has invited Lowell to play on April 24 at 3:30 in the Galileo Gym, while the badminton group will compete against Polytechnic and Galileo on April 21 from 2:30 to 4:30. Commerce has been invited to participate in the water polo and swimmers. At Funston on April 25, the baseball team will have a game with the Balboa team from 10 to 11 o'clock.

Friday night, April 21, at 8 p.m. is the time for the ice carnival to begin, and it will take place at the Sutro Rink.

WAA Tennis will finish its singles finals on April 28. The final for the mixed doubles will be played off on April 22.

Climaxes Tuesday Night

To bring the Tourney Week to its climax on Tuesday, April 25, the annual banquet will be held. This banquet will take place in the Galileo Faculty Cafeteria at 6:15 o'clock.

Invitations have been extended to the Administration, former WAA president, Block Society members, and Girl's Athletic Association president from each public high school.

This semester the committees in charge have selected as the theme for the banquet, the Pair-Minded.

The original cost of the banquet was 75 cents per person, but 15 cents is paid by the WAA. Tickets to attend may be purchased from any of the officers of the association, or from those who have charge of Tourney Week.

Purchase Tickets Now

Entertainment will be provided at the banquet by guest speakers and Rema Corbit, who will present a Russian Dance, a Mexican Dance that is to be done in the tap manner by the tap dancing class under Laurine Bergin, and an Irish Dance to be done by the folk dancing class of Vera Spencer.

At the banquet the results of the WAA election and initiation will take place, as well as the results of the finals in tennis, badminton, and the various other athletics.

Tickets to attend may be purchased now.

Campus Coeds Practice Capers For Ice Carnival Friday Night

High Frosh Picnic Plans Completed; Muir Woods Site of April 23 Frolic

Plans have been completed for the forthcoming High Freshman class picnic April 23, at Muir Woods, announced Lee Scarlett, class president, last week.

Students attending are requested to be at the Sausalito auto ferry entrance at 8:45 a.m. Sunday to catch the 9:15 o'clock boat across the bay. "Please be prompt as we wish no delay in the procedure, and would like to get to Marin as soon as possible," Scarlett urged.

At the recent high freshman meeting, class members voted in favor of traveling in private cars, rather than by bus as was previously announced. To avoid confusion each person will be responsible for his or her lunch.

It is planned to go on a hike in the morning and spend the afternoon swimming. The party will return to San Francisco about 6 p.m. Sunday night.

Excluding lunch, the expenses for the picnic will amount to approximately 75 cents per person.

"This particular spot is an ideal one for picnics, and I am sure that all class members will want to take advantage of our last outdoor affair of the semester," Scarlett continued.

Any one desirous of transporting students to the affair in their cars, are requested to contact Julie Bradshaw, Clayton Ham, or Scarlett.

Mark Hopkins Locale of Hotel Division Dance This Friday Evening

Students of the college are invited by Carl Rutledge, president of the Hotel and Restaurant Management Society, to the society's dance at the Mark Hopkins Hotel Friday night, April 21 at 9 o'clock.

Arrangements were made with Carl T. Slough whereby bids may be obtained at the Galileo Bank for $1.25 per couple. This sum includes a table and cover charge. Bids are also being sold at Room 104 at Galileo, by Rutledge, or by Lee Scarlett, vice president of the hotelmen.

"Those who buy their bids early will get the best tables. Joe Reichmann and his orchestra will provide the music and entertainment in Peacock Court. We have an entire section reserved for our party. It will be an informal affair and all members of the college are welcome to join us," announced Scarlett.

This is the first affair of this type given by the division and promises to be highly successful. All students planning to attend are urged to buy their tickets as soon as possible so that the approximate number in the party can be determined.

Forum Magazine Ducats Go On Sale Tomorrow; May Issue Predicted Best Ever

Tomorrow, tickets for the Forum Magazine will go on sale at 15 cents a copy. Tickets, which must be purchased in advance in order to reserve a copy of the Forum Magazine, will be available in most classes, or from any member of the Forum Club. The magazine will be out sometime in May.

This semester's Forum Magazine, consisting of forty pages, promises to be the best all-around literary publication heretofore put out by the college. For the first time in the three-year existence of the magazine, a special art section has been devoted to colored prints.

"The high standard of material and the enthusiastic response we have had to our request for material has contributed much to the success of the May issue of the Forum Magazine," said William Goss, adviser.

Students desiring to sell tickets for the magazine are asked to see Bob Porter immediately.

John Cumming, editor of the publication expressed pleasure on receiving many contributions to the magazine. "The number of manuscripts turned in greatly in excess of those of previous years, and makes the selection of the best material easier," Cumming said.

Graduates Fitted For Caps, Gowns

Students who graduated from the college last December and those who intend to graduate in May are requested by Marion Turner, class adviser to report for cap and gown measurements either at Room 726 in the P.G.E. building from 9:30 a.m. to 12 M. on Thursday or Friday, April 20 and 21 respectively, or in Room 209 at Galileo on Friday, April 21, 12:15 to 4:30 p.m.

College Debaters To Meet Stanford Here Tomorrow

Communism, Fascism Topic of Discussion; Medal Match Proposed

Members of the college debating team will meet Stanford representatives here tomorrow to argue the question; Resolved, That democracy is more threatened by Fascism than Communism, announced Lloyd D. Luckmann, debating club sponsor.

"We have quite a number of debates scheduled for the remainder of this month, and I'm glad to note the increased interest on the part of student participants," Luckmann declared.

Seattle College will be the April 25 competitors, here, using the subject; Resolved: That the United States should cease to use public funds and public credit for the purpose of stimulating business.

Debaters To Sacramento

Selected members of the college team will on that same day travel to Sacramento and defend the topic; Resolved: That the United States should establish an alliance with Great Britain.

The final debate with students of other colleges is scheduled for April 27, when club members will meet University of California representatives here, using the previously mentioned Fascism topic.

"In addition to these engagements we are planning an inter-class debating contest for which the chosen subject, Student government is a necessary part of a junior college program, is to be discussed, however, we have not named the date for this event as yet," he added.

Medal Debate Planned

According to Luckmann, the title was purposely worded "A Junior college program" to offer more flexible in discussion, rather than limiting it only to this college.

A medal has been promised the winning club member, of whom all are graduating Sophomores," he concluded.

The list includes Charles Henry, John Ellis, William Switzer Fred Hoshiyama, Russell Henry and Floyd Lawrence.

Forum Magazine Out Hopeful Politicos Mount Stump At Nominations Assembly, April 28

With a field of nominees expected to far exceed the number of candidates in recent elections, the semi-annual Associated Student nominations assembly will be held in Galileo Auditorium on Friday, April 28 at 2:30 o'clock for the purpose of giving prospective office-holders a chance to air their platforms.

All candidates running for student offices will present their campaign speeches to the assembled students. Not to exceed two minutes in length, the speeches will give equal opportunity to all.

Associated Student President Frank Verducci urged, "Students desiring to see the calibre of the nominees should attend this assembly as it will be the only place where all the candidates will be assembled under one roof. Students will then have an opportunity to compare the merits of one candidate with that of another as well as comparing the campaign speeches."

To facilitate student voting, an election committe was recently appointed. Members are Miriam Dunne, chairman and vice-president of Associated Students, Jane Mitchell, Associated Student's secretary, Harold Hoffman, president of the Club Advisory Board, and Bill Frantz, managing editor of The Guardsman.

That there will be no entertainment other than that provided by the candidates, was indicated by Frantz, member of the election committee.

All petitions for Associated Student offices should be in to Dean Browne's office as early as possible.

Club Board Names Candidates For Next Semester

Herndon, Hoffman Run For Presidency; Norden, Schlesinger Unopposed

Nomination of candidates for Club Advisory Board offices was completed last week and will be voted on at the next, and last meeting of the board.

Nominated for president were Harold Hoffman, incumbent holder of the office; Vera Herndon, present secretary of the board; and Bill Frantz, representative of the Press Club. Frantz refused the nomination on the grounds of too much work on The Guardsman, left the race for the presidency and consequent seat on the executive council between Hoffman and Miss Herndon.

Schlesinger Unanimously Elected

Only one nomination was made for each of the other offices, automatically elected Robert Schlesinger of Pi Mu Gamma as vice-president, and Donn Norden of Beta Tau as secretary.

Because of recent reorganization of the board, the constitutional requirement of six months service as a representative before eligibility to hold office was waived for the period of the election.

Disbanded because of lack of participation was the board's inter-club basketball league after a short-lived existence. Intended as a means of furthering inter-club spirit, it found little support, may be reorganized on a broader scale next semester.

C.A.B. Dance Successful

Highly successful both socially and financially was the restricted social organizations committee dance held at the Century Club last Saturday. "We hope it can become a semi-annual affair mixing with the finest of the college sponsored dances," said the Louise Jameson, chairman of the committee.

Information relative to clubs for inclusion in the proposed college hand-book is being sought by means of questionnaires sent to the various club representatives. "I cannot impress strongly the urgency of returning completed questionnaires to me by tomorrow at the latest. It is essential if the club wishes a description of its activities in the handbook that the material be placed in our hands before the book goes to press," announced Harold Hoffman, president of the board.

Final Meeting Named

Next meeting of the board will be Thursday, April 27, at one o'clock. "Because this will be the last meeting of the semester, and in view of the importance of the elections, I hope every club will make a special effort to have a representative on hand," said Hoffman.

This semester's Forum Magazine, consisting of forty pages, promises to be the best all-around literary publication heretofore put out by the college. For the first time in the three-year existence of the magazine, a special art section has been devoted to colored prints.

AMS Dance Set For April 28 At Devonshire; Prexy Warns of Card Violations

Location of the Associated Men Students' dance set for April 28 has been announced as the Devonshire Country Club, near San Carlos, by Dave Johnson, AMS president.

Through the efforts of Johnson and Joe Amori, faculty adviser, permission was acquired from Dean Edwin C. Browne to obtain the site.

Admission, as usual, will be one Associated student card per couple.

"From past experience," said Johnson, "we must ask with emphasis that the members of the student association forsake any idea of lending out cards.

"If this occurrence is manifested, not only will the cards be confiscated, but future AMS dances will be in peril," Johnson continued.

This is substantiated through the fact that spring's AMS dance, held at the Belmont Country Club, met with disapproval with members of the faculty and the Dean. Admitted "card loaners" were the primary cause.

An effort to keep "outsiders" out will be made by assisting club officers Willard Blackfield, Frank Nilan, and Robert Burrowes. Also assisting will be Tony Manoy, Elmer Hubacher, Floyd Lawrence, Wilton Latz, Frank Verducci and Bill O'Neill.

The orchestra for the occasion has not as yet been selected.

Annual Peace Assembly Tomorrow In Lecture Hall; Dr. Landauer, U.C. Savant, Featured Speaker

"Force Or Justice In International Affairs" Chosen As Topic; Porter To Outline Policies Of Peace Society

To bring to the attention of students of the college first hand information of the vital factors in the European scene, the Peace Society will sponsor its annual peace assembly in the Lecture Hall at 11 a.m. tomorrow. Presented by the society will be a distinguished and authoritative guest speaker, to be followed by one of its own members outlining the society's program.

Principal speaker of the occasion will be Dr. Carl Landauer, associate professor of economics at the University of California. Dr. Landauer was a professor in a German college until some five years ago when the advent of the Nazi regime forced him to flee his native land and take the position of assistant professor at the local university. He has a well justified reputation as a careful, accurate and concise observer of European affairs, and as such is well qualified to address the college on the very timely subject, Force Or Justice In International Affairs.

Porter Also Speaks

Following Dr. Landauer's address will be a speech by Robert Porter, vice-president of the Peace Society. Porter will comprehensively outline for the benefit of the audience the program and platform that the society has adopted in order to carry out their purpose of promoting peace and international goodwill. The program has been gradually evolved during the course of the semester's meetings, and tomorrow's presentation will be the first public pronouncement of policy.

Sponsoring of an assembly each spring has become the Peace Society's annual contribution to college assemblies, and coincides partially with similar assemblies held at this time of year in other colleges and universities throughout the country.

Dorothy Pilgrim To Preside

Presiding over the assembly as chairman will be Dorothy Pilgrim, president of the Peace Society. "International politics are in such a complex state that we feel sure that the students will appreciate and derive considerable value from a comprehensive survey of the situation. When the world totters as it does today on the very brink of conflict, it is the united determination of American youth that will do a great deal to maintain the neutrality of the United States. We are asking all the students and faculty members who can possibly do so to attend this assembly and hear a convincing argument for peace from an exceptionally well versed speaker," said Miss Pilgrim.

'Campaigning' Amendment Up For Vote On April 27; Students Urged To Appear

Exact reading of the proposed amendment to the Constitution which is to be voted upon by the Associated Students at the business assembly on Thursday, April 27, at 2:30 in the Galileo Auditorium follows:

1. The circulation of printed matter in any form as a campaign procedure for the election of any candidate for any student office shall disqualify said candidate.

2. The use of the radio or a vocal amplifying system to the unfair advantage of one candidate over another, shall constitute a reason for disqualifying said candidate.

3. The Executive Council shall determine upon receipt of satisfactory evidence if a candidate has for any reason warranted disqualification for candidacy.

Already passed by the Executive Council, which unanimously felt the need for such an amendment, the proposed addition to the constitution has only to be carried by a two-thirds standing vote of those present at next Thursday's meeting for it to be put into effect in the coming elections.

So that students will not misconstrue the meaning of the amendments, the Associated Student Secretary will first read the proposed amendments; a motion will then be made by someone in the assembly and discussion will follow. A final two-thirds standing vote will then decide whether the suggested additions shall be put on the Associated Student's Constitution.

With a plea for a large attendance at the meeting, Frank Verducci, president of the Associated Students said:

This proposed amendment should be of vital concern to all students as it will change the entire system of electioneering if passed. I am looking forward to a large representation of students at this important meeting."

Blanche, Carpetbagging Canine, Takes Runout Powder, Disappears

By DOROTHY TROOD

When foundations were being laid out at the site of our new buildings at Balboa Park, a young woman by the name of Blanche Co-ed moved in lock, stock and barrel, which to quote Florence Murphy, was a tin (formerly a container of oil) and after searching the wooded hills and dales of the beautiful college site, Blanche was not to be found. We searched high and low for her sorority house, but that too had disappeared.

Blanche Disappears

Perhaps the loneliness for sorority sisters, for you see Blanche Co-ed

which served the same purpose as an elegant English type Sorority house in the life of Blanche.

Curiosity is bad for the soul, so one balmy spring day, we went out to visit Blanche at her sorority house to see if she had gotten her bid to the Interfraternity-sorority dance. Much to our chagrin and disappointment was a young lady dog of the nth degree, or perhaps the want of an education urged Blanche to move on to better land.

Will She Return?

What has happened to Blanche? Will she return when the buildings are finally complete? Was Blanche co-ed tired of waiting?

The Guardsman

The Weekly Newspaper of the Associated Students of the San Francisco Junior College

Vol. VIII WEDNESDAY, APRIL 19, 1939 No. 13

JOHN JULIUS.....EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Editorial Adviser — Business Adviser
Joan Nourse — Edward H. Redford

Bill Frantz.....Managing Editor
Leonard Gross.....News Editor
Ray Berns.....Sports Editor
Isadore Maloff.....Feature Editor
Dorothy Trood.....Women's Editor
Janet Fellows.....Club Editor
Sam Galstaun.....Staff Photographer
Marion MacKillop.....Staff Artist
Allen Martin.....Business Manager
Edmund Wunsch.....Assistant Business Manager

REPORTERS

Lucretia Antonicelli, Ethan Bernstein, Victoria Candido, Bill Canning, Jacqueline Davis, Janet Fellows, Lois Gipson, Louis Goldstone, Dave Johnson, Frances Manalo, Daniel Rosenblat, Jack Schmale, Gordon Sollman, Harold Unterberger, Frank Verducci, John Ward

Editorials and signed contributions in The Guardsman reflect the opinions of the writer; they make no claim to represent official student or College opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Students Taken To Task For Laxity In Voting; Plea For More Interest

ONCE again election time draws near, and once again student leaders and those interested in the welfare of the college bend their efforts toward making the student body "voting conscious".

Most people, upon being asked the question, "What does attaining the age of 21 mean to you?" will nine times out of ten reply, "I can vote now". Yet right here, in this college where one does not have to be a certain age to vote, the privilege, far from being abused, is scarcely made use of.

It is useless to delve into the past history of voting and elections at this institution, for they would only reveal time after time the one startling fact, that the students do not vote.

DIFFICULTIES ELIMINATED

Many reasons have been advanced for this failure to go to the polls, some of them true, some of them imaginary, but all of them able to be corrected. Cramped space was one objection to voting; long and crowded waiting lines and lack of a sufficient number of voting machines were two others. Of course the usual excuse given was that there was not sufficient time during the day to vote.

All these difficulties have been eliminated and no longer exist as actual problems. Last semester two more voting machines were secured, and the position of the machines was changed so that there are no longer any crowded waiting lines. There was plenty of time for everyone to vote, because the period between classes was of sufficient length to permit students to vote and still be in time for their classes.

LACK OF INTEREST

The one question remaining however is "Why don't the students vote?" (Total number of votes recorded last semester was 500 out of a possible 1800.)

The only conclusion that can be drawn is, in plain English, that the students of this college lack any interest whatsoever in the election of suitable student body officers, and are without a doubt too lazy to go to the polls. This is somewhat harsh language to be applied to a group of people, but it should be understood by all that the term "lazy" applies only to those persons who, because of their own indifference, failed to cast a vote in the last semester's elections.

NOT COMPULSORY BUT WISE TO VOTE

No one says we have to vote, no one forces us to do it, but a person with any common sense will do his best to elect an intelligent staff of officers for his own benefit if he is too selfish to think of others.

There are good reasons for voting, and failure to do so results only in hurting oneself. A group of capable student officers elected by the majority of the student body will, in their own interests, be inclined to do the best possible work, which includes good dances, huge rallies, and many other things. Of course, aside from the social aspect, there is always the point that majority-elected officers will also carry out student administration in the best possible manner.

VOTING A SERIOUS TASK

On the other hand, officers elected by a small minority are likely to be just anyone pushed in by a small party that is seeking to control the student government, and cannot fully represent the wishes of the majority of the students.

Haranguing on the subject of voting is useless, unless the college as a whole can be made to realize that voting is a serious task and should be accepted as one. A college student hates to hear himself referred to as a "kid", yet how can a person be considered a young man or woman unless he gives some indication of being one?

—L. Gross

SIGN OF THE TIMES

The Egyptian Ministry of the Interior has announced that electric advertising space is to be let on the Pyramids, giving the impression that the age old relics are becoming modern and streamlined.

Speakers At Peace Rally To Stress Maintenance Of Universal Peace

TOMORROW, an assembly is being held that is dedicated to universal peace, and brings to the campus several prominent speakers who will address the audience on this subject.

Although the subject of peace is a somewhat idealistic one at the present time, it should be considered as maintaining a position above all others, for only through ultimate peace will the peoples of the world be able to live together harmoniously.

Last week, a discussion of certain problems confronting the Pacific area were dealt with. This week problems confronting the whole world will be discussed.

PEACE MUST BE PRESERVED

The necessity of preserving peace has become more and more evident, as the situation now existing in Europe has shown.

It is time the people of the United States interested themselves in affairs of world wide concern, for it is the conclusion of almost every authority that this nation will inevitably be drawn into any trouble on the other side of the water.

PEACE CAN BE MAINTAINED

College students, being only human, are rather inclined to disregard more important topics of the day for those of a somewhat lighter vein, yet there is a time and place for everything, and it is fitting once in a while to become serious and realize the problems concerning everyone at the present time.

Although contrary to popular belief, peace can be maintained in the world if enough thought is given to the subject. There is no logical reason for war, there is no mad lust to kill, as is commonly supposed. Therefore it is evident that peace is something that can be attained if enough people will give thought to its attainment.

—L. Gross

Loaning of Student Cards Means Loss of Privileges

LAST week 14 Associated Student cards were confiscated, and 14 couples were turned away from the dance, making them feel embarrassed and just a little ashamed. As if this were not enough, the persons whose names were on the cards are deprived of all Associated Students' privileges for the rest of the semester.

This means that these students will not be able to attend the AMS Barn dance April 28, or the traditional and colorful Sophomore Formal, May 5. Even more important is the fact that voting priveleges have been suspended.

It's all right to be a "good fellow" and feel that you can't refuse a friend, but a real friend won't be selfish enough to ask that kind of a favor. The wiser person will think it over next time. It's better to be smart than sorry.

—L. Gross

Prosperity Corner

By Sam Galstaun

ERRATA:

(1) To Mr. Disgruntled Engineer may I extend my heartiest thanks for having corrected me in my stupid error in the March 29th issue of The Guardsman. You are absolutely correct, Mr. Engineer, in your conclusions that the correct answer for the fourth question is merely knots, and not knots per hour. (If you are really curious as to why we so named our column, do drop in at The Guardsman office W. J. and someone will gladly inform you.)

(2) In last week's Guardsman question number eight was incomplete. The vital factor is that after the hunter walked eight miles east, he discovered that he was five miles from his original starting point . . . so sorry.

1. When was the name San Francisco attached to this city?

Lieutenant Bartlett of Capt. Sutter's frigate, Portsmouth, was responsible for the naming of this fair city. The original name was Yerba Buena (which means 'good herb' in Spanish), and Bartlett renamed it San Francisco after Saint Francis of Assisi.

2. What street besides Market Street has four lanes of street-car tracks?

3. What street in San Francisco has four sidewalks?

4. What is the name of the first street constructed in San Francisco?

5. Near what town was gold first discovered in California?

On January 24, 1848, a few days after the signing of the treaty of peace with Mexico, a laborer by the name of Marshall, employed by Capt. Sutter to cut a millrace on the American fork of the Sacramento River, discovered some pieces of gold in the sand where he was digging. With further search other particles were found. The news spread fast and by 1850 San Francisco had grown from a miserable village of huts to a city of about fifteen thousand inhabitants.

6. Who was California's first millionaire?

7. Who was the famous self-proclaimed Emperor of California?

This man was one of the most interesting of early California personages. He was generally considered to be slightly insane, for he insisted that his "subjects" address him as "Exalted Highness". He, of course, had no right to any such title, but rather than hurt his feelings his friends acquiesed with his desires. Although he had many "cracked" ideas, one of his cherished dreams was to be realized many years later . . . the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge.

8. Who is the famous San Franciscan, sportsman, and owner of Seabiscuit?

9. What was the most disastrous shipwreck in the Golden Gate?

10. Is Treasure Island within the city limits of San Francisco or Oakland?

(Quiz Answers—Page 4, Column 2)

. . . while thinking . . .

By Leonard Gross

SURPRISING announcement last week was the disclosure by Andrew J. May, chairman of the House military affairs committee that the American army is on a war footing as far as personnel is concerned.

This statement brings home very clearly the fact that the United States has not been peacefully sleeping during the past year, as many persons have supposed.

• • •

ALSO in the same vein, is the attempt on the part of naval officials to dispense with the various forms of red tape connected with the building program just passed by Congress.

The attempt to speed up naval construction is indicative of a desire to remain in advance of the other powers as far as a navy is concerned, which isn't a bad idea since the fleet will be a determining factor in the defense of the nation, in the event of hostilities. (Note: the above statement is not a prediction of war or an attempt to frighten the populace. We do not wish to be accused of being an alarmist or a war mongerer.)

• • •

ONCE again Germany and Italy have been warned by England and France against any further aggressions on their part. The recent Allied pledge to Rumania, Turkey and Greece leads us to believe that perhaps this time, the democracies mean business.

Since Hitler and Mussolini are not complete fools, it is our opinion that they will lie doggo, so to speak, until time to grab another slice of Europe. That has been the usual procedure in the past, and promises to be continued unless some "incident" precipitates hostilities.

• • •

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has asked Congress to approve the appropriation of $1,000,000 to promote closer relations with Latin America.

We recall several weeks ago that the United States signed a trade agreement with Brazil aimed along those same lines. If the war scare in Europe is doing nothing else, it is at least bringing us closer to South America.

• • •

